Promoting gardening across the country

Danielle Arsenault, daughter of Marilyn and Jeff of Morrisburg, is covered in seed packages which were transported in from Unionville from White Rose. Jeff (also pictured) is busy promoting gardening across the country and will be shipping seeds out from his home. On Sept. 20, he will also be offering a free sample to those who drop by The Garden for the season closing. —Day photo

Truckload of flower seeds shipped in from White Rose

MORRISBURG—Jeff Arsenault is gearing up for a busy closing day at his garden on Sept. 20, but until then, he's up to his armpits in seed packages.

Last week, he received a transport load—courtesy of Harland Veinotte Transport—of free seeds from White Rose in Unionville, and now he's going to give them to those people wanting to become involved in gardening.

"White Rose knew the seeds were going to a good cause, so they sent them to me as I try to encourage gardening across Canada," said Arsenault as he sorted through the boxes and boxes and boxes of seed packets that are presently taking up all available space in his garage, and in his home at 51 Augusta Street.

Arsenault's plan is to spread these seeds across Canada, by way of schools and hospitals and non-profit organizations.

He is presently contacting schools and will send them anything they require to start their own gardening projects.

"I want to help promote gardening and where better to start than in the schools?" he said. "I'm faxing, and e-mailing all the schools I possibly can, and hopefully I'll be able to get them involved in planting and gardening in general."

Not only are these seeds going to travel across Canada, but Arsenault hopes to get them across the ocean to Bosnia. He has been in contact with the Ministry of Agriculture to obtain information on how to go about this task.

"The reason why I want to send some of these seeds overseas is so that the kids can have something to do inside. I couldn't stand to be cooped up indoors all day long, and they can't go outside to play because of the mines," said Arsenault.

"They need to have something to do inside their homes where they are safe. I'm going to send them seeds and pots so they can do some gardening indoors and get their families involved."

Arsenault hopes to get rid of the bulk of his seeds through mail orders, but will offer freebees to those who visit The Garden's closing on Sept. 20.

Visitors will be encouraged to nab handfuls of perennial seeds, annual seeds and even some vegetable seeds.

He is also working on a highly sensitive and top-secret project which he will release details on next year.

"Being a reporter, I'll tell you," he said. "But I trust you won't talk...until I give you the go-ahead next year."

Morrisburg tourism up but no thanks to sagging loonie

by Laurie Day
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—If Americans are flocking to Canada thanks to the sagging loonie, then they are flying right over Morrisburg.

"In my experience, I don't think the Americans are taking advantage of what their dollar can do up here," said Tom Morrow, co-owner of the McIntosh Country Inn and Conference Centre.

"I think our dollar is keeping everyone at home though."

Morrow said the special packages offered at the Inn have been big drawing cards for Canadian tourism across the region.

"We've done well with the Upper Canada Village, and the Upper Canada Golf Course packages," he said. "They are drawing guests from Quebec and western Ontario."

Overall, he added, "Business has been great. Much better than last year. July and August have substantially increased from last year."

—Tom Morrow, owner of McIntosh Country Inn

At Prehistoric World east of Morrisburg, brothers Paul and Serge Dupuis are still cleaning up from January's ice storm, but Paul is reporting a pretty good year for tourism.

"Ninety per cent of our business is word of mouth or repeat," he said Friday. "It's actually been quite good this year, even though we lost a week at the beginning of our season (when school tours would normally be coming in) because we were cleaning up from the ice storm."

They've even cut down on their advertising, as Dupuis said he cancelled their large ad in the Toronto area.

"We're still doing repairs, but we had about 400 trees removed, and now it's all labor intensive detail work to repair the displays," he said.

Two new dinosaurs added this year were the Tenontosaurus and the Nodosaurus, which the brothers still managed to build despite the hours spent on cleanup.

As trees fell over their 153 acres of land during the ice storm, they left behind a path of destruction which will take years to fix, Dupuis stated.

There were lost fingers and horns on the displays, and paint was chipped and scratched.

"It's going to keep us busy for a while," he said. "But we've got enough firewood to last forever."

Although our loonie should be attracting American visitors, Dupuis said that they didn't campaign across the border.

"Only five per cent of our visitors are from the States," he said. "Most are coming from the Ottawa and Montreal areas."

Upper Canada Campground

Jane and Bryan Cox, owners of the Upper Canada Campground, just off the eastbound 758 exit of the 401 Highway, said their visitors are coming from as far away as the east coast this season.

"Basically, we're finding that people are staying close to home this year," said Jane Cox. "But we've had more visitors than last year. Most from the Ottawa, Cornwall and Iroquois areas."

At the Upper Canada Campground, there haven't been too many cross-border visitors, and most who dropped in this summer season are repeat visitors, or they heard about the facility through friends.

"It's been an excellent year," said Melissa Mason of Cornwall, who is the campground's activity coordinator.

"July was packed, and August has been very busy through the weekends."

Upper Canada Playhouse

Ticket sales have been brisk at the Upper Canada Playhouse, according to Roseann Kelly, Box Office Manager.

"The walk-ins have been really noticeable this year," she said. "Single ticket sales are up, and the final production looks great."

She said that there haven't been an over-abundance of American visitors, although a large group of RVers from Pennsylvania were here for the August 13 production.

"That was something I'd been working on for awhile," Kelly said. "We had a big country dinner at the Christian Reform Church in Williamsburg, and they all came back here for a play."

The Playhouse has also had guests from Canton, but most people coming are repeat visitors.

Riverside Motel

Paul Dobry, owner of the Riverside Motel says business has been hectic this summer. "We've had a lot of people from overseas this year," he said. "And a few more from the States. We've noticed more people coming back."

He also said the Steen Pipeline crews have been staying at the motel during the summer.

St. Lawrence Parks Commission

Throughout the St. Lawrence Parks region, Gabriele Thomas, information officer at the Commission, said the entire area was up over their projection of 10 per cent.

"We're up about 14 per cent in revenue over last year," she said. "That's four per cent over what we projected for the season."

Thomas said that high traffic areas in Kingston and the area, was due to the 60th anniversary of Fort Henry, and a steady stream of visitors at the Ivy Lee Campsite and Brown's Bay picnic area.

Crysler Park, the Marina, and Beach; Upper Canada Village, the Village Store, the Upper Canada Golf Course, Riverside-Cedar Campsite, was a combined area that increased in revenue by 11 per cent.

"Overall, it's been a great season," added Thomas. "Many areas did very well, while others were up only slightly, but it evened out."

These figures are up to July 31.

As for where their visitors are coming from, Thomas said there was an increase of visitors from the States, especially New York, as well as European guests.

Titanic tidal wave engulfs Morrisburg

by Laurie Day
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—At 8:10 a.m. Tuesday morning, the Titanic video was sold out at Canadian Tire in Williamsburg.

If you didn't reserve the movie before it went on sale across the country September 1, chances are you're scrambling to pick up a copy now.

At $18.99, it was a steal at Canadian Tire stores.

"The lineup when I got here this morning was unbelievable," said Louise Eldridge, an employee of the CT store. "As soon as we opened the doors, it was a steady stream. They just came in, picked up the movie, came through cash, and left."

By 8:15 a.m. when stopping by for a picture, they were sold out. The only people picking up copies had called in ahead of time to reserve it.

"I just called yesterday (Monday) and was able to reserve," said one lucky buyer from the village. "My neighbor told me she could reserve a copy for me so I told her to go ahead."

There were no quantity limits at Canadian Tire, and all 96 copies in the display were gone in about five minutes. Another 60 on reserve were gone by 8:30.

Disappointed, some shoppers quickly scrambled into their cars and made the trip to Morrisburg, as the BiWay store had them on sale for their opening at 9 a.m.

"I couldn't believe the people out here this morning," said Evelyn Hunter, Associate Leader at the BiWay store. "They wouldn't even back up from the door so I could open."

