Two ministries okay $1 million Williamsburg satellite facility

Spring construction

WILLIAMSBURG – The long-held dream of a $1 million extension to Park Drive Villa has moved a little closer to reality.

"Both the Ministry of Community and Social Services and the Ministry of Housing have given verbal approval to the project, and we're now waiting for written approval," said Debbie St. John-de Wit, Project officer for Alternatives to Institutional Care for Seniors.

"Our deadline is December 31 to have the architect drawings designed, but we needed verbal approval first before we could go ahead," she added.

The first floor of the 5,000 square foot facility is to be funded 80 per cent by the Ministry of Community and Social Services and 20 per cent by the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

A multi-purpose room is planned for the first floor, which can seat 100 as a dining room, or double as a craft, visiting room or exercise area.

Included will be a visiting area for health care professionals, and a coordinator's office.

The first and second floor are to be joined by an elevator providing access for the handicapped.

The Ministry of Housing is to fund four one-bedroom and one two-bedroom apartment units on the second floor, all equipped with technology for the frail elderly or handicapped.

"We hope to build this spring," stated Ann Barkley, chairperson of the Williamsburg Non-Profit Housing Corporation.

Not only will the facility provide housing for the elderly and handicapped, but should offer more opportunities for meals and socialization.

"There'll be meals to wheels programs, and wheels to meals. There will be craft and exercise programs, and professional help will be available," Barkley said.

Williamsburg's van for seniors, funded by COMSAC, will be used for transportation to and from the facility, which will also be available to those in the surrounding area.

The van is currently used by Williamsburg residents, residents of Morrisburg, and Winchester for excursions and day trips.

In September 1989, when the project for outreach services was approved for Williamsburg seniors, the Ministry of Community and Social Services consented to a similar facility without apartments for the Village of Ingleside.

"Ingleside is practically due to start next week. Tendering has gone through," said de Wit.

The Ingleside facility is estimated at $350,000, and will be funded 80 per cent by the Ministry of Community and Social Services and 20 per cent by the Counties.

The facility is to be approximately 3500 square feet and will be called a "Senior Support Center," geared to provide support services for the frail elderly.

Within the next four weeks, a coordinator is to be hired to develop outreach programs for the Williamsburg area, to start as soon as possible.

"We're lucky in that we're the pilot project for the province and we're the first to receive approval," said Barkley of the recent government approval.

This is the first project for outreach senior services in the province involving two ministries in one proposal.

The Ministry of Health is also involved in an advisory capacity.

Similar facilities for the United Counties are planned for the Village of Finch, and Lancaster Village.

Labor Ministry places stop work order at sewage plant

CATHERINE THOMPSON

MORRISBURG - On Friday November 22, the Ministry of Labor put a stop work order on the chlorine room and sump room at the village sewage treatment plant.

On council's request, Ministry of Labor Health and Safety Officers, Jean Sampson and Guy Nadeau of the Cornwall office had been invited in to inspect the town facilities.

"The order was to prevent the work crew from entering these confined areas to work. However, it didn't stop the machinery processes to keep the treatment plant running," said Ministry of Labor media representative Bill McClelland Monday.

"We didn't have the necessary equipment to measure levels of chlorine in the chlorine room and sewage gas in the sump room," explained Coun. Gord McGregor.

The missing equipment was a measuring gauge and a mask to enter the chlorine room, items which were purchased later on Friday by assistant superin tendent Keith Robinson, from Levitt Equipment of Cornwall.

Robinson has been in charge of Public Works while Superintendent Clare Van Allen has been on vacation.

After their investigations on Friday, ministry inspectors returned on Monday, to check that the proper equipment was put in place.

Confirming that all was in order, the stop work order was lifted.

McGregor stated the Department of Labor officials wrote an extensive six-page report covering every aspect of safety standards at the sewage plant, the water treatment plant, and the town garage.

"There's a lot of repairs to be done," he said.

The report is to be taken up by council, and actions decided on at a later date.

At a recent meeting, Morrisburg Council decided to ask the Ministry of Environment to look into the possibility of operating village sewer and water facilities.

In addition, council agreed to complete any repairs identified by the Department of Labor,. Ontario Hydro, and the Ministry of Environment's Regional Safety Office to ensure safe working conditions before transfer of operations.

Santa will arrive thanks to Angel Tree

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Last year, 83 children from the Morrisburg area would have awakened on Christmas morn to find that Santa Claus hadn't come.

But thanks to the co-ordination of the Morrisburg and District Lions Club, and the generosity of the people of the community, good old Saint Nick made it to each and every home.

This was made possible because of an idea the Lions Club had called an "angel tree". And the tree will be set up again this year in The Bank of Nova Scotia in Morrisburg.

The tree was erected this year on Thursday, and has been adorned with 54 names of needy children in the area.

The Morrisburg Lions were provided with a list describing dozens of children from the United Counties Department of Social Services.

Residents are asked to pick an angel off and purchase a gift. Written on the angel are specifics which will come in handy when buying the gift, such as the age and sex of the child.

In order to protect the identity of the children, names are not given.

The gifts, once purchased, are to be brought back to the bank unwrapped, and put in a box under the tree on or before December 10. The angel is to be attached to the gift.

There is no set price limit in purchasing the gifts. It is entirely at the discretion of the buyer. However, consider the fact that this gift may be the only Christmas present the child will receive.

"We had a great response to the project last year," said Jack Notman, past president of the Morrisburg Lions Club. "It was fantastic, all of the angels were gone on the first day and we had to go back to social services for more."

Like last year, once the angels are taken, social services will provide more, hopefully ensuring all of the children receive gifts again this year.

Christmas is a time for sharing what one has and giving what one can.

Imagine having nothing.

Education Ministry approves Lancer Community Centre

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

INGLESIDE - The Lancer Community Center has received the official stamp of approval from the Ministry of Education.

Education Director Jim Dilamarter and Chairman of the Public School Board for SD & G Roy Hastings met with regional Ministry of Education director Jean Comptois about two weeks ago, and then delivered the architect's sketch to the head office in Toronto.

"We're pleased with that aspect," said Dilamarter.

"The Ministry of Education is cooperating fully and now we see the light at the end of the tunnel. If we can get the Ministry of Tourism grant extended, we'll be in business," he said.

The Ministry of Tourism has promised a $400,000 grant to Osnabruck Township which is sharing $800,000 of the cost of the joint school board community center project.

The joint portion of the project is estimated at $1.6 million, and the school board is to handle the science lab, the school computer and upgrading of the old gymnasium to the cafeteria.

All in all, the project will add up to approximately $2.1 million.

