St. Andrew's W.M.S. Entertains Other Societies At August Meeting

The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Chesterville, held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. Herman Hummel and Mrs. George Crawford on Friday evening, August 20th. Several members of the W.M.S. of Winchester and Morewood were present.

The meeting opened with the doxology, followed by Hymn 691, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come."

The Scripture reading, Matthew 13, 1-23, was taken by Mrs. Geo. Crawford. Mrs. T. E. MacIntosh then led in prayer.

In the absence of Mrs. Irvine Cross, the president, Miss Helen Jamieson acted and spoke a few words of welcome and Miss Anne Crawford sang very sweetly "No One Ever Cared for Me Like Jesus," with her mother at the piano.

All joined in singing Hymn 388, "Sow the Seed Be'side All Waters." The offering was received by Anne Crawford and dedicated by "We Give Thee But Thine Own."

Mrs. Lorne Feeley read a very inspiring paper on John 3-16, entitled "What Then."

Mrs. R. D. Ledgerwood, Win-Winchester, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Earl Munro, Winchester Springs, who chose as her topic "Let This Mind Be In You That Is Also In Christ Jesus." To be a Jesus-thinker, there are three main points—self-discovery, self-mastery and self-giving. All of us have at least one talent, perhaps our presence at God-inspired gatherings helps in some way.

Her talk was much enjoyed by all and Miss Jamieson thanked the speaker in a few well chosen words. Mrs. Don Morrell sang in her very capable manner "The Stranger of Galilee."

Plans were discussed for the thank-offering meeting to be held October 22nd in St. Andrew's Church with Rev. Logan Venta, of Ottawa, showing slides of his trip to the Holy Land. CBC members will help with sound equipment.

A letter of thanks was read from the supply secretary for the quilt donated by Mrs. Walter Carruthers and lined and completed by Mrs. George Crawford.

Hymn 540, "Lead On, O King Eternal," was then sung and Miss Jamieson closed the meeting with prayer.

About 40 members enjoyed a very dainty lunch which was highlighted by a birthday cake to mark the birthday of the Misses Doreen Cross and Anne Crawford.

During the lunch hour Mrs. Zoe McQuaig, Morewood, made mention of plans for promotion of teen-age work this fall. Mrs. Lyle Hunter brought greetings from Morewood and Mrs. R. D. Ledgerwood greetings from Winchester.

It was also mentioned that Miss Emma Carlyle, Kemptville, who began the Home Helpers movement, had been buried that day.

Woodbeck–Countryman

Before a background of gladioli, the wedding was solomnized in Gallingertown United Church of Mary Mildred, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Countryman, and Russell John Woodbeck, son of the late Mr. Arthur Woodbeck and Mrs. Kaye Card. Rev. H. M. Beach, of Finch, officiated.

Mrs. J. G. Reynolds, of Lasswade, presided at the organ. Miss Joyce Trotter, Peterborough, was soloist. Before the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over nylon tulle featuring a lace jacket with long sleeves coming to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of French tulle illusion was held by a tierra of satin and matching lace. She carried a cascade of red roses and white 'mums.

Miss Elinor Countryman, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. Miss Lois Brownell and Mrs. Ron Woodbeck were bridesmaids.

They wore similar gowns of nylon tulle and taffeta with matching stole and headdresses in pink, blue and yellow.

They carried old fashioned nosegays of roses, bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

Mr. Ron Woodbeck, Lasswode, was groomsman for his brother. Mr. Willie Reynolds, Peterborough, and Mr. John Countryman, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a French blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The wedding reception was held at Bruces Lodge, Morrisburg.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left on their honeymoon for New York State, the bride travelling in a light blue suit with British tan accessories.

The couple will reside on the groom's farm at Coe Hill, Ont.

Guests from a distance included the groom's mother, Mrs. Kaye Card, Whitby; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Woodbeck, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reynolds, Lasswade; Miss Joyce Trotter, Mr. Willie Reynolds, Peterborough; also friends from Ottawa, Cornwall, Winchester, Chesterville, Monkland and Newington.

Miss Joan Allison Honoured by Friends

Willola Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fawcett, Winchester, was the scene of a party given in honour of Miss Joan Allison. Miss Allison will marry Henrikus Heuff, Morewood, August 28th, at her parental home, Morewood.

Mrs. Milton Swerdfeger, the bride-to-be's aunt, acter as mistress of ceremonies for a short programme. Mrs. A. B. Allison gave a reading entitled "This Earthly House." and then presented her granddaughter with a corsage of pale yellow gladioli.

Mrs. Hugh Coons extended best wishes and made a presentation on behalf of Miss Allison's cousins. She was then presented with a bride's book, designed by Mrs. Roy Fawcett and Mrs. Hugh Coons. After opening the many gifts that she had received, Miss Allison thanked those present and invited them to visit her in her new home.

Songs were rendered by Ralph Fawcett, Dale, Brian and John Allison and Mrs. Archie Coulthart. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Coulthart.

Mrs. Swerdfeger gave a humourous reading. Miss Enid Swerdfeger conducted a contest and the prize was won by John Davies, of Burritt's Rapids. Accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Allison, a quartet consisting of Ralph, Gordon and Roy Fawcett and Lloyd Allison sang "Those Wedding Bells are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine."

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. A bride's cake which had been decorated by Mrs. Coons centred the table.

Miss Joan Allison, whose marriage takes place August 28th, was honoured at a miscellaneous shower in the United Church Hall, Morewood. She was escorted to the platform to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Sam Barrington, and presented with a corsage, while an address was read by Miss Marlene Swerdfeger.

Over 100 guests signed the bride's book. She was assisted in opening the many gifts by her mother and Mrs. A. Heuff.

Miss Allison expressed her appreciation in a few well-chosen words and extended an invitation to visit her in her new home.

Hostesses were Misses Shirley and Joan Gordon, Marlene Thompson, Marilyn Steinburg, Kaye Thompson, Marlene Swerdfeger, Dorothy Barnett and Mrs. George Stewart.

