Child Injured When Arm Goes Through Electric Clothes Wringer.

Ronnie Graham, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Graham, Centre Street, suffered painful injuries Monday morning, when his left arm went through the rollers of an electric clothes wringer, as far up as the elbow. While no bones were broken, the member was badly crushed and the muscles strained. Dr. H. S. Gross attended him.

The accident occurred while Mrs. Graham was doing the family washing. She had filled the washer with clothes and left the machine running, while she was attending to other household duties. The young lad, who was playing in the same room, climbed upon a chair near the washer and pulled the lever that started the wringer turning. His little hand at the time was resting on the rollers and the arm was drawn in as far up as the elbow before the mother could turn the wringer off.

Rangers Leading In Town League

Two closely contested games of hockey were played at the local Arena Monday night, when the four town league teams participated in a scheduled double-header.

In the first game, the Rangers divided points with the Frost and Wood team, the final score being 3-3. This is the third time this season these two teams have played each other, each game ending in a draw. The Rangers, who are still leading the league, have not yet suffered defeat.

Art Summers, Doug. MacLean and Lloyd Kenny were the F. and W. scorers. Clark Curtis led the Ranger attack with two goals, while George Elliott scored the other.

The line-ups were:

Rangers—Goal, G. Coons; def., A. Barkley and Cummings; centre, C. Curtis; wings, R. Wylie and D. Rowat; alternates, D. Melvin, H. Baldwin, K. Boyd, G. Elliott.

Frost & Woods—Goal, G. Corry; def., D. MacLean and E. Marquette; centre, L. Kenny; wings, A. Summers and B. Robinson; alternates, D. Lannin, W. Cross, D. Robinson and G. Wilson.

Second Game

In the second contest, Williamsburg shut out Metcalfe 1-0. This game was keenly contested and produced some real fast hockey. While the Metcalfe team has not yet won a game, a noticeable improvement was a feature of their play Monday night.

Ralph Casselman, Williamsburg's left-winger, scored the only goal of the game.

The line-ups were:

Williamsburg—Goal, L. Schell; def., C. Marcellus and M. Smith; centre, S. Barkley; wings, R. Casselman and F. Soucie; alternates, C. Casselman, K. Schell, H. Eamon.

Metcalfe—Goal, C. Harrison; defence, H. Quart and B. Conlin; centre, D. Craig wings, W. Conlin and W. Casserly; alternates, F. Mulvey, S. Bishop, F. Mullins and D. Morrison.

Referee—Dan O'Neil.

2. Keep all doors and windows tightly closed until arrival of apparatus.

Citizens are asked to co-operate with the brigade in the matter of ringing the church bells, as all firemen are to report at the fire hall at once.

H. S. Commencement Was Greatly Enjoyed

"The Chimes of Normandy," a light opera by Robert Planquette, was a feature of the program presented by the local high school students, at the annual commencement exercises held in the town hall on Thursday and Friday evenings last.

E. J. Spinks, B.A., principal of the school, acted as chairman, and voiced the school's appreciation to the large audience present, and who heartily applauded the students' efforts in presenting the opera, which took several weeks to prepare. So efficiently were the students trained that they mastered some of the more difficult arias of the opera with comparative ease.

Those who were heard in the dialogue parts were: Gordon Strader, Dorothy Porteous, Patti Cass, Leigh Summers, Don Rowat and Rowat Deeks. Supporting the cast was a chorus comprising some of the school's more prominent vocalists. Miss Ruth Hore, B.A., was the accompanist.

The dances presented during the opera were directed by Miss Anne Henderson, M.A., while the musical director was Miss E. Stewart, B.A. The dialogue and acting was supervised by T. J. Hawkins, B.A.

As a prelude to the opera, musical selections were rendered by the school orchestra composed of Earl Freeland, Frankie Kellogg, Stirling Dawley, Jean Hodgson and Ralph Walker.

SILLY TALK FROM THE U. S. A.

