Presbytery Banquet Held Here, Tuesday

The Presbytery Luncheon, held in the local United Church during the noon hour on Tuesday, was a delightful affair. Eighty delegates were present, representing the Offiial Boards of Chesterville, Hallville, Heckston, Inkerman, Morewood, Morrisburg, South Mountain, Williamsburg, Winchester, Finch and Winchester Springs.

After a dainty luncheon, provided by the Women's Association, all joined in singing: "A Better Day is Coming," led by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Atchison, with Rev. R. Smith at the piano.

Rev. John MacAskill, Presbytery Convener, was in charge of the meeting and introduced by Rev. D. Summers and Rev. R. F. Willson, who brought greetings from the Wesleyan and Baptist churches. The note of spiritual optimism sounded by them gave a helpful tone to the meeting.

Rev. T. A. Halpenny, D. D., president of Montreal and Ottawa Conference, outlined a policy that he had initiated in his own church in order to meet the local situation.

He gave a very helpful analysis of the critical condition of the church, and outlined a plan that brought hope and stimulation to his own Board, lifting the gloom and revealing the dynamic possibilities through co-operative effort. Dr. Halpenny strongly advocated the plan and purpose of the Fellowship Crusade which begins next Sunday and continues through the last ten Sunday of 1939. He said that the financial problem was solved by one hundred volunteers giving one dollar extra for ten Sundays.

Rev. R. C. Tait introduced the chief speaker in the person of Dr. C. Endicott, Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Dept., who declared that we must not let the Pollyana Spirit die or depart! "A man never succeeds who permits the gloom to hide the sunshine," said Dr. Endicott. The dark side can be cultivated like one who said: "I feel good but then I feel badly because I know I will feel worse after." Or like the farmer with a wonderful crop, complaining that it was very hard on the land. Dr. Endicott recalled some thrilling experiences, revealing the power of God through Christ incarnate in human form. He made a strong plea for a greater Missionary Spirit.

Rev. Mr. Beatty moved a resolution of appreciation to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. Rev. H. Beach responded. Rev. W. R. Johnston pronounced the Benediction at the close of the meeting.

Play And Concert Was Greatly Enjoyed

The concert and play, presented in the local town hall on Monday evening, under the joint auspices of the Curling Club and Women's Institute, was not as largely attended as was anticipated by the sponsors, but provided plenty of entertainment for those who did attend.

The chairman for the occasion was Mr. Walter Moffatt, who, at the conclusion of the program, thanked the patrons, the entertainers and Mr. J. L. Dixon, who provided the stage furnishings.

Featured during the evening was a repeat performance of the hilarious comedy, "Too Much Married." Those taking part, and who displayed real talent in their individual roles, were Mrs. Arthur Leason, Miss Marion Helmer and Messrs. W. A. Rowat, W. J. Stewart and F Erle Helmer.

Other numbers on the program, which were heartily received, included a vocal duet by Mrs. W. J. Cass and Miss Patti Cass; instrumental trio by Misses Doris Armstrong, Patti Cass and Betty Stewart; monologues by Mrs. J. D. Stewart, and Miss Long, of Hallville Consolidated School; musical numbers by Mr. Harold Helmer and Mrs. Howard Fetterly.

Iroquois Defeats Local Rugby Team

Despite unfavourable weather, six-man football got off to a good start when the W. H. S. team met Iroquois at the Fair Grounds last Saturday.

Being handicapped by the absence of the team captain and quarterback, Gerald McIntosh, the Winchester team went scoreless for the first half while Iroquois scored rouges for two points but were unable to advance past the efficient line play of Earl Fawcett and Walter Shedbolt.

In the second half Edwin Boyd, who was subbing at quarter, got the local team clicking and Ken Boyd made yards twice on end runs and finally crashed through centre for a touchdown. Iroquois kicked another rouge, making the score Winchester, 5, Iroquois, 3, but were unable to score again until the last seconds of the game. An unfortunate Winchester fumble was snagged by an Iroquois player who went into touch in the last play of the game. Final score, Winchester, 5; Iroquois, 8.

Dwight Dawley also won a special prize of one bag of calf meal.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The attendance at Tuesday night's meeting was quite gratifying. Mrs. J. Moffat, the President, had charge of the business meeting when the members named the month of their birth and their birthstone in answer to roll call. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lannin, read the minutes and the treasurer's report, also a great deal of correspondence which was dealt with. Mrs. J. Moffat and Mrs. W. J. Stewart were appointed as representatives of the Institute on the Winchester Branch of the Red Cross. It was decided to apply for the Government grant and to endorse a resolution applying for a Health nurse for Dundas County.

The district president, Mrs. McInnis, of Iroquois, expressed her pleasure at being present and read a helpful paper on the aims and objects of the Institute.

A very interesting report of the Eastern Ontario Institute Convention recently held in Ottawa, was given by Mrs. Moffat in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. C. Rice and Mrs. J. E. Utman, who attended the Meat Cookery Project held at Williamsburg, gave a demonstration on this, and some explanation about it.

A paper on grandmothers, prepared by Mrs. O. Wallace, and read by Mrs. Sid. Lindsay, was enjoyed. Two great grandmothers were present: Mrs. Ira Annable and Mrs. Jacob Dixon. The former received a prize for being the oldest grand mother and Mrs. Fred Johnson for being the youngest. The prize for the grandmother having the most children went to Mrs. Leonard Bell.

Mrs. D. Nesbitt opened the program with all singing, "Silver Threads Among The Gold." A short history of the Continuation and High School of Winchester, written by the late Miss Susie Annable, was read by Mrs. Faye Scott. This proved very interesting. Mrs. Howard Fetterly's contribution of old time piano music was also greatly enjoyed.

The history of the familiar song, entitled: "When You and I Were Young Maggie," was given by Mrs. W. Rowat, after which all joined in singing this song. An old familiar reading, "Rock Me to Sleep Mother," was given by Mrs. Nesbitt. A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Nesbitt and her committee, Mrs. W. A. Rowat and Mrs. Faye Scott.

ORMOND B. Y. P. U.

Under the leadership of Mr. Charlie Hill, the Stewardship Committee presented Friday evening's program. Following a hymn, Mrs. N. J. Porteous offered prayer. In answer to roll call about 40 responded. We were favoured with a duet by Misses Wilda and Wilma Clark. The Scripture reading was Romans 10, and Mrs. Hubert Carkner opened a season of prayer. Special music was rendered by Miss Evelyn MacDonald.

Rev. Earl Merrick, a missionary from Bolivia, was an interesting guest speaker. All formality being set aside, he simply replied to questions asked by his audience pertaining to his mission field. In concluding he mentioned ways boys and girls could help in missionary work.

Mr. Geo. Lannin Died Yesterday

Local citizens learned with regret on Wednesday, of the sudden passing of Mr. George Lannin, highly respected citizen of this place, for the past 18 years.

Deceased had been in failing health for several months, but was able to be around until the day prior to his death. He was in his 84th year and was born in Mountain Township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lannin, where he spent most of his life, and where he was widely known as one of the district's most progressive farmers.

In 1878 he was married to the former Miss Francis Suffell, who died in 1936, a few months after they had observed their Diamond Wedding Anniversary.

The late Mr. Lannin was of a quiet nature and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. He was a member of the local United Church and took a keen interest in all religious matters.

He leaves three sons, Dr. J. C. Lannin, of Mabel Minn.; Dr. G. E. J. Lannin, of Hamilton, and Mr. Fred Lannin, Winchester; also one brother, Mr. John Lannin, and one sister, Mrs. G. Shelter, both of Rochester, N. Y.

The funeral is being held Friday afternoon from the residence of his son, Fred Lannin, Piety Hill. The service at the house and graveside will be conducted by Rev. W. S. Atchison, pastor of the United Church. Interment will be made in Knight's Cemetery.

INKERMAN W. M. S.

The October meeting of the United W. M. S. was held at the parsonage, Inkerman, with the president, Mrs. (Rev.) Burman in the chair. The meeting opened with hymn 26, "O Lord of Heaven and Earth and Sea," after which Psalm 16 was read responsively, followed by prayer by Mrs. Burman. Mrs. Ira Ennis then read the scripture taken from Isaiah.