$200,000 Plant To be Built at Winchester

The Ontario Cheese Producers Associations' refrigeration storage plant, which will cost approximately $200,000, is to be erected at Winchester, at the railway station, according to a recent announcement.

The contract for the erection of the plant has been awarded to M. Sullivan and Sons, Arnprior. The building will be 200 by 192 feet and will cover an estimated area of 38,400 square feet. It will be of re-inforced cement construction and will have a water-cooled refrigeration unit.

The water will be supplied by a 300 foot well with a six-inch hole, which has been tested and has pumped an average of 50 gallons each minute without affecting the water level.

The capacity of this huge refrigeration plant will be 6000,000 pounds of cheese, and it is expected it will be completed by the end of March. When in operation it will employ from 15 to 20 persons.

Wanted to Know

The small boy had just asked his father: "Where did I come from, Daddy?" The boy seemed to listen very attentively, and at the of the explanation his father asked him: "What made you ask, son?"

The boy was playing with an airplane model and replied, casually: "Oh, nothing, 'specially, Dad, 'cept I heard the new boy at school say he came from Montreal and I wanted to know where I came from."

Precocious Tree

Harry Hutchinson, Morewood, while glancing at a yellow transparent apple tree on his property Tuesday morning, noted a profusion of blossoms. Not only is this a phenomenon for this time of year, but is even more outstanding due to the fact that the tree was planted this spring.

We are waiting to see the apples in October!

Large Cauliflower

Mrs. Dan MacDonald, one of Chesterville's outstanding gardeners, has disproved the idea that good cauliflower could not be grown here. One of Mrs. MacDonald's cauliflower reached the Record office yesterday with a surface measurement of 7 by 9 inches on the head, which seems to point to the fact that one with the know-how can make the big stuff grow in her garden.

She was a daughter of the late James Cougler and his wife, Arvilla Beckstead, and was in her 79th year.

In 1910 she married James Robertson who predeceased her in July, 1944.

The funeral service was held in the United Church, Elma, on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m., where she was a member. Service was conducted by Rev. N. Bowering.

"Mr. Seaway" Passes Pickets

Faces of the Labour Progressive (Communist) pickets who staged a demonstration on Parliament Hill against the construction of the Barnhart Island Canal on the United States side of the border instead of at Cornwall were rather red.

As it happened, former Transport Minister Chevrier, who is now chairman of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, was in the Parliament Bulidings at the time of the demonstration. Emerging from the main door when the picketers were plodding around at a slow march, Mr. Chevrier glanced poker-faced at the cardboard signs "No Yankee Seaway" and "Keep the Seaway in Canada."

He then walked quietly through the centre of the picket-line and nobody in the group recognized him. Mr. Chevrier was just as well pleased not to be recognized as "Mr. Seaway."

Mrs. W. N. Marshall Dies After Lengthy Illness

She married the late W. N. Marshall in 1888, who predeceased her in 1933.

Mrs . Marshall lived on the old homestead at Hulbert until the year 1938, when she left to reside with her son, W. E. Marshall, now of City View.

Newly-Wed's Cake

She measured out the butter with a very solemn air,
The milk and sugar also, and she took the greatest care
To count the eggs correctly and to add a little bit
Of baking powder, which you know
beginners oft omit;
Then she stirred it all together
and baked it for an hour
But she never quite forgave herself for leaving out the flour!

OPINIONS . . .

Ours and Others

A Time For Reasonable Men

The Seaway and Power Project developing fast and so are the gripes. From our distance it would appear that there is a need for less loud thought and more quiet thinking, especially where the locality involved is as seriously affected as some of the sections along the river.

Many persons have read with mixed feelings the reports of municipal meetings of the last few days. The radio news reports carry the headlines in an abbreviated form and before we know it the only benefit gained is political capital for a few key figures, and the communities are not too much better off.

The ill-tempered blasts of the counties certainly have made the headlines. We are not in any position to judge the merit of his claims. We do think his outburst against the member from Grenville-Dundas, the Hon. Geo. Challies, is short-sighted, to say the least. Mr. Challies, in his official position as First Vice-chairman of Hydro, will certainly have a heavy burden for the next few years, but we do not like to see him made a whipping boy for the questionable gain of a few newspaper headlines. It is well to remember that dislocation of homes and business is not only his problem but that of the whole of Hydro. Another reading of the rehabilitation plans as were received in this office has not changed our impression that the plans are suggested, hopefully of course, but subject to revision and remodeling upon representation from the municipalities. Mr. Challies, for our money, has done a good job, is doing a good job, and if past records mean anything, will continue to work for his constituency.

Sure, we are not affected by the Seaway. But we are affected by an affront to our Canadian sense of fair play for the passing headline.

Impressions on a Trip To Europe

The following letter, sent to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Foley, Finch, by their daughter, Jean, is reproduced in order that Record readers may get first-hand impressions of a trip to Europe, as seen through the eyes of a district girl.

Dear Folks:

No doubt Gerald told you about meeting me in Montreal about 8.30 a.m., July 12th. He was right at the train and showed me around Montreal—as much time as we had.

We were on St. Catharine's St. and saw some of the big stores, then he came with me to meet the New York train.

It was a lovely trip along Lake Champlain and the Hudson River. We passed through Troy and Albany (Albany is across the river). I arrived at the Penn. Station about 7.30 p.m. The Traveller's Aid recommended the Henry Hudson Hotel in Manhattan, a few blocks from the pier. I had a very good rest and they called me from the desk the next morning.

It was lovely leavng New York. The band was playing on the ship. There were hundreds on the pier, waving good-bye, streamers were flying, hankies were waving. There were many sad partings; I suppose some going away for years.

As we drifted down the Hudson we saw many sights, Manhattan and Brooklyn on one side and New Jersey and Staten Island on the other.

We passed the Statue of Liberty and went out into the ocean. The New York skyline was beautiful, as it faded in the distance—huge skyscrapers, The Empire State Building, etc.

A man missed the boat in New York due to a late train. A small cruiser came up to the ship, bringing him and his luggage and he was transferred to the ship.