"Considerable disquietude in this country has been aroused by statements from American sources that Britain is so wedded to the idea of preserving peace that she is prepared to give Germany the right to establish an air base on Canadian territory if that will prevent war," says the Brockville Recorder & Times, in a recent editorial.

This report is said to have been made to the President by one of the ambassadors summoned to give him their views about the international situation and its repetition in a broadcast reaching this country has led to some nervousness and alarm.

Ottawa very properly brands the report as "fantastic" and a moment's thought ought to convince the average individual that such an adjective is not misapplied.

There is a popular belief throughout the United States that Canada is a mere dependency of Britain, instead of being a partner with her in the British Commonwealth, and that we are bound to do whatever Downing Street tells us we should do.

To the mentalities accepting this conception of the Empire as it is now constituted, such a silly statement as that which has been circulated about a German air base on Canadian soil would not be incredible.

The fact remains, however, that before anything of that description could be done—even if it were contemplated—Britain would have to consult with and receive the approval of the government of Canada and there is no possibility that the present government of this country would for a moment even consider Germany, or, indeed, any other foreign power being given the right to establish an air base on our territory. Nor is it possible that Britain would think of asking Canada to make such a concession.

Our proximity to the United States leaves us subject to a great deal of silly talk and conjecture, coming through the air as well as in other ways, relating to the international situation, and we have to be constantly on our guard to separate that which is true from that which is false and misleading.

When Americans ask the people of that country to believe that Britain would consent to the establishment of a German air base in Canada, or that Canada would approve of such a development, they must surely place a low value upon the intelligence of their fellow-countrymen.

THE STORY-HOUR

"Children love to hear a story told or read aloud. There is more than entertainment value in this pastime, and indeed the story hour is more than a pastime. The story hour can create a love of books, can help the children to learn about their surroundings and the world in which they live. can help them either to learn a new language, or to master the use of their native language," says the Leamington Post & News. While stories are told to children primarily for the sake of amusing them, they provide at the same time an avenue by which the children develop powers of thought and assemble knowledge. Kindergarten and nursery school teachers, librarians and many parents are aware of the importance of telling and reading stories to young children. Among many teachers and in a good many homes, the story-hour forms a definite and important part of the day's plan of activities. Great care is therefore taken in the selection of children's stories, so that they are precisely suited to the child's age and state of development. There is nowadays a wide enough variety from which the proper choice can be made. For the very young child it is important to get stories which help him to learn about his immediate environment. Children have boundless curiosity about people and things around them, and to satisfy that curiosity is an important duty and valuable opportunity for the teacher and parents. The child is continuously having experiences, and stories that help him to correlate them become milestones in his life. So are the stories which help to awaken his imagination and which teach him to know the difference between the world of reality and that of imagination. The very young child lives in a world of action and sensory experience. All day he sees new things, touches and hears them. As he grows older he begins to form mental images, and it is then important to help him to separate fact from fancy. Otherwise he becomes confused and the consequences are, both for him and for others, painful. Language is a skill that the child needs to learn. A child loves to play with words. to make sounds and construct phrases. Stories that help to teach him new words, and new ways of using them, are helping him to become creative. What stories do children like best? A recent survey showed that animal stories come first, stories about objects. such as trains, ships, etc., are second; stories about adults follow, and, curiously enough, stories about fairies are in the lower part of the list. This may be because the modern teacher and parent read or tell stories deliberately chosen for their range of educational content."

LET US GET BUSY

The following editorial note from the Carleton Place Canadian refers to a matter that is of the utmost importance to this town. It says: "No. 7 Highway was not given much consideration by Council Monday evening. This organization may have considerable influence in the routing of this Highway which is to run from Sarnia to Ottawa. Up to the present it is routed only as far as Perth and if Carleton Place does not bestir itself, the route from Perth to Ottawa may give this town the go-by. Membership in the organization and a representative at the meeting might be money well invested."

