High school hosts meeting to hash out problems

by Shelley Baldwin
Chieftain Staff Reporter

What was generally referred to as "a little smoking problem in the plaza," was quickly exposed last week as being only an off-shoot of a different problem. At the nucleus of the dilemma, sits the fact that the "smokers" will only be happy if a canopy is built in the landscaped area at the east end of the plaza. The difficulty is one of preferred location, and not merely a spot to light up.

On hand for the meeting were: Superintendent of Schools Colin Vickers; Seaway principal Doug Murray; vice principal Brenda Waddell; trustee Mary Anne Petre; former school committee chairman, Dennis Kuz; OPP Sergeants Brent Mattice and Ray Westgarth; a group of concerned business people; council members Bruce Mullin, Art Roberts and Wilf Gibbons, as well as Clerk Betty Marlin; Ron Delegarde, for Recreation; a concerned senior from the community, Mrs. Wilma Playfair; and a spokes-person from the seniors building Mr. Don Rawlings. Also represented were two students that regularly hang-out in the vicinity in question, and the students council vice-president.

The Superintendent of Schools devised an agenda to follow, to keep everyone on track, explaining that he was not entirely unfamiliar with the situation. A similar situation is happening in Cornwall as well. Mr. Vickers told council that the Board appreciated the newspaper articles and photographs that had been forwarded with their concerns.

Everyone was asked to first identify the issues, then possibly to identify blocks and barriers, before attempting to define possible solutions.

Councillor Bruce Mullin started off, identifying the lack of respect towards the tax payers of the Village of Iroquois, with regards to littering, bad language, and inappropriate acts in public. Also of concern to anyone walking in the plaza during the lunch hour, is that groups of students seem to form on the sidewalk, and do not move for any passers by. "I've been told by a lot of people that the kids stand right in the middle of the sidewalk and they just won't move for anybody."

"We're paying our town boys to go over and clean that mini-mall and the garbage cans are there and I can't understand why the kids won't use them. We put a picnic table in there for them thinking that would solve the problem, but it has just increased the problem."

"We have all got to remember that we were all kids once too," conceded the councillor, "and that everybody likes to have a little bit of fun, but I don't think this is fun."

Councillor Mullin explained that each store individually owns the sidewalks in front of their stores. Council, he explained, cannot tell the kids to get off the sidewalk, but felt that if they would not congregate there, and would halt their littering practices and bad language, it would not be such a problem.

The problem became apparent, when the local restaurant/video games arcad became a no smoking establishment, and the students were forced to go outside i order to smoke. Nothing concrete has been done to rectify the situation. Accordin to one business represented, the owner of the restaurant has started to ask hi customers not to stand on the sidewalk, and since they have taken to migratin further down on the sidewalk. "I don't have time to stand out there through the whol lunch hour and ask them to move," stated the Bank Manager.

Although she was unable to be at the meeting, councillor Audrey Rooney let he concerns be known in a letter. She recognized that the crowd in question represented only a small minority of the Seaway District High School population, but there were other concerns as well. It has been common knowledge that there is a drug trafficking problem becoming apparent as well as other activities unhealthy to society. A littering bylaw was one option being explored by council, but it could be difficult to govern, pointing out that there is a fine line between littering and talking with a friend. Many possible suggestions for action were included in the letter, that would be referred to throughout the meeting.

Deputy reeve Wilf Gibbons felt that smokers should be allowed to go into the courtyard area of the high school to smoke. The space is hidden and supervised.

As far as the seniors in the Seaway Apartments are concerned, there is no problem,

8th annual Business Appreciation Night is once again a success

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Between forty and fifty local business owners and employees attended the Eighth Annual Business Appreciation Night in Morrisburg last Thursday evening.

At the information fair three new businesses were showcased and Brent Boyd co-owner of Picadilly Press, Graphics and Printing in Williamsburg was pleased with the evening.

"It was good," said Boyd of the evening overall. "The displays were interesting and the people provided a lot of insight."

Although Mr. Boyd found the appreciation night positive, he did wonder why more new businesses did not attend.

"It (the appreciation night) is a great idea. You pick up extra business by talking with people and letting them know you're out there and I can't understand why anyone with a new business wouldn't take part."

Esthetics By Becky also figured prominently with a display at the entrance of the Civic Centre and Ms. Pena the owner of Esthetics By Becky was also pleased with the evening.

The third new business to be featured over the course of the evening was Harbers Flame Centre from Williamsburg.

Chairman Cam Martel was also pleased with the evening. "We had a very good cross section of businesses represented."

Mr. Martel felt that those who did attend found the evening interesting and informative. "I really enjoyed the speech by Mark Kulick," said Mr. Martel.

From the Cornwall Self Help Centre, Mr. Kulick attended the function to make those present aware of the different services his organization provides.

According to Executive Director of the South Dundas Economic Development Commission Linda Bowers, Mr. Kulick's address went over extremely well.

"Mark (Kulick) is hired by the provincial government to act as a consultant to people who would like to start up a business," explained Ms. Bowers.

The service is absolutely free and as well as helping entrepenuers find direction through marketing and accounting procedures, Mr. Kulick also helps those who need it by sourcing out the different funding avenues available.

In fact, the level of interest was so high that Mr. Kulick will be setting up shop in the South Dundas Economic Development Commission office the third Thursday of every month.

"People can call our office and set up an appointment to meet with Mark and he'll help them with their business ideas," explained Ms. Bowers.

Chairman Martel felt this was a positive move in the right direction noting that he believes the future will see more people start home based businesses.

"It was surprising to see how many people want to start up new businesses," added Mr. Martel. "The way things are headed right now, we are going to have to create our own way of life and depend less on others."

Other employer information displays came from Human Resource Development Canada, the Cardinal and District Resource Centre, the Ontario Ministry of Labour Employment Standards, Worker's Compensation Board, the Ministry of Agriculture, Food, and Rural Affairs, Revenue Canada, the S.D. and G. Community Development Corporation and Ontario Hydro.

OPP investigate local break-ins

A series of break-ins throughout Dundas County kept police busy last week.

Another Iroquois business fell victim to crime over the weekend. Red & White Food Store was broken into sometime overnight on October 28/29. Culprits smashed the glass between the main doors, but left without gaining entry to the store.

A tractor trailer owned by Wilson's Truck Line, of Etobicoke, was recovered in Iroquois on October 29. It had been stolen in Brockville the day before, and was loaded with chocolate products. The culprits seem to have stolen a few cases of this product, but left most of the load behind.

Three break, enter and thefts occurred sometime overnight on October 28/29, 1995 at various businesses in the Morrisburg Shopping Plaza.

Impact Sports was entered by culprits by smashing in the front door. Stolen were Umbro winter jackets, winter gloves, ball caps, NHL and pro series sportswear.

Pictured above, this lucky jailbird (right) was lucky enough to catch herself a cute little rabbit! Although there were a few Power Rangers in attendance, ghosts seemed to be the most popular in Matilda.

Funding cuts hurt House of Lazarus

The House of Lazarus, a community resource centre in South Mountain, has lost all of its funding from the Ontario government. The Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services will no longer support Community Neighbourhood Support Services Programs, and 33 percent of the funding for the House of Lazarus was derived from this program.

The cut has meant a reduction of staff hours and a reduction in hours that the centre will be able to remain open, to serve those who gravely depend on its services. The new hours of operation at the House of Lazarus will be Monday through Friday, 9 am. to 12 noon.

The centre still intends, however, to remain open the last Saturday of every month, from 9 am. to 12 noon, in order to accommodate working families who utilize its services.