This is the life! The ocean is wonderful. I was sea-sick the first day, everybody was, but now I don't care if I ever see land.

There are so many things to do on the ship—ping-pong, swimming, shuffleboard, movies concerts and dancing every night in the ballroom.

I attended Mass Saturday and Sunday morning on the boat.

The passengers are mostly Germans and Americans. I met the first two Canadians yesterday; they're from Toronto.

I've met such wonderful people—three teachers from California. There are many exchange students from Germany who have been studying in American universities the past year and who are now returning home.

One medical student studied in a university in San Fransisco last year and is going home. A German girl attended a Los Angeles university, going through for a teacher. Same are tourists and others going to Germany to visit relatives.

The food on the ship is very good. We eat five times a day: breakfast, lunch at 11.30, tea at 4, dinner at 6 and sandwiches at 10 at night. I'll be so fat!

Sunset on the ocean is beautiful, and the moon shining on the water. I haven't seen sunrise yet; someday I'll get up early enough to see it.

Last night there was a heavy fog. We are getting close to England now. That's why the foghorn keeps blasting. Of course, that's not really necessary as they have radar, but that is the custom.

Just as we were leaving New York the "Queen Elizabeth' 'passed us on the way from Southampton. The "Queen Mary" passed us one morning and an ocean freighter passed yesterday.

Tomorrow we see land—England. I hear a rumour that our course is changed and we'll be going through teh English Channel and North Sea into Germany. However, that remains to be seen.

I'm keeping an account (diary) of my trip each day, so you'll be reading it.

I'm learning to do German dances. Their music is fast and everyone sings along as they dance. Saturday night they had a Bavarian party. The ladies wear aprons and the men tie red scarves around their necks. It was really interesting.

I'm going to leave some room so when I land I'll finish the letter and mail it. Bye for now.

July 22nd: We did come up through the English Channel and North Sea. The White Cliffs of Dover were lovely and we were very close to the English coast, and had a good view. We also saw Dover, city of 10,000, and Dover Castle.

We were so close to the English coast that we could even see the fields with the hedges around them instead of fences.

We went around Cornwall, England, which was the first part of England we saw. Tonight we are in the North Sea and can see the lights of Holland. I saw the place in the English Channel where they swim 28 miles across to France.

Tomorrow, around noon, we land. I'll finish this then. 'Bye for now.

July 23rd: Today I landed in Bremerhaven, Germany. What do you think, Mother? Betty and Chuck motored over 700 miles across Germany to meet me at the boat, and a funny thing happened. We were sitting out in the harbour a couple of hours before we landed Betty and Chuck came out in a cruiser to escort me in. Chuck was on top of the cruiser waving and waving. I was inside the boat and had no idea this was going on. Chuck nearly had a fit; he said: "Canadians never change." Ha! ha!

There were so many hundreds at the pier I couldn't begin to pick them out. I just stood in a prominent place and waited till they picked me out. They came through the ship with me.

We were at Amsterdam, and went on a boat tour, Rotterdam and the Hague in Holland. This is the home of Queen Juliana. We drove right across Holland. What a beautiful country! I won't go into details but I'll be writing a story on it, that you'll be reading.

After Holland we went into Belgium to Antwerp and we spent that night in Brussels. We had supper at a lovely restaurant where they had a floor show. Oh, yes!

In the Hague, Holland, at this very fancy hotel every time we looked up there was some one new waiting on us. The waiters wore long swallow-tail coats and heated our meal on a little heater they put on the table beside us. They did this in other European hotels we ate at too.

We always stayed in first-class hotels. Sometimes we ate on the balcony off our bedrooms. Breakfast goes along with your room in European hotels. We went through Mons, Belgium, also.

Next, we went into France and stayed a day and a night in Paris and they took me to the Lido nightclub, the best club in Paris. What a floor show! It even rained artificially and there were living birds flying around.

In Paris we saw the Seine River, the famous Paris bridges, Eiffel Tower and the Arch of Triumph. We also saw Napoleon's tomb. When we were in Brussels we were about 15 miles from where the Battle of Waterloo took place.

In Paris we saw and prayed in Notre Dame Church and Sacre Coeur (Sacred Heart Church), where the Blessed Sacrament has been exposed day and night since 1887. We were at Oriely Airport outside Paris.

We stayed one night in Versailles, France.

We then went into Switzerland into the Alps and stayed two days at Luzerne. Betty and Chuck played golf in the mountains. I bought an alarm clock in Switzerland. We went through Zurich. In Luzerne, the first night, Chuck took us out for an Italian dinner. Was it ever delicious! In these places you have entertainment while you eat.

We crossed into Austria at Bergenz and we went along the Boden Sea to Lindau, where we crossed into Germany again.

The Boden Sea was wilder than the ocean. The waves were dashing furiously along the shoreline. The Alps go through Austria too.

We got into Starnberg (where Betty lives) about 7.30 last night. Of course I didn't see Betty's children till now. Mike is the same as ever and talks well now. He has the same kind of disposition as ever. He's a lovely boy and just loves Pat. He gives him all his toys and is so careful of him. Pat is crawling around now and has two teeth. He's a darling child too. Betty and Chuck both look wonderful.

We came through Cansberg, Germany, on the way home last night, where Hitler was in prison for a year in 1923, just after he started the Nazi party.

We didn't get to any of the graves; they were all across country out of our course, nor did we get to Lourdes. Anyway, I can't complain. It was all marvellous.

Betty and Chuck will be going to a new airbase about August 15th. They are thrilled over it. I guess its a very good base near Frankfurt, Germany, on the Rhine. I'll likely be on the move.

I am sailing on the same boat from the same place on August 23rd and expect to land in New York September 3rd.

Jean.

3-YEAR-OLD TELLS ALL

A three-year-old, proud of his pops fishing, cost the father a $10 fine in Oneida County court, Wisconsin.

Warden Herbert Carow told the court that Lawrence Herbig, 35, Freeport, Ill., displayed a good-sized walleye when he checked his boat.

