Ministry unsympathetic to BIA spending woes

by Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — The bureaucratic process is the only thing stopping the village BIA from going ahead with its project but BIA co-ordinator Wilf McAuley is confident, with a little initiative, the group can solve their problems.

McAuley met with Grace Strachan, a representative from the provincial Ministry of Municipal Affairs Community Renewal Branch on Oct. 10 to discuss the canopy project for the village plaza.

Replacing the old canopy in the mall is number one on the BIA's improvement list but funding for the project is allocated from MMA in thirds. The problem is the BIA cannot conduct the canopy replacement in sections as it is a one time project only.

"Our discussion ranged from the canopy situation to general BIA and we discussed our $250,000 allocation," McAuley told the BIA Board of Management Wednesday. "I suggested to her the funding guidelines are just that - a guide and the ministry might like to reconsider. She was not too sympathetic to our cause."

McAuley suggested the board's best move is to lobby officials higher up in the ministry.

"We have to make them realize the canopy cannot be constructed piecemeal," he said. "I tried to create the theme of urgency because we want to get on with our project. I suggest we follow the chain of command or we'll only get people against us, but eventually someone other than me will have to talk to the minister."

Board of Management members agreed McAuley should talk to the next level of command in MMA.

Signage

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications is also delaying its approval for the BIA to erect two signs along Hwy. 2 advertising the village plaza.

"MTC wants to see a copy of the specifications and wants to know who is going to make the sign," said McAuley. "I told them we haven't decided that yet but a representative from MTC said there could be major problems with snowplows etc."

Juris Berzins, a design consultant working with the BIA submitted the sign specifications to several firms in Toronto and received bids for two signs in the vicinity of $12,000.

But McAuley said he received a bid from an Ottawa-based company for $7,700. He couldn't explain the large price difference and said the Ottawa firm had followed all specifications.

Bill Shearing, council's representative on the BIA, agreed to check into the reliability and reputation of each firm before the BIA made a final decision.

Canopy leases

BIA President Peter Remillard informed the board members he is progressing well with the transfer of individual canopy ownership into the public domain.

"The easements that most of you have are for storm sewers, drains, hydro and the canopy and the right to do maintenance on it from time to time," he said. "What the property owners could do is release the rights to the canopy, pole and pipes and abandon the easement to maintain and place the canopy but exclude from the document anything about the sign."

Remillard said if the transfer of ownership is handled this way the only right merchants would be giving up is the right to maintain the canopy, poles and pipes. In this way the merchants would continue to own their individual signs and retain the right to place them on the new canopy.

Some board members were concerned that the signs among the stores would lack harmony and not blend in with the overall view of the revamped shopping centre but Remillard said the type and size of a sign could be controlled by a property standards bylaw. He has started drafting the transfer of canopy ownership deeds beginning at the west end of the plaza and is approximately one-quarter of the way through.

"The problem I foresee is maintaining consent from merchants and mortgage holders because very few merchants own their own shops," he said. "It's going to get done but how fast will mortgage owners act who are not really interested in this? I could see it taking sometime but I have been able to work out a mechanism with the Registrar of Deeds so there will be less paperwork involved."

Remillard said some stores in the mall, which are part of larger chains, will have to get permission to release ownership of the canopy from their head office as will the two local banks which hold mortgages on some of the shops.

"It's not hard to draft the documents so hopefully there will be no problems with property owners and mortgage holders," he said.

Second engineer's report presented November 30

by Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — The engineering firm of Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associates hired by council to study the village's sewer project and offer a second opinion on its effectiveness will have a preliminary report ready to present to the village Nov. 30.

In a letter to council engineer R.B. Baker said the firm would agree to study the pump priming and blockage problems at the Morrisburg sewage treatment plant but needed to obtain available drawings and other data on the existing pumping stations and screening chamber.

He also needs to review plant flow records to confirm existing sewage flows and estimate future flows; conduct field inspection of the exisiting facilities to determine the condition of existing equipment and evaluate its performance; review the design of the existing pumping stations and screening chamber to determine the hydraulic capacity; determine modifications required to accommodate future projected flows and to comply with Ministry of Environment guidelines. Baker said he would also provide the estimated cost of the modifications.

The report will also review past problems and report on probable solutions, which also includes assessing the screening chamber to determine if it is necessary to construct a building on top of the chamber. In the original design by engineer Derek Wilson, there was no cover designed for the screening chamber.

Finances

Village foreman Clare Van Allen notified council that the engineers required two air-paks at a cost of approximately $2,000 each before they carried out the sewer inspection.

Marlene Bazinet, who is acting-clerk suggested she call MOE to find out what requirements are in place regarding the type and selection of air-paks.

"For the sake of safety I think they should have them," said deputy-reeve Bill Shearing.

Councillors are unhappy with the work completed so far by Wilson's firm and agreed to pay all vouchers for last month except fees owing to him.

Approved engineering expenditures for the year total $17,309 a budget over-run of $2,309. Plant modifications in Phase 2 of the project have cost $9,487 for the months of May, June and July 1987.

OPP seize videotape broadcast on CJOH

OTTAWA — Ontario Provincial Police seized the videotaped interview with the man who said he is suspected by police to be the Ottawa Valley serial killer.

OPP arrived at CJOH-TV studios in Ottawa on Friday armed with a court order to obtain the unedited videotape of a 15-minute interview between Charlie Greenwell and a Chesterville area man which was broadcast Sept. 23.

In an interview with The Ottawa Citizen, Max Keeping, CJOH-TV's news director said he knew the police were coming and was not surprised by Friday's visit.

He said the television station had originally offered to provide the OPP with a copy of the interview as it was broadcast but refused to give up the unedited version of the tape.

During the interview the man said he was being harrassed by police and claimed he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

Police suspect one person may be responsible for at least three deaths and as many as six in the Ottawa Valley since 1975.

A post mortem conducted on an Oxford Mills man, Archie Collison who was found dead in the rubble of his burned-out home in Nov. 1983 revealed there was no evidence of a bullet or gunshot wound.

The OPP suspected Collison may have been one of the serial killer's victims and obtained permission to exhume his remains in late September. The exhumation was authorized by the Attorney-General's office.

Police are also investigating the deaths of John King, 59, shot once in the head inside his house near Morewood on July 14. His home was destroyed by fire.

Wallace Johnston, 48, shot once in the head May 17 inside his Monkland farmhouse.

Harold Davidson, 60, a bachelor farmer shot three times in the head in his farmhouse near Brinston in Nov. 1983.

Kenneth Murphy, 68 found dead in his home in Finch Township after a fire in Jan. 1981.

Lillian Tousant, 83, found dead with her hands tied to a cot after fire destroyed her home outside Iroquois in Sept. 1975.

Villeneuve unimpressed with government's throne speech

by Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MOOSE CREEK — While he admits he should be disappointed by the lack of initiatives mentioned for Eastern Ontario in the government's throne speech, Noble Villeneuve, MPP Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry said he wasn't expecting very much.

"The only thing they came close to in this area is the reaffirmation of construction of Highway 416," he said. "One sentence on agriculture was mentioned in 28 pages."

Villeneuve, who was recently appointed critic of Francophone Affairs and Agriculture and Food by interim PC leader Andy Brandt, said last Tuesday's throne speech was "rhetoric" and a rehash of the first two throne speeches made by David Peterson's Liberals.

"There are a whole bunch of committees set up because Mr. Peterson has 60 backbenchers who will have nothing to do but get into trouble," he said. "They are setting up a committee to study health care but you could spend half a day at the Winchester Hospital or the one in Kemptville or Alexandria and see what they are missing."

The throne speech glossed over tourism, a large part of the economy of Eastern Ontario. Villeneuve said the government "flirted" with the topic saying they must continue to expand on it.

Villeneuve said the one time tax credit of $1,000 for first time homebuyers may help a few people in this area but there are certain conditions which apply such as the recipient cannot make more than $40,000 per year.

Education spending

The MPP is also critical of the government's plan to reduce class sizes in Grades 1 and 2. "All of a sudden there are 4,000 additional classes and teachers but there is no where to put them," said Villeneuve. "Mr. Peterson has made some very vague promises."

He said he is also disappointed the government did not make any mention of his pet project producing ethanol out of surplus grain, which Villeneuve says could create several hundred jobs in this area.

"Now that two farmers have successfully sued the Ontario government for damages to their orchards the government will have to find a less toxic way of de-icing the highways," he said. "The Americans have been experimenting with using excess grain as a de-icer. We have an excellent crop this year, excellent quality but no market. Grain farmers are getting the same prices for their grain as they were 20 years ago yet their costs have risen."

