Chamber Contest Winners Announced Saturday

Christmas decoration winners in the Chamber of Commerce contest have been announced by Howard Hough, president. The first prize of $10 for the best decorated residence goes to Mr and Mrs Fred Cass, Albert Street. Their handsomely decorated trees and lighted buildings took the judges' eyes. The business place prize of the same sum goes to Mr and Mrs L. B. Giles and their Gift Shoppe displays on Main Street.

Judges were the Rev E. B. Bugden and the Rev Father J. P. Collins of Trinity United Church and St. Mary's Catholic Church. They found so much interest in decorations this year, the job of deciding who was winner was most difficult. Many of the places of business and residences were a pleasure to look at and judge.

Bus Loses Wheel Smashes Railing At Cass Bridge

The lives of 15 people literally hung in the balance at Cass Bridge Friday night. They were passengers in a Colonial Coach Lines bus which balanced precariously on an eight-inch abutment 35 feet above the Nation River after skidding off the road.

The accident, in which no one received serious injury, occurred at 6.58 p.m. The bus was driving north on Highway 31 in very heavy rain.

As the driver was taking a bend approaching Cass Bridge, the bus skidded over the west side of the road. As this happened, the nearside front wheel came off the bus and struck the rear wheel of a car ahead.

The bus struck the west side of the bridge removing 50 feet of the cement and steel railing.

Eyewitnesses repor t that for "what seemed like an age," the bus balanced on the side of the bridge with the front axle "half on the bridge and half off."

The inside rear wheel was safely on the abutment but the outside rear wheel was balancing in space.

The steering wheel and column and front bumper were later recovered from the iced surface of the Nation.

At the time of the accident the bus was slowing down so that a passenger, Miss Olive Merkley, could get off. Standing in the front of the bus, she was slightly injured when it hit the bridge.

She was taken to Winchester Memorial Hospital together with the bus driver, Leo Carrol, Ottawa, who received abrasions and cuts to the forehead and left leg, but after treatment by a doctor they were not admitted. It is believed another passenger received slight injuries.

The car which was struck by the wheel from the bus was being driven by Donald F. McQuigg, Ottawa. Police estimate damage to the bus at between $7,000 and $8,000 and damage to the car at about $400.

Constables E. J. McDougall and R. C. Noble, Morrisburg detachment, OBP, investigated.

Chesterville W.I. Holds Christmas Meeting

The December meeting of Chesterville Women's Institute assembled in the library Wednesday evening, December 18, with Mrs Harold W. Merkley presiding.

The program consisted of an exchange of gifts, carol singing, with Mrs Hosea Droppo as pianist, and contest, with prizes won by Mrs Sam Barker and Mrs deRooy. The highlight of the program was a play entitled "The Forunate Mistake," with Mrs Floyd Edgerton as supervisor, starring Barbara Smith, Ann Smith, Robert Smith and Billy Moffat. The stage performance of the aforenamed artists showed exceptional ability.

The enjoyable program was convened by Mrs George Johnston and Mrs Asel Merkley. The executive assisted with serving lunch.

Five dollars is to be given as a prize for the best essay on Farm Improvement.

FRESH FLOWERS

Mrs Hilton McLean, Monday morning, December 23, picked fresh flowers from her garden. She brought in two fine white 'mums. It just goes to show what summer at Christmas will do, even here near the North Pole.

40-Year Pin Presentation Made To Holstein Breeders

Allison, RR2, Chesterville, was the recipient of a signal honour a few weeks ago when he was presented with a 40-year Membership Pin in recognition of his long association with the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. Mr Allison, who lives in Bethune Bush, some three miles south-west of the village, has kept a Holstein herd for over 46 years.

The presentation was made following the annual meeting of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club by Grant Smith, Holstein fieldman, and Harold W. Merkley, Chesterville, club member who gathered the data for Mr Allison's award.

The shut-ins have not been forgotten; small parcels have been distributed to about 70.

May we take this opportunity of wishing all a happy Christmas.

GRADES III AND IV CHORAL SPEAKING was one of the items on the fine program presented by Chesterville Public School Thursday night in Legion Hall. FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

Christmas is a time to remember old friends, old scenes and Christmases of days gone by. Why is it that when we think of past Christmases it is usually our childhood Christmases that come to mind? It wasn't really better then, was it?

We had a nice arrangement when I was a child. Christmas dinners alternated among Grandma's house, my aunt's and our house. It was fun to go away for Christmas even if it did mean a ten-mile cutter ride over frosty, cold snow but it was twice as good the year Christmas was celebrated at our house.