The minutes were read, business discussed and the offering taken and dedicated by the president. A duet, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," was sung by Mrs. Arnold Suffel and Mrs. E. Brown. This was followed by hymn 669. The 1st chapter of "Moving Millions" was taken by Mrs. Ray S. Brown, who dealt with India's geographical position, its government and its demand for self-government, also a few of India's important men and women. The meeting closed with hymn 16, after which Mrs. Burman offered prayer.

UNITED W. M. S.

The October meeting was held last Thursday afternoon with the President, Mrs. F. F. Davidson, in the chair, and Mrs. W. J. Cass, secretary pro-tem. After singing the opening hymn with Mrs E. Steele at the piano, Psalm 96 was read in unison. Arrangements for Sunday night's Thankoffering service were completed. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Nichol of Ottawa. Announcement was made of the Sectional meeting on October 18th in Williamsburg United church. Reports were given by the Treasurer, Band Supt., Cor-Secretary, the Community Friendship, Literature and Temperance Secretaries.

The offerings were received by Mrs. M. McVey and Mrs. E. Merkley.

Miss Donalda Carlyle took charge of the program, which was on the new Study Book, "Moving Millions," this chapter being on "India's Rural Millions." India was described by Miss Carlyle as being 2100 miles from East to West and 1,850 miles from North to South. A questionnaire in contrasts was conducted by Miss Carlyle on India in which many took part, after which Mrs. M. McVey gave a bird's-eye view of an Indian village, and some needs of village life were told by Mrs. Wm. McVey. A reading entitled: "The Indian Road," was given by Mrs. Charles Annable. Mrs. E. Merkley told of the needs of Indian women as regards sanitation and health, and Mrs. J. W. Ault described an Indian Christian village, showing results of earnest work. A new religious faith is needed for the removal of superstitious fears.

Mrs. W. G. Buchanan, of Asquith, Sask., expressed her pleasure at being present, and brought greetings. Prayer by Miss Carlyle closed the meeting.

W. M. S. Sectional Meeting, Wmsburg

With a large attendance at both sessions, the Eastern Section of Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial met on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, in Williamsburg United Church with Mrs. W. N. Fulton presiding. After the singing of Hymn 46 for an opening, an impressive worship service was conducted by ladies of Elma Auxiliary.

Miss Smith, of Morrisburg, was appointed Secretary. Gracious words of welcome were spoken by Miss Violet Trickey, of Williamsburg, to which Mrs. Dalton Coons, of Winchester Springs, replied.

The Presbyterial President, Mrs. Geo. W. Carlyle, brought an interesting message from the recent Executive meeting of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference Branch. In closing she said: "Lift up Christ, carry on the missionary work with more zeal and interest. We have enlisted in the army of the King of Kings. This day calls us to patient, unwearying service.

"A Model Meeting" was dealt with most capably by Mrs. W. S. Atchison, of Winchester. She said such a meeting was the achievement of a society that is functioning in all aspects of the work. Strong, efficient Christian leadership is necessary.

A roll call of Auxiliaries showed that White Church and Robertson's were not represented. Many good suggestions about a model meeting were given.

Mrs. W. R. Johnston, of South Mountain, described the work of the Community Friendship Secretary, urging the W. M. S. members to act kindly to the strangers and to those who are shut-in.

Members of Colquhoun Auxiliary conducted devotions at the opening of the afternoon session on the theme "Courage," Mrs. H. Faulkner, of Morewood, told something of the nature of the C. G. I. T. work The purpose is to develop Christian character of the girls and to link them up with the Church. Her paper was wonderfully inspiring.

The guest speaker, Mrs. C. C. Smith, of Ottawa, was pleasingly introduced by Mrs. G. W. Carlyle. Mrs. Smith directed our thoughts to the wide, wide world, to look unto the hills, telling us of the work of some of our home missionaries, as well as of those in foreign lands. An earnest appeal was made to live in the spirit of love, and to be the salt of the earth, a people who know God and who intend to do His will.

A beautiful solo, "He Knows," was contributed by Mrs. Stanley Shay, of Chesterville, with Mrs. Miles Merkley accompanying.

Morrisburg Auxiliary put on a short playette, entitled: "Tithing," teaching to put God's kingdom first and that tithing is an act of worship.

This was followed with a talk on Temperance, Christian Citizenship and World Peace by Mrs. Geo. E. Earle.

Mrs. Payton, fo Morrisburg, on behalf of the Courtesy Committee, voiced the appreciation of all to those who had helped in the programme, and to the Church Board, as well as to Rev. and Mrs. Adey. Mrs. W. N. Fulton, in a few closing thoughts, said she had realized the presence of God throughout the day and thanked all who had so kindly assisted her.

An invitation to meet in Morewood next year was extended by Miss Ellice Smith. This was accepted. The Mizpah Benediction closed a successful meeting. Lunch at noon was served by the Wiliamsburg ladies. Mrs. Adey presided at the organ throughout the day.

WEDDINGS

CARKNER—BARRIE

A wedding of local interest took place at St. Paul's Presbyterian manse on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Ethelwyn Gladys Barrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Barrie, of Chesterville, was married to Austin N. Carkner, of Ormond, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Carkner of Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Turner.

The bride was attired in a smart model of Empire blue silk velvet, fashioned with a high neckline and full-flaring street length skirt. The gown was trimmed with metallic shirring and the accessories were in blending tones. A corsage of roses completed the bride's costume.

Miss Helen Barrie, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a peacock blue street length dress, with matching accessories. The groomsman was Cecil N. Carkner, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with only immediate relatives present.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Carkner left on a motor trip to Northern Ontario. On their return they will reside near Ormond.

WYLIE—JOHNSTON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church manse, Hallville, on Saturday, October 14th, at 6 o'clock, by Rev. G. Beatty, when Ruth Mildred, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alva Johnston, became the bride of Delbert Stewart, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wylie, of Hallville.

The bride wore a street length dress of Japonica crepe with matching accessories, and was attended by her sister, Elizabeth Johnston, of Mountain. Mr. Charles Andrews, of Ottawa, acted as groomsman.

After the ceremony a dinner was served to some sixteen guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Adams, following which the young couple left for a short motor trip.

CONCENTRATES

There is considerable interest in Concentrates this year. People are inquiring about them. Some have fed Concentrates for years and others have not used them very much.

A suitable Concentrate added to a good quality grain, thoroughly mixed in recommended proportions, certainly will give the desired results so far as the meal ration is concerned.

The average herd of Dairy Cows or Poultry Flock is forced to produce much more than nature intended them to. To keep up this forced production they must be provided with more protein, minerals etc., than are contained in the ordinary grain. Grains like Barley, Oats and Wheat will not average more than 12% protein. Most meal mixtures for milk or egg production are supposed to have at least 16% or 18% protein.

That a straight grain ration does not have the minerals that a cow needs is indicated by the way she will look for bones, leather or anything like that she can get to chew at.

We have heard a lot about Vitamins—something that few of us know very little about, but it has been definitely proven that there is a lack of certain qualities in a feed that can be supplied with Cod Liver Oil and other ingredients rich in these Vitamins.

Concentrates are made to supply those things that straight grain feeds lack.

HERE ARE CONCENTRATES WE HAVE IN STOCK:

X-L-O Poultry Concentrate
35% Protein

Big 50 Poultry Concentrate
50% Protein

X-L-O Dairy Concentrate
28% Protein

Shur Gain Dairy Concentrate
35% Protein

Shur Gain Hog Concentrate
41% Protein

Anyone can figure the amount of Concentrate to use. Take the X-L-O 28% Dairy Concentrate. Suppose an 18% ration is required.

100 lbs. X-L-O Dairy Concentrate has 28 lbs. protein. 150 lbs. Ground Mixed Grain at 12% has 18 lbs. protein. These two combined—250 lbs of Mixture will have 46 lbs. protein. 100 lbs. of the Mixture will have 18.4 lbs. protein or well over 18% protein in the ration.

Where grain is none too heavy it may be well to add Wheat or Corn to the mixture to give it weight and lower the percentage of fibre.

READY-MIXED FEEDS

X-L-O Laying Mash,
XXX Laying Mash
XXX Laying Mash with Cereal Grass
X-L-O 18% Dairy Ration
X-L-O Scratch Feed
X-L-O Pig Starter
X-L-O Pig Grower

Our prices on these feeds have not been raised to present market values. It will pay to inquire about prices and put in enough stock to at least take care of immediate needs.

INCOME TAXES IN ENGLAND !

