312 Enter Walkathon

The annual Walkathon, sponsored by Winchester Lions Club, once again proved highly successful despite chilling temperatures and cloudy skies.

312 determined walkers of all ages began the long trek early Saturday morning and slightly over 75% completed the 21.6-mile route.

Some walked faster than others, a spokesman for the club pointed out, and although two boys, Peter McLeod and Doug Duncan showed no signs of fatigue when they trotted back to the finish line at 12:15, others were a bit slower and a little more weary.

According to club past president Walter Shadbolt, Doug Warren, Eileen McConnell, Barbara Kirkhof and George Edwardson were 'in no hurry'. "It was exactly 7:00 p.m.", says Mr. Shadbolt, "when the tired but determined foursome picked up their hard-earned certificates at the Community Centre."

The walk committee, under the direction of Adam Meek, once again conducted the project with amazing efficiency. Check points were well manned, lunch was available at strategic points, and the entire route was well patrolled by O.P.P. officers who were ably assisted by well-marked Lion 'Official' cars.

Pretty Joan Robinson, a student at North Dundas District High School, celebrated her 17th birthday by, not only completing the walk, but being the first girl to finish.

Chuck Collins, with his familiar 'Rothman's Caravan' was back in town for the occasion and the unit is always a great asset for such occasions serving as 'action central' for the radio equipped cars and also proving an ideal resting place for tired, foot-sore marchers.

Unfortunately no one was able to the name the youngest walker who completed the trip but Mrs. Ross McConnell claims the honour of being the oldest.

SPECIAL PRIZES FOR PROMPT COLLECTING

The Lions Club, in an effort to encourage walkers to complete collections as early as possible, is offering special prizes to some lucky participants.

Walkers who have succeeded in having all pledges honoured and money turned in to club officials by May 20th will become eligible to win a bike or a radio.

"We will be giving away both a boys bike and a girls bike, as well as, several radios," reports committee chairman Adam Meek.

The walk committee agreed that no official figure will be released until all collections are completed. This method, they feel, will result in a much more accurate report.

Hey! That Feels Good

Being the first girl to complete a walkathon has its advantages. Having such a handsome big Lion member offer congratulations while massaging her tired aching feet helps erase the memory of lonely hours of walking.

Joan Robinson who literally bounced into the Community Centre at 12:30 was the first girl to arrive and several Lion members were on hand to welcome the winsome lass.

The comfortable lounges of the Rothman Caravan were a welcome sight and Garry Collins is the smiling club member who appears to have been studying chiropractics.

THE NEWS in Brief

Engineer Says Roads "Really Bad"

Counties engineer Allan Ferguson, commenting on the condition of roads in the United Counties, admitted some are 'really bad'.

There are some 431 miles of roads in the Counties and according to Mr. Ferguson at least 72 miles of gravel roads are firm and drying well after the winter frost.

The story concerning asphalt roads is different, however, and the engineer points out that these roads are weak with potholes and large cracks but he fears the cost of repairs may exceed the budget in certain areas.

The budget this year has been cut from $210,000 to $150,000 by the provincial government and as a result cut backs on repairs are inevitable.

Mr. Ferguson said that of the 356 miles of paved road in the United Counties, about 100 miles are 'bad', and, he comments, "the worst is yet to come".

Elzeon Raistrick Heads Lions Club

Elzeon Raistrick, a Charter Member of Winchester Lions Club, has been elected president for the coming term and will assume office at a special meeting early in June.

Mr. Raistrick succeeds Bill Johnston who is completing a very successful term in office.

Other officers elected include: 1st Vice President, Glen Vasey; 2nd Vice President, Dennis Osborne; 3rd Vice President, Vern Wilson; 2-year Directors, Gerald Cross and Lloyd Guy; 1-Year Directors, Al McRoberts and Howard Manchester.

Percy Armstrong will assume the role of Tail Twister and Keith Marquette will be the new Lion Tamer.

Secretarial chores will be handled by Bob Porteous while Jim Helmer moves into the difficult Treasurer's chair.

100 Club Entertains 23 Guests

The April meeting of Winchester 100 Club is 'Guest Night' and members brought along 23 visitors to hear a brilliant address by Dr. George Fisher.

Among the invited guests was Miss Barbara Milne, Dundas Dairy Princess, who, according to one Centurian "added that necessary touch of beauty and colour."

Winner of the Century Club Draw was Frank Morgan.

Osgoode Twp. Has Drainage Problems

Several delegations of ratepayers met with Osgoode Township Council Monday night and all were faced with similar problems - poor drainage

The delegations were from various sections of the township and in each case council gave assurance the situation would be given immediate study and, if necessary, engineers' opinions sought.

Guest Night At Canadian Club

Morrisburg and District Canadian Club's first meeting of the '72-'73 season will take the form of a social evening with each member requested to bring along three guests and the executive emphasizes that ladies will be welcome.

The program, a first for the club, will be a three screen presentation presented by past president Dr. George Fisher. The fast moving, colourful slide presentation has been prepared for over eighteen months especially for the Canadian Club. Dr. Douglas Hough has assisted Dr. Fisher in development of material.

The executive feels this event will afford an ideal opportunity for introduction of prospective new members.

The meeting is at Morrisburg Civic Centre Wednesday, May 3rd, at 8 p.m.

Permanent Licences Will Carry Message

When the new permanent licence plates are issued in 1973 they will carry the message, "Ontario -- Keep It Beautiful", Environment Minister J.A.C. Auld announced today.

This theme not only reflects the widespread and growing concern for our environment, he told the House, it also "will serve as a continuing reminder that a clean environment is an individual responsibility."

The message will remind visitors and potential tourists "that Ontario is a beautiful province whose people are concerned with conserving and enhancing its natural attractions," he said. "Nine of 10 Canadian provinces and many American states send their messages on licence plates wherever people travel by car."

Don Irvine Concerned With Roads

Grenville-Dundas provincial P.C. Member Don Irvine has expressed concern at the conditions of area roads and recently made it known he will attempt to direct attention to his riding when he speaks on the budget in the near future.

Mr. Irvine, it is understood, suggested Highway 31 deserves high priority and he also mentions Highway 16.

The new M.P.P. reports he is in complete agreement with most items in the budget, but did express some concern regarding proposed increased to distilleries resulting from the new tax on alcohol and liquor.

Important NDDEA Meeting Re-Scheduled To May 8th

North Dundas District Educational Association, due to circumstances beyond its control, has been forced to change the date of the next meeting.

Although May 1st was the date reported in last week's Press the important meeting has been rescheduled for one week later, Monday, May 8th.

As reported facilities at North Dundas District High School will be made available and a large enthusiastic crowd is anticipated.

Association president Robert LaRose reports that W. Lorne Thompson, Lorne Mellan, Dale Beckstead and other members of the Board of Education, as well as, M.N. Hutchison, Superintendent of Education for the area will all be present.

Questions from the floor will be welcomed and in an effort to make the meeting as lively as possible the educational association has prepared in advance a list of timely queries.

Following, for example, are a few of the 16 'prepared' questions that ratepayers and educational officials will have an opportunity to discuss:

1. How many persons (in numbers) are employed at the Administrative level by the Tri-County Board of Education this year; how many were employed last year? What percent of the total budget for this region does this year's administrative salaries comprise?
2. Do you feel that school bus drivers should have the responsibility of bus discipline?
3. What is being deleted from the secondary school program in 72/73 and what is being added to the curriculum?
4. Why are children from Grade 8 promoted to Grade 9 when they are still doing grade 6 math or English? Can they catch up in high school or do they just sit in a classroom until they finally drop out?
5. Why is our school board re-constructing Maple Ridge School for an open concept school, when up in North York county, they are now building a more structural type of school in which there will be more organized teaching and more rigid discipline? What is done for the child who cannot learn in the open concept classroom here?

Advance Clocks This Weekend

Daylight Saving time goes into effect again this Saturday at Midnight.

Advancing watches an hour might seem like stealing time from one's alotted life span but fortunately it is given back in the fall and the books 'up there' are balanced once more.

Although officially D.S.T. does not become effective till Midnight many favour the idea of making the big change after the evening meal. This eliminates the possilbity of forgetting the important chore late at night and assures everyone of getting to church on time.

MORE MONEY FOR ROADS

Council Will Call Tenders To Install Artificial Ice

Tenders will be called for installation of an artificial ice plant at Winchester Community Centre within the next week.

Decision to plan immediately for completion of the recreation project was reached at Monday night's meeting of council.

A wide variety of complaints concerning the newly installed sewage disposal system were studied. It was evident most problems were associated with flankage charges and council finally approved a motion deleting all such charges.