Their 80 copies of Titanic were also gone in record time.

"We got two cases in, and I'm trying to get more," added Hunter. "But I won't know until the end of the day."

Copies were limited to one per person, and at a price of $19.99, buyers were quick to snatch them up.

Hunter signed with relief after the rush was through.

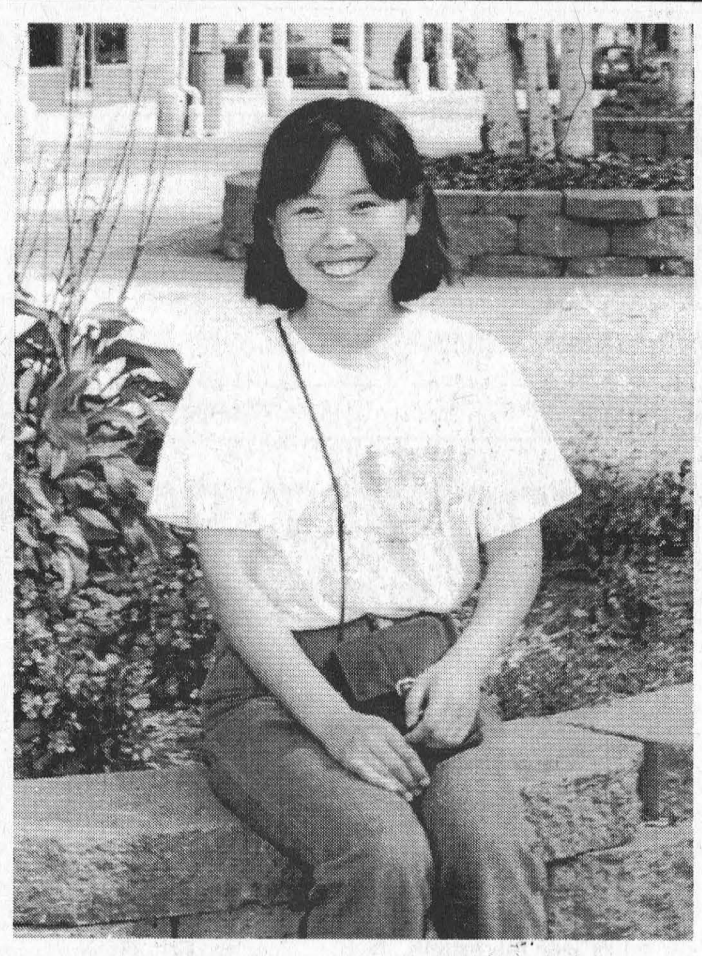
"I haven't seen a lineup like that since we opened the store 12 years ago," she said. "It was nuts."

Never fear, if you haven't yet purchased your copy of Titanic you will be able to reserve a rental at local video stores.

"We got 12 copies in and they were all reserved for today (Sept.1) by Monday night," said Wendy Osler, manager of Paul Stewart Electronics in the Morrisburg mall.

After Titanic's run on the video shelves, Osler says they plan to sell their stock for about $13.99 apiece, a far cry from the price of up to $50 each in other stores.

"Three or four have already been spoken for," she added. "And of course, we'll (staff) get first choice, but we may have a few left...in about two months."



Exchange visitor
Japanese student Hanano Sasaki, pictured in the Morrisburg plaza, was one of the 21 English as a Second Language students taught by Glenn Serviss, on an exchange visit to Canada.

Japanese guest experiences Morrisburg

by Catherine Thompson
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Hanano Sasaki, the 14-year old Japanese guest of Elise and Laird Weagant, learned many things about communication and cultural differences during her 10-day visit in Canada.

Hanano was one of 21 Japanese students who, in the last couple of weeks, visited Morrisburg, Toronto and Niagara Falls through the "Touch Your Future" program for English as a Second Language students.

During the short time she was here, she soon understood there are "a lot of differences between Japan and Canada."

For example, when Hanano asked her hostess Elise about Canadian traditional foods and snacks, she was told, "There is no traditional food, it's a Canadian and American mix, and a mix of many countries.'"

"That was unusual for me," Hanano commented.

While impressed by Niagara Falls, Hanano was also surprised that "it was so windy and I would get wet. I wore a rain coat and still got wet."

"And Toronto is like Tokyo, it's huge, but Morrisburg is a small quiet town."

Hanano added she herself comes from a "very small village" where there are "11 at junior high and three at elementary school And most are old people in my village. The village has at most between 30 to 50 people."

Fluent before she came to Canada, Hanano learned English at the tender age of two, while her parents lived at the Marshall Islands near Guam. "We stayed there for three years, I learned English, and went back to Japan, and my parents said, 'Listen to the radio English class,'" she explained.

Hanano followed their advice, and pursued English as a Second Language studies at Junior High School in Japan.

Glenn Serviss of Morrisburg was Hanano's English teacher at Mizunuma Elementary Junior High School in the Kitaibaraki School Board. He developed the ESL program for the board, and taught in all 16 schools for the last few years.

She has now learned more English in Canada, "not so much writing or reading, but I learned to speak more. I talked so much to my host family I made them tired. But I was not tired myself, I'm really excited to be here," she said.

"I also learned a little more about communication, to communicate with people who live in another country, and a little about Canada."

The whole trip was enjoyable, Hanano reported. "But the best thing was Morrisburg itself, I really like this town."

Eventually, Hanano intends to put her communication skills to work, hoping to build a career as a diplomat in international relations. And at her current rate of progress, Hanano has a significant head start.

Zoning amendment passed for Caravan Camp

by Catherine Thompson
Leader Staff

WILLIAMSBURG—South Dundas Council has passed a zoning amendment for the Caravan Camp area, allowing parts of Lots 2 and 3, Concession 1, to be zoned commercial tourist, with a special exception and holding provision.

The property was zoned rural in 1977, and Matilda Township passed a bylaw in 1980 allowing a seasonal campground through a tourist commercial designation.

A comprehensive zoning bylaw was passed by Matilda Township on December 20, 1993, zoning the property as commercial-tourist, and setting rules for new development. Special provisions were set for tent and trailer parks.

Since Caravan Camp has been established for many years, and a pattern of site usage was set before the current regulations, the Caravan Campground Owners Association applied for a rezoning to set special provisions recognizing the pattern of development, and permitting infilling of sites in a manner compatible with the existing development.

The rezoning establishes certain requirements for setbacks, site area and frontage, as well as requirements for the size of an open deck, porch or gazebo.

All tents, trailers, buildings and structures on the southwesterly part of the site which abut seven homes on Lakeshore Drive, have all development prohibited within six meters or 20 feet of the southerly property line.

Likewise, all structures located on Part 2 and Parts 55 to 60 have all development prohibited within 1.5 meters or five feet of the westerly property line. A maximum site coverage provision of 35 per cent is set to help prevent over development, especially on undersized parcels.

The property remains subject to a "holding" provision, identified by "h", until the Campground owners complete a final site plan showing all major development features, to the satisfaction of the municipality and agencies.

In addition, the applicants must apply for approval for a septic bed connected to the laundry facility. The Health Unit has no record of a septic tile bed, although one appears to be there. According to Planner Peter Hannah with J.L. Richards and Associates, he said it may necessary to dig up part of the system to determine exactly what is there.

Several owners said their trailers had been damaged during January's ice storm, while others were waiting for the amendment to be passed, so they could go ahead with construction of a new addition, porch or deck. The owners complained that in the meantime, their building materials were being damaged by rain.

While the owners wait for the amendment to go through the next steps, they have the go-ahead to repair existing property, but will have to wait until the zoning amendment is in place, before being permitted to go ahead with new construction.

One homeowner said the ice storm had damaged her trailer, and she wanted a roof over her trailer and deck. Hannah stated that construction of a roof would constitute repair, but a new roof over a new deck would be new development, and as such is not allowed, until after the zoning is final.

Mayor Johnny Whitteker said it was not council's wish that owners incur damage to their property.