Osnabruck recreation director Paul McAllister will now be approaching the Ministry of Tourism for an extension of the January 31 deadline for expenditures.

An order to finalize the grant, the township is committed to spend the $200,000 allocation they have already received.

The Township is investigating options like pre-purchasing equipment, and don't anticipate any problem s but

Morrisburg Legion continues to help

KIM TOSHACK

MORRISBURG—Shortly after Sarah Merkley, a member of the Morrisburg Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, suggested the organization buy a bed for the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital's Physiotherapy Unit, the idea was discussed and passed and the wheels were set in motion.

Last Wednesday, the idea became a reality when a cheque for $3,125 was presented by Merkley herself and Wayne Johnston, treasurer of the same Legion, to James Egan, Executive Director of the W.D.M.H.

Although the cheque was presented in 1990, the monies are being held until the 1991-91 budget year and the bed will be purchased by the hospital in April of 1991.

This donation is part of a continuing program of community support by the Branch. Recently, the Legion has given financial support to a number of other organizations as well.

Since the beginning of September, the branch has donated $1,200 in bursaries at the Seaway District High School Graduation and paid $430 in fees for a student to attend the Terry Fox Centre in Ottawa for a week.

Other donations to local non-profit and charitable organizations and help for needy veterans and their families were also given.

The total for the months of September, October and November is well over $6,000.

The support by the Morrisburg Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion is continuing and will continue into the future provided the need is present.

Dundas County Learning Centre offers help to illiterate

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

WINCHESTER—If you are reading this article right now, then count yourself lucky, because 1.6 million adults in Ontario (one out of every four people) are functionally illiterate.

In other words, they might not understand the directions on a medicine bottle, or be able to read their telephone bill, make correct change or fill out a job application form.

What many people overlook, is the fact that reading and writing are tools which empower people and people who can't read or write don't have all of the opportunities they are entitled to. All Canadians should have the right to a basic education.

Well, for those in the three United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry who can't read or write, there's help.

The Tri-County Literacy Council, located in Cornwall "provides instruction in basic reading and writing to functionally illiterate adults living within the three counties. An emphasis is placed on assisting individuals who cannot attend existing literacy programs because of transportation difficulties or, because they find the traditional, institutional setting of the classroom to be a problem."

"Trained tutors are carefully screened and matched with adults seeking services. Mutually, they agree upon the time and location for tutoring to take place. The Learning Program consists of using materials from the "Laubach Way to Reading" series as well as any other materials found suitable. The Laubach series was designed for use with adults. In every case, the learning program is structured so as to accommodate individual needs. This permits students to progress at a pace without pressure."

Closer to home, there is an branch of the Tri-County Literacy Council called The Dundas Community Learning Centre located at 512 St. Lawrence Street in Winchester, which opened in early spring.

Students are first assessed by a qualified teacher in Cornwall and then put in levels, not grades, for study with the Laubach program.

There are presently 22 tutors trained in Dundas County, however only four students using the services. For this reason, awareness is needed. Statistics show that there is a big need in Dundas County and many people are functionally illiterate, which is defined as less than a grade nine education. Reading and understanding is the key.

June Garlough, the student representative, realized she needed help when she couldn't fill out thank-you cards after her wedding, when she couldn't read her children simple books, couldn't read recipes properly or study for her drivers licence. She lost jobs because if her poor reading skills.

"I could read but I couldn't understand it, said Garlough. "Not being able to read took my self-confidence away," she said.

Garlough blames no one for her failure to learn to read properly as a child, although she admits that her parents didn't read and she grew up in a non-functional environment.

She was introduced to the program when a friend took her to the Cornwall Trade Show and discreetly led her over to the Tri-County Literacy Council display.

"When I started tutoring with Bruce (Henbest) four years ago, we worked together at least three hours a week," said Garlough. " And it's not just for reading."

The program covers everything from reading menus and prescriptions to giving change and doing day-to-day things.

Henbest, along with the other trained tutors, were required to attend a 12-hour workshop and were willing to spend time with their students. The books are provided free of charge to the volunteer tutors and students are asked to pay $9 for theirs, if they can afford it.

"We depend on the generosity of donations, and the Morrisburg businesses have been a big help," said Darlene Lortie, vice - chairperson, publicity and promotions, and a volunteer herself. "As well, we are planning major fundraising events for the near future."

The first will be an Open House at the Dundas Community Learning Centre on Saturday, December 8, from 2-4 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

As well, the group will continue giving presentations to anyone who requests, to demonstrate how the program works, why it is necessary and give reasons for illiteracy with statistics. Numerous Service Clubs and Lions Clubs have seen the presentation.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Centre should call 774-HELP and leave their first name only on the answering machine, or attend the open house and see what the program is all about.

Debentures almost paid off

Morrisburg Hydro rates go up 8.5 per cent

MORRISBURG - The Morrisburg Hydro Commission approved an 8.5 per cent increase to its customers for 1991 at a meeting last Tuesday.

While Ontario Hydro passed an 8.74 per cent increase to the Village of Morrisburg, the local utility was able to absorb a small percentage of the costs, and pass on an 8.5 per cent increase.

The increase will be applied to both commercial and residential customers.

"The over-all rate increase compares with rates across the province," said Hydro commission chairman John Allison.

"The increase is neither high nor low.

We've had good reserves over the years. We've been conscious of what we're doing, and think we can keep the rates more competitive regarding other utilities," he explained.

The rate increase is to take place on January 1.

At this time, if the proposed GST becomes law, there will be an additional 7 per cent on energy bills.

On each customer's Hydro bill, 80-85 per cent goes for the cost of power, and 18-20 per cent is for costs of operating the utility, including equipment, administration, and wages.

The total 1991 budget for Morrisburg Hydro is estimated at $2 million.

The 1991 capital budget stands at $140,000 and includes distribution system overhead and equipment, transformers, meters, and miscellaneous items.

Morrisburg Hydro is currently planning to purchase a truck either in 1991 or 1992.

Allison added Hydro's old 1981$15,000 debenture for purchase of a 44 KV (thousand volt) extension line to the industrial park will be paid off December 1.

A $50,000 debenture made two years ago towards construction of a new substation near the CNR line will be reduced to $30,000 by the same time.

council would prefer an extension of the deadline, so the project can go to tender.

"It appears we'll be ready in early April to start construction depending on the weather of course," said McAllister.

An advisory committee consisting of school board members and township representatives will meet to discuss the agreement and floor plan this week.

"If satisfied with the agreement, it will go to council and the school board. If approved by both groups it will be signed for a final agreement," McAllister said.