Those Canadians who have to pay taxes on their incomes, can consider themselves lucky. They are only a "drop in the bucket," compared with the taxes levied against salaries in England.

Under the British wartime income taxes recently annnouced, all classes except the wage earners of less than $1,000 a year will have to contribute. Those in receipt of $1,200, per annum will pay $112 if single, $60 if married and without children, and $20 if there is only one child. At $2,000 a year the levies are $348 single, $244 if no children, $168 one child, and $108 if two children. Naturally it is the higher brackets that the heaviest levies are made. Those in receipt of $4,000 a year will contribute approximately $800; the $6,000 class $1,600; $8,000 class over $2,000; the $12,000 class $4,000; the $20,000 class $8,000; the $40,000 class, $20,000; the $80,000 class $52,000; the $200,000 class $152,000; the $400,000 class $320,000 and the $600,000 class $492,000. In these instances the rates apply about equally to single and married people with or without children.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY!

For the benefit of some local citizens, who are inclined to talk rather carelessly at times, we publish a clause from the "Defence of Canada Regulations, 1939." It says: "No person shall by word of mouth:—(a) spread reports or make statements, false or otherwise, intended or likely to cause disaffection to His Majesty or to interfere with the success of His Majesty's forces or of the forces of any allied or associated Powers or to prejudice His Majesty's relations with foreign Powers, or (b) spread reports or make statements, false or otherwise, intended or likely to prejudice the recruiting, training, discipline, or administration of any of His Majesty's forces."

How Premier Duplessis, premier of Quebec Province, gets away with some of the statements he has been making during his election campaign, is more than we can understand. At least, from our interpretation of the above regulations, he is guilty of violating them, when he openly condemns the Dominion Government's War Policy.

A LYING NEWSPAPER COLUMNIST

General Hugh Johnson, former director of the defunct National Recovery Act in the United States, is a newspaper columnist on the side.

In a recent article he painted a horrible picture of the way Canadians are hemmed in, regimented, dictated to, gagged and bulldosed by war time government restrictions.

According to him "Hitler is a piker and Mussolini a maundering monk" compared with the dictatorship set up in Canada.

He even tells an American Legion convention in Chicago that freedom of the press is a thing of the past in this Dominion.

It is the kind of trash Johnson prints in his newspaper column that makes one wonder, at times, if the press hasn't too much freedom. It is this kind of drivel that will eventually bring about some kind of control over the press.

Johnson is a plain, wilful liar, because he is in a position to know that the situation in Canada is not as he paints it. No wonder the National Recovery Act was a putrid failure in the United States with a big-mouthed fool like Johnson trying to administer it, says the Almonte Gazette.

WARS AND EPIDEMICS

It is said that the Persians under Xerxes were defeated in their invasion of Greece by plague and dysentery. In all of the wars from that time to the Great War of 1914-18 disease was as deadly a foe as the munitions of the enemy.

In a recent American book on "Disease in Military Campaigns," Lieut.-Col. Nelson Mercer says that the United States losses in the last war were 58,119 from disease and 50,385 were killed or died of wounds. A large percentage was from the influenza epidemic of 1918. By that time, typhoid had been brought under control and there were only 2,200 cases among more than 4,000,000 soldiers and there were only 200 deaths.

During the Spanish American War, typhoid caused 20,904 cases and 2,188 deaths. That war in which 379 men died in battle, was responsible for 4,995 deaths from disease, most of the troops never reaching Cuba.

Similar stories of epidemics have come down from previous wars. In 1741, because of a typhus epidemic among the Austrian defenders of Prague, the French were able to capture that city. Later Napoleon had to retreat from Moscow because of typhoid, typhus and pneumonia.

In the United States war with Mexico in 1846-47 of 100,000 American soldiers only 1,549 were killed or died of wounds, while 10,986 died of typhoid, dysentery, smallpox, malaria or tropical diseases. In the Civil War, the Union Army lost approximately 200,000 men by disease and 112,000 from wounds.

FIEND OF THE CURB

Among all the fiends that torment mankind a foremost place must be given to the expert in iniquity who slyly puts handbills between the windshield and the windshield wiper of parked automobiles.

How the ticket-simulating fiend must chuckle at his victim's intense concern! There is no doubting the fact that this form of advertising hits an all-time high in reader interest. In the cities, the motorist practically runs to his car, and with trembling fingers he pulls the handbill-that-looks-like-a-ticket from its resting place between the windshield and the windshield wiper. The miserable wretch shakes before the power of this advertising.

But there is a happy ending to this tale. Justice triumphs in that the guilty, law-breaking motorist finds it isn't a police ticket after all and that he doesn't lose those two dollars. Injustice is defeated in that the advertiser who has spent money on the handbill gets no benefit from it at all.

WHAT CANADA EXPECTS OF YOU!

Following are some of the things that Canada expects of the Canadian people while the country is at war with Germany, as published in the Leamington Post & News.

Canada expects every taxpayer to cheerfully shoulder the burden of added taxes imposed by the government to save the world from Hitlerism.

Canada expects every business man to refrain from profiteering or any transaction intended for personal aggrandisement from the war situation.

Canada expects every citizen to make an equal sacrifice without complaining .

Canada expects that its citizens will refrain from any disloyal or unpatriotic utterances throughout the war.

Canada expects of its politicians and statesmen a truce from political warfare and an armistice on partisanship for the weal of all.

Canada expects the men and women of this country to leave the running of the war to those best qualified to do it. Canada does not want, or need, armchair generals.

Canada expects tolerance towards those of our citizens who were formerly citizens of countries with whom we are now at war. If they are loyal Canadians they are entitled to equal rights.

Canada expects of citizens of foreign birth loyalty and devotion to the country which has given them haven and which provides them with a living.

Canada expects the men of this country to heed the call to active service as and when their services are required.

Canada expects every man, woman, boy and girl who is able to render faithful and willing service in the interest of the survival of our great democratic institutions.

Canada expects the cheers that greeted our King and Queen last summer to be now transformed into loyal service to those ideals which the royal family symbolizes.

Canada, in short, expects, as Lord Nelson expected, that every man will do his duty.—God Save the King!

EDITORIAL NOTES

A new oasis has been discovered on the planet Mars, which would be an excellent place in which to segregate Hitler when the war is over, says the Brockville Recorder & Times.

Shoppers need not expect to find too many bargains in the stores these days. Soaring prices and the scarcity of certain lines of merchandise are causing the business man plenty of worry these days, as he strives to keep his stock up to pre-war standards.

Who knows but that this war may bring some real benefits to Canadian farmers, even if they do come disguised as part of Canada's contribution to the Motherland. Co-ordinated national food production, controlled distribution, and sensible marketing regulations are what co-operatives have been seeking for years. Our national patriotism should turn the trick this time.

In order to convince Fire Chief Harold Keyes that local public students knew the rudiments of fire drill, a rehearsal was held for his benefit last Friday. The youngsters were lined up and marched from the building in one minute and ten seconds, without any confusion. The chief was quite satisfied with the precision of the fire-drill, but is somewhat alarmed over the absence of fire escapes.

Hitler says France and England rejected his outstretched hand for peace. That's right, they rejected it "for peace." Had they accepted his hand, it would have only meant a temporary pause, while he planned another war of aggression against some other European nation. In our way of thinking, Mr. Hitler has reached the top of the ladder. From now on he'll back down, one step at a time, and when he reaches the bottom, he'll be so small in the eyes of Germany and the rest of the world, that he will be able to hide in a match box.

BLITZKRIEG VS. TRUTH

"Herr Hilter intimates in his strident way that he could teach the British government something about propaganda. The charge interests us because our business is in part concerned with the propagation of ideas and principles," says the Printed Word.

"Propaganda," itself is a respectable word. None more so. There is the College of Propaganda composed of cardinals of the Church of Rome and an old and honoured organization of the Church of England is the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. From the Latin "propagatus," to propagate is "to cause to continue or multiply," and "propaganda" basically is the means whereby doctrines or sets of principles are disseminated.

"Since 1914 this word of ancient religious respectability has developed a sinister connotation. Bluntly, propaganda as envisioned by Hitler is the ramming of lies down the throats of gullible citizens of one's own country or other countries or all countries. In that activity it is comforting to find that so great an authority as Hitler believes that British leaders to whom we look for guidance and leadership are lacking in skill. It probably never has occurred to him that the government of a democracy cannot be successful in disseminating untruths. And deep in our loyal bones we feel that our statesmen do not wish to do so on fundamental questions at least.