A 20-day appeal period starts after notice of the amendment has been given to the property owners, adjacent owners and agencies such as the Eastern Ontario Health Unit and the Ministry of Environment and Energy.

Clerk Bill Horner said he will advertise the amendment, and a notice wil be posted at Caravan Camp.

Until September 21, the last date for an appeal, anyone who has an objection or an appeal, may give a written notice to the Ontario Municipal Board, together with the planning grounds on which it is based, and send it to the South Dundas municipal office. If there are no planning grounds, the Ontario Municipal Board may dismiss the appeal.

Saving a life

Rural/Metro paramedics successfully resuscitated a male in his fifties, who collapsed of a heart attack on top of his 15-foot trailer in Morrisburg Friday. Paramedic Andy Stocks had to climb on top of the trailer to get the patient when he noticed that the man had gone into cardiac arrest. Stocks and his partner, Wayne Markell managed to successfully defibrillate the man's heart. He was rushed to Winchester Hospital, and later transferred to Ottawa General. Markell said, "This wasn't your average code. There is enough to think about with our protocols without having t figure out how to get a person off a 15-foot roof. Morrisburg Fire Fighters were also on the scene to help paramedics remove the man from the roof. —Day photo

Back to school tips for parents and students

For some students it will be a return to old friends and new teachers, for others it will be the beginning of a new and exciting world of independence, new friends and new adventures.

Stay Alert. . Stay Safe, Canada's leading street-proofing program, hopes that for all, the start of the school year will be a safe and happy experience.

Being able to talk to your child is key to your relationship. It is wise to start this good habit early so that in later years it remains a comfortable and important part of your routine.

Always ask them about their day. Learn about new friends and teachers. Listen for any signs of anxiety that could signal potential problems.

The playground is often the first experience children have with the realities of the outside world. For the most part, that experience is positive, but as children develop their independence and learn to play with others, they also begin to develop a sense of the many different ways people respond to situations. If they are being threatened by a bully at recess time, suggest they play close to the teacher on yard duty.

Inviting a bully to join a game that their friends are playing is a good idea. If the bully's harmful behaviour continues, encourage them to tell a teacher, principal or other adult they trust.

Many parents are not comfortable allowing their children to walk to school by themselves until they are older. Here are a few suggestions to make the trip to school a safe one: Know your children's routes to school, to friends' homes and to play areas.

Walk with them until you are acquainted with their routine; encourage them to walk with a buddy. Or hire an older student to accompany your kids to school and back; check out the neighbourhood with your children and warn them of potential hazards; point out Block Parent homes and other safe places; tell them to always refuse to go anywhere with people they don't know; teach them to step well back if someone they don't know stops to ask directions, so they can get away fast.

Thanks to funding from the Canadian Tire Child Protection Foundation, educational materials for schools, communities and parents are available free of charge. Please call 1-800-301-7277 or visit the SASS web site at www.sass.ca. For more information on the Canadian Tire Child Protection Foundation, please call 1-800-748-8903.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles by Laurie Day

Morrisburg Public School students gathered on the playground prior to the start of the new year. The school was to have 346 students in 1988, with 24 from Riverside Heights and other new students from Toronto, Albert and Montreal.

Local United Church ministers were agreed that the church's position on homosexuality had not changed much over the years despite the media attention. A decision to allow the ordination of gays an lesbians was adopted with a number of other recommendations at the 32nd General Council in Victoria, B.C., on August 24. Candidates were to be weighed and judged on their individual merits at the level of congregations, presbyteries and conferences.

Police said that a 37-year-old Quebec man, Michel Boutin, was alive thanks to three innocent bystanders who plucked him out of the river after falling in at Crysler Marina. Jack Rilett, a deck hand on the Canadian Empress tour boat, jumped ship and swam towards the drowning victim. Pierrette Leblanc, a seasonal boater administered CPR to the victim, while Gary Foss, GM of the marina, called the ambulance. Boutin was in the intensive car unit at Hotel Dieu in Cornwall, but was listed in stable condition.

The Leader reported that the Ontario Provincial Police had broken a ring of break-in artists when charges were laid against the suspects who hit the Morrisburg Leader, the Seaway Valley Pharmacy, the Bank of Montreal and Charlies Sports Shop, as well as other places in Carleton Place and Peterborough.

Alan Bain, new principal at Morrisburg Public School was promising to relax some rules at the school including those regarding who could bring their lunches and what time students would be allowed inside the building in the morning.

Fred Harper, proprietor of Morrisburg House of Carpets was reporting a successful year in the business. He was located in the mini-mall south of the Morrisburg Shopping Plaza.

The Dundas Senior Fastball League finals were underway with the Brockville Stars leading the Williamsburg Pioneers two games to one.

The Morrisburg Bantams were eliminated from Ontario playdown action when the lost back-to-back games to Kesdwick, both by scores of 6-5.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions were preparing for another big season as training camp was about to open. Coach Brian McNairn said if all players for the previous year's team, which won the ODJHL championship, returned there would be but five spots open. Among those who attended an organizational meeting were Rob Reynolds, Jim Whelan, Chris Greer, Gerald Scully, Kevin Mackler, Jeff Cassell and Mark Beaupre. Others expected to return were Leo Lafortune, Dean Boyd and Mark Payment. Dave Tait and Bob McNairn were on hockey scholarships in Canton but were expected to be signed for the playoffs.

It was reported in the September 13 issue of The Leader that 125 years of Roman Catholicism in Morrisburg was to climax September 15 when His Grace, Most Rev. J.L Wilhelm, D. D. Archbishop of Kingston, officiated at the solemn blessing of the new St. Mary's Church.

Prior to leaving Morrisburg Rev. Alan T. Barnes, M.A. and Mrs. Barnes were honored at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaren. Mr. Barnes had been the pastor of the Morrisburg Pentecostal Church for three years.

At Hodgins Lumber Ltd., prehung aluminum combination doors were $29.97 and 28 foot extension ladders were $30.55.

Linda E. Van Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Allen of Morrisburg, graduated from Cornwall General Hospital School of Nursing and was a member of the staff at the Cornwall General Hospital.

The September 12 issue of The Leader reported many storekeepers in Morrisburg were talking of the possibility of remaining open on Saturday nights. This had been done in the past and although it was stopped, store owners thought that because Morrisburg was the centre of a big farming area, it would be more convenient for these people to have Saturday night shopping.

More than 200 people saw G. Wm. Gorrell, Morrisburg lawyer, unanimously elected president of the Dundas-Grenville Young Conservative Association.

Morrisburg High School had begun its fall team with an enrolment of 108 girls and 99 boys, up from 35 students at the end of the last year. New teachers included Mr. H. Lafleur, Mr. A. Davis and Mr. A. McCourt.

There's healing power in those chili peppers. For those who suffer from arthritis, it may not be wise to smear yourself in hot sauce, but a key ingredient in chili peppers—capsaicin, is now the fastest growing topical analgesic on the market. Our 'human suitcase' is on the mend this week. Seems he was dared to fold himself into unspeakable proportions for his family picnic. He should be back to his old self...oh, in about a year or so. The next time you see Jeff and he's walking a little funny, don't ask him to show you how he went about this unusual procedure.

Paul McIntyre is poised to set a new record at the Spencerville Fair, as his mammoth pumpkins are now in the 700 pounds plus range. He just delivered one of his 500+ pounds pumpkins to a Hong Kong Department Store, and he's hoping to break Barry DeJong's 1996 record of 728 pounds. New this year will be a junior competition, open to all ages with a first prize of $100. Weigh-ins will be held September 11 at the Spencerville Fair's grandstand from 9-11 a.m. For more information, contact Bob Marcellus, the Mammoth Pumpkin Stake co-chairman, at 658-3099.