The question of the route that No. 7 Highway will take after it leaves Perth is of vital—and we use the word advisedly—interest to Winchester. The north-south highway No. 31 is of little commercial value to local business as we are located so near the Capital City. A Toronto-Montreal highway is an entirely different proposition. A motorist leaving Montreal in the morning, reaches Winchester about noon; leaving Toronto he would arrive here about 5 p.m. Meals. gasoline, groceries all enter into the picture, and considerable stimulus would be given local business places from transient traffic—IF Highway No. 7 is completed to the Quebec boundary through Winchester.

With other municipalities, of which Carleton Place is one, angling for the Highway to bend north from Perth to Ottawa, it behooves Winchester and other towns along the route including Kemptville and Chesterville, to get busy at once, or Highway No. 7 may be lost to us. Let us have action on the matter.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Halifax Chronicle raises a real point in a recent editorial note when it says: "There seeems no great provocation to send Liberals throughout Canada bolting to the forces of Mr. Hepburn. No great issue is at stake. Mr. Hepburn has raised no inspiring banners. The source of the whole difficulty is Mr. Hepburn's fixed and undisguised dislike for Mr. King."

So the Morrisburg Town Hall is to be moved at last. We were going to suggest that Reeve Broder and members of his council have a sign painted on the building this year, to read something after this fashion—"MORRISBURG TOWN HALL"—"Be it Ever So Humble, there's no place like Home!" However, we are too late, as the deadline for its removal has been set for April 1st.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, multi-millionaire owner of breweries and the New York Yankees, who died in New York last week, left an estate estimated at from $70,000,000 to $100,000,000. It sounds like a fair-sized chunk of money until you learn that the estate will have shrunk to a measly $12,000,000 after the Federal and State Governments have taken their slice in taxes. All of which goes to show that it doesn't pay to be wealthy.

Meanwhile the question will be thoroughly aired in the House of Commons, according to Mr. King. Maybe Mr. Hepburn picked a good time to go to Australia.

The opening of Parliament took place last week amid the customary pomp and ceremony. Behind the scenes, however, government officials are prepared for a heavy session. The visit of Their Majesties, the King and Queen in May next will add considerable work, while important matters such as defence. external trade, unemployment will be dealt with at considerable length.

The Chevrier Commission, which recently advocated that the Ontario gasoline tax be raised from six to nine cents per gallon, will receive little support from Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways. The Minister expressed himself as heartily opposed to any increase in the tax and rightly so.

It is obvious to even a casual observer that such an increase would seriously affect motorists in this province and substantially curtail the amount now paid by tourists who would avoid Ontario like a plague. However, if the Chevrier Commission is like most Royal Commissions, the report will be shelved and promptly forgotten by everyone concerned, which, in this instance, would be an excellent idea.

"The Voice of the Press"

BUSIEST WATERWAY

(Brockville Recorder & Times)

The average person, if asked to name the busiest waterway in the world, would probably give the Suez Canal or the Panama Canal as the answer. He would be wrong, for the busiest stretch of water is the Detroit river, 28 miles in length and connecting Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair, which carries a tonnage each year substantially greater than the Suez, the Panama and the Kiel canals put together.

It has been estimated that the Detroit river last year carried traffic totalling 80,000,000 tons, which, while great, was not its record by any means. That was reached in the year 1929 when the tonage reached 110,719,855, which means that hundreds of vessels passed up and down its muddy waters during the season of navigation.

This must draw attention to the vast amount of commerce which makes use of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system and gives it rank among the greatest waterways of the world.

ABOUT VACCINATION

(Chatham News)

The outbreak of smallpox in St. Thomas, and the fears of Chatham's Medical Officer of Health, Dr. E. A. Northwood, that it is not an impossibility for a similar outbreak to occur here, has aroused increased interest in vaccination against this dread disease.

It may be of interest to learn something about the evolution of vaccination, which has proven such a boon to humanity in protecting people against this dangerous malady. Dr. R. Cameron Stewart of Montreal in the Canadian Health Review, has performed a notable service to the public health of the country by his account of the evolution of vaccination against smallpox and by recording the earliest vaccinations performed in what is now Canada.