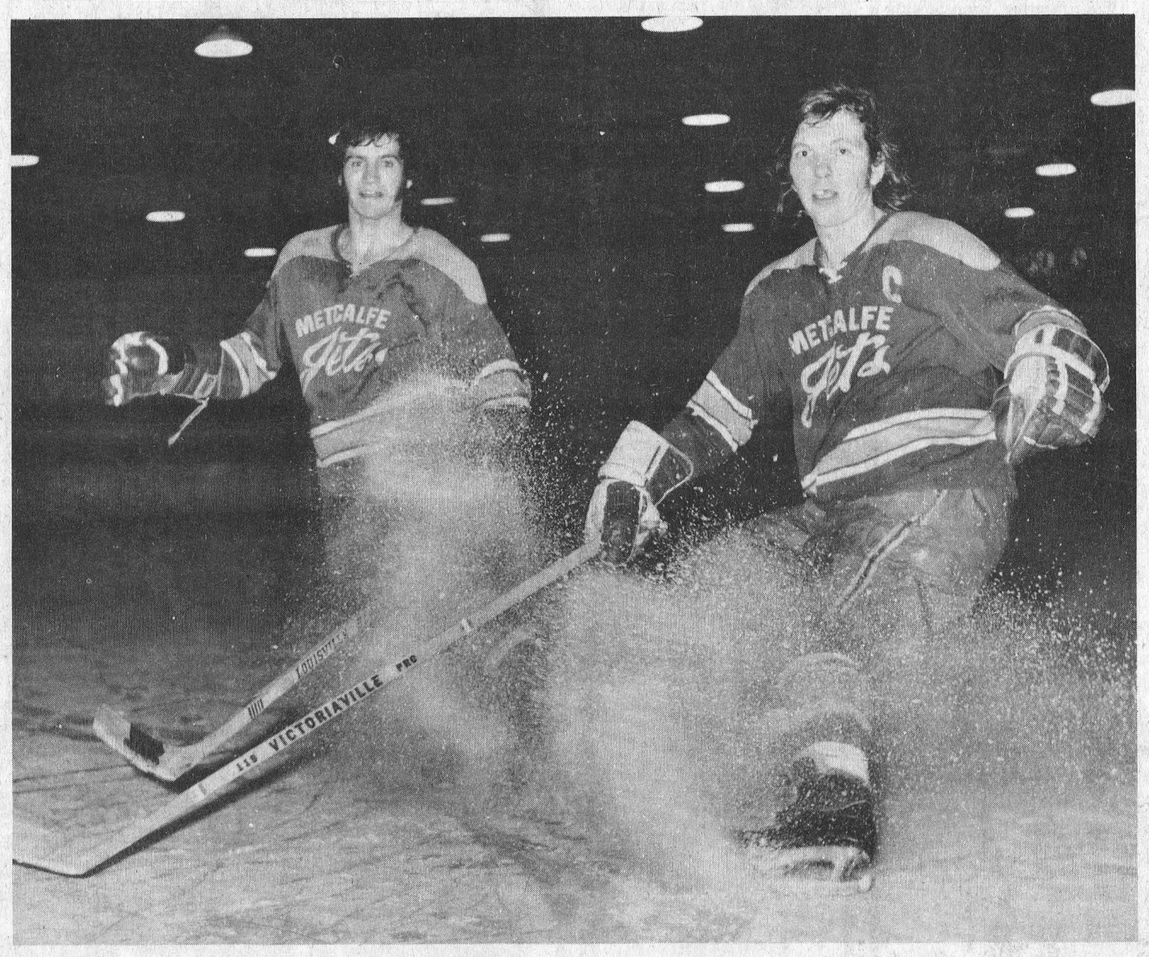
Council also announced that residents on the old system will be charged at the old rate for frontage.

More money will be spent on roads this year with a $45,000.00 expense budget approved. This is up $15,000.00 from 1971.

The Hydro Budget, which is subject to Hydro approval, was set at $12,100.00.

Irvin Holmes attended the meeting seeking further guidance on his new subdivision and council gave assurance he could proceed immediately with construction of two homes as previously agreed. Mr. Holmes was told his sub-division plans would be delayed till such time as sufficient water supply could be assured.

Council will meet again next Monday night.



Jets Win Citizen Shield

Rangy defenceman Bob Lowe, left and flashy forward Bob Woods are two of the reasons why Metcalfe Jets were Tuesday night crowned O.D.H.A. champions, and awarded the Citizen Shield.

Only a 'very wide angle' camera could possible have captured 'all' the reasons. Coach Bill Linegar said it best when asked to name his three star players:

"We don't have individual stars," the wiley coach remarked, "we're an all-star team and I think we've proved it rather convincingly."

The Jets downed Richmond 4-2 to sweep the best of seven series in four straight games.

Since January the 'Jets' have lost only twice. One in regular play and once to the highly-rated Gatineau 'Volants'.

Parents Unconcerned?

Those who were present at Winchester Public School last week to hear Kevin Molloy's spectacular message concerning the seriousness of the present drug situation came away convinced that the majority of Winchester and area parents just don't care.

It is understood less than fifty were present and many of those had come to hear the message for the second time.

Mr. Molloy had previously ad-

Administrator Explains Hospital Home Care Program In Area

The featured speaker for the April meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary was Miss Theresa Pelletier, administrator of the Home Care units in the five Eastern Counties of Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry, Russell and Prescott. She was introduced by Mrs Clapp, V.O.N. in charge of Home Care Nursing for Dundas, whose headquarters in the Winchester District Hospital make her easily available to needy cases.

Miss Pelletier defined Home Care as a rehabilitation and treatment program which co-ordinates existing medical, nursing and/or physiotherapy services for referred patients in hospital who may be cared for at home OR patients at home who might otherwise require admission to hospital.

Any patient in the Five Eastern Counties is eligible whose medical condition is active enough to warrant approval of his physician for this service, or whose home is suitable for establishing adequate treatment and whose family is willing to participate in the program.

The following services are provided according to need and as requested by the attending physician; visiting nursing or physiotherapy, home making, hospital equipment and dressings, medication, medical supplies, x-ray and laboratory services, and transporation to these special facilities.

The Home Care program is government supported and will assume responsibility for payment of services with the exception of physician's fees. Existing legislation and prepaid insurance plans are used when available, Miss Clapp explained.

"The advantages are many" she said "the patient may become more active and independent than would be possible in hospital; the home setting is more conducive to the comfort and contentment of the patient; it enables patients to come home sooner making more hospital beds available for the actively ill or those requiring more intensive treatment.

"Patient care is approved in blocks of thirty days or less as advised by the attending physician. Miss Pelletier emphasized that this is an extension of hospitalization facilities and, as such, must be approved and recommended by the attending physician."

Mrs. Parker Locke thanked the speaker for the precise information and the time involved in the busy schedule of an administrator of this complex scheme.

Mr. Stel, in his report, stated that the Coronary Care equipment has arrived and is being set up on the second floor.

The hospital had its usual busy month with a waiting list for beds reported Miss Legris.

Mrs. Max Boyd, Director of Volunteers, has posted, in the area schools, notices for teenage volunteers for summer duty and she also noted that a group of Winchester teenages were already assisting in One East programs on Tuesdays.

The Tuck Cart volunteers for May are from Morrisburg; June is open yet; July is the responsibility of Ormond unit and August is the choice of Metcalfe.

Full details of the June Garden Party and Bazaar will be discussed at the May meeting but, in the meantime, all housecleaning members are being asked to put aside articles for the White Elephant Boothchina, silver, costume jewellery, household articles, books and records. KEEP articles for the White Elephant Booth; MAKE them for handicraft and GROW plants for the Plant Booth. The bake table and cake Walk will be featured as usual.

Present were forty-five enthusiast members from the ten units of Chesterville, Metcalfe, Morewood, Morrisburg, Mountain, Ormond, South Mountain, Summers and Cass Bridge, Williamsburg and Winchester. Three visitors from Crysler were welcomed.

Mrs. F.M. Cass, president, was in the chair and Miss Legris presided over the coffee urn for the social half hour.

Some 2,600 students will be hired in this year's SWEEP program - Students Working in an Environmental Enhancement Program, for secondary and post-secondary students 18 years of age or older.

The job program is the largest element of the Summer '72 special student employment announced March 10 by Prime Minister William Davis.

About 1,000 students will work in provincial parks, timber management, forest protection and fish and wildlife management. The rest will be involved in the activities of the 27 conservation authorities through Ontario, in park development and maintenance, stream improvement, cleanup programs, environmental education and conservation studies.

SWEEP was renewed after last year's successful program involving 2,200 students.

Most of the positions will be of 10 weeks duration and salaries will vary from $1.65 to $2.50 an hour depending on the work.

Students will be responsible for their own board and transportation arrangements.

Any applications or queries should be directed to: Project Sweep, Queen's Park, Toronto.

News From Vernon District

Eric Shortt is a patient in the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, after undergoing an operation.

Miss Grace Cameron is a patient in the hospital at Winchester, where she had her tonsils removed.

Mrs. Ed. Armstrong is a patient in the Civic Hospital after having her knee operated on last Tuesday. All will join in wishing those in hospital well and home again soon.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Bernard Last and family in the loss of a husband and father. He passed away last Monday following a lengthy illness. Funeral services was held on Tuesday from Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Winchester to Springhill Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Porteous spent last week in Porto Rico and returned home Sunday. Miss Nancy Porteous spent the week in Winchester with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fennell.

Erwin and Edwin Duncan flew to England recently where they visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fader returned home last week having spent a couple of weeks with their son and daughter who both reside at Smooth Rock.