The House of Lazarus will not have to rely on fund raising and other means to offset the shortfall in funding this year. More volunteers from the community are needed to help in the centre during the week.

Anyone interested in helping out is asked to call Shirley Nichol-Scott, Pastoral Director, of the House of Lazarus.

The House of Lazarus, also known as the Matilda Resource Centre Inc., is an outreach mission established in 1989 to meet the needs of those living in poverty in Eastern Ontario. Located on Bridge Street, in South Mountain, the centre operates a food bank and thrift shop.

A registered charity of the Province of Ontario, the centre is jointly funded by the province and

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Staff Reporter

If the day to day grind has got you down and there's really nothing to look forward to, or if you just haven't felt like yourself lately and you need to relax your muscles, I have the answer!

Esthetics By Becky!

Providing everything from facials to body massage, to waxing, the owner of Esthetics by Becky, Becky Pena, opened her doors to public at large approximately a month ago and business has been good.

A graduate of Pebec in London Ontario, a private school specializing in esthetics, Becky pursued and received a New Ventures loan to start her home based business.

For the time being she accepts clients by appointment only (call 543-2137 for an appointment) but she hopes to someday open a salon in downtown Morrisburg.

A facial by Becky includes a deep cleansing peel as well as preparation for skin extractions.

Having never had a facial, I couldn't help but ask if this process was as painful as it sounded?

A smile spread across her face as she assured me, "it's not painful at all."

In fact, after a gentle facial massage and the application of a mask and cleansing cream, the effect can be quite relaxing.

"If you want to keep the skin up, I suggest you have a facial once a month," added Becky.

A body massage takes approximately an hour and is a wonderful way to relax and relieve body stress and tension. The massage can be done separately or with a body peel.

Becky also does manicures, pedicures, make-up applications for those special occasions and waxing.

"I also provide make-up lessons as well," added Becky.

The services are for men and women and with Christmas coming quickly, a gift certificate from Esthetics By Becky could be just what the doctor ordered for that special someone in you life.

Esthetics By Becky is located at 14 Coyle Drive and is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m daily, by appointment only.

Residents take stand against trailers

by Jeff Brownlee
Chieftain Staff Reporter

A few Edwardsburgh residents want the township to shift from reverse to overdrive enforcing its trailer by-law.

"Our problem is the township," says Evelyn Mallett, who owns a waterfront home on the Empire Hanna Road. "It has just started enforcing the by-law, but it isn't doing enough."

Under the existing by-law, trailers can be stored but cannot be inhabited in Edwardsburgh Township unless they obtain a sworn affidavit stating that they were there prior to 1984.

But this wasn't the case this summer say a few concerned residents who have been fighting to get rid of trailers beside their homes for the past five years.

"There were 14 trailers that were still being lived in in June," added Mallett. "These are not people who come in for a week's holidays. A lot of these trailers are lived in from April to November."

"We are taking a stand against the use of trailers as summer residences," added Joyce Magee, who lives on the shore of the St. Lawrence River in the Tuttle Point area. "The township should get rid of them -- immediately."

Since June, Randy Wilkinson, Edwardsburgh's by-law enforcement officer, has charged five trailer owners with failure to comply with the by-law. Two cases were heard in provincial court last week and the township emerged with two convictions. Three more cases are pending before the courts.

"The by-law is being enforced; it has always been," said Wilkinson, who works solely on a complaint basis. "You can store trailers in the municipality, but you can't live in them."

Inhabiting a trailer includes water, sewer and electrical hook-ups, he added.

Besides being the by-law enforcement officer, Wilkinson doubles as the municipality's chief building official. He executes his duties in both capacities on a part-time basis.

This does make by-law enforcement difficult all the time, but Reeve David Dobbie says that Wilkinson does an excellent job for the tools and the time he has to work with.

"Randy isn't out there looking for business, but he does his homework," he said. "All trailers that are found to be contravening the by-law are dealt with."

While the trailer owners were charged in June, their court dates were not until October and this has the homeowners steaming.

"They (trailer owners) got a free ride all summer," said Mallett.

But Wilkinson said that due process has to take its course and this takes time.

"We have to demonstrate (to the court) that we have been fair and reasonable with the trailer owners," he added.

When Wilkinson receives a complaint and discovers that a party is contravening a by-law, he issues a notice of violation that asks the faulty party to follow the guidelines of the by-law immediately.

A subsequent inspection follows, around 15 days later, and if Wilkinson finds nothing has been done, he will take them to court.

In the trailer owners' case, they can inhabit the trailer right up until the court date.

If found guilty, an individual can face a fine up to $20,000. A corporation faces a fine of up to $50,000.

But the courts are pretty lenient on the guilty parties for the first offence, added Wilkinson.

One of the guilty parties last week was slapped with a fine of $100.

"I would definitely pay $100 to put a trailer on a lot for the summer," said Mike Heafey Sr., another concerned waterfront resident. "It beats paying the big tax bill."

But Wilkinson points out that the fines for subsequent convictions would be much higher.

"The courts are pretty lenient the first time around, but they don't look lightly on ensuing offences."

The homeowners complain that some trailer owners are lying about the actual date the trailers were there. They say the municipality could check the date each trailer was moved on to the parcel of land through a provision in a 1978 by-law that calls for a building permit to be issued to each trailer.

"If these trailers were here since 1984, where are those permits?" asks Magee. "None of them were here since 1984."

Reeve Dobbie said that he was not aware of any trailers that have been in the municipality for the past 10 years, but that was before his time.

"There is no way that I can look back at the records, I just don't have the time," said Wilkinson. "I believe that the onus is on the trailer owner to prove that they have been here for that length of time."

Still, the homeowners feel that trailers in the municipality are devaluing their high-priced waterfront homes.

Reeve David Dobbie doesn't sympathize with them however.

"In most cases, the homeowners built their houses knowing that the trailers were there," he said.

Earlier this year, Mallett and Magee had their land assessment reduced by 50 per cent by the Assessment Review Board, but the Regional Assessment Commissioner appealed that decision to the Ontario Municipal Board.

The hearing was held in June and a unique interim decision was handed down Sept.18.

The decision calls for an adjournment period not to exceed 6 months so Mallett and Magee can obtain a professional real estate opinion that trailers actually did devalue their homes in 1994.

If the decision favors the homeowners, it could be a precedent-setting move.

"I don't know which way it will go, but it will affect every municipality in Ontario," added the reeve. "It is funny to think that this problem is unique to our township."

The homeowners also know the importance of the OMB decision.

"If we win this, this will open the doors for others," said Mallett. "We will be ready to help them all."

In the mean time, Edwardsburgh will enforce the by-law to the best of its ability.

But Joyce Magee wonders what will stop the trailers from coming in next year.

"People will always be trying to bring in trailers to the municipality," she said. "What's going to stop them?"

But Edwardsburgh Township thinks that time is the key.

"Sure there will always be people trying to bring trailers into Edwardsburgh, but we will continue to weed them out as soon as possible," said Dobbie.

Repeat offenders who want to test the by-law enforcement procedures of the municipality should watch out.

"If it does come to that (testing Edwardsburgh) they will lose," concluded Wilkinson.

Funding cut the United Church of Canada through their Mission and Service Fund. The Mission Service Fund pays the salary of the co-ordinator, while the Government of Ontario took care of the salaries for support staff. All other expenses are paid through the public's generosity through donations from churches, companies, various organizations and individuals. The House of Lazarus is operated by a Board of Directors that consists of 10-15 individuals represented by clergy and the community.