Jenner, who discovered vaccination in 1796 gained the idea that cowpox might prevent smallpox, from overhearing the chance remark of a dairymaid to the effect because she had had smallpox. There had long been a tradition in parts of England that inoculation with cowpox was a preventive of the, at the time, common and fatal disease smallpox. As early as 1774, according to the inscription on the headstone of Benjamin Jesty in the churchyard at Worth in Dorsetshire, this man had successfully vaccinated his wife and children with cowpox. Jenner put a vague belief on a scientific basis. He demonstrated that cowpox, which is smallpox modified by its passage through the cow, is a mild disease with a local eruption, that it may be transferred readily and safely from man to man and that it prevents smallpox.

The smallpox of India, the Far East and North Africa, is virulent. It is called variola major, while that found in Canada, the United States, England, the West Indies, Brazil and South Africa is called variola minor, also known as alastrim or ammaas.

All Canadian smallpox is not mild. In 1927, the city of Windsor, Ontario, had an outbreak of malignant smallpox. Happily through the vigilance of the local medical officer of health it was limited to 67 cases, but the character of the disease may be judged by the fact that, of the 67, 32 died within a few days after the affection appeared. We are too slack in vaccination in Canada. One of these days we may have a salutary lesson in the shape of a virulent epidemic. The only way in which this may be avoided is by having our small children vaccinated early in life. The best time is at six months of age. It should be done simultaneously with the toxoiding against diphtheria, a measure which has proved so valuable in the prevention of this malady. The article of Dr. Stewart indicates that our forebearers in this country were alive to the dangers of smallpox and that they took advantage of the discovery of Jenner.

HIGHWAY TRANSPORT IN ONTARIO

(The Ottawa Citizen)

It is of doubtful advantage to Canada to have highway transport administered provincially. while railway, waterway & airway, are administered on a nation-wide basis. Ontario's recent inquiry into the highway situation made by provincial board would be another deportation commissioners. This proposed a provincial commission under Mr. Justice Chevrier may serve further to bring out the necessity of associating the highways with the other public utilities transportation.

The Chevrier commission has recommended that Ontario should set up a provincial transport board, apparently to serve this province in the motor transport business as the Dominion is served by the national board of transpartment of government to be supported by Ontario taxpayers. It would doubtless be a busy new board, but Ontario could better set an example first by exploring the possibilities of allowing the Dominion transportation board to serve the same purpose.

There could surely be no more competent board in Canada to control highway transport rates than the present Dominion board of transportation commissioners. They should have this authority over rates in every province; but without waiting until the other provinces have been persuaded, Ontario could lead the way.

Among the recommendations of the Chevrier commission it is proposed that there should be a heavy increase in the tax on gasoline. At the present time the provincial tax is six cents per gallon. This tax rate is already excessive, but to increase it to nine cents would probably have a destructive effect on the whole automotive industry.

There is something to be said for taxing the commercial competitors of the railways. They should pay more for the use of public highways. The whole cost of the maintenance of railways has to be paid out of railway revenue. The railways are vital arteries in the national economy of Canada, but railway revenue is being depleted by the competition of highway transport. The probability is that this competition will increase—although there is no such reliability of service on the highways. The railways keep on with daily regularity when highway transport is liable to break down under adverse weather conditions.

Even so, there is no denying the commercial value of the highways. They represent a tremendous advance in transportation facilities; but the jigsaw puzzle of transport duplication in Canada cannot be solved by appointing provincial boards of transport to regulate the common carrier on the highways in a separate compartment. Railways waterways, airways and highways are inseparable parts of the whole problem of transportation costs. It would serve the interests of the Ontario taxpayers to insist upon an approach by this province to the Dominion to consider the possibilities of closer co-operation through the Dominion board of transportation commissioners.