Villeneuve said it is "rather sad" the Ministry of Agriculture and Food has been relegated to the backbenches of the cabinet.

Free trade

The speech did not indicate whether the government intended to scuttle the free-trade deal and Villeneuve said the indecision is hurting Ontarians.

"I wish David Peterson would tell us where he stands on free trade," he said. "Mr. Peterson has set up an all-party standing committee which is going to the public and listening but he keeps telling us he's pretty sure he's against it but how powerless he is. I remember during the summer he had everything at his beck and call."

Villeneuve said the US Congress presently has 600 pieces of protectionist legislation before it and if they get through Canada will be subject to very severe trade restrictions.

"We have to deal with the Americans. If we don't now, pretty soon we'll be going cap in hand," he said. "We will be subject to the same measures as the Japanese, the Chinese and the Europeans. We are getting a better deal than the rest of the world."

Name changed

TORONTO — The longest riding name in Ontario may soon be shortened if Noble Villeneuve has his way.

Villeneuve, the Conservative MPP for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry has introduced a private members bill to change the riding name to S.D.&G. and East Grenville.

"We've always been known as S.D.&G. but I want all the areas represented in the riding recognized," said Villeneuve. "It's not fair that East Grenville is part of the riding and not recognized."

The eastern half of Grenville County was added to the riding following a redistribution. Villeneuve tried unsuccessfully to change the name to Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville but was told the name was too cumbersome.

"If they can't find an acceptable name then I'll find one," he said. "I have to start lobbying the government house leader for a second reading. If it goes to committee those who support the name or those who oppose it can have their say. Then it will go to a third reading and receive royal assent," he said.

Villeneuve said he did not know how long it would take for the bill to pass third reading. He said it would depend upon how much opposition there was to the name change.

"We care" organization

Grant awarded to Morrisburg for resplite care

by Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg "We Care" organization, a division of Meals on Wheels, has been awarded a grant from the provincial Ministry of Community and Social Services to provide relief respite care services in the area.

The grant of $8,346 will cover the period from Nov. 1, 1987 to March 31, 1988. The money will enable the "We Care" organization to provide short term care for frail, elderly or otherwise dependent individuals in the home in order to give an interval of relief to the primary caregivers who are responsible for the constant care of these people.

The idea for a respite care program was originally presented to the organization by MCSS representative Evelyn Sparks in July. Organizers felt there was a gap between services offered by the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Red Cross Homemakers and the Integrated Homemaking Programme and the Meals on Wheels organization. If the primary care person needed to be absent for a period of a few hours or days or if an emergency arose there was no one available to stay with the dependent person overnight.

"The other organizations offer 9 to 5 service, not overnight or weekends," said "We Care" volunteer Kathy Johnston. "That is where we step in. Even if you go in for two days the homemakers would still come, the Meals on Wheels would still come, the VON still come. You'd fill the gaps but wouldn't replace them."

The group created a needs study to determine the amount of need and interest in the community. Twenty-five questionnaires were sent out to local doctors, clergy, service organization officers and home care co-ordinators with 17 completed and returned. As a result of this survey it was discovered 24 people over the age 65 were eligible for the program. The program will also be available to those under 65 years of age who meet eligibility criteria but cannot qualify for the Integrated Homemaking Program. The program covers the area to the north bordered by Highway 401, south to the St. Lawrence River, east to Upper Canada Road and west to Carman Road.

User fees

Part of the goal of the program is to give caregivers a few hours or a few days holiday at an affordable cost. Relief caregivers will be paid on an hourly basis at the minimum wage of $4.55 per hour if service is provided from three to 12 hours not including overnight stays. The government will cover 70 per cent of the cost, with the primary caregiver responsible for the other 30 per cent or $1.52 per hour.

If the service is provided for 24 hours the user fee would be $21.28. At this small rate it would cost a client approximately $300 for a two week vacation.

For now the organization is advertising for two relief caregivers. Johnston said the main requirement for a relief caregiver is common sense.

"We need somebody with common sense who can be shown what to do and can follow a guide," she said. "If an emergency arose we wouldn't expect them to handle it themselves but to call the clinic or the hospital."

The organization will require relief caregivers to undergo first aid and CPR (cardiopulminary resuscitation) training at the organization's expense.

Johnston added housework was not part of the job but discretion is the key. "If the caregiver spends the weekend then obviously you must do some dishes but you're not required to clean the oven, that sort of thing," she said.

Morrisburg Real Estate broker Gloria Foot has offered the use of her office telephone to the organization. Anyone requesting help can call Foot Real Estate and the message will be passed to committee chairman Rev. Don Smith. The organization is hoping to acquire four committee volunteer members to field inquiries.

"The problem we might run into is we don't know what the demand will be or how quickly the program will be accepted," said Johnston. "If it is anything like the Meals on Wheels program it will be accepted very slowly."

Anyone interested in working as a relief respite care worker or serving on the committee may contact Don Smith at 543-2353.

FUTURES program gives youth a headstart towards a new career

BY Doug Carson

MORRISBURG — To many young people, indecision can be a true crippler, forcing them into jobs or situations they may not like but may have to live with for the rest of their lives.

Bonny Sproule of Winchester recently found herself in that situation, but through a unique ship recently activated topsoil program at St. Lawrence College back on track.

Sproule was a graduate of North Dundas High School, and had taken a semester of law and security at Sir Sanford Fleming College in Peterborough before deciding that she didn't want to be a police officer. She returned to Winchester and worked at a couple of jobs, but couldn't seem to find one she wanted to make a career out of.

After being unemployed for five months Sproule was becoming desperate. "I sent out applications everywhere within a 40 mile area, but nobody wants to give you a chance if you don't have experience," Sproule said.

It was then she heard about the college's FUTURES program. The futures program is open to unemployed youth between the ages of 16 and 24. The program provides training to the students in areas they seem interested in by placing the student in on the job training situations.

Sproule was surprised on how easily she was accepted into the program, and was started on her way to a solid career.

"I talked to a counsellor and told them I didn't know what I wanted to do, but that I thought that I might like some sort of office work," said Sproule.

The program looked through their files of jobs that might be suitable for Sproule, and came up with a job at the Bank of Montreal in Morrisburg.

Sproule met with Greta Robertson, who would be her supervisor at the bank, for a brief interview, and then she began her 16 week training .

Sproule says that everything has been going great in the two months she has been at the bank, and that her outlook has changed completely.

"After my 16 weeks are up, if they don't have a place for me at the Bank of Montreal, I can apply at other banks and know I have a chance to get a job because of this experience," she said.

"I would never have been able to do this if it wasn't for the program," she added.

FUTURES pays the students while they are working or taking classes.

Sproule said that she is learning various tasks at the bank and that her supervisor has helped her greatly while at the same time giving her the opportunity to work on her own.

"I'm learning more than how to just be a bank teller, so when my 16 weeks are done I'll have a broader base to find a job,"Sproule said.

A few months ago Sproule's work outlook didn't seem very promising, but with the help of FUTURES and the Bank of Montreal that has turned around.

Mining lisence denied

MATILDA TWP — The White Bear Mining Corporation has been told they will not be allowed to operate a quarry in Matilda Township because they do not qualify under section 20 of the Pits and Quarries Control Act.

The Ministry of Natural Resources sent a letter to the Corporation telling them they would not be getting a license, on June 26. A copy of this letter was read at the Matilda council meeting Oct. 29.

Matilda Township Clerk Bill Horner said that to his knowledge White Bear Mining has done some work at the sight of the proposed quarry, such as moving around topsoil, but this work was done before the townships recently activated topsoil by-law went into effect this summer.

White Bear Mining could still apply to open up the quarry but would have to take several steps, such as getting approval from Trans Canada Pipeline and the National Energy Board, location of the proposed stockpile would have to be relocated and a scrap area identified.

Officials for White Bear could not be reached for comment on the ruling, and it is not known whether they will further pursue the quarry project.

A message of hope

The Lung Association's Christmas Seal Campaign, which began on November 1st, will reflect, through its bright and colorful Christmas Seals, a message of hope, happiness and health.

Ontario's goal this year is $4.5 million, and the target for Eastern Counties unit is $55,000. "We are confident the community will come through for us again as we launch this 1987 appeal", said Roy Leaman, Christmas Seal Chairman for the Eastern Counties. "This tradition has been carried out for more than 80 years, and each year the response is stronger".

Lung disease is an ever-growing problem in Canada. It is the only major disease category in which death rates continue to rise. Only four years ago, statictics revealed that 28,000 Canadians were dying annually as a result of smoking-related diseases. The figures have now increased to 30,000 and continue to rise.