But the youngster spoke up, "Yeh, and we got a little one, too."

Carow said he found an undersized 10-inch walleye under the floorboards of the boat.

MALADJUSTMENT GETS THINGS DONE!

A medical official criticized recently psychiatrists for trying to make people normal.

"It is maladjustment that makes the world go round," he said.

Dr. John D. Kershaw, medical officer with the Essex County council, told a national conference for maternal and child welfare at Lon don, that too much effort was being made to turn people into sheep.

"It is the cranks, the people who do not quite fit and the people who are individuals whoget things done and make for progress. Moderate maladjustment with fear and caution is a good thing," he said.

RING BELLS TOO EARLY

Two Baltimore steeplejacks, 12 hours too early for services and too high to hear the sermon, spent a recent Sunday morning in jail after ringing church bells the previous night.

Twenty-five policemen were needed to stop the bell-ringing and restore peace and quiet to the neighborhood around Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

They were called when some 250 persons gathered in the street to watch the two men perched 75 feet atop the pinnacle of the church roof, ringing bells for all they were worth.

Two policemen went after them, inch by inch, along the narrow rooftop of the South Baltimore church.

The bellringers, Martin Roberts, 29, and George Stitskorne, 34, were convicted of disorderly conduct and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

For five years I was on the committee that looked after the women's division of Chesterville Fair. And every year I spent most of the day in the tent (last year in the new building) and watched as people came, looked over the exhibits and left again. It was interesting, too.

Of course, there were the "Ohs" and "Ahs" as ladies who had never done any fancy work admired the beautiful doilies and dainty baby sets. There was always a stream of adjectives meaning delicious as people who had eaten early peered through the cellophane at glossy buns, frothy cakes and crunchy-looking cookies. And there were squeals of delight when flower fanciers saw what they believed to be the biggest "glad" in the county or the best arranged table at the show.

But scattered among these ardent admirers were several women with a different attitude. They were the ones who said, "That isn't half as nice as the sweater I made for Lena's baby." "The angel cake you had last Sunday, Mabel, looked twice as good as that one." "Well, if I couldn't make better looking jelly than that!" "Next year I'm going to show some of my cooking at the Fair."

So I though I'd better remind you that the Fair is coming soon. It's time to begin to plan what you're going to exhibit.

Now if you've never shown anything at the Fair before there might be a few things you'd like to know. The first step in exhibiting is to procure a prize list from the secretary. The next thing to do is read the rules. Then read them again. Decide which classes you wish to enter and send your entry list to the chairman of the women's committee.

When you're preparing flowers for the show there are a few tips to follow, Of course, I assume you're honest and wouldn't dream of exhibiting flowers that you didn't grow yourself so I won't mention that. You'd better cut your flowers the night before, plunge them down cellar for the night. They'll look better the next day. Take a few more to the Fair than the prize list requires in case one or two get broken along the way.

But for goodness' sake don't exhibit more than the prize list demands. Even if it breaks your heart, throw away a big sister if you have five and should have only four. Judges like exhibitors who can count. But if the prize list says six stems—not six blooms—remember to get stems with the most possible blooms on them. And watch that all blooms and leaves are perfect. Judges don't like flowers that look moth-eaten.

And say, there's no use in taking old quilts and mats and things or ones that you've shown before. The judge of the Craft Class is pretty smart. You can't fool her. She always looks inside the dresses and aprons too, so be sure they're well finished where they don't show.

Now if you're entering any canned fruits and vegetables be sure to read the instructions to loosen the zinc rings at home. I nearly burst a blood vessel two years ago trying to turn off rings that were glued to the sealer. But don't take off the glass tops. I worked until I was blue in the face trying to dig out paraffin on jams and jellies too. So please remember to remove it this year.

Don't forget to wrap your food in cellophane and be sure to count your cookies. Don't make too many unless you want to treat the committee.

And about the school lunch. It's a child you're to feed not a thresher. A lovely lunch didn't get a prize one year because there was enough food in it for a regiment.

You know exhibiting things at the local fair is sort of fun. You get someextra pin money in prizes and you can always sell your cakes, pies and all your cooking. Often people buy sewing, vegetables and flowers too. So why don't you get in on the Fair this year?

I've planned all along that as soon as I've served my time on the committee I'd try my luck with the canning and baking. But it isn't working out that way this year.

Im going to be away all next week. I'm all excited about it, too. I've a ticket to see "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Shakespearean Festival at Stratford. I'm to attend Woodstock Fair, watch the Duchess of Kent open the new Hydro project at Niagara Falls, spend two days at the C.N.E. and visit several friends besides. The problem is to cram it all into ten days and retain my senses and my feet.

So I won't be seeing you at Chesterville Fair this year. Best of luck though. I hope you win all the prizes.

Oldtimers Often Know Best

It happened just like Clint said. Tom cast his frog, securely impaled on and tied to a Stanley weedless hook, smack into the overhang of the cedar-shaded shore line and it lit into the foliage about 3 feet above the water, hesitated for a second then dropped down through to land with a plop. The bass hit almost immediately; Tom lay back on his spinning rod, but the combination of the light, whippy rod and the natural elasticity of the four-pound test monofilament line was all in favour of the old "bronze back," who opened his mouth and ejected the frog almost as quickly as he hit it. Taking turns at the oars and the rods, we re-enacted this scne several times, as we moved from one likely tree-shaded spot to another and often enough in the next hour to satisfy ourselves that the old boy had been a hundred percent right. The bass were just like he said and they struck and so did we, but you can't tangle for them through the trees with a spinning outfit.

Sadly convinced we weren't going to put any fish on the stringer this way and with our time running out before we broke camp and headed for home, we moved into the shallow bays, stump-dotted and with lily pads and bass weed growing in profusion, with here and there a small opening of water. Again we followed our instructions to the letter, casting our frogs right over and onto the weeds, letting them rest for a second then starting our retrieve—this consisting of twitching the rod tip to give the frog action and reeling in only to gather up the slack. We got our strikes here too, right up through the weeds and again the spinning tackle let us down and the bass got free.