The Rothwell Osnabruck project has been near the top of the school board's capital forecast list for four to five years, and was promised $285,000 in a provincial grant.

The Board will also be using about $451,000 to pay for the project, funds which have been freed up under Section 12, as a legislative grant.

The monies are given to the Public Board as compensation for the transfer of La Citadelle School in Cornwall to the Separate School Board.

But despite these funds, the board still has a total shortfall of about $500,000 for its share of funding the large project, and decided at a recent meeting to discuss properties, to find the money from local taxation.

"The Board decided because of community involvement, to find the money through the 1991 budget," Hastings explained.

"The battle that's been raging was to avoid putting it in taxes. But I worried about pressuring the ministry for a few hundred thousand in one place when we needed $700,000 in another," he stated.

"The ministry has a habit when they give out money of saying, that's your 1991 allotment. Therefore anything else you do you'll have to go to the taxpayers and I didn't want to do that particularly."

"There's a merit in the motion to provide the funds in the 1991 budget and not worry about getting it from the ministry, which we've been trying to for over a year.

This could free bigger grants for where it's really needed."

South Nation River

Engineer presents $1.8 million channelization project

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

BRINSTON - About 20 area residents gathered here Thursday to hear engineer Phil McNeely describe an estimated $1.8 million proposed channelization project for the South Branch of the South Nation River.

For years, the area has been troubled by flooding and farmers have lost hundreds of thousands in revenue due to an inability to plant or take their crops off.

The area intended for excavation is the river bottom from Taylor's Bridge to Oak Valley where the South Branch meets the main branch of the river.

If the project goes through, costs would be levied against about 1,000 landowners.

All of the benefitting area is located in Matilda and 64 per cent of the outlet assessments are in Matilda, and Mountain Townships, and 36 per cent are in Edwardsburgh Township.

McNeely handed out lists with suggested assessments for the benefitting areas and outlets, but stressed,

"It'll be tough either way. In any case, we must come up with $800,000 for the final report," he stated

Outlet assessments vary according to soil type with wooded or cleared sandy soil, silt or loam soil at lower rates than cleared or wooded clay soil.

However, rates for each soil type are the same throughout the watershed.

Edwardsburgh reeve Dave Sloan argued that those in the western area shouldn't have to pay as much as those adjacent to the watershed.

"In the peak, the water in the remote part of the watershed causes the same problem as water adjacent to the watershed.

Hydraulically, we can't justify it," McNeely replied.

McNeely admitted the proposal was "a problem project that involves a lot of people, and a lot of money.

But if people are to get relief they must be willing to pay their share of the cost," he said.

It is hoped that one-third or $600,000 of the project would be paid under the Drainage Act by the Ministry of Agriculture, and that the South Nation River Conservation Authority would contribute to offset the remaining $1.2 million costs to landowners.

McNeely had met with the Authority, suggesting they contribute $400,000 towards the project.

"I believe the Conservation Authority will pay $400,000 providing we're subsidized by the Ministry of Natural Resources, because the project could alleviate flooding," said Authority chairman Johnny Whitteker.

The Authority is hoping the ministry will kick in half the amount at $200,000.

Whitteker said he couldn't promise the funding but the Authority would provide support "in any possible way."

He suggested municipal and conservation authority representatives contact the new Minister of Natural Resources in Toronto with this request.

In about three weeks the engineer will have prepared the preliminary report to send to landowners who signed the petition requesting drainage.

Another meeting is to be held before Christmas.

If there is sufficient support, a final report including a description of work and assessments will be sent to those affected.

The report will be followed by another meeting in February or March.

"The preliminary report gives the landowner an idea of the area to be affected, what the engineer thinks the possible solutions are and what the total cost is," said John Johnston, manager of the Resources Management Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

"It lets people know if the project will pay for itself," he added.

He stated the Ministry of Agriculture would help pay costs of the preliminary report, but not the final report if the landowners backed out at the last minute.

One requirement at a later stage would be identification of fish habitat in the area to be drained, and an environmental assessment of the project.

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources would ask for an assessment as required by the Department of Fisheries and Oceans.

Help available in the area for drug users

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

Although the official week for drug awareness (November 18-24) is over, the war against drugs and alcohol in society must never end.

Before the war can even begin, however, everyone must realize that awareness of a problem is the key, and once a user admits there is a problem, steps can be taken towards a cure.

Help is available right in this area for people with drug or alcohol problems. Confidentiality will be maintained at all times and there are no fee for these services.

In Cornwall, the Eastern Ontario Health Unit has a drug addiction program which provides information, consultation, individual assessment, referral to appropriate resources, follow-up and prevention.

The main office is located at 1000 Pitt Street and is open Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. For further information, call toll free 1-800-267-7120.

For young men and women (ages 16-24) Valois Place at 107 Belmont Street in Cornwall is also available. This is a non-profit addiction recovery agency which provides a comfortable and supportive residence for 14 people. The professionally trained staff gives counselling in both French and English.

Valois Place offers a six month program, but is flexible according to individual needs. All residents must be referred. The number to call is (613) 938-7715.

The Friendship Welcome Center, also in Cornwall, is open to any male who claims to have the desire to quit drinking. The Friendship House is a non-profit residential home offering rehabilitation to any male with a drinking problem. Support and direction is provided by the staff and members of the community to help the resident establish a better way of living. The house has accommodation for 16 male residents. Friendship House receives referrals from various sources in the community or can be located at 339 Second Street East, Cornwall.

For those drinking, alone, afraid, and wanting to quit, the Detoxification Centre in Cornwall is another place to go for help.

The centre has 24 hour daily admission, a 15 bed capacity, trained and dedicated, male and female staff, who provide a safe, secure, friendly and empathetic atmosphere in which to help those suffering from intoxication or withdrawal, resulting from alcohol or other substance abuse. The 24-hour line to reach the centre is (613) 938-8506.

In Williamstown, Mount Carmel house Treatment Centre, Inc. serves both male and female, ranging in ages from 16-70. Employed or unemployed; professionals and laborers; rich and poor, educated and illiterate.

The program consists of three phases, Phase I includes a residential for 35 days, Phase II is made up of a 12-week follow-up period and Phase III is after care services for two years to clients and family members. Service is available anytime by calling (613) 347-3867 or (613) 3886.

Although many people feel that drug and alcohol problems arise through the use of "street drugs", often misuse of prescription and over-the-counter drugs result in addiction as well.

In the holiday spirit

For a great many people, any holiday is an ample excuse for a lot of heavy drinking. Whether you're at the company Christmas party, a bar on New Year's eve, or at home with a few friends, it is probable that alcohol will be freely available. So whether you are consuming or providing the alcohol, please use your common sense.