Norman Robinson, Mrs. Bruce Acres, Mrs. Frank Acres, Mrs. Freeman Acres and Mrs. Lorne Wyatt all from here attended a special Anglican Church meeting held on Wednesday night at the rectory at Metcalfe with Rev. Purdy as chairman. Others were present from Russell, Metcalfe and Greely. Following several discussions the parish picnic date was set for June 25th, and the summer church schedule for July and August was named. Rev. Purdy closed the meeting with prayer.

Two Tired Boys and a friend

Doug Duncan, left and Peter McLeod have good reason to appear tired as they relax on the steps of the Rothman Caravan at the end of last Saturday's long march.

The boys were first to complete the journey and found a new friend somewhere along the trail.

"He followed us from a long way back", Peter said, "but we don't know who he belongs to".

The dog was quite happy with the boys and most likely found his way back home later in the day.

FIRE ASSOCIATION TOLD

"Nero Played Harp - Not Fiddle"

"There is no proof that Nero deliberately burned Rome and, as a matter of fact, it was a harp and not a fiddle he was playing."

This was only part of the informative message delivered by Fire Chief Lori Carriere at the monthly meeting of S.D. and G. Mutual Fire Aid Association last week.

Chief Carriere reviewed the evolution of fire services from as far back as 27 B.C. and related many interesting historical incidents.

The meeting was at Villa Nova Hotel, Ingleside and for the first time firemen brought their wives along for the occasion at which 14 fire departments were represented by over 150 guests. Association secretary Chief Gib Raistrick of St. Lawrence Parks Commission was one of the officers in charge of arrangements.

The Ontario Fire Marshal's office was represented by Maurice Roussey, Fire Department Advisor and Robert Adams, Fire Investigator for the area.

It was learned during the meeting that a grant has been received from the United Counties Council and lip-charts have been purchased for each of the 23 departments in the association.

These charts will be used by each department to educate residents in their respective areas on the new "Family Escape Plan".

This Fire Prevention and Safety Programme will be officially inaugurated during the month of May using all news media available.

Special guests for the evening were: Mr. Charles Poliquin, Pres. and Gen. Mgr. of Fire-Alert of Canada and Mr. Dennis Lynch, National Sales Manager.

Mr. Poliquin, who has taken a very active interest in Fire Safety because of personal loss of a niece and nephew through fire, has very generously donated thousands of folders illustrating the Family Escape Plan which will be distributed to each home in the 3 United Counties.

Mr. Poliquin and Mr. Lynch are both interested in locating in the Cornwall area, with their Plant which manufactures Fire Protection Equipment such as Fire Alarm Systems, extinguishers, etc.

Door prizes were drawn by Reeve Edwin Waldroff. 1st prize a piece of chalet glass donated by Chalet Glass of Cornwall, was won by Murray Wells of Ingleside Fire Department. There were three other prizes of scatter rugs made by Caravelle Carpets of Cornwall and presented by Lyndon Wells, Sales Representative from Ingleside. These were won by Chief Leonard Dupuis of Moose Creek Fire Department and Oliver McGee of the Glen Walter Fire Department.

The meeting was followed by a dance and social evening and lunch served by the hosts, Ingleside Fire Department. The evening was an unqualified success and is assured of being an annual affair.

United Extrusions Representative Moves Here

Dave Sloane, along with his wife and 4 boys, has moved to Winchester where he will be acting as official representative for United Extrusions Limited.

Mr. Sloane, who is a 53A graduate of Ontario Agricultural College, has been connected with agricultural sales for the past 22 years and is eager to assist farmers with their drainage problems.

The company slogan 'Born in Orangeville - Buried Everywhere' indicates the popularity of the product.

Mr. Sloane and his family have taken up residence in the Clarence Street subdivision.

New Lodge To Service Eastern Ontario Cancer Patients

Mr. W. F. Bull, 307 Faircrest Road, Ottawa, President, Eastern District, Canadian Cancer Society, recently announced that the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society has committed itself to spend $593,364 towards the construction of a lodge to house ambulatory cancer patients in Ottawa.

The lodge will be contained in a three-storey complex built on the grounds of the Ottawa Civic Hospital near the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation Clinic.

Mr. Bull said, "Many cancer patients from eastern Ontario are coming into the city for treatment but do not require hospitalization, and for these people, accommodation has been a serious problem. The Cancer Society hopes to meet this urgent need through the facilities of the new lodge."

The lodge will be able to accommodate up to 36 ambulatory cancer patients, and will provide dining and lounge facilities as well as space for the offices of the local Cancer Society.

The rest of the building, which the Ottawa Civic Hospital will underwrite, will house offices for professors and a family practice medical unit.

The Canadian Cancer Society depends on public donations to support special projects like this, in addition to maintaining its research, service and education programs, through donations collected from the general public during April. The goal this year for Ontario is $3,520,625.

Accompanying picture is an architect's concept of the new three-storey building - part of which will house lodge facilities for up to 36 ambulatory cancer patients from eastern Ontario and Ottawa.

National P.C. Campaign Chairman Named

Finlay MacDonald of Ottawa was last week named the Progressive Conservative Party's National Campaign Chairman.

The appointment of Mr. MacDonald was announced by Robert Stanfield at a meeting of the Progressive Conservative Caucus prior to the resumption of Parliament.

As a national vice-president of the Progressive Conservative Party and President of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Party, Mr. MacDonald was closely associated with Mr. Stanfield when the present National Leader was Premier of Nova Scotia. Mr. Stanfield said "In his capacity as National Campaign Chairman, Finlay MacDonald will be responsible to me for all aspects in planning and implementing our forthcoming Progressive Conservative Campaign. Since moving to Ottawa, Mr. MacDonald has played a major role in the planning and development of the campaign for the election expected this year.

The first report on this planning was made to the Caucus and organizers of the Party on March 29th in Ottawa."

The new campaign chairman is a former broadcaster, the former president of CJCH Ltd. of Halifax, a founding director of the CTV Television Network Ltd. and a former president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

Mr. MacDonald resigned as president of Industrial Estates Ltd. to join Mr. Stanfield in mid-January as special adviser in charge of campaign planning. Industrial Estates Ltd. is a Nova Scotia Crown Corporation for the promotion of secondary industry.

Mr. MacDonald, 49, was born in Sydney, Nova Scotia, where his father was Member of Parliament for Cape Breton South 1925-1935. He was educated at St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish and Dalhousie University, Halifax. He served in the Canadian Army during the Second World War in Canada, the United Kingdom and North West Europe.

For his work as president of the first Canada Games held in Halifax/Dartmouth in 1969, Mr. MacDonald was awarded the Order of Canada.

"CARAVANNIVERSAFARI 50" begins Monday, May 8th

Caravanniversafari 50 begins Monday, May 8, with the launching of OSCCAR from Queen's Park.

OSCCAR, an acronym for Ontario Society for Crippled Children's Anniversary Ramble, is a motor home which will depart from Queen's Park at 10:00 a.m. for Toronto - via Vancouver.

Six days and nights of non-stop driving and about 6,000 miles later, OSCCAR will return to Queen's Park.

As far as can be determined, this has never before been attempted.

The professional drivers making this anniversary ramble are the provincial government chauffeurs of Premier Davis, the ministers of Agriculture and Food, Environment, Education and the Provincial Secretary for Social Development. Giving up a week of their time and already deep in preparation for this unusual event are, respectively, chauffeaurs Nick Lorito, Gord Shoobridge, Tom Elliott, Keith Marks and George Hawks.

Indications are that Premier Davis and his ministers will join Canada's national Timmy for 1972, 13 year old Steven Layton of Mount Elgin, Ontario, in seeing OSCCAR off that morning for the start of Caravanniversafari 50.

Des Simpson, Communications Supervisor for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, will be the sixth crew member of OSCCAR as official representative for the Society and media contact enroute.

Bearing 50th Anniversary greetings from the Ontario Society to the four western provincial Societies, OSCCAR will pass through scores of communities during Caravanniversafari 50. No stops will be made except for oil and gas at certain towns which have been designated refuelling stations. In the provincial capitals, these "pit stops" will be scheduled to provide an opportunity of exchanging greetings with representatives of the provincial crippled children's Societies.

No expense will be incurred by the Society in undertaking this unusual event as everything has been donated. OSCCAR the motor home is courtesy of Glendale Mobile Homes Ltd. of Strathroy where, at 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, April 29, the 20 foot Wagon Master will be officially turned over to the Society. After a thorough inspection by the crew, OSCCAR will then be driven to Toronto where he will be fitted out with appropriate Caravanniversafari 50 insignia, courtesy of Instant Sign Co.

Uniroyal has donted the tires and General Motors has undertaken to provide any needed running repairs under tourist vehicle warranty. Gas, oil and timed navigational maps will be provided by Imperial Oil Ltd.

Total estimated elapsed time and distance: 127 hours and 5841 miles.

OTTAWA MUSIC FESTIVAL

NDDHS Band Achieves Highest Award In Class

The applause was loud and spontaneous for the performance given by the North Dundas band on Saturday, when they played two numbers in the Grade 5 competition for Brass and Reed Bands at Highland Park School.

It was obvious from the moment they came on stage, resplendent in their blue and white uniforms, that here was a band with presence.

Conducted by Mr. St. Louis, their teacher, the program consisting of A Festival Prelude by Alfred Reed and Excerpts from Rienzi by Wagner went off without a flaw. Participating on the same program with bands from Ottawa and North Bay the 'local' band claimed the highest award of the group.

