School Board Election Issue

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

MORRISBURG—The seed of an idea of two local municipal leaders to separate Dundas County from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry educational system may have sprouted under the hothouse conditions of an all-candidates meeting here Monday night.

After several attacks from others on the administration of the tri-counties board and the ability of incumbent trustee Bill Robson, Morrisburg Reeve Bill Dillabough received rousing applause from about 70 interested citizens when he suggested residents begin fighting to establish their own school board.

Council Candidates Speak Page 12

Williamsburg Township Reeve Johnny Whitteker agreed that municipal leaders and residents should begin working toward this goal. He said the struggle to separate won't be as easy as Dillabough outlined because the province won't want to admit that a mistake was made when regional school boards were formed.

Dillabough, who was acclaimed as reeve of this waterfront community, said a Dundas County school board could operate at half the cost to local taxpayers.

"We can't continue to stay in this system," he said. "This system is wrong and you have to speak against it. We have to take care of Dundas County because the people in Cornwall are not."

He said Director of Education Rosaire Leger was requested to speak about the situation here but has not done so.

"Leger is not concerned about Dundas County, all he's concerned about is Cornwall," said Dillabough.

He suggested a questionnaire be circulated to local chambers of commerce, other community organizations, private citizens and all the county municipalities to determine what course of action to take. Then the issue should be handed over to the local MLA and an appeal made to the Ontario Legislature to separate from the tri-counties system, he said.

Dillabough believes that Dundas is getting the short end of the financial stick from the board and that educational spending is running out of control.

Pointing out that the school board trustees are Leger's collective boss, Dillabough noted, "I would fire him tomorrow, personally."

Township Voters Question Candidates

By Tom Workman
Press Staff Reporter

WILLIAMSBURG — The all-candidates meeting held in the township hall here Friday proved to be a night of lots of questions but few answers.

The crowd of 35 voters seemed satisfied with the township council and asked the members running for re-election few questions.

But then school trustee Bill Robson spoke, and one of his opponents, Harry Gatward, responded. The audience saved most of its questions for Robson, and, aided by Morrisburg Reeve William Dillabough and Gatward, the crowd seemed to swing against Robson. A third candidate for trustee, Lorne Brown, didn't attend the meeting.

Robson is trustee for Williamsburg Township and the village of Morrisburg.

The chairman of the meeting, Lorne Pemberton, tried to keep the meeting in order but shouting often broke out spontaneously as the two school board nominees, and Mahlon Zeron, the incumbent trustee acclaimed in neighbouring Matilda Township (he also serves Mountain Township and Iroquois Village) hurled accusations at each other.

Even when township clerk Keith Schell and reeve Johnny Whitteker spoke the crowd didn't quiet down.

In his opening speech to the crowd Gatward said "we've been told in the past we've been very well represented and I find this very hard to believe.... Do you want someone who lays down on crucial issues or someone who stands up for this area?"

Later in the meeting Gatward accused Robson of missing five consecutive meetings of the school board. Gatward said if proved wrong he would apologize.

Robson defended himself by producing a copy of the board's attendance record for board meetings. He said he had never been absent on more than two consecutive nights that meetings were held.

Gatward didn't apologize to Robson.

According to section 202 of the Education Act any trustee missing three consecutive regular meetings of the board without the board's consent is no longer a trustee.

Robson was then asked by a ratepayer why students at Riverside Heights Public School had to walk through water when getting off the school buses. Robson said he was unaware of a drainage problem at the school.

Both candidates, and Zeron, failed to answer when a teacher asked if they were in favour of binding arbitration for public school teachers, and why the board didn't support it.

Gatward said he couldn't answer. "I can't get the information. They (the school board) won't tell me."

Robson said he wasn't on the negotiating committee so he couldn't answer and Zeron said negotiations were still underway.

Firemen Approach Council Re: Worn Out Fire Tanker

WINCHESTER—The town fire department's tanker truck is in such poor shape that Bill Stewart says he won't drive it 60 miles per hour.

Stewart, a volunteer firefighter and service manager for a local garage, told town council at a meeting last week that the truck either needs to be repaired or replaced.

Stewart was part of a delegation from the fire department that presented a report on the town's firefighters to the council. The delegation said the problems with the truck included:

— the compartment that holds the hoses rusted through and had to be replaced with a plywood box

— the signal lights don't work and the signal light arm on the steering column fell off — the clearance lights don't work

— the truck only has one transmission gear working

— the steering shaft is makeshift and wobbles from side to side

"It's not our place to ask for a new truck, but we would like a truck that is in good enough shape to work," Deputy Chief Lorne Pemberton said.

The deputy chief said that if the town decides to purchase a new truck the main requirement of the truck should be the size of the water tank. The tanker now owned by the town carries 1,500 gallons. Pemberton said he would like to see a bulk tank on a truck as large as, if not larger, than the present tank.

"If we take the pumper to a fire it's almost useless by itself because it only carries 500 gallons," he said. "We need the gallonage of a bulk tank at a fire outside town."

Councillor Vice said that a new truck would be the wisest move for the town to make.

"If not a new truck we should take the town's old dump truck and see if a bulk tank can be fitted on it," he said.

Winchester has a cost-sharing arrangement for its fire department with Winchester and Mountain Townships. Under the agreement the townships split the cost of vehicles and equipment with the town while the town supplies the manpower.

When there is a fire in one of the townships the village bills the township according to set rates.

The council said it would have to contact the township councils before deciding what to do regarding the worn out truck.

Poppy Day Saturday

Winchester and area residents are reminded that this Saturday (November 4th) is 'Poppy Day' when Legion members and Scouts will be canvassing, and anticipating the usual generous response. Purchase of a Poppy assures continued help for those still suffering from the folly of war. The annual Legion Memorial Service will be at 12:00 Noon on Sunday, November 12th.

36 - Unit Apartment Complex

WINCHESTER—The ground was broken this week for a 36-unit apartment complex for the town. The complex is being built on Clarence Street, opposite Dundas Manor, by Judor Enterprises Ltd. of Kemptville.

Jim McGill, who owns the Judor, said the building will be identical to one planned for the site by Paul Steinberg of Williamsburg.

The $600,000 complex is slated to open June 1, 1979, when 18 of the apartments will be ready for occupancy. The second half of the building will be finished by Sept. 1.

McGill said he has not been in contact with any of the people who responded to an ad in The Press last year regarding renting in the complex. But he said he knows of people working in Winchester who live in Kemptville because there are not enough apartments for rent in town. He also said the Winchester and area market could easily handle a 50-unit complex.

The apartments are all 2 bedroom and are 800 square feet in size. All of the apartments will be carpeted and have a fridge and stove. The building also has a central laundry facility. Parking for the building will be outdoor at the rear of the building.

The apartments will rent for about $275, which doesn't include utilities.

Teachers Agree On 6%

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

CORNWALL—Bargaining elementary school teachers and the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry school board reached a tentative one-year contract agreement here Monday allowing teachers a six per cent salary hike across the grid.

Teacher chief negotiator John Milnes said the salary increase excludes fringe benefits but applies to all the 379 tri-counties elementary school teachers.

Meanwhile, board negotiator Bob Whitteker said the teachers' release of the contents of the tentative agreement before ratification by both parties was highly irregular. He declined to confirm figures released by Milnes until the board has ratified the contract.

"He is out of order in doing so and in choosing to do so it is strictly a one-sided affair," said Whitteker.

Milnes said about 50 per cent of the teachers will also get a two per cent increase of the total salary bill to the board. Those on maximum salary will not receive that increase, he said.

Total increases bring teachers' salaries to a range between $9,593 and $27,978. Milnes said the agreement also includes a letter of commitment from the board involving secretarial time in public schools.

He explained that the letter allows a review committee — made up of teachers, trustees and board administrators — to study secretarial time requirements in schools and come up with recommendations to be presented to both parties at a later date.

EDUCATION CANDIDATES

A three-way battle for the representation of Morrisburg and Williamsburg township on the school board has shaped up. Robson, a local service centre operator, defended his position against challengers Lorne Brown, a car salesman and developer Harry Gatward.

Robson rallied to the support of the director of education. He said Leger "earns every cent that he makes."

The trustee added that the criticism concerning complete school board dominance from the Cornwall area was not true because the rural trustees "have more of a say."

Directing the remark at Gatward and Bill Laurin of the weekly Morrisburg Leader, Robson said that he has been criticized for not being helpful in obtaining board information but he was never asked for help by them.

Robson said he's been attacked for an alleged high rate of absenteeism at board meetings. Accusations that he's missed five consecutive meetings of the board are false, he said. Robson said he missed two meetings on the same night on one occasion and has an attendance rate of about 80 per cent.

Excluding board meetings, the transportation committee of which he is a member has met 16 times so far this year and only one meeting was missed, he said.

Gatward promised to attend all the meetings, "something our present member has failed drastically to do."

He said he was concerned about the continuing high costs of education and the "outlandish spending" of the SD&G school board. Gatward said the board has spent in excess of $200,000 on new administrative quarters while area schools are lacking facilities.

Gatward finished his address with a question: "Do you want a trustee who lies down on crucial issues or do you want someone who will stand up?"

Brown said overspending by the administration and board members has to be cut to a basic minimum.

"It is my understanding that the administration is running the board; Mr. Leger needs to be informed that he is an employee and should heed the board's instruction," he said.

Brown said he would keep his constituents informed of board business. He, too, made passing reference to the so far unfounded accusations that Robson missed many board meetings.

"... the board needs a member who will be in attendance unless sick or out of town, who will use common sense in the discussion of all business matters."

Brown said there's a need to get back to the "three r's" concept in education. He said if elected he would attempt to reorganize the maintenance department of the board, eliminating unnecessary costs in travelling time.

During the meeting Laurin launched an incessant attack on Robson, questioning him repeatedly on several, unrelated subjects requiring detailed answers.

When Laurin scolded the chairman of the meeting for referring to the line of questioning as "whipping a dead horse," the chairman replied with a mock apology, rousing the audience into laughter.

"I don't like his (Robson's) political attitude and as a private individual I have that right, without being made fun of in front of a bunch of people, retorted Laurin.

He asked no more questions during the remainder of the meeting.

One Year Contract

If initiated the secretary clause could be the first teacher-secretary ratio in the province. The teachers say the board has agreed to a ratio similar to that used in the secondary school system. The ratio is designed to alleviate teachers' complaints about having to answer telephones while attempting to teach classes.

It also includes another letter of commitment concerning pupil-teacher-ratio, he noted, which recognizes the present PTR as 23.5 to one on a school basis and establishes a staffing review committee similar to the secretarial committee.

The tentative agreement, said Milnes, also includes a five per cent increase on all allowances which includes principals, coordinators and special education teachers. It includes a $25,000 life insurance policy for each teacher for which the board picks up 50 per cent of the premiums.

Milnes said the board agreed to continue paying 75 per cent of the teachers' fringe benefits and to a long term disability plan paid for wholly by the teachers.

Meanwhile, the school board still faces contract problems with its secondary school teachers.

Gordon Higgins, secondary school teacher negotiator, said he expects pressure will be brought to bear on the Education Relations Commission to appoint a mediator in the dispute. A day-long meeting last week failed to produce a settlement.

Most of the crowd's anger came out when the school budget was discussed. Robson said little when people accused the board of spending too much money. When one member of the crowd asked why the school board opened a new office in Cornwall the crowd seemed dissatisfied with Robson's response that the previous facilities were in need of repair.

The incumbent trustee was also questioned on the secrecy of board meetings. A reporter from the Morrisburg Leader said his paper had been cut off the school board's mailing list after the paper was critical of the board. Robson said that was unlikely.

School board trustees receive an honourariam of $300 a month plus mileage.

Ontario Masons Aid Scientists

To commemorate the upcoming 125th anniversary of Masons in Ontario at their annual communication in Toronto, 4,000 delegates representing 115,000 Masons, unanimously endorsed "Project H.E.L.P." (Hearing for Every Living Person). This joint project of the Grand Lodge and The Masonic Foundation of Ontario is to immediately raise $350,000 through the Masonic Research Foundation of Ontario to aid in the research into deafness. The money raised and invested will provide an annual income to the newly formed Ontario Deafness Research Foundation, a group of dedicated scientists who are committed to finding causes of deafness and, subsequently, restoration of related hearing loss and altered function of the ear.

This foundation is unique in that it fills a very real need in seeking knowledge about the inner ear, and the relationship to the brain. Very little pure research has previously been done in this respect and this will be the prime objective of this new foundation.

The Grand Master, Robert E. Davies, in announcing the program said, "Assuredly positive results of research into the causes of deafness and relief for those affected with loss of hearing will open new vistas to them."

A salient feature of the masons' project is that 100 per cent of monies raised will be applied to research activities. No donations will be applied for administration purposes.

W. M. Bill Stewart of Henderson Lodge Winchester, Ontario, announced that "officers and members" of his lodge were supporting all Ontario Lodges in this very worthwhile cause and invite any citizen of "the district" to send a donation to Henderson Lodge secretary. No matter how small the donation, it will be acknowledged by an official tax deductible receipt. Please make your cheques payable to "The Masonic Foundation of Ontario" and send to Neil M. Porteous, Lodge Secretary, Henderson Lodge or Reg Gibson, Assistant Secretary, Henderson Lodge, Box 185, or in Williamsburg, Hubert Casselman, Williamsburg Lodge.

Want Green Light On New Crosswalk

The principal of Winchester Public School is trying to get a green light from town council on a new crosswalk on St. Lawrence Street.

Jim Shaw appealed to the council at last week's meeting to move the crosswalk and lights to the corner of St. Lawrence and Clarence Streets or hire a crossing guard.

"Too many cars are going through the intersection, and I'd like to see something done before someone is hurt," Shaw said.

Ontario Provincial Police constable Bill Hutton backed up Shaw's statement. He said the OPP has been watching the crosswalk when it is in use and confirmed that some cars don't stop when the lights are red.

When asked by council if most of the violators are from out of town Hutton said many of the cars belong to local people.

There have been two assemblies at the school to tell the pupils how to act when crossing the street. There was also an assembly attended by Constable Hutton and a safety inspector.

Shaw said that if traffic lights were installed at Clarence and St. Lawrence traffic would stop because it is an intersection. He added that if drivers would become conditioned to stop since the lights would operate at all hours.

The lights that stop traffic at the crosswalk only operate during school hours.

If council doesn't agree to change the lights the school committee that Shaw represented at the meeting wants a crossing guard hired.

The principal explained that crossing guards are on duty in Iroquois and Chesterville. The Iroquois guard is hired for two hours a day at the minimum wage. Over the school year his wages come out to $1,073. The Chesterville guard makes $50 a week.

Councillor Vice suggested that the lights operate on a regular basis at all hours so that motorists become used to the crosswalk.

Deputy Reeve Workman said cars may not be stopping at the crosswalk because advance warning of the crosswalk isn't great enough.

Both councillor Vice and Reeve Gray said more advance warning of the crosswalk, including marks on the pavement, might be suitable.

The council told Hutton and Shaw they would contact the county engineer to look into the matter.

Osgoode Taxpayers Support Pay Hike For Bouwers

METCALFE—Osgoode Township Reeve Al Bouwers defended his wish for a pay increase before 225 township taxpayers Monday night and received almost unqualified support for the move from the crowd.

The Reeve was speaking in response to a question at an all-candidates meeting held at the community centre here, cosponsored by the Metcalfe and District Community Association and the Greely Ratepayers Association.

Several weeks ago, before nominations for municipal office closed, the reeve said he was in favour of an increase in the salary of the Osgoode reeve. Bouwers now receives $5,000 as reeve and $6,000 as a regional councillor. He is in favour of having the reeve's salary increased to $12,000.

When he made his announcement at the first of the month he also announced he was going out of the real estate business to devote more time to his duties as reeve.

Bouwers was acclaimed as reeve of the township for the next term on Oct. 23.

The same question was asked of the seven people running for the four council positions. Incumbent councillor Phil McEvoy said, when worked out on an hourly basis, councillors receive less than the minimum wage.

Councillors in the township receive $4,000 a year.

Fred Alexander, Mary Cooper and Albert McKeown, all incumbents and all seeking re-election, said their pay is low but they won't be asking for a raise.