Plaza issue

according to the building spokesman Don Rawlings. "When I was invited to this meeting, I went around and saw all the seniors in the building and as far as they are concerned, we have no problem," stated Rawlings. "In fact one lady told me that they stepped aside and even opened up the door for her to the bank. They don't seem to be very concerned and they are out at all hours during the day."

The other senior, on the other hand, told those present a totally different version depicting concerns she has, as a senior and a member of the community. She recounted an incident last May, when ridiculed by a group of girls in the plaza. "I was ashamed that girls would dirty their mouths like that."

Another point of concern came to light at that point, regarding the large groups that congregate in the middle of the road, and the fact that people are afraid to come forward in fear of more severe repercussions.

OPP Sergeant Brent Mattice full well understood what residents are up against, and forecasted that the scene would not get better until people do come forward. He stated that people must start calling the police, and that there are sections of the criminal code to deal with loitering and causing disturbances, which includes using profane language at length. Mattice told those present that he understands that the police are unable to respond right away, but urged everyone to please keep calling. Any names, identifying features or license numbers, etc., would also be extremely helpful to police.

The two students stated that they do not approve of the language of some of their peers in the plaza, and that if they happen to be standing on the sidewalk, they move off if people are trying to get by. The reason for the gathering there seems to be shelter.

Sergeant Mattice suggested that the young men attempt a little peer pressure.

It was also explained that some of the teens in the plaza also cause trouble inside the school walls. Some of the teens are also not students any longer, and are considered, "squeeze-outs." On one particular day, of the 15-20 kids in the plaza, five were elementary students, and one youngster was smoking.

The suggestion of a canopy was brought up by the students. When asked if they thought the other students would use a canopied area north of the school in the parking lot, they said no. The attraction is still in the mall. Even when it was suggested that possibley Recreation could make available picnic tables for the students in part of the parking lot to eat their lunches, the student reps felt it would not be a deterrent to activity in the mall.

Recreation's suggestion was made as an alternative to a problem encountered by the students who said that the cafeteria is packed everyday, and that eating lunch is not allowed in the halls. "We have no choice but to go outside," stated one of the students.

Expense was another hurdle. Who would pay for such a canopy? It was suggested that possibley shop students could take it on as a project amongst themselves, and that a possible solution to finance would be to fund raise. Trustee Mary Anne Petre felt that this avenue should be investigated for liable before anything is agreed to. Mr. Vickers suggested that a canopy not be built right away, and that it should be an "earned privilege."

Concluding, Sergeant Mattice urged the public to call the police. "We can arrest them." The other idea suggested by the officer, was peer pressure.

One other idea brought forth was that students could adopt-that-area-in-the-plaza, as far as clean-up goes and take some pride in what they accomplish.

Councillor Bruce Mullin suggested that the meeting reconvene in six weeks to see if any progress has been made.

125th block parent celebrated

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Cardinal celebrated it's 125th Block Parent last Friday afternoon as well as the announcement that the Toronto Dominion Bank would join the Block Parent Organization as a corporate sponsor.

Betty Baldwin, manager of the T.D. Bank in Cardinal represented her employer, as well as being the 125th Cardinal Block Parent.

Community Service Officer, Constable Mike Ostrander was pleased with the renewed enthusiasm Cardinal has shown for the Block Parent Organization in recent years, and gave credit to the people of the community.

"It (block parents) is a service we hope we never need to use, but having it in place is an important part of the community," said Mr. Ostrander.

Block parents display a sign in a visible location at their homes and through the work of the organization and Community Service Officers from the Ontario Provincial Police, children are made aware of the service.

"We go into the schools and tell the children that if they are out and need help, all they have to do is look for one of these signs," said Mr. Ostrander.

The police screen all applicants to the program but Mr. Ostrander noted that almost 95 percent of those who apply are eligible to be a block parent.

Chairman of the Block Parent organization in Cardinal, Cecil Dugan, thanked Ms. Baldwin for participating in the program, and added a thankyou to Constable Ostrander.

"We have the best police force in Ontario," said Mr. Dugan, "And we work hand in hand."

United we stand

Last Friday morning one hundred and fifty thousand Canadians converged on Montreal.

They came from across the country and they came from Morrisburg, Iroquois, Cardinal and other local areas.

Last Monday evening the province of Quebec voted to stay in Canada. They voted to give unity, a renewed sense of nationalism, one more chance.

As Canadians across the country sat glued to television screens in their homes, bars and auditoriums, the fabric of a nation remained intact once again.

The difference between separation and unity?

The understanding of Canadians from sea to sea.

Jean Chretien's promise of recognizing Quebec's distinct nature did not turn the tide. Daniel Johnson's views of a federal union did not buy the extra votes needed to win.

The difference was the people.

The difference was understanding.

The difference was sympathy.

Sympathy not for a people oppressed by a racist regime, but for an ideal and a country, for its people, and for its problems.

Undoubtedly there remains work to be done. The No victory does not signal complacency.

But what the victory does do is tell us, real Canadians, the people who go to work every day, take pride in their families, celebrate the holidays together and suffer our losses with loved ones, that the extension of our hearts and souls offered so freely five days ago must continue.

For decades now we've left the constitutional battles to the politicians. We've sat idly by as Pierre Trudeau, Brian Mulroney and a plethora of premiers told us what was best for Canada.

Make no mistake.

This is far from over.

However, this time, we made the difference. Those of you who travelled to Montreal, waved flags from overpasses, called friends in La Belle Province, or merely offered your support in coffee shops across the country.

During this next round of inevitable constitutional talks let the badge of solidarity we wore on our hearts so freely last week be the tool we use to bring our brothers and sisters in Quebec into the constitutional fold.

Let us not forget the racist comments from narrow minded leaders like Jacques Parizeau, but let us also not forget that he and those who would believe in him after this do not speak for Quebec.

M.C.B.

A benefit to everyone

It is definitely to everyone's benefit to get along. A meeting was held in the high school library recently, with representation of a broad cross-section of the community, including police, business owners, seniors, school administrators, the superintendent of schools, and three students. Municipal council was also there in full force.

The problem.. respect, and a lack of it. Solving the world's problems in less than two hours. It has taken a period of years for the situation to escalate. No doubt there are no easy answers.

The barriers? The school board's hands are tied. Can't allow smoking, can't be responsible ...tudents off of school property at lunch ...

...ouncil? Represent the ratepayers in the ...lage. Tired of the litter and the complaints ...om residents wanting the situation cleaned up. A lot of good points, super suggestions. Plausible ones, many of which are not realistic according to the school board. Kind of makes you wonder where all of these stupid rights began, or where one person's rights stop and another's begin.

Business people have valid concerns. Their livelihood is suffering. Their staff are afraid to walk through the mall. Customers are non-existent during the lunch hour.

Both vendors and clients are faced with an never-ending stream of vocal sewage, spit, and inappropriate behaviour (a very general term). Not by the many but by the few that have to be just a bit more cool than the next guy.

When and where will a happy median be found? Does it lie with the school board bending the rules or with the community?

Believe it or not folks, there are laws on the books that can be used to charge the users of foul language, disturbances, liquor induced behaviour, drugs and loitering. The police want you to call them. They want to help, but it does absolutely no good if in a conversation the following day, a resident relays what they have seen. When a situation arises, get a name, a license plate number, or any other identifying factor and call the police. If you can't get through, keep calling. It is the first step to cleansing the situation.

One thing that no one mentioned during this meeting, is that in the real world majority rules. During an election, the candidate receiving the most votes wins. During a game, the team with the most goals wins. Society leans in the direction that the majority dictate.