Don't forget Friday night, the OPP's Golden Helmets Precision Motorcycle team will be performing at the Iroquois Shopping Plaza, 7 p.m. There will be time after the show for photos where children (and adults) will be able to have their pictures taken with the team—perhaps maybe even on a bike.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Morrisburg Leader
Morrisburg, Ontario
Dear Editor

On returning from a regular shopping trip from Cornwall I was given a gift from my helper, a gentleman who lives at the group home in Williamsburg.

He has been helping me for the last four years to go shopping in Cornwall to get supplies for our store in Williamsburg.

To my surprise when I opened the card and read it the residents at the group home and my helper were thanking me.

My helper was unwrapping the gift as I read the card. Tears came to my eyes when I saw it. There was some fishing tackle which I didn't have but always wanted. I should be thanking him for bringing joy to my life.

I thought of all the fun we have had in the past four years, and thought the present wasn't necessary, but it meant so much to me.

A usual day we have together would start at the store when he showed up at 8:30 a.m. The first thing he does is go to the magazine rack. He loves to look at the pictures or read, we're not quite sure. He especially likes the wrestling magazines.

If there are no new ones he heads to where we keep the old newspapers looking for a Saturday Citizen or Sunday Sun.

The other day he wanted a coffee to take on our trip. I could see it coming, because he was trying to fasten the lid and the coffee went splat on the floor. The look on his face was priceless.I told him to grab another one and Judy would clean up the mess.

When we get in the car he always shows me his new hats and until I comment on it he will repeat himself, so I usually say you must be rich and that satisfies him. The rest of the trip is pretty quiet.

When we arrive at the wholesalers he pushes the cart while I pick up supplies. He then helps me to load the van. Because he is small I tell him not to lift the large boxes but his heart is bigger than his muscles and he tries to do it anyway. I have learned over the years to accept whatever help he gives me. When we get back to the store his jobs are to put the gum and chocolate bars away.

When he doesn't come with me to the wholesalers, because of illness or holidays I really miss him and the people at the wholesalers notice his absence as well.

When we first started going together I noticed he copied my every move. Then after a while we both accepted each other as we were.

These are the reasons why I appreciated the gift so much. I should be buying him a gift for all the joy he gives us.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

The new Riverside Heights School opened with approximately 90 pupils. A modern three-room school with a teachers' lounge, it was furnished with the newest equipment. The principal was Mrs. Dale Beckstead who was assisted by Mrs. L. Casselman and Mrs. Margaret Scott.

The September 10 issue of The Leader reported that Mr. and Mrs. William C. Barkley at Bouck's Hill celebrated their 60th anniversary. They were married in 1888, at St. John's Lutheran Church in Ingleside, by Rev. J. Kennard.

Aultsville residents were aroused early Sunday morning when the call "fire" was sounded and it was learned two rooms in the east wing of the hotel were on fire. Willing workers got busy and it was soon extinguished.

The September 9 issue of The Leader reported Gilbert Coons had been elected boys' athletic association president and Dorothy Weir claimed the girls' presidency at Morrisburg Collegiate Institute.

At Burbridge, Quebec, a picturesque town on the Upper Gatineau 85 miles north of Ottawa, came the distinction of being among the first Canadian municipalities to ban the wearing of shorts by men in public. Signs were posted around town and a specially appointed constable patrolled the village borders to warn visitors that they risked arrest if they wore shorts in the corporate limits.

It was reported in the September 7 issue of The Leader that Ora McIntosh and Harry Baker had been appointed tax collectors for 1928 in Williamsburg Township.

The holiday weekend traffic via ferry Elmer W. Jones exceeded all previous records. On Saturday the ferry carried 502 cars and approximately 1,700 passengers, and Sunday 485 cars were handled. Another 583 cars were ferried Monday. In three days, 3,561 passengers were brought into Canada.

Morrisburg Collegiate was to open September 4 with Mr. Barlow, principal and teachers Miss Boyd, Miss Baird, Miss Smeaton, Miss Kastner and Miss Fletcher.

Town League Registration

MORRISBURG—Registration is now taking place for Morrisburg's Town League Hockey season.

This year's fee is $185, and you can sign up at Home Hardware.

The season will begin in October, and if you need more information, contact Andy Lee at 543-3649.

Playhouse trivia

MORRISBURG—The trivia titans at Upper Canada Playhouse challenge area residents to a battle of the brain. It's all part of the team trivia games night being held September 19, at the Lancer Centre (Rothwell Osnabruck School) in Ingleside to raise funds for the playhouse.

UCP's entry into the fray is the mighty Much Ado About Knowledge team, more commonly known as the Much Ado's. They are looking forward to some stiff competition and expect a strong advantage in questions pertaining to theatre at least.

Fortunately, the trivia questions cover numerous categories ranging from sports, to music, Canadiana and more. The Much Ado's grudgingly admit they aren't experts at everything and the sports category is a rumored weak points.

Give the Much Ado's a run at the trivia title by getting together your own team of up to 10 members. Friends, schoolmates, coworkers and purported experts are a good choice. Give your team a name, a colour, hat or costume and show the Much Ado's just who the real trivia titans are. You can even win some nice prizes along the way.

Registration is $80 per team ($65 for high school students) and teams may be sponsored by an individual, organization or business. Drop by Upper Canada Playhouse in Morrisburg to pick-up a registration form or call (613) 543-3713 for more information.

Proceeds to United Way

Union Gas Relay treks through here Thursday

by Laurie Day
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Union Gas employees from Cornwall will make their way through the village Thursday in an effort to raise money for the United Way.

Beginning in Coburg Monday, the employees are scheduled to hit Morrisburg by noon hour tomorrow, before ending their journey in Cornwall later in the day.

"It's open to Union Gas employees and their families," said Rick Haineault from the Union Gas Ltd. office at Cornwall.

"But we're encouraging participants to help out along the way, either by walking with us, biking, rollerblading or whatever," he said. "Donations are also welcome along the route. And we'll have a police escort."

This is the third annual Energy Relay which will involve more than 100 employees and their families, local government officials and special guests.

They are aiming to raise more than $10,000 in this year's campaign.

Today (Wed. Sept. 2), the relay team will be starting out from Kingston, and traveling to Prescott by 4 p.m. Thursday, the group will have breakfast at the Blazing Saddles Restaurant, and depart from there on the last leg of the journey.

"We hope to be completed by 4:30 p.m.," said Haineault. "But the pace will be set by the slowest participant."

Once the employees hit Cornwall, a celebratory barbecue and reception will be held at 1875 Brookedale Ave., the site of the Union Gas Ltd. office.

All funds raised will remain in the community to support local United Way agencies.

Union Gas is an integrated natural gas storage, transmission and distribution utility serving more than one million residential, commercial and industrial customers in over 400 communities in Ontario.

"The Union Gas Team is very pleased to be working with communities across Eastern Ontario to raise money for the United Way campaign," said Mike Deschesne, Union Gas Division Manager, Kingston.

"The Energy Relay takes a huge team effort, and we hope to exceed last year's contribution of $10,000."

Happy 55th Anniversary

Reducing smoking in youths

Teenagers smoke more than one billion cigarettes each year. That's a billion cigarettes too many, and the Lung Association is striving to reduce and prevent smoking among youth through its partnerships and programs.

"Smoking related illnesses and disease are the number on preventable causes of death today," says Dr. Roland Skrastins, a respirologist and Volunteer president of The Lung Association's medical section. "With our partners in the community, we are making major strides in educating our youth and keeping them from lighting up."

Liberal Senator Colin Kenny visited the Lung Association's provincial office recently to explain the details of his Bill to initiate a levy of 50 cents/carton of cigarettes in order to create a $120 million annual fund to prevent youth smoking.

Bill S-13, The Tobacco Industry Responsibility Act, would see the funding exclusively directed to programs at the national, regional, and local level with emphasis on education and smoking prevention for youth. The Lung Association is working with Senator Kenny and urges everyone to show their support of the Bill by writing to their member of Parliament.