The Lung Association educates through their "Lungs are for Life" school program. "We want our children to make a firm cimmittment to take care of their lungs through a healthy lifestyle, and not to start smoking is one of the keys to reducing these sad statistics", says Mr. Leaman. "It is our aim to reach more and more children in their classrooms. It is the personal touch that is successful in eliminating lung disease".

The 1984 Surgeon General's Report in the U.S. said, "Cigarette smoking is the chief, single avoidable cause of death in our society, and the most important public health issue of our time". School programs in these counties are focussing on smoking prevention, and health education is the key to convincing young children not to start smoking. The program presently being used by Eastern Ontario counties is being constantly updated to increase its effectiveness.

Through the generous response to the Christmas Seal Campaign, more children than ever are able each year to attend special camps for children with asthma, where they enjoy the out-of-doors in a supervised environment.

With emphysema increasing at a rapid rate with escalating air pollution, the Lung Association is in the forefront of the battle against this disease. One in every five Canadians has a chronic respiratory problem. Respiratory diseases are still among the leading causes of death and disability in Canada. Emphysema and chronic bronchitis affect more than half a million Canadians, and more cases are being diagnosed each year. Your Lung Association supports world class research into these and other diseases with funds administered by The Ontario Thoracic Society Medical Division. These are just a few of the ways your Christmas Seal dollars help so many Canadians to hope, health and happiness.

Since 1927, donations to Christmas Seals have been helping Canadians to breathe easier, and to continue to breathe for more years. Won't you use your Christmas Seals as a sign of your support, on mail and parcels during the Christmas season. Don't forget — "Before you send it, Seal it!" with a Christmas Seal.

Shopping at home

"There's no place like home" says a very old song, and that truism was never used to better advantage than during these few shopping weeks immediately preceding Christmas. This is the time of year when retail sales far outstrip the totals of other seasons, and when all merchants do a very large proportion of their annual business turnover. The success or failure of local enterprises depends almost entirely on what kind of patronage they are accorded by local buyers.

Doing your Christmas shopping at home is much like doing business with yourself. For your community services, property values, social and cultural environment, local taxes and civic pride are favorably affected every time that you (or anyone else) spends money in your home town.

That same dollar, spent in some other centre, or on a shopping spree in the big city may, it is true, buy the same merchandise, but all the aforementioned fringe benefits also go to the residents of that town or city, and the quality of life in your own community is bound to suffer, because you took away some of those $$$$ vitamins that are required to keep it healthy!

The merchants and service establishments in your community go all out all year and every year, to offer you the widest selection possible of all kinds of quality goods and services. Any time you patronize them, you not only give recognition to their efforts to serve you better — you do a great big favor to your community, and to yourself.

An explosive situation

(EASTERN ONTARIO REVIEW)

Harvie Andre has outdone himself now.

The federal minister of consumer and corporate affairs has gone out of his way to protect the Canadian citizens who face a life-threatening situation daily.

He has come up with . . . . (drum roll please) New Safety Measures to Protect Consumers from Exploding Pop Bottles!

Wow! (Cymbal crash!)
Pathetic.
This ranks right up there with passing a by-law to protect citizens from barking cats.

Andre released a press announcement about his amazing feat. According to the news release, a warning will appear on all family size pop bottles reading "Contents under pressure. Handle with care".

Wow!

But Andre's devotion doesn't end there, he added that he will continue to monitor the situation.

Thanks, Harv, we all feel better now.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles
by Bonnie McNairn

1977

Headlines in the November 9th, 1977 issue of The Leader read French program draws concern. The initiation of a French program in local public schools had drawn concern from many rate-payers and the local school committee had called a meeting. Suggestions from a study for the United Counties Board of Education were a French Core Program, already underway at Morrisburg, an extended French language program which would offer subjects such as geography science and physical education taught in the French language and a bilingual program specifically for students who had experienced almost total immersion since kindergarten.

Pictured on the front page was Paul Hill with an artist's conception of a his planned development north of the Lamplighter Motel in Morrisburg. The development was to include 93 lots with a variety of home styles and several acres of parkland. Hill presented the plan to village council.

Although information regarding a death in Mountain Township had yet to be released it was believed a man in that area had died from a gun shot wound.

Morrisburg's first senior citizens' apartment project of the Ontario Housing Corporation was to be officially opened Thursday, November 10th.

In Junior B hockey action the Lions were welcoming back David Tait who was returning to the team after sitting out to mend a broken leg. Also expected back soon was Brian Rutley who had broken his ankle during ball season. The Lions were currently in first place, their latest victory coming against Prescott, 5-4, on home ice in front of 600 fans.

It was reported in the November 10th, 1967 issue of The Leader that in anticipation of Memorial Day Services the Morrisburg Women's Institute had completed the Centennial project undertaken to restore the cenotaph at the Civic Centre. The 12 foot square, nine foot high base of granite had been polished and the bronze plaque and letters of lead brightened. It was decided that since bronze did not rust, the overlay of green which had developed on the figure was not destructive and should remain as a patina of veneration.

F.M. Cass, A.C., M.L.A. for Grenville-Dundas officially opened the new Detachment Building of Morrisburg O.P.P. Invocation was conducted by Rev. D.W. MacDonald and Rev. F.L. Howald dedicated the building. The local detachment was comprised of one sergeant, three corporals, 18 constables and two stenographers. Prior to moving, the OPP occupied the second storey of the Morrisburg Hydro building, formerly the old Public School on Colin Street next to the Morrisburg Legion building.

The 450th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation was observed by Morrisburg-Williamsburg parishes in St. John's Lutheran Church, Riverside Heights. St. John's was the oldest congregation in Upper Canada.

At Brinston's Allied Food Market sirloin steak was 95 cents a pound and PEI potatoes were 79 cents a 25 pound bag.

The November 15th, 1957 issue of The Leader reported that hundreds of students and their parents paid tribute to the memory of E.H. Greig, principal of Morrisburg High School, who died suddenly from a heart attack.

Ontario Provincial Police were looking for a hit-and-run motorist in connection with the death of Wm. Hess which occurred when he was run over by an unidentified vehicle about two miles west of Morrisburg. After being struck lightly by one car he was run over by a second and police were trying to trace the second vehicle.

Gordon W. Thom realtor had lots for sale in the village on Alice, High and Meikle Streets from $900 to $2500.

The November 7th, 1947 issue of The Leader reported Morrisburg's population during the past few years was showing an encouraging increase, mainly as a result of the new industries locating here. The population shown by the 1947 assessment roll was 1,768. This compared with the 1946 figures of 1,630 and the 1945 population of 1,510. A peak of population was at the time of the 1911 census when the figure was 1669.

At R.H. Bradfield and Co. electric irons were $3.95 each and at N.M. McGillis Hardware electric heating pads were $7.50

It was reported in the November 5th, 1937 issue of The Leader that posters were being circulated in town giving notice of a public meeting to discuss the electric light and power situation with the rate payers. In 1933 a $21,000 diesel engine was purchased without consultation from the people. Now council wanted to purchase hydro because the diesel was not furnishing the goods.

At Lloyd's Market cauliflower were two for 25 cents and round steak was 15 cents a pound.

"Hello Canada - and hockey fans in Newfoundland and the United States". Once more, on Saturday November 6th, Foster Hewitt's familiar greeting was to sweep over a chain of stations from coast to coast. The first game was between New York Americans and the Toronto Maple Leafs at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The November 11th, 1927 issue of The Leader reported the beautiful premises, known as the Cook Farm, located four miles east of Morrisburg had been sold to a syndicate and would be fitted out for a first class tourist home.

Mrs. K.M. McGannon, coal dealer and C.N.R. and Steamship ticket agent, whose offices had been located on the north side of Main Street, was moving to a new office in the St. Lawrence Hall.

Saying that such an affair would not be tolerated under the Union Jack, Judge O'Reilly in court at Cornwall found eight men guilty for assaulting Harold Finnerty in Mountain township. Finnerty, a man in his thirties had been calling on Eva Carlisle, aged 16. An uncle of the girl took exception to this, saying that Finnerty was already engaged to another. Finnerty was lured out of the Carlisle home and was assailed by five men who threw a bag over his head and proceeded to mishandle him. William Carlisle, a former member of the township council "who should have had more sense", was fined $200 and costs and the remaining men received $100 fines. "Canada does not stand for mob riots," said the Judge, "They may be quite prevalent in the country to the south of us, but they won't be tolerated here."

the Kitchen Garden

V.A. Hughes

Our neighbour has carefully tucked his roses away under mounds of leaves covered with a neatly stitched canopy of burlap, while ours sit shivering, their bare twigs exposed to the elements. To bad, they'll just have to wait. After the first hard frost they will be put to bed, the spent soil from the barrel planters will be piled up and around their roots.