Paul Coulson, a lawyer who lives in Metcalfe, agreed with the reeve. "You can't expect to have qualified people running for office without some salary being offered," the challenger said.

The other two candidates for council, Brent Reid and Doug Thompson, both said they didn't expect an increase in salary if elected for their first term.

However, all of the candidates said they supported a salary increase for reeve, especially if the reeve was going to treat the position as a full-time job.

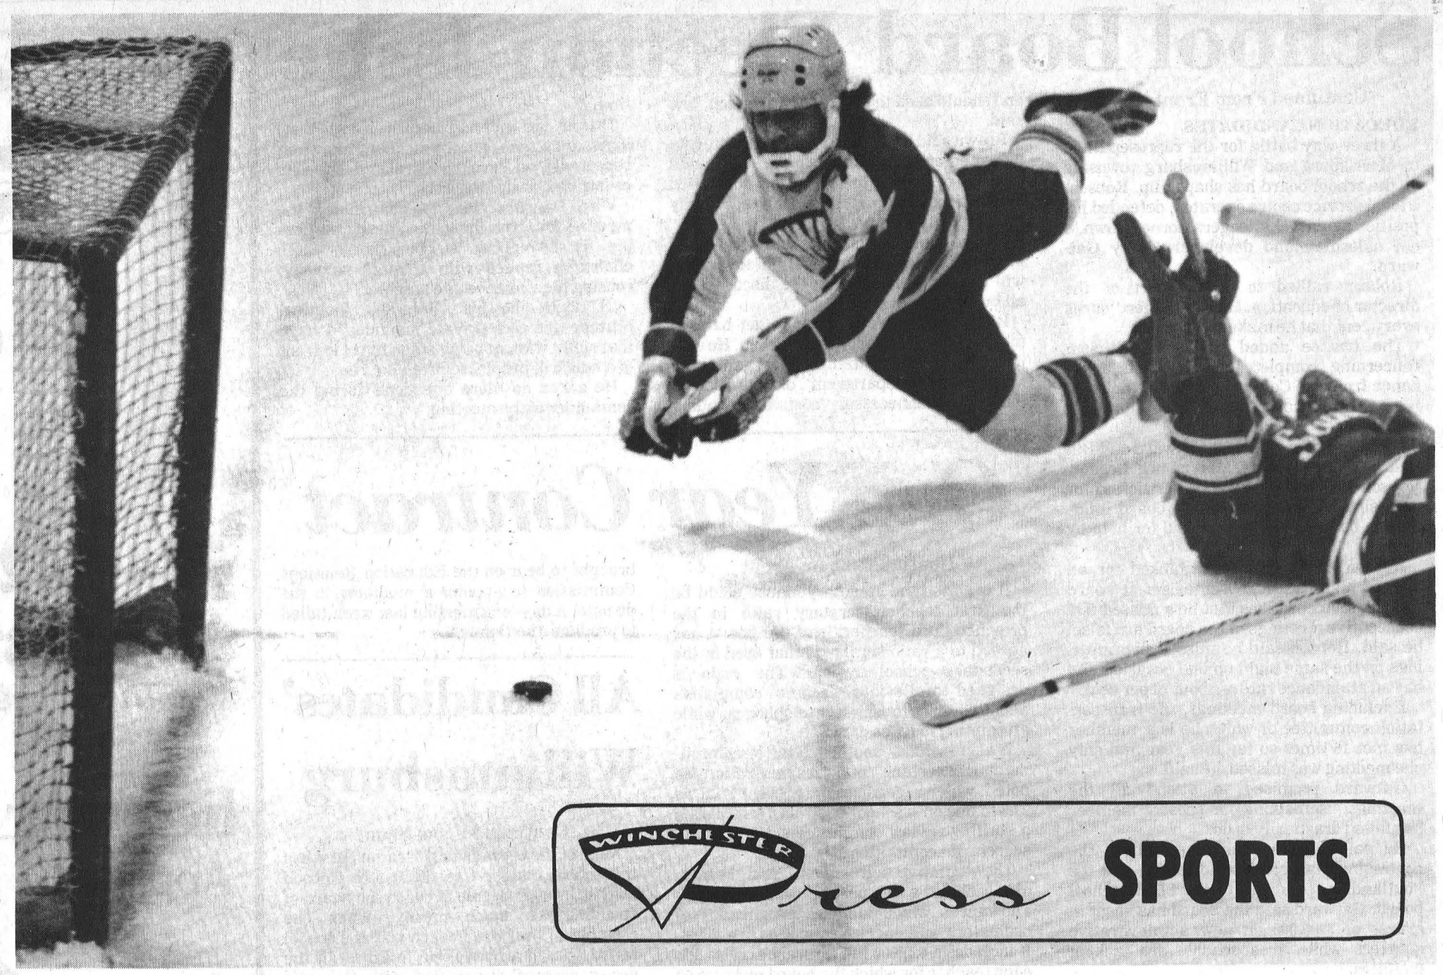
Prescott Saints captain Joe McFarlane (L) met Hawks captain Brad Sullivan (R) at centre ice for the official face-off conducted by Winchester Reeve Larry Gray and ex-Hawk star Bill Mullin. Mullin (dropping the puck) finished his junior hockey career with Winchester winning the team's MVP, Top Scorer and Most Gentlemanly Player Awards. He also shared the coach's trophy with Brad Sullivan.



Tying goal on its way.

Hawks' captain Brad Sullivan flies through the air enroute to the tying goal in Friday's 5-5 draw with Prescott Saints. Sullivan slapped the puck home with 1:19 left in the game as Winchester came from a 4-1 deficit for the tie.

Dave Sullivan, Terry Cross, Glen Mackler and Marty Little scored the other Hawk goals.

Hawks Outshoot Saints In Tie

Winchester Hawks fired everything but the kitchen sink at Jon Elliott here Friday night but couldn't beat the 15-year-old Prescott netminder.

Elliott — released recently by Brockville Braves of the Central Junior "A" League — was exceptional between the Prescott pipes stopping 44 of 49 Winchester shots directed at him. When the last shot had thumped off the boards the Hawks had outshot their visitors 49-17 and had gained but a single point in the South-East Junior B standings on a five all tie.

It was Hawks annual season opener here Friday night complete with official face-off, introduction of players of both teams and Hawks executive. Hawks had Harry Castle sing the opening anthem after Winchester Reeve Larry Gray and ex-Hawk star Bill Mullin had dropped the ceremonial puck.

Other events of the evening were a 50-50 draw won by Gary Shaver and Boyd Chrysler-Plymouth's Minor Hockey shootout won by 11-year-old David Ellis.

Friday's frustration held over until Saturday when the Hawks fashioned another strong game only to lose 6-4 (last goal in the empty net) to Cardinal Broncos.

Was it a hot goalie or just bad shooting to average only one goal for every ten shots? Frustration of facing a hot goalie would have to be the answer here Friday night when Hawks' shooters pumped 22 shots at Elliott in the final frame alone. Many times the youngster was on his knees looking behind him before the play had been whistled dead.

Four minutes and 23 seconds into the game Hawks hit the scoreboard when centre Dave Sullivan blasted a screamer over a fallen Elliott after Al McLean and Doug Duncan had made the original play.

Later in the period Sullivan was gone from the game — and probably three more — after being picked up on a spearing major.

Prescott capitalized on the few escapes they made from their own end for two goals and a 2-1 lead after one period. Mike Marriner tied it and Jeff Modler beat Pete MacLeod for the second goal.

Another one-sided period in territorial advantage for Winchester in period two but no goals on 13 shots. Instead Saints continued their amazing average scoring twice on six chances with Don Dougherty and Earl McCarroll running Prescott's edge to 4-1.

At 18:05 of the final frame Mike Marriner staked Prescott to what seemed to be an insurmountable 5-1 lead.

But still none of the 410 fans had left their seats — expecting the Hawks would have to score soon after enjoying such an edge in play.

Patrons had only four minutes to wait before the Hawks shooting machine began finding chinks in Jon Elliott's thinning armour.

Terry Cross — filling in at centre for the banished Dave Sullivan — opened the flood gates scoring from his linemates of midget days Al McLean and Doug Duncan.

One minute 20 seconds later Prescott's lead was whittled to 5-3 when Glen Mackler jammed a loose puck behind Elliott after Lorne Cook and Steve Montpetit had done the leg work.

Hawks continued to press using their defencemen — especially Ken Sullivan, Gary McMillan and Kevin Cochrane to carry the puck into enemy territory.

With 3:13 remaining in the game a couple of Hawk defencemen combined on the prettiest goal of the night putting their team to within one at 5-4.

Terry Cross dug the puck loose in the right corner and fed it back to Kevin Cochrane at the point. Hawks were holding a man advantage at the time so Cochrane had plenty of space to use his wicked slapshot. Instead the big defenceman faked once and threw a perfect pass across ice to his partner — Marty Little. Little used one motion to convert the pass into a screaming shot which ripped through Elliott's pads and into the net.

Inspired by Little's goal Hawks came right back tying the game with 1:19 showing on the clock.

Cochrane once again provided the inspiration leading the rush and creating the opportunity for the goal. Barry Casselman, playing with a bad knee, fired Cochrane's rebound behind Elliott but not quite over the line. Captain Brad Sullivan dove headlong past two Saints defenders slapping the tying goal home while flat on his stomach.

With time running out Hawks goaler Pete MacLeod rose to the occasion thwarting Saints on two good opportunities preserving the five all tie.

Saints were called on 11 minors while Hawks picked up six minors a major and a misconduct.

Sullivan's Three Goals Not Enough

An inspirational three-goal performance by Winchester Hawks' captain Brad Sullivan couldn't keep his team from suffering their first loss of the new season.

Hawks ran up three exhibition, one regular season win and a tie before they were dropped 6-4 by Cardinal Broncos Saturday night in Cardinal.

Winchester is now second — behind Morrisburg — with a win, a tie and a loss for three points.

Coaches Doug Casselman and Paul Beckstead had a real job on their hands playing without Dave Sullivan (suspension) and Barry Casselman (knee injury). Besides having to juggle the starting line-up, the coaching staff lost right winger Doug Duncan with a bad wrist during the second period and defenceman Kevin Cochrane after one period. Cochrane was hit in the face with a puck and didn't finish the game.

Besides those four deletions the line-up was juggled through a very chippy game which totalled over 70 minutes in penalties. Hawks took 11 minors and a pair of five minute majors and Cardinal was hit for 15 minors and a five minute major for fighting.

Hawks trailed Broncos from start to finish on scores of 3-1, 4-1 and 6-4.

Despite their disadvantage on the scoreboard the Hawks drew compliments from fans attending the game.

Captain Brad Sullivan turned in 40 minutes of all out effort playing his regular shift as well as playing on the power play and killing penalties. His team led in that department.

McLean leads all scoring with eight points followed by Sullivan's five.

Hawks' Chesterville Connection of Lorne Cook, Glen Mackler and Rudy Grisel continued to impress as did Gary McMillan on the blueline. Both McMillan and Brad Sullivan dealt out crushing body checks against the home town Broncos.

Cardinal set the tone for the game early beating Bruce Jones 23 seconds into the game on a goal by Bill Kennedy.

Brad Sullivan tied it with his first of three at 10:22 on assists from midget Doug Last and defenceman Steve Montpetit.

Twenty-five seconds later Cardinal regained the lead and held on for their first win. Gary Moore scored at 9:57 and again at 1:50 for a 3-1 Bronco advantage.

Cardinal's Dave Berry found the mark midway through the second for the period's only goal and a 4-1 Bronco lead.

Defenceman Mike Armstrong set up Sullivan's second goal at 15:03 of the third and did the same job at 9:35 as Sullivan completed the hat trick. Al McLean also drew an assist on that goal.

Hawks got to within one goal when Al McLean beat Tony Hall at 8:12 on a pass from Steve McIntosh closing the gap to 5-4.

Winchester continued to press and narrowly missed tying it up on several occasions.

Trailing by one Hawks lifted goalie Bruce Jones in favour of the extra attacker — a move that didn't work.

With 41 seconds showing on the clock Dave Berry found the unguarded net with a long shot putting it out of reach at 6-4.

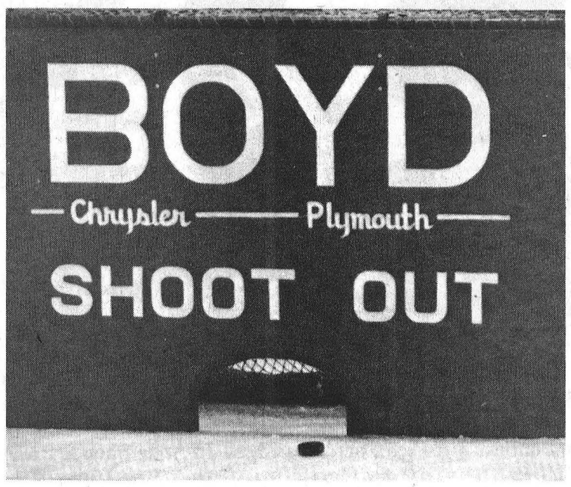
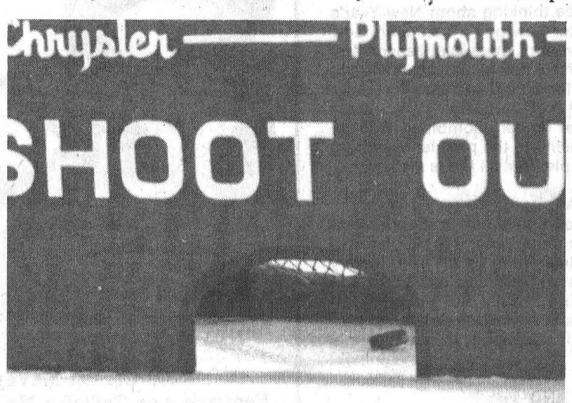
Boyd Shoot-Out

Dave Ellis' Fire-Power Wins Autographed Stick

Eleven year old Dave Ellis of Winchester is the first winner in Boyd Chrysler-Plymouth Shoot-Out.



Ellis defeated Scott Johnston and Danny Docksteader in the first of the weekly contests sponsored by the local car dealership.



The three contestants started the shoot-out firing pucks at the target from centre ice. With the winning shot finally coming from well inside the blue line.

Docksteader was eliminated in the first round but it took four more rounds before Ellis finally managed to oust the cool Johnston.

Ellis wins an autographed hockey stick and now advances to a January play-down against 14 other winners yet to be decided.

Each week between the second and third periods of a Hawks home game another winner will be determined.

Fawcett Racks Up Floor Hockey Points

Doug Fawcett has become a one man wrecking crew in Mountain Township Floor Hockey action.

Fawcett rifled home another five goals as the surprising South Mountain WI squad surged into first place in the four team circuit — two points up on second-place Gerry's Construction.

In his first three games the sure-shooting forward has scored 18 of his team's 42 goals for an amazing six goals a game average. Monday night Doug hit the bull's eye five times as WI kept their undefeated string alive in a 11-3 decision over Gerry's Construction.

It has been a direct turn around for WI to this point in the season after finishing as the league doormats last year.

Overall, play is much closer with just three points separating the top and bottom teams. WI leads with five, Gerry's has three while Lions and SM Electric are deadlocked with two.

Monday's other game at Nationview auditorium had Lions and SM Electric battling to an 8-8 saw-off.

Scott Gregory turned in two of his team's three goals in that 11-3 loss Gerry's suffered to WI in game one.

Game two was the 8-8 game between Lions and SM Electric with the league's number two rifleman Brian Hamilton shooting three more goals for a three game total of eight. Brian Fawcett and Brian Koekkoek each had three goal hat tricks for Lions.

Scoring stats released after three weeks of play have WI with 42 goals scored and just 23 against. Second-place Gerry's has the stingiest defence allowing only 18 goals in three games — they have scored 21 times.

Lions Club is ranked third in defence with 30 goals against and SM Electric right behind with 36. SM Electric holds the edge between the two clubs in offence with 24 goals to their credit — second best in the league — while Lions have found the mark just 19 times.

Next Monday evening at Nationview Public School Gerry's Construction takes on SM Electric in game one. Lions Club will battle first-place WI in game two.

Atoms Ground Flyers

Centre Mike Sargent scored two of Winchester's three goals as his team skated to a 3-1 exhibition win over Chesterville Atom "A" Flyers here Monday night.