Keep in mind that quite a number of people prefer not to drink alcohol. If you're hosting a get-together, have some non-alcoholic beverages available. And have a glass yourself with your non-drinking friends. It will make them feel more comfortable with their choice and show them that you understand their decision not to drink.

Whether you are a consumer or a provider, remember the one-one formula: one drink in one hour. The average human body can probably rid itself of alcohol from one drink in approximately one hour. Any excess intake leads to intoxication, which can lead to safety and health problems.

One way to ensure the safety of your guests is for yourself or someone you can count on to serve as a bartender. That way, you can maintain a degree of control. You should also close the bar an hour before the party is over—offering coffee and snacks before your guests drive home.

Should a guest become intoxicated, you can still help to alleviate a potentially dangerous situation. If you can't drive the person home, ask someone else to do so, or call a taxi. And if that's out of the question, invite the person to stay overnight. Don't let your intoxicated friends drive. Winter driving is dangerous enough, without taking a chance on impaired reflexes.

National Safe Driving Week

The first seven days of December are traditionally observed in Canada as National Safe Driving Week — seven days in which all Canadians are urged to make a special effort to improve their driving habits, and to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities on the highways. Sponsored by the Canada Safety Council, this year's will be the 35th such observance, and for the second consecutive year, the theme of Safe Driving Week is "Courtesy is ...."; this theme, established last year, highlights the role we all play in ensuring our roads are safe. The 1990 campaign is focusing on two aspects of courteous driving. The first is that all road users should become aware of the special needs of truck and bus drivers, and to extend courtesy to them while sharing the road. People who have never driven a heavy vehicle are often unaware of their extra requirements for stopping or manoeuvering in traffic. The second focus is to raise awareness of our joint responsibility in helping new drivers learn to cope on the road. New drivers are much more likely than others to be involved in a collision, but there are many ways we can help to reduce the statistics. More than 4,000 Canadians are killed each year on the nation's roadways. This is a tragic waste of life. Courtesy on the road is basically a constant consideration of the other drivers sharing the same highway, and each of these is an example of what that means:

- Keeping a safe distance between your vehicle and others on the road. Spend as little time as possible in another's blind spot. Use a 2-second following formula under normal traffic conditions, longer in bad weather or heavy traffic. If someone is following you too closely, increase the space ahead. Creating a "space cushion" around the vehicle allows more time for you and others to react to the unexpected.
- Communicating with other road users. Signal your intentions well in advance so people can take action as may be required.
- Remembering that not all drivers have the same quick reactions or ability to understand a situation in a hurry. To compensate, they may drive slower or they may make sudden lane changes or turns. It is important to be tolerant and to be prepared for the unexpected at all times. Don't react to other drivers in anger or frustration; your reaction may be a greater hazard than their initial action.
- Obeying the traffic law. Traffic lights have been created to keep the roads safe and the traffic moving. Each motorist who breaks the law increases the risk for other road users.
- Helping other road users to see your vehicle by keeping your low beam headlights on at all times. Keep your car and your windows clean to improve your ability to see and be seen.
- Driving requires all your concentration. Don't try to accomplish other activities at the same time. If you plan to buy a cellular phone, get a 'hands-free' model, pull off the road to use it. Do not eat or drink while driving. Keep your hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road.
- Never to mix drinking and driving. If you plan to drink, plan also to have a designated driver, or use a cab.
- Respecting the rights of others. Pedestrians, too, have a special status as road users. As a driver, you are required to yield to them the right-of-way. Stop well before the cross-walk, so you do not block the view of other drivers. Give pedestrians as much time as they need. Children, senior citizens and disabled persons may take longer than others. Do not try to rush pedestrians by honking the horn, inching your car forward, or other actions that indicate impatience.
- Use your horn only as it was intended. That is, to warn other drivers of a hazard or to get their attention when a need arises. Do not honk your horn because you are annoyed at another driver's behaviour. This too, could have negative consequences, a danger to both parties.

Always bear in mind that not all drivers have the same skills and abilities, but everyone has the right to share the road. Your actions will have an impact on others. And remember too, that courtesy is catching....pass it along, not just during Safe Driving Week, but every week throughout the year.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

It was reported in this issue of The Leader that a 19-year-old girl from Osnabruck Township was viciously attacked by a Doberman Pinscher, and as a result, she received 68 stitches to her face. Faye McAllister was at a party at the home of Shirley Cameron when the incident took place. Cameron's son was apparently instructed not to have anyone over in light of the fact that the dog had previously underwent major surgery. The animal was trained to protect, but because McAllister had owned a Doberman, she felt safe in making an advance to pat the dog. As she did so, the dog moved toward her face and inflicted lacerations. McAllister was then taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall, where she was advised to inform the Eastern Ontario Health Unit of the attack.

The Long Sault detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police made a local effort to promote the use of seat belts. Along with this, they also made extra efforts to lessen the drunk driving accidents. A survey done by the detachment showed that of the 130 automobiles checked, 60 warnings were issued. Police estimated that 35 per cent of local individuals were not complying with the seat belt rules.

Regent Knitting Mills, a Montreal textile plant which manufactures sportswear, rejected a location in the Morrisburg Industrial Park, which for the previous two years had been under consideration as the site of an Eastern Ontario branch plant. The company chose to locate in Smiths Falls. The Mills had all but finalized the purchase of the Lanark Building in Smiths Falls for the new plant, where fabric used in high fashion sportswear would be manufactured. The expansion plant would employ roughly 125-140 people on a three-shifts basis.

The Annual Founders' Bonspiel was held at the Morrisburg Curling Club on December 5, with teams from Ottawa, Cornwall, Russell and Winchester competing. The Founders' Trophy was won by a team from Carleton Heights, skipped by Albert Sewell, and it was Brian Arkinstall, Jim Campbell and Roy Bowes who made up the rest of the team. The two-game runner up winners were Glen Vasey, Gary Collins, John Gray and George Davidson from Winchester.

Morrisburg electors displayed more interest in the civic election on Monday, December 7. When the counting of the ballots was completed the voters had elected the same council which had served them for the previous two years. Reeve C. F. McInnis had been acclaimed earlier when his was the only nomination received for that office. Deputy Reeve Edwin T. Jones defeated his only challenger,John D. Owen. Earl Baker again led the poll for the three available council seats with 467 votes. E. Bruce Tuttle followed with 368, and Robert Bright had 308. One new member was elected for the local Hydro Commission, Thomas Jones replaced Lawrence Coligan who had been a member for the previous two years. John Thompson was re-elected as the other member of the two-man commission.