'Tree-ing' and 'Stumping' for Bass

The night before Tom and I had sat on Clint's porch, overlooking Sugarbush Lake, well into the wee small ours, listening to the old master as he told us young whipper-snappers his surefire method for catching large mouth bass in the dog days of summer. Between snatches of the old songs to the accompaniment of Ned's guitar, we were briefed on 'tree-ing' and 'stumping' for bass—the cock-eyedest approach for catching a mess of fish I'd ever heard tell of. Might have known, Clint Fleming, top-rated guide of the Rideau Lakes, more than three score and ten today and sprier than you or me, would have a few tricks up his sleeve after fifty years of fishing for pay, but mostly for fun.

A Stiff Rod and 15 to 20-Pound Test Line

Clint allowed as how we'd have trouble with his method unless we used a short stiff casting rod and a line of 15 to 20 pounds test. He explained that this kind of tackle is the only kind on which to strike effectively, with your frog dangling through the overhanging cedars and with any degree of certainty that the hook can be set. Some rugged tackle is a must when it comes to the little bays and where you have to strike through the weeds. Here your fish once firmly hooked, bores for the bottom and tangles in the weed roots or takes

Mrs. Servage spoke on "Know Your Presidents," and asked for the names of the different W.I. branches in the province, in Canada and the world.

She was thanked by Mrs. Hilton Hollister, who was convener for the programme.

Mrs. Delbert Flintoff gave a poem, "Grandmothers of 1900 and 1930,' and Mrs. Fred Cryderman conducted a contest, "Things Our Grandmothers of 50 Years Ago Did Not Have,' which was won by Mrs. Roan, Detroit, a guest of Mrs. D. Beckstead.

Mrs. LaPorte, supervising principal of Osnabruck schools, showed the film, "Let There Be Light," which showed the formation and growth of the Women's Institute in 50 years.

Mrs. Flintoff thanked Mr. LaPorte for his kindness.

Lunch was served by the members and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. S. Begg, Crysler, proposed a vote of thanks on behalf of the guests.

The next meeting will be held on September 9th at Mrs. O. J. Beckstead's home.

Laurie—Pettit

Leonard James Laurie, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Laurie, Windsor, took as his bride Barbara Louise Pettit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pettit, Newington, at Newington United Church. Rev. H. V. Ellison officiated.

Solos, "O Perfect Love," "The Lords Prayer" and "O Promise Me," were rendered by Mrs. J. D. Murphy, Burk's Falls, aunt of the bride. She was accompanied at the organ by Leslie Jenkins, Ottawa and William Pettit, Newington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of French lace and nylon net over satin. The fitted bodice was buttoned down the back and had a small Peter Pan collar, long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists. The full skirt, billowed into a cathedral train. Her orange blossom head piece, held in place with a waist length veil of net, was bordered with lace. She carried a cascade of pink roses.

Mrs. D'Arcy St. Pierre, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honour. She wore a full length, strapless gown of pale green net over satin with a matching headdress and mitts. Her bouquet was of deep yellow 'mums.

Miss Marion Laurie, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a full length, strapless gown of yellow net over satin, matching bolero, mitts and headdress. She carried a bouquet of baby 'mums.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Norah Kaye Pettit, the bride's sister. She was dressed in a pale blue gown of net over satin and she carried a bouquet of yellow 'mums.

William Hanley, Windsor, was best man. Ushers were D'Arcy St. Pierre and Robert Laurie.

A reception was held in Newington White Church Hall, following the ceremony. Later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Rhode Island, the bride travelling in a black cocktail dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

They will reside in Windsor, Ont.

Poor Memory Too

A rather elderly-looking patient was shown into the doctor's office.

"So you have severe headaches, pains in the back, and bilious attacks," said the doctor. "H'm. What is your age, madam?"

"Twenty-five,' she coyly replied.

The doctor continued to write: "Yes, and loss of memory, too."

Swimming Hole Path Historic Fur Route

A riverside path now used by small boys going swimming has been identified as one of the last remaining signs of the historic fur-trading route blazed by Champlain in 1613.

The path, half a mile long skirting a stretch of the Ottawa River, was a portage used by generations of fur traders for two centuries after Champlain's exploration trip up the Ottawa River.

Its identification was made earlier this year by Eric Morse, of Ottawa, a national director of the Association of Canadian Clubs. Recently it was set aside as a national historic site.

Mr. Morse spotted the portage by finding a series of crude stone steps, built by the voyageurs to help them carry their packs and canoes over a sharp rise.

He said the significance of the find is that all other portages along the Ottawa River have disappeared with the growth of towns and industries.

Caring for Shoes

Leather, in many ways, is similar to cur skins, so if that pair of white summer shoes you bought a month or so ago is looking a bit grimy, give it a gentle wash with a mild soap and a damp cloth, and you'll find much of the dust disappears.

After they have been dampwashed, they should have trees put in them, or be stuffed with paper and dried at room temperature. When they are quite dry, polish should be used and allowed to remain for a few minutes. Then a good rubbing with a soft-bristled brush, followed by a soft cloth will bring cut the high-lights and they will look as good as new again.

Fabric shoes require a little different treatment. They should first be brushed to remove any of the loose dirt which is clinging to the surface, then wiped with a cloth which is just barely damp. Use cleaning fluid, if this does not remove any stubborn spots. They should also be treed, or stuffed and allowed to dry well before wearing.

Try giving your linen shoes a rubbing over with an art gum eraser, and watch the dirt disappear.

In warm weather, where humidity is high, there is a danger of mildew. Wash this off with soap and water, then apply polish. If you store shoes in a place that is dry and well ventilated, mildew will be prevented.

Citizens in Ehuns, France, elected a centenarian to his seventy-first consecutive term as mayor.

Vial of Virus Killing Rabbit Population Of France

It won't be long now before white-tailed Brer Rabbit will have ceased to exist in France.

It took only two years and one vial of the dread Sanarelli virus to exterminate the rabbit population in 70 out of 87 departments, and experts believe that by the end of 1954 there won't be a wild rabbit left in France.