Winchester opened a 2-0 edge ripping home a pair of goals within a minute and 30 seconds of each other. Sargent hit for number 1 on a pass from defenceman Dean Armstrong at 13:00 and Bill Cullen clicked from Rodney Casselman at 14:30 of period one.

Mike Harper beat Ben Henry at 5:10 of the second frame for Flyers only goal of the game.

Sargent collected his second goal at the 3:00 minute mark of the final frame scoring unassisted against Flyer Dick Beaverdam.

Winchester's lineup for the preseason contest — B. Henry, D. Armstrong, D. Gibson, M. Sargent, F. Gallipeau, J. D. Van Noy, C. Rodney, S. Casselman, R. Casselman, B. Cullen, S. O'Reagan, D. Henry, S. Johnston, S. Helmer, Coach Dave Armstrong, Manager George Bloom.

Savage Breaks Loose Of Four Team Pile-Up

Savage Drywall broke out of a four team pile, atop the Winchester Men's Broomball League standings, defeating Newington 3-1 here Sunday evening.

The Drywallers are now the only undefeated team through the first three weeks of broomball action.

Toyes Hill Roadrunners dropped their first decision of the campaign when they were blanked 3-0 by previously winless D & F Foam of Finch in Sunday's second game. Noel Lalonde chalked up the D & F shutout.

Williamsburg moved into a second-place tie with Roadrunners hammering hapless Ormond 4-1 in the opening contest.

First-place Savage opened a two to nothing gap in their contest before Newington could manage any reply.

High-scoring Dave Graham opened the game on an assist from brother Paul at 3:16 of period one and came back on another pass from Paul at 17:05 of the second frame for a 2-0 advantage.

Newington's Calvin Beaudette cut the difference to one scoring at 14:57 of period two.

Frank Heerkins fired home the insurance marker on a break away pass from Gary Gallinger with just 1:49 showing on the game clock.

Final Savage Drywall 3 - Newington 1.

NEW YEAR'S EVE TICKETS ON SALE
You may think it a bit early to be thinking about New Year's Eve, but not so, says Lion Walter Shadbolt. Tickets are now on sale for the most popular event of the social season and one that always produces a rush for non-existing last minute tickets. If you are planning to attend the New Year's Eve party this year it will be held from 9 to 1 on Sunday, Dec. 31st; hats, noise-makers for all ticket holders combined with an always delicious lunch and dancing to the popular Westburg Union group. Price $25.00 a couple from all Lions members.

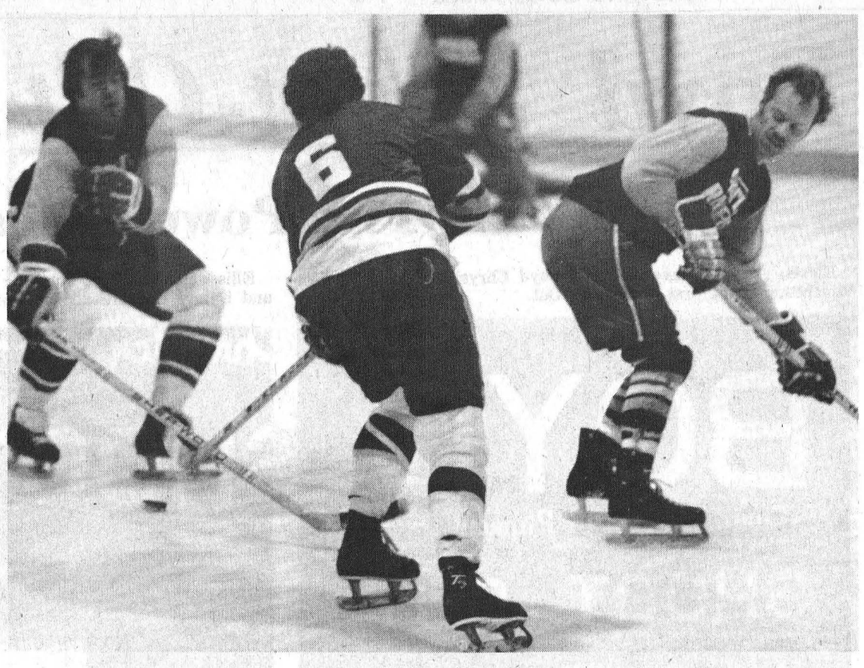
TOT SKATING AGAIN THIS YEAR
We have had numerous calls inquiring about Tot Skating and we are happy to report that the moms and kids will be very welcome to use the ice any time from 10 till 11:30 every Wednesday morning this season. This service is free but please see that your little one is supervised by yourself or a responsible person. A good idea is to provide your child with some type of head protection; it saves a lot of tears when a tumble occurs.

METCALFE JETS, SHOOT OUT AND HAWKS BOOSTER DISCO THIS FRIDAY
Hawks management are going all out this year to make things as attractive and interesting as possible for the fans and are adding new wrinkles every game this season. The boys from Boyd Plymouth Chrysler (long time fans and Hawk supporters) have sponsored a Shoot Out to be held between the second and third period of all home games. Open to all kids under 14 attending the game. Three minor hockey names are drawn from the drum and shoot at a specially prepared net to establish a winner of an autographed hockey stick and compete at the end of the year when a more substantial award will be presented to the overall winner. This week not only sees our old rivals of yesteryear the Metcalfe Jets appearing for what promises to be an interesting encounter but the first of a series of Booster Club Discos which will be held about once a month in the upstairs hall. Dancing and legal beverages are available to anyone over 18 who purchases a Booster Club Membership. A special invitation is extended to Joe Rowan and all other senior citizens who happen to be hockey fans. Admission will be a dollar at the door and you are invited to view the game from the warm chairs in the hall free of charge. This will be a great night of hockey and merriment at the arena; don't miss this one.

ICE SCHEDULE NOT YET AVAILABLE
Most of the ice time for the coming season at the arena has been set and with a few minor changes, such as public skating being held on four Friday nights to make up time lost for Sunday afternoon Hawk games which the league have scheduled for us this year, winter carnival week and perhaps an odd tournament will remain set for the season. When all of the wrinkles have been ironed out (hopefully by next week) a complete schedule will appear; cut it out and pin it up for reference.

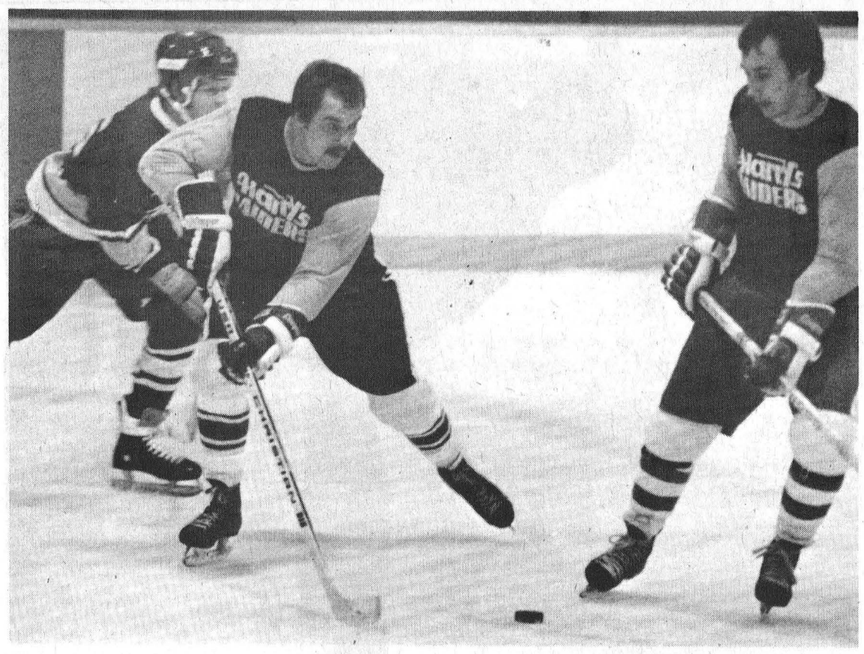
WEEKEND NOT THE BEST FOR HAWKS
After a great pre-season of undefeated hockey and a win against the class of the league (according to Neil Cameron), Hawks had to stage an exciting come from behind four-goal outbreak in the dying minutes of Fridays home opener to rate a 5 to 5 draw with Prescott Saints. Saturday night the boys travelled to Cardinal and came home with their first loss having been outskated and outscored by a 6 to 4 margin at the hands of the Broncos. Many times we have seen good looking teams get off to a good start and then get a little to confident, and before you know what happened, rest on their laurels instead of developing a style of never let up play. This will not happen this year, firstly because the Hawks have the players who have enough talent when put into effect to come back. This they proved in the Friday night game and secondly they have Big Doug who never thought anything but a hundred per cent output and any player not thinking this way will find that students pay a buck to watch the show. This Friday they meet the Jets and next Sunday Morrisburg Lions are the competition; a couple of weeks will tell a lot and I will reserve my opinions till then.

HOLMES - KOEKKOEK WEDDING THIS SATURDAY
After the ceremony dinner for invited guests Dave and Karen hope you will join them for the dance on this their big day.



Defenders Carson McVey (L) and Russ Nell (R) attempt a squeeze play on Angus Pontiac's Lee Taillefer No. 6 during the first period of last week's Winchester Town League opener.

B and D - Don's defeated the Pontiacs 5-1. Vice Furniture edged Jo-Anne Shoppe 2-1 in game two last Wednesday.



B and D - Don's captain Denis Ouelette (Centre) heads into Pontiac territory with teammate Pete Filion. Pontiacs Ken Williams (R) is coming in to make the check.

Ouelette scored the winning goal in the second period of the 5-1 game. His team also got goals from Richard Gilmer, Kevin Cooper, Doug Vasey and Filion. Gerry Belanger replied for Pontiac.

Town Champs Open Season With Convincing 5 - 1 Win

Defending champion Harry's Raiders opened their defence of the Melvin Cup with an impressive 5-1 victory over Angus Pontiac last Tuesday night.

In game two of the opening Town League double-header, Don Swerdfeger's goal with three minutes remaining in the game gave Vice Furniture a 2-1 decision over Jo-Anne Shoppe.

Harry's Raiders will play under a new name this season after the team went under joint sponsorship of B&D Collision and Don's Payless Gas Bar.

Winchester Town League's reigning champs looked like anything but in the opening period against Angus Pontiac, struggling through the initial session trailing 1-0.

Pontiacs held the upper hand forechecking B&D-Don's at every turn and would have held a great advantage had it not been for some sharp saves by new goal tender Kevin Baldwin. Baldwin — who is taking over from Bob Carkner — stopped Pontiacs Dale Hutt and Lee Tailefer on a couple of glittering chances before giving up a goal to newcomer Gerry Belanger. Belanger staked Pontiacs to their only goal of the game driving a short hard shot through Baldwin's pads from 10 feet out at 3:58 of period one.

B&D-Don's got their act together in period two running up four unanswered goals and a 4-1 lead.

Steve "Bear" Johnston held Pontiacs in until 7:23 when Richard Gilmer beat him on a pass from Curt Dillabough tying the game at one.

B&D-Don's got what turned out to be the winning goal two minutes later when captain-coach Denis Ouelette grabbed a Graham Link relay and fired a whistling shot in Bear's cage.

A couple of quick goals closed the middle stanza with B&D-Don's in a commanding 4-1 lead.

Centre Kevin Cooper slipped through Pontiac's defence stopping the clock at 1:41. Thirty-seven seconds later he combined with Tom Beck to set up a Doug Vasey goal.

Pete Filion took a Russ Bell pass with time running out in period three collecting goal number five on a breakaway.

Referees Dan Lecours and Jim Fawcett called each team for a single minor penalty.

VICE SQUAD 2 — JO-ANNE SHOPPE 1

Had it not been for the outstanding goal tending of Jo-Anne's Dan Hogaboam, Vice Furniture might have run the score in their opening game into double digits.

Hogaboam was sensational between the pipes holding his team into a game that could have been well out of reach midway in the second period.

Vice Squad's defence was a big ingredient in the victory standing up in the slot clearing Jo-Anne passes and attempted shots to their fast-breaking forwards.

Vice's first goal came in period two on a shorthanded situation when Gerry McBain dug the puck out of the corner, passed to Bill Sherwood who promptly buried it low in the Jo-Anne net.

Vice made it 2-0 later in period three on a long soft shot by Don Swerdfeger which found its way through a maze of skates past Hogaboam.

Jo-Anne's fast skating unit of Don Griffith, Dave Van Bridger and Harry Castle broke the Vice shutout with 1:06 remaining to be played.

Griffith lugged the puck from centre ice along the right-hand boards. He found Castle in the slot and hit him with a perfect pass. Castle's shot beat Bear Johnston high over his shoulder.

The officials were a little busier in this game calling four minors on Jo-Anne and three on Vice.

hockey

There was evidence last week that many former Embrun 'Panthers' fans have transferred their support to the revitalized Russell 'Raiders' competing in the South Carleton Intermediate division. Wayne Hughes, who has hailed as one of the top amateur netminders in the country while between the pipes for Panthers, is now proving a real menace to opposing forwards since teaming up with brother Loyal at Russell.

Neither are considered 'hefty' players but are living proof that hockey at its best isn't necessarily a big man's game. While Wayne is as agile as a cat in the net, his 'kid brother' is virtually untouchable on the forward line because of his blinding speed.

Raiders have already displayed an amazing improvement over last season's team and last week completely over-powered league-champion Goulbourne.

On the minor hockey front Camille Piche reports all divisions operating smoothly following an early start. Ice time at Embrun arena is completely booked, and despite rumours Panthers plan to remain active, there appears little hope, since several players are now signed with other clubs.

This Friday night Raiders will host Richmond in a 8:00 start and on Nov. 12th Osgoode will travel to the Dr. Kinnaird arena.

Again this season Russell will be scheduling regular 'Pub Nights' in conjunction with home games.

Russell Raiders

Blondin Makes Impressive Debut

Russell Raiders are off to their fastest start ever thanks to the hot-scoring of ex-Kemptville junior Randy Blondin.

Blondin scored six goals in Russell's last three South Carleton Intermediate games as the Raiders won, tied and lost in a short span of four days.

Last Thursday, Raiders visited Goulbourn Cougars earning a two all draw on a third period goal by Bob Woods.

The following night Cougars returned the visit and were hammered 8-3 with four of those goals going to Randy Blondin.

Suiting up for the third time in four days Raiders dropped a 7-2 decision in Richmond to the high scoring Dukes. Blondin provided Russell's offence in that one scoring both goals.

Cougars and Raiders skated through the first period of last Thursday's contest without scoring a goal. Each team was called on four minor penalties in a chippy opening stanza — three for roughing.

Goulbourn jumped into a 2-1 lead after two periods.

Two ex-Embrun Panthers, Dave Hunt and Al Duncan, teamed up for the first Cougar goal at 9:30 with Hunt scoring from Duncan.

A pair of former Winchester Hawks evened the count when Keith McRoberts beat Geoff McMullin on a pass from Pete Nooyen.

Cougars went ahead 2-1 on a goal by Ron McLean from McNabb and Cole before the second period ended.

Randy Blondin and Dan Chamberlain combined to set Bob Woods up for the tying goal at 9:30 of the final frame.

RAIDERS 8 — COUGARS 3

Back on home ice it took Raiders just two minutes and 30 seconds to get things going against the Cougars. Randy Blondin scored his first of four against Andre Emmett as Raiders took a 1-0 edge after one period. Ex-Winchester Hawk Bill Moran combined with Ken Quaile on that play.

Ted Yabsley tied it for the visitors but Raiders stormed the Cougars goal for a pair of quick goals regaining their lead at 3-1. Bob Woods from Dan Chamberlain and Terry O'Neil at 4:20 and Blondin unassisted at 5:50 put Russell in the driver's seat for good.

Cougars' Garth Rogers and Raiders' Ken Quaile traded goals late in the period as the count grew to 4-2. Moran and Blondin drew assists on the Quaile marker.

Russell sewed up the win with three straight in period three opening up a comfortable 7-2 lead. Blondin from O'Neil, Chamberlain from Loyal Hughes and Woods from Hughes and Chamberlain were the scoring plays.

Ted Yabsley fired his second puck by goalie Wayne Hughes rounding out Cougar scoring.