"Official utterances since late August again demonstrate that the man or government which lies has some advantages. The liar is never hampered by facts. Experience has shown that there are gullible hearers always. It is a much longer task, and one requiring the exercise of patience, to catch up with all the lies. Those who have been misled are reluctant to admit that they have been fooled—tragically fooled in the case of the Germans.

"Fundamental truths can be grasped by the majority. Yet destruction may overtake the nation or the great business or the individual if there is not the constant propagation of fact. Truth will prevail but lying is spectacular. A preparedness of truth will bring defeat to campaigns of misinformation, especially as the liar can expect to win only in a lightning war.

"This organization adheres to the profound truth emanating, or believed to have emanated, from that great philosopher, the late P. T. Barnum, that you can fool some of the people all the time, all the people some of the time, but not all the people all the time. We are interested in working for individuals and organizations who would constantly enlarge that group of people who are seldom fooled. Most Canadian institutions are, we believe, sincerely endeavoring to win a wide and correct understanding. We have helped and are helping in a number of instances. We can help with others."

HITLER'S DREAM

Here's a story, strange it may seem,
Of Hitler the Nazi and his terrible dream.
Being tired of his allies he lay in his bed,
And among other things he dreamed he was dead.
He was all straightened out and lying in state,
And his little moustache was frozen in hate.
He wasn't dead long when he found to his cost,
His plans and his passport to the next world were lost.

On leaving this world to heaven he went straight,
And proudly stepped up to the golden gate.
Peter looked out, and in a voice loud and clear
Said: "On your way, Hitler, you can't come in here."

So he turned on his heels and out he did go,
At the top of his speed to the regions below.
But the look-out angel was well worth his hire,
He rang through to Satan and gave him the wire.
And Satan replied: "Lads, I'm giving you a warning,
We're expecting Herr Hitler here this mornng;
Now get this straight and get this clear,
We're too blasted good for this fellow in here."

"I heard what you said, I was standing outside.
Oh, Satan, Oh, Satan," Herr Hitler cried,
Please give me a corner, I've nowhere to go."
And Satan replied, "A thousand times, NO,"
And kicked Hitler outside where he vanished in smoke.

And just at that moment Adolph awoke,
He was lying in bed all covered in sweat,
Shouting, "Doctor, oh doctor, it's my worst dream yet;
To Heaven I won't go, I know only too well,
But it's damned hard lines, when you get kicked out of Hell."

LONGEVITY OF BIRDS

(Perth Courier)

The recent claim by a farmer that he owned a hen which was ten years old has brought other stories of longevity in domestic fowls. Compared with other birds, however, hens are not long-lived. Even canaries have survived the age of twenty years, and a singing flinch has been known to live twenty-two years. Of English birds a house-sparrow once lived in captivity for seventeen years, but that feat was surpassed by a linnet which survived to be twenty-two, a goldfinch twenty-three, both a skylark and a garden warbler twenty-four, and a nightingale twenty-five years.

When a British naval seaplane was forced down in an Irish harbor, it was pointed out that as Ireland was supposed to be neutral, the aviator should be interned. But an Irish official told him to leave.

When he was asked to explain his action in permitting the British aviator to return to Britain the Irish official summed it all up in these few words. "Sure, we're neutral, but who are we neutral against?"

OVER FORTY

(Chatham News)

It is a fairly well known fact that almost one-third of the total number of men in industry are over 40 years of age. Men in this period of their life—and particularrly between the ages of 40 and 60—are really in their prime. In addition to their experience of many years in some positions they still have the buoyancy and comparative freshness of youth. Their optimism is tempered with a certain amount of conservatism—but there's no doubt as to value of their contribution in worthwhile suggestions as well as in the steadying influence they have over younger and inexperienced youth.

$10 FINE IN FATAL MOTOR ACCIDENT BRINGS THE LAW INTO CONTEMPT

(Orillia Packet & Times)

We again feel impelled to enter a protest in the name of the public against a $10 fine in a case where reckless driving resulted in a fatal motor accident. Last June, a car crashed into another car parked on the roadside near Brechin, and as a result one woman was killed and nine other passengers in the two cars more or less seriously injured, one having his back broken. Recently, when most of them had recovered sufficiently to give evidence, the drivers of the two cars were charged with reckless driving and with criminal negligence respectively. The one who was charged with reckless driving was found guilty by Police Magistrate Longman, who held that if he had been attending to his task of driving he should have seen the parked car, whether its lights were going or not, as to which there was conflicting evidence. In passing judgment, and imposing a fine of $10, the Magistrate remarked, according to our reporter, that "the fact that the consequences of the accident were so serious had no bearing on the case, aas he was only concerned with the cause." If this is good law, then all we have to say is that it is only another instance of where law is at variance both with justice and common sense. If the penalties imposed on carelessness in driving a motor car are to be the same whether the consequences are a bent fender or a human life, then the law is so absurd as to excite contempt, and the sooner it is amended to remove such an anomaly the better.

To make matters worse, the charge of criminal negligence laid against the driver of the parked car apparently was fumbled by the Crown. In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Longman gave as his reason the failure to establish in evidence the fact that the accused was the driver of the car. In giving evidence in the other case, the man himself had admitted that he was in charge of the parked car at the time of the accident. But this evidence was given under But this evidenceve was given under the protection of the court that it would not be used against the witness himself, and could not, therefore, be considered by the Magistrate, though he had heard it. While two other occupants of the car swore they were asleep, there was a third still in the hospital, who, presumably, in default of evidence to the contrary, might have been the driver. The inference from the Magistrate's judgment is that if such evidence had been submitted he would have found that there had been criminal negligence.

The net outcome of the two cases is that a motor accident in which a mother lost her life, and in which there was reckless driving on the part of one driver and at least a presumption of negligence on the part of the other, results, as far as the criminal law is concerned, in a fine of $10 and costs. How is the need for care in driving to be impressed on the careless motorist if the courts allow the impression to get abroad that the snuffing out of a human life is, in the eyes of the law, scarcely so serious a crime as chicken stealing?

PLAN FOR HALLOWE'EN

(Picton Times)

Now is a good time for seasonable youngsters and their trusted leadership to go into a huddle and plan the Hallowe'en plays and entertainments. Put a drive on for good citizenship honours and all right-minded boys and girls will want to be in the line-up.

Having fun on Hallowe'en is all right. The right kind of fun is good any time and dressing in funny clothes and wearing masks and playing pranks have had a place in Hallowe'en fun for a long time.

But youngsters who can't tell the difference between harmless fun and destructive fun need advice. Most up-to-date, modern boys and girls value their good citizenship and they need only to be helped a little to get the right point of view. Good citizens know that nice things ought not to be spoiled. There is no fun in scratching shiny automobiles or smudging windows with soap. That is not good fun which causes others loss and annoyance.

But wise parents and teachers and recreation leaders know it is not fair to take one kind of fun away from the boys and girls without helping them to find another and better kind of fun. That is the explanation of the general movement to provide harmless celebrations of Hallowe'en for all young people. Plans should now be made all over the country for such entertainments. They offer fine opportunities for safeguarding property and helping the youngsters.

BUY BRITISH

(Carleton Place Canadian)

There never was a time in many years when Canadian people should be urged so much as today to buy British goods. Every dollar Canadians spend with Britain enables the mother country to further finance the present war, and goodness knows it is costing the British people plenty. We may think our taxes high, but they are not to be compared with those being levied in the motherland. It behooves us to buy British.

AN UNNECESSARY ELECTION

(Brantford Expositor)

To say the very least the campaign which Premier Duplessis is conducting is unpatriotic, and it will be strange indeed if he is able to persuade the majority of the electors in Quebec to follow his banner. His decision to hold an election was so unnecessary that it may place him at a disadvantage in the struggle. In his desire to play politics he may have over-reached himself and invited defeat.

