CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

We had another weekend in the mighty city of Tarunna. The place never changes its habits; it just gets bigger and bigger. Fortunately for a country boy, we only have to sneak into the hotel past the hungry bellhops and stay put for the duration. It is more than one's life is worth to venture into the streets.

The convention part is what we look forward to. All the old faces are there just one year older. Fortunately the women wear better than the men; at least after visiting a couple of rooms where old friends meet, one is inclined to think that way.

This year the family journal did it again. Your favourite weekly newspaper copped a handsome second prize for general excellence in the Ontario competitions. We were pleased indeed to accept the award on behalf of all the members of the "Record" family. One thing about a weekly newspaper, it is a production of many hands. When our own paper consistently wins top prizes for excellence both in Ontario and all across Canada, we think we have a staff to be proud of.

Time came to call off the convention festivities and look in on the National Boat Show out at the CNE grounds. There we drooled over the latest in watercraft. Very few of our original handmade rafts are on display now. Everything is fibreglass and gussied up until the boat seems more like a GT road racer than a floating device. Outboards are getting more and more powerful so boats have to be bigger to hang them on. The days are gone when we thought a 2½ h.p. Johnson was plenty of power; Skinner Helmer with his 5 h.p. rig would drown himself! The Mercs sit there looking black and nasty with 110 horses. Chrysler has a device offering 105 at the reins and OMC can come up easily with 100 h.p. So we looked at the sail boats.

The wind boats ranged from bathtubs with transparent bottoms to a neat 40-foot yacht. One small tub on display had sailed from Fort Lauderdale in Florida to Ireland. The feller was there looking reasonably sane even after piloting a 14-foot boat across the Atlantic. We tested the sides and widths of a couple of the small sailers. We are still convinced people will discover another way to move over the water besides snarling outboards. At the moment, the things are too expensive. When someone goes bankrupt and offers a cheap bargain, we plan to have our spies on hand.

This time, coming home, we did the Prescott area in very ordinary time. One experience with the fuzzes in that section of 401 was enough. Actually, it was so cold, even the police were busy keeping warm and were not at all anxious for careless speedsters.

Chesterville Agricultural Soc. holds annual meeting
Eric Casselman elected president for 1967

Eric Casselman was tapped as president of Chesterville Fair for the new year. Allan McRoberts, last year's president felt his time would not allow him another term. First vice-president will be Carl Smith, Chesterville and second vice is to be Wilburn Robinson, Chesterville. A committee was appointed to interview applicants for the position of secretary treasurer.

Reports given by the directors noted that in nearly every department last year's fair was a success. Mrs Graham Smith did explain that there seemed to be some lack of interest in sections of the ladies' divisions, especially crafts. Following discussion, the directors decided to allocate an additional $150 to prize money in the domestic divisions to sweeten the lists.

The financial statement showed the fair in excellent shape. With nearly $22,000 handled, the Class B fair is getting to be a lively concern. Directors and members were shown that the society built a new $4,000-odd building and added other improvements; when the last of the grants are in, everything will be paid for out of current revenue.

Plans are now afoot to add at least $3600 worth of improvements in the continuing program of grounds renewal. Tie areas need attention, the new building needs lights and water and a floor and a lot of paint is to be spread.

Groundfish fillets, such as cod and flounder, are 80 to 84 per cent water.

Village Council meets new store hours by-law requested by merchants

Chesterville council members were offered a referendum last Wednesday evening. Merchants of the village had a signed petition asking that village store opening and closing hours be changed by by-law. Fourteen names were signed to the plea.

A majority of the merchants in the retail trade have decided they want their places of business closed all day Monday starting on Feb. 28 and revert back to an all-day opening on Wednesday. The representatives felt the time had come to allow for some rearrangements of their work week.

The change is suggested for groceries, hardware stores, drygoods stores, variety stores and all others in the retail trade. Printing establishments such as this newspaper are not affected and other businesses such as service stations and barbers are working under their own different rules.

Chesterville village government members accepted the petition after considerable discussion. It was moved that the by-law in force be amended to include the changes. Hours and opening days in holiday periods will also be changed as the by-law will show. The merchants plan to start the new hours with Feb. 27 closed all day and Mar 1 open. Clerk Lorne Marcellus was instructed to see that the amendments were added at once.

The demonstration lighting of buildings was reviewed. Mr G. White of Ontario Hydro expressed himself as being very pleased with the displays. He had on hand for the files a complete price list of the materials. This equipment will be made available to the public at cost, and the village clerk will be able to provide any desired details. A committee of Graham and Trimble and the reeve was appointed to discuss arrangements with the churches involved in the light-

Fire at Grantley destroys 90 pigs

Early Monday morning the fire siren screamed. The clock stood at 2.45 a.m. A farm fire out at Grantley farm of Cornelius Heerkens, the former Farrell farm, was threatening to spread from the hog barns to the house.

The village crew turned out 14 strong but could do little more than control the spread of the flames. The roaring flames destroyed 18 brood sows and 75 pigs. All the barn buildings fell to the flames and about 35 bales of hay were also lost.

The Heerkens family are grateful to their dog for waking them. The dog jumped and barked at the back door of the house and awakened the sleeping family in time to send in an alarm.

Roxborough Agricultural Society holds annual meeting, hears reports

A review of the past year's activities and a preview of events worthy of Centennial year highlighted the annual meeting of the Roxborough Agricultural Society, held last Saturday afternoon in the Avonmore Public School.

R. B. Steele, president, was in the chair. He thanked all those who had played vital roles during his two-year presidency. In his report he paid tribute to the officers whose vision had helped to bring into being two new buildings on the Avonmore Fair grounds, the new "fair house" completed in 1965 and the new cattle barn built in 1966.

M. F. MacRae, secretary-treasurer, revealed that the Society finds inself in a healthy financial position. In 1966 the society benefited from the generous gift from the Cornwall Agricultural Society. This gift has enabled the Society to extend its program in several ways. Thanks were again extended to such men as R. E. Snetsinger and V. F. Silmser, officers of the Cornwall Agricultural Society for their foresight and co-operation.

Attendance at last September's fair, according to Jack H. Bush, general mngr. and grounds superintendent, was very gratifying and showed a definite increase over the previous year. Mr Bush discussed in general terms plans to improve facilities in the future. Further improvement will be carried out within the next few months.

The quality of last year's exhibits was good and every effort will be made to attract new exhibitors. In some areas of the prize list there will be a revision.