The Poet's Corner

PRAYER OF A SPORTSMAN

(By William Lyon Phelps)

Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on in life.
I ask but a field that is fair,
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
A courage to strive and to dare;
And if I should win, let it be by the code
With my faith and my honour held high,
And if I should lose, let me stand by the road
And cheer as the winners go by.

And Lord, may my shouts be ungrudging and clear,
A tribute that comes from the heart,
And let me not cherish a snarl or a sneer,
Or play any snivelling part.
Let me say, "There they ride on whom laurel's bestowed
Since they played the game better than I."
Let me stand with a smile by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

So grant me to conquer, if conquer I can,
By proving my worth in the fray,
But teach me to lose like a regular man
And not like a craven, I pray
Let me take off my hat to the warriors who strode
To victory splendid and high.
Yes, teach me to stand by the side of the road
And cheer as the winners go by.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS!

To My British Friends.

(By J. M. Hoskins, of Chicago.)

There's a Land that bears a world-wide name,
Though it is but a little spot.
I say it is first on the scroll of Fame,
And who shall say it is not,
Of the deathless ones that shine and live
In arms, in art and song,
The brightest the whole wide world can give
To this little Land belong.
'Tis the Star of earth, deny it who can,
The Island Home of an English man.

Theres a heart that leaps with a burning glow
The wronged and the weak to defend,
And strikes as soon for a vanquished foe
As it does for a soul-bound friend.
'Tis a rich, rough Gem, deny it who can,
But this is the Heart of an English man.

There's a flag that floats o'er every Sea
No matter when or where,
And to treat that flag as ought but the free
None but the strongest dare.
For the Lion Spirits who tread the decks
Have carried the Palm of the Brave,
And that flag may sink with a shot torn wreck
But can never float o'er a slave.
Its Honor is stainless, deny it who can,
But this is the Flag of an English man.

The Briton may travel the Pole or the Zone,
And boldly claim his right,
For he calls such a vast domain his own
That the sun never sets on his Might.
Let the haughty stranger seek to know
The place of his home and birth,
A flush will spread to cheek and brow
When he tells of his native earth.
For a glorious Charter, deny it who can,
Is breathed in the words, "I'm an English man."

STOLEN CARS RECOVERED HERE

Through the efforts of Constable Herbert Helmer of Winchester, a stolen Pontiac sedan, the property of Joseph Emard, of Cornwall, was recovered on a local street last week. The car, which had been abandoned, still contained the keys of the ignition when found, and police are of the opinion that the vehicle was taken by a transient who, through fear of detection, left the car in Winchester.

Joy-riders are believed responsible for the temporary loss of an automobile owned by Hy. Bessin, which was taken from a parking spot on Main St. on Saturday night. Constable Helmer was notified and efforts were made to apprehend the culprits. Sunday morning the car was discovered near the Bessin store minus seven gallons of gasoline and undamaged except for a flat tire which evidently had blown out.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The January meeting was held Tuesday night in the Town Hall with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. O. L. Worthen, was in the chair. After singing the Ode and repeating the creed, the roll call was answered by the names of several M. L. A.'s. The minutes, as read by Mrs. W. Lannin. the Secretary, were approved. The President reported assisting the Hundred Club in the packing of baskets for Christmas cheer.

Correspondence was read regarding entries for the 1939 Ottawa Exhibition. Mrs. N. Hutt was appointed to look after this. She reported making a dress in response to a request for clothes. The President said some of the cadet uniforms had been made use of for needy families. A committee was named to plan for a social evening in order to replenish the funds in the treasury.

Attention was drawn to a "Health Institute to be held in Cornwall Jan. 25, 26 and 27, at which anyone interested is welcomed.

Owing to the absence of Miss Empey, the programme was presided over by Mrs. J. W. Ault. A community song was joined in by all. This was followed by an informative talk on legislation by Mr W. J. Cass, K.C., who classified laws as those of God and of the State. Reference was made to the two questions that are coming up to be voted on in February. The steps leading up to this situation were clearly explained, and the necessity for the addition to our High School in order that Home Economics and Manual Training may be taught, was stressed. A hearty vote of thanks was given Mr. Cass for his interesting addresss.