LATE MRS. JOHN H. BOEKENOOGEN

(Contributed)

A long and useful life came to a peaceful close on October 10th in the passing of Mrs. John H. Boekenoogen,, of Santa Cruz, Calif. She was born on Maple Grove Farm, June 19th, 1861, the daughter of the late George Mulloy and Mary Elizabeth Mulloy. Leaving her parental home in 1882 she visited her sister, Mrs. Margaret Beatty, and brother, George Mulloy, in Gonzales, California. On October 20th, 1885, she was married to John Boekenoogen, and to them were born seven children. For over thirty years they have resided in Santa Cruz, and four years ago they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, repeating their vows with the same minister officiating as in 1885. On four occasions she visited her old home here and was well known in Winchester. Besides her husband, four sons, three daughters and six grandchildren, in California, two brothers, Fred A. Mulloy of Mountain, and Knox Mulloy of Waddington, N. Y., survive, besides her two sisters, Mrs. John C. Lazier, of Gonzales, Calif., and Miss Pearle Mulloy, who were with her during her illness. She was lovingly cared for by her daughter, Mary Lou, and her sister, Pearle Mulloy, both graduate nurses.

A younger sister of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Robinson, the late W. J. Mulloy, the late Mrs. Martha Reid, the late Mrs. Katherine Dickson, the late Mrs. Clem Clugston, the late Will Mulloy and the late Col. Mulloy, she leaves many nieces and nephews, among whom are: Mrs. Chester Timmins of Winchester, Mrs. George McEwen of Ottawa, and Mrs Hume Grisdale, of Iroquois. Mr. Geo Earle, of Winchester, is a cousin, as are Miss Kate and Mr Dan McDougal, of Inkerman.

The funeral services were conducted from the First Methodist Church, Santa Cruz, of which she was a member, and at which her devoted family, sorrowing neighbors and hosts of friends paid final tribute to a beautiful life of service. The service was conducted by her former pastor, Rev. Frank Klise Baker, D. D., whose wife is a cousin of the deceased, and a former resident of Winchester. The pall bearers were her four sons, Beatty, LeRoy, Lawrence and Cecil, and two nephews, John A. and Henry Boekenoogen. She was buried in the Mausoleum in Santa Cruz cemetery.

Every man wishes to write a book. The idea is to tell the world what a wonder he has been or to get even with those who hurt him.

THE POET'S CORNER

THE SPIRIT OF 1939

Once more the bugle calleth,
The battle flag's unfurled,
The sounds of war appaleth
The nations of the world;
Great Britain's sons and daughters,
Allied with those of France,
Would halt the ruthless slaughters,
The tyrant's fierce advance.

The insane lust for power,
The selfish greed for gain,
Increasing hour by hour
Till all appeals are vain,
Has made the weaker nation
Decide which course is right,
Submit and face oppression,
Or risking death to fight.

The craven heart may quaver
Seeking from war release,
May hesitate and waver,
Accept the tyrant's peace;
Not so the man of mettle
Whose heart is true and brave,
Better to die in battle
Than live a cringing slave.

Rise up, nor fear his taunting,
Go forth the foe to meet,
In faith that knows no daunting
That will not own defeat.
Let courage and persistence
Win for you war's release,
And stern and grave resistance
Gain you a noble peace.

—A. S. H. Cree.

GROWTH

What happens to the infant small
When five-months-old begins to crawl?
And where has vanished five-months-old
When the first year away has rolled?

Jesting, I said, when she was four:
"Our pretty three-year-old's no more;
We'll never in the years to be
Behold again that child of three.

"At midnight as the bells are tolled
We'll lose our lovely three-year-old.
Tomorrow, cuddled in her bed,
We'll wake a four-year-old instead."

Well, what becomes along life's way
Of all the vanished yesterdays,
And where is all our youthful crew
Which into men and women grew?

Where is the lad who didn't die
But walks the world today as I,
Quitting forever youth's bright stage
To trudge through paunchy middle-age?

Since growth is change succeeding change,
Is such a fancy much too strange;
That until comes Death's killing frost
No age is ever wholly lost.

—Edgar Guest.

MY CREED

—To do my best
When worse seems easiest,
To bear the ills of daily life
With patient cheerfulness,
Nor waste good time recounting them;

To talk of hopeful things
When doubt is in the air,
To count my blessings
Often, giving thanks,
And to accept my sorrows silently,

Nor question why I suffer;
To accept the whole of life
As one perfected plan,
And welcome each event
As part of it,

To try—and try again. To trust, to pray,
For larger usefulness
And clearer sight.
This is right living,
Pleasing in God's sight.

—Dorothy Sproule.

A RAINY DAY

Rainy days are lovely days
For those who take them right
If one just takes it properly
And looks at the wonderful sight.

On a calm and rainy day
How still the trees do stand
And wait for the silvery raindrops
To give them a silver-green blend.

All the flowers look so much brighter
Even the birds don't mind a shower
When the gray dust is washed off
To cool their hot wings off.

The rain has stopped,
The sun through the clouds is peeping out.
All over the sky little pearls are flying
That seem to come out of some unseen spout.

Now all of a sudden
The pearls are forming an arch so gay
All over the new green world
That used to be so dusty and gray.

And now the world is wrapped in color
All around from every side
And no one can help it whether they want to or not
And see the wonderful sight.

—Gerda Reinhardt Ruthven.

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks by

Barbara Lynn.

BE WELL-ARMED!

Beautiful hands and arms are among the most effective weapons of any woman's battery of beauty. Here are some helpful hints on their care and grooming.

If you have angular arms, massage them with turtle oil every night. For heavy or fatty arms, try a vigorous pinching massage, using talc powder.

To keep your wrists supple and slender, try this exercise daily: Hold the right arm firmly below the wrist with the left hand. Rotate hand and wrist in a wide circle, without moving the arm, which must be held firmly. Change hands and repeat.

The elbows should be white and softly rounded. Whenever you cream your face or hands, dab a little into your elbows. This helps enormously to smooth them. Dark, rough elbows can be transformed by giving them a nightly scrub with a bland olive oil soap and warm water, then applying peroxide and finally massaging with cream.

Give your hands a coating of lemon juice once a week. And to help keep your hands and arms smooth and soft, wash them regularly with gentle soothing palmolive soap, which is a beautifying treatment by itself.

Any tendency to gooseflesh caused by clogging pores can be chased away with a flesh brush and cream, following a good massage with warm olive oil.

Write for a copy of my new booklet or Beauty Care which covers most beauty problems, enclosing four one-cent stamps. Ask about your personal problems, too, in confidence. Address: Miss Barbara Lynn, Box 75, Station B, Montreal, Que.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

1. When a man invites a girl to dine isn't she privileged to order freely whatever she wants?
2. Does a well-bred person boast about his possessions, his home, his income and the like?
3. It is ever permissible to whisper in public?
4. When a girl goes to a party with a young man who is a stranger to all the guests, how should she introduce him?
5. Isn't a girl, still under age, privileged to issue an invitation to her home?
6. Should a woman take her partner's arm when entering the dining-room, at an informal dinner?

Answers

1. Certainly; but unless she knows that her escort can afford it, she should not be too extravagant in her choice. Even if she knows that the cost is not to be considered, it is not good form to order as though she were starving, or that it is the first "real meal" she has had for a long time.
2. Never. This is a habit often indulged in by the nouveau riche, but a well-bred man or woman never refers to his possessions. The old proverb says, "Every fool is in love with his own bauble."
3. No. Persons near you may think you are commenting on their appearance.
4. Introduce him to the hostess, who will, if she knows her duty, introduce him to the other guests.
5. It is better for the mother to do so until the girl is of age.
6. No; she should merely walk at his side.

LIGHT COMES AGAIN TO BLINDED VETERAN

For five years Peter Cresswell, an ex-soldier, of Bertram St., Birtley, England, was blind. Now he can see again.

He owes his sight to an unknown benefactor. For three days and nights after the operation which restored his sight, Cresswell was closely watched. The slightest touch, even a cough, might have shattered the vital part of the eye which the surgeons had brought to life.

Crosswell was injured in France during the war. Five years ago his left eye was removed, and then he lost the sight of his right eye.

An anonymous benefactor had him taken to Newcastle infirmary and examined by J. S. Arkle and H. V. Ingram, noted ophthalmic surgeons, and with his consent the delicate operation was performed.

Memory and conscience never agreed and never will agree about forgiving injuries.

