Funeral Late D.H D.McMillan Largely Attended At Finch

A large concourse of friends, relatives and neighbours gathered at the home of D.H.D. MacMillan of Finch, on Sunday afternoon, February 7, to pay their last tribute of respect to a pioneer resident of Finch Township, who passed away suddenly on February 3, with hemorrhage of the brain. He lived his entire life in this community and passed his 87 birthday on January 4. By his truly Christian character he won for himself a host of friends. In religion he was a Presbyterian and a staunch supporter of the church.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. R. Millar, pastor of St. Luke's Presbyterian church, who delivered a comforting message to the relatives.

Hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Shall We Gather At The River". Mrs. Alex MacDougall and Mrs. Pink rendered a duet, "God's Way Is The Best Way", a request of the family.

Pall bearers were D.A. Shaver, A. J. MacDougall, W. A. MacIntyre, George W. Rupert, Alex MacDougall and D. J. MacMillan.

Following the ceremony burial was made in Finch cemetery.

Telegrams of sympathy as well as floral tributes were received.

Chief mourners were three sons and four daughters—Dougal MacMillan who arrived by plane from Turner Valley, Alta.; Mrs. Elvin Bruce, Okotoks, Alta.; John D. of Cornwall; Hugh, Finch village; Mrs. Neil McRae, Crysler, Ont.; Mrs. A. H. Valrath, Finch; and Miss Maranda at home. One sister Mrs. Mary Rutley, Newington, survives. His wife predeceased him by almost three months.

Friends from a distance were Lorne MacMillan, St. Catherines; Pte. Grant MacMillan, Camp Borden; Miss Florence McRae, Ajax, Ont.; Dougal MacMillan, Turner Valley, Alta.; Mrs. George Canham, Ottawa; Miss Gertrude MacMillan, Morrisburg, and relatives from Newington, Avonmore, Moose Creek and Berwick.

MILD SPELL

The Weather Man gave us a break over the week-end, the first this winter. Practically every week-end has been cold and stormy, however this time a comparatively mild stretch of a few days was a welcome change. The snow settled down a great deal and water had begun to run over the ice covered snow in the ditches, water courses, as if it really was spring, but not so. We are back again this morning in below zero weather. That's all to the good this time as the water under the snow will have a chance to get away and possibly prevent a flood. Farmers report no frost in the ground. Perhaps it will be an early spring.

Williamsburg Couple Celebrate Twenty-Ninth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. McIntosh of Williamsburg quietly celebrated the 29 anniversary of their marriage at their farm home at Williamsburg last Thursday. They were the recipients of many congratulory messages from friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh were married in Williamsburg at the home of the bride's parents on February 18, 1914, with the late Rev. J. Maurer, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Williamsburg, officiating. They were attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. Lee Tuttle, of Morrisburg and her brother, L. E. Shannette of Williamsburg.

Mr. McIntosh is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McIntosh, of Elma. Mrs. McIntosh was formerly, Miss Mildred Shannette a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Shannette of Williamsburg.

The couple have a family of four children, one son and three daughters—Carman, the Misses Edna and Margaret Rose all at home and Mrs. Clifford Larmour at Rowena.

ONTARIO POLICE TO AID ROUNDUP OF DRAFT DODGERS

Labor Minister Mitchell announced Wednesday that an agreement has been reached with the Ontario Attorney General's Department whereby Ontario provincial police will assist the Dominion in finding men who have contravened the military call-up regulations.

The agreement now has been approved by order-in-council, Mr. Mitchell said. The prosecution of cases against offenders under the mobilization regulations on National Selective Service will, however, still be carried out by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Selective Service.

Morewood Wanakita C.G.I.T.

The Wanakita CGIT held their meeting on Saturday, February 20, at Mrs. Dixon's.

We opened with our motto, purpose and vell followed by hymn 403. The call to worship was given by Vivian Barrington. The scripture reading was in two parts, Evron Barrington reading the first part and Kathleen Marcellus the second. The minutes were read and approved. Eleven members answered the roll call. Hymn 480 was sung. Mary Popplewell read a very interesting story. Short poems were read by Edith Swerdfeger and Vivian Barrington. Mrs. Dixon led in prayer. Hymn 388 was sung followed by the business. During the world's day of prayer both CGIT are going to unite for the afternoon at Mrs. Dixon's.

This is the last opportunity we have of reminding you that the Chinese Relief Fund will close with the end of the month, leaving you several more days to make some contribution, for the relief of these people who have suffered untold misery fighting the good fight that may have saved this country from a Japanese invasion and kept the other Axis powers from our eastern shores. We owe them something and all they ask is food and medicine, that will save hundreds of thousands of their people. No contribution is too small to be worth while, especially when it is known that many times its value here is the real value in China.

The response has been fairly well but we believe many have intentions to give something but kept putting it off from day to day. Put a dollar or more if you wish into an envelope and hand it in to this office. We will acknowledge your contribution in next week's Record and shortly you will receive the official receipt from the campaign headquarters in Toronto. The amount given may be deducted for income tax purposes.

Cyrus Thomas Craig Died in Ottawa

Cyrus Thomas Claig, prominent farmer at Metcalfe for many years, died on Wednesday at his home, 171 Holland avenue after a long illness. He was 72 years old.

Active in farmers' organizations and farm movements, he went to Ottawa to live in 1927. For six years after, he was employed at the Dominion Experimental Farm. Born at North Gower, he was a son of the late Hugh Craig and Emmaline Pratt. His family moved to Osgoode township in the 1880's. He was married twice. His first wife, the former Alice Cross of Chesterville, whom he married in 1900, died in 1925. His second wife, the former Maude Hill whom he married in 1929, survives. He was a member of Parkdale United Church and belonged to the Masonic Order at Westboro.

Surviving besides his wife are four sons: Harry Craig of Metcalfe; Earl Craig of Stratford; Cpl. S. H. Craig of the Department of Personnel Selection, Ottawa; two brothers, H.D. Craig and Robert Craig of Metcalfe.

The body is resting at the residence of his son, Harry Craig at Metcalfe, from where the funeral will be held Friday afternoon for service at the United Church at two o'clock. Burial will be at the United Church cemetery, Metcalfe.

Local Red Cross Quota Raised to $2350

During the month of March—the Chesterville and District Red Cross Society must raise the sum of $2350—as their alloted quota in the coming Red Cross drive for $10,000,000—to be raised throughout Canada. This calls for the co-operation and generous response of every individual.

Canvassers will call at every home and pledges are acceptable if ready cash is not at hand.

Please do your very utmost to help the world's needy.

Radio Forum News

The weather at last favoured farmers' meetings. Last Monday the Boyne Forum again became active when 15 of the neighborhood met at the home of Graham Durant.

S. S. No. 10 met at the home of the Secretary, Albert Smith. 18 members attended. "Farm Debt" was the topic under discussion. The broad cast revealed that the farmers of Saskatchewan were $600,000,000 in debt. Bernard Masterson was of the opinion that this debt could never be paid and that the farmers might better return the land to the Indians. The Forum favoured the plan of farmers borrowing necessary money from governments, rather than from private sources and was strongly against the the Farmer's Creditor Act as it tended to weaken the credit of worthy farmers.