The person responsible for this devastating germ warfare is an eminent Parisian doctor, 70 plus, Professor Armand Delille.

Owner of a chateau surrounded by woods 60 miles from Paris, his property was the happy hunting ground for rabbits. He decided to get rid of them by innoculating a half score of them with "myxomatosis," a diease which has appeared in South American hutches.

Delilles experiment proved more than successful. Within 12 months the disease had spread with lightning rapidity. It crossed the frontiers and attacked successfully the rabbit population of Germany, England and Spain.

Throughout rural France opinion is divided. Certain farmers are all in favour of the action of the man, whose opponents call him "The Sorcerer's Apprentice." Those in favour say: "Rabbits destroyed our crops. Since they have disappeared we can sleep in peace."

Dr. Delille declares: "My chateau is enclosed with high walls. I had the right privately to make an experiment." But the fact remains that Operation Myxomatosis may even yet destroy the rabbit population of the world.

Rabbit is a current item of food in European countries. The disappearance of this animal from the family table represents 20 billion francs. Dealers in rabbit skins and the hat industry represent another nine billion. Revenue sales from shooting permits and sales of guns and ammunition has fallen.

The "myamatosis war" is well underway. Recenty Professor Delille was assingned to appear before the court in the town of Dreux to defend his case.

In France there seems to be no way of braking the epidemic. According to the International Office of Epizootics, anybody and everybody can transmit it.

An automobile running over a rabbit can carry the pathogenic agent tens or hundreds of miles, as the case may be. Insects and birds, especially crows, also are carriers. Birds are said to be responible for the disappearance of rabbits in British woods.

New Textile Fibre To Be Produced In Canada

An interesting new chemical fibre will be produced in Canada for the first time this fall. It is a British discovery called "Terylene" which has already won for itself a warm welcome in United Kingdom textile circles. So far, only a few "Terylene" garments have been available on this side of the Atlantic, but a new multi-million dollar plant in Ontario is nearing completion and Canadians will soon have their own supply of this exciting man-made fibre .

"Terylene" is what the chemists call this polyester fibre and it is one of the closest approaches yet made to developing an ideal fibre —particularly for men's and women's clothing. A full range of fabrics can be woven from it, from materials with the smoothness of silk to those with the softness of wool, and all of them have the washability of cotton.

In addition to the well-known advantages of these natural fibres, chemists have been able to produce in "Terylene" other qualities which make it remarkably easy to care for. It will not shrink or lose its shape; pleats and creases can be inserted with an iron and are not removed by washing; it dries quickly and needs little or no ironing.

Since the war Canadians have heard mention of one man-made fibre after another in rapid succession. Sometimes we think a chemist tosses together another magic brew and presto—another fibre. But it doesn't happen that way. To succeed in today's market, a fibre must possess not one but a combination of superior qualities. That calls for years of painstaking research, and only a few good fibres have yet been discovered.

"Terylene" was found after 13 years of experimentation by a scientist who as a young man worked with the inventors of rayon. Little development was possible during the war, but it's now almost nine years since the first bobbin of "Terylene" yarn was made in England. Since that time almost every once of yarn produced has been devoted to finding out the best uses for the new fibre.

With the co-operation of the textile industry, fabrics were made into garments to be tested in the laboratory and on the street. Men have been wearing "Terylene" socks to see how long they will last and how easily they react to continual wear and washing. Wom-

Farewell Party For Rev. Percy Clarke

On Wednesday evening, August 18th, about 35 members of St. Johns Anglican Church, Crysler, spent a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Borden Armstrong to bid farewell to their rector, Rev. Percy Clarke, who is leaving after being there for almost 10 years.

At about 10.30, Mr. Clarke was asked to the diningroom and an address was read by Ray Millar and a purse of money presented to him by Borden Armstrong. Mr. Clarke thanked all the congregation for the gift of money and said he would always remember the people of Crysler, as he enjoyed his association with them.

All joined in singing "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

A social hour was spent playing cards.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ray Millar, Mrs. Henry Armstrong, Mrs. Jack Armstrong and Mrs. Robert Armstrong.

NEW FIBRE—

en have been trying out sweaters, suits and skirts to see how they perform in everyday wear.

After nine years of study, the fibres makers now know exactly what it will do and what it will not do. It isn't the last word for our clothing and furnishing needs —no fibre is—but it will meet an impressive variety of uses. Soft, warm and resilient socks, glamorous evening gowns, delicate lingerie, hard-wearing, crease-resistant suits are just a few of the garments which will be made from the versatile fibre.

One of the reasons why "Terylene" serves so many uses is that it is produced in two distinct forms. The first is called filament yarn, which is a fine, continuous thread produced in various thicknesses or deniers and is like silk. It can be used to make a great number of beautiful fabrics such as voiles, marquisettes, brocades, satins and velvets, and garments like lingerie, shirts, dresses, blouses and ties. The other variety is known as staple fibre, which is short, wavy lengths produced for spinning in the same way as cotton or wool are spun. The staple fibre is a soft, resilient material which will be worn in the form of suits, slacks, skirts and socks.

A twenty million dollar "Terylene" plant is being built at Millhaven, near Kingston, Ont., and by the time it reaches full production a year from now, Canadians will be enjoying a wide variety of garments and house furnishings made possible by the new fibre.

NOBODY UNDERSELLS KRAMBOS!

A Milwaukee supermarket has turned a rival's promotion stunt to its own use.

The Kroger Company supermarket mailed prospective customers coupons worth 25 cents when redeemed in merchandise. Soon the nearby Krambo Food Store hung this banner in its window:

"We redeem all Kroger coupons at 30 cents."

Both stores say customer response to the coupons has been good. Kroger will keep mailing out coupons and Krambo will go right on redeeming them at a nickel more.

"TOO BRILLIANT" TO BE JAILED

A brilliant young mechanic who wounded a boy with a "paper bullet" was granted probation because, witnesses testified, if he went to jail two aircraft firms would have to curtail operations.