At the heart of the crisis is a common denominator. Under-parenting. Parents who think that it is okay for their little Johnnies to be out behaving indecently in public. Parents who will be up in arms that a group of individuals is ready to do all they can to curtail this activity.

But ignored in this mess are the real parents who have rights too. They want their kids to stay at school and use their time wisely. They want their kids to be safe. They want their communities to be safe. They want their kids to possess the tools to be able to make intelligent decisions for themselves.

This problem is not new, and it is not unique to Seaway. It is a rebellion facing administrators, students, boards of education, communities and citizens across the province and likely beyond. To deal with the crisis at an appropriate level may be to lessen the grief of those at the bottom of the heap. Those that are paying the bills for all of this mess, lest someone forgets that they do exist.

The Iroquois Chieftain welcomes your opinion.

Branch 370 Iroquois, Royal Canadian Legion turns 50

by Shelley Baldwin
Chieftain Staff Reporter

The Iroquois Legion clan have come a long way since their first meeting in the old Iroquois High School, some 50 years ago. The membership has grown, and along with it the building has taken on a different shape and size to accommodate its importance in the community.

Although many have passed on, there are still a few charter members left in Iroquois and area. Fortunately, three charter members, who also happen to be World War II veterans, gathered at the old meeting place last week, to relive a few of the 50 years worth of memories.

Johnny Millard, Joe Roberts and Gerald Cornell sat around the table in the old frame part of the Legion, on Dundas Street. Looking around, a few changes had been made but they could still point out what used to be where. For instance, overtop near the front door, there used to be a balcony. For any of us who had never witnessed this feature, it seems that there would not be enough room. But these gentlemen were adamant.. the balcony was there.

Two other charter members were unable to attend, being Ross (Red) Haley, and Armand Pigeon, who now resides in Athens, Ontario.

Joe recalled the first meeting ever held, and the young fellows returned from the Second Great War, in the spring of 1946. Never had there been so much tragedy and loss of life, and there was little help to be had upon returning home. Legions were a common meeting place of service men and women. It was a place to go and rehash experiences with those who had something in common.

The meeting was held in the old Iroquois High School in the old town. The man credited with initiating the formation of the Legion organization in Iroquois, was the 1st president of the Branch, Mr. Duncan Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson is survived yet today by his wife Hazel, who resides in Kingston. Mrs. Ferguson was a nurse, recalled Joe.

Only a few meetings were held prior to the establishment of the charter. From the high school, meetings moved to council's chambers and then to a room overtop of Bullis' Garage. Charter members were chosen at random, and included: Garnet Empey, Ed Millard, Charles Roberts, Albert Claxton, Armand Pigeon, Joe Roberts, Frank Bates, Ross Haley, Gerald Cornell, William Brew, George Mallia, C. McGinn, Robert Mustard, H.J. Richmond, Wilbur Fowler, and John Millard.

Meetings were then held over Homer Evert's Butcher Shop, and the fund raising efforts of the Branch began. In charge of entertainment, Joe held bingo's every Monday night. The cost was 5 cents per card and half the money went back out as prizes, while half was retained by the Branch. It was right around this point in time that the Ladies Auxiliary was formed.

As is still the tradition today, Bingo was held Monday, and the Ladies started their Euchre on Tuesday night. There were a few banquets held in this upstairs location, but it was not possible to hold dances there. Joe stated that people could play bingo all night for $1.50.

Today, the average player spends $44 per night, still bringing in between 60 and 70 players.

The flooding of the Seaway brought with it changes, and the Legion was no exception. They came into possession of the only frame church in the old town, St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church, on College Street. The grand sum of $1 changed hands, and the Pope Brothers moved the structure to its new location on Dundas Street in the new town.

Still today it is easy to see the small white church that glorious additions have spawned from. Although it seems puny in comparison to what the community has come to know as the current Legion, there were some great times to remember in this Hall, from the accounts told.

"We'd fill this hall," remembered Johnny, "and it would get so hot!"

"Mind you," he joked, "it could only hold 25-30 people."

There were other times that were a bit more grim, remembered Gerald. In the late 1950's, a shortage of cash almost saw the charter pass to Dominion command. In fact, he remembers being approached to chip in some of the money so Iroquois could keep their charter. After this episode the Branch started to make money in order to secure its position.

On December 5, 1970, the addition to the little white chapel was opened. On numerous occasions Reg Reid Music Incorporated drew large crowds to the hall. At one New Year's celebration, Joe mentioned that celebrants were turned away at the door!

There wasn't a week go by that at least two functions weren't held, and catered by the Ladies Auxiliary. It was Legion policy then, that no stags would be held on the premises.

At first, the hall was free to use for an evening, but the Legion retained the bar to pay for the rental, although the people holding the function were held responsible for the hall. The Legion

A meeting was held, Thursday morning, at the high school and the moving was so slow. With an agenda set out to follow by Superintendent of Schools, Colin Vickers, everyone pretty much stayed to the task at hand. A few times, emotions came into play, but Mr. Vickers certainly brought everyone back in short order.

Was anything solved? No. In fact for some it was a great disappointment. Unfortunately the young men who were asked to represent the student body involved, were not of the group that should have been targeted.

The reasons they were chosen, however, was for their influence. They would go back and use a little peer pressure. Let the others hanging out know that vulgar language and acts will not be tolerated.

Some of those from the community felt strange telling their woes to two people that are basically good kids.

I must wonder if our purpose was defeated. It started within the ranks of the guests that attended which included police, school trustee, principal and vice principal, business people, council members, a recreation member, the student council representative, a senior concerned for the community, and another senior representing tenants of the seniors building.

As far as the seniors building was concerned, there was NO problem. The spokesperson told the crowd that he had knocked on doors in the building and that no one had any problems with the activity at the east end of the mall. Pardon me?

After the meeting was over, another member of the delegation had a chance to speak with some seniors in the building. It is unfortunate that they were not of the group that the spokesperson sought for an opinion. Because they recounted their fears to the delegate. But hey, that's democracy.

It's funny that the other senior representation at the meeting totally disputed what the delegation had just heard from the building spokesman.

What really came out of the meeting, is that the students need a spot to go. If the cafeteria is full, apparently there is no place to finish eating their lunches. The issue turned out to be not so much the smoking thing as originally thought, but a question of where they want to be.

It was suggested that a deal be worked between the school board and the village, whereby a canopy could be built at one end of the north parking lot. The recreation delegate even went further to suggest that picnic tables could be placed there.

It was suggested that the shop class might pick this project up, until vetoed by the board because of liability.

But when asked if this would be suitable, the delegation was told no. Even Mr. Vickers suggested that the expense of a structure should be an earned privilege. Don't spend the money unless first sure it will solve the problem.

The students told the group what they want. A canopy built out in the current hang-out spot in the plaza, where all the action is happening now. This appears to be merely a comfort accommodation. Encourage the loitering and littering. The location move to the parking lot so that those that smoke can have a butt, was not greeted with enthusiasm.

It was refreshing to hear the voice of the majority of the school, however, sent to the meeting by the student's council president. Many students in the school feel the same way as the business community. The activity sickens them, but the problem lies in working together to find a solution. Such wise words for a young person.

Councillor Bruce Mullin represented the citizens of the village, very well. After all was said and done, our problems, barriers and potential solutions defined, he suggested that the meeting reconvene in six weeks time. The wisest move made throughout the hour and a half.