If Colonel Jacob Ruppert's taxable net estate totals $70,000,000—sources close to him estimate his gross worth at between $70.000,000 and $100,000,000—the federal and New York state governments will take all but approximately $12,000,000 of it in taxes. An employe of the Federal Treasury Department said the United States would collect about $46,000,000. State inheritance tax laws provide, after comparatively small exemptions, for a tax of $11,980,000.

THE ADVERTISEMENT

We rather gather the impression (and we have some ground for forming such an impression), that we are about as popular with the advertising department as Seganku at an outdoor pleasure party.

(That is a refinement of the rural expression "a skunk at a picnic.")

We are always saying something that offends an advertiser and he yells "blue murder" to the advertising department.

In other words we hand it out, and the poor old advertising department has to take it.

Just to square ourselves with the boys downstairs, we reproduce the following from the Adcaster:

"A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised mattress, under an advertised blanket and pulls off advertised pyjamas; takes a bath in an advertised tub; shaves with an advertised razor; washes with advertised soap; powders his face with an advertised powder ; dons advertised underwear, hose, shirt, collar, shoes, suit, handkerchiefs; sits down to a breakfast of edvertised cereals; drinks a cup of advertised coffee; puts on an advertised hat; lights an advertised cigar; rides to his office in an advertised car, on advertised tires; then he refuses to advertise on the grounds that advertising does not pay! If your busniess isn't good enough to advertise, advertise it for sale!"

GUNNING'S SENTENCE COMMUTED

William Gunning, held in Brockville jail since November 10 under sentence of death, was officially notified Friday afternoon at 3.55 o'clock by Col. R. J. Gill, sheriff of Leeds and Grenville, that the death sentence passed upon him on November 10 last had been commuted to one of life imprisonment.

Accompanying the sheriff to the prisoner's cell was H. J. F. Stewart, who defended Gunning at his trial there in November. When the official information had been given to him by the sheriff Gunning's only comment was "Oh, Gee." Later he thanked Mr. Stewart for his efforts in his behalf.

Earlier in the day word of the death sentence being commuted had been given Gunning by Rev. J. Grant Sparling. who had been his spiritual adviser since he was committed to stand trial for the murder of Miss Irene Mott, of Frankville, on July 5th last.

Confirmation from the Secretary of State that the sentence has been commuted was expected by R. J. Gill, in the mail the first of the week. It is believed he will be removed to the penal institution immediately.

Gained 14 Pounds.

Due to the small staff of the Brockville jail it is believed that a special guard will be kept over Gunning until his removal. One of the men who had been keeping constant guard over Gunning since he was sentenced in November stated Gunning showed marked relief when Rev. Mr. Sparling intimated to him that his sentence was to be commuted.

The day after Gunning was convicted, Nov. 11, his weight was registered at the jail at 123 pounds and on stepping on the scales on Thursday of last week he weighed 137 pounds, a gain of 14 pounds in two months.

None of the three men who had been guarding Gunning since his sentence would comment after hearing of the reprieve, but unofficially they let it be known that Gunning had shown considerable depression when he heard the noise of pounding in the jail yard on December 21 and 22 and surmised that the gallows were being erected for his execution.

UNITED CHURCH W. M. S.

There was a good attendance at the first meeting of the New Year held last Thursday afternoon in the S. S. rooms with the president, Mrs. F. F. Davidson, in charge of opening devotions, consisting of a hymn with Mrs. Mabel Allison at the piano; a psalm read in unison, followed by the Lord's Prayer, a Bible reading from St. John and prayer by Mrs. R. M. Dukelow and Mrs. N. W. Beach.

The minutes of the December meeting and those of a meeting of the Executive were read and adopted. The president announced that the Presbyterial Executive would meet here on Jan. 31st, forenoon and afternoon sessions. Dinner will be served to them in the S. S. rooms. To make arrangements for this the following committee was appointed: Mesdames Davidson, Lannin, Ault, Allison, Hughes and Scott.