I revelled in the excitement. There was a big tree to put up. Now I haven't any idea what we decorated a tree with in those days. We hadn't any electricity so there we no lights. We hadn't any expensive balls or ornaments. Of course we had some homemade stars and some tinsel and every year we strung popcorn. But by present day standards that doesn't seem like much.

We didn't wrap gifts if we could avoid it. Ties, scarves, mittens and things not breakable had tags pinned to them and were draped over the tree's branches. That added much to the decorations and to the fun of sneaking a look to read the name on the tag.

We must have had terrific appetites in those days. For the twenty or twenty-five who came for dinner Mother cooked a goose and four or five roosters. I don't recall much about it except the making of the dressing.

Grandma came to help on the 24th for she was an expert at dressing. She used fresh bread so it had to be picked to pieces. I wasn't too old when it was discovered that I could "pick up" bread as well as anyone. It took hours to pick into bird-bites enough bread to stuff so many roosters and a goose. Then Grandma added cups of melted homemade butter, salt, pepper, chopped onion, summer savory and raisins—lots of raisins.

Christmas Eve was the time for making ice cream. We had a big, two-gallon freezer so Dad had to be on hand to operate it. Mother made the thick custard, added quarts of thick, rich cream, lots of sugar and vanilla. Then we all tasted the mixture to see if it was right. To this day I think homemade ice cream is just about as good before it is frozen.

Then Dad brought the washtub to keep the mess off the kitchen floor. He lugged in bags of crushed ice and a pail of salt and the wooden pail of the freezer. When he had the tin part of the machine packed in ice and salt he poured in warm water to start it freezing. Then he turned the crank. In five minutes I began to ask if it was hard enough yet and I repeated the question at about three-minute intervals until Dad announced that he couldn't turn it any more.

If you've ever met an ice cream freezer you remember the odd-shaped apparatus up the centre of the can that mixes the cream as it freezes. Well, to this day I'd argue that the ice cream scraped off that mixer tastes better than any other. It is like the sweet meat being next the bones. And I ought to know. I've helped scrape soft ice cream off freezer mixers oftener than I can count.

Once the ice cream was safely stowed away out in the woodshed to finish freezing I was reminded that it was time to go to bed. It was usually ten o'clock or more and Santa was due almost any minute. Somehow I always managed to get off safely before the old gentleman arrived. But there was one very narrow escape.

Mother had been busy until late

Extreme Caution Needed If Rabies Suspected

Within the past month, rabies has been diagnosed from several foxes from the Plantagent area east of Ottawa.

Since the district is supporting a moderately heavy fox population, a fairly rapid spread of the disease may occur from the Plantagenet area.

Rabies affects the central nervous system of the animal affected and although the best known symptoms of furious rabies are great excitement, biting, snapping and mouth frothing, rabies symptoms do vary widely.

In wildlife, the apparent loss of fear of man is often a symptom of rabies. It should be pointed out, however, that if any animal is behaving in an abnormal manner, rabies should be suspected.

In an effort to help stop the spread of rabies, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests asks everyone to co-operate.

If rabies is suspected:

1. Contact your local conservation officer.
2. If animals must be destroyed, do not damage the head, as brain tissue is required for diagnosis.
3. Exercise extreme care in handling suspect carcasses. In no case should the hands come in contact with the saliva. If animals must be moved, use gloves.

BOOZERS' SPECIAL ENDING RUN

A leisurely little private railway known as the Boozers' special is going broke for the lack of customers, according to a sad tale from Trier, West Germany.

The Rhineland Railway asked the state transport commission for permission to shut down January 1 after losing 400,000 marks, or $92,000, in the last year.

News of the impending shutdown came as a blow to thousands of tourists who enjoy a quiet relaxed trip through the wine-producing Moselle Valley.

The Boozer's special made 39 stops on a 64-mile journey. At each stop, samples of the village's best wines were readily available at low prices.

The little railway has found it can't compete with a federal railway that makes the trip three times as quickly.

Plywood of 17 layers has successfully resisted a pressure of 20 tons to the square inch.

Christmas Candles You Can Make

Make your own inexpensive, easy-to-do Christmas candles. You can buy everything you need in one stop at any of our local stores.

An easily-assembled aluminum cake form mold, costing less than a dollar

- 11 bars of household paraffin
- 3" candle stub
- 3 crayons—blue. yellow, red-orange
- Some red sequins
- A few artificial holly leaf clusters
- 2½" high Christmas trees

Now, follow these easy steps to make this house:

First, melt nine bars of paraffin in double boiler—not over direct heat. Pour small amount of wax in another container.

While it cools, place mold, open side up, in cardboard box of about same size. Grease inside of mold with vegetable shortening. Wedge crumled newspaper at bottom and around inside of box.

Pour some of cooled wax into mold with vegetable shortening. Wedge crumpled newspaper at bottom of box.