It's funny though, on our walk back to work, I overheard a conversation in the plaza. The one about how the community delegation was put in their places?!

Crime rages on..

Well at least the Iroquois businesses can sigh a breath of relief, except for Red & White this week, as crime seemed to rear its ugly head a little further east. Thieves hit one of our local grocery stores, but appeared to invade Morrisburg.

Also on the hit list was Impact Sports, Video Ventures, and the Village Bakery and Deli.

What an evening the thieves will have.. they can dress up in all their new sports wear, and munch on goodies from the bakery while watching the latest in home videos. Must be the life.

Well, I'm not going to bug my little buddy at Impact, because he bought coffee last week. Our condolences on this act of violence and I'll tell ya what.. I'll buy coffee next time!

the bottom line

A THANK YOU IS EXTENDED TO THE LIBRARY FOR THEIR UNDERSTANDING during my personal camera crisis. Unfortunately, due to unforeseen circumstances the photo taken during Library Week of the winners of the Judy Payne Memorial award became exposed, and everyone had to gather for a re-take, a week later. Although it was a little inconvenient for those involved it was just great see you all again just the same. Eleanor, Doc Playfair and the recipients were on hand.

SPEAKING OF THE RECIPIENTS... MIKE AND MARTHA WHITTLE AND Lauren Dallas were the winners of the Judy Payne Memorial plaque. It is ironic that Judy was an aunt to both Mike and Martha. Judy Payne passed away in 1986, and was one of the chief librarians at the Iroquois Public Library, and the award is given annually in tribute to her.

WERE YOU ONE OF THE LUCKY SOULS THAT SAW THE GAMBLING SHIP that passed through the Iroquois Locks last week? It was a regal looking craft for sure. You could almost see Maverick up there with Jody Foster, wheeling and dealing on the old paddle-wheeler. There were rumours that the ship had been piggy-backed from New Orleans, upon another heavier and sturdier ship, and then it was let loose at Montreal for the remainder of the journey to Windsor. The gingerbread decor, and winding spiral staircases to the aft of the ship, lent an air of elegance to the unique vessel. And she sure caused a commotion in town, everyone was talking about it..

BY THE TIME YOU READ THIS THE QUEBEC REFERENDUM WILL BE OVER. Throughout all of the hoopla, emotions ran high. Then there were those of us who just wished it would be over so we could get on with life as we know it. Maybe the interest rates will settle down, and people can get on with living and making a living. Regardless of whether Quebeckers are our fellow federalists now, or are our neighbours, something got lost in the height of fever. We are all people, breathing and living. It is something we all have in common.

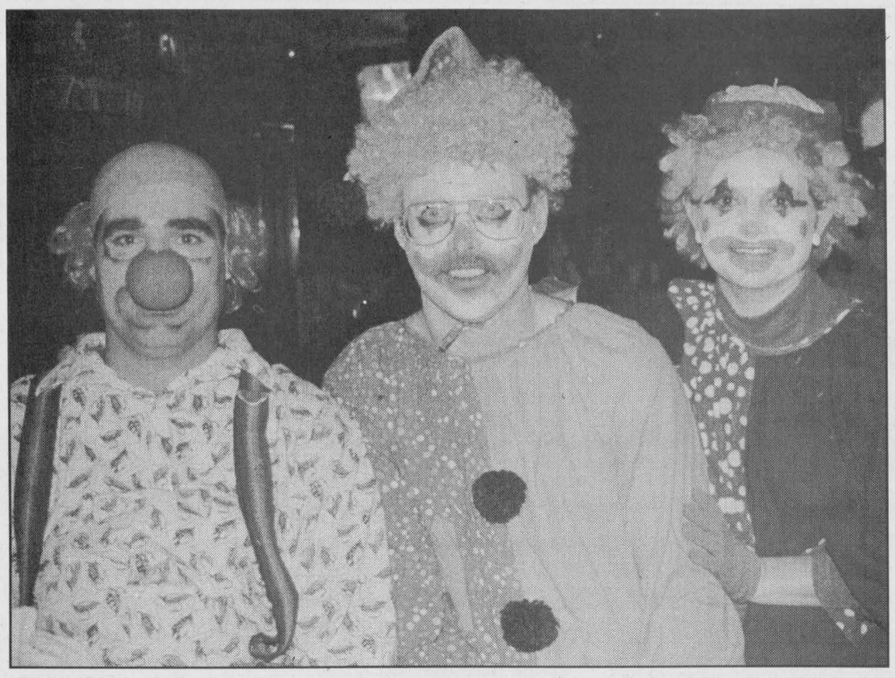
I HAD THE PLEASURE THIS WEEK TO MEET WITH A SUAVE GROUP OF gents who really know where it's at. With the 50th anniversary of Branch 370 Iroquois of the Royal Canadian Legion quickly approaching in 1996, three World War II veterans, who also happened to be charter members of the local Legion, sat down with me and reminisced for a couple of hours. It's always a pleasure to sit and talk with Johnny Millard, of Cardinal, who recounts tales as if they were yesterday, with quick wit and bits of humour where possible. He's a Corvette-man you know. I'll never forget the first time he told me this. I thought he had a fondness for expensive sports cars! Then there was Joe Roberts, whom I haven't talked with since the feature on the Roberts boys about a year ago. He has all-seeing eyes, and remembers events that the average person would let slip by through the years. Gerry Cornell was a spitfire-man, and spun a few recollections as well. Anyways fellas, it's always a pleasure, and we'll look forward to seeing you all at the celebration in March.



The winners!

The Loyalist Hotel in Morrisburg, held its annual Halloween Party last Saturday evening. Studio 231 was jammed packed as patrons from Elvis to Freddy took part in the celebration. Spend an evening with Villeneuve

The Rotary Club of Kemptville will be hosting a dinner with Noble Villeneuve, Minister of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs.

"We want to provide an occasion" says Mel Johnston of Rotary, "for the Minister to spend a few hours with the people of SDG and East Grenville. We're planning this to be a relaxed evening. Most important, it will be an opportunity to talk with Noble, and hear what issues are on his mind and what he sees as OMAFRA's priorities."

Billed as "An Evening with Noble", it will be held Monday, November 6 at the W.B. George Centre, Kemptville College of Agriculture Technology. There will be a cocktail hour starting at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner.

"There is no one theme to the evening," says Johnston, "and we haven't suggested to the Minister what we think the community would like to hear about, or what he should focus on." Johnston feels that the recent throne speech, indications of further budget cuts, and Mr. Villeneuve's recent series of "table talks" with agriculture and rural interest at 11 locations throughout the province will provide ample grist for the mill.

The evening is presented as part of the Rotary Club of Kemptville's community service and outreach programs. Tickets for the evening are $15 per person. Any proceeds will go into one or more of the community programs run by Rotary.

Tickets may be obtained by phoning Mel Johnston (258-3403), Hal Anthony (258-1273), Harry Pratt (258-1994), or Basil Dawley (774-3630), or may be picked up at Business Strategies, Kemptville Mall.

We continue with free confidential service to anyone asking for help and it is fund raisers like this one that help pay our expenses.

We are also, through your newspaper, wishing to thank the participating grocery stores in Winchester, Chesterville and Iroquois, and all those who patronized our barbecues.

We welcome and encourage anyone who would like to upgrade his-her literacy skills to call our local centre at 774-HELP.

Thank you to all who are interested in, and support our efforts.

began charging a rental fee on the building sometime after 1970.

In 1972, the Branch tried its hand at Nevada tickets. Ray Delegarde was president then, and when approached thought it might be a good idea to try. It has been a great money maker ever since!