Thomas Dunning, 24, of Pasadena, Calif., pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was accused of firing a paper wad from a blank cartridge in an antique rifle as a gag. It struck Warren Wiltrout, 15, over the heart, seriously wounding him.

A witness, George M. Bryant, representing the Utility Metals Corporation of Pasadena, told the court that Dunning is "one of the outstanding young mechanics of the nation" and that Convair Aircraft is one of the firms which would have to shut down manufacturing in certain departments if Dunning were jailed.

Dunning's work is so classified that it couldn't be disclosed in court, Bryant said.

Dunning was put on three year's probation and must spend 20 weekends in jail, get rid of his gun collection and pay $425 medical expenses incurred by Warren.

OLD SOURDOUGH

When Vancouver housewives were scouring heirloom cookbooks for long forgotten recipes during the recent bread strike in their city, Canada's grand lady of the north, Mrs. George Black, came to the rescue with a recipe for sourdough.

It dates back to the trail of '98 and is in the best Yukon tradition, said Mrs. Black in her home at White Horse, Y.T., Here it is:

"Add a little rice or macaroni, water and a pinch of sugar to a thin batter of flour and water. Hang the mixture in a covered pail over a warm stove for four hours. Sourdough may be used to raise bread, pancakes and doughnuts. For pancakes use a pinch of soda.

"Even today," she said, " I can make sourdough hotcakes that will melt in your mouth."

Ageing Bones

A feble, palsied octogenarian once met himself face-to-face in a public street. But the self he met was only thirty years old. With a croak of rage the old man raised his cane and proceeded to pound his younger self on the head until the police came and hauled him off.

"Believe it or not," he told police, "that was me—at the age of thirty. The worst enemy I ever had in the world. He wasted my money and he wasted my health, and a few knocks on the head is small payment for that."

QUESTION:

"Why do old people's bones break so easily and so badly. My father, aged 80, slipped on the sidewalk and broke his leg four years ago. He still is a cripple, and the doctor says he might always need crutches. I am 45 and in good health and hope to stay that way past 80. Is there anything a person can do at my age to keep his bones from becoming matchsticks?"

The majority of older people have defective skeletal mineralization, and delayed union of fractures. An adequate daily diet keeps the bones of people of all ages in a healthy condition.

Living bone is a constant target for the chemical chisellers which are the osteoclasts (bone-breakers) that erode bone tissues and leave pit marks on the surface. The continuous wear and tear process requires a constant formation and deposition of new materials throughout every individuals full life period.

It is necessary from earliest youth to extreme old age to keep up a dietary supply of vital minerals, proteins and other food nutrients. Calcium and vitamin D in some form are particularly important for normal growth, upkeep and repair. Codliver oil is n excellent source of vitamin D.

You can't go wrong by following Canada's Food Rules. Too many Canadians do not follow these rules strictly. These are the foods you should eat every day:

Milk; citrus fruits or tomatoes or their juices, one serving of other fruit; one green vegetable and one yellow vegetable, preferably raw; one serving of whole grain cereal; four slices of bread with butter or fortified margarine; one serving of meat, fish or meat alternate such as dried beans, eggs and cheese. Use liver frequently.

In the absence of Mrs. C. H. Heustin, president, the business part of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Glyn Watkins.

Arrangements were made for the booth to be operated at the Avonmore Fair on September 15th.

Mrs. James Watson and the members of her group displayed a quilt, which is to be offered for sale at the annual church bazaar on

DANCER GRABS WRONG DIRK STABS SELF HUSBAND CUTS UP

Ballet dancer Nora Povach got a horrible shock one night recently—stabbed herself with a real dagger instead of the rubber weapon she should have used.

It happened in a performance of Scheherazade at the Royal Festival Hall, London. She wasn't hurt badly, but her dancer husband, Istvan Rabovsky, was prostrated by indignation and excitement.

Nora, who played the part of Jobeide in the ballet based on the the "Thousand and One Nights," was being chased by evil characters. In the story, death seemed to be the only honourable way out, and she grabbed a dagger from the belt of an extra. Last night he had two daggers and she snatched the one made of steel.

She made the gesture of stabbing herself with a fine flourish, and the weapon fell to the floor with a clatter far more realistic than the rubber model would have made. Luckily she had chosen to puncture herself through the costume, and heavy fabric resisted the point.

Nora finished the death scene, but couldn't come out for a curtain call. "Knocked the wind out of me," she said.

It knocked all poise and composure out of her husband, too. Director Anton Dolin had to use the whole interval to pacify him.

To Time

Boy: "One more kiss, darling."

Girl: "We won't have time. Father will be home in half an hour."

46-Year-Old Mistake Pays Off

The omission of two words from a land title deed 46 years ago has spelled out a fortune for Anton Turta and his son, Nick, who farm in the heart of Leduc's oil field about 20 miles south of Edmonton.

The two hold title to 160 acres of land on which mineral rights have been valued at more than $1,000,000.

The Turtas won a two-year legal fight recently when the Supreme Court of Canada threw out claims by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Imperial Oil Ltd. for the oil rights on the land.

Also benefitting were the Montreal Trust Co., which holds a lease on Anton Turta's portion of the land, and Wm. Serada, who holds a lease on the other half.

Mr. Turta acquired part of the land in 1911 and the remainder in 1918 from Mike Podgorny, who purchased the land in 1908 from the C.P.R. A clerk in the land titles office erred in drawing up Mr. Podgorny's title.

He omitted two words: "and petroleum.' As it read, the title reserved to the C.P.R. "all coal."

OSNABRUCK CENTRE GUILD HOLDS MEETING

The Anglican Guild held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. Abbey Cryderman, Osnabruck Centre, with an attendance of 9 members.

Mrs. Fred Dewe opened the meeting with prayer. The secretary, Mrs. Fred Cryderman, read the minutes of the last meeting.