The appeal of the National War Finance committee was mentioned. Canada needs 5½ billion dollars this year and must raise it by borrowing or taxation. Every dollar invested in War Savings Certificates or Victory Bonds will lessen the load of immediate taxation.

Four farmers have handed in their dollar bill and have become fully paid up members of the County Federation for 1943.

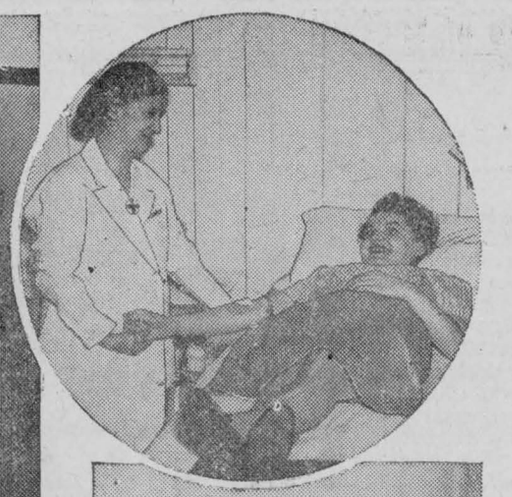
First Women Blood Donors at C.P.R. Clinic



MARKING the first time women had given blood for the Canadian Red Cross Society in an industrial clinic in Quebec, these office workers in the Angus Shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal joined 450 men who had gone before them as blood donors in the clinic which has been in operation at the shops since July of 1942. The women, part of a group of 27 who have registered for blood donations from the big shops' total feminine personnel of 144, made their appearance in the Angus medical centre at the weekly clinic on February 4. The clinic, first to be operated by an industrial enterprise in Quebec and first to be operated by a railway in all of Canada, has resulted in 1,154 donations to supply the blood bank shipped overseas for civilian and military transfusions. An honor roll posted in Angus Shops bears the names of those who have made three donations, with 100 being in that class now while one, Malcolm Myatt, a schedule man, has given blood six times.

MORE FARM LABOR OR STARVATION

Declaring that a famine faced Canada unless farmers were given sufficient help Hon. W. L. Houck, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission said that the decision of the Dominion Government to release between 200,000 and 300,000 war workers for jobs on farms as the result of the plan to extend the ship building program would go a long way to solve the labor shortage on farms. He was quite sure that the changeover from manufacturing of tanks and guns to convoy ships was to provide a labor pool for the farms. The lack of Hydro Services for Agricultural needs was deplored by Mr. Houck. He insisted that Hydro was not standing in the way. It was amazing he said, that Hydro in the past year had erected 71 miles of lines servicing about 4,000 customers homes, mostly war workers in rural sections. Much of the blame lay with metal controls and not all to the power controller. Each application for power had been presented and in most cases, were turned down by the Power or Metal Controller In this connection H. E. Welsh, MPP for Hastings, East, is emphatic in his condemnation of the freezing of electrical equipment by the extension of power lines and services. He felt that there was a bottle neck somewhere and declared that if the farmers, the Hydro and the Legistlature raised a big enough row about it Ottawa would do something.

BLACK MARKET SPOILING BACON QUOTA

It is claimed that the black market in regard to Ontario is reaching a well organized stage and that all sorts of producers are supplying buyers with ways of selling that apparently avoid price ceiling. The current market for good quality steers in Toronto is now $11.75 to $12.25 per hundredweight and it is claimed that does not allow sale except at a loss at the dressed market ceiling of 18 1-4 cents a pound or even at the ceiling price of 18 3-4 cents which will go into effect late in March. It would not let sellers get by without a loss, packers state if they could sell now at the ceiling price of 19 1-2 cents, which will obtain at the end of May. It is reported that many small killers are expanding their killing to as much as ten times of what they were doing a year ago. A regrettable feature of the black market movement is that hog killings in the country have also increased to such an extent that there is anxiety about Canada being able to fill its bacon quota to Britain.

EARLY CLOSING LOSES MANY MAN HOURS

The proposed plan originating from Ottawa for early closing of retail stores in cities, towns and villages as a conservation measure does not find approval in many sections. A strong protest has been entered by the Lincoln county council against the decision reached in St. Catherines, closing places of business as of February 6th. The County Councillors point out that by reason of the stores closing at 7 p.m. farmers and their hired help would have to leave the farm much earlier if they were to do their shopping on Saturday. Considering 275 dairy farms in this area they felt it would mean a reduction of 2,000 working hours a week. Many farm employees are asking for a half-day off each week and this would mean 250 days a week in the case of 500 farmerettes who will be in that district. Council suggested that stores close for a whole day in the middle of the week if they must reduce hours or at least stay open one night a week. This is but another evidence of the little annoyances which not only the farmer but the retailer as well is subjected to in the so-called interests of the war effort. The restrictions in the matter of distribution has pressed heavily on the small retailer although such a regulation may have been necessary in the best interests of the country.

SOLDIERS WITHOUT SHELLS WOULD LOSE WAR

Much has been heard of Ontario's Great Salvage crusade and although housewives in many sections have responded nobly to the appeal to supply 35,000,000 pounds of fat in the coming year much more is expected of them. Just now it is declared that the Government will find it necessary to adopt some measure of compulsation but so far it has not been indicated how such measures would be enforced. It is however stressed that fats are vitally needed for our Canadian war industry and it would be deplorable if our war forces were lacking in explosives we can produce through waste. It is said that one ounce per person per week would supply all the waste fat needed for the war effort. Charles La Feral, Director of the National Salvage Division of the Dominion Government declares the junk and garbage man has taken his place in the front line of our war effort. So important have they become that the country could not carry on without their assistance. Mr. La Feral also state that there is a prospect that the Department of Munitions and Supplies would open a detinning plant in the near future to further the salvage effort. At present the tins are put through the ordinary incinerator process at various municipal plants throughout the country. Through this method scrap steel and iron are salvaged but the value of the tin is lost. He states that housewives should save their tin cans together with bones, bottles, rags and fats.

MERCHANT IS ANNOYED BY D.B.S. QUESTIONNAIRE

A circular letter sent out by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on January 15th annoys at least one retail merchant. The letter is to the effect that the Bureau has on file the percentage of sales made on various days of the week but as the records are rather old, new figures are now desired so that it may be ascertained what shift, if any, has occurred in the habits of consumers.

The merchant who reports this says: "I estimate that to give these figures honestly, for at least a two-month period, will require the time of one employee for no less than two days.

"After all the damn silly reports we have been sending out of this office to various government departments since the first of the year and for several months previous, this letter seemed to be the final straw. I can assure you that it turned black before my eyes and then went all the colors of the rainbow, ending up a brilliant crimson. It seems a crime that with all businesses short of employees, the government seems to have an excess staff that have nothing to do but think up silly reports to request business people to send them. What earthly difference does it make if now people are buying 38 percent of this week's purchases on Saturday instead of 40 percent, which they bought a few years ago, and how is this going to help win the war?"

FROM THE DARK
By Atrhur Wallace Peach

How tender through a quiet room,
When day has passed from sight,
A mother voice that soothes a child
Made fearful by the night.

I have no doubt that we shall hear
In our last lonely night
The music of a friendly voice
That stills our childish fright.