Johnny remembered the 1st and only walkathon sponsored by the Branch, in the mid-1960's. Participants walked from Iroquois to Dixon's Corners, west to Hainsville, and then south on Carman Road back to Iroquois. It was a long distance, he remembered. In fact, his feet were so raw that night he borrowed a pair of bedroom slippers to wear to the Legion festivities that night. "I couldn't walk let alone dance!"

When Joe did his service behind the bar, he had two big lads close by in case of trouble. Doug McMartin and Ken Ferguson were his "bodyguards," laughed Joe. The pair came in especially handy when there were fights to break up.

There was also a little law that had to be adhered to as far as liquor regulations went. The amount that could be sold depended directly on the number of members in the Branch.

The infamous ball tourney turned 29 years of age this past summer. Over the years any number of organizers have lent their expertise to its successes, including Ken Easter, Ray Delegarde, Jake Easter, Lee Madden and Reg Farmer, among others. "Over the years there have been a lot of different faces associated with it."

Joe ran the gate, and felt that everyone should pay, including one unsuspecting Member of Parliament, who did the old pocket shuffle attempting to avoid the admission. Later, another Legion member went to Joe and asked him if knew who he had just charged at the gate. He replied, "yes."

Darts were added to the agenda, when Reg Farmer and Gary Easter got involved in the local Branch. Still today, Friday night darts is alive and well.

Branch 370 will celebrate their 50th anniversary on March 30, 1996 with a roast beef dinner and a dance to the music of the Don Morrell Orchestra. The actual anniversary of the charter is April 2, 1996.

Bridge Winners

Bird Notes

by
E. G. AVERY

"Birds of the Week" are Evening Grosbeaks which have finally decided to come to our area. One west-end resident had six at the feeder, and Irena folk had ten coming and going.

Bird-watchers are having a great season this year; migrants are leaving it 'til the last moment to take off for the South, therefore we are still having Robins and Red-wings. Meanwhile Juncos and Nuthatches are coming out of the woods to check the feeders, along with the favourite Woodpeckers, both Downy and Hairy. The unusually warm weather we have had this Fall is probably responsible for the changes in the migratory time table.

Blue Jays are carrying on everywhere, and some of the best entertainment comes from watching these clowns of the bird-world as the birds enjoy the bath, or open peanut shells. One watcher had put out some corn, and the Jays were filling their pockets with the tasty treats, and flying off to "stash" them for future use.

Lakeshore Dr. is good bird-country where they have had Robins coming regularly, and on the week-end a pair of Cardinals appeared, and a Monarch Butterfly sailed by.

A White-throated Sparrow and a Myrtle Warbler were among the new-comers, and a Winchester friend saw a Yellow-bellied Sapsucker in an evergreen tree.

As this is written, the Referendum is in progress, and whatever the result may be, we hope that our country will be guided by the principles we attribute to Owls (wisdom) and Doves (peace).

To the Editor,

On behalf of the Cardinal & District Resource Centre, I would like to express my sincere thanks to the Iroquois/Matilda Lions Club, for the donation of $826.00, which was raised through a quilt raffle.

A special thank you to the quilters for their talent and time: Helen Roberts, Ida Palmer, Betty Locke, Freda Whitteker, Marion Gilmer, Marj Lapier and Mrs. Martin Habraken.

Your donation is greatly appreciated. Thank you for your interest and support of the Cardinal & District Resource Centre.

Seaway Spartans two points away from sweeping the Crusaders

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Sports Editor

The Seaway Spartans were only two points away from sweeping the Char Lan Crusaders last Tuesday afternoon.

The Senior Girls and Junior Girls easily defeated their visiting opponents from Char Lan and the Midget Girls came to within a basket of completing the Seaway sweep.

The Crusaders led through three quarters of action at the high school, but the fourth quarter press by Seaway produced 13 points.

Tricia Kaddie, Kristen Edwards, Candy Klassen, Stacy Shaver and Amy Darling, combined for the fourth quarter comeback, but the girls were a point short and ended up losing 24-23.

Michelle Verbruggen and Candy Klassen were Seaway's top point getters in the game.

Angie Allaire led the Crusaders with eight points.

Seaway scoring leader and just a phenomenal basketball player, Jennifer Banford led the Spartans with 13 points as Seaway defeated the Junior Char Lan Crusaders 56-26.

Banford collected all of her points before the half, which included a second quarter three pointer!

Jennifer Mellan and Stacey Munro seconded the attack for the undefeated Junior Girls with ten points each.

Mellan sunk five baskets while Munro hit four and sunk two free throws for her ten.

At the half the Spartans were ahead 34-14 and they never looked back.

Megan Gilmer dropped three baskets and two free throws for eight points in the game and Angie Thompson capped off a strong defensive game with seven points.

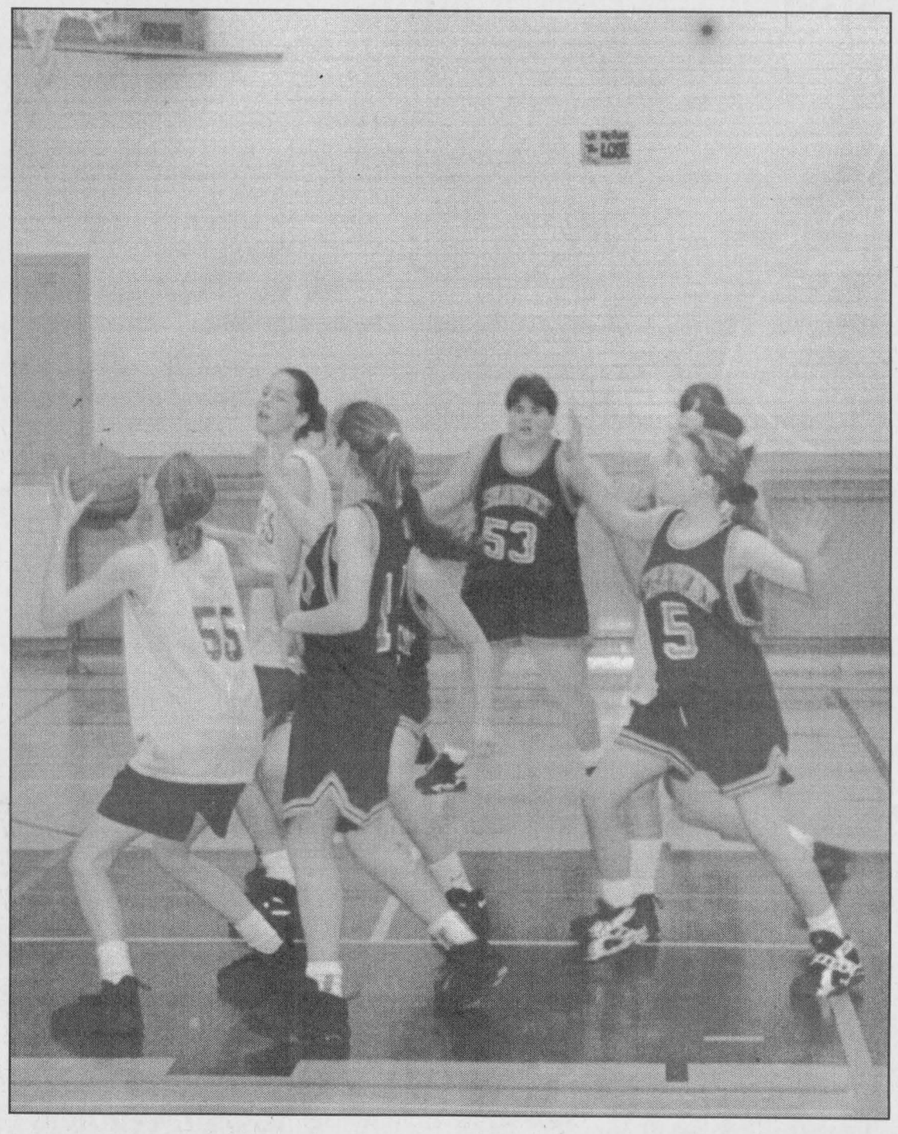
After losing to Rothwell - Osnabruck the week before, the Senior Spartans were ready for the Crusaders last Tuesday.