Playing with assurance and relaxed concentration, the various moods of the pieces came across loud and clear, soft and sweet, with every evidence of a professional performance. All the sections of the band melted together like a well oiled machine. An adjudication remark was to the effect that the band obviously had rehearsed long and faithfully to achieve such a standard of excellence. The reed section of the band played especially well, backed up by the usual solid efficiency of the brass.

It is obvious that this band should have an opportunity to enlarge the audience appreciating its prowess and there is no doubt the rewards resulting from the trip to New Brunswick next week will be heavily in favour of those fortunate enough to be in the audiences.

Marionette Show May 6

The Marionette Committee of the May Court Club of Ottawa is presenting their annual show on Saturday, May the sixth, at 10:30, 1:00, 2:30, and 4:00 in the Alumni Theatre at Carleton University.

This year, the Committee is showing the story of 'ALADDIN' and his magic lamp, script by Convenor Mrs. T.M. Williams and Mrs. Charles Jeffery. Their second play 'AN INDIAN LEGEND' has been revised and adapted by Mrs. C. Eberts. Mrs. J.P. Francis is in charge of tapes, and Mrs. H. Riccius and Mrs. William Wight are responsible for the scenery. Other members of the Committee are: Mrs. G. Saunder, Mrs. Michael Edwards, and Mrs. D.L. Sutherland.

This hard working group has provided entertainment for three retarded Children's Schools and two head start groups over the past year and hope by this one fund-raising even to help support some club activities.

Mrs. Hament Hill (745-3051), Mrs. Wm. McCoubrey(737-5976), Mrs. G.A. Macklin (729-7086) and Mrs. Robert August (746-6012) are handling the tickets which are $1.00 for adults and 75¢ for children. Tickets are also obtainable from the 'Bargain Box', 231 Laurier Ave, E.

dressed the local Lions Club and it was at their request he returned once more to the village in the hope that all could learn of the dangers.

Those who were not there might like to ask themselves some of the same questions the speaker asked his small audience. Here are but a few:

1. Have you made a check of your medicine cabinet lately?
2. Do you know for sure whether or not your son or daughter is using drugs or has tried drugs?
3. Do you know what changes occur in a person when on drugs?
4. Do you know the damage caused by different drugs?

Teacher's View

Professionalism Involved

-By Frank Loch, Chairman
District 21 P.D.
Head, Geography Dept. CCVS

I was reviewing a paper recently prepared and presented by the Professional Services Department of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. It was entitled "The Teachers' Road to Continuous Involvement in Professional Development and in Education." In it, there were listed the forces acting upon teachers to aid them to excellence. These were The Department of Education, Boards of Education, Universities, Colleges of Education, the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) and the Public.

The responsibilities of each group were outlined, and for informational value I'll briefly outline these, though it was the last force that was interesting to me.

The Department of Education, becuase of its existing legislation, has a responsibility to ensure that the quality of education is superior or at least acceptable. Its influence lies in teacher-training, up-dating and up grading.

According to this paper, Boards of Education are responsible to hire competent teachers (not to determine how they are going to be competent), to facilitate up-dating courses (not to impose them) and to provide financial aid for these courses.

Universities and Colleges of Education have similar responsibilities. They are to place resources both human and physical to the service of teachers. This could take the form of up-dating and up-grading courses or seminars.

OSSTF through its activities helps teachers become involved, and holds seminars, conference to create awareness and to offer stimulation and leadership. It also provides summer professional courses, up-grading courses, certification services and distribute resource booklets and professional publications.

The public, it indicated, had no direct responsibility. However, it suggested, regular contact with parents, students, and community can contribute to a teacher's professional growth and better understanding of community needs and student concern.

This last force is one of the least felt, in this writer's opinion. Yet, it should be the most available and valuable to teachers. Obviously each community has its own particular characteristics and needs, and though a general education should be given, the parents, students and community needs should also be reflected in the education program.

There appears to be a general reluctance on the part of our community to become involved in the educational process. At this time P.T.A. meetings draw only a handful of parents, or executive members, or have been disbanded. In the first of two public meetings at CCVS teachers outnumbered parents and in the second there were only sixty parents (though these were extremely vocal). Why is there this disinterest?

It would seem that the community wishes to leave education in the hands of its elected board representatives. This is extremely commendable and these representatives put in long and at times tedious hours, on their behalf. Yet even these good people must have been disappointed at the amount of interest and responsibility indicated by the 22.8% turnout at the polls in the last school board elections. What is the cause of this unconcern?

Perhaps there should be a greater attempt made by the school board, board administrators, principals and teachers to take the initiative and set up methods of communication with the parents and the business community. I wonder if this would help? If it would, what structure would be suitable? What topics should be discussed?

On the latter question, I've had some personal feedback from a few parents. The attitude takes the form of questions. "What can I discuss with university graduated teachers? Haven't they been well trained? Don't they know how to teach? Aren't they supposed to be the experts? Why can't they handle it?" Is this the general attitude? Is this the reason behind the disinterest?

To these questions I can only reply that education is a shared responsibility. The teacher is a middle man. The parents must be interested in the future of their student in today's and tomorrow's society. One of the community's prime interests is whether the students has reached sufficient maturity, growth and development to accept a meaningful place in its growth.

More importantly, the student has particular needs which should be heard. Therefore, dialogue between these parties, on aims of education, content, areas of responsibility, and success or failure of the education system can only lead to better educational system and also to a teacher's professional growth.

KCAT Graduation May 12th

Dr. Ford A. Stinson, Principal, has announced that graduation ceremonies will be held at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology on Friday, May 12, at 2:15 p.m. in the College auditorium.

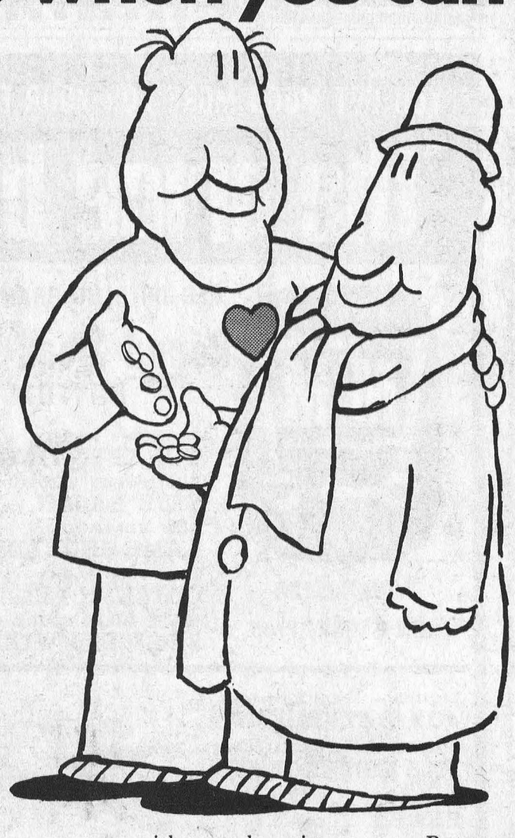
When it comes to drug store items why choose between discounts and druggists when you can have both.



There are lots of discount stores without a druggist to look after you (sniffle!).

And there are lots of drug stores with not-so-discount prices. (ouch!)

And then there's Guardian.

Every Guardian Drug store is owned and operated by a Pharmacist.

To advise you on the latest cold remedy, vitamins and cough drops.

To keep his stock fresh and full. His store neat and tidy.

And to give you friendly, personal service.

But there are 100 Guardian Drug stores with prices that any given day are just a few cents lower (or a few cents higher) than the lowest "discount" store in town.

Because of the combined buying power of all 100 independent Guardian Pharmacists, teamed up together.

So next time you want a druggist's service and a discount price tag, come get both.

At your nearby Guardian Drug store.

There are over 100 Guardian Pharmacists with fresh goods, good selection, low prices, bright stores and big hearts.

Jets Need Only One Win To Capture Citizen Shield

Metcalfe Jets, following Monday night's victory over Richmond Royals need only one more win to give them possession of the O.D.H.A. championship and the Citizen shield.

The Metcalfe club has set an impressive record as they advanced along the play-off trail.

Finishing in first place in North Division of St. Lawrence Junior 'B' League earned them the beautiful Winchester Press Trophy and it was apparent from then on that the fast-skating rugged team was a force to be reckoned with.

On the league play-off trail coach Linegar's smoothly-operating machine polished off Cardinal in three straight games, and then proceeded to give Prescott the same treatment in four straight.

The league championship qualified the team for O.D.H.A. play-down competition where they downed a powerful Gatineau team in five games to advance to the Citizen Shield finals against Richmond.

Well over a thousand fans jammed Embrun arena for the first encounter and although the Jets looked a bit shakey at the beginning they came back strong in the last half of the game to earn a 4 to 2 victory. Bob Woods, Alain Brisson, Dean Holmes and Dennis Ouellette were the marksmen. Brad Rivington and Gerry Wertwyn each picked up one for Richmond.

The second game, played at Richmond arena, proved an easy night for the Metcalfe boys as they skated to a convincing 7 to 0 victory. Ken Kelly and Bob Lowe notched a pair of goals with Peter Miller, Hugh Doyle and Greg Holmes netting singles. Glen Wilson registered the shut-out.