A mother's loving voice can hush
A child's half-dreaming fear;
And we shall know how sweet to wake,
And find that He is near.

WHO ARE THEY?
Buffalo Courier Express

If anyone asks the identity of the fighting allies who held tenaciously to the eastern end of that African front for two discouraging years, all we can say is this:

They are troops of that mysterious "other United Nations" which landed something like 150,000 men in North Africa simultaneously with our own better publicized landing.

They are merely the fellows who fought the Axis alone before Hitler decided to attack Russia, and Japan ventured to attack us. They are merely the fellows who deflated the purported genius, Rommel, and demolished his supposedly invincible army.

How we would cheer those fellows if they were Russians —or even Frenchmen who had changed their uniforms a couple of times like Darlan! But they are only Britons; so we can continue to slight them, to insult them, to minimize their victories (except when we can take credit for them) and to magnify their defeats.

They don't care about that. All they care about is winning this war.

RATION BOOK COUPONS BECOME VALID SATURDAY

Residents of rural areas and others who are in the habit of doing their weekly shopping on Saturdays will welcome the announcement of the Rationing Administraton, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, that coupons in the new ration books now being distributed are to become valid on that day instead of upon Monday, as was the case with Ration Book No. 1.

An examination of the new ration books will reveal that the dates printed on the reverse of the sugar and tea or coffee coupons are invariably those of a Saturday, whereas the coupons in the older books always fell due on a Monday.

The change has been made in recognition of the fact that a majority of Canadians are probably accustomed to do their shopping on Saturdays, this being particularly true of rural residents who come to town on that day in order to attend public markets and also to do their own purchasing. By many of these, Monday dating of ration coupons proved to be a marked inconvenience. Hence the change which is now going into effect.

"Have you been to any other doctor before you came to me?" asked the grouchy doctor.

"No, sir", replied the meek patient. "I went to a druggist".

"You went to a druggist?" exclaimed the doctor. "That shows how much sense some people have. You went to a druggist! And what idotic advice did the druggist give you?"

"He told me to come to see you," replied the patient.

Sugar Will Be Available For Home Canning

Although extra sugar is again to be made available for home canning and preserving during the official canning season extending from June 1 to October 31 next, there is to be no relaxation of the regulation of last year forbidding it to those who desire to put up tomatoes, marrow and pumpkin. When the ration administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board speaks of fruit in connection with home canning operations for which it is willing to supply additional sugar it means "any fresh perishable fruit" available during the official canning season and it makes an exception only of citron. Marrow, tomatoes, and pumpkin will be, however, out unless any sugar required for preserving them comes from the regular sugar rations.

Incidentally, the allowance of extra sugar for canning is not to exceed one-half pound for each pound of fruit, and for making jam or jelly three-quarters of a pound for each pound of fruit. The board would prefer people to do canning instead of making jam or jelly, because the former process saves sugar and fruit properly canned is held by nutritionists to retain more of its vitamins.

With a view to encouraging home canning, the glass factories of Canada are this year making more quart sealers so that sufficient may be available for all reasonble requirements. Metal rings will also be available together with, it is hoped, enough rubber for the rings fitting screw-top and spring-top jars. In addition, tin cans will be forthcoming for the use of people who desire to can fruit for their own use, while the Oil Controller, it is reported, is endeavoring to make provision for sufficient supplies of paraffin wax to cover jams and jellies. Wherever possible, however, housewives are urged to make use of whatever canning supplies are already available to make them rather than buy new goods that may not be really needed.

GONE WITH THE NAZIS
Netherlands News

At a rally which Netherlands factory workers were forced to attend, H.J. Woudenberg, head of the Dutch Nazi Labor Front shouted dramatically:

"Where are the Indies?"

"Gone!" he answered himself.

"Where is Curacao?" he asked.

"Gone!" he replied, referring to the presence of American troops on that Dutch West Indies island.

He was interrupted by a voice from the crowd: "Where is my bicycle?"

And the audience—all of whose wheels had been confiscated by the Germans—cried in usison: "Gone!"

Had you heard of the Carolina mountaineer who had just seen his first movie and was asked what he thought of it?

"I'll tell you," he said. "If I wasn't sittin' down, I'd have figured I was wastin' my time."

A well known and highly respected resident of Chesterville passed away on February 16th, in the person of Vincent Coyne, son of the late John J. Coyne and Catherine O'Brien.

His death occurred in the Ottawa General hospital, after an illness of almost two months.

Attends Farm Machine School

Mr. Ellis Thompson of Cannamore has just returned home after attending a free service school conducted by the International Harvester Company of Canada, Limited, Ottawa.

Mr. Thompson is local McCormick-Deering dealer realizing that with the present rationing program many farmers who will be unable to purchase new farm implements and tractors during the coming year, has laid plans to look after as many farmers as possible along service lines. Many implements and tractors not in workable condition are still far from being worn out and in many cases, service work done by experts, will put these machines in good shape for a long period of time. It was with this thought in mind that the International Harvester company made plans for their service school. At this school, Mr. Thompson along with approximately thirty or forty other men from various points in Eastern Ontario and parts of Quebec received a thorough schooling on the proper methods of overhauling and reconditioning farm implements and tractors, and are now well qualified to go ahead with this important war work.

An interesting part of this course consisted of checking a farmer's tractor which had been thoroughly gone over by a company expert and put out of adjustment. The valves were tightened—the carburetor was put out of adjustment—the magneto was shorted, a ball of wool was placed in the intake pipe and various other mediums used to make the tractor useless. The students had previously been schooled on how to overcome various complaints and after the tractor was thoroughly on the hummer, so to speak, were turned loose on it. In one hour flat all of the "Gremlins" had been removed and the tractor was performing like a new one. Such experiences will be invaluable to these men when they are called to the country to overcome complaints of various kinds.

It is felt that this work undertaken by the Harvester Company for their various dealers, will help in a large way to overcome the hardships occasioned by lack of farm implements by repairing and putting into shape hundreds of useful implements which would be left in farmer's drive sheds owing to lack of expert help to put them in good repair.

Carrot Coffee

We have been using and enjoying Carrot Coffee since last summer. Cut carrots into very small cubes, spread thinly on a bake pan and dry in a 300-degrees oven until brown, but not scorched. Use three teaspoons of carrots and one teaspoon of coffee and percolate in the usual manner. For threshers and farm commandos last year I made it in a big kettle. It stretches the ration so far that there was no limit to the number of cups, and those thirsty men certainly enjoyed it. It tastes so much like coffee that I don't see how it could ever be used as a substitute for tea.

One of our best known citizens was followed part of the way to town by another, who observed that when his friend came to a crossroads he indicated which way he was going by flinging out his right or left arm while he gave vehicles on the road permission to pass him by giving the ordered signal of the Highway Code. At last the second man hurried until he caught up with the other and said, "It's strange to see you walking to town, but what's the bright idea of yours, in signaling with your arms which way you're turning? It makes everybody stare at you."

"Maybe it does, my boy," the other replied, "but I'm going to continue doing it. It's the Government's fault anyway. First they took my chauffeur and I had to drive myself. Now they won't give me any petrol (gasoline) and I have to walk; but they can't take my arms, and I'm going to continue using them as you've seen me do today. It's all that's left me of the pleasure of motoring!"