Tracey Irven was on the court to play and was once again unstoppable sinking eight baskets for 16 points.

Although the Senior Spartans easily defeated the visitors 51-26, the Seaway guards did have trouble with Char Lan's Shanna Huchison who scored fourteen of her teams 26 points.

Susanne Schraner also had a good day on the court sinking five baskets for ten points. Julie "Cupcakes" Gurnhill was the third highest scorer for Seaway with eight points.

Yesterday the teams travelled to Tagwi to take on the Warriors and tomorrow (Thursday November 2nd) Seaway will host Glengarry.



Junior Girls

Lions pound Aero's for first win

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Sports Editor

"We outplayed them without a doubt," said an extremely pleased Coach Morrow about his team's first win of the season.

After an 8-5 loss to the Westport Rideaus Friday evening, the Lions travelled to Centre 76 in Athens for a Sunday night match up against the Aeros.

"The boys played well, stayed disciplined and it worked out well," said Morrow of the Sunday night game.

Athens hit the score board first less than a minute into the game. Jason Purdon and Rob McMillan combined to set up Karl Herbison who managed to slip it past Sayeau in the Lions cage.

However, with less than a minute to play in the opening frame, White and Hare combined to send Nick Dixon to centre and tie the game at one.

In the second period it was the Lions who pounced first!

Jeff Hyndman crossed to "The Hammer" and Geoff found Chad Dugay alone in front of Mason Black and "BANG!" the Lions were ahead by one.

Morrisburg continued to dominate in the second period with White adding two and Dixon picking up his second of the night.

White, who attends college in Belleville with former Lions superstar Shawn Hummell, had an outstanding weekend scoring four times and adding an assist for five points.

Assisting on the Lions second period goals were Jeff Hyndman, Geoff Hare, Jon Saunders (2), Chad Dugay (2) and Travis Froats.

In the third Morrisburg began to struggle a bit, but their four goal cushion was enough to fall back on.

"We had a few defensive lapses, but we were always in the game," said Morrow.

Athens added two from McMillan and Drummond, but the Lions held on for the 5-3 win.

At home to Westport Friday night the Lions looked like a team very much in contention.

For two periods... that is!

"We played with them," recalled Morrow of the Friday night encounter. "However when you're 7-1 you play a little differently than a team who's 0-8," said the Coach figuring in the confidence factor as one which helped determine Friday night's outcome.

The Lions came out of the cage strong in front of home town fans at the Cow Palace.

Despite the team's dismal record so far, the fans remain and with just a little luck things could really turn around for the club.

James Barnes opened the scoring for the Lions at 9:45 when he capitalized on a pass from Jeremy Gowsell and Jason Harper.

Eighteen seconds later Harper the rookie Young Gun on defense for the Lions found White breaking up the wing.

Putting the pass right on his stick Whitey deeked the Westport defense and buried the puck in mesh.

Leading two nothing with less than half the period to go, things looked good for Morrisburg until they lapsed into one of the five minute do nothing modes.

Fishing for the puck in their own end the Lions weren't getting any bites and with 5:21 remaining Pete Cunningham put the Rideaus back in the game.

With 1:29 left in the first Cunningham did it again and both teams went to the dressingroom tied at two.

With the momentum on their side the Rideaus took the lead less than two minutes into the middle frame.

Aaron Lewis beat a screened Sayeau with a slap shot from the hash marks.

Down by one the Lions found their stride halfway through the second. Dugay hit Tim Waldroff with a pass and Waldroff, carrying it into the zone dropped it for Whitey who once again buried it!

With the game tied at three, Morrisburg pulled out all the stops and a minute later Barnes picked up his second of the night.

The assists went to Hare and Harper.

Morrisburg's fifth of the night came at 7:14 of the second period when Gowsell and Dixon combined to set up Waldroff.

The Rideaus persistence paid off and with less than three minutes in the second period left Robert Coon brought them to within one of tying things up.

Morrisburg played hockey for the first seven minutes of the third period but when Jim McNeely tied the game at five, the Lions fatigue began to show.

Two minutes later at 11:04, Coon added another to give the visitors the lead.

Morrisburg regrouped to put the pressure on Al Costello in the Westport net, but bad bounces and a lot of post were all they could get.

With 2:42 remaining Lewis virtually put the game away for Westport and with 1:07 left Pete Long ended the Lions hopes for their first win.

Despite the loss Friday night, the Coach was confident things were beginning to turn around for the tame Morrisburg Jungle Cats.

"Our power-play line and our penalty killing lines are working well and now that everybody is back from suspensions, we'll have a full roster to work with," said Morrow.

Tonight (Wednesday November 1st) the Lions will be working on man-on-man coverage and controlling the puck in the neutral zone.

On the injured list, Tommy Payment suffered a broken bone in his hand and will be out of action for the next three weeks or so.

Friday night and Sunday night Jamie Robinson got the call to back up Sayeau.

This Friday night you won't want to miss the action as the Lions host the Winchester Hawks. Winchester is coming off a 4-3 overtime loss to Gananoque so they should be ripe for the picking!

Game time at the Cow Palace is set for 8:30.

Long Sault Vipers strike with 3-1 win over Express

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Sports Editor

The Long Sault Vipers put the game away late in the final frame as Brian Deschamps hammered home Long Sault's third of the night.

Hosting North Stormont last Saturday evening, the Vipers jumped out to a 1-0 lead halfway through the first period.

Terry Lauzon captured a clearing pass at the North Stormont blue line, sent a pass to Mike Scott deep in N.S. territory, and Scott found Jason Prieur all alone in front.

Prieur struck for the first of the night, a power-play goal at 13-:37.

The North Stormont Express went on to out shoot the Vipers 10-6 in the first period, but Eric Ladouceur in the Vipers cage stoned the visitors.

With seven minutes left to play in the second period, the Vipers took a 2-0 lead.

Once again on the power-play, Lauzon on the point crossed to left winger Brad Nelson and Nelson hit Deschamps who in turn one-timed it past Andrew Barton.

Down by two the Express peppered the shots at Ladouceur, but the Long Sault Viper would let nothing past!

In the second the Express out shot the Vipers 19-5.

Deschamps second of the night at 14:48 of the third put the game away for the Vipers, but the Express did manage to spoil Ladouceur's shut out.

At 13:48 Chris Eastman set up Omar Eigazzar for the visitors only goal of the game.

The night before in Embrun, the Vipers did not fair quite as well.

Long Sault had an outstanding first period with two goals from Lee Charlebois and one from Brad Nelson, giving the Vipers a 3-2 lead heading into the second.

Assists on the first three Viper goals went to Nelson, Chad Runions, Scott Leslie, Chris Proulx and Lee Charlebois.

However, in the second, the 72's out scored the visiting Vipers six to one to take an 8-4 lead heading into the final frame.