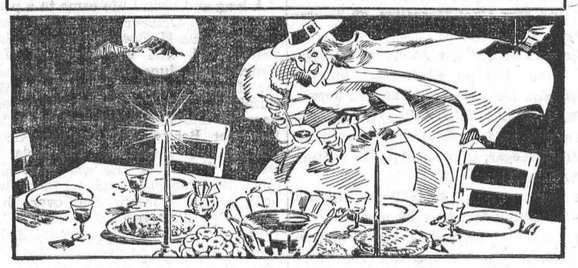
Betty Barclay's Hallowe'en Helps



You all know what Hallowe'en represents. You all know how novel dishes are needed to make the party a success. So here are some recipes — my contribution to this year's festivities. Incidentally, the recipes are good, long after Hallowe'en is over.

Sweet Dreams Punch

4 cups freshly made, chilled decaffeinated coffee
1½ pints ice cream
Grated nutmeg

Pour the decaffeinated coffee over a pint of ice cream in a punch bowl or big mixing bowl, and blend lightly with an egg beater until the ice cream is partly melted. Sprinkle with grated nutmeg. Vanilla, coffee, or chocolate ice cream combines well with the coffee flavor.

To make decaffeinated coffee by the percolator method, use 1 heaping tablespoon decaffeinated coffee, regular grind, for each cup (½ pint) of cold water. Pour cold water into pot. Set percolator basket in pot and put coffee in it. Cover. Let percolate slowly and gently 15 to 20 minutes. (For a 4-cup percolater use ¾ cup coffee.)

Lima and Ham Loaf

1 cup cooked, dried Limas
½ cup ground ham
¼ cup chili sauce or catsup
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Rub Limas through a coarse strainer. Add ham, chili sauce, eggs, pepper, salt, minced onion, butter and cracker crumbs. Shape into a loaf, place in a buttered pan in a moderate oven (360° F.) and bake for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with the melted butter. Serve with brown gravy.

Orange Frosted Doughnuts
(For 24 doughnuts)

Allow 1 good sized doughnut for each guest. Frost with orange-tinted icing made by creaming together well:

3 tablespoons butter
2 cups powdered sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Orange vegetable coloring, as needed

Magic Butternut Pie

1⅓ cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
2 eggs, separated
1 cup butternut meats, or other nut meats
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
Unbaked pie shell (8-inch)

Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk, beaten egg yolks and finely chopped butternut meats. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in moderately slow oven (325° F.) 25 minutes or until set. Cover with meringue made by beating egg whites until stiff and adding sugar. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes or until meringue is brown.

Every Farmer Should Make Careful Survey, Says Hon. J. G. Gardner

A recommendation to every farmer in Canada to make a careful survey this fall of his farm project in view of the demands that the war may make necessary at any time is made in the following statement issued by Hon. James G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture:—

The question of increased production requirements in Canada—what commodities will be required and in what quantities—is not an easy one to answer at this moment. The situation, however, may clarify itself with alarming suddenness, at which time a more definite policy would become possible.

Yet for the farmer, this fall may prove to be the most significant fall season for many years. On the thoroughness of this fall's preparation will depend in a more vital way than ever before the quality, quantity, and cost of his final product a year hence—whether this take the form of field crops marketed as such, or of farm crops marketed through cattle, dairy products, sheep, wool, poultry products, or last, but far from least, hogs.

Not for many years has there been an autumn when a most careful survey of the whole farm project may be more vitally important from national as well as self-protective considerations. We shall be too busy to do this next spring It may be too late next fall.

Three considerations deserve urgent and immediate attention:

Grain Crops And Feed Supplies

1. Crop plans for next yeaar will govern the scope and character of this fall's operations. In Eastern Canada and British Columbia it may be well to insure adequate feed supplies for an intensive production of hogs or of dairy or poultry products. A few extra acres of grain on Eastern farms should therefore be seriously considered. Conversely, Prairie farmers will probably find that the marketing of surplus and low-grade wheat and coarse grains will net higher returns through hogs, cattle and poultry. Necessary modifications, additions, and changes in the work on the land this fall may yet be made to take care of the contemplated increases or changes in marketing.

Live Stock.

2. This is one fall season when surplus or unproductive or poor-type live stock has a special significance. During most fall seasons such stock must be marketed at sacrifice prices. At present price levels, however, animals falling into these classes can be liquidated at fair returns, and the opportunity thus presented should be grasped. In other words, this is a good time to bring up the satndard of herds and flocks, to reduce feed consumption and costs, and at the same time to obtain a return higher than can usually be counted upon when culling work is undertaken. A critical look at every beast on the farm at this time may pay interesting future dividends. On the other hand, the retaining of all good young stock of the right type, as for example extra good young sows and well-developed ewe lambs, should not be neglected.

Early Consideration of Seed Requirements.

There will be time this winter for general seed cleaning, a check-up on machinery and equipment, and the consideration of the many details connected with preparations for next season's crop. But of paramount importance is what happens on the farm in the next few weeks. Seed supplies generally are likely to be adequate. Certain disease-resistant sorts of wheat, oats and barley and disease-free seed potatoes, however, are still limited, and any substantial export of them would leave us short. Securing supplies of these well in advance this year is wise practice.

As a final word it is important that those who can maintain their present position or improve it in hog production should do so. Bacon, hams and fats are bound to be required in greater volume if the war continues.

It is also important that farmers should not change at this time from cheese to butter production. The uncertainty of the position in relation to the British market makes it impossible to advise as to price levels in either cheese or bacon but one thing is certain and that is that both cheese and bacon production wil' have an important bearing on Canada's food effort. We can be assured that when the matter is fully considered British and Allied consumers will give fair returns for essential products.

As the general situation becomes clearer, provincial organizations will be mobilized to guide and stimulate production in accordance with known needs, such organizations in turn enlisting the services of existing producers' associations. Meanwhile, each province, with its organized Department of Agriculture, its agricultural schools and colleges, and, closely associated with these in the provinces, officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture—field men, inspectors, district officers, and staffs of Dominion Experimental Farms—have a wealth of information. It would be wise to consult with them this fall.

WORLD WAR VETERANS WILLING TO SACRIFICE PARTS OF PENSION

Unable to fight again, two disabled Canadian veterans of the Great War have asked the Government to withhold a portion of their monthly veteran's allowance until peace is restored, as their personal contribution to the successful prosecution of the recent conflict.

This was revealed in letters to the War Veterans' Allowance Board, where both cases have been brought to the attention of the Pensions Minister, Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie.

The Government will honor the offers by accepting them, but both veterans have been assured that their full allowances will be restored on request.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Collars and Cuffs

Collars and cuffs can be made very glossy by the addition of a few drops of turpentine to the starch.

Brush Bristles.

Dipping the bristles of a brush into a solution of equal parts of milk and water will stiffen them.

Polishing Silver.

Silver may be polished by placing it in a pan of sour milk. Leave it for half an hour. Then remove, scald, and wipe thoroughly dry.

The New Blankets.

When choosing new blankets select those with a thick nap, fluffy and closely woven, as they hold the air in their meshes and are warm.

Enamelled Range

Never try to wipe off the enamelled range with a wet cloth while it is still hot. The fine enamel surface may become marred by unsightly cracks.

Stuffed Peppers

It is a wise plan always to rinse out the peppers with clear cold water, after having removed the centres and membrane. This insures the removal of all the seeds. One seed left in the stuffing can spoil the delicacy of the entire dish.

Care of Furniture.

When the furniture has become so dried that it refuses to take a polish, apply with a soft cloth a solution made of three parts linseed oil to one part turpnetine. After this, wipe with a cloth which has been dampened with alcohol, and let stand for a few minutes.

Restoring Chiffon

If chiffon has acquired that crumpled and lifeless appearance, it may be restored by hanging it in the bathroom and letting the bathroom fill with steam After a few minutes of this, the chiffon can be taken into the open air, where it will return to its bright freshened condition.

Hair Dye

There is really no quick and easy method of ridding the hair of dye. The best thing to do is to cut off the dyed ends as much as possible and once a week to rub the scalp thoroughly with very warm olive oil. Saturate the hair with the olive oil and leave it on at least half an hour. Then shampoo with a pure mild soap.