Dundas County L.O.L. Choosee South Mountain

The annual meeting of Dundas County Loyal Orange Lodge was held in the Orange Hall at Winchester Springs on Tuesday February 2, with the County Master, Wor. Bro. Herbert Wallace, of Pleasant Valley, presiding.

Owing to the conditions of the roads the attendance was smaller than in former years but all lodges were represented. All reports were dealt with and the County Master gave an interesting address and report on his work and as to the standing of the County.

During the business it was decided to hold the 12th of July celebration at South Mountain this year, under the management of L.O.L. No. 239, South Mountain and L.O.L. No. 698 Pleasant Valley.

Following the business, the County Master invited Wor. Bro. E. R. Jackson, PCM to preside over the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

I.P. County Master, Wor. Bro. Herbert Wallace of Pleasant Valley; County Master, Wor. Bro. Charles Baker, of Morrisburg; County Deputy Master, Bro. Homer Patterson, of Winchester; County Chaplain, Bro. Joe Hunter of Toyes Hill; Rec. Sec'y, Bro. Ernest Morrow of Winchester Springs; Finance Sec'y., Bro. Arnold Norton of South Mountain; Treasurer, Bro. Dalton Coons of Toyes Hill; Marshall, Bro. E. R. Jackson of South Mountain; 1st lecturer, Bro. Norman Hunter of Toyes Hill; 2nd lecturer, Bro. Stanley Baker of Cannamore; Committee, Bro. H. McDonald of Winchester Springs.

The officers were installed by Bro. H.H. Nesbitt, PCM, after which short addresses were given by newly elected officers and others. It was decided to hold the next annual County Meeting in Winchester in 1944.

The Lion's Share

It is now revealed that up to March, 1942, 71 percent of the British Empire land troops killed, wounded or taken prisoner were from Great Britain. Sea and air casualties were in even higher proportion. This disposes once and for all of the enemy canard about the British letting other people do their fighting for them.

Your RED CROSS CALLS TO YOU

Never has the need been so urgent

$10,000,000 NEEDED Now!

YOUR RED CROSS appeals to you for funds to carry on its program of mercy; to continue vital war work performed by no other organization. Never has the need been so urgent.

Helping to keep up the morale of half-a-million fighting men is a gigantic task, and that is only the beginning. The Red Cross makes life more bearable for thousands of prisoners of war. Over 2,000,000 parcels were shipped to them last year—more than this number must go in 1943. Our men in British and Canadian hospitals need Red Cross comforts and heartening visits from the staff of Red Cross "visitors".

Red Cross help to shipwrecked sailors is essential, thoughtful, immediate. Homeless war orphans—our own kin and those of our allies—sick and starving men and women in many lands—millions in Russia, Greece and China and other peoples of the United Nations—need more food, medicine and comforts from the Red Cross.

The need is world-wide; this year the cost will be greater than ever. The work must go on. Obey the dictates of your heart; open wide your purse and be generous. Remember, you are the Red Cross!

"WAR EFFORT" on the Farm

Farmers of Canada have done a wonderful job in meeting the increased demand, both at home and overseas, for food supplies. This in the face of a 20% decline in farm labor supply and with little added machinery available.

Special care of Farm Equipment is being urged—a general check up NOW and any rebuilding and repairs attended to during this winter—proper housing against the weather. Paint, new parts and grease will prolong the life of machinery. Implement Dealers and repair men will co-operate where necessary.

Varieties of Corn In Making Silage

The corn crop is well adapted for single use because it produces a large tonnage of green forage, which can readily be preserved in the silo. It is generally agreed that wherever corn thrives it is the best crop for silage purposes, says F. Dimmock, Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The question of what variety of corn to use for silage has usually been decided upon the basis of yield and sometimes maturity. Some growers prefer yellow corn to white. Some like the large late corn, which produces plenty of tonnage but little or no ears. Others choose varieties which are a little earlier and produced plenty of ears well into the dough stage, knowing from experience that such corn would invariably produce excellent silage, high in feed value.

There has come into use in the past year or two corn which is known as hybrid corn. There is a large number of these hybrids and many of them have been tested on Dominion Experimental farms throughout Canada. As compared with the common varieties the better hybrids of similar maturity have been found to produce as high yields of silage and to possess a much greater strength of stalk. Frequently hybrids have been standing erect when other varieties with which they were compared were flat on the ground. Already many farmers are using hybrid corn just because of their oustanding ability to resist lodging. But even hybrids vary in this ability to stand up, however, just as they vary greatly in maturity and productivity, and for this reason no single hybrid is suitable for all conditions. Hybrids must, therefore, be chosen on the basis of adaptability, having in mind such desirable characteristics as yield, maturity and strength of stalk.

A few growers have complained of mouldy silage from hybrid corn. This is probably the result of cutting the corn in a too mature condition. The ears of some hybrids are often more mature than the rest of the plant would indicate therefore it is better to be guided by the condition of the ears rather than the general appearance of the plant to determine when the crop should be cut. It is usually considered the best time to cut when the ear is in the dough stage, because at this stage the plant contains the right amount of moisture to produce the best silage. Further information on hybrid corn for silage can be obtained by writing to the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or to the nearest Experimental farm.

"Who took the picture?" he asked.

"Nobody," replied the boy. "We still have it."

Rural Municipalities Will Receive Larger Grant

The Ontario Government is preparing this year for "a somewhat increased grant" to the municipalities of the province, Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways, told the 41st annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

"This grant is to be made because we realize that some old municipal roads cannot go longer without repairs", he said, adding that the municipalities could not be expected to meet the full cost of all such repairs. He also said the Department of Highways "is prepared to assist the municipalities with the excessive cost of snow removal this year."

Mr. McQuesten said that from 1934 to 1942 municipal debt was reduced from $500,000,000 to $300,000,000. Of this reduction, the Provincial Government's share was $57,000,000. "If the municipalities operate on a pay-as-you-go policy and reduce the debt at the same rate, we will see complete elimination of the debenture debt of the municipalities in the next 10 years", he said.

The Minister said a growing share of the cost of highways must be borne by the province. "The rural municipalities cannot pay for them", he said.

A number of municipalities have hade application for the establishment of a reserve fund out of municipal taxation, Mr. McQuesten said. He went on record as opposing such a policy.

"What right have you to impose additional tax burdens on a public which already has such high taxation?" he asked. He said the municipal tax rate must eventually be brought own to 25 mills.

For municipalities wishing to establish a reserve fund, the Minister of Highways said: "The province has in the past, paid a one mill subsidy. This could be set apart with the Government to be held against specified purposes".

Old Country Mail

The following interesting letter was received by Mrs. A. A. Morris recently, in thanks for a sweater which she had knitted and found its way overseas where it apparently was much appreciated.

Dear Mrs. Morris:—I feel I would like very much to write to you as I found your address attached to the lovely warm pullover which I am now the owner of, given to me this Xmas through the Red Cross, it certainly is a beautiful one.