Edith's Beauty Salon on Lakeshore Drive was advertising "for a lovelier you" with a pre-Christmas special on perms. The regular price of $10 was slashed down to $6 for the holiday season.

For years prior to the 1960s, surgeons had been inserting a wide assortment of plastic valves, Dacron aortas, and electronic stimulators to help faltering human hearts. They predicted that someday in the future, a doctor would cut out the heart altogether and replace it with an electronic pump. Dr, William J. Kolff, director of the department of artificial organs at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, said he would be very disappointed if a workable artificial human heart wasn't ready in three years. A pioneer in developing the temporary heart-lung machine and the artificial kidney used when patients were undergoing surgery, Kolff tried out models of a permanent artificial heart in dogs for periods up to five hours. His idea went like this; it would be like a small motor-driven pump. Two wires would come out of the chest and into a portable battery. The battery would last long enough to take you from one electrical outlet to another or to the cigarette lighter in your car.

A helpful hint for the avid deer hunter. A rubber-tired wheelbarrow is excellent for getting deer carcass out of the woods. It saves a lot of back-breaking work. Tie a rope to the front of the wheelbarrow so your hunting partner can help pull the load up hill or over rough terrain. Every hunter who has rifled his way up the sporting scale—rabbit to white-tailed deer—has dreamt of the day that he could turn the sights of his gun on a grizzly bear, or pump lead through the heart of a moose. Hunters who have shot both prefer to take on a grizzly rather than tangle with a bull moose. This massive creature with the huge antlers and a misplaced goatee, is a bulldozer on hoofs and when the fall hunt is on, he's anxious for a scrap.

Arctic birds were seen in the area at the end of November, and local hunters were quite puzzled as to where they were coming from. M. D. Patrick, a Land and Forest biologist at Kemptville, identified the bird as a Common Murre whose habitat is the northern part of the Atlantic Ocean. Sometimes they are driven from their home regions by storms and gales. It was thought that the birds landed in this area due to the wind storm which blew through on the weekend of the sightings.

Some slick tips for winter safety. Winter driving with its slippery roads and fogged windshields calls for extra caution on the road. 1. Adjust speed to conditions. Follow speed patterns set by the majority of drivers. Keep windshield and windows clear of snow and ice; lower windows to maintain side vision if necessary. 2. Normal use of brakes on a slippery surface may lock the wheels and throw your vehicle out of control. Use an intermittent brake application for stops. On an emergency, disengage clutch and jab brake rapidly. 3. Tire chains are the most effective self-help for the motorist in increasing traction on icy and snowy surfaces. Remember that chains do not provide steering control necessary on curves. 4. Follow other vehicles at a safe enough distance to permit a stop or allow ample room for getting out of danger if the vehicle ahead should suddenly stop. Multiple collisions are frequent on icy roads....drive safely!

1940

A plan to salvage the 1940 automobile license plates by the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, was announced December 6 by Ontario's Prime Minister, Mitchell Hepburn. He stated that if most of the plates were recovered, the Red Cross funds would benefit by a substantial sum and almost 300 tons of scrap steel would be made available for war purposes.

The war was making a change in the type of toys Santa Claus was going to pack into his bag at Christmas. A casual glance around toy stores indicated that the war

Around the Town — Sam Laurin

It's just about time to make the traditional trip up to Fowlers' Tree Farm to get our family Christmas tree. We were talking about going the other day, and Terry's wife Judy asked us if we could pick up one for them. Anyone who heard about their beautiful needleless tree last year would make you wonder why Judy doesn't want Terry to cut their own.

Right around Christmas time, the service clubs in the area become very active in helping some of the needy families around us. The Morrisburg Lions Club is just one of these giving organizations, and they give in more ways than one. Last Sunday night, for instance, we played hockey against the Lions' team, and there they were giving out free trips, as well as free checks and little hooks.

The Morrisburg-Waddington Bowling League was in action again on the weekend, and we understand the "Braindeads'" team captain really pulled up his socks. We also heard that "duty-free" Audrey Henophy is now on the injured reserve list.

The Morrisburg BIA will be holding its annual meeting on December 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Morrisburg Civic Centre. All BIA members are urged to attend this meeting.

Anyone looking for Christmas goodies can buy them at the Eastern Star's bake sale on Saturday, December 8 at the old Gorrell & Grenkie Law Office. The sale opens at 10:30 a.m.

The Environmental Resource Centre is holding an "Environmentally Friendly Christmas Workshop" on Monday, December 3 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The Resource Centre is located at 17 Second Street, Morrisburg.

Speaking with Charlie Cassell last week, I was left wondering why anyone would ever want to operate a gas/propane station, retail outlet. After the GST passes, poor Charlie will be administering nine different taxes for the various levels of government. Good luck, Charlie.

We almost forgot to invite anyone interested in figure skating to come and see Keith Johnston doing his double salchows at the Morrisburg Arena on Sunday nights.

All children are invited to take part in The Leader's Christmas Coloring Contest this year. All the details appear on page 12 of this issue.

EARLY CURLERS BROUGHT FAME AND TROPHIES TO MORRISBURG CLUB

trend had made itself felt in the manufacturing business. Tiny army tanks, bristling with toy guns, artillery, aircraft of every description, soldiers and other war toys indicated that the manufacturers knew boys liked to watch a military parade and see the troops and equipment in 'action'. For the girls, the manufacturers had toy nurses dressed in the Red Cross uniforms.

Jokes of the decade...The man who pokes fun at a woman trying to drive through a 12-foot garage door usually sobers up when he tries to thread a needle...A prison visitor was doing her noble best. "And what sort of a man are you going to be when you get out of prison?" she asked one of the inmates.

"An old one, lady," replied a convict.

A memorial was held on November 24, to commemorate the lives lost due to a drillboat accident earlier in the summer, at Cockburn Island near Brockville. The boat called J. B. King, exploded and killed 30 people as the contractors onboard were trying to remove the shoals in the Brockville narrows. The cairn was erected by the contractors hired to do the job, J. P. Porter and Son of St. Catherines. The disaster occurred during an electrical storm.

A fire that threatened to destroy a great portion of the buildings at Winchester Springs occurred Monday November 24, in the morning hours. The fire was discovered in a shed in the rear of Jason Barrigar's home by a neighbor, Mrs. Merkley. The flames quickly spread to other areas, and it looked as though all the buildings east and south were likely to be engulfed as well. The heroic efforts of the neighbors, and those who went to the scene in reply to telephone calls, contained the fire to the two buildings. Both homes were owned by B Barriger. Very little contents were saved and the loss totaled over $3,000. It was partially covered by insurance.