C. E. Blair, reeve of the Roxborough Township Council, was elected president for Centennial Year. Vice-presidents are Calvin S. Grant and Clifford MacRae.

Harry Tessier, of Moose Creek, will be asked to serve on the Board of Directors. Others directors and officers were re-elected.

Dates for the 1967 fair were set as Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15th and 16th. Plans are underway to make this year's program a memorable one.

Permission was granted to the Avonmore and District Centennial Committee to use the Society's facilities as required during the year, especially for the Old Home Week-end the second week-end in July. The Society promised to do extra work on the grounds in preparation for this event.

A suggestion to erect a new concessions building, to be used primarily as a dining area, received favorable comment and will be studied. A report will be made at the next meeting of the Board of Directors.

O. P. P. Weekly Report

O.P.P. officers in Dundas County last week patrolled 8890 miles of highway and Secondary Roads in a total of 616 duty hours. As a result 48 traffic charges were laid and 13 warnings issued. The accident rate was high for that week with 16 property damage, 2 personal injury and one fatal accident, being reported and investigated. From these accidents three persons suffered minor injuries and one person was killed. The weather was a contributor to the majority of these accidents. Nine of them occurred in one day due to blowing snow, poor visibility and slippery roads. A series of accidents at the Cass Bridge on Highway 31, started when one car struck a snow plow, ended up with 12 vehicles being involved. A pedestrian was killed when struck by a car while walking along a County Road. This investigation conducted by Provincial Constable R. C. Guse is continuing.

One theft which occurred in Winchester area is presently under investigation. Officers also answered 16 other calls arising from various circumstances. Five charges were laid under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario. Four of these charges were for minors being in possession of liquor.

The Detachment Safety Officer visited three schools where safety films were shown and lectures given to approximately 460 children.

A total of 17 hours was spent in the courts with 47 convictions being registered.

There have been a number of quesaions recently pertaining to slow drivers on a highway. Here are two sections as quoted from the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario that may help to clarify this subject.

Section 62 (1) H.T.A. states: "No motor vehicle shall be driven on a highway at such a slow rate of speed as to impede or block the normal and reasonable movement of traffic thereon except when such slow rate of speed is necessary for safe operation having regard to all circumstances."

Section 70a T.T.A. (Driving on right side of multi-lane highway) states:

"Any vehicle proceeding upon a roadway at less than the normal speed of traffic at the time and place and under the conditions then existing shall when practicable be driven in the right hand lane then available for traffic or as close as practable to the right hand curb or edge of the roadway except when overtaking and passing another vehicle proceeding in the same direction or when preparing for a left turn at an intersection or into a private road or driveway."

Both major party chieftans to step aside for younger men?

What has been forecast by Parliament Hill observers seems certain to become a reality before the end of 1967. That is, says the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, the passing from the political scene of Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker and Prime Minister Lester Pearson.

Word out of Ottawa in the past few weeks is to the effect that Mr Diefenbaker will not be a candidate even for the Progressive Conservative party leadership when it is held later on in the year, probably next fall or even mid-summer. Leader of the party for 10 years and Prime Minister, with the exceptional record of holding the biggest House of Commons majority in Canadian history, Mr Diefenbaker recently has taken a softer line when discussing his future.

At 71, Mr Diefenbaker, who has been a member of parliament for many years and has served his country conscientiously and faithfully, realizes that his age is a barrier against his leadership candidacy. The forces of Dalton Camp, president of the national Progressive-Conservative party leadership, have emerged victorious in the internal struggle for power within the party. It is obvious men much younger than Mr Diefenbaker contest the convention, with the Old Chief standing by using his influence in the final choice. However, the master politician just might cross up his critics and stand for re-election.

Now, it is reported Mr Pearson, who will be 70 in April, has decided to step down at the end of Canada's Centennial Year. Canada's former distinguished head of the External Affairs Department has both age and ineptness in providing vigorous leadership for his party going against him. Mr Pearson has proved himself to be anything but a successful politician, although his honesty and integrity have never been questioned.

The trend toward young political leaders began when the late John F. Kennedy was elected president of the United States. True, there still are some elderly men who are heads of states. But the number is diminishing as time goes on. The trend is being felt in Canada, with officials of the two major parties favouring young, enterprising, aggressive and imaginative men as leaders. It is reasonably certain that when the next federal election is held, two young men will be campaigning in behalf of both the Liberal and Progressive-Conservative parties as their leaders.

What's going on inside China?

What's going on inside Red China? Thats what foreign observers would like to know. The internal troubles show little, if any, indication of being resolved. What the outcome will be is anybody's guess as the internal struggle for power among leaders continues.

Each side in the dispute seems to have much support among all phases of Chinese society, particularly among industrial workers and the peasants. The army, itself, is divided between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung.

Shanghai newspapers have been hinting recently that support eventually will go to Mao. These papers, in editorials, have been appealing to China's 500,000,000 peasants to fight against landlords, rich peasants, counter-revolutionaries, etc. The newspapers are forecasting a new peasant generation with high socialist leanings will be tempered in the class struggle for destruction and construction on a 'vast scale."

Mao's commune policy, launched in 1958, became a complete failure at the outset because of a sharp drop in food production. Under that system, peasants were permitted to cultivate small, private property growth.

However, more is involved in China's woes than agricultural policies. A great number of army officers have done everything possible to obtain weapons and have been urging an end to the ideological dispute with Russia. The latter country, however, has increased fears that the Chinese army plans to attack as it moves closer to the Soviet border via Mongolia. As a result the U.S.S.R. is getting prepared for any emergency.

A watch-and-wait policy is all the world can adopt towards China. There isn't the least chance of intervention by a foreign nation, using diplomatic methods to help China solve its internal strife. Whether a more moderate, less fanatical China will emerge from the current conflict is purely conjectural. As of the moment, however, it seems it will take some time before this country with its teeming millions will be able to take a proper place among the world's family of nations.

Ontario Legislature Report

by F. M. Cass

This past week the Legislature has been able to get down to work with organization completed and some Bills and Resolutions on the Order Paper. This year the House has set aside the last hour before dinner on Mondays and Wednesdays for debate of Private Members' Bills and Resolutions. As this is the only medium by which opposition Members can have their pet projects debated there is always a supply of such items awaiting attention by the House. This year, for a change, there are also a large number of Bills and Resolutions standing in the names of private government Members. The first two debates were on a Resolution sponsored by the Conservative Member for Lambton West on air pollution control, and on an amendment to the Assesment Act regarding assessment for Municipal purposes of mining properties, sponsored by the Liberal Member for Sudbury. Each of these matters was of particular interest to the people in the area represented by the Members introducing htem and each of them was, of course, talked out.