Why do we go to all of this trouble? To prevent them from heaving out of the ground in the spring when unseasonable temperatures thaw and freeze the ground, sending the plant's root system into spasms. This is also why we wait till the ground has frozen before adding the insulating layers. Putting insulation on now is counterproductive unless you can add more once that first layer freezes. The cosy tents around the roses next door make lovely winter quarters for mice, earwigs, etc.

Checking further into this matter of winter protection, we ended up with that old faithful "Anyone Can Grow Roses" by Cynthia Westcott. She waits till American Thanksgiving to hill up her roses; being further north, we move the date ahead and should have materials ready now. She notes that leaves used as a protective mulch almost always end up in a soggy mess, causing more winterkill than no protection at all. She also advises against digging soil from around the bush to mound over the plants, as roots are often damaged in the process. The procedure she follows is to bring soil in from either the vegetable garden or buy a load of topsoil to keep just for this purpose; she mixes this half-and-half with compost; she estimates one 12 quart pailful for every two plants. She pours the soil mix into the centre of each plant forming a cone shape; using screening to contain the mulch is fine, but she cautions against using anything that would prevent free air circulation. Dampness promotes rot and winterkill.

We must confess that in growing roses over the past eight years, only twice have we given them any winter protection, the mini-roses never, and we haven't lost a Rose yet. This winter, since we did a major job of transplanting, we will be giving them the extra care, as by now most of them are old friends and we'd like to see them again.

If you hanker for roses, wait till spring for planting, but order your catalogs now. We can't think of a better way to spend the winter than browsing through lists of roses, unless its browsing through lists of books about roses. In addition to the Westcott book we find we have:

PLEASURE AND TREASURES. Weidenfield & Nicolson, $7.50

Roscoe A. Fillmore: ROSES FOR CANADIAN GARDENS. Ryerson 1959, $7.50

J.N. Hart: ROSE GROWING. Ward Lock & Co. 1929, $4.50

J. Horace McFarland: ROSES OF THE WORLD IN COLOR. Houghton Mifflin, $15.00

Sam McGredy & Sean Jennett: A FAMILY OF ROSES. Garden Book club, $6.50

John Milton: ROSE GROWING SIMPLIFIED. Hearthside 1962, $4.50

Antonia Ridge: FOR LOVE OF A ROSE (the Peace Rose). Faber 1965, $2.00

THE ROSE ANNUAL. published by the National Rose Society of Great Britain - 1950, 1963, 1964, 1966, 1967, 1967, 1968, 1969, $3.50 each

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Box 1192,
Cochrane, Alberta,

Phone 932-4677

The Editor,
Morrisburg Leader
Dear Sir,

I feel murderers should be declared a danger to Society and should therefore be locked up away from Society forever, without day-passes or possibility of parole for the rest of their life.

When the death penalty was in effect and was imposed on a convicted murderer it not only set an example to other would-be murderers but it removed such a person from our Society forever and gave the public some sense of security.

Since the death penalty has been abolished the murderer has nothing to lose. They can rape, rob, torture and murder; the only penalty that can be imposed on them is a 'life sentence' - 25 years - with day passes and time off for good behavior. Then they are out in Society to do it all over again.

According to the news on a local radio station 130 such murders have occurred since 1975. That is far too many to be classified as an isolated case. It's time some positive action was taken to change the penal system.

Where is our protection from these murderers?

These murderers have shown no remorse; but certainly proven by their actions that they have no intention of changing their way of life. They will not hesitate to murder and rob to take what they want from Society.

It it time the penal system was changed to deal more harshly with these criminals and put them away forever.

When a person commits murder they automatically give up their civil rights. They don't consider the civil rights of the person(s) they murder.

My niece was kidnapped and murdered recently and for this reason I have written this letter in an effort to get public support to have the penal system changed to prevent convicted murderers from having day passes or early parole.

This letter has been circulated as an appeal to the public for their support and has been sent to the following: Hon. Ray Hnatyshyn, The Minister of Justice, Prime Minister Mulroney, MP Gordon Taylor, Chairman of the Justice Committee David Daubney and Joe Clark MP, The Honourable James Kelleher, Solicitor General, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0A6.

If you agree with the views in this letter and would like to support this cause please write or call any or all of the above mentioned (or your MP or MLA).

Yours truly,
ELSIE V. MACKEY

Dear Sir,

It makes me very sad to think that the former Premier of Quebec, Mr. Rene Levesque, should have such recognition at the time of his death.

Mr. Levesque is being honored by almost all, as a man who tried to make Quebec a separate nation, thus trying to divide Canada.

At this time of the year, we honor our war dead, the ones who died trying to save our country, and keep it as a United Canada.

These people who died, and those who came home with permanent scars of war, have only a poppy to be remembered by.

My father served in two world wars, my brother in the second, and in the Korean War. Therefore it disturbs me very much to think that all the flags on federal buildings be flown at half-mast, and yet Mr. Levesque would recognize only the Fleur-de-Lis.

Sincerely,
GERALD H. WEBB,
Morrisburg, Ont.

Dear Sir,

I was appalled and disgusted to read your Nov. 4, "Judge chastises...", article.

I was appalled to think that something like this could happen in Canada and disgusted to realize that "we the people" have officials who would act in this manner in our name.

I hope the officer who "picked him up...", "threw him into the ditch," etc., etc., was not acting on my behalf. If so, I am shamed.

We have all read, or seen movies about these sort of police tactics. However, until now, we were comforted in the knowledge that they only occur in police states and some communist countries. We knew these things didn't happen in Canada. Didn't we??

The article also mentions the officer was chastised for his unprofessional conduct. I suggest the conduct goes beyond "unprofessional", perhaps to the point of brutality and assault. But does anyone care? Is this the way we want our police force to maintain law and order and "protect the citizens"?

XXIII, No. 31 MORRISBURG, ONT. FRIDAY, SEP. 14, 1923

Perpetuating the Supreme Sacrifice

"Through the long dark years of the war—through the following years of upheaval and unrest, God has guided us to the present, and has gathered us here to-day for the unveiling of this everlasting tribute which is erected in proud and affectionate memory of those who dutifully answered the call, and who so heroically gave their lives. Many hearts are saddened, many homes are changed but both are filled and strengthened by the knowledge that for those gallant sons we must carry on. To the Glory of God and in honoured memory of the men of Morrisburg and vicinity, who, during the great war of 1914-1918 gave their lives for God, for King and Country, for loved ones, home and Empire, for the sacred cause of justice and the freedom of the world, I unveil this monument. May we, our children and our childrens' children ever cherish and honour the names herewith inscribed."—COUNTESS OF MINTO At Unveiling.

Morrisburg council to install bus loading zone signs at MPS

MORRISBURG — Dick Turner, Principal of Morrisburg Public School has asked council to install two bus loading zone signs on the street which runs behind St. Lawrence Medical Clinic.

Turner said the traffic flow on the street is much heavier recently and the situation may become dangerous to children who are getting on and off the buses.

"There is access to this area coming from all sides," said councillor Gerry Rosenquist. "It might be wise to make the whole street one way so there is no entrance from there to Second Street."

Rosenquist said many employees of the clinic as well as clubs using the old high school at night use the back road to gain access to the parking lot which creates heavy traffic flows.

Councillors agreed to meet with Turner to discuss the matter further.

A resolution from the Township of Charlottenburgh opposing the free trade deal with the United States was filed by council for no further action.

"I have an opinion as a private citizen but I don't think as a municipal councillor I can voice my opinions for the rest of the village," said Rosenquist.

The remaining councillors were in agreement.

Bylaw 20-87 designating the plaza of the Village of Morrisburg as a community improvement project area within the municipality was passed.

The bylaw includes all land bounded by Hwy. 2 on the north, Ottawa Street on the west, Fifth Street on the south and Dairy and Campbell Street on the east. The lands include all properties inside of the boundaries exclusive of the residential uses situated on the north-east corner of Fifth Street and Campbell Street.

The bylaw will enable the village BIA to erect two signs advertising the village plaza on Hwy. 2.

Letters of recognition were received by the village from the Minister of State for Youth thanking council for participating in the summer employment program for students, and from the Ontario Ministry of Industry, Trade and Technology thanking Peter McCooeye for attending a workshop in September.

A letter of complaint from Leader Publisher Art Laurin concerning the state of the sidewalk outside the Leader office between Lee's Restaurant and Seaway Valley Pharmacy received quick attention from council.