Some local gossip...Clayton Seeley of Morrisburg spent the weekend with his parents. ...Robert Merkley returned home on Friday, after spending the past three months in the Navy at Halifax, Nova Scotia...Dr. W. H. Woodrow, Brockville, was appointed a member of the Board of Directors of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, as the representative of Eastern Ontario...Fire which originated from an unknown source at 2 a.m. November 25, damaged the building known as Black's Meat Market, Main St. Morrisburg. Smoke and water damage destroyed the meat stock. Black was able to resume business on Wednesday.

In this issue of The Leader, it was reported that a very special meeting of the Literary Society of the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute was held. The prizes for the Athletic Competitions of the year were presented, an interesting literary program was put on by the students, but the event of the evening was the unveiling of a fine brass tablet in honor of the students of the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute who volunteered for overseas services in the Great War. Irwin Hilliard K. C., and Ven. Archdecon C. O. Carson M. A. were the chief speakers, and they commented on the worthy cause and the record memorialized by this fine tablet. The Roll contained the names of 82 ex-students, nine of whom paid the supreme price.

The people of Morrisburg were looking forward to the erection of the Soldiers' Memorial Statue. It was to be erected on the front lawn of the new post office in the summer of 1921. The 18-foot high statue cost over $10,000 and was erected to honor the soldiers and the town of Morrisburg. Deeply conscious of the great sacrifice of the Warriors, who gave their tomorrows for our todays, the people of Morrisburg contributed most generously towards the commendable undertaking.

Just a Word

KIM TOSHACK

Morrisburg. Well, I've been working here in Morrisburg for just over six months now, and I must say, the kindness and generosity of the people in this small village continually amazes me.

After living in Belleville, the "friendly city" for two years of college, I never became acquainted with as many people as I have here, nor did I get to know the street names or general area like I've learned in Morrisburg.

Now some people might say that the reasons for this lay in the type of job I hold, but I don't agree. I think the reason I like Morrisburg so much is entirely because of the people I have met.

I have watched different organizations hold successful fundraising events, I've seen the police and fire departments extricate a living person from a twisted mangled mess of steel following an accident, and I've even written about a hero who rescued two men from drowning.

The people in the Village of Morrisburg and the surrounding area really care!

Sure, big cities like Belleville have more stores, restaurants, and raquet clubs, but they lack a great deal too.

I lived right across the hall from a family for two years and never once had them speak to me. I didn't even know their names. Sad, isn't it?

Morrisburg, although it doesn't have a McDonald's, Burger King or Harvey's, has the greatest ingredient of all...people.

And everytime someone drives by the signs at the edge of town, the welcome mat is out. Morrisburg is a great place and everyone who lives in it should be proud to call it home.

IN MEMORIAM

FREER—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Marlene, who passed away November 26, 1989.

Her memory we shall always keep.

RICHMIRE—In loving memory of a dear father, Roger, who passed away December 1, 1989.

And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
More each day we miss you, father,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

First place Hawks hand Jr. B Lions 17-1 loss

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg Lions didn't know what hit them when they played host to the first place Winchester Hawks on Friday night in the Rideau-St. Lawrence Jr. B. Hockey League and losing drastically, 17-1.

The Hawks out-skated, out-thought, out-maneuvered the home team, and the score board showed just that.

There were a few times in the first period that the opportunity to score presented itself to Morrisburg, but the team couldn't capitalize on them. It could have proven to be the turn-around point for Morrisburg, but instead it was their downfall.

Winchester pumped goal after goal into the net past both Daryl Kiviaho and Jeff Hopkins, but try as they might, the boys from the den couldn't seem to stop the shots.

The first period ended 4-0.

it was Derek Austin who counted two, while Sean Garoan and centre Todd Marcellus took one each for the visitors.

Period two was worse than the first, as seven more goals were scored on the Lions.

Scott Bell picked up a hat trick, and Chris Williams, Jason Doucette, Doug Armstrong and Jeff Holmes each counted one.

Morrisburg's only goal came in the third from Michel Forget. Yvon Besner and John Morrow assisted on the play.

Winchester showed no mercy as the third period brought six more goals.

Marcellus scored goal number two and three, and Garoan, Holmes, Brennan and Armstrong picked up one apiece as well.

Morrisburg did manage to out-sit the Hawks in the box as they picked up 18 minutes in minors to Winchester's 16 minutes.

McAllister gets hat trick

After the major upset on Friday night, the Lions seemed to shake it off and went on to Spencerville Saturday night, and turned the tables to out-shoot the Rangers 11-6.

The first period ended in a three-all tie, but it was period two when the Lions showed the Rangers what they were made of.

Five goals in the second went unanswered by South Grenville, and the confidence returned to the boys in white and blue.

South Grenville fought back in the third period as three goals counted, but Morrisburg held on to the lead and pumped in three themselves.

Jason Smith had help in the first period from Craig Villeneuve and Rob Casselman for the first goal of the game. It was then Tim Casselman's turn to score. He was unassisted.

Rangers' captain Craig VanPatten, got by Morrisburg's Kiviaho, and then it was Steve Gregus who tied the score at two.

South Grenville went ahead momentarily when Mark Bruce scored unassisted, but Morrisburg tied it up again on Mike McAllister's first of three goals.

Two power-play goals opened up the second period, as Andrew McEwan and Yvon Besner each fired one by the Rangers' goalie, Tim Gilmour.

Jeremy Morrow claimed the team's number six goal off a pass from McEwan.

A short-handed, unassisted goal was scored by McAllister as he picked up goal number two in the game.

Dean Beckstead fired one in with help from John Morrow and Yvon Besner to end the second period 8-3.

South Grenville came back to life in the third, as Scott Steel scored for the home team.

Morrisburg's Ernie Beckstead found the net off a Besner pass for the team's first goal in the third period.

Brent Fortin scored on a power-play for South Grenville, off a pass from Tory Dechamps.