The Lung Association is also promoting its Lungs Are for Life program. Lungs Are for Life, one of the top three smoking prevention programs in Canada, provides teachers with outlines and guidelines for introducing Canadian Youth to the health issues involved with smoking.

The Lung Association is working in partnership with OPHEA, the Ontario Physical and Health Education Association, in promoting the program and training teachers to provide Lungs Are for Life in the classroom. It has been highly praised by students and teachers alike.

Although close to 30% of adolescents aged 15-19 smoke, the majority of smokers have seriously thought about quitting an have made quit attempts. With your help, the Lungs Are for lIfe school program can continue to introduce the harmful effects of tobacco to potential smokers before such influences as peer pressure and advertising affect their decision.

Please give generously to the Lungs Are for Life campaign, and join in the fight against our province's most deadly public health hazard. Call 1-800-668-7682 to make a donation today.

OBITUARIES

Lillian Fern Casselman, 93, passes in hospital

A resident of Morris-Glen Court, Morrisburg, Lillian Fern Casselman died at the Winchester Hospital on Wednesday, August 26, 1998, after an eight-day illness. The former housewife was 93 years of age, and was associated with the Lakeshore Drive United Church.

Born July 10, 1905, in New Liskeard, Ontario, she was the daughter of the late Austin M. Salmon and the former Florence Agnes Grant.

In 1903, her father Austin, his father, Simeon, and two brothers, Edsen and Willis, moved to New Liskeard where they had secured the timber rights to large tracts of land. They built a saw mill and successfully pioneered the logging industry in that part of north eastern Ontario.

Lillian's grandfather Simeon Salmon, moved back to eastern Ontario in 1910, and purchased Evergreen Hall from J.P. Chrysler, which is now known as Crysler Hall, located at Upper Canada Village.

Her father moved back to eastern Ontario in 1921, and purchased the Loucks Farm, located about two miles east of Morrisburg on the St. Lawrence River. The Loucks house where Lillian lived is also located at Upper Canada Village, as she was connected with a lot of history with this part of Ontario.

In November of 1922, she was united in marriage at Cornwall to Fredrick Cecil Casselman, who lived just two farms down the road. They operated a dairy farm on the banks of the St. Lawrence River until it was sold to Ontario Hydro in 1956. After selling their farm, they moved to a new home on the Church Road where they lived until Fredrick's death in 1973.

Her favorite pastimes were quilting and playing cards. She was a member of the Riverside Sewing Circle for years, and had made at least one quilt for everyone in her family. During the war years, she knitted socks and mitts for the soldiers overseas.

Mrs. Casselman was also a member of the Morrisburg Chapter #83 of the Order of the Eastern Star, and took an active part in the organization. She was a Past Noble Grand of the Rebecca Lodge in Morrisburg.

Mrs. Casselman will be sadly

missed by her two sons: Rev. Don (Verta) Casselman of Brockville, Carl (Carol) Casselman of Washago. She will be missed by six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and one great-great-granddaughter, as well as by several nieces and nephews.

She was predeceased by sisters Evangeline Burns, Daphne Casselman, Dorothy Torsdahl, Helen Bigelow and by brothers Bruce, James and Grant Salmon.

Friends called at the Parker Funeral Home, Morrisburg, on Friday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. The funeral service took place at the Lakeshore Drive United Church, on Saturday, August 29, 1998, at 11 a.m. with Rev. Donald Smith officiating.

Interment followed at the Fairview Cemetery, Morrisburg. Pallbearers were grandsons Gordon, Bob, Bruce and Brent Casselman, and grandsons-in-law David Moore and Roger Spencer.

Donations to the Canadian Cancer Society would be appreciated by the family.

Agnes Heuvel

A former resident of Iroquois, who had been living at the St. Lawrence Residence, Long Sault, for the past year, died at home on Saturday, August 15, 1988. The former housewife was 90 years of age, and was associated with the Williamsburg Christian Reformed Church.

Born February 29, 1808, and raised in The Netherlands, she was a daughter of the late Jan Sterenberg and the former Anje Sikkenga.

On May 18, 1933, in The Netherlands, she was united in marriage to Charles Heuvel, who survives.

In 1947, she and her family immigrated to Canada and settled in Alberta. After five years there, the Heuvels moved to the Iroquois area, where they have lived ever since.

Mrs. Heuvel was a devoted wife and mother, who will be sadly missed by three sons: Jake (Willy) of Cardinal, John of Vars and Walter (Henny) of Iroquois; two daughters: Anne (Henry) Pal of Galgary and Dianne of Winchester. She will also be missed by 11 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, as well as by many nieces and nephews.

She was predeceased by 11 brothers and sisters.

There was no visitation or funeral service. Arrangements were entrusted to the Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home, Williamsburg.

Yvona McLaughlin

A resident of Iroquois for the past five years, Yvona McLaughlin died at the Winchester Hospital on Friday, August 28, 1998, after a lengthy illness. The former homecare giver was 88 years of age, and was associated with St. John's Lutheran Church, Riverside Heights. Prior to moving to Iroquois, she lived at R.R. 3 Lisbon, New York, for 51 years.

Born November 23, 1909, at Morrisburg, she was the daughter of the late Henry Hall and the former Sara McPhee. She was raised at R.R. 1 Morrisburg.

On May 1, 1931, at Ottawa, she was united in marriage to John McLaughlin who predeceased her.

Mrs. McLaughlin liked to play cards. She took great pride in the 1964 Ford Galaxy she owned, and she liked to go driving in it.

She will be sadly missed by her brother Walter (Alice) Hall of R.R. 1 Morrisburg, as well as by nieces Pat Hall-Beckstead and Jean Brothers, a great-niece Kim Kirkwood, and a great-great-niece, Paige Kirkwood.

Mrs. McLaughlin was predeceased by four brothers and five sisters.

Friends called at the Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home, Williamsburg, on Saturday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. The funeral service took place from the home on Sunday, August 30, 1998, at 1:30 p.m., with Rev. Joachim Barkley-Probst officiating.

Interment followed at the Flackville Cemetery, Lisbon Twp., New York. Pallbearers were Gord Casselman, Richard Casselman, Roger Kirkwood, and Cam Martel.

Donations to the Winchester Hospital would be appreciated by the family.

Ethel Davidson

A resident of R.R. 2 Iroquois for the past 39 years, Ethel Davidson died tragically on Thursday, August 27, 1998, as a result of a car accident. The former housewife was 78 years of age, and was associated with the Iroquois United Church.

Born December 18, 1919, at Truro, Nova Scotia, she was the daughter of the late George Taylor and the former Henrietta Fulton.

Raised in Truro, she moved to Ontario when she was 26 and married Marshall Davidson on September 29, 1945, at Prescott. Mr. Davidson also died tragically in the same car accident.

They moved back to Nova Scotia, where their three children were born. They then moved back to the Iroquois area in the early 1950s, and then to Brockville after Marshall became employed working for a milk plant picking up milk from the farmers.

The Davidsons stayed in Brockville for a few years and Marshall changed jobs and began working for Smart's Foundry, making steel. When that plant closed, the Davidsons were forced to move their family back to Truro in search of work. Unable to find work, the family moved back to Iroquois, after Marshall became employed at Caldwell Linen Mills. They settled at R.R. 2 Iroquois, and remained there for the past 39 years. After her children were grown, she also did some babysitting. She loved to go for long walks and enjoyed going to yard sales on weekends. She enjoyed visiting her many friends at the Senior Citizens' Building in Iroquois.

Mrs. Marshall will be sadly missed by her son George (Deanna) of North Augusta, and by two daughters: Marie (Wayne) Gillard of R.R. 2 Iroquois, and Margaret Ann (David) Sprague of Sussex, New Brunswick.

She will also be missed by brothers Douglas, Rupert, John, Byard, all of Truro, and by sister Margaret Miller of Maitland, Nova Scotia, as well as by seven grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

Mrs. Marshall was predeceased by a brother Arnold.