The business of the month was discussed and a social half hour was spent. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

OUTDOOR ROUNDUP—

a few turns 'round some sunken tree stump. Back on those cedar-shaded shorelines you'll be playing your fish through the brances and in both cases will probably have to oar the boat in and hand-line your fish out of the water. These rough and ready tactics may not have the greatest appeal for the man who is a crank for light tackle, but will get you fish for dinner, when all other methods fail.

Not Skunked Entirely

Before Tommy Dryden and I got mixed up with this wierd bass fishing routine, we put in one day just fishing for whatever came along and netted and put back our fair share of pike, keeping only enough for eating and a few to bring home with us. This trip a spinning-sized version of that old favourite, the ruby-eyed wobbler, accounted for the most fish. And talking of lures, we met up with and yarned to a professor of fishing—just imagine that—from Penn State University. This character, wish I could remember his name, conducts classes in fishing at that seat of academic learning and has been spending the summer testing different artificial lures. What are his conclusions so far. Well, maybe we'll have to drop off a few years and go back to school to find out.

TEMPO OF THE DAY

A hassock is now being manufactured in the shape of the mushroom-cloud of an atomic or hydrogen bomb.

Four moonshiners recently arrested in Virginia had managed to screen operations of their elaborate liquor still for a long time by passing the word around that they were engaged in "secret work for the Pentagon."

* * * * *

Omaha school officials revealed that the custom of bringing an apple for the teacher is dying out. Gifts today are more likely to be caterpillars, salamanders, raccoon's feet, snakes, rock shells, bats, tadpoles and fish skeletons.

* * * * *

In Perth Amboy, N.J., three teenage boys were arrested for soliciting funds for a non-existent organization to prevent juvenile delinquency.

* * * * *

Canada has established at Shirley's Bay an observatory for flysaucers.

* * * * *

In Lancaster, Pa., a light company has developed a clock that tells simultaneously the time, month and year—both on Earth and Mars.

* * * * *

A school board in Kansas City had to explain to a complaining paretn that the red flag in front of a grammar school was not a Communist banner but a signal to youngsters arriving early that they should enter the building at once because bad weather was approaching.

In Chicago, someone broke into the city safety-testing building and took 637 safety stickers.

Lines Part Salvage Try Halted

Salvage operations on the S.S. "Selkirk" came to a temporary halt Tuesday when further attempts were made to pull the vessel free. Anchor chains and cables parted and the ship swung way round on the rocky bottom.

This may call for some changes in the salvage plans and it is thought it will be necessary to place another deadman. This will probably mean a delay of several days before further pulling can start.

River traffic east and west is through the Williamsburg Canala at Morrisburg and this makes for some delay. Cables across the river to the barge anchored north west in Rough Bay and another from the tug "Salvage Prince" to the "Selkirk" preavent east-bound traffic using the river.

Tanks May Replace Milk Cans

Farmers in the Kitchener, Twin City, Ont., districts are discarding the traditional milk can for the cheaper method of bulk hauling.

Dairies in the United States have been using this system for some time, but only a few such systems have been launched in Canada.

Though farmers remained unconvinecd at first that the system was practical, few complaints were heard after several months of operation. In fact ,farmers are pleased that their milk bacteria count is lower.

The new system eliminates the bulky and ponderous method of handling milk in the 100-pound cans and trying to keep them clean. Then, too, with the old method, the farmer had to have the cans out to the road early in the morning for the pick-up truck. Often the milk would sit an hour or in the hot sun and heat up to about 6 0degrees—the right temperature to generate mililons of bacteria. In winter it often froze.

With the new system a stainless steel insulated cooler with an agitator is installed in the farmer's milk house. Four milkings can be dumped into the cooler. This necessitates a pick-up every other day.

A plastic hose is hooked to the farm cooler outlet and an electric motor sucks the milk into the tank truck.

The specially made cooler, imported from the U.S., costs about $2,000. A Twin City dairy rents the equipment to the farmer at the cost of 6 per cent of the investment. Savings in labour will enable it to replace equipment after a period of years.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends who so kindly sent me flowers, cards and letters during my stay in Winchester Memorial Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Justus and the nursing staff.

Mrs. Carl Crump.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend heartfelt thanks to all those who remembered me in any way while I was a patient in the Winchester Memorial Hospital. I owe a great deal to Dr. Justus, his assistants and the entire nursing staff for the splendid care and attention I received.

Mrs. Rodney Hummel.

IN MEMORIAM

CRUMP—In loving memory of my dear brother, William Crump, who passed away suddenly August 30th, 1953.

He bade no one a last farewell,
He said good-bye to none;
His loving heart had ceased to beat
Before I knew he had gone.
My heart still beats with sadness,
My eyes shed many a tear;
God knows how much I miss him
At the end of one long year.

Sadly missed by his sister Alice.

IN MEMORIAM

FROATS—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Elgin Froats, who passed away August 23rd, 1950.

A loving mother, true and kind,
No friend on earth like her we'll find;
For all of us she did her best,
And God gave her eternal rest.
In our hearts her memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Mother
That we do not think of you.

Always remembered by Percy, Helen and David.

SMALL CYCLONE HITS VANCAMP AREA

Tuesday afternoon's rain in this area, heaviest downpour of the rain-plagued summer, took the form of a small cyclone in the Vancamp area, where rain and high winds caused hundreds of dollars crop and property damage. Besides flattening stooked grain and uncut crops completely, the driving rains and high winds also smashed a silo at the farm of Ivan Simzer, a drive shed at the Mrs. C. Miller residence, and part of the roof from both house and barn at the Dick Bolton property. Several trees were also uprooted in the season's worst storm.—Winchester Press.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all those who kindly remembered us with cards, flowers and gifts while in hospital and since returing home. Special thanks to Dr. McMillan, Dr. Byers and the nursing staff.

Lietta and Greg Hillis.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire in this way to extend grateful thanks to our friends and neighbours for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy at the time of the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Lelia Robertson. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and all who assisted us in any way.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tupper.

"A burglar broke into my house when I was still at teh club," said Smith to his friend.

"Did he get anything?" asked the friend.

"Yes, poor devil. He's in the hospital now. My wife thought it was me."