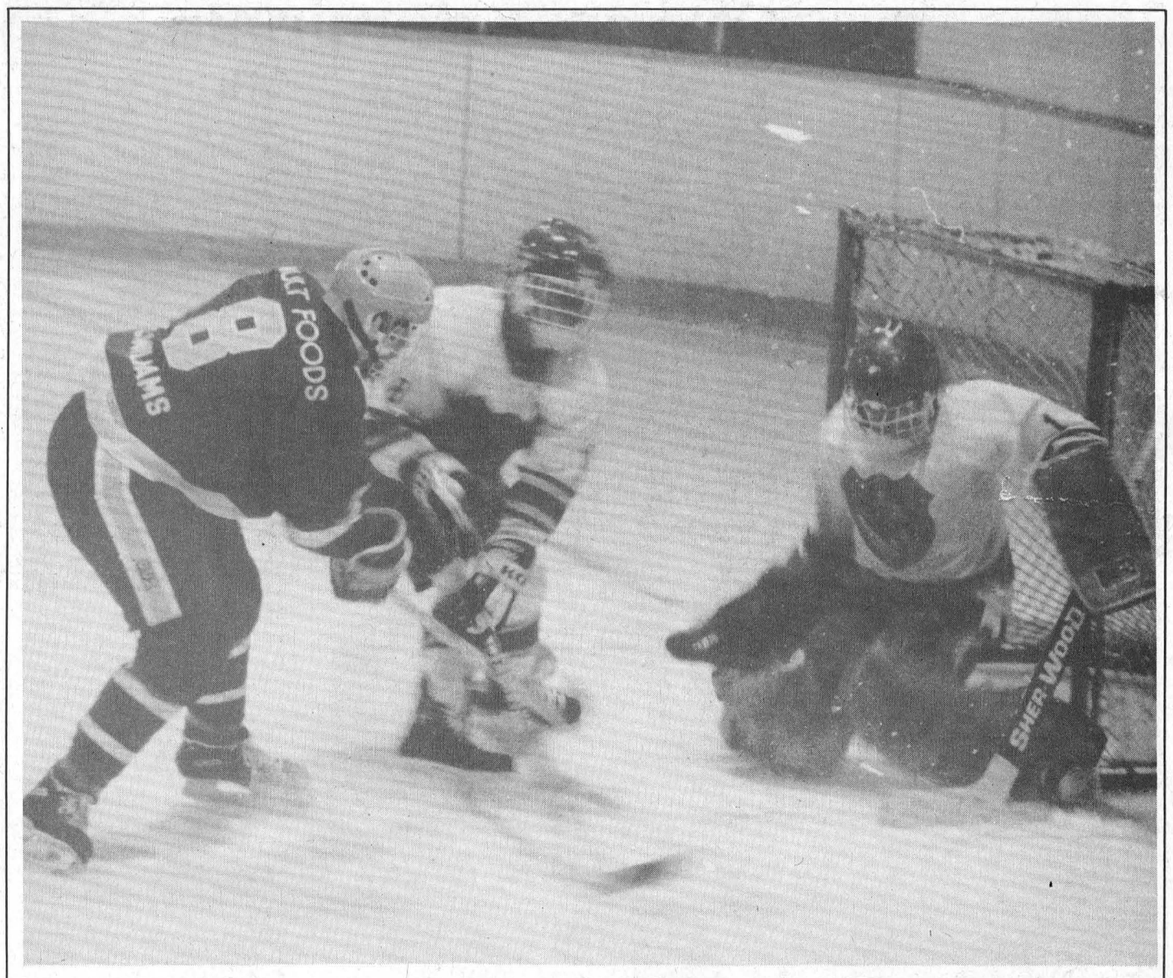
John Morrow scored for the visiting Lions when the Rangers were short-handed. He was assisted by Ernie Beckstead and Derek Holmes.

The Rangers last goal came with 4:09 remaining, and it was Ivan Limburg who scored.

McAllister finished off the scoring for the Lions and was credited with a hat trick.

A 10-minute misconduct was given to Morrisburg as well as to the Rangers, and there were 25 minutes of minors tacked on to Morrisburg's time as well. South Grenville received 30 minutes of minors.

Morrisburg will be hosting the boys from North Leeds as Westport travels here for an 8:30 p.m. start on Friday night. On Sunday, December 2, the Lions will be in Kemptville for a contest against the 73s at 8:30 p.m. as well.



There goes another one!

The Lions played to a capacity crowd Friday night in Morrisburg, but the fans were there to cheer for the Hawks as Winchester went home with a 17-1 win. Saturday night, the boys travelled to Spencerville and had a better showing with a victory, yes a victory of 11-6.

Banford and Rice pick up points in Peewee B

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Morrisburg's Peewee B squad hosted Athens on Tuesday last week in the Upper Canada Hockey League, and lost a close contest, 2-1.

With less than six minutes to go in the first period, Morrisburg's Aaron Banford fired one by the Athens goalie, Chris Pringle. Daryl Kirkwood and Andrew Thompson were credited with assists.

Jeff Michel answered back for Athens as he put one by Morrisburg's netminder Mike Addlington in the first period.

Period number two was the clincher for Athens, when Cory Serson scored the game-winning goal off a pass from Chris Kavanaugh.

Morrisburg fought back but couldn't take the win from a persistent visiting club.

Athens was hit with only nine minutes of minors, and Morrisburg saw even less box time with eight minutes.

Morrisburg 3, Metcalfe 2

The boys travelled to Metcalfe on Thursday for another close match, but came up on the winning end in this one, as they took the game 3-2.

Jason Rice was credited with the first goal for Morrisburg when he and Aaron Banford tore up the ice and outsmarted Metcalfe's Jean Faubert in the first period.

Period two was dominated by the Morrisburg team as they counted two more goals to maintain the lead 3-0.

Banford and Rice were at it again, but it was Banford who scored goal number two for the team.

Jason Bailey fired what proved to be the game-winning goal for Morrisburg in the second period. He was unassisted.

Metcalfe came alive in the third with a pair of goals on Morrisburg's Mike Addlington, but Morrisburg was determined to take home the win, and managed to keep a strong hold on the one-goal lead.

Steven James and Chad Guy were the goal scorers for Metcalfe.

Dan Rice,manager of the Morrisburg club, was pleased with the team's efforts. "They played very well in Metcalfe," he said. "And even though we lost by one goal in Athens, the boys did their best. Sometimes the score doesn't say a lot about the way the team plays."

Twelve minutes in penalties went to Morrisburg, while Metcalfe only saw four minutes of minors.

MORRISBURG—Following Sunday's first-ever Invitational Freeskate Competition, skaters from the Morrisburg Figure Skating Club (M.F.S.C.) took home 15 bronze, silver or gold medallions, making them the top skaters out of 11 different clubs.

The competition was held in accordance with the General Rules and Regulations of the Canadian Figure Skating Association (C.F.S.A.), and hosted skaters from Smith Falls, Metcalfe, Nepean, Brockville, Prescott, Township of Cornwall, Cornwall, Alexandria, Athens, Cardinal and Morrisburg.