The teams were back in Embrun Monday night for game '3' and it appeared the determined Richmond team might stage a come-back, when they took an early 2 to 0 lead on goals by Garry Bisonette and Clinton Bennett. Before the first period ended, however, Jets knotted the score with Dean Holmes scoring from Peter Miller and Rupert MacDonald and Kenny Kelly capitalizing on a neat combination play with Bob Woods and Dennis Ouellette.

Richmond assumed the lead again early in the second frame on a marker by Harley Hill. The lead was short-lived as Peter Miller tied the score again minutes later. Kelly and MacDonald were credited with assists on the play. Royals, however, moved two up again with power-play markers by Don Duncan and Larry Parks, but once again the determined Jets stormed back. Alain Brisson flipped one behind Popkey from a difficult angle after picking up a pass from Bob Lowe and Greg Holmes; three minutes later Lowe scored the tieing goal on a play set up by Dennis Ouellette and Peter Miller.

Jets moved into the lead when Rupert MacDonald, unassisted, notched what proved to be the winner and in the dying minutes of the game Mark Bordeau combined with Peter Miller to add an insurance goal. Final score Metcalfe 7; Richmond 5.

Game '4' was played at Richmond Tuesday night and, if available, the score will appear on the front page of this issue.

Rummage Sale This Weekend

Winchester Curling Club Reviews Successful Year At Annual Meeting

Members of Winchester Curling Club, at their annual meeting last week, reviewed a very successful year both financially and in curler participation.

Since officers are always elected for a 2-year-term President Max Boyd, along with secretary Bill Johnston and treasurer Gerald Holmes will carry on for another season.

After hearing the healthy financial report read members agreed another $2,500.00 be paid on the present bank loan, and it was noted revenue from both the annual banquet and rummage sale are yet to be recorded.

INCREASE FEES

The fee structure was studied, and since it was apparent Winchester enjoys one of the lowest in the district, it was decided the present rate be increased to $45.00 for men and $25.00 for ladies. The present policy whereby an additional $5.00 is added when fees are not paid by January 15th, will, however, remain in force.

Members also discussed club affiliation. Winchester was, for many years, a part of Centre 27 but decided not too long ago to become a part of Centre 22 which includes the city of Ottawa. It was the feeling of the meeting that it would be advisable to transfer back to '27' where members will be affiliated with fellow curlers from Gananoque, Brockville, Prescott, Morrisburg and Cornwall.

The following committees were set up: PROPERTY: Doug Keys, Ran Wylie, Denzil Crowder, Jack Hume and Keith Henry.

NOMINATING: Glen Vasey, Charlie Anderson, Mrs. Ran Wylie and Jim Toop.

MEMBERSHIP: Glen Vasey, Bill Stewart, Don Reed, Fay Shaver, Harry McNeil, Glen MacGregor and Bryson Patterson.

AUDITORS: Jack Hatcher and Larry Durst.

It was noted that there was little change in membership over the past year with 95 in the men's division and 81 in the ladies'.

The annual Rummage Sale begins to-day (Thursday, April 27th) and continues through till Saturday at noon.

Warrior Coach Steps Down

Bob Porteous, who for the past ten years, has been coaching softball and fastball teams in Winchester, will not be back behind the bench this season.

Mr. Porteous who coached Winchester Warriors in the Dundas League last season says he wants more time to himself this summer but does suggest he may 'try for a spot' on one of the Town League teams.

GREEN FLAG...

Speedway Opens For Season

Capital City Speedway will drop the green flag on another season of stock car racing on Wednesday evening, May 10th. This will mark the twelfth year of operation for the speed plant located on Highway 7, 14 miles West of Ottawa near Stittsville. Some of the drivers who regularly compete on the paved half-mile include Tom Boucher of Ottawa, Gary Reddick of Watertown, N.Y., Adrian Flath of Evans Mills, N.Y., Bob Martin of Kingston, Ontario and many others.

This season will be the second year of racing for the Limited Sportsman type cars which put on a faster show than the late-models. Consequently the management of Capital City Speed way have dropped the late-model cars to concentrate on the formation of a strong field coupes.

Returning again will be the wild excitement of Figure '8' racing. This brand of action has more thrills and spills in one race than all the other divisions put together. Last season top driver, Joe Kerrivan, already has two cars ready to roll.

The complete race program will consist of 10 races, starting at 8:00 p.m. every Wednesday evening beginning May 10th, through to September.

Child Safety - This Week And Every Week

Next week (May 1 to 7) is Canada's National Child Safety Week and it is doubtful if there was ever a time in history when our responsibilities in protecting our young were so great. The toll taken of children's lives and health in Canada by accidents is staggering — some two thousand killed and tens of thousands injured seriously.

What can be done about it? The Canada Safety Council offers no easy solutions. But progress will be made in reducing accidents through simultaneous improvement in the following four areas:

1. Safety education of children at home and school
2. Creation of a safe environment for children.
3. The assumption of parental responsibility for the safety of children.
4. The assumption of responsibility by adults, especially drivers, for the safety of children.

To be effective, Safety Education must change the attitudes of children towards safety, starting in the pram and continuing until adulthood.

Children must know how to cope with traffic BEFORE being allowed to "run out and play." They must know the rules of the road and traffic safety BEFORE being allowed to bicycle on public roads. They must be taught to swim BEFORE being allowed to play in any but shallow bodies of water.

To create a safe environment for children, all poisonous substances must be kept away from tots as well as stove and electrical hazards. The very young should never be left alone in baths or wading pools.

A safe environment includes living in a home that is not a fire trap. The leading causes of fire are adults smoking, electrical hazards and defective heating. A safe environment includes a car in which child passengers are secured by restraining devices.

Parental responsibility for a child's safety is concentrated on the patient positive teaching of safety starting with the very young. But this can all be undone if the parent himself or herself fails to teach by example.

It is not intended to give parents guilt complexes about safety. They can hardly be held responsible for the safety of children when they are out of their control.

But it is not reasonable to place all the blame for accidents on children, either. They do not start off as mature people with judgment. That takes a long, long time. They have short attention spans. They may be safe most of the time but unsafe at others because they are distracted by something new, something exciting.

This is where the responsibility of all adults for the safety of children is most important. Should a child be sentenced to death because a driver wants to go at the maximum speed through a residential area and a youngster makes a mistake? Adults must recognize that there are many kinds of children — some careful, some risk-taking, some too careful for their own good (like the adult driver who goes 25 mph in a 60 mph zone.)

There are children who can be trained easily and others who have to learn through their mistakes. But Canada has need for all these different types of individuals.

Guard their lives. Always be on the lookout for the safety of children. Always give them a break. They are the future of the country.

Make next week — and every week — Child Safety Week.

Keep The Channels Open

— REV. GORDON C. SMYTH

We hear a lot about the power of the subconscious. Thoughts knock at the door. Once admitted, it is hard for the mind to dislodge them.

It could be a noble thought. It may suggest patience, generosity, or God. It could be ignoble. It may suggest the futility of human effort, the stupidity of unselfish motives, or the pride which prompted one of the Beatles to say that they were more popular than Christ.

Even when we fancy that we have forgotten them, thoughts do not forget us. They remain in the abyss of the subconcious. In times of stress, they emerge from the deeper self to help or hinder us in the race of life. No wonder the Psalmist prayed: "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord; my rock and my redeemer."

Centuries later, the Divine Teacher emphasized this importance of rightness of heart. He broke with the religious "establishment" because he insisted that the devout life was born of an inner spirit which was not to be stifled by mere forms and customs.

The inner life? People regard such talk as rubbish. Ours is an activist age. So long as you go active, according to the vogue, you may be forgiven most anything. But the evidence keeps piling up: we must set our hearts right, to set the world right. "The kingdom of God," said Christ, " is within you."

Leonard Cohen was being interviewed. Montreal's controversial young poet and novelist shrugged his shoulders helplessly. "I'm stripped," he said. "I have to start all over again. I never used to listen to anybody, I thought I was unique and unassailable. I feel now I have something to be quiet about. That's a very good feeling.

"We are on the threshold of a great religious age, an age of discipleship," he said. "I don't want to come on like a religious nut, but that is how I feel. There are certain very ancient ways of people being together, which are now being rediscovered. I don't want to get sort of mystical, but that's what it has to be."

Cohen went on to label human inflexibility as a last ditch stand. "Before you let yourself die," he said, "there's that panic of the ego." In reappraisal of himself, he had to face several conclusions. One was that "all the versions I had of myself were wrong."