Laurin complained that the steel grate in the centre of the sidewalk was old and hazardous. Council agreed the sidewalk needed to be fixed. The property committee will inspect the sidewalk and take corrective action.

Leading researchers to attend AIDS seminar

CORNWALL — Some of the world's leading researchers and AIDS experts will be in Cornwall November 12 and 13 for two days of conference on the disease.

Dr. Luc Montagnier, discoverer of the AIDS virus, will be the main speaker to the 175 health care workers, social workers and other professionals expected to attend what is being called the largest health care conference ever held in eastern Ontario.

The goal of the conference is to provide a national and international up-date on the status of AIDS diagnosis, treatment and research, and to increase knowledge of clinical, rehabilitative and community aspects of the disease.

Besides Montagnier, other speaker will include Dr. Robert Bourdeau, director of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit, who will discuss the epidemology of AIDS, stressing the geographic differences; Dr. Kathleen Givan, director of Clinical Laboratories at Women's College Hospital in Toronto, who will speak on the problems posed by the increasing number of health care workers exposed to the disease; and Dr. David Walters, Director of the National AIDS Education and Awareness program, who will discuss the public awareness and rapid adaption it had to make to the AIDS virus.

The conference will be recorded and shown on TV Ontario as the first ever made for TV AIDS education series.

There is one thing that makes me glad
That I had you to share with me
The wonderful years we had.
God knows that you were suffering

So he closed your weary eyelids and whispered "Peace Be Thine"
Away in the beautiful hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair,
Sometime, some day, I know not when
I will meet my beloved there.

Iroquois arts and crafts show a big success

IROQUOIS — The Iroquois arts and crafts show may not be getting any bigger, but it sure is getting better.

This year around 500 people browsed through the 26 booths at the fifth annual show last weekend. Profits from the fair and other events held throughout the year go towards the Iroquois Summer Festival.

Show organizer Lorraine Fader said once again the fair featured a wide variety of arts and crafts, and added she likes to keep as many different types of booths as possible.

Because the Iroquois Civic Centre is only able to hold 26 exhibit booths, they have to turn down some people who want to enter the show. This helps keep the quality of the show and variety of the booths up.

These factors add up to an enjoyable show for anyone. "We even have two ladies who come every year from Toronto. They come up to visit their friend and they make sure it's during the craft show," said Fader.

With the Iroquois show finished for another year, attention is turning to the Morrisburg and District Arts and Crafts Christmas Sale and Show.

The show will start Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and will run nov. 14 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Civic Centre.

Admission to this year's show is free, with door prizes and a senior citizens tea room.

This year's show will feature over 30 exhibitors, with the exhibitors taking over most of the building. Past President Claire Alguire said the show will take over the hallway and the council in order to accomodate everybody. Even this wasn't enough, as several exhibitors had to be turned down due to lack of space.

All types of arts and crafts will be on display, as well as a bake sale.

With both sale and attendance increasing every year, this will probably be the last time the show will be able to expand because of lack of space. Last year there was 22 booths at the show.

BIA makes changes

by Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg Business Improvement Area Christmas committee is in full swing, planning events to highlight the festive season, although some changes will be made to the schedule.

At their Board of Managment meeting Wednesday, BIA co-ordinator Wilf McAuley suggested the Christmas store decorating contest be judged by the public rather than two impartial judges.

McAuley said he spoke with Brockville BIA co-ordinator Doug Ritchie about the contest in Morrisburg and Ritchie said through experience he has found the contest is more popular if the public is involved.

"If we put ballots in the local paper and encourage people to vote for the best decorated store - we can offer a dinner for two to encourage them to vote," said McAuley. "Doug has found there is always a good response."

McAuley also suggested the announcement of the winner be delayed until the final week before Christmas instead of the Nov. 27 deadline originally scheduled. Merchants are still encouraged to decorate their stores before Nov. 21.

McAuley said he felt this change of concept was the best way for the BIA to go since many people might find it difficult to finish decorating their stores in November when most of the Christmas merchandise is arriving.

BIA members also agreed to select Nov. 15 as group decorating day. Members will be out in force to decorate the village plaza in time for the Christmas shoppers.

Santa Claus will be arriving Dec. 4 and will return on Dec. 11 and 18 from 6 to 8 p.m. and on Dec. 5, 11 and 19 from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Bureau.

Everyone's favorite elf will make a grand entrance at the shopping centre on Dec. 5 in a horse-pulled wagon. He will leave from the Legion area and parade through the village to the mall.

Diabetes is a condition where the body cannot use the sugar (glucose) properly. Sugar builds up in the blood and some of this sugar is wasted as it passes from the body in large volumes of urine. The result is an energy shortage in body cells. Over one million Canadians have Diabetes. Some people are at a higher risk for diabetes than others. Long term complications make diabetes the third leading cause of death in Canada. The best insurance against these complications is early diagnosis combined with careful treatment.

Legion pamphlet

MORRISBURG — The Royal Canadian Legion Morrisburg Branch 48 Ladies Auxiliary are sponsoring a drug and alcohol abuse awareness pamphlet entitled "Fighting Back."

Auxiliary member Frances Brunet said she was originally approached by a Hamilton based group and asked if the Ladies Auxiliary would be interested in sponsoring such a book.

Brunet acquiesed and local businesses were approached to place advertisements in the pamphlet. Brunet said all available advertising space has been filled and the pamphlet has been sent to Gateway Fundraising Systems in Winnipeg for printing.

The pamplets will be available in January and will be distributed free of charge to the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic and other public areas. The pamphlet contains articles about the various types of drugs and alcohol and its effects.

Karate's my game

Although it looks as if Seaway High's Troy Suddard is about to throw a karate chop at an unsuspecting St. Joseph's player, in fact Suddard is just working the net during a senior volleyball game at Seaway last Thursday. The Seniors won the set against the Panthers 15-3 and 16-14 but were unsuccessful against St. Lawrence. The Junior Spartans also had a win against the Panthers.

Morrow leads Morrisburg Lions, as they start climb in standings

MORRISBURG — Led by centreman Johnny Morrow, who supplied seven goals in three games, the Morrisburg Junior B Lions took a couple of big steps in improving their record in Ottawa and District League play this week.

Although, coach Kevin Casselman was hoping to come out of the week's action with a .500 average, he said he was satisfied with the two wins.

The Lions kicked off the week Wednesday night in Brockville with an 8-5 victory over the Tikis, downed the Jets 6-2 Friday night in Metcalfe and finished it with a loss to the Tikis 7-3 in Morrisburg, Sunday.

The Lions now have a 4W-6L record and are tied with the Winchester Hawks in the league's St. Lawrence division.

Morrow hattrick

The Lions were forced to play catch-up hockey Wednesday night in Brockville when, after holding the Tikis to a 2-2 first period tie, they fell behind in the second 5-3.

That's when Morrow stepped in. Four minutes into the third Andy Lee had brought the Lions to within one goal of a tie and at 5:41 Morrow took over with his first of three. At 16:48 he gave the Lions the lead and at 19:29 he stretched the advantage to two.

Lee finished it off 27 seconds later with his second.

Bobby Jack Hart supplied both Lions' goals in the first and Lyle Schell had one in the second. Answering for the Tikis were Jeff Bates, with two, and Todd Brayton, Todd Barclay and Ronny Chaplin.

Andy Cummins was between the Lions' pipes and Dan Murray saw action for Brockville. The Lions were assessed 10 minor penalties and gave up three power play goals and Brockville drew nine minors and gave up three power play goals.

Never a dull moment

Although it's been a few years since the Lions played the Jets in Metcalfe ... one thing remains unchanged. The Jets don't like to lose and especially not in their own arena.

The Lions cut loose with a 4-1 first period lead and carried a 4-2 advantage into the third. With less than 10 minutes left in the game and a Metcalfe loss in sight tensions began to run high.

An incident at 8:41 resulted with Lions' Mike Lamarche taking a five minute fighting major and game misconduct and Jets Mike Fournier and Wayne Cryderman handling the same.

As a follow up, the Lions came back for two more goals, the first from Shawn Lapier at 7:13 and the final from Morrow with 1:15 left in the game.

Along with the major penalties the Lions drew 14 minors and the Jets 13. The Lions were good for one power play goal.

Morrow again led the Lions, this time with two goals, and singles came from Shawn Lapier, Mike Lamarche, Bobby Jack Hart and Randy Mullin.

Ron Laurin and Chris Clements scored for the Jets against Cummins who was in net for his second straight win.

The Lions will not meet the Jets again during the regular schedule, the home and home series ending with one win each.

Weak third

Sunday the Lions got off to a good start against the Tikis, building a 2-1 first period lead and holding a 4-3 edge as they headed into the third.