Friends called at the Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home, Iroquois, on Sunday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. The funeral service was held at the Iroquois United Church on Monday, August 31, 1998, at 1 p.m. with Rev. Doug Carnegie officiating.

Interment followed at the Roselawn Memorial Gardens, Maitland.

Pallbearers were Cephus Sypes, Mike Ryan, Robert Gillard, David Gillard, Matt Bilmer and Ron Gillard.

Donations to the Heart and Stroke Foundation would be appreciated by the family.

Marshall Davidson

A resident of R.R. 2 Iroquois for the past 39 years, Marshall Davidson died tragically as a result of a car accident on Thursday, August 27, 1998. The former Caldwell Linen Mills employee was 83 years of age, and was associated with the Iroquois United Church.

Born January 22, 1915, at Hainsville, he was the son of the late William Davidson and the former Oda Thompson.

He was raised in the Hanisville area and worked for local farmers. He also enjoyed going for long walks.

On September 29, 1945, at Prescott, he was united in marriage to Ethel Taylor, who also died tragically in the same car accident.

Together, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson moved to Nova Scotia in 1945. Their three children were born there. They then moved back to the Iroquois area in the early 1950s, and then to Brockville after Marshall became employed working for a milk plant picking up milk from the farmers.

The Davidsons stayed in Brockville for a few years and Marshall changed jobs and began working for Smart's Foundry, making steel. Unable to find work, the family moved back to Iroquois, after Marshall became employed at Caldwell Linen Mills. They settled at R.R. 2 Iroquois, and remained there for the past 39 years.

Mr. Marshall will be sadly missed by his son George (Deanna) of North Augusta, and by two daughters: Marie (Wayne) Gillard of R.R. 2 Iroquois, and Margaret Ann (David) Sprague of Sussex, New Brunswick.

He will also be missed by two sisters: Kathleen (Ken) Barber of Hainsville, and Idena Roberts of Scarborough, as well as by seven grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

Learning how to cope with grief
Questions & Answers about grief recovery*

Q. I read somewhere that men are apt to suffer more from a spouse's death than women. Is this true?

A. It is usually true if you ask a man. It is usually not true if you ask a woman. Both sexes experience the same grief process and the same emotions. The differences lie in the kind of social support that is available.

When a wife dies, the widower not only loses his primary relationship but his social relationship as well. He may be less able or willing to recreate these connections for himself, and therefore isolation may be a pattern that evolves for him.

'Fire' opens at Upper Canada Playhouse

MORRISBURG—The opening of the musical Fire at Upper Canada Playhouse last Saturday was a study in contrasts.

One moment the audience was clapping along with the strains of the early rock and roll hit "Good Golly Miss Molly" and the next sitting silent as a congregation, enthralled by a moving sermon.

The play itself thrives on contradiction, pitting two very different brothers against one another. Herchel Blackwell (Scott White) has committed himself to religion while brother Cale (Jamie Lamb) prefers a hard drinking rock and roll lifestyle, pounding the piano in every two-bit juke joint that will have him.

The tie that binds them is Molly King (Adrienne Wilson) the woman they both alternately love and leave. She herself must also choose between a pious life as the preacher's wife or the thankless existence of a showbiz spouse.

Woven into this already colourful tapestry is Truman King (Gary W. Muir) the wheeler-dealer renowned for his money detecting abilities. An aspiring politician and entrepreneur he can smell dollar just about anywhere.

J.D. Blackwell (Bruce Bricknell) is the old time preacher and father of Cale and Herchel who's traditionalist beliefs don't mesh with those of either of his sons. Bricknell also does a great job playing a number of interesting and often humorous supporting characters.

Inspired by real-life cousins Jerry Lee Lewis and Jimmy Swaggart this powerful musical combines a backdrop of traditional gospel with the music of the early Southern stars of rock and roll.

Fire is the genuine article and there are no pre-recorded bits of music in the show. Jamie Lamb is every inch "the Killer" and his piano stylings had the audience grooving in the aisles.

There is some great gospel singing as well and the players are accompanied by a very capable back-up band throughout the performance. Adrienne Wilson's exquisite solos and Scott White's powerful preachin' are other bright spots in the show.

Fire lights up the stage at Upper Canada Playhouse until September 13. Performances are 8:00 p.m. Tuesday to Saturday, 2:00 p.m. on Sunday. Call (613) 543-3713 for tickets.

Traffic update

DUNDAS—The 1998 collision statistics, thus far, have revealed some important information that will affect all residents and their driving habits.

Locally, there has been a reduction in fatal collisions on our secondary roads. To this date, there has been two deaths as a result of a motor vehicle collision in Dundas and Stormont Counties, on roads other than Highway 401.

Although these numbers are encouraging, any collision fatality is devastating.

Every year in Canada there are 675,000 collisions, 3,000 deaths and 25,000 serious injuries. The cost to the Canadian economy is estimated at 10 billion dollars annually. More people are killed in traffic collisions than in homicides, assaults and all other violent crimes.

Provincial statistics for 1998 (year to date August 2) indicate the three main factors contributing to fatalities and serious injuries on our highways are : speed, alcohol, and improperly using a restraint device.

Alcohol was a factor in 22% of fatal collisions, speed was a factor in 25% of fatal collisions, and improper/failure to use seat belts was a factor in 27% of the vehicle occupants killed to date.

Therefore, the Upper Canada Detachment Traffic Management Officers will focus on those three factors for the remainder of the year.

Speeding, impaired driving and proper seat belt usage will be strictly enforced throughout SD&G before the traffic management plan is re-evaluated at the end of the calendar year.

Education, compliance and consistent enforcement are paramount to keeping our roads fatality free. If you have any questions or concerns with traffic issues, please contact any of the Upper Canada Detachments and ask to speak with a Traffic Management Officer.

Donations for Torch Run tops $2,600 in Stormont and Dundas

by Laurie Day
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—Donations for the Ontario Law Enforcement Torch Run have already topped $2,600 for Stormont and Dundas counties, a feat that impresses the region's coordinator.

Upper Canada OPP Constable Sandy Roy has been coordinating the Torch Run for Special Olympics for the past three years, and after receiving a donation for over $570 from the St. Lawrence Corporation in Iroquois (formerly CS Brooks Caldwell) the funds have now totalled over $3,000.

"I've been doing this for three years, and it's the best program (at St. Lawrence Corporation) for getting the whole staff involved," she said last Thursday, after accepting the money, which was wrapped in a product made by the employees of the plant—a green towel, embroidered with a winged shoe, specially for this occasion.

This year marks the 12 anniversary of the torch run. Since it's inception in 1987 it has raised over $6 million for Ontario Special Olympics, a program that provides mentally challenged athletes the opportunity to not only participate in sports, but also a chance to exceed at it.

Special Olympians gain self-confidence and can transfer their successes on the playing field to becoming more active citizens in society.

The Torch Run involves law enforcement personnel representing over 120 agencies as volunteers with their main objectives to raise money and awareness for the sport.

Last year, 8,000 law enforcement officers ran over 8,000 miles, and raised over $1.5 million for Special Olympics through the "Adopt-A-Cop" fundraising program.

All of the funds raised across the province help provide a grass roots year-round program of fitness, recreation and sports for children and adults with a mental handicap.

Funds raised by the St. Lawrence Corporation came in the form of a bingo, held by the Morale Committee throughout the plant. This bingo took place from May—the time they received the request for participation from Const. Roy—to June.

The funds were split 50/50 between the Torch Run, and the bingo winner.

Walter Bailey, on behalf of the St. Lawrence Corporation, stated that this bingo idea was a way the entire plant could take part.

"We put it in a format that would allow us all to collectively make a contribution," he said.

Const. Roy was very thankful to the staff and management of the Iroquois facility, "The special Olympians who receive this donation really appreciate it, and I strongly recommend that you see these people when they participate in sporting events," she said.