Blondin's second unassisted goal of the game at 18:02 rounded off the final count at 8-2.

DUKES 7 — RAIDERS 2

Russell couldn't put it together for a third time on Sunday in Richmond suffering their first loss in four starts losing 7-2 to the Dukes.

Skip Patterson and Steve Hull lead the winners with two goals apiece. Dukes got singles from Dave LaBelle, Tom Hill and Bob Greer. Willie Raza added three assists with John Bonnar and Tom Hill chipping in with two each as Richmond led from the second period on. Dukes scored four straight after Russell had closed the gap to 3-2 at 3:45 of the third.

Randy Blondin handled Russell's scoring with two goals. Assists went to Bob Woods, Loyal Hughes and Charlie Legault.

A disturbance erupted at the 18:15 mark of the third period with Raiders' Terry O'Neill being assessed three minor penalties — two for roughing and one for holding. Loyal Hughes was also banished on a misconduct and an automatic minor. Steve Hull drew the only Richmond penalty handed out at the time — a minor roughing infraction.

Russell record after five games stands at three wins, a loss and a tie.

Raiders next action is at home this Friday night (Nov. 3rd) against Richmond.

Metcalfe Outscores Prescott

Metcalfe Jets have served early notice they will provide an entertaining season for fans. Playing at Prescott last Sunday night they skated to a relatively easy victory over Prescott Saints and feel confident of being strong contenders as the season progresses.

Jets moved into a three-goal lead early in the first period on goals by Errol Straby, Chris Hyland and Barry Hicks before the Saints hit the scoreboard with two quick markers by Joe McFarlane.

Thom Racine made it 4 to 2 with the only goal in the second frame. Two minutes into the third period Shawn Selleck outmanoeuvered Pritchard in the Metcalfe net to close the gap to one, but Racine, with his second in a row put the game on ice for the visitors.

Jets coach Bob Gendron praised the efforts of his boys and predicted the Division will provide some exciting hockey this season. The game was fast with relatively few penalties.

In the assist department points were scored for Jets by Randy Salmon, Frank Testa (2), Jeff Holmes (2), Rick Nesseth, Tyrone Franey and Barry Hicks.

Prescott boys picking up points for "helpers" were Jeff Dedekker (2), Mike Marriner, John Lavery and Steve Durant.

PENALTIES MAR VISIT TO MORRISBURG

Referees handed out a total of 39 penalties when Jets played their first game of the season. Most were of the minor variety and despite the fact the Lions spent the most minutes in the "sin bin" they emerged on the long end of a 7 to 2 score.

Morrisburg led 2 to 0 after one period; 4-1 after two and outscored Jets 3 to 1 in the final frame. It was the first competitive game by the revamped Jet team and it appeared like a much stronger squad that was iced last season.

Marksmen for Morrisburg were Scott Corden (2), Jeff Cassell (2), David Myers, Jim Whelan and Chris Greer.

Metcalfe's goals were scored by Frank Testa and Barry Hicks.

GAMES TO SEE

This Friday, Jets will be at Winchester to meet the high flying Hawks in a night game, and Sunday afternoon the boys host Brockville Tikis.

This will be the first home game of the new season and the team anticipates a strong contingent of fans.

Lions Regain Form With Double Win

Morrisburg Lions regained their championship form over the past weekend chalking up convincing victories over South-East entries from Metcalfe and Cardinal.

After dropping their opener 5-4 to Winchester Hawks the defending ODJHL champs found their legs for a 7-2 decision over Metcalfe Jets Friday night and a 6-3 count against Cardinal Broncos on Sunday afternoon.

After three games Morrisburg tops the South-East Junior B circuit with four points followed by Winchester with three, Cardinal and Metcalfe each with two and Prescott with one.

Lions over ran the visitors from Metcalfe chalking up leads of 1-0, 4-1 and 7-2.

Jeff Cassell led Lions with two goals and two assists followed by Scott Corden's pair. Dave Myers, Jim Whelan and Chris Greer netted the others.

Referee Carm McMillan was busy handing out 116 minutes in penalties with Jets receiving 12 minors, a fighting major and a game misconduct to Erin Franey and a game misconduct to Chris Hyland.

Lions were assessed 21 minors; fighting major to Chris Greer and game misconducts to Mark Payment and Lance Telechow.

LIONS 6, BRONCOS 3

Leo Lafortune put the Lions on the score sheet at 7:41 of the first period of Sunday's game with a power play goal, and Kevin Mackler gave them a 2-0 lead 43 seconds later.

Broncos came back with a pair of power play goals 29 seconds apart to tie the game. Captain Bill Kenney and Randy Stitt scored.

Jeff Cassell replied for the Lions 47 seconds later giving Lions the lead again.

Jim Whelan made it 4-2 in favour of the Lions at 4:53 of the second period then with 43 seconds remaining in the second period Randy Stitt scored the last Bronco goal.

Leo Lafortune scored his second goal of the game at 10:20 of the third, followed two minutes later with one from Mark Beaupre completing scoring at 6-3.

Referee Ross Neill handed out nine minors to the Broncos, along with a game misconduct to Gary Moore.

Lions received 19 minors, a fighting major to Lance Telechow and a game misconduct to Captain Robbie Reynolds.

Morrisburg travels to Smiths Falls on Friday for an 8:30 game (which will be on radio) and host Prescott Saints Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

IN MEMORIAMS

BYERS—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, William F. Byers who passed away Nov. 6, 1977.
One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away,
He left us quickly, his thoughts unknown,
But he left us a memory we are proud to own.
So treasure him Lord in your garden of rest,
For when on earth, he was one of the best.
—Sadly missed by wife Agnes and Family 28p

TUPPER—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Howard Tupper, who passed away Nov. 4, 1962.
Like falling leaves the years slip by.
But loving memories never die.
—Always remembered by son Bill, Pat and Children 28c

SUMMERS—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and father, G. Ellsworth Summers, who passed away Oct. 31, 1976.
There is someone who misses you sadly,
In the home where you used to be
Someone who wanted to keep you,
But God willed it not to be.
You left many beautiful memories
And sorrow too great to be told
But to us who lost and loved you
Your memory will never grow old.
—Sadly missed by your wife Annie, son Stephen, and daughters Shirley and Pamela 28c

OUDERKIRK — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Luella Ouderkirk who passed away Nov. 4th, 1977.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Nothing can ever take away,
Our love for her holds dear,
Fond memories linger everyday,
Remembrance keeps her near.
—Sadly missed, Husband and Family 28p

CARDS OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS—I would like to say thank you to all who visited me and brought cards and gifts while I was a patient at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital. I would also like to express my appreciation for the excellent care I received from the first floor Doctors and Nurses of the hospital.

—Mrs. Jake Empey 28p

CARD OF THANKS — To the Ratepayers of Winchester Township. I decided to withdraw my name as councillor for the coming election. It wasn't an easy decision to make, but being alone to do my farm work gave me no choice. If circumstances change, I might seek re-election in two years time. I enjoyed serving the municipality for nine years. Thank you to all the ratepayers who supported me during those past years. Improvements were done in recent years; such as paving and repairing roads. The project of the Boyne development road looks very promising also. Council had a drainage program mainly the Castor River project. Several culverts were installed and ditches were cleaned; new ones were dug. I wish grants to farmers for tile drainage be continued. Council bought a new fire truck and dump truck for the township. Contributions were given to help recreation activities throughout the township. We did as much work as we could and at the same time tried to keep the mill rate as low as possible. Congratulations to Mr. Sullivan who was acclaimed as Deputy-Reeve for the next term. Best of luck to all the candidates seeking a seat at the council.
—Roland Cayer, Councillor
Winchester Township 28p

225 Attend Century 21's I. M. Academy

Jack McIntosh and Neal Lachance of Century 21 Biccum and McIntosh Real Estate Ltd., were two of more than 225 Century 21 brokers, owners and managers who completed a four-day Century 21 International Management Academy in Costa Mesa, CA.

Dick McKenna, vice president of Sales and Management Development for Century 21, said the seminar was "strictly an educational academy."

He said that the seminar is designed to introduce all new Century 21 affiliated brokers and managers to the advance marketing tools and systems that Century 21 offers to help brokers and salespeople better serve their client's needs.

The orientation, he explained, is the first in a series of concentrated management seminars and workshops Century 21 provides to increase effective management growth.

Century 21 is an international real estate sales organization with more than 6,000 affiliated, independently owned real estate offices throughout the United States and Canada, and more than 55,000 salespeople. Last year Century 21 gross sales exceeded $10 billion dollars, and represented more than 300,000 real estate transactions.

Among the advanced marketing systems Century 21 offers its member brokers and salespeople is a detailed training program held in 50 regional training centres throughout North America, recruiting through regional career nights, and an international VIP Referral Service to aid in marketing property.

Also, millions of dollars are earmarked for television, radio and print advertising each year to alert the public to the vast array of services each member Century 21 office provides.

Attendees at the International Management Academy were welcomed by Century 21 President Art Bartlett, who discussed the current and future objectives of Century 21, and the new broker's growth potential within the organization.

Intensive workshops covering each area in the successful operation of a real estate office were held throughout the seminar. A certificate of course completion was awarded to each attendee, who later toured the Century 21 International Headquarters building in Irvine, California.

Harvest Crunch

Paul Beaudette is feelin' his oats today — a whole truckload of them.

Beaudette was driving a truck full of oats for R. S. Allison and Sons Saturday morning northbound on Highway 31. He went to turn east on Highway 43 but met a car and swerved. The truck was going too fast into the corner and upset as it turned towards Chesterville, ending up on its side.

Beaudette wasn't injured in the accident but the truck's damage has been estimated at $7,000. The accident tied up traffic from 7 a.m. Saturday until 2 p.m. when a tow truck was able to pull the truck back onto its wheels.

After Ministry of Transportation and Communication officials inspected the truck Monday, the trucking firm was charged with operation of an unsafe vehicle.

Controlled Hunt For Moose Near Ottawa

TORONTO — Because the moose herd in an area 25 miles east of Ottawa is becoming too large to remain healthy in its habitat, a controlled moose hunt in Larose Forest has been organized, natural resources minister James A. C. Auld announced today.

The controlled hunt will begin November 13 and end when 20 moose have been taken from the designated forest area, or on Nov. 19 at 6 p.m. even if the 20 moose have not been taken.

The herd in question lives in the Larose Forest-Alfred Bog area, and is one of the rare herds of moose in the province that are not in Northern Ontario.

"Information collected on the herd points to the conclusion that the moose have become too plentiful for the small area in which they have lived for the last few years," the minister said.

"Some reduction in numbers is needed now because of several reasons. The size of the herd is threatening the range, especially in Alfred Bog, and their winter food supply is becoming inadequate.

Moose have been killed or crippled in increasing numbers by automobiles on area roads and highways. Also, in recent years, more and more moose have wandered into farm areas where they have damaged farm fences and have become trapped in drainage ditches. Some have even wandered into the City of Ottawa where they have presented a hazard to residents as well as causing other property damage.

"If no steps are taken to limit the size of this moose herd," Mr. Auld said, "our staff is concerned that insufficient habitat will result in ill health and disease among the animals in future years."

The minister explained that moose in Northern Ontario are often able to move to other areas when overcrowding exists. However, the herd in the Larose Forest-Alfred Bog is confined by the size of the suitable habitat available.

Mr. Auld said the hunt is organized by his ministry in agreement with the United Counties of Prescott and Russell. Along with the seven-day season and the 20-moose harvest limits, this special hunt has other rules:

The hunt will be further controlled by using a daily draw — each morning 60 permits will be issued at the Larose Forest headquarters through a draw among would-be hunters. The permits will be given for one day only. This will ensure an equal chance to those wishing to participate.

Ontario hunting licences and shipping tags will be required.

Other Rules

Other regulations include the cancellation of all other hunting in the designated area. Complete information concerning the hunt is available from the Cornwall district office of the ministry of natural resources.

All moose taken in the hunt will be taken first to the Larose Forest headquarters where they will be examined by specialists who are responsible for the continuing management program involving this unique population.

Halloween Fun Dances

Strange looking people danced the night away at area pavilions last Saturday night when costume parties at Greely and Metcalfe attracted large, fun-loving crowds.

Greely Legion Hall was the setting for the party sponsored jointly by Legion members and Greely District Ratepayers Association; at Metcalfe the event was sponsored by the Catholic Women's League. The popular "Westburg Union" band was on stage at Metcalfe while the other was the "Disco" type.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs were awarded top prize money at Metcalfe by judges Dr. Bob Rowan, Mrs. Rowan, Doug Thompson and Mrs. Thompson. Candidates in the coming Osgoode Township election judged at Greely and chose an obviously aged couple.

Both parties offered a wide variety of prizes.

Winchester's businessmen want you to go bananas.

At least that's what they'll be trying to get you to do every time you make a purchase of at least $5.00 from now until Christmas.

Almost all of the town's businesses have got together and are sponsoring a trip for two to Jamaica to the Go Bananas resort. The seven-day trip includes all transportation from Toronto, hotel accommodation at the Go Bananas resort at Dragon Bay, plus $100 banana money. Breakfast, hotel taxes and tipping are also included.

People shopping in Winchester become eligible for the trip by purchasing $5.00 worth of goods. With every $10.00 purchase over the initial $5.00 customers receive another chance, up to a maximum of 100 coupons per sale.

The draw for the trip is Saturday, Dec. 23, at 5 p.m. at the Winchester Tours office. The trip may be taken any time in January, February or March, subject to availability.

In the meantime, Winchester merchants hope you Go Bananas.

Morrisburg

Residents Turn Out To Meet Candidates

MORRISBURG—Although the school board trustees were the centre of attraction at an all-candidates meeting here Monday, those running for council and the hydro electric commission had their chance at the podium too.

Reeve Bill Dillabough and Deputy-Reeve C. F. McInnis are acclaimed and Cam Martel, an antique book dealer and real estate salesman, is the only newcomer seeking a seat on council. The three incumbent councillors, Al Belanger, Jerry Rosenquist and Harland Veinotte are all seeking re-election.

Running for the two hydro electric commission posts are incumbent John Allison, William Barclay, Willard Steinberg and Ron Pilkington.

Reeve Dillabough said the village council will have to work closely with the council of Williamsburg township concerning future development, particularly the establishment of the Seafarer's School on the village fringe.

"I will continue to fight when fighting is necessary for the people of Morrisburg," he said.

McInnis, the veteran Morrisburg council member with about 17 years service, noted that he is particularly concerned about improving the parkland and beach area. He too, thanked the Morrisburg residents for showing confidence in his ability by acclaiming him to another term of office.

Belanger noted that the village's mill rate has undergone a three per cent reduction in a five-year period whereas the regional school board budget has increased by 260 per cent.

"I just hope this can continue but I am a bit skeptical because grants have been cut back," he said.

He said some of his priorities would be to co-operate with Williamsburg township concerning mutual problems, have the tennis courts installed at the original estimate and attempt to make it easier for ratepayers to support the school system of their choice.

Martel said since moving here he has become active in the community as president of the chamber of commerce, president of the Old Home Week committee and past president of the Trade and Home show. He was also a member of the planning board but had to resign the position when he decided to run for a council spot.

Martel said he feels a strong bond to the civic affairs of the village which has become home for him and his family.

"Morrisburg is going into an era that is just as crucial to the residents as the Seaway," he said. "We can't say we are going to do this or that without a great deal of forethought."

Dr. Rosenquist, completing his first two-year term, said as recreation chairman he will strive to maintain the downward or static trend of recreation costs in the village.

A prime concern, he said, is to improve the beach area with washrooms and change-room facilities. Both the council and service clubs in the community are willing to undertake the project, he added, and it will be completed in the near future.

He said he agrees with the views of other council members that developers should pay the costs of extending any services, including water and sewage.

Veinotte said his prime concern on council has been increasing the industrial base of the village. He said the proposed Seafarer's Training Institute should be of benefit to the area and there are two or three more industrial prospects for the municipality that look promising.

Veinotte said in the past two years the village council has entertained at least 25 industrialists, mostly from the Montreal area, who have shown interest in locating here.

He, too, expressed concern that the beach area be enhanced to include the required facilities.

Running for the hydro commission, William Barclay said he would attempt to keep village residents informed about commission business and any changes in methods of operation. He said he would study the feasibility of putting all the municipal offices under the civic complex roof.