WAS SALVAGE MASTER

News published recently of the sinking of the British steamship "Firby" off the Scottish coast by a German submarine was of especial interest to a Brockville resident, Patrick F. Squibb, well known marine engineer. It will be recalled that before the sinking of the "Firby" the commander of the German submarine sent an S.O.S. to the First Lord of the Admiralty, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, giving the location of the occurrence and also furnished the "Firby's master with "a stiff drink," nine loaves of black bread, and three rolls of bandages for four crewmen wounded by shells. The "Firby's" crew of 40 spent 13 hours in lifeboats. On reading the article in the Recorder and Times, Mr. Squibb recalled the name of the "Friby" with familiarity. Searching his log-book he found records showing he had been salvage master of an expedition by the S.S. "Foundation Franklin" out of Rimouski, Que., on June 25, 1932, which proceeded to Badore Bay ledge, off Anticosti Island, and salvaged the "Firby" which had gone ashore while carrying a cargo of grain. Mr Squibb's log book contains a full description of the salvaging operations.

DOCTORS ARE PUZZLED BY THE CONDITION OF BOY

George Pickering, 6-year-old son of a movie theatre commissionaire, in Loughborough, England, is puzzlnig all doctors and specialists who have seen him.

More than six weeks ago he became ill, unable to digest his food. He has become emaciated and every day he becomes weaker. No one has been able to find out why.

"Only his pluck keeps him alive," his father said. "We have tried dozens of special foods without success.

"My wife and I have sat almost every night until the early hours reading medical books to try to find a clue to his complaint.

Mr. Pickering's fellow workers have subscribed to a fund to buy the boy toys.

What's in a Name?

By Frances Lee Barton

THE recipe below is called "Chocolate Cottage Pudding," but to me "Chocolate Mansion Pudding" would be equally appropriate. The pudding is economical enough to be served in the most humble cottage but delicious enough to grace the table of our most elaborate mansion.

Chocolate Cottage Pudding

1¼ cups sifted cake flour; 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ⅛ teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 egg yolks, well beaten; 1½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; ¼ teaspoon vanilla; ½ cup milk; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add egg yolks and beat thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased pan, 8x8x2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (325° F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Late Mrs. Morley R. Sullivan

After a long illness, there passed away at her home at Hulbert. Cora Pearl Sullivan, daughter of the late William Ross and Mary Shaver, in her 54th year. Her entire life was spent in the vicinity of Hulbert. In 1913 she married Morley R. Sullivan, and to this union were born five children, two of whom survive, Lola and Lyle, both at home. Besides her husband and two children, she leaves to mourn her loss, one brother, Arthur Ross, also of Hulbert; two sisters, Orissa Ross and Mrs. Chas. Anderson (Nellie) predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from her late residence to Hulbert United Church, where she had been an active member all her life. Her minister, Rev E. C. Lacey, chose as his text: "There shall be no more death, nor crying nor suffering." The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mac Elis, and augmented by members of the choir of Brniston United church, rendered the anthem. "Jesus Promised Me a Home Over There," a favourite requested by the deceased.

The numerous floral tributes and the many friends gathered to pay their last respects bespoke of the high esteem in which Mrs. Sullivan was held. Interment was made in Brinston cemetery.

FARMERS ARE URGED TO OBTAIN SEED NOW

In view of the present situation in Europe, it is of vital importance that every effort be made to increase crop production, particularly crops which are necessary for the sustenance of those actively engaged in the defence of the Empire, says J. D. MacLeod, Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture.

Ontario farmers have a duty to perform, that of making a special effort to produce more bushels per acre than has been customary in the past. It is possible to do this without increasing materially the costs of production by maintaining and building up soil fertility; adopting greater efficiency of implements and labor; better cultural practices and by sowing the very best seed obtainable.

Farmers are urged to make sure that they have their 1940 seeding requirements on hand. Clean and grade a sufficient amount of seed for your own use. Do not leave this important work until your bins are low. Do it now. If you have not got sufficient or suitable seed of your own, purchase high quality seed from your neighbour. This should be done while prices are reasonable and before there is a scarcity.

The sowing of clean seed is the first step in profitable farming and the first step in weed control, Mr. McLeod declares.

Clean seed should be a bright, plump, uniform sample, pure as to variety, free from all foreign matter, including seeds of other cultivated crops, diseased grains, smallshrunken grains and weed seeds.

The man who sows weed seeds is his own worst enemy and is laying down a job for his children and his grandchildren. Weeds lower yields; the quality of crops; the market value of crops and the value of farms; they rob the soil of plant food and moisture; they prevent the farmer from following a proper rotation; they attract injurious insects and fungus diseases. Some weeds and weed seeds are poisonous to livestock.

Lessons Learned In Great War Valuable In Present Conflict

Only the closer student of the history of 1914-1918, perhaps, has full understanding of the frightful figures of French losses during the opening weeks of the first Great War.

Still clad in the old red and blue uniforms—vast vivid areas of color on the landscape—the French troops threw themselves en masse against the advancing green-grey hordes.

They met, with a sublime courage and magnificent fury, a modern war machine armed with magazine rifles, machine guns and all the deadly apparatus of mechanized slaughter.

The results were appalling. The French armies received in that first battle of the frontiers wounds from which they never fully recovered during the entire four years of the struggle.

There were the lost provinces to be retaken for France—and all the pent-up emotion, all the hatred of the Prussian system instilled in French hearts, broke in a torrent through the dam of peace.

The French forces were terrible in their release against a mortal foe. Their heroism and devotion in those first few weeks of a titanic clash was a phenomenon the like of which the world had never seen beore....and may never see again.

But the price they paid was dreadful. It was 1914.....not 1870.

"In the first three months of actual fighting, from the last week in August to the end of November, when the German drive against the channel ports had come to an end and the first great invasion was definitely arrested, the French lost in killed, prisoners and wounded, 854,000 men."

And "more than four-fifths of these losses were sustained in the first shock."

Those with knowledge of these 1914 losses had a haunting fear that the French, at the opening of the 1939 struggle, might hurl themselves in force against the formidable barrier of the German Siegfried line.

But they have done nothing of the sort. Led by the cool, experienced Gamelin, they have opened their western front operations with a methodical calculation and precision that must be striking chills to the Nazi heart.

The Allies know time is on their side. They know they do not have to attempt, at the very outset, to smash their way through concrete-and-steel or sacrifice troops and equipment in a mass demonstration against German might. The time factor is the nightmare of the Nazi high command, the ally of the Allies.

The first Great War produced its lessons—and these, it is plain enough, have been learned by the staffs of the armies now going up against the path of Hitlerism in France. People who expected the Allies to mount a great offensive on the western front before the ink was dry on the declarations of war now understand the quality of Allied wisdom and relentlessness.

Close Competition For Carter Trophy

The J. E. Carter trophy, awarded to the rural school showing the greatest improvement in beautification of grounds during the year, has been won by S. S. No. 4 Cramahe, near Brighton, states J. A. Carroll, Secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Association. S. S. N. 4, Petawawa, Renfrew County, was second with 86 points and S. S. No. 21 Walpole, Haldimand County, was third with 85 points.

Following in order were S. S. No. 13, Millbrook, Durham County; S. S. No. 3, East Zorra, in Oxford; S. S. No. 5, Binbrook, Wentworth; S. S. No. 3, Guelph, at Marden in Wellington County, and S. S. No. 3, Mosa, in Middlesex.

J. F. Clark, Ont. Horticultural Association, who did the judging reports competition, was most keen and it was extremely difficult to pick a winner. He was more than pleased with the improvement in surroundings made by rural schools this year entered in the competition.

Six Horticultural districts nominated schools for final judging.

Iroquois Couple Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Ellis announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Isobel, to Mr. Lyle George Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hodge, Iroquois. The marriage will take place quietly the latter part of the month.

May Drop Entrance Exams.

Mr. V. K. Greer, chief director of Public and Separate Schools, in Ontario, forecast before the London and District Teachers' Institutes regional conference last week, that in the near future high school entrance examinations would be eliminated. Mr. Greer did not enlarge on the statement.

District Barn Burned.

A large frame barn, owned by Stewart McRae, a farmer residing about one-quarter mile west of Avonmore on the Winchester-Alexandria highway, was completely destroyed by fire, early Friday afternoon, after it had been struck by lightning. A large quantity of hay and grain, stored in the barn, also was destroyed, bringing the total loss to about $5,000.

For Silver Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkwood were honoured on the occasion of their 25th Wedding Anniversary by a delightful surprise party on Monday evening, October 9th. The guests-of-honour were presented with many lovely gifts from relatives and friends present.

The table was centred with a miniature bride and bridegroom and a handsome cake. A buffet supper was served.

Some Sugar Beet.