"It's very heart warming, and it wouldn't be possible without your help."

Special Olympians receive over $500 from St. Lawrence Corporation
Const. Sandy Roy of the Upper Canada OPP detachment, and coordinator for Law Enforcement Torch Run was on hand last week to receive a donation in the amount of $571 from the St. Lawrence Corporation. Bugging out all over

The Capital City Volks Wagon Association gathered at Glen and Pat Beckstead's Sunday. They came from miles around to reminisce and show off their stuff.

Owners of nine VWs, Pat Beckstead was impressed with the new bugs which were also on display at her home.

"Now that the new ones have come out, people realize that we are real people with real cars," she laughed.

There were pop tops, square backs, dune buggies, and modified cars throughout their yard, and even the little ones enjoyed the little electric bug. Day pics

$1 million in repairs needed to stabilize arena

by Catherine Thompson
Leader Staff

WILLIAMSBURG—According to an engineer's report, the Morrisburg Arena is in need of $1 million in repairs, and this has South Dundas Council examining its options.

Work needed includes fixing the cracked main beam either by stabilization or replacement. The roof needs to be repaired, or the ice surface will be lost, and large build-ups of snow and ice threaten its collapse.

A new compressor was ordered this year as well.

Council may choose to spend the money and do the work all at once. They may choose to work on the infrastructure a little at a time, during which time, they will keep the large amounts of snow off the roof. Their third option is to build a new arena with the community's help.

While repairs can be made to make the arena safe for this winter, Coun. Cam Martel queried, "The only question is where are we going? Are we to fix it temporarily or permanently?" Martel added parents are concerned over whether to send their children to the arena.

It was reported that a large amount of snow or ice on the roof might collapse the roof and would necessitate closing the building for public safety.

Whitteker said he didn't favor spending $1 million in repairs, when down the road it would be necessary to build a new arena.

Coun. Rowdy Gillard suggested "getting the pulse of the community" by forming a committee, and taking some direction on a decision with the help of public input.

The latter approach would necessitate a plan for raising capital, either by putting money aside, debenture or taxation, since it was reported there is no money available through federal grants.

Mall notes

This year, there have been many complaints over the neglected condition of the Morrisburg mall, and Council also discussed the need to keep it clean. Keith Robinson, in charge of Recreation, reported their staff has been cleaning it off and on, but it has never been so dirty as this year, and manpower is a problem.

"Someone has to be in charge to keep it clean," said Mayor Johnny Whitteker. "I don't care if Public Works or Recreation does it, but someone must do it on a regular basis.

Under the former municipality, this matter was looked after by the Public Works department, and this matter has been referred to them.

Committee formed to help tackle beach problems

by Catherine Thompson
Leader Staff

WILLIAMSBURG—South Dundas Council has given permission to citizens concerned over problems of pollution at the Morrisburg beach to form a committee.

Problems at the beach led to its closure for the better part of the summer, and the citizens wish to correct the problems, so the beach will not have to be closed in the future.

Sandra Bailey, who led a delegation, said there were three main concerns. The first pertains to the weeds at the beach, which tend to collect E coli bacteria in the slowly moving water. Weeds should be removed each year, but were not removed last year.

While the cost of a weed machine is expensive at $300 an hour, it was suggested that two boats and a chain may be used to drag out the weeds. The Morrisburg Recreation Committee has put aside $1,000 to deal with the weeds.

Another problem is the geese in the area, which add to pollution by fouling the beach. The Morrisburg Golf Club uses a noise maker to frighten away the geese, which is reported to be quite effective.

The geese have been polluting the beaches and have taken over the waterfront park, and crossed over to the wading pool, so children can no longer go to the wading pool. "We like the geese, but we don't like them there," said Bailey.

"We don't know the cost of a noise maker, but this should be looked at," she added.

The storm sewer, located west of the beach, may also be adding to pollution. Bailey inquired about the possibility of running a pipe out into the river past the beach area.

Mayor Johnny Whitteker said although this would be very costly, the Public Works Department could get a price on it.

Bailey outlined how important the beach is to children and the community. "Kids who are tired from swimming are too tired to get into trouble", Bailey said.

"It's great to have a pool, but lots of people in apartments can't get to a pool or to the Iroquois beach. These kids have been cheated out of their summer," she continued.

Bailey noted the Morrisburg beach program has gone down hill from the days when 100 were enrolled in the program.

She commented it is very important for children who live by the river to learn to swim in a natural environment, with cold water and waves. If they learn in a pool, where the water doesn't go below 80 degrees, it is a shock to be suddenly in a situation in cold choppy water. "Panic is a big factor in drowning accidents," Bailey said.

While the Morrisburg swim program was successfully completed at a pool and this was good, people's attitudes should not change towards the river and swimming. "It's important to teach kids they stand a fighting chance if they're in a boat," she stated.

This is the only time the Morrisburg beach has been closed since Dr. Gerry Rosenquist sat on Council, over 10 years ago, and it has been closed for almost half the summer. By comparison, the Iroquois beach has a marvellous beach that has been open all summer and is well looked after by the Irqouois Playground Committee, and volunteers.

Coun. Cam Martel praised Bailey for her presentation, and Council supported setting up a committee to come up with a program for these issues.

Burley sees checks

One Hundred and Fifty six feature racing laps were highlighted by Todd Burley winning for the third time at the Cornwall Motor Speedway.

The New York native found a groove on the high side of the track to win the caution filled 30-lap regular feature. Ovide Doiron finished second, Dave Heaslip in third, Laurent Ladouceur in fourth and Brian MacDonald fifth.

Moon Mullin drops to third in the points standings with Ladouceur taking over second. O'Brien still holds first place.

Congratulations go out to Danny O'Brien for winning the 4-race Doiron Engineering Cup. All four races in the series ran at Cornwall. O'Brien Finished 35 points higher than anyone else and will receive cheque for $1,000 and the trophy.

Three-peat for deLuis at Ladies' Open

MORRISBURG—Terry deLuis claimed her third Upper Canada Ladies' Open title in as many years last Tuesday afternoon, with a four-over par, 77.

DeLuis, who recently won the ladies' club championship at the Brockville Country Club, was just one of the 140 ladies who took part in the tournament.

"It was a great day," said Upper Canada Golf Club pro Joe Doyle. "That's up from about 117 last year."

Doyle also stated that the women enjoyed the magical antics of Chris Pillsworth who entertained them to a standing ovation.

"They loved him," added Doyle. "He put on quite a magical show."

Approximately 18 clubs were represented by the women taking part in the afternoon competition, including from as far away as Partridge Ridge, New York.

The winner of A flight went to Jenny Ellis of Garrison (Kingston) who fired an 83 low gross.

In B flight, it was Claudine Robideaux of Ormstrown, (south of Montreal) with a 92, while Brenda Ramsey of Cedar Glen claimed C flight low gross with a 95.

Another Cedar Glen golfer, Carolyn Weegar won D flight low gross with a 103.

Net prizes were won by Judy Taylor of UCGC with a 69, Beth Rivington of UCGC with a 70 in B flight, Marg Lapier of Iroquois with a 69 in C flight, and Kathleen Valee of Summerheights with a 68 in D class.

Never too young to enjoy a good book

Dean Beckstead visited the Morrisburg Library with his grandmother Saturday, as there was a big sale on books and office equipment. The "Bag of Books for a Buck" sale was a great success, as people streamed in all day from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. -Day photo

Lauric Day

I thought I was one of three people in the entire world who hasn't watched the movie, Titanic.

However, Tuesday, when I set about to do a story on the sale of the video, I was quickly relieved to hear that I was one of maybe 12 who didn't take in the show when it hit the theatres.

I caught a glimpse of the Canadian Tire flyer when it hit my mailbox last week, and seeing that Titanic was on sale in Williamsburg for $18.99, I figured I'd be one of the first ones in the store to buy it.