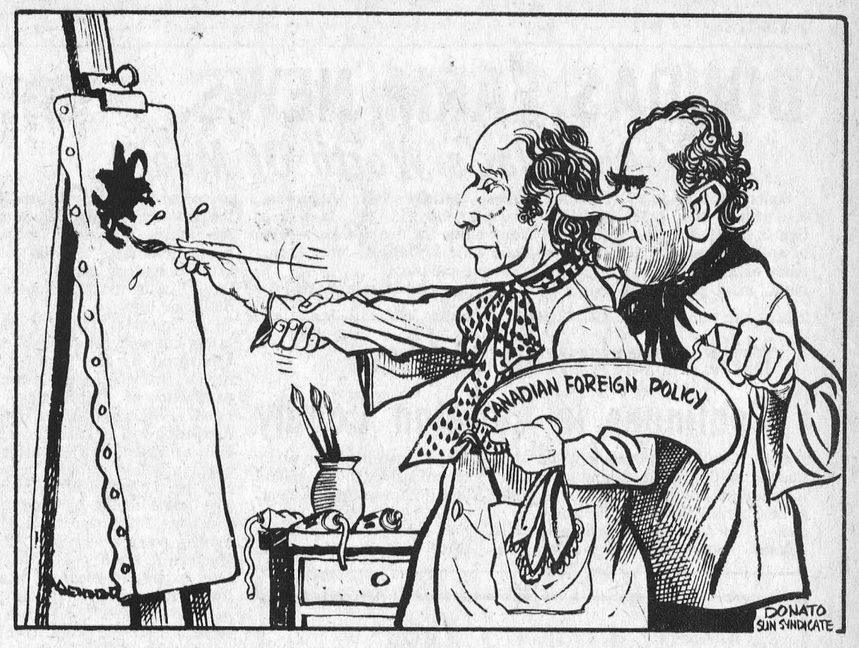
Another came from "accumulated proof of a different kind of world that I was discounting. There were certain kinds of feeling I refused to believe, kinks in your own head telling you things all the time. You confine them in an "asylum" in your head, but now they're irresistible. This is going to hit you. It's going to wipe you out."

If the springs of life, individual and social, are found deep in spiritual realities; if the chief maladies of "living" are maladies of the spirit; if the greatest dangers are those which beset the spirit; should we not set a guard at the door of our hearts, against anything which would usurp the places of the divine and imperishable? But should we not throw open the door to the transforming power of the Father of our spirits?

Along some of our Canadian coasts one catches sight of far-reaching marshlands, covered here and there with stagnant, salty pools. But when the tide comes in, those marshes throw open their most hidden corners to the inflow of waters from far out at sea. By the same token, let us keep clear and open the channels which link our lives with God's great life.

"Within the Bible and particularly within the New Testament," a prominent psychiatrist once remarked to an Ottawa friend of mine, Dr. A. Ian Burnett, as they were out for a drive together: "There is far more wisdom and insight and help and guidance and truth concerning ourselves and the way of abundant life than there is in all the books of psychology."

What a tribute to the authority of Christ in the area of self-knowledge and fulfilment! What a challenge to clothe an old prayer with new meaning! "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my rock and my redeemer."



PLOT AGAINST OUR SCHOOLS

- BILL SMILEY WRITES

Teachers are being lambasted from all quarters these days, poor things. As a species, they are practically harmless. But then is not that one of the immutable laws of our society? Attack the harmless, and tread warily with the powerful and the ruthless.

According to their critics, all they are interested in is more money. This, of course, is not true of plumbers, policemen, doctors and dentists, lawyers and even Indian chiefs, garbagemen and garage operators.

Sure they're interested in more money, at least enough to keep up with the galloping cost-of-living index.

But it's a lie that money is all they are interested in. The great majority is interested chiefly in doing well what they are supposed to do — educate our children.

And I can't blame them when they get a little sore at the constant, usually ignorant heckling of people who don't know what it's all about. Nor can I help feeling a certain kinship when some of the more militant young teachers start talking about strikes and such. A garbageman can go on strike, a teacher can't. The logic eludes me.

The whole business bothers me very little, personally. A man who has been through a war and a decade as a weekly newspaper editor has developed a pretty tough skin.

But there is something a little sinister in the growing influence of politicians on education, for purely political reasons. And I feel a tremour of alarm when I see a few so-called responsible daily newspapers frothing at the mouth when the simple word "teachers" emerges.

I am grinding no axe. In fact, I don't even have a hatchet for chopping kindling. I lost it. But it appears to me that a few Machiavellian characters have put their pointed heads together and decided to destroy, deliberately, our educational system.

The system, when you and I went through it, dad, was far from perfect. But it needed reformation, not defamation. It required healing medicine, not mad, massive surgery.

The first political step toward chaos occurred when many of the local school boards throughout Canada lost their autonomy. The Boards were made up of men and women who would bust a gut, literally, to get the best possible education for their own, local kids. It was far from perfect, but it worked.

Then the provincial governments decided this was archaic. Of course it was. So is the Bible. So is democracy. So is the conceiving of children.

Next step. In Ontario, for example, county school boards were formed. Administrators were appointed who knew nothing of strictly local conditions. In many cases, not all, the school boards became mere rubber stamps for the administrators. The latter, in turn, work hand in glove with the provincial Department of Ed. It, in turn, is responsible to the party in power. A nice little ring-a-round. So who is running what?

When this was first proposed, I prophesied the result: increased costs; decreased efficiency. And I take back not a word of it. Ask any teacher.

Then the government, with pious rectitude, after a period of spending untold millions on education, and almost suggesting that everyone who makes it in Grade I should graduate from university, takes a sidelong look at the taxpayers, and decides to play Jack the Giant Killer. Via spending ceilings on education.

There don't seem to be any spending ceilings on health or welfare.

But out of one side of its mouth, through its tame Department of Ed., government says, "Let's have more innovative, daring, relevant courses for our students." Out of the other side it says, "Sorry, we can't afford that . . . or that . . . or that."

Something stinks? To me it does.

Oh, well, let's raise the taxes on booze and smokes and build some more highways and airports. Let's raise tuition fees and cut down on government scholarships, and maybe the universities won't be so crowded.

And let's get out the whips and show those ungrateful teachers where they belong — back in the cages.

The Seventh Column

Many weeks have passed since the official arrival of Spring, but present weather conditions leave much to be desired. Those with good memories will undoubtedly recall other Aprils of this nature and 'neath these cold grey skies there could be a flickering ray of optimism. Chap we know suggests the clouds of gloom are lined with gold and farmers are assured bountiful crops.

Congratulations to those who courageously trekked the long weary miles last Saturday. Were a bit disappointed, we must admit, that foot-weary youngsters were not ushered over the finish line more enthusiastically. Couldn't help but remember other such events when crowds were on hand with hands outstretched and words of appreciation and praise. The once glittering glamour of the "walkathon" appears to be fading and we wonder if now is not the time to search out new horizons in the field of fund raising.

Last week's report in this newspaper concerning open concept schools may well prove to have been the "shot in the arm" many parents need. Already there has been much controversy, and the N.D.D.E.A. meeting at the high school on May 8th will afford an ideal opportunity for airing all viewpoints. The association has, in the past, expressed concern at the apparent complacency of parents. If the news report has generated enthusiasm then we are confident our reporting is getting the desired results.

It has been our policy to occasionally publish old photos, often classes of long ago neatly assembled in front of almost forgotten schools. Letters of appreciation reaching us from far-off places are read with enthusiasm. There is always a satisfying warmth in the knowledge that the pictures bring back a flood of memories to readers who, although residing in remote areas of the globe, still retain pleasant recollections of their old home, the familiar school and pals of childhood days.

The curling season has ended for district clubs but select committees are presently ironing out final details for annual wind-up banquets and presentation of spoils to the victors. This particular season is best known as "alibi time" in the curling fraternity and one is soon made aware of the startling fact that the best skips seldom win. The reason for this is possibly best explained in the following rhythmic comment by an "ice general" who didn't make it:

"I want to say kindly but firmly
To the nitwits who fixed up the draw,
That gang that I drew on as curlers
Are the worst that the world ever saw"!

So you're amazed at the fantastic feats of the astronauts! We are too, but in the eyes of present-day astronomers the Moon is simply "those interesting rocks across the way." But here's a fact that does stagger the imagination and does tend to make the moon look like a next-door neighbour. An astronomer ten years ago found evidence of the most distant star explosion of which we have knowledge. According to Dr. Fritz Zwicky of Palomar Observatory in California, the explosion occurred 800 million years ago and news of the gigantic disaster in distant space is just now reaching earth. It took that long for the brilliant light from the explosion to arrive here, travelling at 186,000 miles a second. And you were complaining about that 20-minute drive to the office.

Like us, you are most likely convinced your auto is in tip-top condition. Before feeling too secure consider this: A recent motor vehicle check reveals these frightening figures: Of 474 vehicles inspected, 5 had no foot brake; 111 POOR foot brakes; 42 no parking brake, and 29 had unsafe brake lines. Maybe you should have another look.

During a recent lunchtime "talkathon" at one of the local eating establishments the conversation drifted around to the problems created by excessive consumption of alcoholic beverages. One executive type commented that when it came to drinking he knew his capacity. He admitted, however, having one problem: "I always get drunk before I reach my capacity," he complained.

Letters to the Editor

Open Concept School Stirs Readers' Interest

Questions Wisdom Of Plan

Winchester, Ontario
To the Editor
The Winchester Press
Winchester, Ontario

Dear Sir:

It is my understanding that the Maple Ridge School will shortly become a senior elementary (grades 7 and 8) - open concept school. This of course will involve a costly addition, costly alterations to the existing building (removal of partitions) and costly arrangements to bus all 7 and 8's to Maple Ridge and all 1 to 6's from Maple Ridge to some other institute of learning.