The Minister of Agriculture and Food brought in a Bill to provide for government guaranteed low interest bank loans to farmers who suffered serious crop loss last year. This is a narrow Bill confined to the loss of crop in the one year of 25% or greater due to adverse weather.

The Minister of Health tabled a yovernment White Paper setting out government proposals for additional care of, and treatment for, children suffering from mental and emotional disorders. The cost of the program is estimated to be 50 million dollars over some years involving several departments of government and calling for new regional treatment and diagnostic centres throughoht the province.

The last part of the week was the osrasion for a very considerable debate on the problems of Finance Corporations and Loan and Trust Companies. The government brought in a Bill, which was given first, second and third readings and Royal Assent by the Lieutenant Governor before the week's sitting ended, to guarantee individual deposits with Trust and Loan Companies up to a top limit of $20,000.00 each. The complaint of the opposition was, of course, that this Bill does nothing to protect persons investing in finance corporation paper — as in Prudential or in Atlantic. The Prime Minister agreed but stated this whole ifeld is most complex and the government,

Your Federal Report

Mrs Jean Wadds, M.P.

This has been a week of honours to various personalities.

The Prime Minister's wife, Mrs Pearson, had a formal luncheon in honour of Lady Lintott, wife of the British High Commissioner.

This luncheon was a typical, formal, diplomatic, social event, held at the Prime Minister's residence, 24 Sussex Street. Canadians can be proud of such a residence, a very beautiful stone house overlooking the Ottawa River. It is large and pleasant without being pretentious, and in every way a fitting and charming place from which Canada's Prime Ministers can dispense hospitality and goodwill.

On such occasions senior countries in the diplomatic life of Ottawa and all of Canada's political parties are represented.

Mrs Paul Martin, wife of the Minister for External Affairs, popular in Parliamentary circles for many years, was being her usual friendly self. Mrs John Marchand, wife of the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, told me that she only comes to Ottawa rarely, this being her first visit this year. The Marchands have one daughter who is planning to be married next summer, and they are rather dreading her going to live in France for several years. Mrs Bud Drury, wife of the Minister of Industry, was bright and active as usual, using her polaroid camera to take candid shots in colour. Mrs Tommy Douglas represented the NDP's. Mrs Lovink, whose husband has been the long-time Ambassador from the Netherlands, was expressing her usual enthusiasm for Canada and the Canadian winters. She told me that they had had many guests and those who did not ski could always be given snowshoes, which they enjoyed thoroughly and she felt was an easier way to start in winter sports.

Mrs Pearson's interest in Canadian art was evident in the many beautiful Canadian paintings on the walls. They were closely studied and discussed by many of the guests. I feel that Canada's artists rate very high and we can well be proud of them.

Some years ago there was much discussion of the colour of the diningroom in the Prime Minister's residence. It seemed to change from red to blue depending on the politics of its occupant. It is now a pleasant mellow creamy beige.

The other event of much interest was the unveiling of the bronze bust of Ellen Fairclough. It is a very attractive likeness of a very attractive lady, who was Canada's first lady Cabinet Minister. In the Halls of the Parliament Buildings she joins the late Senator Cairine Wilson, who was Canada's first lady Senator, and the late Agnes McPhail, who was Canada's first lady Member of Parliament.

Anticipating a large crowd, which turned out to be quite right, the event was planned in the Railway Committee Room. The eloquent, attractive and popular Speaker of the House of Commons from our neighbouring riding of Stormont, the Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, acted as Master of Ceremonies. He asked the Prime Minister to speak and Mr Pearson expressed his pleasure that a much loved, still very mortal lady, was being immortalized in this manner, and hundreds of years from now archaeologists studying Parliament Hill might wonder what this beautiful lady had done in the society of her day.

Mr Diefenbaker spoke as Leader of the Opposition and as the former Prime Minister who had appointed Mrs Fairclough. The Hon. Judy LaMarsh spoke as the present lady Cabinet Minister, and mentioned that she was pleased to see that Canada's lady Parliamentarians who had been recognized as first in their fields, and as outstanding people, had each been from different political Parties, representing in the broadest manner Canada's political life.

Mrs Fairclough looked very lovely and feminine in a lobster coloured wool dress and matching turban. She accepted the honour most gracefully and it reminded all of us of her quick-minded ability, and her articulate contribution wherever she is participating.

It was a great honour to her that having held such a responsible position in Government, she had earned so much friendship, respect and affection. It was encouraging to find a roomful of such complete goodwill. Mrs Fairclough is a lady to make all Canadian ladies proud, and to encourage their interest and activity in the political and business life of our country.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Am I a disrespectful teen-ager because I did not leap out of the armchair instantly and let my father sit down when he asked to? The argument and lecture he gave me on account of this lasted for 0 minutes.

There are only two comfortable chairs in our den and usually my mother sits in one and my father sits in the other. I don't think it is fair that us kids have to give up one of the comfortable chairs whenever Mom or Dad want to sit down. They wouldn't dream of getting up for us.

Dad says any teen-ager who has an ounce of respect for his parents would get up instantly and offer the comfortable chair: I would like to hear what you have to say on the subject.—Miss Fourteen.

Dear Miss: So your parents wouldn't dream of getting up and offering you the comfortable chair? Now that's a classic if I ever heard one. Can you tell me why in the world they should?

Your parents are entitled to the comfortable chairs in the den just because they are your parents. No other reason is necessary. And if you think this is dumb, wait about 20 years when you have teen-agers of your own.

Dear Ann Landers: Every now and again you'll publish a letter about sloppy housewives versus overly neat housewives.

I have been tempted many times to express myself because I used to be one of the neat ones and my compulsiveness was the cause of many arguments. Our two sons were brought up to believe that a finger-print on the wall or a spot on the rug was a terrible thing.

The older son married a highly efficient girl who kept house just like I did. The younger boy married a sweet, good-natured, messy type whose house reflected her lack of organization.

Financial reverses have forced me to divide my time with each family. The six months I spend in the disorganized house is filled with laughter and fun. The other six months I feel as if I am in the Army.

I realize now that my obsession with neatness was selfishness. If I had it to do over, I would not be such a perfectionist—Six of Each.

Dear Six: I've said it before and I'll say it again: Neatness ceases to be a virtue when it becomes so important that it makes people uncomfortable.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I was discussing one of your answers with a friend and he said: "Her column is worth its weight in gold."