Pour some of cooled wax into mold; roll it around until thin coat covers indentations and corners. Repeat process four times for even surface and to prevent leakage. Pour in remaining wax to fill mold.

Pace mold, in supporting box, in refrigerator overnight or until completely hard.

Remove candle. With paring knife, dig out quarter inch layer for windows and doors on both sides.

Dissolve blue crayon in quarter cake of paraffin, then spoon into windows. Do same with yellow crayon for doors. Be sure wax is thoroughly dry before working on other side. (Spills can be trimmed away with paring knife).

For chimney, cut two sections, each 1½" wide, from end of wax bar. Use point of knife to make groove from top to bottom in centre of one section. Trim excess wax from candle stub, place wick in groove. "Glue" two sections together with melted wax.

Dissolve red-orange crayon in half cake of wax. Use dip and harden process four times for chimney.

After all has hardened, cut notch in bottom of chimney to fit snugly to the sloping roof of house. Attach it with melted wax.

Use household glue, not paste, to add holly, sequins and trees.

The Canadian Forestry Association estimates that some 300 million young trees are destroyed annually be forest fires set by public carelessness. This "kindergarten" class, springing from the seed of parent trees, was designed by Mother Nature to build up new forests in a steady succession. Fires set by human recklessness often create a desolate barrens requiring a half-century or more for the first sign of recovery.

The osprey and kingfisher are able to hover in the air like helicopters when preparing to dive for fish. The hummingbird is one of the few feathered creatures which not only can hover in one position but can fly cackwards with ease.

THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY

MOST OF US only cook turkey once a year, so we are apt to forget from one Christmas to the next the important points to remember.

ROAST TURKEY

Stuff turkey just before roasting, allowing ¾ to 1 cup of stuffing per pound ready-to-cook weight. Spoon in stuffing. Shake bird to settle stuffing; do not pack as stuffing swells during cooking. Close openings with skewers or sew shut. Tie drumsticks securely to tail and press wings against sides and tie in position. Sprinkle with salt and brush over with melted fat. If you use a meat thermometer, insert it in the centre of the inside thigh muscle adjoining the cavity. Place bird breast-side-up on the rack in a shallow roasting pan and leave in this position for entire roasting time. Cover with a loose cap of aluminum foil, pressing lightly on both sides, but avoid having it touch top or sides. Roast at 325 degrees. It will require a longer cooking at 325 degrees but there will be less shrinkage. If you do not use the aluminum foil cap ,baste the bird every 15 minutes.

Roasting Time for Ready-to-Cook Weight

10 to 12 lbs. will require 4½-5 hrs.; 12-14 lbs., 5-5¼ hrs.; 14-16 lbs., 5¼-6 hrs.; 16-18 lbs., 6-6½ hrs.; 18-20 lbs., 6½-7½ hrs.

When turkey is about two-thirds done, cut cords so heat can reach inside thighs.

About 20 minutes before end of roasting time is up, test doneness by pressing thick part of drumstick between fingers. The meat should feel very soft. Also the drumstick should move up and down easily. If you use a meat thermometer it should register 190 to 195 degrees. When turkey is done, remove from pan and keep warm while you make the gravy. Allow the bird to stand 20 minutes before carving, to make an easier, neater job for the man of the house.

Bread Stuffing

6 cups fresh bread crumbs
¼ chopped onion
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. summr savory
Sage to taste
1-3 cup melted fat
½ cup chopped celery
Milk to moisten

Brown onion and celery in melted fat; add to crumbs. Add other ingredients; mix lightly. Allow 1 cup stuffing for each pound of turkey.

Use two or three-day-old bread.

Gravy

Lift the turkey to warm platter. Pour off fat from roasting pan. For each cup of gravy desired measure 2 tbsps. of fat back into pan. Set roasting pan over very low heat. Measure 2 tbsps. of flour for each cup of gravy and add to fat in pan and blend well. Continue stirring and cook till frothy. Now add one cup of liquid. Use the meat juices, giblet stock, water in which vegetables were cooked or milk. Cook till thick.

If you prefer you may heat fat and liquid to boiling and add the flour which has been shaken up in a jar with about a quarter cup of the cold liquid. Stir and cook till thick.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS—

that evening and in spite of my asking to be put to bed she hadn't found the time to help a five-year-old to get undressed. It was really late. Dad had lighted the lantern and gone out as usual to inspect the stable before he turned in. But Mother was still busy doing last-minute jobs.

Suddenly there was a sound of heavy boots on the veranda. I heard the first step. Santa had arrived and I wasn't in bed. I burst into tears. "It's all your fault," I sobbed to Mother. "I wanted to go to bed and you wouldn't take me." Then she had to explain that it wasn't Santa Claus at all. It was only Dad out there playing a joke on me. To me, though, it wasn't much of a joke.