I am a WAAF Ambulance Driver and have to be out in all kinds of weather both day and night so I can assure you, it was very acceptable. I love knitting myself, only one cannot get very much wool now for knitting woolies. It's quite a souvenir all the way from Canada, especially as I have several relations in Ontario. One aunt and uncle living at 97 Eagle Ave., Brantford Ont., the name is Badcock and Mr. and Mrs. Pedley, 49 Allenby Ave., Brantford Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Broughton, 206 Erie Ave., Brantford, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Morris, box 54, Port Dover, Ont. These are my mother's three sisters and a brother, so if you live anywhere near them, I'd love you to meet them. I also would love to correspond with you. I'm sending this letter by Air Mail as I thought you would receive it quicker as I intended writing you much sooner. Well, I have been in the WAAF a year on the 20th of February, '43, so I am getting quite accustomed to the life as you might imagine. Bottesford was my first station and only seven miles from home. I came here July 9th last year. I am writing this letter at home as I am on seven days leave. Grantham is my home town. It is only a small town and nowhere exciting to go while on leave, but it's home and it's lovely to get home and into civies for a while. I'm going to a dance tonight so this will make a little change as I love dancing. When on my station, I usually pop over to Nottingham once a week. This is a city and I go to the Palisade Dance there, usually we make a foursome up to go there.

I was hairdressing for several years before I joined the WAAF. It was such a complete change for me I can tell you. My age is twenty-two, so this gives you a little idea who you are writing to.

Well, I expect you are experiencing cold weather over in Canada, we have only had a little snow and this came just before Xmas, but just now the weather is terrible mild and wet, so unhealthy, but I suppose we must not complain.

Today we have heard some cheering news over thre radio. I expect you heard it too. Our 8th Army has almost taken Tripoli. I think we are doing wonderful things now out east and poor Russia is marvellous. I hope 1943 will see the end of the fighting. Write and tell me about yourself Mrs. Morris, I shall be looking forward very much to hearing from you. I wonder if you have a husband or perhaps a son servicing in this war. I am the only one in my family as my father is past military service, or I hope so, he is fifty-one and I have no brothers or sisters, though my dad is an ARP warden and on war work so he is doing his little bit.

I might add I have never seen my relations in Canada. They have been out there twenty-two years now, but I hope one day to have a trip over, perhaps after this war I shall be able to fly over, who knows. Well I think this is all I can find to write just now. I trust this finds you feeling well. Excuse my terrible scribble I cannot write on this fine paper very well. So for the present I will say Au Revoir.

Yours very sincerely,
Ann Stennett.

ROTARY CLUB PARCEL RECEIVED

Dear Mr. King:—Having received the very nice parcel from the Chesterville Rotary Club I want to thank all it's members through you for sending it. It was very nice and it keeps you in mind that the people back there have not forgotten you.

I spent my first green Xmas and one which I'll remember for a long time. The weather is very mild now, no snow whatsoever so it's quite a change from back there. The farmers are ploughing their fields and sowing their crops. By the paper I see where that district had a very severe snow storm doing much damage.

I had a very nice leave up in Scotland and saw Shy Harper in Edinburgh, also Mrs. Roosevelt. I expect to see George Olsen this weekend in London and probably run into a few more.

Not so long ago I witnessed my first air battle and it was a grand show while it lasted. Jerry got the worst of the deal however as he came down in flames after a few exchanges of shots. Right now he hasn't even got a chance, it's just like stepping on a hornets nest and trying to get out without being stung.

I've visited nearly all my relations over here and all except one has a big score to get even with Jerry as he blitzed them right out of their home during the early part of the war.

I guess this is all for now as it's impossible to say just what you'd want to so I'll say cheerio and the best of luck.

Yours truly,
J. McNaule.

A COUNTRY EDITOR SEES Ottawa

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS OF CANADA

by JIM GREENBLAT, Editor of the SUN
SWIFT CURRENT SASKATCHEWAN

It wasn't Mrs. Phyllis Turner's good looks that made me deal with Oils and Fats in the second article, but its tremendous importance emphasized by the fact that despite Goebbels' propaganda of synthetic procurement in Germany, she declares that is mostly bunk. The supply both here and there must depend on agriculture, whaling and fishing. Germany's economic fat plan was the original basis for their universal system of a state-controlled agriculture, industry and commerce. Recovery of waste and garbage fats in the households there is mandatory. Think that over housewives of Canada, when they "appeal" to you to avoid unnecessary usage and waste of oils and fats.

The picture is so simple, folks. Fats and vegetable oils are our only source of glycerine for explosives, medicines, lotions, etc.—cigarettes when available. The average yield from fats is 10 to 12 percent. "Do you know," Mrs. Turner flung at me in trip hammer succession, "that one ounce of dripping per person per week would give us 36 million lbs. a year? That 10 pounds of rendered fats fires 49 anti-aircraft shells? That 100 lbs. of glycerine helps make 180 tank mines, or 780 lbs. of high explosive or enough to mine 780 tons of ore?" I had to admit ignorance. You who have some depending on this (which depends on you) —are you interested?

Oils and Troubled Waters

Just imagine the ramification of this administration, especially since Japan plugged holes in the Pacific; conserving, inducing and coordinating our vital vegetable, animal and fish oils for food and industrial purposse, ie: vitamin oils, lard, shortening, paints, inks, shellac, waxes, starches, glues, soaps, naval stores (resins, turps, pine oils). As for nutrition, how could you all exist without a proper proportion of oils and fats in your diet? Mom, isn't it just plain realism?

Doesn't it make you think as it did me—to hear that we depend so much on it, in our shaving; butter which is 80 percent fat, our toast in its shortening, our clothes and shoes which get treatment from oils or derivatives; the chair you sit in, the linoleum you walk on. Excluding butter we normally consume 450 million lbs. of fat yearly in Canada, 200 of which, or 45 percent, had to be imported, originating largely in the Far East. That source went out with Pearl Harbor; your boy guarding convoys knows that even India and West Africa is getting tougher to reach.

Heavy demands for the stout-hearted but hungry Russians, for Britain, for ourselves must be met on this continent, in only one way: increased hemisphere production, saving in consumption. Mrs. Turner sits on the United Nations Council of United States, United Kingdom, Canada, New Zealand, South Africa and Australia which meets in Washington and even Canada's production is pooled, out of which we get only edible and inedible requirements on a strictly controlled basis.

I know you're interested in how they intend meeting this situation. We get linseed oil from flax; well, flaxseed production, it is hoped, will be stepped up to at least 20 million bushels this year compared to 6½ in 1941; there will be an expansion of soya bean crops, sunflower and rapeseed.

Why Billions Are Needed

"Why control fats when the U.S.A. increased its production two billion lbs. last year?" I asked Mrs. Turner to show that I read Time and Ottawa papers. With that restful and patient smile she asked me, "Did you know that the U.S.A. consumed 11 billion pounds last year; that a billion was cut off from the Far East and furthermore what assurance have any of us that this year's crops will give high yields as last?" Could you answer that smartly, even if you are a stove leaguer?