But the Tikis came rushing back for four goals to the Lions' one for the 7-5 victory.

"They got their momentum going in the third with a couple of soft goals and that was it," said Casselman. "Their goaltending is really strong and they have a good skating club."

Kevin Quinn had two goals for the Tikis and Travis Cauley, Bert Heyman, Jeff Bates, Steve Casselman and Ron Chaplin supplied singles. Answering for the Lions were Morrow, with two, Hart, Charlie Carbino and Sean Baker.

The Tikis drew 14 minor penalties and the Lions eight.

Kent Pilon was between the Lions' pipes after being sidelined for a week with an injury.

Coming up

Friday night, November 13th, the Lions are at home to the Athens Aeros. Game time is 8:30 p.m. Sunday they travel to Prescott for an 8 p.m. game.

High school basketball

Senior Spartans in second

IROQUOIS — The Seaway District High School senior girls basketball team is putting together a strong finish in S.D.&G. A school play and Wednesday they posted their third consecutive win, over General Vanier 46-32.

In seven games the Spartans have lost only twice, their first game of the season to first place Tagwi, 54-31, and a narrow one to Rothwell-Osnabruck 60-57.

Wednesday the Spartans were in total control, leading 13-8 at the quarter and 25-14 heading into the second half.

Playing a big part in the Spartans' success has been Kim Bucking who Wednesday dropped 17 points. Bucking was in top form, her throws finding the spot no matter how hard the Vikings tried to shut her down.

Backing Bucking was Lisa VanHoof with a 13 point performance and Kathryn Houze, Teri Kennedy and Kathy Byveld had four points each.

Answering for the Vikings was Cindy Flaro with 16 points.

The win came on the heels of a Spartan victory over Tagwi last week, the only team to beat the first place Warriors this year. The Spartans now trail Tagwi, with a 5W-1L record, by one point.

Juniors too strong

For the Junior Spartans, the first place Vikings proved to be too strong as they went to work for a 26-9 halftime lead and a final 60-32 victory.

It was two minutes into the game before the Vikings found the basket but once they found it they didn't stop.

Chantal St. Jean led the Vikings with 17 points and Lori Dupuis and Tina Fetterly had 10 points each. Krista Casselman dropped 13 of the Spartan points and Jennifer McNairn eight.

The junior Spartans now have a 4W-3L record and the Vikings have a perfect seven-win record.

The Spartan teams played St. Joseph's yesterday (Tuesday) and Thursday, November 12 they host Char-Lan.

Charlie's Angels

Mabo nets winner

MORRISBURG — Goaltender Linda Magee was just 18 seconds away from a shutout in ROMEKS league play here last Tuesday night when Roxanne Dukelow broke through the Angels' defence and counted the lone Spencerville tally.

The Angels opened the scoring at 7:58 of the first period on a goal by Kim McInnis and after a scoreless second Tanya Mabo struck in the third for a 2—0 advantage.

Dukelow's goal gave Charlie's Angels a 2—1 win.

Nationview champions in junior flag football

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Nationview was crowned the 1987 Dundas County elementary school junior flag football champion here Tuesday with a 7-1 victory over Dixons Corners.

The two met head on in the championship final after round-robin play which saw them undefeated in four outings.

Nationview had wins over Inkerman 18-7, Morrisburg 14-1, St. Cecilia's 34-0 and Winchester 26-7.

Dixons produced wins against Iroquois 27-25, Elma 32-0, Chesterville 6-0 and Iroquois 14-7.

For the B championship, Chesterville posted a 12-0 victory over St. Cecilia's, both teams completing round robin play with 2W-2L records.

Chesterville defeated Elma 13-6 and Iroquois 6-0 and St. Cecilia's had wins over Inkerman 21-6 and Winchester 13-6.

Morrisburg had wins over Winchester 1-0 and Inkerman 13-6. Iroquois had one win against Elma 13-12.

Nine schools competed in the annual tournament hosted by Nationview and once again the weather was unfavorable. But unlike years past, when the youngsters had to be bundled against extremely cold temperatures, this year's event was played in an all-day rain with temperatures extremely high. the time of the year.

A total of 18 games were played during the day-long affair.

The senior flag football tournament, scheduled for Thursday at Morrisburg was cancelled due to weather, the day starting out with ice rain and cold temperatures. It has been rescheduled for tomorrow (Thursday, November 12).

The first one's the best

Randy Whitteker, left, now has a story he can swap with fellow hunters after downing this four point buck last week. Hunting with Robbie Casselman near his home on the Flagg Road it was Randy's first success in the annual hunt. The buck was estimated to weigh about 180 pounds, field dressed. Although the hunt locally is over, many sportsmen are still away at camps and it will be a while before it can be determined how this year's hunt measured up.

Bantam B

Neild salvages tie

MORRISBURG — A goal by Kevin Neild with 2:18 left in an Upper Canada Minor Hockey League bantam B game here last Tuesday gave the Morrisburg Lions a 3-3 tie against Iroq-Card and allowed them to salvage a single point in their first scheduled game of the year.

The Lions scored a goal a period, beginning with one from Dean Beckstead assisted by Mike Francis three minutes into the game.

Iroq-Card tied it late in the frame on a tally from Eugene McInnis assisted by Mike Whittaker and Tory Deschamps.

Tory Deschamps tied it 2-2 midway into the third and with 4:59 to go Mike Whittaker put Iroq-Card up by one.

The Lions came charging back to tie it on the goal by Neild with David Foster providing the assist.

The Atom A Lions opened the season last Thursday night at Prescott, losing to their hosts 10-1. Scoring the lone Lions' goal was Jonathan Saunders with Damian Whittaker providing the assist.

Next action for the Lions is Saturday, Nov. 14 at 1 p.m. in Metcalfe.

Curling chatter

MORRISBURG — Chatter, in The Merriam-Webster dictionary is defined as: to talk idly, incessantly or fast. So come on. Let's hear it from you curlers out there.

With so much happening at the club these days there's got to be more news than what has been provided to this column.

We'd really enjoy hearing about some of those fabulous shots ... oh yes and even those not so fabulous shots.

Beginning this Sunday our Little Rock Curlers will be divided into two groups. The first group will include all youngsters whose last names begin with A-D. This group will hit the ice at 1p.m. From 2-3 p.m. all youngsters with last names beginning with letters E-Z will get their turn.

Any curlers, 19 years and under, interested in participating in the Ontario Skills Testing Program can stop in at the club Sunday, October 15th at 1 p.m. for some practice.

A reminder that the clinic testing will be done Saturday, November 21st beginning at 9 a.m.

All curlers know what can happen when you've just executed that perfect shot and the rock picks up a piece of dirt. We ask that all curlers co-operate in keeping the ice clean. With respect to this we ask that no street shoes are used on the ice. Also there is No Smoking on the ice.

Our industrial league has really started off in a big way, with the league going from 12 to 14 teams this year. Every Friday night we see some pretty strong curling and of course there's the social part of the evening which is doing just as well.

The Curling Club now has Cable TV - you can make new friends and visit with old friends while you watch your favourite team sport and enjoy a game of curling. If not curling, come down anyway and have a social afternoon or evening.

The 'Fun Bonspiel' held on Nov. 7th was a great success. All who attended had a lot of 'fun' and enjoyed the day.

The afternoon and evening ladies held their Pot Luck Supper and were pleased to see so many new faces.

The Mixed Fun Bonspiel was just that - fun. Teams have been organized and serious curling is now under way every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. You can still get on a team - Just give any member of the Board a call. It is expected that after Christmas there will be two draws at 7:00 and 9:00 p.m.

The Morrisburg Junior Curling has 17 active members. There are four teams involved in the first Junior Division and will finish before Christmas. The team of Daryl Morrell, Scott Lane, Gord Johnston and Chris Lane is now tied for first place in the Ottawa Super Junior League with four wins and one loss. Two teams of the Morrisburg Junior League played in a friendly bonspiel in Richmond.

Four of the younger club members have attended the Elite Curling Clinic in Ottawa.

Middle East conflict brought close to home in speech by Israeli ambassador to Canada

by Doug Carson
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — To many people in Canada the Israeli-Arab conflict in the Middle East may seem a little distant as we go about our daily lives.

However, that conflict was brought a little closer to home Tuesday night when Israel's Ambassador to Canada, Israel Gur-Aryeh, spoke at the Canadian Club meeting.

Gur-Aryeh is more than just an ambassador of his government, but of all his people, and the one message he wanted to get across was that of peace.

The Israeli-Arab conflict goes back decades, ever since the Jewish people began carving out a home for themselves in the desert, in part of the area that was formerly Palestine.