Skaters were divided into seven regular divisions, depending on tests passed, length of music and age. The categories included Pre-Preliminary, Preliminary, Junior Bronze, Senior Bronze, Junior Silver, Senior Silver and Gold.

In an added division, organizers from M.F.S.C. put together a Showcase Event. In this, performances were judged on theatrical and artistic qualities from an entertainment standpoint. Technical skating skill and difficulty greater than a single jump were not marked. This was the only category in the competition which permitted vocals in music.

The competition ran smoothly, beginning at 10 p.m. until approximately 6 p.m. C.F.S.A. judges for the Invitational included Michelle Miller, Joanne Fournell, Gord Markham, Dennis Gurnhill, Janet Smallman, Ron Conacher, Glen Fortin and Ruth Mead.

Starting off the day for the Morrisburg team was Jane Locke who placed first in Preliminary Ladies, Flight One. Crystal Cassell took third place in the same category. In Preliminary Ladies Flight Two, Nicole Lapier captured the silver medal, while Tara Baelde got fifth spot. Stephanie Chung took home a gold for her performance in Flight Three of the same category, and following closely behind in second place was Barbi Law.

In the men's Preliminary category, Kenneth Chung of M.F.S.C. was the winner of the gold.

Amidst the Junior Bronze Ladies, Shannon Brown captured the bronze, giving her club one more medal winner, while Julie Wells took second place in the Senior Bronze Ladies.

Getting into the more technical skating, Morrisburg continued to maintain it's high standards of the day, coming out on top in both the Junior Silver Ladies division and the Gold Ladies. Doing the honors for M.F.S.C. were Melanie Warren and Allison Scott respectively.

Judges for the Showcase Event were interested people from the community who may have had little technical skating background. This included Brenda Waddell, Stephen Law, Peter Cazely, Marshall Button and Kim Toshack.

In this category, Morrisburg took home five more medallions. Taking second place in the Preliminary Showcase Ladies was Amy Darling, while Kristen Crocker and Heather Robertson took second and third place in the Intermediate Showcase. Finishing the day off with a bang were the two final Morrisburg skaters, Trisha Elliott and Melanie Warren, who took home the gold and silver in the Novice Ladies Showcase.

However, despite the skill and talent all of the skaters possessed, the day would not have been possible without the work of the people behind the scenes.

Filling the role of competition chairperson was Gordon Brister, technical representative was Michael Woogh, and chief accountant was Jane Crane. Other accountants included Ingrid Conley, Joan Addison, Doreen Patterson and Joan Hubbard. The day's announcers were Carmen Massie and Joanne Notman, and ice captains were Barb Robertson and Mike Metcalfe.

As well, the sponsors of the competition and the support of the parents made Morrisburg's First-Ever Invitational Freeskate 1990 possible, as well as a great success.

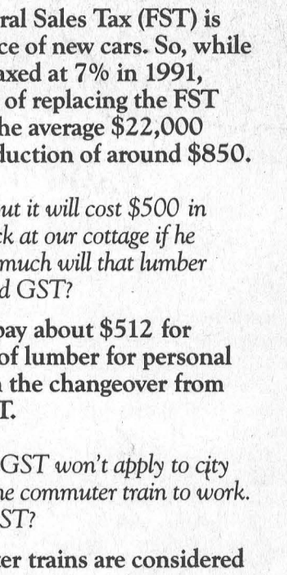
GST?

THIS WEEK YOU ASKED THE GST CONSUMER INFORMATION OFFICE.



Q: I'm thinking of buying a new car in 1991. How will the proposed GST affect prices?

A: The outgoing Federal Sales Tax (FST) is now part of the price of new cars. So, while they will be fully taxed at 7% in 1991, the expected effect of replacing the FST with the GST on the average $22,000 mid-size car is a reduction of around $850.

Q: My son has figured out it will cost $500 in lumber to build a dock at our cottage if he bought it now. How much will that lumber cost with the proposed GST?

A: You can expect to pay about $512 for that same amount of lumber for personal use based solely on the changeover from the FST to the GST.

Q: I know the proposed GST won't apply to city bus fares but I take the commuter train to work. Will I have to pay GST?

A: No. Daily commuter trains are considered a municipal transit service, so fares are exempt from GST.

We're here to answer your questions about how the GST will affect prices. Call us toll-free Monday to Friday 9am-9pm. Ask for your free copy of the "Consumer's Guide to the GST and Prices."

The answer is to call your GST Consumer Information Office.

Enthusiasm evident among area groups

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Once again, the people of South Dundas have proven their willingness to help out the many in the area with less to celebrate at Christmas.

Although the goal is the same for everyone, to help the unfortunate in this area, the methods are varying among all of the groups in the community. Everyone wants to get into the act this year.

The committee of the South Dundas Christmas Exchange is pleased with the response from various groups thus far and are receiving news of special events planned in the area for this year's food drive.

At Seaway District High School in Iroquois, students will be participating in a contest with North Dundas with a point being given for each can of food brought in by a student. The top school will receive a plaque.

Mary Dulmage, student council president, reports that there will also be an in-school contest at Seaway.

The local Lion's Clubs have also been doing a great deal. The Morrisburg and District Lion's placed their Angel tree in the Bank of Nova Scotia while the Iroquois-Matilda Lion's Club are once again donating money. As well, they are collecting bulk food from local industries.

Amongst the churches, the Iroquois United Church has food boxes in their church and Brinston United Church has held their White Gift Sunday and are collecting food.

Iroquois Presbyterian Church and Lakeshore Drive United Church are having a "Mitten Tree" and food collections.

As well, Lakeshore Drive United Church will be holding their "White Gift Sunday" on December 16.

Rev. Harvey Brown reports that the Anglican parishes in both Morrisburg and Iroquois will be contributing food and money.

Williamsburg United Church will be collecting gifts for 42 children, as they have an Angel tree set up also.

Morrisburg Presbyterian Church has already made a sizeable donation while Odonto and Beaver Dental employees are once again making a contribution of food.

St. Mary's school children have had a food drive and wish to contribute to the Christmas Exchange.

The Banks of Montreal in Williamsburg, Iroquois and Morrisburg have jars in which cash and cheque contributions may be made.

Treasurer Val Howald will be available at Thom's Travel for larger contributions from groups and it is hoped these monies will be deposited before the 20th of December.

Citizen's are also asked to watch for bins designed for food contributions in banks and grocery stores.

Organizers wish to thank everyone for their help this Christmas and invite every group to participate and get involved.

For further information on the South Dundas Christmas Exchange or giving donations, contact Melba at 652-4142.