Pilkington said he, too, would strive for a greater public awareness of the workings of the commission. Hydro rates have increased substantially with no adequate explanation to the residents, he added.

The hydro electric budget, he noted, is almost as high as Morrisburg's operating budget.

Steinberg said Morrisburg hydro rates are much higher than the city of Cornwall, which probably hinders industrial development in the area. The candidate promised to cast a negative vote against any unnecessary hydro rate increase if he's elected commissioner.

Incumbent commissioner John Allison outlined some of the progress made over the past two years which includes the relocation of the office to the shopping centre after the Collins Street property was sold and the relocation of the workshop to the east-side property.

These actions will help to decrease the overhead and subsequently maintain a reasonable cost of electricity, he said. Future concerns include monitoring capital expenditures with the rate of growth in the municipality, he added.

Allison commended retiring chairman Tom Jones and Mary Schwerdtfeger, who is retiring as secretary-treasurer of the commission after 34 years.

FOR CONTINUED PROGRESS IN OUR TOWNSHIP

Having qualified as a candidate to be your councillor in Winchester Township, I would like to take this opportunity to ask for your support at the polls on Monday, November 13.
Being a farmer myself, and having dealt with farmers for more than twenty years in the feed and farm machinery business, I feel qualified to handle the affairs of local government.
I would like to see continued residential and commercial growth, and an improvement in our township roads.
I sincerely believe that more industry could be attracted to our township, and not interfere with our productive agricultural land.
Township affairs have always been high on my list of priorities and if elected I will work with council in the best interests of the taxpayers.
As it is impossible for me to see each and every voter in the township, I do hope you will exercise your franchise and go to the polls Monday, November 13 and vote.

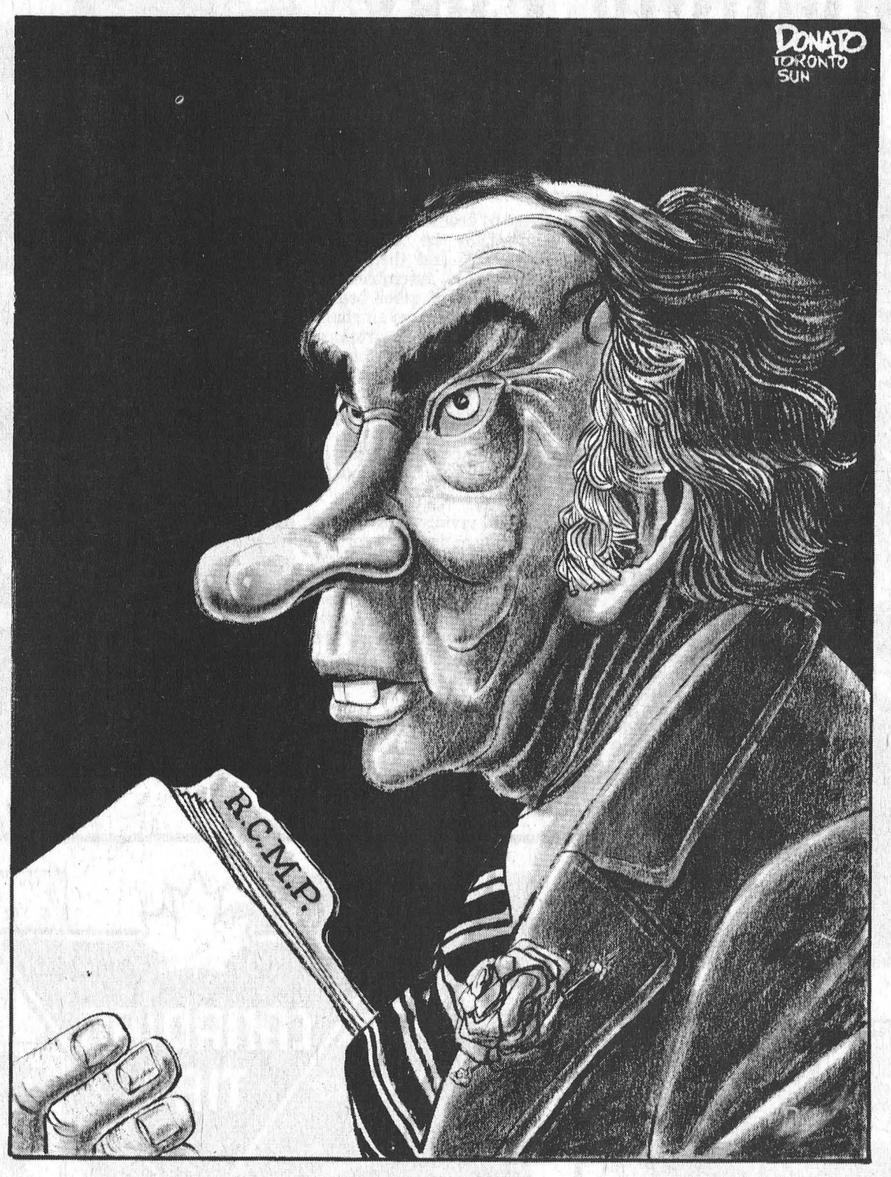
Raises The Warning Flag

Too many municipal posts have been filled by acclamation. Failure by ratepayers to assure all offices are contested has to mean one of two things. Incumbents sliding comfortably back into harness can feel smugly secure, interpreting public reaction as a vote of confidence. Those offering their services for the first time find themselves in a sort of limbo, with no way of measuring public opinion. On the other hand all acclaimed candidates will harbour the uncomfortable feeling ratepayers just "don't give a damn".

Perhaps, unfortunately, the latter is closer to truth. How can citizens, aware that their never-ending demands bring out a never-ending tax hike, show such a complete lack of interest? Because, despite continued propaganda by self-appointed 'experts', our great country is not suffering financial hardship. Instead, rural, urban and city people are enjoying a prosperous way of life far beyond the most optimistic dreams of previous generations. And living 'high off the hog' is creating apathy in all levels of government — municipal, provincial and federal. Those who lived through the '30's, and know the real meaning of 'Depression', will recall that acclamations were practically unheard of. On the contrary, every office was hotly contested by candidates, each with a 'new idea', 'reform policy', or at least a glimmer of hope. And voters flocked to the polls grasping, as it were, for the 'straw' that might save them from the flood of poverty and deprivation.

Now may be the time to issue a grim reminder. Apathy is a sign of weakness, and weakness breeds disaster. Dame Fortune may have smiled this time around, endowing complacent citizens with 'good government', but the warning flag should be raised in 1980 --- hopefully not at half-mast.



Who Nose?

Bill Smiley Writes Promotion Maclean's

If you have ever bought, or borrowed, a copy of Maclean's magazine, you have probably been subjected, in the past month or so, to the same treatment I have, a variation on the Chinese water torture. Every second day I have received a card, or a phony-looking certificate, or a sincere letter, telling me of the fabulous bargains in subscriptions I can receive if I sign up right now.

Heck, for only $19.95 ($52.50 at news stand), I can receive 70 issues of Maclean's, plus a 10 per cent guaranteed lifetime savings, plus a full-colour 1978-79 calendar. It's a great piece of hucksterism. And with a good reason. If you don't get them subscribers, you don't get ads, and ads is what a magazine gets rich on, not readers.

And I can understand the slight note of desperation in the mail campaign. The first few issues of "Canada's Weekly News magazine" were not exactly swollen with advertising. There were six to eight full-page ads, mostly liquor and cigarettes, a few half and quarter-pages, a couple or three self-promotional pages, all this out of 57 pages total. Not enough money there to pay for the coffee breaks of about 40-odd editors, a gaggle of researchers, correspondents, photographers and editorial assistants. It is to tremor with fear.

Not that it would bother me for more than one minute and a half if Maclean's went belly up. It's a fat, rich corporation, with many irons in the fire, most of them highly profitable.

Through a judicious combination of whining and poisonous nationalism, Maclean's managed to convince the Canadian government of the necessity to kick out of the country its only real competition, Time magazine and Readers' Digest.

Nor have I any reason to wish the new weekly news magazine ill. I have an old and honourable association with the magazine and its sister, buxom with advertising, Chatelaine. The latter has become, from tenuous, wispy beginnings, about as good a magazine as a women's magazine can get.

My association with this pair began at a tender age, about 10, when I received a contract to go out and hustle up subscribers to either or both of these mags. I was a lousy salesman then, and still am, and it was Depression years, but as I recall, I sold two subscriptions to Chatelaine and one to Maclean's, to friends of my mother. I received $1.50 in commissions, and that was the end of a potentially great career in publishing.

Of course, in those days, a kid didn't have a chance against the pros.

Maclean's, and other publishing chains, would send into a small town a highly-trained team of hustlers to sell subscriptions. They were personable and fast-talking, much like the encyclopedia salesmen of a couple of decades later.

They'd hit the town like a hurricane, about Tuesday, and depart Friday afternoon, laughing like open drains, with a lot of loot, leaving behind them a host of housewives wondering vaguely why they had signed up for eight years of Maclean's and sixteen years of Chatelaine, even though it hadn't cost them a cent, ha ha.

However, I am willing to let old business animosities lie. If Maclean's leave me alone, I'll do the same for them.

Let's take an objective look at their news magazine, the nonpareil, according to them. It's not bad, really.

There is a strong tendency to be smartass, as in this opening sentence, "The CBC is the oldest whore on the block." Somebody trying to imitate Time magazine's style.

But, on the whole, the mag isn't bad. Considering the tribulations of putting out a weekly magazine in an age in which everything is instant dead two minutes after it's been seen on TV, there is a fairly good analysis of provincial and federal news, and adequate coverage of international news, and a few good features. One of them is interesting enough, visually and verbally, but bears the dreadful cliche "People" as its heading.

There's a lot of cutesy business of printing over yellow and purple and orange, which is juvenile and slightly annoying.

But there is some first-class writing. People like Barbara Amiel and Mordecai Richler and Allan Fotheringham seldom put a foot wrong. The last of those is an abrasive columnist from Vancouver who recently suggested that the Toronto Argonauts and the Federal Liberals were utterly interchangeable, and that if the Argos backfield were running the country, nobody would notice the difference — a nice commentary on both.

Perhaps the magazine is happiest, so far, in its comments on the arts and entertainment. This is where Canadians shine; we are a nation of critics, whether we know anything about the subject or not.

It is rather weak on sports, but then sports are awfully dead, except for colour stories, once the hurly-burly's o'er.

On the whole, let's give the thing a chance, for a month or two. But no way am I going to sign up for 70 issues. How do I get my money back if I die or they go broke in the next two weeks.

Command To Love

by Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

"Thou shalt love" says Jesus, repeating an ancient saying familiar to his hearers. Love, that is to say, has in it an element of compulsion. It is a categorical imperative.

There is an obligation to be kind, generous, affectionate. But can there really be compulsion? Can you prefix "Thou shalt" to the great word "love?"

Remember the teaching of the Master concerning the place of willpower in the formation of character. His primary appeal is not to the reason or to the emotions, but to the will.

Obedience is, to Jesus Christ, the organ of spiritual knowledge. "If any man's will is to do His will, he shall know whether the teaching is from God or whether I am speaking on my own authority" (John 7:17).

The love of God is often obscured from a human soul, not by an eclipse of theology or philosophy, but simply because the soul does not apply its willpower to open its own eyes.

"Thou shalt love" says the divine Teacher sent from God. Sympathy, appreciation, magnanimity are not luxuries but obligations. We have no right to be sulky, suspicious, loveless.

Apply willpower to the affections. You may be called to be unhappy but never loveless. The first duty of the morning is to rid the heart of animosity and reproach.

The teaching of our Lord was the inspiration of Francis of Assisi. Start every day with his prayer.

That prayer was this: "O Lord our Christ, make us instruments of thy peace. Where there is hatred, let us sow love. Where there is injury, pardon. Where there is discord, union. Where there is doubt, faith. Where there is despair, hope. Where there is darkness, light. And where there is sadness, joy."

7th column

By Joe Rowan

Know Winchester curlers are sharpening their granites and soaking brooms, but have no reports from other neighbouring clubs. Well, not many that is ... we did hear from Russell. Both Frankie Thompson and Gerry Coughler claim that, even this early in the season, they've completed their 'training camp' and go so far as to suggest few, if any, area clubs will even provide viable opposition this coming season. "Matter of fact", commented Frankie, "we hear rumours many Metcalfe players are seeking membership at our club". Please Winston, say it isn't so!

Readers might be interested to learn last week's 'column' was carefully scrutinized and 'marked' by a reputable area public school vice principal. Consider it a genuine compliment [we think] that, following his conscientious evaluation of the said paragraphs, he commented on the excellent use of adjectives and participles. Now if only someone out there will tell us what 'adjectives' and 'participles' are, we'll know whether the V.P.'s remarks were complimentary or 'otherwise'.

We're all for 'dedication', and consider it mighty admirable when someone goes far beyond the call of duty to help his fellow man. Often reports tell of generous citizens giving up prized possessions in an effort to raise funds for a worthy cause. Suppose a medical centre has to be considered a very worthy cause, and being a service club member we find it easy to understand the peace of mind that comes from helping the less fortunate. Perhaps you too have, from time to time, sacrificed personal belongings when you considered the need deserving. But, we ask you, did you give away the pants you were wearing ... well last Wednesday night Almonte Lions Club President, did. And they sold for $80.00, enough to pay off the Metcalfe and District Lions Club Medical Centre mortgage. Well, on second thought, maybe he didn't exactly 'give' his pants. Thanks anyway lad ... and we'll chalk it up as typical Glengarry generosity.

Because Holstein reports flow regularly across our desk we sometimes forget there are other types of cattle in the Valley. Once a year, however, we're reminded in a very pleasant manner --- with complimentary tickets to the annual Ottawa Valley Ayrshire Club Awards Night banquet. Russell Legion was the setting last Friday night with Ken Campbell and James Cotton sharing the hardware, banners and certificates. Thoroughly enjoyed the informative and highly interesting program and came away convinced Allison Fawcett is right when he suggests 'Red and White' breeders work just a bit longer and harder than their 'Black and White' counterparts. "After all", says the Winchester Holstein king, "it must be a tiring and time-consuming task painting all those black parts red".

The almanac predicts fair weather for the next two weeks, but fails to mention sudden squalls of 'hot air'. Perhaps 'Dr. Chase' forgot about municipal elections. Note 'all candidates' meetings have already been scheduled for Osgoode Township, and if anybody over there deserves a bit of sympathy its clerk-treasurer Fred Wilson and his staff. Mr. Wilson admits it hasn't been easy working out a fire station during renovations at the main office. "But", he says, "this is the first time we ever attempted to conduct an election from a shoe box and packing case". Knowing Fred, we're betting the task will be completed with his usual efficiency.

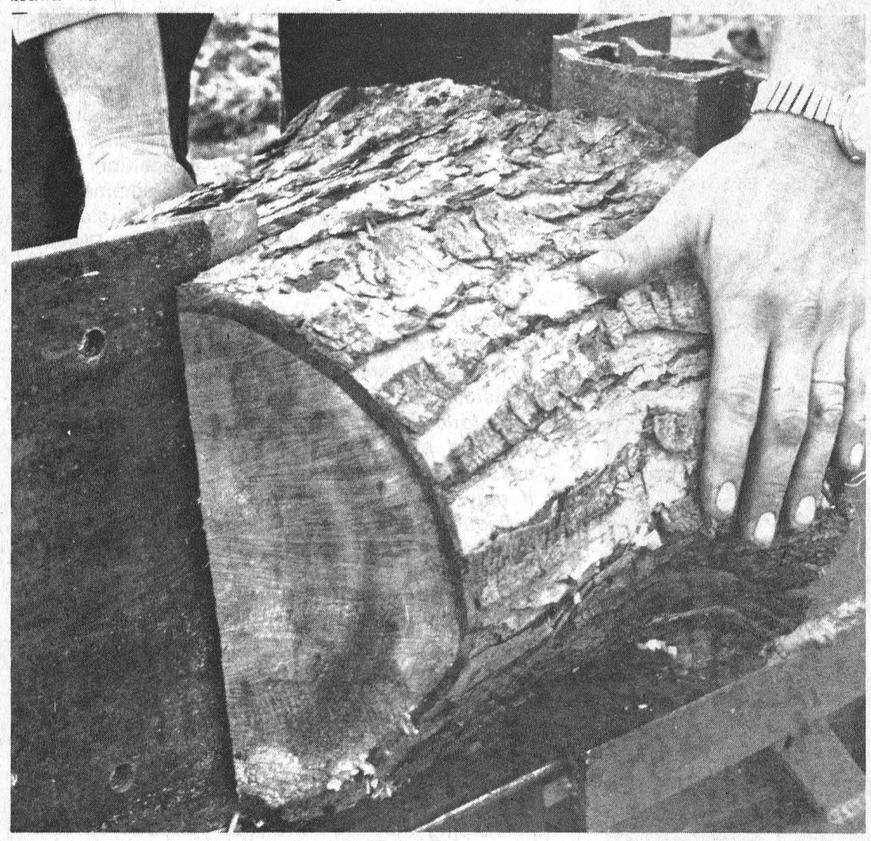
Jack K. Campbell, Ottawa Valley Ayrshire Club president, passed on a tip last Friday night that might prove valuable to aspiring municipal candidates. Speaking at the annual 'Awards Night' John K. explained that following a speaking engagement he once approached a well known orator in the audience seeking advice. Explaining that he always experienced difficulty knowing what to do with his hands he asked if the experienced one could help. "Having heard you", commented the gifted speaker, "I suggest you put them over your mouth". But Jack's modesty fell on deaf ears, his words of wisdom were, in fact, delivered with the impact of a seasoned politician.