"Only strong idealists could form a country from this," said Gur-Aryeh, explaining that when they first began there was not much to work with but desert and the desire of the people.

Since the first day, the people of Israel have been preaching peace to its neighbors, and slowly Gur-Aryeh believes they are beginning to listen.

The first major step was the peace treaty between Egypt and Israel, signed in 1979, that saw Egypt ostracized by other Arab nations because of their agreement with Israel.

Since this first major breakthrough, other peace initiatives have come very slowly, but Gur-Aryeh preaches patience because he knows that peace will have to come.

"We have tried war and know that war doesn't work, so now we must try peace, this is what we've been saying all along," said Gur-Aryeh.

Gur-Aryeh has seen some promising signs from leaders of the other Arab nations that bodes well for the future.

"Iraq has come out and said that we, (Israel), are not a threat to the Arab countries, but Iran is," he said.

With just over four million people in an area one-fiftieth the size of Ontario and a regular army of about 40,000 soldiers, Gur-Aryeh wonders how Israel can seem much of a threat to its much bigger and better equipped neighbors.

"We're such a small country that in order to write Israel on a map you have to go over into the sea," said Gur-Aryeh.

Gur-Aryeh hinted that the next major peace initiative in the Middle East may be between Israel and Jordan, and shrugs of recent attempts by Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization to focus hostilities at an Arab summit, in Amman, Jordan, away from Iran and back towards Israel. The Amman summit, still going on, is the first Arab league meeting in which Israel has not been the primary concern.

"The Arab world is turning east (to Iran), because that is where the real threat is today," said Arab Historian Kemal Salibi. Another Arab writer at the summit was recently quoted as saying, "the truth is the Arabs don't hate Israel anymore - they should, but they don't."

It is statements and attitudes like these that make Gur-Aryeh hopeful that the half a century of fighting will soon come to an end.

"We don't believe that all at once the Arab countries will get together and decide to live with us in peace, but we do believe peace will come because there is no other choice," Gur-Aryeh said.

Missionary from India to give meditation at WMS service

On this coming Sunday, Nov. 15, the Knox Presbyterian W.M.S. will celebrate a service of Thankoffering. Joining them for this special time of worship and celebration will be Miss Margaret Leask who will give the meditation.

Miss Leask has spent her life as a missionary teacher in India. First appointed in 1949, she served as a teacher at the Helen MacDonald Higher Secondary School for Girls in Jhansi until 1975. She has played a prominent role in the gradual development of the school's prestige in the field of science. From early 1975 to December 1976 she managed a hostel in a girls' school in Jeyi, Agra Diocese. After her furlough she returned to Jhansi and the Helen MacDonald Memorial School.

Miss Leask has had a concern for curriculum and textbooks particularly in the area of mathematics. Her leadership in this field of study and in changing administrative patterns is an outstanding characteristic of her service.

All are invited to join in this special time as we celebrate the love of God and the gifts of God in service to others both near and far. A lunch will be served following the service.

Seaway News

by Cindy Laurin

Hi again, I'm back for another week of news from Seaway. Although not much happened, there is more news than last week so here goes.

The grade 12 theatre classes will be doing a production called "A Comedy of Errors" which will come out around Christmas. Judging by the music and dancing, we can assume it will be quite good.

In sports this week the midget girls basketball team travelled to Tagwi, Monday, Nov. 12, where they won games against St. Joseph's and General Vanier with scores of 18-10 and 22-14 respectively.

Wednesday, Nov. 4, the senior girls won against General Vanier 46-32. The juniors tried their best but just couldn't get ahead, G.V. winning 60-31. A good effort was made by all.

Thursday, Nov. 5 the boys volleyball team won two matches against St. Joseph's 15-4 and 15-10 but the boys couldn't pull a win out of St. Lawrence.

Since the seniors were out for last Wednesday's basketball game, the juniors will be out for this Thursday's game.

Last week on her rounds for school committee reps, Miss Hamilton caught three willing people, Karen Magee, Heather Thoms and Jeff Burgess to represent our student body at the meeting.

Saturday the Video Roadshow came to the Morrisburg Civic Centre. Since they had a pretty good turnout they will be coming back in December, the tentative date is the 26th.

Sunday, Nov. 15 there will be another teen dance at Studio 231. So everyone let your hair down, so to speak, and come out and have some fun.

Seaway is actually having another dance. Yes, you heard it here first. It will take place on December 4 and there are whispers that say it is semi-formal or formal! Well that's it for me. See you next week!

A TRIBUTE TO THE FALLEN

MORRISBURG — The laying of wreaths at the cenotaph to honor those who died during the two world wars and the Korean War is a solemn and memorable part of Remembrance Day activities.

The cenotaph, located in front of the Morrisburg Civic Centre, was erected after World War I. The cenotaph has a nine foot granite base with a 10 foot high figure and is 12 feet square. The figure is made of bronze and represents an infantryman in the act of proclaiming peace.

Having laid down his equipment, the right arm of the soldier is raised while he shouts glad tidings and the left hand holds a victorious battletorn flag to his breast. Below the foot of the soldier is a tablet of bronze bearing the dove of peace. The names of the 19 village men who died in World War I and are buried in France are inscribed on the cenotaph.

The monument was unveiled in September 1923 by Marion Cook. It was built with donations by villagers with G. Wm. Cook leading the fund-raising drive with a $1,000 donation. A citizens' committee raised the remaining $10,000.

The cenotaph was orginally erected on Main Street at the corner of Ottawa Street and was described as an imposing work of art. It was sculpted in Montreal by George W. Hill and the bronze figure was cast in France.

In an April 1958 edition of The Morrisburg Leader a story described the removal of the War Memorial to its new home in front of the Civic Centre. It was the last remaining structure on the old Morrisburg Main Street to be moved to make room for the Seaway.

When the cenotaph was removed from the old foundation a large glass bottle was found in the bottom. Inside the bottle was a card stating that its contents had been collected by J.H. Meikle. It included four coins current at the time; the honor roll of those who had fallen in World War I plus the names of all those who had served overseas and a list of medals won; a list of donations to the monument fund including $2,000 from the Women's Institute and printed materials from various other publications.

These records were placed at the bottom of the base of the cenotaph in its new home. The moving of the monument in 1958 was supervised by Luther Wells of Ingleside who had moved all cemeteries in the Seaway Valley.

The Morrisburg Women's Institute undertook restoration of the cenotaph in April 1967 as part of their Centennial project.

Wartime meeting led to romance

MORRISBURG — Remembrance Day, Nov. 11 is a day of Thanksgiving for Morrisburg resident Albertina (Bertie) Cornell.

Bertie, a native of England survived the London air raids by the Germans during World War II and bombings in the same city in 1918.

"It is a day of Thanksgiving for me for having survived not only the last war but also being bombed in Odhams Press London, England in 1918," she said. "I still remember the feeling of flying through the air and landing on huge rolls of white printing paper. Miraculously I was unhurt as were my two older sisters who were looking after me. Hundreds were killed in that building and they were never able to ascertain the exact number."

Air raids were a frequent and terrifying experience. Bertie remembers hiding in air raid shelters or in basements every time the city was bombed.

"You could hear bombs dropping around, " said Bertie. "You would always count them. Once you counted five you knew you were safe until the next plane arrived."

Married a Canadian

On Sept. 10, 1944 Bertie was married to a Canadian soldier - Edward Cornell. They were married at a time when most of the churches in the City of London were being bombed. Bertie remembers the famous Temple Church, which went back to the time of the Crusades, being demolished in an air raid. The Corpus Christi Church just off the Strand is still standing.

The day of Bertie's wedding dawned bright and clear but the fate of war played heavily in the outcome. Bertie remembers the priest telling her and her soon-to-be husband he would certainly marry them providing there were no air raids that day. There weren't. But the time together for the newlyweds was short-lived. The Cornells honeymooned in Scotland for two air raid free weeks but shortly thereafter Eddie left for Overseas Service.

VE day

The end of the war in 1945 brought relief to a great many people especially Londoners who had lived through six years of almost nightly air raids.

"I was one of thousands who stood outside Buckingham Palace and cheered the King and Queen and the two Princesses and that great statesman Winston Churchill," said Bertie. "What a tower of strength he had been all through the war. I am certain everyone listened and was encouraged by his regular broadcasts on the BBC."

During the war she worked at a bank in London. She was told she could not join the forces because the work she was doing was of national importance and it would have taken a new person several months to learn the system.