As a taxpayer I am slightly concerned because of the cost - as a parent I am greatly concerned that the senior elementary may not be any advantage to the student and particularly that open concept could be a great disadvantage.

The Hall-Dennis Report put the one-room elementary school and small secondary schools such as South Mountain, Winchester and Chesterville out of business. Whether or not we agree, this is water over the dam. However, I would appreciate more information about open-concept.

A. ADVANTAGES: At a recent meeting of the North Dundas District Education Association (NDDEA) I questioned the advantages. The answer was to the effect that students benefit from the flexibility - apparently students are not told what to study and are free to move from group to group. In theory this sounds good, in practice a very small minority of elementary school students have the necessary self interest and self discipline to make it work. The average and below average may be lost in confusion.

B. EXPERIMENTAL OR PROVEN - At the same meeting I was told that open-concept worked well in the United States. Frankly, I am not convinced that something which works well in Boston, Toronto or even Cornwall will necessarily work well in Winchester Township. Either it has been tried and proven in similar Ontario communities, or it is still experimental. If the latter, we now have the Nationview experiment - do we really need another experiment in Maple Ridge?-

C. DISCIPLINE: It seems that discipline, perhaps control would be a better term, is almost non-existent in open-concept. It is interesting that several Ottawa High School students in a recent interview concerning a move from separate to public schools actually preferred the separate school discipline. I am not in favour of sadistic teachers beating students daily, but surely the teacher must have reasonable control and student respect.

The next meeting of the NDDEA will be held May 8, 1972. At this meeting I would like to hear qualified people explain fully the philosophy of the open-concept. school and how it works, also whether it has been proven to be a better method of education in rural Ontario. I would also like to hear opinions, for and against from ex-teachers and parents, particularly parents from South Mountain whose children, now attend Nationview. While I do not speak officially for the N DDEA, I think anyone is welcome to attend the meeting. If you are not already a member, Betty Saunders, Inkerman, will sell you a membership for $1.00 (at any hours of the day or night-thank you Betty!)

In conclusion, I am not anti-progress. However, to quote in part from a recent article in the Ottawa Citizen "Metropolitain Life Insurance Company is aghast at the education levels of young people applying for jobs. The worst answers were on simple interest, the next worst were in fractions and decimals; 68 out of 100 could not calculate a simple percentage problem. In 1968, 24 out of 50 found the right answer; this year only 8 out of 50". This could only result from deterioration in student ability or the education system. If it is the system, perhaps it supports another complete change in approach to teaching. However, I think it would be well worthwhile having another look before rushing hell-bent-for-election into open-concept.

Yours truly

H. Mussell

Agrees With Open Concept

April 24th, 1972

To the Editor
The Winchester Press
Winchester, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

We wish to respond to your article on Open Concept schools in your publication of April 20th. We feel that having published one set of opinions you might be interested in some facts. As ratepayers and parents of children currently attending an Open Concept school in a "neighbouring municipality", the mere fact that we are writing to you is sufficient evidence that not all members of the community oppose the idea.

Open Concept schools are far beyond the experimental stage and cost the taxpayer no more nor less than any schools, further-more Nationview operates on a yearly budget which is exactly the same as the combined student allowances for all prior schools.

On Friday, April 21st, Mr. M.N. Hutchison, Superintendent of schools was able to say to a group of visiting parents that the statistical results of skills testing within Dundas County indicates that Nationview students have made more than an average year's progress.

The statement that this system has been tried and proven unsuccessul in other areas can be questioned, and needs to be substantiated.

With reference to "more personal contact in separate classrooms" where in practice the teacher must lead all of the students all of the time, it would seem that a teaching style and program which allows the teacher more time with those students having problems in the classroom, would be more beneficial. In our view this is the kind of style and the kind of programme that Nationview teachers use.

Finally, if Open Concept schools create only noise and utter confusion then surely if this were true of Nationview the students could scarcely have shown the degree of academic achievement that Area 1 statistics indicate.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Joyce Boyd

"A Dollar's Worth Of Meat"

Sound unbelievable? At least one meal a day for most families is planned around meat. And in spite of the fact that it is the most expensive single item in a meal, most people eat plenty of meat. Statistics have shown that, in one year, 156 pounds of meat are eaten for every man, woman and child in Canada. Most of this is beef and pork.

All homemakers know that the prices of meat vary with the kind, the cut, the supply, the seasen, the store, and the "specials". Would you like to hear how to provide enticing dishes for your family using meat that costs one dollar or less?

"A Dollar's Worth of Meat" is the answer. It is a Food Forum sponsored by the Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Demonstrations and information will be given on menus built around dishes with meat that costs a dollar or less to serve four people. It is often amazing how some meats (ground meat, sausages, liverwurst, luncheon meats, variety meats) can be stretched when combined with less expensive foods in hearty, flavourful main dishes for dinners or lunches. The Forum will be held in Chesterville Town Hall on Tuesday, May 2, 1972, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone in the county is welcome. There is no charge.

Milk Marketing Service Continues In Carleton County

Cecil Craig, our Ontario Milk Marketing Board Fieldman plans to continue holding office hours at 26 Thorncliffe Place, the second Thursday afternoon each month. Anyone wishing to discuss quota transfers or any other facet of milk marketing should call 828-9167 for an appointment.

The next date for his visit to this office will be May 11th.

Homemaking Clubs

It is 4-H Homemaking Club Achievement Day time again, and this Spring the girls are busily planning and making accessories for their bedrooms. Furniture arrangement and colour schemes have been discussed as well as the wide variety of articles included as bedroom accessories - cushions, dresser scarves, lampshades, waste baskets, pictures etc.

The Achievement Days are May 13, 1972 at Winchester Public School and May 27, 1972 at South Mountain, Oddfellows Hall. All are welcome to attend the afternoon program at 1:15 p.m. to view the finished articles and learn about "Accessories For The Bedroom".

To Form Horse Club

The Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food is sponsoring a 4-H Horse Club in the southern part of the county. To join this Club you must be between the ages of 12 and 20 plus have a horse (a pony.)

The club will hold meetings at which the various aspects of horsemanship will be discussed. The club will have several hikes plus an over-night trail ride in July. If you are interested in joining this club please contact Myrle McMillan, RR1, Williamsburg or Fern Seguin, Williamsburg or the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Box 488, Winchester. The deadline for 4-H application forms is May 15th, 1972.

Keep Tile Outlets Running Freely

Farmers should check all their tile systems at least two or three times a year says M. Sojak, Engineering Division, Ridgetown College of Agricultural Technology, and, he emphasized that, "the most important inspection is in the springtime".

The most important part of any tile drainage system is the outlet. In the spring, flowing ice in the drainage ditch or ice and snow sliding down the ditch bank may have damaged or pulled out the outlet pipe. Surface water runoff may erode the ditchbank and undermine the tile outlet. Rodent guards may have pulled off or rusted away. Any damage of this type must be repaired at once or the situation will deteriorate says Mr. Sojak.

Ditches which have silted for a long time should be cleaned out to allow free outlet for the drainage system. A system with a continually submerged outlet will deposit silt in the tile and reduce its efficiency and life.

Very few commercial crops send their roots down into tile drains. However it does occur to some extent, Mr. Sojak noted. These roots die during or after the growing season. Dead roots may clog tile outlets at the rodent guard during spring runoff. These guards should be cleared to ensure proper operation.

Wash-ins or blowouts in drainage systems must be repaired immediately. If repairs are delayed, a heavy rainfall could clog the system with soil from the point of damage to the outlet.

A tile line that is working can be spotted by the narrow strip of dry ground surface above it. If the strip ends abruptly and it is known the tile extends further, this may indicate a blockage point. Airplane observations are an excellent way of detecting nonoperating lines in a system. Detailed plans of the system are extremely important, and, says Mr. Sojak, aerial photos, even with a standard camera, can be very helpful for comparison with the plans.

Extend Drainage Program In Eastern Ontario

An extensive Agricultural Drainage Outlet Assistance Program provided by ARDA since 1965 for 11 eastern Ontario counties has been extended for another year. Under the terms of this program, ARDA will provide a grant of 33 1/3% of the cost of engineering and construction of agricultural outlet ditches built under the Drainage Act of Ontario, in addition to the 33 1/3% already provided for by statute under the terms of the Drainage Act. This special assistance for eastern Ontario was initiated in 1965 to encourage the development of additional drainage outlets, thereby permitting the utilization of good quality land for the production of such crops as corn and cereal grains.

The 11 counties named in this program are Lanark, Leeds, Renfrew, Frontenac, Grenville, Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and the Regional area of Ottawa-Carleton. Since this special assistance for drainage was initiated by ARDA in the 11-county area, the acreage of grain corn has increased from 8,908 acres in 1966 to 82,000 acres in 1971, with an average of 82 bushels to the acre. The expansion of this crop, and the ability to grow other crops, has been the direct result of the drainage program, and the total farm economy of the area has improved considerably.

The decision to extend drainage assistance for another year was made jointly by the two levels of government, Federal and Provincial, and they will share equally in the costs, under the terms of the 5-year, Federal-Provincial Rural Development Agreement signed in 1970. The announcement of the extension of this program was made jointly by the Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food for Ontario, and the Hon. Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, Government of Canada. The assistance will now terminate April 1, 1973.