It's prediction time again and, as usual we have the old crystal ball shined and operational. Regretfully, on the football scene, both Tiger Cats and Argos are barely 'visible', but as anticipated 'our' Rough Riders come through crystal clear holding the Grey Cup aloft. There appears to be some 'fog' surrounding Montreal Canadiens, but --- yes, there it is --- Metcalfe 'Jets' opening another bottle of 'championship' champagne. Next week we'll turn the ball around and see if perchance 'hawks' or 'Lions' are in there somewhere.

Boss suggests that the problem with some staff members is they stop to think --- and forget to start again.

Vernon Sheet Metal Worker Makes Wood-Splitting Easy

Splitting wood used to be considered a chore that taxed the brawn and endurance of the sturdiest. Over Vernon way the task is relatively simple. So simple in fact that the lady of the house can split a few knotty elm blocks during "television commercials."



20-Ton Pressure

No axe - no wedge - no effort

Billy Hill, a sheet metal worker, saw several factory-manufactured "splitters" in action, but in each case found plenty of room for improvement, and set his ingenious brain to work.

Assisted by brother Jimmy and his dad Willis he drafted a "master plan" and then, with economy in mind, assembled the required length of steel beam, hydraulic cylinder from an abandoned backhoe, pump from a front-end loader no longer in use, and a powerful 18 horse motor that once powered a hay baler. Armed with his acetelyne torch and determination he went to work — and the end result is perhaps the mose efficient tool in use anywhere in the area.

Billy's dad vividly remembers when splitting and piling a cord of wood was considered a hard day's work. And looking back Willis smiles as he recalls broken axe handles, wedges and backaches. "Those were the days," he grins, "when wood heated a man twice, once while splitting, and again in the furnace."

"Now," he says, "thanks to Billy and Jimmy I can split an entire cord of knotty, twisted blocks without removing my 'mackinaw'."

Food Processing Costs Grow

TORONTO — The Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA) reports the cost of bringing food stuffs from the farmer to the consumer continues to grow.

The OFA's Farmer Price Index shows an average 2.3 per cent increase in farm gate prices in September. The increases were led by pork, up 9.6 per cent and beef up 1.2 per cent. The increase follows a 2 per cent decline in July and an August increase of 0.3 per cent.

The Farmer Price Index is now up 15.9 per cent over a year ago. Retail prices for the same products are much higher, having increased by 17.7 per cent.

The OFA points out that fruits and vegetables were responsible for much of the change in retail prices. Each September, fresh domestic produce replaces expensive imports. As a result, consumers paid 12.1 per cent less for fresh fruits, and fresh vegetables dropped by 30.9 per cent. The decrease will not last, however, as consumers will soon be dependent upon imports for most fresh vegetables.

Most of the province's fruit and vegetable growers, who supply the processing industry, received an increase in price in September. Processing fruits were up 12.8 per cent; processing vegetables down 0.5 per cent, and produce destined for freezing, up 1.1 per cent. Their combined effect is an increase of 4.6 per cent over last year.

The OFA warns, however, that past history shows consumer prices for processed fruits and vegetables have increased much faster than the price paid to the farmers. As an example, the OFA points out that in 1972, a 14-ounce can of peaches sold for 35.3 cents, with the farmer receiving 7.8 cents. Last year, the farmers' share increased to 10.7 cents, but consumer prices rose even higher to 54.1 cents.

T800
"has cobbed up very well"
— Denis Naud, Valleyfield
T800 is the amazing, all-new, single-cross corn hybrid specially developed by Trojan for the cooler Canadian conditions.
Available in very limited quantities this year, T800 can only be seen in Trojan Special Test plots in the 2500-2700 CHU maturity areas.
"T800 is not a tall plant and it's handling high population very well," said Mr. Naud.
Speaking of another plot near Oshawa, James Dickison said, "The standability of T800 seems to be as good as the later Trojan hybrids — and I've always found they have excellent standability.
"I'm looking forward to seeing the results this harvest," he said.

It's That Time

When the windows of a motor vehicle freeze over some area drivers just scrape a "Peep Hole" on the windshield and attempt to drive to their destination. This is an extremely dangerous practice and can cause a serious motor vehicle accident.

Section 48(1) Highway Traffic Act

No person shall drive a motor vehicle upon a highway.

(a) Unless the windshield and the windows on either side of the compartment containing the steering wheel are in such a condition as to afford the driver a clear view to the front and side of the motor vehicle.

(b) Unless the rear window provides a clear view to the rear and mirrors are attached and are clear of ice and snow and provide a clearly reflected view to the rear and any traffic approaching from the rear.

Complete Coroner's Inquest On Death Of Pedestrian

MORRISBURG—A man struck and killed by a police cruiser near here on July 16 contributed to his own death by walking with total disregard to the highway traffic act on the night of the accident, a coroner's jury has decided.

The decision was made by a five person jury at a coroner's court held Thursday night into the death of Harry MacDonald of Toronto.

The accident occurred on Highway 2 on the outskirts of Morrisburg just after 10 p.m. when an unmarked police cruiser driven by Ontario Provincial Police Constable Harold Theriault was passing a car.

Evidence showed that MacDonald was walking on the road towards the east on the westbound side of the highway.

Theriault testified under protection of the Canada Evidence Act. He said he passed one car, pulled in and was passing a second car when he saw a white object and felt something hit the car.

The constable said he did not have time to take evasive action and added that after the collision the cruiser's headlights went out and the window on the driver's side was shattered.

An autopsy determined that MacDonald's death was due to a loss of blood from a severed artery in his right hip. Alcohol tests on the body proved negative.

Four witnesses testified they had seen MacDonald walking along Highway 2 on July 16. Three of the witnesses said they had to take evasive action to avoid hitting MacDonald.

The jury made no specific recommendations after its 30 minute deliberation. The coroner at the inquest was Dr. Gabriel Slowey.

Acclaimed Reeve

Whitteker Will Continue Present Township Policy

WILLIAMSBURG—The reeve of Williamsburg Township says he is happy with the present policies of the township council and plans to continue them in the next term.

Whitteker was acclaimed as Williamsburg Township's Reeve for the next term, last week.

Johnny Whitteker, in his "state of the township address," said the township has had a busy year, partly because of government grants.

The township received a winter works program, for the third year, from the federal government, the reeve said. The grant was worth about $70,000 and helped cut down on unemployment, welfare and taxes he said.

Whitteker was speaking to 35 people at an all-candidates meeting at the partially-completed township hall in Williamsburg.

In his speech Whitteker also expressed opinions on the other levels of government that work with the township.

Counties Council hired a county planner in September, a move the reeve said he was opposed to.

"I felt it wasn't necessary to hire a planner and spend close to $75,000, when all the expenses are considered," the reeve said.

"If township taxes go up a mill next year it will be due to the added expense of the planner," he warned.

Whitteker had compliments, and complaints for the provincial government. He was satisfied with the Ontario Home Renewal Plan, a plan designed to help low-income home owners fix up their houses, but unhappy with road grants.

The reeve is serving on the district health council and is happy with the changes made regarding septic beds. Whitteker has been a vocal opponent of the amount of fill the government says is necessary to cover septic beds. He says the government regulations require too much fill.

Regarding township business the reeve spoke with pride of the TOWERS program (Township Of Williamsburg Employing Responsible Students). TOWERS was a summer program to employ students on a seasonal basis.

The sale of 500 smoke detectors at a subsidized price, and the paving of three miles of road a year, were other areas Whitteker said he was proud of.

Baker Reports

Post Office Mess

The Post Office used to rank with the Armed Forces and Department of Transport as a basic function of government, a visible and tangible return for our taxes. Although breaking even was a goal of the Post Office, it was never a primary obligation. As citizens we expected service, paid for part of it when we bought postage stamps and the rest came out of the general revenues of the government. I cannot believe that there are not thousands of dedicated postal employees who have a sense of duty to get the mail to its destination. Unhappily, their ethic is not shared by all their colleagues.

Clearly, the time for excuses is over and I think the time for apologies by the Postmaster General has long since passed as well. There can be no doubt about the necessity of an in-depth examination of the whole postal operation from Technology to its labour relations, to its foundation as a department or a Crown Corporation of Government.

WALTER BAKER, M.P.
GRENVILLE-CARLETON
OPPOSITION HOUSE LEADER
REPORTS TO
GRENVILLE-CARLETON

Given the number of complaints that I receive I cannot help but think that there are thousands and thousands of Canadians who have just given up in disgust.

It is both sad and paradoxical that in an age when almost anything seems possible, a basic right of citizenship, namely, an efficient postal system, is beyond the competence of government.

Hulbert United Church Marks 104th Anniversary

Fine fall weather and large congregations marked the observance of the 104th Anniversary of Hulbert United Church on Sunday, Oct. 22nd. At the morning service, Rev. Cathy York of Williamsburg United Church brought a challenge to the congregation in her sermon, "A Prescription for the Church Today;" inspiring music was presented by Mrs. Bert Geleynse of Mountain, and by the Hulbert Junior Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Dale Keyes, organist of the church.

The evening service was conducted by a musical group from Arnprior, Murray and the Gospelaires; this trip, consisting of Murray Langford, his sister and his cousin, presented an inspiring program of music and the spoken word; they also led in several hymn sings in which the entire congregation participated. Following the evening service, a fellowship hour was enjoyed by all.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 24th, the annual anniversary dinner was well attended; each year, friends from near and distant points return for this event.

Hulbert United Church began as Wesley Methodist Church in 1874 when the original small white frame church was dedicated on a cold January day; three services were held on that day of dedication, and a "tea meeting" the following evening set the pattern for anniversaries of the church's founding in most of the years since that time. During the ministry of Rev. Fred Tripp of the Matilda Circuit, a fine brick church was built to replace the original one; it, too, was dedicated in January - in 1908. In 1925, the name changed to Hulbert United Church with the advent of Church Union. Thirteen years later, in January 1938, on the morning of the 64th Anniversary of the dedication of the first church, the second church was gutted by fire. Despite the depression and declining membership, a third church (the present one) was erected, and, in September of the same year, only eight months after the fire, it was dedicated to the glory of God. Like its two predecessors, it, too, was completely debt-free at the time of dedication.

In recent years, members of the congregations of Pleasant Valley and Hainsville have joined the Hulbert congregation after the closing of their churches. In 1974, the 100 Anniversary year, the basement of the church was renovated, and a fine kitchen and washroom added; this was made possible by funds brought in by the Pleasant Valley congregation.

The present minister is Rev. Dr. L. D. Joyce of Brinston; services are held each Sunday morning.

The Hulbert Congregation expressed thanks to many friends for their support and encouragement throughout the years, and on the occasion of their 104th Anniversary.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WINCHESTER TOWNSHIP
Always Putting The Ratepayers First

ASKING FOR YOUR SUPPORT
NOV. 13
I am pleased after two years as a councillor, a dairy farmer, and at the age of sixty-five to run again in this election for 1979 and 1980.
During my last term of office I did not miss a meeting of Council that was important. This is still my aim: to gain knowledge from all Council meetings, to know just exactly what our needs are in the Township of Winchester and to do something about them.
I am sure you have all read, in some instances have seen, some of the things we have accomplished for our community, for example, the new pumper and truck for the Fire Department. And, I would like to mention the assistance to farmers in acquiring tile drainage and to others in acquiring the new subdivision in Morewood and, as well, the reconstruction of the Ormond Bridge.
We have also paved about one and a half miles of the Ormond Road along with the South/West Section, Chesterville. On most roads in the Township, we made sure that there was some gravel and/or stone. Although we had one complaint, we sincerely tried our best to satisfy the people of the community.
If I am elected as a councillor for Winchester Township in the upcoming election, I would like to devote most of my time and effort in continuing the planning and development of our Township for our future years. This was a trust placed in me in the past years and a trust I am seeking again in this election.
Thank you

Eastern Ontario Districts Attend Festival Of Faith

Over 400 people gathered at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa last weekend for the "Festival of Faith." Most of the participants were from such Eastern Ontario communities as Osgoode, Kars, Manotick, Metcalfe, North Gower, Chesterville, Merrickville and Iroquois. But others came from as far away as Halifax, Quebec, Toronto and Thunder Bay in order to attend.

Planning for the event began almost two years ago with a small group of lay people. Originally, they planned for about 280 participants, but as word got around, registrations far outnumbered the capacity of the Hotel and many had to be turned down.

From Friday evening Oct. 27 to Sunday afternoon Oct. 29, the group filled the Chateau's Adam Room with singing and worship and celebration. Five different "storytellers" spoke about their experiences and their personal faith. Then in small group discussions, the people shared their own stories. There were Bible study and prayer groups as well.

The five storytellers were: Lee Langner, an Ottawa housewife and mother; Dennis Dwyer, a businessman and family man from Montreal, who is now studying for the ministry; Sandy McLauchlan, a student at Carleton University; Ernie Hollands, a former convict, who after serving 25 years in various prisons was converted in a maximum security cell in Millhaven in 1975; and Tom Miles, a Maritimer who is now a United Church minister in Lachine, Quebec.

The Director of the Festival of Faith was Rev. Tom Sherwood, who is minister of the United Churches in Osgoode and Kars.

The Festival concluded on a high note Sunday with a worship service and Communion led by Mr. Sherwood and the five storytellers.

Some of the organizers of the Festival were: Christine Judge of Merrickville, Ken McClymont of Emmanuel United Church, Ottawa, Mary Loree formerly of Long Sault, Audrey Raike and Felicity McKendry of Manotick, Florence Davies of Alta Vista, and Joanne Sorrill formerly of Bell's Corners.

Tight Race Shaping Up In Osgoode Township

F. Alexander

Fred Alexander, a successful Dalmeny area farmer, has been a resident of the township for the past 20 years, and is seeking his third term on municipal council.

Mr. Alexander, his wife and three children moved to Osgoode from neighbouring Gloucester Township where both his father and grandfather had served on council and also as members of the now defunct Carleton County administration.

"Fred," as he is best known throughout the area, is 51 and readily admits he has always considered roads one of his top priorities.

Having spearheaded the move to have Ottawa-Carleton Regional government assume responsibility for the Osgoode-Russell boundary, he is confident his work is reaping rewards.

"I am now convinced," he says, "that in the very near future the area will be served by a modern highway connecting the hamlet of Marionville on the south with Highway 417 to the north."

Mr. Alexander, in addition to his busy schedule, has always found time to play an active role in fraternal, church and community activities.

Mary Cooper

Mary Cooper, 44, is a busy wife and mother, willing and eager to continue serving Osgoode Township ratepayers. Although first elected to council in 1976 "Mary" was an active campaigner long before that date. A strong believer that the "voice of the people" should not only be heard, but suggestions carefully evaluated, and advice seriously considered. She played a major role in opposing proposed "pits and quarries" zoning that could eventually deface large areas of the municipality. (Note: the zoning decision was recently reversed.)