"Our hours were from 9:30 to 4:30 so I volunteered to do St. John Ambulance work in a First Aid Post at the Bank Underground Station one night a week," said Bertie. "For two nights a week some of us from the bank worked in a factory. When the war was over we were informed that the things we had been making were parts for land mines."

Departing for Canada

Eddie had survived the war and he left for Canada in early May 1945. Bertie was scheduled to leave one week later but her ship was delayed for VE day celebrations.

Without knowing whether her husband had arrived safely Bertie headed out to Paddington Station on May 13, 1945 to depart for Canada. Her sisters accompanied her to the station to say good-bye but she was informed from then on all her movements were to be kept hushed.

A group of War Brides were driven to a place in the area where they thought they would spend the night but at 10 p.m. a clergyman came around and prayed for the group's safe journey to Canada. The women were then taken to St. Pancras Station where they boarded a train for an unknown destination.

"Early the next morning we arrived in Liverpool where we boarded the luxurious 20,000 ton liner The Duchess of Bedford," said Bertie. "We were informed that the reason for all the secrecy was because there were still two German submarines around."

Twenty-nine ships in all sailed for Canada including 10 Ontario Tankers. One of the ships, The Dominion Monarch, was on her way to Australia. The ship on which Bertie sailed to her new life was the last in the convoy.

Life on board ship

The War Brides were told they could buy unrationed milk, chocolate, sweets and other things that were scarce during the war on board the ship. They were also told they would be given excellent pre-war Canadian meals.

"I kept a diary and it reads we had lashings of butter and loads of sugar," recalls Bertie. "Our wartime ration of butter had been two ounces a week. The meals were out of this world - huge steaks, real fruit including pineapple and oddles of ice cream."

"I never missed a meal during the war. We always had something to eat," said Bertie. "I realized how lucky I was when I came to Canada. I found out some people had had to eat plant bulbs because the Germans had come in and taken everything."

Lieutenant-Colonel Roy, who later became Cardinal Roy, was returning to Canada on the same ship as Bertie and said Mass each morning at 7 a.m. Bertie said this was an added bonus for her during the trip.

She arrived in Halifax, Nova Scotia on Sunday, May 27. After changing her money (she got $5 for every British pound) she boarded a train headed to Ontario. While boarding Bertie was handed a cable from Eddie telling her to get off at Montreal.

"Thank God he was safe," she said. "I give thanks for those brave men who gave their lives for us - and for Canada, the land I am proud to call home."

He that stands (the service of his country) now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman.

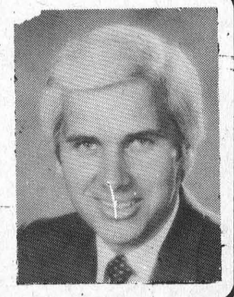
REPORT FROM

PARLIAMENT HILL

BY NORM WARNER, M.P.



by Norman Warner M.P.
Stormont-Dundas

Last week in this column I discussed matters of interest to the agriculture sector of our community regarding the Free Trade Agreement.

Today I would like to focus on the benefits to the consumer after tariffs are eliminated in 1989.

Free trade as discussed in the media seems to be a complex issue but it can be described simply as a system of trading between two countries where import duty is eliminated. For instance, New Zealand and Australia have many years had such a system in place. Goods pass back and forth between New Zealand and Australia without the need for tariffs to be paid. Duty-free items, of course, mean lower prices for the consumer.

In Canada consumers will enjoy substantial savings on their purchases. The Consumers' Association of Canada (CAC) favors the deal. Richard Garlick of the CAC said recently: "There is no question that the Free Trade Agreement will favor consumers. It's just a matter of when the different elements (of the deal) start kicking in."

Andrew Cohen, another spokesman for the CAC, said "There's something in free trade for all consumers. It's not fair to say it will only benefit big business. Consumers will also benefit from more competition once the barriers to the US market are eliminated."

Currently in Canada tariffs or duty, are highest for clothing and food. When these are removed under the system of free trade, lower prices will greatly benefit consumers.

More suppliers and increased trade will mean lower prices in the stores.

Major household appliances, clothing, linens and furniture are just a few of the products that will be available at lower prices once tariffs are removed. I think Canadian consumers will like what free trade does for them.

Free trade means better access for consumers to a wider range of products, increased competition, and better product quality. In short, the Free Trade Agreement will give Canadians a real opportunity to raise their standard of living.

In the past few weeks I have been very busy with the Finance Committee. In order to prepare our report on tax reform meetings have begun early in the morning and have continued late into the evening as witnesses appeared to present their views. Many of the briefs and representations I have received have been from Stormont-Dundas and I am looking forward to comments from constituents on our final report. This will be ready for presentation to the public on Monday, November 16. As a committee we are looking forward to public response as soon as possible.

Locally, last Friday I attended the official opening of Cornwall's newest food retailer, the Little Mermaid Seafood Store on Pitt Street. A welcome addition to our retail community, the store will add to the wide variety of interesting foods available in our area.

Mrs. Hilda Bough of Cornwall celebrated her 82nd birthday last Friday and I was pleased to present her with a certificate. As well I visited Mr. Percy Conliffe at the General Hospital. Mr. Conliffe is to be congratulated on the occasion of his 90th birthday and his 68th wedding anniversary.

With the family I visited the Bird Sanctuary at Upper Canada Village and met several local people enjoying the beautiful weekend.

The parishioners of St. Felix de Valois church recently celebrated the centennial of the founding of their church. I was pleased to present Mr. Evarest Martin with a certificate to mark the occasion.

On Monday night I was honored to be guest speaker at a meeting of the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club in Iroquois. Club members joined a discussion of Canada's Free Trade Agreement and participated in an interesting question and answer session.

Canada's Winter Olympics are fast approaching and the Celebration '88 Awards Committee met Monday night in Cornwall. Crime Stoppers

Hull Police would like your assistance in locating an arsonist, whom they believe has a personal vendetta with construction companies.

On Sunday morning April 26th, 1987, at approximately 12:30 a.m. someone, unknown at this time, forced their way into a construction trailer, which was set up on a site in the new sector at the west-end of Chemin de la Montagne near the residential area of La Rue des Pommier.

Once inside, the culprit rummaged the trailer, which contained only blue prints and charts of the proposed housing development. Finding nothing of value for himself, fire investigators believe that papers were scattered throughout the structure and set on fire. He fled the scene shortly afterwards. By the time the fire department were made aware of the blaze and arrived, the trailer was gutted, causing more than $25,000 damage.

Since the beginning of 1987, this person has been responsible for several fires that were deliberately set on different construction sites to work trailers and partially completed homes, amounting to $125,000.

Crime Stoppers will pay $1000 for information that if received this week, leads to the arrest of the person responsible for this arson. If you have any information about this or any other serious crime, call Crime Stoppers at 233-TIPS, that's 233-8477. If you live outside the capital area call free at 1-800-267-TIPS. You don't have to reveal your identity, and if your tip leads to an arrest, you qualify for an award.

Local fisheries plan discussed

Last week, in public meetings in Cornwall and Hawkesbury, local residents were invited to comment on the Ministry of Natural Resources Draft Fisheries Management Plan for the Cornwall District. The Ministry was seeking public input on its proposals for managing the local fisheries until the year 2000.

"At our Hawkesbury meeting, concerned anglers identified improved communications with our Quebec counterparts as critical to managing the Ottawa fishery," says Ed McGregor, Fish and Wildlife Supervisor at the Ministry's Cornwall District Office. "We identified the need for closer ties with Quebec officials in our Management Plan and were pleased that the public recognizes this as an important part of our fisheries management program," he continued.

The public did have some concerns over the commercial fishery on Ottawa River but the Ministry explained that the fish species caught and methods of capture did not impact on the sports fishery. "In fact, the commercial fishery in the Ottawa River may be helping the anglers, by maintaining a more balanced fish community," said McGregor.

The topic of a lively debate at the Cornwall meeting centered on the Lake St. Francis yellow perch fishery and the proposed change in Provincial legislation which will ban the sale of angler-caught fish. "We have proposed licencing the three existing commercial fishermen for a small yellow perch quota to maintain their industry and licencing a number of commercial anglers for yellow perch to maintain the local supply and support the local tourist industry," said McGregor. "However, local anglers and businesses expressed serious reservations about our proposal and we will give these concerns very careful attention before we decide on the final management action," he added.

Anglers at the Cornwall meeting also suggested the Ministry should close the angling season during the perch spawning season, develop a muskellunge stocking program in Lake St. Lawrence and improve access sites in Cornwall and at Guindon Park.

McGregor noted that the public is urged to submit their comments on the future management of the local fisheries resource to the Ministry Office in Cornwall. Deadline for public submissions is November 23, 1987.