Mr. Gordon Baldwin, Cass Bridge farmer, presented the Press with a sample specimen of a crop of sugar beets he grew this year. The beet weighed exactly 29 pounds and measures about two feet in length and ten inches in diameter. Mr. Baldwin informed us that he had grown several roots weighing between 20 and 25 pounds. It shouldn't take too many sugar beets of this size to prepare a cow's meal!

Miscellaneous Shower.

Mrs. Myles Harper and Mrs. Donald Harper were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, tendered to Miss Tena Brown, on Friday evening last. Over 50 friends of the bride-to-be were present. Included in the gifts presented was a chest of silver. The presentation was accompanied by an appropriate address, read by Mrs. Donald Harper. Miss Brown replied, thanking her friends for the beautiful gifts, after which candy was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Illah Christie. The bride's book, which was signed by all present, was designed by Miss Jean Wyatt.

Cornwall Assizes Concluded.

With the disposal of a civil case, the Cornwall assizes were concluded on Friday. The civil action on the docket involved a promissory note. John Boyd, Ormstown, was the plaintiff, and Lyle D. Merkley, Winchester, the defendant, in an action for $2,500. Merkley, a son-in-law of the plaintiff, had entered a counter-claim for $6,000 for board and lodging, money loaned and money paid on another note. The plaintiff accepted a settlement of $1,600, and the counter-claim was dropped. Lionel Chevrier, K.C., M.P., acted for the plaintiff and Osmund F. Howe, Ottawa, for the defendant. A. E. Hall acted as agent there for the Ottawa lawyer.

New Army Boots.

The 1939 model Canadian army boot is strikingly different from the 1914-18 variety because it is black. There are other important differences, although the change from the tan boot of the last war is the most obvious. Scotch grain leather, which has been widely used in making civilian shoes, adds a somewhat dressier appearance to the army boot, while the lines of the uppers have been changed. It is still a soft-toed boot but the leather is of an oily texture and the soles are waterproof. Steel plates inserted at the heel will prevent excessive wear at that point. Cotton stitching, instead of the silk used in the 1914-18 variety, is also being used.

Work On Building Progressing.

The construction of the new wing at the south end of the Ault Creamery is proceeding at a rapid pace. Although work on the structure started only a couple of weeks ago, the sidewalls and roof are nearly completed, as well as some of the interior finishing. Constructed of granite-surfaced cement blocks, the new building is a very imposing structure and, when completed, will be one of the finest in town. It is two storeys high and measures 45 x 31 feet. The contractors are Messrs. Robert Beggs & Son. If the Ault Company's present plans materialize, the entire plant will be housed in a fire-proof building, next year. The new building will be erected of cement blocks, similar to those being used in the construction of the present structure.

Enlarging and Renovating Store.

Bessin's Big Store, in the Aaron Sweet Block, is undergoing a complete transformation at the hands of Mr. Peter McGregor, and his assistants. Mr. Bessin informed the Press this week that when the store is completed, it will provide about twenty per cent. more floor space. In addition, showcases, counters, clothes racks and the other store furnishings will be so arranged that there will be little or no waste of space. The planning of the store is being done by a prominent store architect from Ottawa, a man who is regarded as an expert in his line. Much of the space which had been used for storage purposes is being refinished and will form a part of the main store, all of which will be heated by a central heating plant which is also being installed.

Mr. Bessin states that the reason for launching on a program of expansion is due to a steadily increasing business. His one ambition is to have a store that is modern in every respect, one that, not only its owners, but the people of Winchester will be proud of, he said.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cunningham of Huntington, Que., announce the engagement of their daughter, Louisa Janet, to William Trevor Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Allison, of Morrisburg. The wedding to take place quietly early in November.

Sweet Residence Sold.

Mr. W. A. Rowat, manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank, has purchased the fine stone residence, on Main Street West, from the Aaron Sweet Estate, and will take possession following Mrs. Sweet's Auction Sale of household furnishings, which is being held on Saturday, October 28th.

Married at Williamsburg.

A quiet wedding was solemnized last Wednesday afternoon, at the Lutheran Manse, Williamsburg, when Miss Jean Sutherland McNaughton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McNaughton, was married to Curtis Roland Marcellus, only son of Mrs. Adam Marcellus and the late Mr. Marcellus. Rev. C. R. Cronmiller officiated

Infant Son Dies.

Reginald Harper, seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harper, of Mountain Township, died on Wednesday evening last. The funeral was held on Friday with a service at the house, being conducted by Rev. W. S. Atchison. During the service, Mrs. Harold Lannin sang: "When He Cometh to Make Up His Jewels." Interment was made at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Moved To Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Black and family moved to Ottawa on Monday, after residing here for the past two years. Mr. Black intends to continue his Flour and Feed Business in the city. Before leaving, he expressed his appreciation for the kindness and patronage extended him by local and district citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Black's many friends here will regret to learn of their departure.

Bridge and Euchre Party.

The Bridge and Euchre, held in the Legion Club Rooms last night, was largely attended. Prize winners were: Euchre, Mrs. Randall Wylie and Walter P. Gardner; consolations, Mrs. Walter MacDonald and Magistrate John McCormick. Bridge: Mrs. R. Bessin and Dr. D. L. MacLean; Consolations, Mrs. Olive McRae and Dr. J. A. Bean.

Proceeds of the evening will be donated to the local Red Cross Committee.

Cool Weather Prevails.

Overcoats and windbreakers have been removed from the moth balls, as local citizens don their winter garb to meet the cooler atmosphere, which has been prevalent here for the past few days. High winds, snow flurries, sleet and rain, and some frosty nights have all been included in the weather man's agenda, since the Press was last issued. All of which is just a gentle reminder that Old Man Winter will soon be with us, and that there are just 56 more shopping days till Christmas.

Presbytery's Appreciation.

The Dundas-Grenville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada at a recent meeting passed the following resolution: "That this presbytery express its appreciation of the fact that an increasing amount of space is being given to religious material in the public press and expresses the opinion that there is a demand for still more features of an inspirational nature. It is also our opinion that this demand has been somewhat embarrasssd by the war crisis with which our nation is now faced."

St. Paul's W. M. S. Thankoffering.

Miss Irene Stringer, of Lansdowne, Ont., missionary on leave from Jhansi, Central India, was the guest speaker at the W. M. S. Thank-Offering Service, held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, on Sunday evening. Miss Stringer was the second missionary to go out from Lansdowne in connection with Presbyterian Missions. Over a half century ago, Dr. Elizabeth Beatty, of Lansdowne, went to India as a medical missionary. Miss Stringer took over the mission 13 years ago and originally had 8 pupils and 20 day pupils. Today she is supervisor over 117 girls and 250 day pupils. She is principal of the Helen McDonald School for girls. During her address on Sunday night, she told an interesting story of her work in India, stressing the loyalty and devotion of the Indian children, and of their willingness to make many sacrifices to learn of Christ and His teachings.

THE UNITED CHURCH

Mr. F. J. Lewis, of Toronto, gave a stirring address on Sunday morning on behalf of the Ontario Temperance Federation. Expressing appreciation of the opening of this pulpit annually to one of their workers, he said the Temperance question is becoming increasingly an important phase of life. His talk was based on Psalm 72:8. He said the greatest assets in our Dominion are our boys and girls and the Christian home. He strongly denounced the habit of serving cocktails and spoke highly of the educational work among the young in the way of posters, essays and oratorical contests. His advice was to take heart and be encouraged to go on.

The choir, with Mr. Johnson at the organ, sang: "More Love to Thee," in which Mrs. H. Lannin took a solo part.

The Women's Missionary Society held their Autumn Thank-offering in the evening, when Mrs. F. F. Davidson presided. She was assisted by Mrs. W. S. Atchison, who introduced the guest speaker, Mrs Nichol, of Ottawa, a lady who was born in India of English parents, but who has spent the past ten years in Canada. Mrs. Nichol played on her auto-harp, and led the congregation in singing some choruses, after which she gave a very interesting address on India, taking for a text: "Am I my brother's keeper?" She gave wonderful word pictures of the country, the people, their habits, etc. So often she referred to prayer as being a great force in her life. She said that question of her text is being asked many times today.

Following the service, Mrs. Atchison invited the Executive of the W. M. S. to the Parsonage to enjoy a social hour with Mrs. Nichol. Words of appreciation to Mrs. Atchison were expressed by Mrs. W. J. Cass.