Not having to be at work until 9 a.m., I figured I'd have lots of time as CT opened at 8.

So, I slowly dragged my limbs out of bed at 6:30, and read for an hour before even hopping in the shower. By 8:15 I was in Williamsburg, but I was also SOL, and no, that doesn't stand for "Sold Out Laurie" but it was close.

"Sold out? How can you be sold out? It's only 8:15 a.m. I bet you didn't even have but one movie on your shelf, did you?"

"Actually, we had 90 on the shelves, and another 60 on reserve," I was told.

"Nuts. I just wanted to get a picture. Well, maybe I can get one of some people picking up their reserved copies," I reasoned.

"Sure, no problem."

After taking pictures, I admit, I was bitten by the Titanic bug, washed away in the tidal wave of the Titanic video. I became a mad woman.

I had to have one, and I didn't care where I had to go to get one. I didn't even care that it was Tuesday (press day...read stress day), I was having a video...end of discussion.

So, I raced to Morrisburg, hoping BiWay wasn't sold out by the time I got here.

As luck would have it, the store wasn't even open yet. It was 8:45 and there was a lineup five deep and about 100 long, so I joined in with my umbrella poised (for poking people out of the road).

"Lookie, lookie. Here comes Evelyn to open the store, and she's carrying a sign," I hollered above the ruckus of the gathering crowd.

"What's it say?" someone asked who couldn't see over my shoulder.

"SOLD OUT!" I squealed, all the while trying to hold back a laugh.

"That's not even funny," said another person.

Evelyn wasn't even holding a sign pointing to their display. We were able to seek and destroy—our mission for the morning.

BiWay had approximately 80 copies of the video on sale for $19.99, which were gone in about half an hour after opening its doors.

But did I get one?

You betcha.

The poor child in a stroller I stepped on to snatch the dang thing sure didn't appreciate it.

I don't think his momma even saw me though. She was too busy swinging from the rafters overhead.

Police File

Upper Canada OPP responded to 124 calls for service during the past week. Some of those calls included 20 in Winchester, 20 in Morrisburg, 18 in Williamsburg Township, 11 in Matilda, and three in Iroquois

Winchester man charged

As a result of an investigation conducted by members of the Upper Canada OPP, one Winchester Township man was charged with a number of criminal and weapons related offences.

He is scheduled to appear in Morrisburg Court Sept. 26.

Loose dogs concern pedestrians

With the return of students to school this month, there will very shortly be a marked increase in the number of pedestrians on our village streets, and along our township roads. The past few months have seen a number of calls to police relating to dog bits caused by dogs which are not tied up.

In consideration to the pedestrians, many of whom are young children, who will be on the streets, please ensure that your pets are secured on your property to prevent any unfortunate incidents taking place. Even "friendly" dogs can be very alarming to children and adults who are unfamiliar with them.

Incidents of dog bites are reported to police which can result in the owners being brought before a justice to determine the fate of these pets. Please help to reduce the incidents of this type and ensure the safety of walkers in our area.

School bus reminder

It is that time of the years again, and drivers are reminded that school buses will soon be back on the road. Exercise extra caution when driving as we will have a number of new students joining the more experienced bus riders. Unfortunately every year police are called to investigate numerous incidents where vehicles have passed stopped school buses. Failing to stop for a school bus, whether coming or going, can result in fines in the amount of $265 plus costs and the accumulation of six demerit points in addition to the potential danger it presents to the young students. Please drive safely during the coming school year.

Sexual assault charges laid

As a result of an ongoing investigation by Upper Canada OPP, a 46-year-old Morrisburg Paul James Markell has been charged with two offences related to sexual assaults contrary to the Criminal Code. He will appear in Morrisburg court on Oct. 20.

He is to appear in Morrisburg court Oct. 13.

The 15-year-old youth of Matilda Twp. was charged with assault contrary to the Criminal Code and he is scheduled to appear in Youth Court, Cornwall, on September 21.

Drug charges laid at Chesterville Fair

During routine patrols at the Chesterville Fair on Friday night, one young offender was charged with a drug-related offence. The 16-year-old Finch youth has been charged with possession of a controlled substance, contrary to the Criminal Code and is scheduled to appear in Morrisburg Court, Oct. 13.

Minor damage during B&Es

On Aug. 26, two break and enters were reported in Mountain Twp. Overnight a forced entry had been made into a building located at the Sandy Row Golf Club, as well as at the Nationview Public School. No thefts were apparent at either location, and only minor damage was sustained during the entries at each building.

OPP accepting applications

The Ontario Provincial Police Uniform Recruitment Section is now accepting applications to the newly announced O.P.P. Cadet Program.

The OPP Cadet Program will hire and train 120 cadets during the 16 month program to assist in tasks designed to support front line police officers. Successful applicants will be recruited from and then return to work in their own communities. A total of 20 cadets will be assigned to perform operational support duties in each of the OPP's six regions.

Solicitor General and Minister of Correctional Services, Robert Runciman, said the cadets will play a vital role in helping OPP officers do their job efficiently and effectively.

"The cadets will help free up officers from non-operational duties, and let them get back on the street. This program is part of the government's $150 million five year investment to make Ontario's communities safer."

Commissioner Gwen Boniface said local recruitment will allow cadets to work at detachments in their own communities.

"The hiring of these cadets, which will allow more police officers to perform front line duties is nothing short of a "win-win" situation for the residents of communities served by the OPP."

Applications are being accepted until Friday, October 2. For further information about applying to the OPP Cadet Program, please contact your local OPP detachment, or the OPP Uniform Recruitment Section in Orillia, at (705) 329-6660, or visit the Uniform Recruitment Section website at www.gov.on.ca/OPP.

Canadian Club to host Linda Leatherdale

MORRISBURG—The Morrisburg Canadian Club will begin its new season with their first fall meeting on September 15 at the Legion.

The Club is planning another active year, and is counting on continued support from its members.

Membership fees are the same as last year, at $80 per person or $160 per couple, which includes the five dinner meetings.

"However, we are also introducing a special category this year," said Chris Findlay, president, "with three dinner meetings available for $50 per person."

Tickets are available through the Area Directors, who are listed on the brochure which members should be receiving, if they haven't already.

The first meeting will feature Linda Leatherdale, award winning financial editor and columnist, and Money Editor of the Toronto Sun. She is a much sought-after commentator on business, political, consumer and personal finance issues.

A crusader and believer in advocacy journalism, she has led highly-charged campaigns on taxation, government fiscal policy, GST, the higher cost of credit and bank service charges, and recently was instrumental in the passage of the Ontario Loan Brokers Act, known at Queen's Park as the Linda Leatherdale bill, which protects consumers from illegal loan brokers.

Her latest crusade, "Small Business Revival" aims at bridging the financial gap for small firms, our biggest job creators.

She also stages popular, award-winning seminars on financial and retirement planning and real estate, which have attracted up to 2,000, and makes regular appearances on television and radio.

Her live Moneyline television show can be seen across Ontario Monday evenings on Rogers Community 10, and she is personal finance commentator for CITY TV.

Before taking the helm of the Money section of the Toronto Sun, she was Business Editor of the Edmonton Sun, and inaugural Business Editor of the Ottawa Sun. Prior to joining Toronto Publishing Corp. in 1985, she served as Editor/Publisher of the Ontario Business Magazine as well as Editor of one of Key Publishers' magazines.

Leatherdale has also worked as a general assignment and business reporter for daily newspapers, and authored articles for numerous publications, including the Financial Post Magazine, the Globe and Mail's Report on Business, and Modern Woman Magazine.

She has completed numerous courses on economics, media writing and photography, and is listed in the Who's Who of Canadian Business. She is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Taxpayers Federation.

The Morrisburg and District Canadian Club dinners are served at 7 p.m. with the meeting afterwards. For more information please call Chris Findlay at 652-2371.