I loathe cliches and that one really got me. I collected a week's columns, weighed the mon a scale, tallied the weight with the current value of gold and figured out that one of your daily columns is worth $2.32. How does that grab you?—One Man Association for Abandonment of Cliches.

Dear One: Assuming your daily paper costs 10c you are making a daily profit of $2.22. At the end of the year you will have made $810.130 which is not bad for an investment of 10c a day.

Confidential to Can't Make Up Mind: Indecision is slow poison. The inability to make up your mind is far more damaging than going ahead and making a poor decision. Why? Because indecision begets do-nothingness and it gets to be a habit. Better to fail because you made the wrong move than to afil because you made no move at all.

Neville sparks Finch win over Avonmore Lunenburg doubles Chesterville in night-cap

What sort of witches brew did Finch cook up in order to defeat Avonmore 16 to 5 in the opening round of a North Stormont Hockey League double bill played on Feb. 7th?

Even twenty four hours later the anewer had not been found, but a usually reliable source suggests that it was just the old 5-5-6 mixture described in the N.S.H.L. cook book. It seems that this recipe requires some planning, considerable effort, plenty of determination and a good measurse of plain ordinary luck.

In the first period Finch arranged to have John Neville score at the five minute mark other pass from Evan Henry and after picking up a pass from Evan Henry and Jim Rombough and for Rombough to drop in another as the clock showed 6.45 after gathering in Henry's pass. Neville staged a demonstration after eight minutes by netting his second goal of the period on a fine solo effort, and Barry Brownlee, not to be outdone, made it four for Finch with Dalton Ouderkirk getting the assist. Wincton and Ken Dingwall relayed the pass which enabled Ross Smith to fold in the fifth Finch goal thereby completing the first third of the recipe.

As often happens, when cooking up somehhing, Finch ran into a spot of trouble when Avonmore insisted in hammering in three goals for themselves Murray MacMillan from Mike Casselman for the first one, Murray again from Neil MacMillan and Casselman and Bill Connelly from Robillard and M. MacMillan, for a Finch 5 and Avonmore 3 score at the bell.

In the middle twenty Neville tossed in his third goal after five minutes on a pass from Rombough and Brownlee and in the next six minutes Finch blended in three goals in succession, all unassisted, with Osborne Shaver, Ken Dingwall and Evan Henry earning the credits. Barry Brownlee sifted in his second goal from Neville, to make it Finch 10 and Avonmore 3 thus completing two thirds of the recipe.

In the final period Ken Ouderkirk squeezed in Neil MacMillan's pass at the one minute spot to make the score sheet four for Avonmore. Finch appeared to remember having lost to Avonmore in previous third periods and promptly turned up the heat as Cliff Lang scored from W. Dingwall and Ken Dingwall netted his second tally with brother Winston getting the assist. Rombough has his second counter at the thirteen minute mark on a pass from Dalton Ouderkirk and iWnston Dingwall tallied one minute lter with the assists going to Shaver and C. Lang. Dwayne Henderson blasted in a long shot which trickled past McMahon in the Finch net to make it Finch 14 to Avonmore 5. Neville registered his fourth goal of the evening on a relay from D. Ouderkirk and Archie Lang and Rombough remembered that the recipe called for six goals by Finch in this period and promptly added his third of the night with the clock showing 18.-50. That was it 5 plus 5 plus 6.

In the night cap Lunenburg led all the way to defeat Chesterville 8 to 4. Harry Fetterley paved the way with three goals, T. Moore, Wayne Armstrong, Lynden Wells, Larry Prieur and Bun Warner tapped in one each.

Assists on Lunenburg goals were awarded as follows - Lynden Wells got three, Harly Fetterley, Wayne Armstrong, Percy Brownlee and Tom Moore were given two each with Bun Warner drawing down one. Chesterville's goals came from Fred Harper, James Harper, Rae Imrie and from Pat Burnside on a solo effort. Don Munro, F. Harper, Imrie and Burnside were each credited with one assist.

Moore "big gun" in Lunenburg win Finch edge Chesterville in close game

Noah was famous for his knowledge, or lack of knowledge, of navigation by for his wisdom in building the ark before it began to rain.

Avonmore would have exercised wisdom along the same line if they could have been warned of the aproaching Lunenburg cloudburst. The flood struck early in the opening game of a North Stromont Hockey League double header played at Finch on Friday, Feb. 10th. Lunenburg took the first period 3 to 1, the middle frame 7 to 0 and the final round 9 to 2. Tom Moore guided the deluge with seven goals, Keith MacGregor and Percy Brownlee added three each, Harry Fetterley and Lynden eWlls had two each with Bun Warner and Wayne Armstrong adding singles. Ken Ouderkirk, Neil and Don MacMillan had one each for Avonmore. Six minor penalties showed up in the records - each team having 3.

The night cap was the typical Finch vs Chesterville tussle, both teams looking for victory and willing to exchange bumps to ge it. Fred Harper netted Chesterville's first goal after 4 minutes of the first period with the assist going to Bob Henderson. Finch replied at the nine minute mark when Ken Dingwall scored unassisted. Jim Rombough drove in his own rebound after a fine solo effort to give Finch the lead 2 to 1 as the session ended.

Finch struck again as Barry Brownlee blasted in Rombough"s pass as the new time clock said 8 minutes. Harper sank his second tally unassisted at the 18.30 figure to make the score Finch 3, Chesterville 2.

Ken Dingwall got the important insurance marker for Finch as he tipped in his second goal after three minutes of the final frame on a pass from brother Winston. Bert McMahon pulled off marvellous saves as Chesterville sought to cut down the Finch lead and Monast duplicated his rivals efforts by holding the fort for Chesterville. This game was a triller with earned vocal support of the fans.

Penalties were held to a minimum, Chesterville faving four and Finch three.

Expo '67 fairest of them all

When April 28, 1967, rolls around, a remarkable thing will become possible: Canadians will be able to see the world at their doorsteps.

Expo 67 will be a conclave of cultures, achievements and dramas for the future. It will cover, under the umbrella of its theme, everything from the evidence of ancient civilizations to the most advanced concepts in architecture for modern urban living. There will be music, theatre, sports events, films.

Fifteen thousands years in the life of mankind will be graphically recalled. New inventions, techniques and aspirations for the future will be projected. The nations of the world will join hands to tell the whole story of man's role as creator, explorer and producer. The 30,000,000 visitors are expected to see, hear and feel the impact of Expo 67's kaleidoscopic message.