Sure, you've got a baby around the house. Prior to the war 75 percent of cod liver oil was imported, mostly from Britain, Norway and Newfoundland. The fishing companies on our Atlantic coast wasted much of the precious vitamin content for tanning, etc., feeding livestock and poultry. Do you know that since 1941 we now have five plants of our own producing refined medicinal cod liver oil and that we will be in a position to supply our own needs, the U. S.A., South America, Australia and China? That industry is a war baby and believe me, a pippin. Vitamin feeding oils for veterinary purposes will now be processed from the lowliest of British Columbia fish; and the despised dogfish from out there now produces Vitamin A oil, rich and fortifying to margarine and for night fliers, and is already being shipped to the British Ministry of Food.

Agriculture Comes Into Picture

Yes, I got enough of the story to know that a combination of science, management and invention has put us on the threshhold of a period when Canadian agricultural production will take its rightful place in Canadian industry. That's where you and I are interested.

Through efforts of this division, linseed oil is now being processed to replace drying oils hitherto obtained from China; soya beans will probably be used in "nylon" type artificial silk; wheat will be a source of starch and sodium glutenate, the latter previously exported from Japan and used for the meaty flavour in concentrated soups and beverages.

"Keep the fat cut of the fire" was the administrator's appeal to women of Canada. It means oil for marine engines, brake fluid for tanks and trucks, the life of tinplate and glycerine, to mention a few.

Consumer Organization Functioning

But I must hurry on to Bryne Sanders, head of Consumers Division which is giving the Canadian consumer a voice and has 8,000 women across the country doing active voluntary service, co-operating in their own interest, and trying hard to make for a better understanding between the consumer and retailer.

"The women are doing a grand job," she said and flashed a toothsome, sincere smile which said, "I mean it". "Our task is to channel their difficulties and complaints towards a head and then we can go at the problems again". She admitted women are prone to criticize. (Boy she ought to hear the men in a smoking compartment.)

Her division is trying so hard to get closer to women everywhere because their whole job so closely affects the household. B. H. Sanders is practical because she said, "The war hasn't started to hurt us yet. It likely will." Price checking is one of the big jobs of the division, but she feels in this that honest retailers deserve protection from those who might not be. She wants women to co-operate with her. These laisison officers in all towns are the link to do it.

"The Consumers board is set up to represent all you people," and here we quote her exact expression which reflects the energy and determination of this woman, "So for Pete's sake use it. If anything is wrong send it to your nearest committee."

I went out past a battery of female operated typewriters in high gear. I thought if Mom can run the household on Dad's budget, a woman can run the Consumers division mighty effectively with the help of other women across Canada.

POPULAR PATRICIA

A programme that won popular favour two seasons ago is back on the network again and so is lovely Patricia Bailey. The singing star of "Time On My Hands," which resolves into a most attractive ensemble of strings and woodwind and vocal highlights, under the sauve and experienced baton of Eric Wild. The whole programme is specially arranged and comes to CBC Southern Ontario listeners Mondays, at 8.05 p.m. E-DT.

The man and woman approached the theatre evidently expecting an evening's enjoyment. As the man stepped forward to buy the tickets, the woman grabbed his arm, "I don't want to see this show, Alfred, I do not like Chinese plays," she exclaimed.

"But this is not a Chinese play."

"It certainly is—the title is right there on the front of the theatre. Sun. Mon. Tu."

Being a life-time devotee of Gilbert and Sullivan, we have always believed in making the punishment fit the crime. But we can sympathize with Tommy, whose military uncle was expounding some of the elementary principles of military science. "I always believe in fighting the enemy with his own weapons," said the uncle. "Really?" asked Tommy. "How do you go about stinging the wasp?"

If You Are Buying a Horse

First of all, don't for heaven's sake say, "That's just the horse I want, how much?" "Here's your cheque." If you do it's like calling a foxhound a dog you'll never live it down. Your correct procedure is to say that you really don't want a horse at all, but just to oblige your friend you don't mind having a look.

You then stand well on one side and invite your friend to trot the horse up and down. As he goes away from you, you bend nearly double, screw up your eyes as though you were looking at the horse through the wrong end of a telescope and say "Ah!". That's all just "Ah!" in as noncommittal a voice as possible. Your friend will look at you with a pained expression and run the horse up and down again. You repeat the process, saying "Ah" in an even more noncommittal tone this time.

Unless he has a very strong character this will start your friend talking. He will explain that that bit of hair rubbed off his knee was done in the stable and that that isn't a spavin on his hock at all, it's merely a lump of mud.

When the ah-ing business has produced all the information that you are likely to get, go up to the front end of the animal, still keeping well out of reach and in a firm voice say, "What's his age?" Your friend will at once rush up and force the horse's mouth open. If the horse happens to be a bit aged, your friend will merely lift up the animal's lip and drop it quickly before you can see anything, and at the same time announcing in a loud voice that he is just "gone eight."

Privately making up your mind that the gee-gee will probably never see 12 again you say, "well, how much?" Your friend will look you up and down, trying to decide how much above his selling price of £50 he dare ask you. He mentions £65. You look rather hurt. "I'm sorry I wasted your time. Come and have a drink before you go", and you and your friend go inside and have one.

You spend the next half-hour discussing the weather, the War Agricultural Committee and battle in Libya, and anything else you like, except horses. Then, when the ideas and the bottle are getting short your friend will say, "Well, I'd better be going. I should like this little horse to have a good home. Can't afford to keep him myself. Tell you what I'll do, I'll let you have him for what he stands me in—say £60". You give a pitying look and say "Not a bit interested old boy," and shepherd your friend towards the door.

Once outside he will probably try again and say, "What's your idea of a price?" You say in a very bored voice, "Not a penny over £45," and then it's his turn to laugh. As your friend goes down the drive he will shout and say, "Tell you what I'll do I don't mind dropping a pound or two as it's you: I'll let you have him for £55."

Now this is where you've got to be quick, for if he gets to the hard road the game is over, so you yell at the top of your voice. "I'll give you £50 and that's my last word." It's his too. He turns round so quickly he nearly overturns his trap. You adjourn to the house again and over the last drop in the bottle write him out his cheque.

Looking At The Post-war World

New CBC Program with Morley O'Callaghan

MORLEY CALLAGHAN

Morley Callaghan, the Canadian novelist, will act as the voice of Canada in investigation of Things to Come Series will view the Peace, and after. Sundays at 5.03 p. m. EDT.

On February 28, in Winnipeg, the CBC begins an inquiry into the feeling of the nation about the post-war world. It is hoped to give the ablest champions of particular points of view a chance for full expression. It is the aim of the series to enable the Canadian public to hear all spokesmen and judge them accordingly. But this is not to be a forum which is simply a sounding board for particular philosophies. The structure of the inquiry makes it possible for every protagonist for a favourite world dream to be sharply questioned and there will be a kind of agent provocateur doing the questioning, who will try to act as counsel for the people. The CBC has Morley Callaghan in this role.

"We are hoping for warm and lively discussion", said a spokesman for the series. "in which Canadians will have a chance to appear before a nation wide audience of human beings, hoping and dreaming for a better kind of a world following the next peace. Right now we do not know what Canadians hope for but we hope to find out. We hope thousands of letters are sent telling us whether the people invited to give testimony seem to be saying the things that are touching their lives.