Cars And Dogs

Take Toll Of Deer Population

With less than four months of 1972 gone cars and dogs have already destroyed almost two-thirds of the total number of deer killed by means other than hunting during all of last year.

This is the word from the Department of Lands and Forests when reporting that two white-tailed deer were killed by a car on County Road 19 in Grenville last week. This brought the total number of deer killed by means other than hunting to over 90. The 1971 total was 142.

"Dogs", says the Department, have killed a large percentage."

Guests Will Have To Wait

Area Lions club members have, for several years, been late June guests of the Metcalfe and District club at the summer homes of Bill and Roy Porteous.

Obviously, judging from accompanying photo, the Porteous brothers will not contemplate an early spring gathering in the near future.

Bill and Roy, both past presidents of the Metcalfe and District club, are confident everything will be back to normal in a few days and says Bill, "by steak barbecue time Lion members can be assured of gentle breezes drifting in off the lazy Rideau creating the proper atmosphere for a gathering of area club members'.

"And", adds Roy, "the mosquitos will be back on duty by that time also."

Donates Biography Dictionary To Schools

All secondary Schools in Canada are to receive the third volume of the Dictionary of Canadian Biography as a continuation of the Centennial project launched five years ago by Simpsons-Sears Limited.

The new 856-page volume, to be distributed later this month, is being placed in the 4,500 high schools as a gift by the catalogue and department store firm. Simpsons-Sears donated the two previously published volumes.

The Dictionary of Canadian Biography documents the events and records the activities of the men and women in Canadian history who contributed to the shaping of the nation's destiny from the earliest recorded history.

The Dictionary is published jointly by the University of Toronto Press and Les Presses de l'universite Laval in Quebec city. More than 250 researchers and historians contributed to the three volumes completed to date and those in process.

The publication was made possible by a bequest of the late James Nicholson of Toronto, with the assistance of grants from the Canadian Centennial Commission and the Canada Council in Ottawa.

A total of 20 volumes will be required to bring the Dictionary up to the present period in Canadian history. This is expected to take the next 15 years to complete.

The books are printed simultaneously in separate English and French editions on special paper designed to last 300 years.

Don Irvine Reports From Queen's Park

Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough's announcement to the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario on April 5th gives a clear indication of the government's intention to proceed with its policy of centralizing local governments into larger regional units in the interests of increased efficiency at the municipal level.

In his speech, the minister stated, "There are too many separate municipalities and there are too many special purpose bodies . . . whose functions too often confuse local accountability and impede rational priority setting."

The regional units would consist of the amalgamation of nonviable rural municipalities (which is presently being undertaken in Western Ontario), separated towns and cities and would quite likely result in a decrease in the number of representatives on county councils.

Although I am in full agreement with the concept of regional units I have reservations about the speed of their implementation. I think they should proceed at a much slower pace than was originally planned in order to avoid some of the problems encountered by regional school boards and by regional assessment.

An announcement was made on Monday, April 10th, by Premier Davis that he has authorized legal counsel to assist the hearings held by the Resources Development Committee on the charges against the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The announcement has been welcomed by all parties as the severity of the charges indicate that the inquiry will end in a Royal Commission.

This is the first time that witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before a committee of the legislature.

Protests over the recent announcement to cancel Ontario Scholarships have had their affect on the government. The previous cancellation of grants although offset by an increase in student loan ceilings had met with considerable opposition from the same groups.

The protests have been effective enough to cause the government to rescind its original policy and grant Ontario Scholarships for this year only to all students obtaining 80% or over marks for this year.

The Report on Development Control by the Ontario Law Reform Commission was submitted to the House this week. Its recommendations have created a good deal of discussion as it is recognized that there should be an immediate review of the Planning Act, which is presently responsible for the substantial amount of undue delay in land development because of government red tape.

I feel it is imperative that the government acts on the Commission's recommendations at the earliest possible time to facilitate the orderly development of our province.

Further figures have been released by Natural Resources Minister, Leo Bernier, to justify the recent hike in provincial park entry fees and daily campsite fees.

In 1971-72 there were 13.6 million visitors to our provincial parks, paying $3 million in fees. In contrast, government expenditures amounted to $5 million with an additional $4 million in capital expenses for land acquisition and park development. A similar amount for capital expenditures has been budgeted for this year.

The government hopes to offset park operations deficits with the fee increases.

The Minister of Industry and Tourism also announced his department is increasing its efforts to attract more visitors to the province this year.

Debate on budget estimates began this week with the estimates for the Department of Agriculture and Food.

The lack of knowledgable criticism and consideration that the opposition members have given to their arguments so far in the debate has proven interesting in the light of the amount of study given to the problem by the Minister, William Stewart.

The Ross Report on Farm Management was released this week and Mr. Stewart stated that its recommendations would be given high priority in order to upgrade the status of Ontario egg and fowl producers.

Discussion continues on the second and third readings of the 60 bills presently before the House.

To give an indication of what this represents in terms of a work-load for the House, one day of your Member's time was spent in the Private Bills Committee hearing and ruling on the introduction of only private bills.

One very pleasant highlight of the last week was the Speaker's Dinner on Wednesday, April 12th.

The dinner was attended by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Honourable Ross MacDonald, Members of all the parties and former Speaker of the House and Member for Grenville-Dundas, Fred Cass.

"Pletchings" At Ingleside Saturday

An exposition of pletchings by Ingleside artist William Fleming will be on display in Ingleside, Saturday, April 29th. This display has drawn a great deal of attention and much favorable comment, when it was previously shown in Morrisburg, Winchester, Chesterville and Cornwall.

Mr. Fleming makes etchings on plexiglass and viewers find that conventional drawings on this ultramodern material, produce an unusual and very attractive result.

During the Saturday viewing hours from 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. the artist will be at the library to demonstrate his technique. The display has been organized in cooperation of Ingleside Women's Institute and the Ingleside branch of Seaway Valley Libraries. It will be shown in the W-I room, adjacent to the library.

The exposition will remain on view at the library until Friday May 5.

NDDHS NEWS NOTES

On Tuesday, April 18th, Mr. Kevin J. Molloy visited the school and spoke about drug abuse. Mr. Molloy was born in St. John's Newfoundland. He was a high school teacher from 1952 to 1971. At present he is a member of the Advisory Council of St. Clare's Mercy Hospital, Canadian College of Teachers, Provincial Executive of Army Cadet League of Canada, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Newfoundland Department of Health Committee on Drugs, and the Executive Committee of Newfoundland Alcohol and Drug Addiction Foundation Centre.

He divided the topic into three basic sections, abuse of ordinary drugs such as aspirin and tranquilizers, the illegal use of the soft drugs such as marijuana, hashish and L.S.D., and the addictive drugs such as heroin. The students found his presentation very informative.

Society Helpers Collect $217.00

The 'Society Helpers' a group of N.D.D.H.S. girls who conducted a recent canvass in the village of Winchester and Chesterville, have expressed their appreciation.

The canvass for the Rehabilitation Fund (March of Dimes) realized $217.00 and canvassers were impressed by the generosity and courtesy extended to them.

Group advisor, Miss Thom, has special words of thanks for parents who offered the use of cars for the project.

GORDON BLAIR REPORTS

On Nixon And Floods

What was accomplished by the visit of President Nixon to Ottawa? There is no question that President Nixon personally made an excellent impression upon Members of Parliament and all others who saw him at close hand - much better than his newspaper and television image. But the personality of leaders is not the only consideration. What did the visit do about the major issues confronting Canada and the United States?

A summit meeting like this really sets the tone for detailed discussions which must follow. For many years, we have found it hard to recognize what Mr. Pearson said early in the 1950's that the relations between Canada and the United States were no longer easy and automatic. We have continued too much as if they were - with speeches about the undefended frontier and attempts to settle every problem "quietly". The exchange of speeches by Prime Minister Trudeau and President Nixon in the House of Commons had the effect of underlining today's reality.

Our countries have divergent views on important trade and economic problems. Nothing is to be gained by ignoring these differences and the fact that each country must stand firm in the defence of its vital interests. The air has been cleared for the strenuous detailed negotiations on many Canadian - U.S. problems which will extend over many months.

Flood Damage Extensive

The serious floods which have occurred in the Rideau and South Nation Rivers have been all the worse because they were unexpected. Last year, the heavy snowfall alerted most people to the danger, but the floods which occurred last week took most people by surprise. These rivers which have low-lying banks are prone to floods. There are some floods almost every year, but only occasionally are they as serious as this year and last.

Better Warning Needed

It seems to me that there are two matters left for the future. First, many people have said that they cannot understand why some kind of warning was not issued by the responsible authorities - federal, provincial or municipal. Such warnings were given last year and as a result people were ready and less damage occurred. It appears that had things gone differently this year, there would not have been a flood, but I think in the future no public authority should be complacent or attempt to minimize the flood danger. Obviously it is better to alert people even at the risk of alarming them.

Dikes-A Possible Solution

Another suggestion, which I made in the House of Commons, was that some diking should be considered to protect areas which at least are most vulnerable to the flood danger. The Minister of Transport replied that his Department would consider this proposal. I would be interested in having comments from people in the Rideau system about the possibilities that they see of utilizing diking in their localities in the future.