Since 1963, dredgers and trucks have been engaged in a gigantic island-building project, handling tons of earth and fill to create, where before there was only a river and two small islets, two new large islands — one of them the beautiful and historic St. Helen's Island.

International Park

Eventually, exhibition and amusement area will be a dream-like park with canals, lagoons and locations for the Theme Pavilions, the theatres, the national and international sections, a marina, industrial exhibits and special amusement attractions.

Man and his world will be brought into focus in a magnitude of ways in "The Labyrinth", visitors will become involved with the story of man from the earliest times to the present through a revoltutionary blending of motion picture and architectural techniques. "Habitat" will offer a model community of the future which will be permanently occupied after the close of Expo 67.

"Man and the Ocean" will forecast the ways in which we may farm the seven seas for food in the years to come. Among other exhibits will be athree story model of a human cell, an ancient harbor with the replicas of man's earliest ships, a Terrace of Nations. The theme Pavilions will be the result of joint effort among the participants in showing scientific, philosophical and cultural advances, presented in a way that will involve visitors in the reality of the subject.

In the restaurants at Expo, a policy of reasonable prices and quality cuisine will be strictly maintained as a vital adjunct to the theme of the exhibition. The finest foods of the world — not always the most expensive — will be served.

All of Canada is taking part in Expo 67. Montreal is putting on a sparkling new face to greet her world-wide guests. New bridges, super-highways, hotels and rapid transit systems, including a brand new subway — art being built, and Canada's industries and business are joining in the placing of a gigantic welcome mat for the world.

"Something for Everyone" is another way of describing Expo 67, the wide world of the past, present and future.

A tiny button fell iff a London factory's telephone switchboard—and putting it back involved the services of 10 men from six unions.

Two engineers put the one-inch button back but it fell off and rolled under a cabinet.

Two carpenters, called to move the rabinet, tore the linoleum.

That brought two linoleuc layers but they found a heater had to be moved first.

Two elertricians, called to shift the heater, found a hole in the floor. Two bricklayers had to fill it.

After tre lino-layers did their job, employees tripped over the new linoleum and it was decided to tile the floor.

But the button was finally replaced.

Recent Avonmore ice carnival well attended

Under the sponsorship of the Sports Section of the Avonmore and District Centennial Committee, a successful masquerade and carnival for the boys and girls was staged at the local skating rink. Some 175 boys and girls participated.

In the judging of costumes, winners included Debbie Rielly, Daryll Alguire, Gwenyth McMillan, Muriel MacRae, Dennis Delaney, Hilary Pipe, Richard Bennett, Brenda Shannon, Valerie Wert, Brenda McIntyre and Marie Hanley.

Judges were Rev. Donald W. Pipe, Miss Margaret Morrison and Miss Ardis McIntyre.

Races proved very popular with declared winners — Brent Eamer, Jimmy Wert, Gerry Loswen, Audrey Kyle, Stina Bennett, Dianne McElheran, Richard Bennett, Bruce Henderson, Bradley Loewen, Janice Rielly, Brenda McIntyre, Mavis MacRae and Donald Armour.

Broomball was another featured activity with the "country" boys and "village" boys registering a tie.

Among the men who figured prominently in promoting, planning and directing the program were Douglas Robertson, Glenn McMillan, Malwyn Watkins and Rev. D. W. Pipe.

At the conclusion of activities at the rink, the scene shifted to the basement of St. James United Church where the ladies of the community served a piping hot lunch of beans, bread, hot chocolate and other goodies.

It was another success for the Avonmore and District Centennial Committee whose energentic program spans the months of 1967.

Attend funeral in Ottawa

Mr and Mrs Larry Swain were in Ottawa during the weekend attending the funeral of Mrs Swain's aunt.

Mr Reggie Burd has taken over the position of road superintendent, the office his late father held for 22 years. We wish him success.

We are sorry to learn that Mr E. J. Hunt is confined to his home due to illness. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Many from this district attended the funeral of the late Miss Isabel MacMillan of Finch who died at a Cornwall hospital last week.

Mr and Mrs Charlie McCabe of Montreal called on old friends here on Thursday en route to visit their daughter in Ottawa.

We were sorry to hear of the deaths last week of two district residents, Mr William Servage, of Crysler, and Mr Dan Walsh. Both families have our sympathy in their bereavement.

Osnabruck 4-H Club holds initial meeting

The first meeting of the Osnabruck 4-H Homemaking Club was held at the home of Mrs Grandaw on Saturday, Feb. 4.

The topic of this club is a "World of Food in Canada," in which the girls will make dishes of foreign countries adopted by Canadian cuisines.

Books and pamphlets were distributed to the members. The collection was taken and white bristol board covers were handed out. It was decided to use the Centennial Emblem as a cover design and gold lettering for the name of the club.

Election of officers was held which resulted as follows: president, Pauline Godard; first vice-president, Ykje Bruining; treasurer, Shirley Presley; press reporter Annette Brownell.

The name chosen for the club is "Osnabruck Centenuriettes."

Mrs Grandaw gave notes on the first Canadians, the Indians.

Pauline Godard aided Mrs Hart in a demonstration of Succotash, an Indian original which is a mixture of lima beans and corn heated in a butter sauce and seasoned to taste. Another dish was Baked Indian Pudding, which tastes a little like pumpkin pie, and is really quite good.

The meeting closed with a discussion of points in the Record Books. The girls thanked Mrs Grandaw and will meet again next week at the home of Linda Hart.

Farm information meeting to be held in Winchester

An invitation has been extended to Dundas County Farmers to attend a farm meeting at Winchester Town Hall on Thursday, February 9th at 1.30 p.m.

It has been suggested the long winter evenings gove one an opportunity to settle back in a comfortable chair and, perhaps give some thought to planning for the future. If so, no doubt the decisions made will be based on future objectives, and on success with various endeavours of previous years.

A good set of Farm Records can prove to be of great value in reviewing Farm Business and planning for the future. A good set of Farm Records may prove valuable in other ways such as: filing Income Tax returns, establishing a Basic Herd, filing for Canada Pension Plan. Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Insurance of Estate Planning.

Many requests for information on each of these subjects have been received at the Department of Agriculture Office in Winchester. In an attempt to provide more information on these subjects a meeting will be held in Winchester on February 9th. Ladies, especially those who assist with the farm records, are most welcome to attend.

Special speaker at the meeting will be Mr H. R. McGragan from the Taxation Division, Department of National Revenue, Ottawa. Mr McGrogan and the other speakers will discuss and answer questions on the subjects mentioned.