The lone Vipers goal of the second was scored by Leslie with the assists going to Deschamps and Proulx.

In the third the 72's added another six to hand the Vipers a 13-4 loss.

This coming Saturday the Vipers will host St. Isidore at 8:15 p.m.

Char Lan Rebels is still the team to beat

by Michael Bailey
Chieftain Staff Reporter

With another two games behind them the Char Lan Rebels remain the team to beat!

Over the weekend the Rebels hosted the Athens Aeros and travelled to Prescott to meet the South Grenville Rangers.

On Wednesday evening the Reb's downed the Aeros 6-4 and on Saturday evening in Prescott, defeated the Rangers 4-3 to take sole possesion of first place in the St. Lawrence Division and post the best record in the league, 7-0-4.

With veteran goaltender Dennis Villeneuve backstopping the Reb's and scoring sensation Marc Bellemare to provide the offense, the Rebels will undoubtedly be a difficult team to master come the end of February.

Not only is Bellemare leading both divisions in points, 18 goals and 20 assists as of October 23rd, but the Rebels can also find offensive power from four others.

Dave Campbell, Terry O'Farrell, Eric Fontaine and Dave McNally all figure prominently in the St. Lawrence Division scoring race, and coupled with Bellemare have combined for over 97 points to date.

Despite the loss of first line winger Tim Corput (who played with Campbell and Bellemare) the Rebels still managed to pull out four points on the weekend.

Along the western boarder of the St. Lawrence Division, the Kemptville 73's have been making a go of things.

Team scoring leader and fourth in the S.L.D., Jeff Ricci has over 15 points and is getting harder to stop by the game.

Kemptville captured four points on the weekend by defeating the South Grenville Rangers 4-3 and the Brockville Tikis 5-1.

A point behind the 73's, and holding down third in the S.L.D., the Hawks will be out for blood in Morrisburg this coming Friday.

In their two previous encounters the Hawks led by Terry O'Sullivan (who should easily hit the 50 point mark this season) need the Morrisburg win to stay in contention for second.

Saturday evening the Hawks host the 73's to battle it out for second place overall. If Winchester can win both games on the weekend they'll hold down sole possession of second in the S.L.D. with 19 points regardless of how Kemptville does Sunday evening against the Glens.

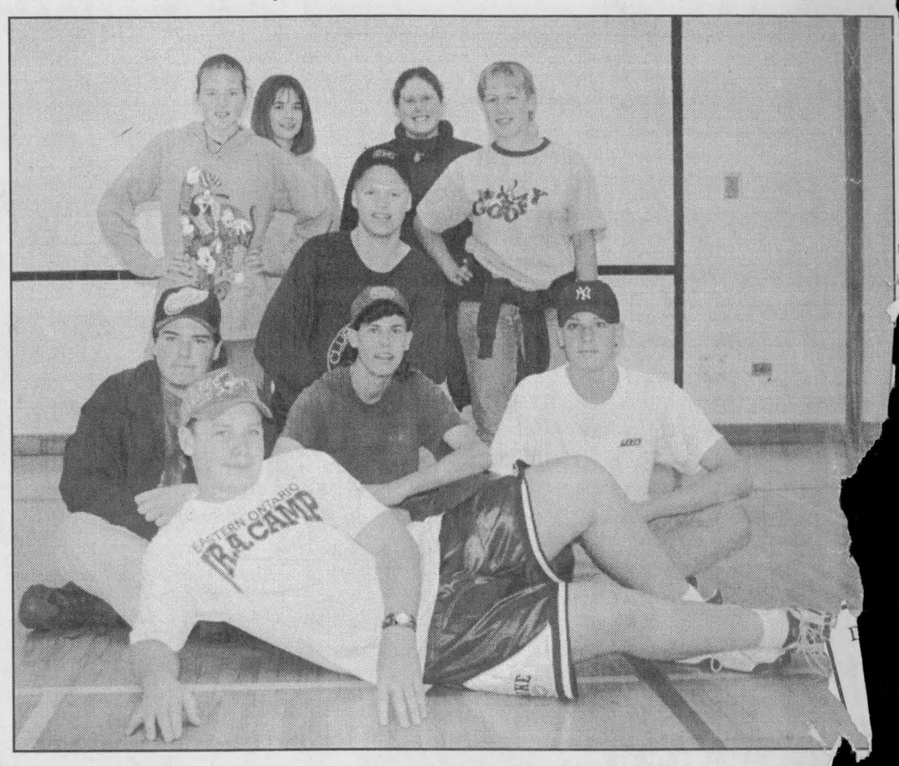
After nine games in league action, the Alexandria Glens 2-6-1 record is good enough for fourth place.

If the post season began tomorrow the Lions at 1-7-1, would be hanging up the skates.

However, despite having a game and a half advantage over the basement dwelling Lions, the Glens also have a tough weekend ahead of them.

Matched up against the Reb's and 73's this weekend, Alexandria will have to pull out all-stops if they hope to hold on to fourths.

The Lions only need a win and a tie to catch the Glens, but meeting the Hawks and Rebels this weekend, that could also be a huge order to fill.



Golf champs

The Seaway District High School Boys and Girls Golf Teams dominated action October 2nd Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Championship. The tournament was held at Canada Golf Course and 59 students from 10 schools took part in the championship.

-Diabetes is a leading cause of adult blindness.
-Diabetes is a leading cause of amputations.
-Diabetes increases the risk of kidney disease.
-And it remains the third leading cause of death

Ever since the discovery of insulin, many people have assumed that Diabetes can be cured.....NOT SO! At least, not yet.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP?...

In Memoriams

LECKIE - In loving memory of a dear mother Phyllis Margret, who passed away one year ago, October 23rd, 1994.
Though tears in my eyes do not glisten,
And my face is not sad,
There is never a night or morning
But I think of the mother I had.
Not a day do I forget you,
In my "HEART" you are always here,
For I "LOVED YOU" and miss you,
As it ends the first year.
Your presence we miss,
Your memories we treasure,
Loving you always,
Forgetting you never.
Your Loving Daughter Beverley

SHAVER - In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother and great grandmother, Hazel Shaver, who passed away November 4, 1994.
We cannot have the old days back
When we were all together
But wonderful memories and loving thoughts
Will be with us forever.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The purpose of this Zoning By-law amendment is to rezone an existing vacant lot located in part of Lot 19, Concession 1 from Wetlands - Special Exception 1 (W-1) to Rural (RU) in order to permit the lot to be used for residential purposes. unemployed and are currently awaiting cheques, or those who are just experiencing a particularly hard financial crisis this festive season.

The South Dundas Christmas Exchange has been in operation for the past six years. Volunteers organize, collect and distribute food items. Items originate from all schools in South Dundas. Donations churches, clubs, scouts, industries and businesses are also set up throughout village and general public to donate will.

Foods such as milk, meat, bread, potatoes, carrots are purchased in bulk at local grocery stores, and make the recipients' Christmas dinner into a nutritional meal.

Also included in each food hamper, is a toy, collected by the local Angels. The staff at The Chieftain once again will force the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, to run an Angel Tree for Iroquois and Matilda Morrisburg Lions Club Angel Tree in the Nova Scotia, and provincially for children in need in the community.

Further, some 185 baskets were distributed in South Dundas, Thanks to the generosity and good will of the community and volunteers. It takes many man-hours to bring this effort to fruition, that often goes unnoticed.

Never has the need been so great, for agencies such as the South Dundas Christmas Exchange. With cutbacks hitting hard at the very core of society, volunteers and donations will be appreciated more than ever!