Mrs. Cooper and her husband Paul are the parents of five children, three attending the local high school and two at college.

Reviewing her first term in office she feels she has succeeded in making township affairs her top priority.

"I have particularly enjoyed meeting and working with the many dedicated people who help Council, both as appointed committee members and as members of the many groups which contribute so much to community life," she says.

"I think," she concludes, "the new Council must steer a careful course which will allow a reasonable amount of planned development without spoiling the qualities which place Osgoode Township among the best residential municipalities in the province."

PAUL COULSON

Paul Coulson

A graduate of Dalhousie Law School in 1974, he has practised law in the area since being called to the Bar. He is married and he and wife Elva are the proud parents of one child.

"The important thing to keep in mind," he says, "is that our Township has crossed the threshold of a new and complex era, and we are dealing on an emotional basis with the Regional Municipality, other townships and the Provincial Government."

Mr. Coulson feels that to effectively deal with these bodies, as well as existing local boards and tribunals, it is imperative that council be skilled not only in interpreting legislation, but in assisting representatives at other levels to assure continued, well planned development.

"I believe," he says, "that some members of council do not possess the required skills to fulfill such tasks, nor do I believe that being a lifetime resident is a sufficient asset to be able to do the job."

"If elected," Mr. Coulson concludes, "I propose to put my back into assisting all those who represent and work for us at all levels."

Phil McEvoy

Phil McEvoy, 45, a contractor and owner of Poplar Grove Tourist Park, has served on council continuously for the past 10 years. A lifelong township resident, he and his wife are the parents of three children.

Reviewing his long term in office Mr. McEvoy notes that he chaired the highly successful Township Sesqui-Centennial Celebrations in 1977 when the municipality's illustrious history was recorded and an official township crest approved.

Mr. McEvoy also strongly opposed the Region's plan to turn thousands of acres of land into pits and quarries, and feels he played an influential role in having the decision reversed.

Expressing confidence in his fellow councillors he says, "It should be remembered we had a new bridge over the Castor River at Kenmore 30 days after the old one collapsed."

He is proud also of council's success in bringing all insurance under one policy resulting in a better rate.

The long time Councillor lists six reasons why he feels confident ratepayers will want him to continue in office.

PHIL McEVOY

1. Elimination of unnecessary "red tape." 2. Sensible planning of the River Corridor. 3. Careful examination of proposed Gloucester Naval Base planning. 4. Progress without excess taxation. 5. Being self-employed makes it possible to meet taxpayers or attend meetings at any time. 6. His keen interest in the Township combined with valuable municipal and business experience.

A. McKeown

Albert McKeown, 58, is a farmer and lifelong township resident. He and his wife Phyllis are the parents of four children and he has served continuously on council for the past eight years.

Mr. McKeown, like all other candidates is a dedicated community worker, and in addition to his work on municipal council he is chairman of Metcalfe and District Community Centre Management Committee, and a member of the Township Planning Committee.

The Edwards area farmer says his past record speaks for itself and vows, that if elected, residents will be assured the same unselfish dedication. Mr. McKeown feels the new council will face a multitude of contentious issues and states among his priorities a renewed effort to provide senior citizens housing, and a continuing struggle to control taxes.

He is also concerned regarding the present Regional land use policy.

"Under the present system," he says, "it is virtually impossible for our children to own homes in the township."

B. J. Reid

Brent Reid, 29, is making his first venture into the political arena.

"I am in the race," he says, "for three reasons. First I was approached by many ratepayers; secondly I feel a need for a change; and thirdly I enjoy dealing with the public."

Born and raised in the Lanark area he is a graduate of Perth Collegiate and Sir Sandford Fleming College where he received his Resource Technician diploma.

Keenly interested in athletic activities he was a member of the Eastern Ontario Cross Country championship team for three consecutive years, and competed in the All-Ontario championships at Toronto recently. Hobbies also include hockey, baseball, football, softball, soccer, curling and golf.

Employed by the Ontario Government since 1966 when he was a student employee, he became Conservation Officer in 1970 and is presently working in the area.

A community-minded citizen he has enjoyed membership in the Royal Canadian Legion, curling clubs, golf clubs and Lions clubs.

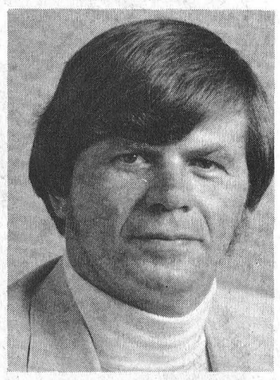
Mr. Reid feels the township must maintain its strictly rural atmosphere while providing the lowest possible tax rate and still meeting the needs of the public.

"If elected," he says, "I plan to work closely with organized associations and other citizen groups, and encourage public participation in township matters."

"Brent" and his wife Karen are the parents of two children.

D. Thompson

Doug Thompson, 32, pledges regular communication of council matters to township residents; adequate police protection; allotment of a portion of regional taxes back into township programs; and a move to attract small commercial business to broaden the tax base.



DOUG THOMPSON

A school teacher by profession Mr. Thompson and his wife Margo are the parents of three children, and active members of Edwards church and community life. Co-owner of Country-Springs Driving Range Ltd., he is keenly interested in sports and gives generously of his time to coach young athletes.

Although new in the race for municipal office he is well versed in all aspects of municipal affairs since he graduated from Carleton University majoring in Political Science and History.

Presently a representative on the Teachers Federation of Carleton and also the Ontario Public School Men Teachers Federation, he is confident that, if elected, he can improve present township governing legislation.

North Dundas News In Brief

By Steve Grubb and Ron Porteous

The school has been busy this week, mostly in anticipation of the big student-teacher showdown in flag football. Teams composed of both males and females were to face each other on the football field in activity period on Thursday, Oct. 26. Things did not go according to plans.

Thursday had been designated as School Colour Day. Students were urged to wear navy blue and white to show their spirit. The game itself was to be kicked off by a pep rally at 2:20 with all the students out to cheer the Star Dusters to a victory over the Faculty Fumblers.

Spirits were high but Mother Nature would not co-operate. Due to the amount of rain on Thursday, the game had to be postponed until a later date.

On Friday, the 27th, North Dundas girl's basketball teams travelled to CCVS in Cornwall. They put out great effort, but both the Juniors and the Seniors lost. The Juniors lost 32 to 22 while the Seniors lost 28 to 24.

There was a cross-country meet at Long Sault on Tuesday, Oct. 24. Our Midget boys team, composed of Brian Young, Bill Bakker, Todd Taylor and Kevin Roberge placed 3rd. Our Junior girls team, made up of Dawn Williams, Wendy Vanderlaan, Sue Curran and Andrea Beeching placed 1st. Pat Hornsby running Junior finished 4th. Debbie Hornsby, Midget girls finished 3rd. Wendy Vanderlaan finished 2nd and Dawn Williams finished 4th.

This year our annual chocolate bar drive is expected to start the weekend of Nov. 11 and the following school week.

As always, your support is the key to our school's success and we hope that this year's drive is greeted well.

The next school dance is approaching. This time it is to be a Disco and will be held on Friday, Nov. 24. It is not known yet who will be playing.

The first Band Concert of the year will be held in the school gymnasium on Wednesday, Nov. 8 at 8:00 p.m. This concert will feature the Junior and Senior Bands plus a Guitar Ensemble. We hope that many will turn out for what should be a very entertaining night.

As winter approaches, changes occur. For the first two months of the year, late buses have been running three nights a week. This changed as of the start of November. Late buses are now running on two nights a week, as they have in the past. Until further notice, the buses will run on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

This year's Junior Achievement Night will be held on Friday, Nov. 3. The students who last year were in levels one, two or three received armbars for honours, band, fine arts and service.

South Mountain Post Office Built To Metric

By Tom Workman
Press Staff Reporter

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Lorne Strader looked around the post office and said, "It doesn't look any different to me."

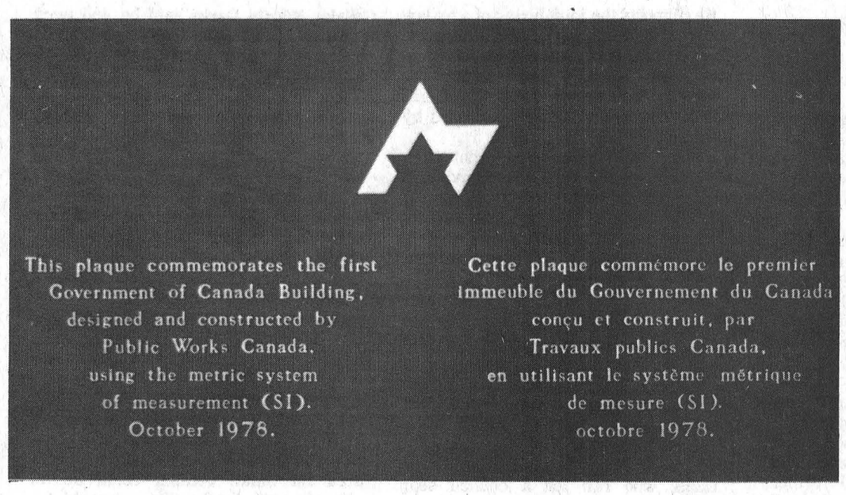
The rural route driver from Brinston was describing the new post office in South Mountain that was officially opened last Thursday.

Lorne is right. The post office doesn't look any different, but it is. It's the first public building in Canada designed, tendered and built to metric specifications.

To kick off the age of the metre in the Canadian construction industry the chairman of the Metric Commission and the deputy minister of Public Works attended the opening ceremonies.

Along with postmaster Al Moorehouse, John Mackay, the deputy minister, cut the ribbon to officially open the building. Sandy McArthur, chairman of the metric commission, unveiled a plaque stating the building is the first metric building in Canada.

McArthur explained that the plan to go metric in construction of public buildings started Jan. 1. Since then all new architect's designs, tenders and projects have been in metres, centimetres and litres instead of yards, feet and gallons.



"It's a proud day for me," the commissioner said. "After all the years of planning and hoping I can finally see the result of my work."

Plans for the post office were drafted in January, the tenders were called in February and awarded the following month. In May work started and finished in September. The post office has been unofficially opened for about a month.

Spacebuilders of Ottawa were awarded the tender for construction of the building with the lowest tender of $82,000.

Mackay said the country's construction industry is able to work in metric. To prove his point he said the competition to win the contract for the post office was fierce, with 12 firms submitting tenders.

McArthur said working in metric is cheaper than in imperial measurements. He said the final cost of the building, $15,000 under budget, proved this.

However there were some problems when it came to constructing the post office. According to the foreman of the project some lumber could not be ordered in metric lengths. This led to workers having to cut beams to measure and planing 2 by 4's to fit around doors and windows.

The biggest headache of the contractor, though, wasn't caused by Canadian industry, it was caused by the post office.

The post office hasn't started building post boxes to metric specifications yet, but the space allowed for the post boxes was in metres. This meant the space for the boxes had to be altered.

The post office is designed to meet the future needs of South Mountain and area. There is room for more than 400 post boxes, though only 200 are now in use. And the post office is more than twice the size of the previous building.

The former building housing the post office is a block west of the new building and was rented by the government in 1950. The new post office is the first time it has been located in a government-owned building in South Mountain.

The building is also designed to be energy efficient. It has extra insulation and a heat pump that heats and cools the building efficiently.

With all of its features the building is something to be justifiably proud of. And, while it doesn't look different than other area post offices, a look at the blueprints will prove that it is. Next to the figures in inches and feet that the contractor has pencilled in, the proof is there that the building is all metric.

The front door isn't 6' 10⅝" high, it's 2100 mm, and the lot isn't 240' 8" long, it's 73,381 mm. It all depends on how you look at it.

Al Moorehouse looks on as John Mackay, deputy minister of public works, cuts the official metric ribbon to open the South Mountain post office.

The post office, as the plaque above states, is the first federal government building in Canada to be designed, tendered and built to metric specifications.

The opening ceremonies on Thursday afternoon were also attended by Sandy McArthur, the chairman of the Metric Commission.

The post office is twice the size of the old building and has enough post box space to hold more than 400 boxes.

Cowboys In Cars Catch Hell From Candidates

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

CHESTERVILLE—Two municipal council candidates here are injecting their political platforms with a dose of public safety.

They're stressing the need to control a growing traffic problem in the village — a problem that is not unique to Chesterville alone: hot-rodding.

Carl Ward, a 42 year old history department head at North Dundas District High School and Al Kennedy, 31, a Bell Canada management employee, were the only two candidates of the 11 polled by The Press who said the problem of speeding motorists should be controlled more by council.

Only one incumbent councillor is running among the nine men battling for the four seats here. Bert Van Kessel is just completing his first term on council and is standing for another. And former councillor Mac LaSalle is standing off against veteran Reeve Jim Brannen in a race for the chief executive's post.

"A lot of people say we've hired the OPP therefore we could almost as a council wash our hands of any responsibility other than the OPP looking after these things," said Ward. "I'm not of the opinion you can simply hire the OPP to police your village and then totally forget about or excuse yourself of responsibility for control within the limits of the municipality."

He said cars race through the village at 50 and 60 miles an hour. It's simply a matter of time, he says, before a child or elderly person is struck and killed.

Ward says it is not enough to complain that the provincial police detachment is not doing its job in the village. Steps must be taken by council, he stressed.

And those steps could include installing more two and three-way stops in the village, thereby reducing the distance that could be travelled at high rates of speed, he said.

"If you do nothing then you will have to tolerate the situation that presently exists," said Ward. "You can hire the OPP and then hide behind the OPP and excuse yourself of all responsibility ... but that's not the answer."

Other aspects of his platform include initiating municipal legislation to make smoke detectors mandatory in rental units with single exits.

Ward favours widening the industrial base with light industry and controlled housing development. But he believes that it is not sound economic planning to approve housing subdivisions when others are not filled.

He feels the downtown business core has picked up considerably over the past few years and should be a "vibrant and active" part of the community. He also believes council could be more prepared to take advantage of various federal and provincial grants.

"One of the problems is the kids screaming around the streets," said Kennedy. "Surely pressure could be brought to bear to at least have the OPP strategically cover the town on Friday and Saturday nights."

Kennedy said speed bumps could also be used in certain areas of the village to avert the problem. He also suggested that police protection be stepped up to control the situation.

He supports the joint hiring of a by-law enforcement officer by Winchester, Chesterville, Winchester Township and Mountain Township. That matter was suggested by Winchester council several months ago and is being considered by the municipalities.

Kennedy said the village has not taken advantage of all the federal and provincial grants that are available. If elected he would actively seek government support for more local projects. He feels there should be additional skating facilities, possibly on a portion of the South Nation River and park facilities should be upgraded.

Mike Dean, a 28 year old grocer who made an unsuccessful attempt at a council seat during the last municipal election, says he's in a position as a local businessman to "hear the voice of the public, to hear what they like, what they don't like and what they'd like to see."

Dean, who ran for a council seat shortly after he moved here two years ago, believes he has a better chance now that he's had time to meet more people.

"Council should listen to different organizations and individuals tell what they would like to see the community become because they sometimes have better ideas," said Dean. "So you need all their ideas; it's the people that should be running the town, not just council."

To get the community more involved in the workings of council, feelers should be put out to all the service organizations in the municipality, he said, and suggestions for improvements could be considered.

Dean believes that businessmen make better councillors because "they're used to making decisions, they know how to handle money and they like to see progress in the town."

He wants to see beautification of the Village's roads and streets and full use of recreational facilities.

Incumbent councillor Bert Van Kessel, a 44 year old Nestles employee, says expansion of the village's lagoon isn't critical at this stage but it will be necessary for future development. Others, including Reeve James Brannen, have said that expansion of the lagoon should be one of the village's main priorities.

Van Kessel said the municipality should know within two weeks if the Ministry of the Environment will approve a request for a study into the proposed expansion.

"According to the department our lagoon isn't overtaxed," he said. "Right now we are not in jeopardy but for any more future development we would have to enlarge the lagoon."

Just completing his first two-year term, Van Kessel said it's important that men with previous council experience be elected as the slate of candidates is made up mostly of new-comers.

He prides himself on not missing a council meeting and promises to continue to help his constituents whenever possible.