The new Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food Record Book will be available at this meeting.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE—

FABRICS AND KITCHENS ON WOMEN'S PROGRAM

Talks, discussions, panels, and films on topics of interest to women will be featured at the same time Farmers' Week is in progress at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph. While the farmers are learning the latest aspects of forages, silages, grains, beef and dairy production, the women will have an opportunity to learn what's new in their particular fields of endeavour.

Specialists from the Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, and from Macdonald Institute of Guelph, will talk on a variety of homemaking subjects. Dr. H. R. Richards' subject will be textiles. Miss Dora Burke will discuss the new look in laundry. Under the general heading "Youth Today", a panel comprising Professor Marjorie Harris, Dr. Janet Wardlaw, and Dr. Margaret McCready will cover credit buying, budgeting, nutrition, family relations and communications. Dr. Mary Singer and Professor Nancy Hook are to discuss the kitchen — planning, small equipment, work heights, and storage. Professor Edyth Bray's subject is floor coverings. Mr George Fuller will discuss color in the home. Miss Helen McKercher, Director of the Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food will welcome the women both days.

The two days of special programs for women are Tuesday, February 21, and Thursday, February 23, from 9.55 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be morning coffee breaks and coffee served at noon. Box lunches will be available at $1, or the women may bring their own lunches.

The Pleasures of the Imagination

By Billy Moffat, Grade 13

How long has it been since you sat down and had a good long talk with someone who wasn't there? How long has it been since you slipped the chains of mother earth and really imagined something. It doesn't matter who so long as it was something. With his imagination man has received a wonderful gift. He can use it for relaxation, for profit, and for the more serious business of searching.

Used for relaxation the imagination can run free as a mustang and soar as high as Pegasus. There is a man lying on a couch. His eyes are closed but we can see; he isn't asleep for now and again he chuckles or frowns. Later on he gets up and tells his wife what he imagined and they both have a good laugh, neither realizing that he is just as relaxed as if he had twelve hours' sleep. You are also letting your imagination relax you when you read a book. By experience the most common type of book people read is written to please the imagination. We identify ourselves with the hero, experience all that he does and reach the climax with him. Relaxing? Of course it is. We don't think about cancer, smoking, atomic bombs, Viet Nam and keeping up with the Joneses when we're with James Bond.

Where would we be without imaginative people? There would be no telephone, no car, none of the modern conveniences that we are so prone to take for granted. The people who invented these things had wonderful imaginations and were also called crazy and crack-pots, but they persevered. Thereirs was the triumph that nations and nationalities brag about. Another type of inventor is the writer or the artist. The writer has to come up with a new story, a new description, and foremost, I think, all writers are trying to come up with new cliches. If a writer has sufficient new materials and new ideas in his book he has a best seller and can comfortably retire at the age of thirty-nine. Over here we have the artist. His talent is also in his imagination. He must imagine something, then capture it on canvas. If he had no imagination his world would be as mediocre and mundane as a child's mudpie.

Quite apart from the other pleasures, the imagination can be used for searching. I say searching for want of a better word. Actually it is the trying to see what is ahead before we come to it. People make it a game. They try to visualize something before they see it. Due to the extreme romantic nature of homo sapiens the vision of the object always far exceeds the actual object, and naturally someone is disappointed. If you really want to give your imagination a good workout, try imagining what life, or rather existence, is like after death. You will gain nothing if you use your own religious attitudes of Heaven and Hades; their definition is clear. Try to find an alternative existence whether it be ghosts or reincarnation.

From the above, one can conclude a fairly strong argument for the pleasures of imagination has been presented. We have seen that imagination relaxes, it gives us pleasure from profit and it does open new doors to new frontiers for us by using it as a ship with which to explore the universe.

Holy Trinity holds annual vestry meeting

The Annual Vestry meeting of the Church of the Holy Trinity was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, January 31st. In his report to Vestry, Fr. Churchill pointed out that the next few years would be ones of re-examination regarding the total parish structure. The reports of the organizations were received, and it was noted with thanks the success of the Guild's undertakings.

For 1967 the officers of the Parish are Mr L. Thompson, Rector's Warden; Mr C. Collingridge, People's Warden; Mrs J. Sutherland, Treasurer; Mr C. Collingridge, Lay Delegate to Synod; and Mrs Edna Droppo was elected as an alternate delegate to Synod.

The computer goes to market

Housewives of the not-too-distant future are going to find their local supermarkets alive with automated efficiency, but as friendly and warm as the dimly-remembered general store. The supermarket, centre of the Suburban Shopping Centre, is going modern in a magnificent way.

Probably the first thing to greet the space age shopepr's eyes when she enters the store will be the spacious, clean-cut aisles . . . . completed, no less! Not only does the carpeting mean less foot fatigue, but also it will mute the annoying noises now so much part and parcel of grocery shopping. This carpeting will enable the Mrs to shop more leisurely and in greater comfort. Other exciting innovations are in the shopping cart. Wall-towall carpeting has resulted in easier-to-maneuver carts that have swivel wheels equipped with "locks". And faster check-outs are assured with special unloading devices that raise the basket and unload the packages on the counter.

But not all the space age benefits awaiting the Mrs are visible. What really makes her shopping task a breezy delight is behind the scenes — a Store Control Centre chock full of "friendly machines". The store Control will free store personnel from routine details and enable them to give more personal and efficient service to thec ustomer.

Electronic equipment will make it possible for the store manager to keep his shelves well-stocked without devoting hours to inventory. All he has to do is feed some marketing data to the computers, and within minutes he'll know how much business to expect in the following days, whether he'll need any extra part-time help, and how much of what kind of food to order. This way the customer is assured of always finding what she wants in stock, finding it fresh, and getting fast, courteous service while she is shopping.

Also, a part of the Store Control Centre is a closed circuit television system, which enables the manager's assistant to observe the whole store and parking lot. Via the TV, he can see where shelves need replenishing, where clerks are needed, where a deserted shopping cart is. Scanning the parking lot he may see a car with the headilghts left on. Over the public address system, he can alert shoppers, and the right lady, thus notified, can run out and save her batteries. Moreover, the closed circuit TV will quickly locate stray children, lost dollies, and mislaid gloves. The public address system, itself, is a big plus for shoppers, contributing to the pleasant atmosphere of the store with recorded music, and also announcing at regular intervals various department "specials".