Christmas is certainly a time to use our bank accounts of memory. We older folk take pleasure in withdrawing some of the memories from them. Let us all try this year to give the little ones something special to deposit to their accounts for future use.

A Very Merry Christmas to All!

Mrs Delbert Flintoff Hostess to W.I. Meeting

The December meeting of Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs Delbert Flintoff on Wednesday afternoon, with a good attendance of members and guests.

Mrs Walter Smirle, district president, was guest speaker and spoke on "The Home" and the spirit of Christmas. She was introduced by the secretary, Mrs Lloyd Gallinger, and thanked by the president, Mrs George Ferguson.

The annual Christmas gift is to be sent the patient in W.I. Ward of St. Lawrence Sanitarium, 20 boxes to local shut-ins and flowers to several who are ill. The piano in the hall is to be reconditioned early in the new year.

Mrs Lloyd Gallinger read a poem, "Small Deeds," in keeping with the motto, "Blessed are those who can give without remembering and take without forgetting." The roll call was answered by telling a neighbour's kind act and an exchange of gifts. Mrs Dave Rutley conducted a contest which was won by Mrs Delbert Flintoff.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs Lloyd Gallinger and Mrs John Grandaw.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Ober Beckstead January 5 at 2 p.m.

The mighty tides along the Bay of uFndy shores create many phenomenons. Among them, the Reversing Falls at Saint John where water runs uphill.

Christmas Names

Each year thousands of cards and packages pour into certain tiny post offices throughout the United States to be stamped with their special cancellation.

Santa Claus, Indiana, is perhaps the most popular recipient. Many cards and letters addressed to "Santa Claus, Santa Claus, Indiana," arrive there, too.

Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, a city seven times the size of the original in Palestine, receives thousands of cards and packages from all over the country. They are marked with special Christmas stamps and sent on.

This story is repeated in six other Bethlehems, one Santa. It happens in Christmas Cove, Maine; Noel, Virginia and Missouri.

There are many towns throughout the 48 states named Nativity, Goodwill, Peace, Joy and Star.

CARD OF THANKS

I wiuld like to say "Thank You" to all my friends who remembered me during my stay in Ottawa Civic Hospital and since my return home. Special thanks to the doctors and nursing staff.

Nancy Gillard.

There are excellent highways in the Laurentians of Quebec. Total length of Quebec's highways and roads exceeds 52,000 miles.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all those who sent me cards, paid me visits and wished me well during my stay as a patient in Winchester Memorial Hospital.—Joan Heuff.

CARD OF THANKS

Much as I wish to do so, I find it physically impossible to personally acknowledge the hundreds of get-well cards, gifts, letters of good wishes and Christmas cards I have received during the past weeks. I am deeply grateful to all of you for your kind thoughts and prayers, which strengthened and sustained me. The lovely flowers sent to me were much appreciated as was the special gift in lieu of flowers which was sent to the Civic Hospital treasurer.

To the members of Chesterville Women's Institute, the Public Library Board, the Ladies' Legion Auxiliary, the Cornwall and Chesterville Units C.C.S., the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, the C.W.L., Finch, Morewood, Winchester, Morrisburg and Iroquois Women's Institutes, the local Red Cross Society and the United Church W.A. I say "Thank you so much." The friends who sent the lovely water colours will always be remembered; the children of S.S. No. 10 gladdened my heart, as did so many other children who wrote to me. I owe thanks to Rev E. B. Bugden, Rev R. S. V. Crossley and Archdeacon Anderson for giving me spiritual uplift.

My gratitude goes out to Dr H. W. and Mrs Justus who did all they could to strengthen me when I was in the depths of despair, and to the director, Dr T. G. Stoddart, and staff of the O.C.F., Civic Hospital. When the day comes that we must assess that we have gathered during a lifetime and we find our greatest gain has been love, we can bow our heads and thank God, the fount of all love, that His love and your love will strengthen and uphold.

Stella Campbell.

tell them the truth about Christmas

Of course, they know Christmas as Santa Claus and gifts gaily wrapped in colour and ribbon.

And Christmas is a tree glimmering with lights — and carols sung by neighbors in a snowy silence.

And Christmas is a warmth between old friends — when even strangers nod shy greetings on the street.

But, remind them that Christmas is His day, the Birthday of a King, who makes all things possible.

Tell them that Christmas reflects in us some of the Joy and Wonder and Faith that is in the glow of children's eyes — like the eyes of those who beheld in awesome thanks the new-born Child in the Manger.

Tell them the Truth about Christmas so that they can sing His praises knowing He is with us during this Season and Eternally.