Thirty-four year old farm equipment dealer Martin Derks said he will work towards creating a land development bank for light industrial development if he is elected.

But he believes that expansion of the village's lagoon is the major priority before any more development occurs. He too wants to beautify the downtown section by planting trees and shrubbery.

"I know it would be expensive but it would be for the next generation, not for ourselves," he said. "If it's going to cost money, hell, we've got to borrow it ... that's what any businessman would do."

Derks believes there should be more community involvement in council meetings. Meetings could be publicized more, he said, to make them more inviting for the public to attend.

Another consideration while dredging of the South Nation is being carried out, he said, is the construction of a boat ramp in the village area. An adequate area for small boating could be an attractive plus for the village, he said.

Peter DeRooy, 57, a Nestles employee, said some of the candidates are talking about adding light industry and more housing to the village but that would require an extension to the lagoon and the possibility of drilling another well. And that means more taxes, he said.

"I'd like to see lots of things done but it is impossible," he said. "The taxes are high enough, that's what most people complain about..."

DeRooy said his main concern is to keep the village's taxes on an even keel.

Bernard Bedard, 53, a territorial manager for a local farm equipment dealership, said a successful community "can't work on election promises but only on sound administration." He stressed that he wants to make no promises during the campaign.

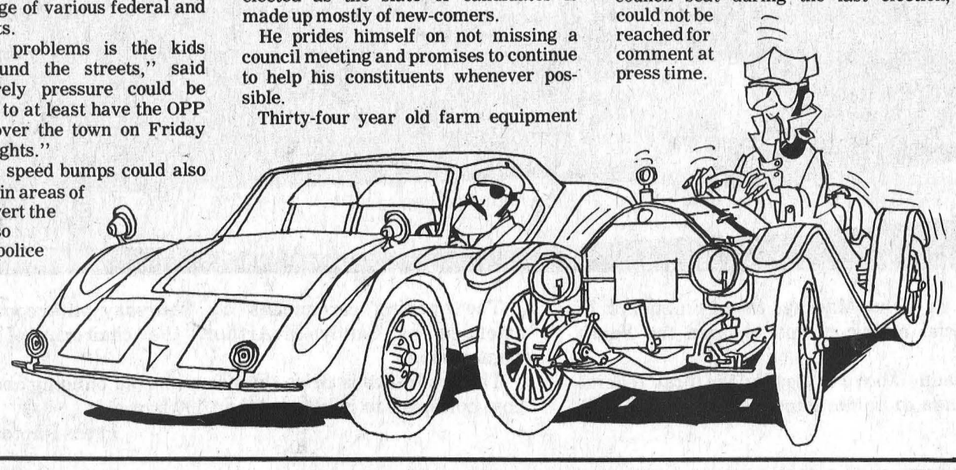
Bedard said he sees many changes he'd like to make but he will wait until he's elected to make them known. He says public surveys should be conducted to determine if the village ratepayers want light industry or improvements to the downtown business core. He calls himself "a man of action".

Erik Thompson a 35 year old electrician, said the village should be attempting to locate more light industry to boost the taxation base. He said the downtown core needs more office space, not more merchants.

When asked about the traffic problem, he replied that it's no worse here than in other municipalities. Thompson said solving the traffic problem wasn't "too important an issue" but the village should look into enlarging the lagoon.

He said the lagoon is large enough to service the developments now underway but will not allow for future growth of the town.

Jim Cook, who ran unsuccessfully for a council seat during the last election, could not be reached for comment at press time.



Brannen, Lasalle Battle For Reeveship

CHESTERVILLE—Incumbent Reeve Jim Brannen and his opponent in the upcoming election, councillor Mac Lasalle, have a basic difference in their political platforms.

Brannen believes expansion of the village's lagoon is critically needed and Lasalle feels the project isn't as pressing.

"We've got to do something about it but how we're going to do it we just don't know," said Brannen in an interview with The Press.

He added that council doesn't "like seeing the town go into debt over something like this but maybe we'll have to face it." The Reeve added that provincial government restraints have limited the amount of grants available to small municipalities for such projects.

"The little bit of grants that we get isn't hardly any help to the council at all," he said. "I feel council needs somebody with past experience as a reeve for the next couple of years anyway...."

Lasalle, on the other hand, believes expansion of the lagoon is at least two years away. He said the lagoon is only "technically overloaded" because there is enough capacity left to accommodate about 80 more building lots.

"Plus that proposed shopping centre that's supposed to come," he added, "so that the only reason the lagoon would be overloaded would be for another subdivision type of thing...."

He said the council could apply for a provincial grant that could cover up to 75 per cent of the cost of the lagoon expansion. Another alternative, he said, would be to have developers pay larger lot levies and have them paid before the land is developed.

Lasalle said he would like to see some beautification of the downtown business core.

"I like that idea, in fact I'd like to see us do a little work on those sidewalks and maybe get a little pavement down on King Street," he said. "That makes a difference on the appearance of the town."

He believes council has worked closely enough with downtown businessmen in the past.

"This business about council not being available, they're kicking a dead horse there, that's baloney," he said. "Council has always been available if people want to take the time."

He said there has only been one resident sit through a council session over the past two years.

Council has asked the Ministry of the Environment to conduct a feasibility study of the proposed lagoon expansion.

Lasalle ran second in a nine-way race for a council seat two years ago, winning some 361 votes, 90 behind poll leader Stewart Allan who dropped out of the running this year because of health reasons.

Brannen is completing his third term as Reeve. He defeated Nelson LaPrade by 253 votes in the last election. He was acclaimed to two one-year terms in the 1960's and was defeated by Keith Graham in 1970.

Carleton Junior Farmers Donate Rally Proceeds To Cystic Fibrosis

Carleton Junior Farmers netted $1,500.00 at their recent car rally and the entire proceeds were donated to help the continuing fight to find a cure for Cystic Fibrosis.

Approximately 70 cars participated in the interesting competition and most found their way around the difficult course. Each auto was manned by a driver and navigator and speed was not a determining factor. The winning team, Dale Waddell and Laurie Crosby finished within minutes of the pre-determined time which had been established by the rally committee.

The Lions Den at Metcalfe was the starting and finishing point and Junior Farmers expressed appreciation to area business firms for suitable awards. Beautiful trophies were donated by Metcalfe Service Centre, Quaile Excavating Ltd., Acres Equipment, Lyle's Auto Body Ltd., Winchester Sporting Goods and Campbell Welding and Repairs.

Dale Sauve and Mike Crosby finished second, closely followed by Bob Malone and John Ross.

Following the Rally all enjoyed dancing at Russell Community Centre Hall where Peter Yirkuw of the Cystic Fibrosis Association was present to accept the cheque.

Club president Susan Rowan thanked rally chairman Eddie Robinson and his able committee members for having directed such a successful project for a very worthy cause.

LOOKING AHEAD

The busy Junior Farmers' group looks forward to an interesting late fall and winter program of activities and already plans are being formulated to have the club represented at a curling bonspiel to be staged at Tweed, Ontario on November 18th. The same weekend other members will be competing at a Chesterville broomball competition.

Members plan another interesting curling season and all interested in weekly games are invited to contact either Susan Rowan, Keith Jeacle or Peter Heuvelmans.

Ken Quaile is pictured, centre, presenting his company awards to the winning team, Dale Waddell and Laurie Crosby. Navigator Laurie experienced little difficulty following the difficult course while driver Dale followed instructions to the letter.

All Candidates' Meeting Raises No Hot Issues

WILLIAMSBURG—In comparison to the rowdiness that revolved around incumbent school board trustee Bill Robson and challenger Harry Gatward at Friday night's all-candidates meeting the speeches by the council, and their challengers, were quiet, well-received and lacking in any controversial issues.

Robert (Rowdy) Gillard, a councillor running for deputy reeve, made a speech comparable in content to his fellow councillors. His most controversial statement was that he wants to keep the Township of Williamsburg as a whole.

"People are talking of the south section and the northeast section.... If I'm elected I'll do everything in my power to give the people of Williamsburg Township equal representation before the council."

Incumbent Deputy Reeve Glen Cunningham, who lives in Mariatown in the southwest corner of the township, also said he hoped the township wouldn't become divided.

"I believe we should work closely together ... as a group and with the surrounding communities," he said.

Cunningham also spoke out on the hydro project now considered in Matilda or Edwardsburg Townships.

"I'm not anti-nuclear but after seeing what happened to the County of Bruce in five years after that project ... we need some damn good thought," he said. Bruce County is the site of the Douglas Point nuclear power station.

Don Kyle, the senior member of council in terms of years on council, raised no issues in his speech.

He said the council had to continue to work to keep taxes down in a time when the township population has only increased 2.5 per cent in five years.

Councillor Dwight Crowder also didn't ruffle any feathers. He said he has enjoyed his two years on council and wants to see a cure for the sewage and water problems of Williamsburg cured.

Graham Hess, who is not an incumbent but is running for council, said he is running because of public pressure.

Hess said he would represent the whole of the township, and not just one part.

Another person running for office, Gordon McNairn, said Williamsburg Township is a good place to live and he would like to keep it that way. McNairn wants to be elected to put some of his ideas across and wants to increase the budget for recreation.

Gillard said the recreation program of the township is one area he is proud of. He is the councillor in charge of recreation. Rowdy said 125 children registered for minor ball in Williamsburg last summer.

Whitteker, the incumbent reeve of the township, was the only member of council acclaimed.

Dies In 90th Year

Mrs. Willis Russell Tupper, the former Cora Bertha Hummell, died at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge, Cornwall on Oct. 26th in her 90th year.

A former Williamsburg area resident the late Mrs. Tupper is survived by two sons, Willie R., Montreal, and Dwight H. of Chesterville. One brother, Willie, of Florida also survives, as well as six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

A member of the Pentecostal Church the funeral service at Vice and Craig Funeral Homes Inc., Chesterville, was conducted by Rev. G. H. Bussey of Cornwall at 2:30 p.m. on Oct. 28th.

Pallbearers were Hubert Tupper, Mac Hummell, Lee Hummell, Allan Tupper, Carl Tupper and Del Tennant.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

PETER PRITCHARD

Peter Pritchard has recently announced his intention to run for School Board Trustee in the Osgoode riding. He is a life time resident of the area and not only attended the Carleton Board System himself but his young family is now attending the same. Because of this he has a keen interest in the administrative policy of the board. He feels the role of French Immersion Education in the Carleton Board to be very important for our future generation. As a parent of school children Pritchard feels good Board/Teacher relations are important. If teachers are content with administration this is passed down the line to the students through better education. Also important in the total education picture is effective co-operation with the Ottawa Board. He feels a top priority issue is the continuing rising cost of education.

Peter Pritchard was born and raised in this area. He is co-chairman of Rideau Osgoode Cancer Education Committee. He is an active member of the Session in Manotick United Church and is councillor for their Hi-C Youth Group. He is 30 years old and feels that some young ideas to some very old problems would be advantageous to all concerned in the education of our youth today for the future of tomorrow.

Your interest in the election and support of my candidacy on NOVEMBER 13th will be greatly appreciated.

WDMH Delegation Plans To Attend Hospital Convention

The Vice President of the Board of Governors and the Chief of Staff of Winchester District Memorial Hospital are leading a delegation to the Ontario Hospital Convention next week.

Bill Porteous and Dr. G. M. Houze will be joined at the three-day event by H. P. Stel, Administrator, J. O'Gorman, business manager, Mrs. C. Manley, director of nursing and A. R. Larocque, purchasing agent.

The annual convention is being held at the Sheraton Centre, Nov. 6, 7 and 8.

The theme of this year's Convention is "Hospitals in Transition" and over 6,000 hospital trustees, staff and medical staff from Ontario's public hospitals and government psychiatric hospitals and from hospitals and health care organizations across Canada and the United States are expected to attend. The Convention will include lectures, panel discussions, and a display of modern hospital equipment. OHA's Annual Meeting and elections will be held on the first day of the Convention.

In addition to the General Sessions, which are of interest to all delegates, meetings for specialized hospital personnel, belonging to the more than 20 sections of OHA, will be held during the three days. Nurses, dietitians, engineers, pharmacists, directors of volunteer services and many others will meet to hear speakers and exchange ideas as part of their professional development.

The speaker at the Convention's Opening Luncheon will be Robert B. McClure, C.C., M.D., F.R.C.S., D.D., LL.D., Medical Missionary and former Moderator of the United Church of Canada. The keynote General Session on the first day of the Convention will be on the subject of Hospitals in Transition: Are We Charting The Right Course? Speakers will be Brian Lewis, M.D., F.F.R.C.S., of London, England, and David J. Roy, S.T.L., Ph.L., Dr. Theol., Director, Centre of Bioethics, Clinical Research Institute, Montreal. Among the other sessions of the Convention will be a panel discussion on organ transplants for which one of the panelists will be Dr. H. B. Cotnam, Chief Coroner for Ontario.

Winchester District Memorial Hospital is a member of the Ontario Hospital Association, a non-profit organization of Ontario's hospitals, many private institutions and other health care organizations. The Annual Convention is one of the many education programs, organized by the OHA for hospital staff and trustees, with the aim of maintaining the highest possible standard of health care for the people of Ontario.

Mrs. Nel Don of Winchester was one of hundreds of people who turned out last Thursday to the bargain basement at Henderson Hall. For one day the Women's Auxiliary of Winchester District Memorial Hospital took over the building and held its annual rummage sale, selling skirts, pants, dresses and coats for less than two dollars a piece.

Low-Priced Items Net Auxiliary $616

Someone once said "A bargain isn't a bargain unless you need it." If that statement is true then a lot of people in the area were in need of a bargain last Thursday.

That's when the Women's Auxiliary of Winchester District Memorial Hospital held its annual rummage sale at Henderson Hall in Winchester.

After all the rooting among the second hand clothes had been done the auxiliary had cleared $616.

The sale is an annual fund-raising event for the auxiliary. Since all of the clothes are donated the prices are bargain basement low: men's coats, 50c, men's pants, $1.00, ladies' skirts, 50c, and the highest priced item, ladies' coats, $2.00.

As in other years the sale started quickly. By 11 a.m., two hours after it started, the piles of clothes no longer towered over the shoppers and two-thirds of the day's receipts had been totalled.

The money raised this year is about the same as in other years.

From OPP Files

As the winter approaches, the daylight hours are diminishing, and consequently drivers will be required to do more driving in darkness, or failing light. It is not sufficient for any motorist to be able to see the road ahead; the individual driver must be aware that his, or her, vehicle must be clearly seen (as well as prevailing weather conditions permit) by displaying maximum lighting equipment. There are some drivers who persist in setting their vehicles in motion displaying parking lights. This is a dangerous practice, and it raises the question as to whether those parking lights could be seen by another motor vehicle, or pedestrian, particularly if the visibility was limited.

In the United States some bus companies have made it Department policy that their drivers must use headlights at all times when operating the bus. The results were very encouraging — accidents were reduced by 50 per cent.

It's quite possible that in the foreseeable future, legislation might be enacted making it mandatory for All Motor Vehicles to display lighting equipment. We have already moved one step in that direction, here in Canada, with motorcycles requiring lights operational at all times.

On Oct. 17, information was received at Morrisburg OPP Office which led to a local resident being charged with "Careless Driving" and "Failing to Remain at the Scene of an Accident."

This information was appreciated and it is precisely this sort of co-operation from the citizens within the communities that is so essential to any law enforcement agency.

If this public spirited attitude had not been forthcoming the offender may have avoided detection, which would have complicated the investigation, particularly if loss of life or serious injuries had occurred.

Section 37(3) Highway Traffic Act

Lamps on the front of a motor vehicle shall be so constructed, located, arranged and adjusted that when lighted they produce, under normal atmospheric conditions, and on a level road a driving light sufficient to render to the operator of a motor vehicle any person or vehicle on the highway within a distance of 350 feet ahead of the motor vehicle.

130 Attend Cancer Clinic

MANOTICK—More than 130 women attended a clinic sponsored by the Rideau-Osgoode Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society held at the community centre here last week.

The clinic was to teach women how to examine themselves to detect breast cancer.

Maureen Arthur, vice chairman of service to patients, said she was delighted with the turnout. She added that there was good participation from all age groups.

Arthur also wished to thank all volunteers who worked at the clinic.

The next clinic is planned for Metcalfe in early 1979.