A big feature of the Store Control Centre is an elaborate alarms reporting system. It can spot trouble anywhere, of almost any type, from a faulty condenser in aremote freezing compartment to a cart-napper in the parking lot. Catching a cartnapper won't offend a legitimate customer, but it does mean that shoppers won't have to wait any more for a shopping basket to be available. The board is rigged to ring the manager at home if trouble should occur during the night; otherwise it lights up to be spotted by the manager's assistant. If, for example, the trouble rising temperature in a freezer, the control centre operator can alert the proper personnel via radio pager, privately. This means that neither shoppers nor uninvolved personnel will be inconvenienced. And such fast trouble-spotting almost eliminates the risk of buying melted ice cream, spoiled meat, sour milk and rancid butter.

Of all these improvements, perhaps the most impressive is the extra attention store managers will bea ble to give their customers. Getting to know them and their desires is the store manager's' prime concern, after all, and with electronic equipment freeing him from routine details, he now has the time. What this means is that the supermarket will be big enough to provide the friendly concern of a small store. Customers thus have someone to take their requests to and be assured of interested attention, whether they want a specific brand to be carried, or a change of location for a product.

Of course, the manager stands to gain a lot from the Store Control Centre, but the customer's benefits are most striking. From the pleasure of shoping in an attractive store, to the pleasure of shopping there quickly, the housewife's grocery buying becomes more of a delight than a chore. The conveniences "in store" for tomorrow's shopper assure a new era of old general store warmth, now that the friendly computer is going to market.

ADD YOUR OWN GAY TOUCH TO CONVENIENCE FOODS

HERE'S AN APPETIZING hot pudding you can place on the table and announce with a French touch. Rice Brulé. The "brulé" part is a hot, bubbly taffy topping that forms on top of creamy, slow-cooked rice. This dessert casserole takes only a few minutes to prepare. To serve four, you just need a tin of Nestlé's Rice Pudding plus a little brown sugar, butter and a few nuts for the broiled topping that turns it into a most inviting surprise. The rice pudding is nutritious and hearty. The new easy "bruleé" topping is an elegant touch.

Rice Brulé

Turn 1 tin (15 oz.) of Nestlé's Rice Pudding into a small casserole or loaf pan (4½"x8½"). Combine ¼ cup melted butter, 1/3 cup lightly-packed brown sugar and 1 tablespoon milk; stir in ¼ cup coarsely-chopped pecans. Carefully spread mixture over cold rice pudding in casserole ir loaf pan. Place under broiler and broil, until topping is golden and bubbly — 1 to 2 minutes. Serve piping hot to 4 or 5 people.

Tasty Treats

Slice 1 tin (8 oz.) date and nut loaf (Crosse and Blackwell) into 10 rounds. Cream 2 oz. cream cheese and 1 tablespoon icing sugar together until light and fluffy, mixing in sufficient milk for good spreading consistency — ½ - ¾ teaspoon. Add and mix in food colouring, if desired. Put slices together in pairs, using the cream cheese mixture, as a filling. Cut filled rounds in quarters and stand each quarter on end to form a pretty pattern of 20 little sandwiches. These rounds may be made up ahead of time, wrapped in waxed paper and stored in refrigerator until serving time.

Fish Sticks With Cheese Sauce

2 cups milk
4 tbsps. flour
1 cup grated cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Fish sticks

Heat 1¾ cups milk in top of double boiler. Blend flour and ¼ cup milk; add to hot milk, stirring till smooth. Add grated cheese. When cheese is melted pour over hot fish sticks. Serve with french fried potatoes and a green vegetable for an easy meal.

Chocolate Ice Cream Sauce

One of the oldest convenience foods is without doubt ice cream. Try this sauce using the added convenience of Nestlé's liquid Choco-bake.

25 marshmallows
2/3 cup evaporated milk
1 tsp. Nescafé
3 oz. liquid Choco-bake
1 tsp. vanilla

Heat marshmallows, chocolate and Nescafé in top of double boiler until marshmallows have melted. Stir well to blend. Add vanilla. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream.

BELL LINES

by Richard R. Pearson

your telephone manager

I wonder how many of you have ever noticed a small box — usually black plastic — tucked up on a basement beam in your home. It is placed quite close to the point where out telephone wire comes into your home. We call this small box an inside station protector and we use it as a safety device where the inside wire and the outside wire are joined. It protects both our equipment and the telephone user from stray electrical currents over 300 volts and from lightning surges. The protector serves much the same purpose as the more familiar electrical fuse except that instead of opening a line, as a fuse does, the protector grounds it. If this should happen — and it very seldom does — your phone immediately is put out of order. So seldom do we have to change or repair these station protectors, in fact, that I discovered recently that many homes still have those installed with their first telephone many years ago. These are from the pre-plastic era and are of white porcelain. Many, too, were placed in the days when cellars were cellars and not beautiful recreation rooms, family rooms or finished workshops; when panelling or attractive tile did not conceal bare ceiling beams. Many people today are converting basement space into wonderfully liveable rooms. If this should be in your home improvement plans would you please locate this protector? Under no circumstance should any of the wires leading from the protector be disconnected. They are vital to your service. Then, if you are installing a ceiling, perhaps you could leave the small area unboxed or place a removable panel to give easy access to the black box. It would also be to your advantage to provide access to the ground wire connection which usually runs from the protector to a nearby water pipe. Chances are our Installers or Repairmen will seldom have to gain access to these connections. However, if that need should arise, it would take longer to restore your service and perhaps mar a beautiful ceiling if the protector or ground connections have been hidden by the panelling or ceiling tiles.

I wonder how many of you remember back to the days when the telephone was still looked upon either as a toy or the invention of the devil? From our historical file comes this tale from 1911 — only 56 years ago. "Recently on entering the house of a subscriber an instrument setter noticed the telephone decorated with small bags attached to the transmitter and receiver. It was learned that the bags contained ..camphor.. and had been placed there to ward off scarlet fever, as another party on the line was quarantined on account of this disease."

To help speed your long distance calls along, Canada and the United States have been divided into calling areas. Each calling area has its own three-number Area Code. When you call outside your own calilng area, these special codes direct you to the area you are calling. Whether you are able to dial the calls yourself or whether a Long Distance Operator must place them for you, using or giving her the Area Code speeds your call. Codes for many locations are listed in the front of your telephone directory.

THE BIBLE TODAY..

Just announced is the eighteenth annual session of the Toronto Institute of Linguistics, popularly known as TIL, to be held in Victoria University, Toronto, from June 3 to June 30, 1967. Dr. Donald N. Larson, Professor of Anthropology and Linguistics at Bethel College, St. Paul, Minnesota, is to be Principal of TIL.