"On the first programme John W. Dafoe, Editor-in- Chief, Winnipeg Free Press, will tell what men hoped for following the last war. Mr. Dafoe was present when the Peace of Versailles was made and he knows what the men of his generation hoped for. Now he sees the world getting ready for another peace after the war that followed the last peace. We want to know what he and his generation hoped for from this peace. We want to know if he can tell us why the last peace failed, and we want to test his vision in as perceptive a way as possible. And on the same programme with him will be a young Canadian—Robert McKenzie of Vancouver—who knows that his generation has a different view of the world and different dreams, and it will be interesting to find out whether Mr. Dafoe's story is acceptable to him and his generation."

The programme will originate from different points across Canada and will be titled: "Of Things To Come — inquiry on the post-war world". The committee sponsoring these broadcasts on reconstruction is headed by Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta; the vice-chairman is R.E.G. Davis Toronto secretary of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, and Director of the National Youth Commission. Other committee members are: C.F. Fraser, Dr. Norman Mackenzie, Rev. George H. Leveque, Hon. Leon Mercier-Gouin, Dr. Arthur Surveyer, Mary Ferguson and Robert T. McKenzie.

Farm Butter Makers Must Register and Collect Coupons

The Prices Board issued a reminder Monday to farmers who make dairy butter either for use at home or for sale that they must register with their local ration board as producers of butter.

It also reminded them that they are not allowed to use their butter ration coupons to buy butter from anyone except to the extent that the butter they produce is less than the ration for their family.

It said farmers producing more butter than they can use at home and wishing to sell some to neighbours must collect ration coupons from them.

The announcement added: "If you sell your excess butter to a grocer, or trade it with him for other merchandise, you must collect from him the proper coupons or butter requisitions (two coupons per pound of butter, or butter replacement certificates, or special purchase permits to the extent of the butter sold or traded).

These documents must be mailed once a month to the local Ration Board along with the coupons for the butter the producer makes and uses at home.

Last Friday the Prices Board announced that on and after March 1 wholesalers and retailers are authorized to take "any amount" of farm butter offered to them at definitely prescribed prices.

The announcement Monday said: "The government is counting on every farm family to live up to the spirit of the rationing law by limiting its home consumption of home-produced butter to the national standard butter ration."

WHY HE SINGS
Timmins Advance

From one of the publicity departments of the Ottawa Government this week the Advance received one pulp matrix and a single sheet of paper. The envelope in bold type bore the words, "Don't waste words—Don't waste paper." The mat was 5 inches wide and seven inches long and the single sheet of paper could have been folded to half that size. The envelope—a heavy manilla—was 13 inches long and 9 inches wide. No wonder we sing "God Save The King."

On a little service station away out on the edge of a Western desert there hangs a shingle bearing this strange legend, "Don't ask us for information. If we knew anything we wouldn't be here."

Food Production Might Be Increased

Production is a word that should have significance for more than the farmers of Canada.

As you know, Canadian farmers have been asked to produce in 1943, 8,000,000 hogs, 1,200,000 head of cattle and poultry and eggs in proportion. This s a tall order, with the labor shortage acute as it is. But we are sure that Canadian farmers and their wives will fill it, no matter what the strain.

But production should not stop at the farm. In all our villages there is ample opportunity for the production of food in many branches. There is no reason at all why many families in villages and in small towns should not do as their forbears did and keep a few hens, a pig and even a cow. Ladies quite as well born and well bred as anything we have today and physically no stronger, considered a cow and some chickens as natural ingredients of life some years ago, and at this time when "Give us food!" will be the cry from millions of the starving, a little return to honest labour with livestock and in our gardens will be a far-reaching benefit.

Even in cities there are many possibilities for food production. We were asked to see the little garden behind a little home in an unimportant avenue. A perennial border of flowers beautified it, but among the flowers were currant bushes coming into heavy fruitage, while at the end of the green lawn a bed ten feet long and three feet wide had produced an abundance of strawberries—more than enough for the owner's family to eat with sugar and cream enough to fill the jam closet with the fruit preserved in various ways, and enough for the family next door to duplicate all processes.

In a recent editorial in the Flora Express the owner and editor (a woman with practical experience in production), points out that one of the factors in Russia's amazing successes, is the work of the Russian women who were almost entirely responsible for the work on the land. The Express goes on to intimate that it might be well if our Canadian authorities began the education of Canada's women and girls for work on the land. So far, she says, nothing definite has been attempted along this line.

Personally, we endorse the idea of our sister of the Flora Express.

TIME FOR ACTION
By Marjorie Dillon

When mother calls "Bobbie" sometimes I don't stop:
(You know how it is when you're spinning a top,
Or playing a game with the fellows next door;
I hear her but wait till she calls me some more.)

But when she calls "Robert" real quick, then I fly;
I take all the short cuts, and hiper, oh my!
The way that she says it would hustle a worm,
She never calls "Robert" except when she's firm.

Can Get More Milk If Utensils Clean

In the dairy farmer's problem of preventing the spoilage of milk by keeping bacteria out of the milk the utensils are the really important source of contamination. Milk is a highly nutritious food for bacteria as well as for human beings, and the bacteria are able to grow rapidly on the moist surfaces of strainers, pails and cans. In this way millions of bacteria may be picked up by the first milk at the next milking. Open seams, cracks, dried-on milk, commonly known as "milk-stone", make it much harder to clean utensils and remove or kill bacteria.

Here are some pointers on cleaning pails and cans, given in Special Wartime Pamphlet "Producing Pure Milk" issued by the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. First, utensils must be in sound condition, with smooth unbroken surfaces. Galvanized or wooden pails are unsuitable because the milk clings to the more or less rough surfaces, and their use leads to trouble. Open seams and cracks should be filled with solder and any rough surface smoothed off. Dried-on milk, or "milk stone" should be scrubbed off with fine steel wool and the utensils kept free from this condition by being washed at once after using, before the milk has a chance to dry on. Rinse with cold or lukewarm water, then scrub all surfaces with a brush—a cloth will not do the job properly. Use washing soda or other cleanser in hot water. It is better than soap and will rinse off more easily. A final rinse with clean hot water will warm up the metal of the can so that it will dry out more quickly. Do not use a cloth which may only recontaminate the utensils, but place them upside down on a draining rack to dry. A screened rack exposed to the sun is very useful to hasten drying.

Complete Your Ration Book Make Note of Its Number

As was the case with Ration book No. 1, no sheet of coupons contained in No. 2 will be valid for the purchase of rationed articles unless it is fully completed in ink with the prefix, serial number and address of the holder, whose name must also be written on the stub.

The regional Ration Administration, Wartime Prices and Trade Board therefore urges all those issued with new ration books to make it their immediate business to complete the sheets of coupons which are to be cashed for rationed goods, so that they will not be put to the inconvenience of having to do so when they present their books for the purchase of such goods.

At the same time, those receiving new books are urged to write down and put away in a safe place the serial numbers of the books issued to them. This information will be needed to secure replacement in the event of the books being lost or stolen.

A Nazi's Luggage

A French broadcast from London announced that news had been received from Ankara that when the German diplomat Schwabe—a member of the law section of the Reich's Foreign Ministry—returned to Germany on the completion of a diplomatic mission, he took back from Turkey in his luggage the following itms: 10 kilos of chocolate, 10 kilos of coffee (not ersatz of course), 20 kilos of soap, 70 tubes of tooth paste, 12 bottles of hair lotion, 15 English tailor-made suits, and 15 overcoats of the best quality.