At the Annual Meeting of the Institute held recently, the President, Rev. W. W. Tyler, Canadian Secretary of the Overseas Missionary Fellowship, reported a successful session in June, 1966, with 102 students attending. Many of these young people, candidates for 17 different denominational and inter-denominational mission boards, have now left for overseas fields. Serving in at least 26 countries on five continents, they will be speaking 50 different languages within a year or so.

The Toronto Institute of Linguistics offers a unique one-month intensive training in applied linguistics, offering courses in Phonetics, the Techniques of Language Learning and Applied Anthropology.

TIL, started in 1950, has hosted some 1,100 students in Toronto since that time. Getting to know the language and the culture is a basic pre-requisite to scripture translation.

The staff of TIL is not only highly competent to teach skills and to impart knowledge—they are also in sympathy with the commitment of the students to missionary service. They share in the students' desire to communicate to others the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Osnabruck Centre W. I. holds February meeting at Grandaw home

The February meeting of the Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs John Grandaw on Friday, the president, Mrs Jake Grandaw, assisted by the secretary, Mrs Jennie Flegg, conducted the meeting.

After the Opening Ode, the Mary Stewart Collect and the Lord's Prayer, 13 members and two visitors answered the roll call by giving an item of interesting news of the activities of Women's Institutes in the North-West Territories. Mrs Lyman Ault, for the monthly 'Smile' read a humorous poem on a well-known and little liked household chore — cleaning the kitchen stove pipes.

In the absence of Mrs Dorothy Morgan, Mrs Delbert Flintoff read her paper on the motto "When You Practice the Principle of the W. I. Creed, You Pratice the principle of Good Canadian Citizenship." This excellent paper on the origin and inherent lessons in the Mary Stewart Collect were most inspiring.

The theme of the program was "Citizenship" and Mrs Flintoff described a trip through our North Country, gave the recipe for the bannocks which are used as staple food in the North, then gave samples of the bannocks for the lunch which followed the metting. Mrs John Grandaw reported on the February 2nd Safety Council Luncheon and meeting, which was ehld at the Jade Gardens, Cornwall. It was decided to donate the W. I. quilt to the Coveney family, victims of a recent fire.

Correspondence was dealt with which included: five thank-you letters; a donation of $5 was received from Miss Jay Waldroff; the Mental Health letter was answered by the Penny Round-up; the remainder of the date for submitting the name of the delegate for the Guelph Conference resulted in the selection of Mrs Acil Beckstead, convenor of Historical Research and Current Events; a request was tabled from the Centennial Committee of Osnabruck Township for contributions for the Handicraft Display in the Rothwell Public Schol during Old Home Week, July 12 - 16; and a request for help in serving at the Newington Ice Carnival was dealt with.

After the meeting was closed by singing "God Save the Quen", Mrs May conducted a Farm Contest, which was won by Mrs Irene Hollister. A delicious lunch was served for which Mrs Hazel Tinkess voiced the thanks of the Institute to Mrs Grandaw, Mrs May and Mrs Jennie Flegg, who had made a beautiful Centennial cake appropriately decorated with the Centennial symbol and the dates of 1867 - 1967.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbours for their floral tributes, mass cards, many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy. Special thanks to Father Collins and Dr H. Justus following the recent death of a dear son and brother, Patrick Barrett.

his wife, Margaret Thompson. She is a native of the Strathmore district.

The village is swarming with rabbits. They are feasting on raspberry canes, flowering crab saplings and other delicacies. Complaints have come to the ears of council and reeve but at the moment, the rabbits are safe. Nothing in the books allows the extermination of rabbits within the village limits, now that firearms are not to be fired.

Councillor Trimble hoped that something could be done to make property owners clean up or tear down certain buildings and structures on the river front. It was pointed out nothing much could be done unless a new tough by-law could be shaped up. He also wondered if a permit could be issued to him over the existing by-law that prohibits the moving of buildings within the municipality. He would like to move in a building. Council suggested the matter be filed until the by-law could be found and digested again.

All accounts were ordered paid and arrangements made for the reeve, clerk and councillors Trimble and Clement to attend the Toronto conference of Rural Municipalities Association on Monday and Tuesday.

Junior league games please crowd at Finch arena

Anyone dropping in and watching the four teams go at the Finch arena last Thursday night couldn't be blamed if they thought it was the Seniors playing in that they were the best games played in the Junior league this year. The way the boys are coming along both in their team pattern playng and individual skating one wouldn't be far amiss by saying that, in a year or two, quite a few of our senior players will be put into compulsory retirement to watch from the boards these junior players who are going to be taking their jobs.

In the first game it was Finch who came from behind and when the buzzer sounded at game's end there was a tie score of 3 to 3. Scoring for the Centre was Stephen Tait with a pair and Bernie Disotell with one. Finch's tallies came from Steve St. Pierre with two and Colonel Montgomery with one.

Avonmore's Bobby Grant is still hot as he pumped in three goals and added to singles credited to Reid McIntyre, Norman Morrison and John Ferguson saw his team win over Berwick by a score of 6 to 2. Credit for Berwicn's goals go to Steve O'Donohue and Albert Saunders.

Saturday's 50-degree drop in temperature wasn't matched by the players unless it was in the opposite direction as all teams poured on the steam and when the haze cleared Avonmore's last period valiant splurge went for naught as they still came out on the short end, being downed by Finch 6 to 4. The big guns for Finch go to Ken Snetsinger and Steve St. Pierre, both with hat tricks. Avonmore goals were evenly divided with Dean McIntyre, John Ferguson, Bobby Grant and Dwain Wattie each registering one.

The second game was full of thrills as a pair of goals by Brian McIntyre for Osnabruck Centre in the last five minutes of the game saw them come from behind and then go ahead of a disillusioned Berwick squad to end the game 3 to 2. The other Centre goal goes to George Hillis. Albert Saunders is credited with both Berwick goals.

League standing gives Finch 13, Osnabruck Centre 11, Avonmore 6 and Berwick 2.

Mrs W. P. Allison. 79

Members of the district were saddened to learn of the death on Friday of Mrs W. Percy Allison at her home at Morrisburg. Mrs Allison was the former Evelyn Clark. She was in her 80th year, and had been unwell for several years.

Mr Allison is at present recuperating at the home of his daughter, Mrs Max Bush, Montreal, after a serious illness in a Montreal hospital.

Funeral services were held Monday for the late Mrs Allison at Fitsimmons Funeral Home, Iroquois. Entombment followed in Maple Ridge Cemetery.