Someone asked Theodore Dreiser why he had never happened to win the Nobel Prize for literature.

"That," said Dreiser, "is what I call a compliment. It is better that people ask why I haven't won the prize than why I have."

Doctor, after painting sore throat, "Three dollars, please."

Patient: "Three dollars! Why last week I had my whole kitchen painted for two-fifty!"

Teacher—"Can you tell me what salt is, Willie?"

Willie—"Yes, ma'am. Salt is what makes potatoes taste bad when there is none in."

There's Health In Winter Vegetables!

Hello Homemakers! The official Nutrition Color Chart shows vegetables on nearly every plate of food. Why? Because they're health boosters—with vitamins and minerals for body-building and repair with starch for energy. The green and yellow vegetables signal health, high lighting Vitamin A and minerals. So let's prepare our vegetables properly in our kitchens so we can be sure of keeping those important food values intact from market to table. They'll look better and taste better, too.

Here are a few do's and don'ts in vegetable cookery. Choose your vegetables for freshness and brightness of color, then prepare and cook them right. Much nutrition value lies just under the skin, so keep your parings thin. Don't prepare your vegetables till the last moment for either cooking or your salad. Cook them with the least possible water in a tightly covered saucepan. Be sure to use any left-over liquid to enrich soups, stews and sauces. Vegetable plate meals call for accompanying dishes containing cheese, milk or eggs, and a richer dessert. And remember to serve some vegtables raw, some cooked. Buy in large quantities—for convenience and economy—and find a storage corner where your vegetables will neither freeze nor shrivel from heat.

RECIPES

Celery In Tomato Sauce

4 cups celery cut in 1-inch pieces, 2 tbs. butter or fat, 2 tbs. flour, 2 cups tomato juice, ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.

Make sauce of fat, flour and tomato juice. Season and cook celery in sauce until tender, using electric element on Low, or use double boiler.

French Style Onions

5 cups small silver-skinned onions peeled, 1 can condensed consomme or 2 cups soup stock, ⅛ tsp. pepper, 3 tbs. grated nippy cheese.

Heat consomme to boiling, add onions and cook until tender (about 40 mins.). Then add cheese and serve.

Turnips with Cheese

2 yellow turnips, 2 tbs. fat, 2 tbs. flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, ½ cup grated cheese.

Peel the turnips, cut in shreds and cook in salted boiling water for 20 minutes. Make a white sauce with fat, flour, milk, salt and pepper. Pour this over drained turnips and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place over hot water and continue cooking for 15 minutes or, if electric oven is on, place in moderate oven for 15 minutes.

Devilled Corn

2 tbs. fat, 2 tbs. flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. mustard, paprika, 2 cups corn, 1 egg, 1 tb. Worcestershire sauce crumbs (moistened with fat).

Make a sauce of fat, flour, milk and seasonings; add corn, egg slightly beaten, and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into a baking dish, cover with crumbs and bake in a moderate electric oven (350-400 degrees) fifteen to thirty minutes.

TAKE A TIP

1. Parsnips that you will like! Put boiled, mashed parsnips through a sieve; season with salt and pepper: add a dash of nutmeg and a little top milk. Form into little flat cakes, dip in fine cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat.
2. Cabbage that leaves aroma in the pot. Have a small quantity of boiling water on the element turned High; add shredded cabbage and 1 tablespoon fat, cover tightly and turn Low. Cook only 20 minutes and salt—then drain.
3. Serve left-over vegetables as a medley and add rice or noodles, thickening the water used in cooking the rice with cornstarch. Season left-overs with celery seed, thyme, minced onion or sliced mushrooms.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. D.E. asks: "Should I add soda to dry beans—your recipes call for it but in topic information said soda killed vitamin content?"

Answer: Adding soda to dried beans and lentils prevents gas formation in the stomach. There is minute vitamin content in these vegetables compared to leafy vegetables but as you know, they are good meat substitutes.

Mrs. A.L.L. asks: "Why does my pastry never flake?"

Answer: Cut in 2-3 of the required fat. Sprinkle in the water and pat into mound. Roll out half inch thick, daub on pieces of cold fat (size of bean) and fold up in about 4 laps. Chill and roll out for pie plate.

NEW GERMAN TANKS WEIGH 55 TONS

Details of the new German Mark VI tank now in operation in Tunisia were given today in British reports.

Weighing 55 to 60 tons, the Mark VI is armed with one 88 millimetre gun and two 7.92 millimetre machine guns.

According to British authorities who have examined a captured Mark VI, a single round of ammunition for the big gun is three feet long and weighs 33 pounds. The gun itself weighs 1½ tons.

The front armor is four inches thick and the sides are protected by 3¼-inch plates. The Mark VI is 20 ½ feet long, 12½ feet wide and 9½ feet high.

A very small country boy was for the first time in a big city. Taking an elevator to the top of a skyscraper, they had shot up thirty stories at breath-taking speed when the little lad, grasping his father's hand asked timidly, "Daddy, does God know we are coming?"

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hummel at the Boyne were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kendrick, Mr. Geo. McArthur and Messrs. John Fyke and Harold Grey.

Cpl. Bert Sharkey and his mother Mrs. G. Sharkey and little Francis spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. John Fyke and Lawrence Moles.

Airman Apprecirtes Socks

For the thousands of women volunteers across Canada who spend many hours each week knitting comforts for "Men of the Services" this letter is published. That their untiring efforts are appreciated is evidenced in the countless letters received by the Canadian Red Cross from United Nations men all over the world. This letter from a Canadian airman attached to the Royal Air Force, is particularly worthy of reproduction:

The president, Moncton Branch,
Canadian Red Cross Society,
Moncton, N.B.

Dear Sir or Madam: For about three months this summer I was on the missing list of the R.A.F.

During this period I walked many miles, some of the time with only one boot. During the whole time I wore a pair of socks which were given to me as a gift from your Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, and were without doubt knitted by some Moncton lady.

I wan to thank you most sincerely for these socks, and on behalf of thousands of other chaps, for the many other gifts which are received.

The socks proved extremely serviceable and they are apparently indestructable—I'm still wearing them. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
J. Angus MacLean, FL.

REASONS FOR POTATO SHORTA

Main reasons for the shortage of potatoes in Ontario at the present time were the fact that only one car ferry has operated this winter between Prince Edward Island and the mainland and the shortage of railway refrigerator cars.

There were ample supplies of potatoes in warehouses in Prince Edward Island, but there was the difficulty in moving them to Central Canada. Shippers had moved up the price to such an extent that wholesalers were given the "squeeze," and the ceiling price on sales to retailers prevented the wholesalers from handling potatoes without loss.

The Prices Board spokesman said he felt the situation would clear itself shortly and that the shippers' price would go down as soon as the supplies began to move freely again.

HIGH SCHOOL DANCE POSTPONED

With every arrangement made for the popular High School dance last Thursday evening it had to be called off when the orchestra engaged for the occasion, could not get here owing to the blizzard blowing all evening. The hall had been very tastefully decorated, and in fact is still decorated waiting for a communication from Eldred Duquette to say when he will come with his band.