After reporting briefly the work of the past month the following gratifying annual reports were given, the secretary, Mrs. W. Lannin, said 12 meetings with an average of 32 had been held. Three deaths had occurred. The treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Hughes, had sent $400.46 to the Presbyterial Treasurer. The Christian Stewardship Secretary, Mrs. K. Helmer, sent out many envelopes and there were 64 envelope contributors. An excellent report of the missionary enterprise of the C. G. I. T. was given by their leader, Mrs. W. S. Atchison.

The Band Leader, Mrs. W. J. Stewart. showed by her report that good work is being done among the children. There were 43 members. 10 meetings were held with an average of 32. $66.20 was raised.

For the Community Friendship department, Mrs. Merkley reported that the sick and shut-ins, also strangers, had received many calls, flowers and Christmas cards.

Mrs. T. O. Keyes, in reporting about the literature, told of sending for 4 Study Books, and other books and literature.

The Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Thos. Annable, had written 33 much-appreciated letters of sympathy and condolence.

Mrs. P. Durant looked after the supply work and with her committee and the help of the Circle and Band had got ready and sent along two large bales.

The Missionary Monthly had 46 subscribers as reported by Mrs. R. L. Suffel.

In speaking of the Baby Band work, Mrs. E. Fennell told of how $4.20 was given through the mite boxes.

These reports were adopted with thankfulness that so much had been done during the year.

Mrs. Earle presided for the program, during which Mrs. Fred Johnson sang a solo which was well received. Mrs. Ernest Steele was the accompanist.

The last part of chapter 2 of the Study Book, "Planting the Church in Canada," was given by Mrs. T. O. Keyes., who told of the Ukrainians; Mrs. Ault, the Hungarians and model congregations; Mrs. W. Lannin, the Student and Lay Missionaries; Miss Donalda Carlyle, the Indian Work in B. C., and Mrs. Earle, the French Protestants.

Seventieth Annual Meeting Royal Bank of Canada

CANADIAN AND INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICAL SITUATION DISCUSSED BY MORRIS W. WILSON, PRESIDENT AND MANAGING DIRECTOR.— COMMENDS NEW TRADE AGREEMENTS. — POINTS OUT FAILURE OF ECONOMIC POLICIES OF TOTALITARIAN STATES.

SYDNEY G. DOBSON, GENERAL MANAGER, REVIEWS BALANCE SHEET. — CONTINUED PROGRESS SHOWN. — PRESENT OUTLOOK DISTINCTLY ENCOURAGING.

A comprehensive review of economic conditions both in Canada and abroad, with particular reference to the dangers of the economic policies now being pursued in Germany and Italy, featured the address of Morris W Wilson, President and Managing Director at the 70th Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada.

Mr. Wilson referred with satisfaction to the fact that conditions in Canada had been relatively stable despite the setback in the United States. Recovery from the recession, which was general during the closing months of 1937 and the first half of 1938, had made notable progress and business in Canada, had now resumed its upward trend.

MINING INDUSTRY

Since the inception of the depression in 1930, mining had consistently furnished the backlog and the most encouraging factor in Canadian industrial life. Volume of production in many instances exceeded in 1938 the high figures of 1937. The output of gold had again reached a new record of approximately 4,680,000 fine ounces, valued at $164,500-000, an increase of 14% over 1937. The spectacular progress achieved in petroleum operations in the Turner Valley of Alberta was also noteworthy, stated Mr. Wilson. By the end of November, 60 crude oil wells were in production and drilling was under way at 20 others, with output during 1938 175% greater than in 1937. Unemployment and relief were still serious, although continued improvement was reported.

Tourist trade returns had been most encouraging, expenditures by tourists in Canada totalling approximately $275,-000,000 during 1938.

NEW TRADE AGREEMENTS

Mr. Wilson commended highly the new trade agreements between Canada and the United States and between the United States and Great Britain. 'These,' he said, "mark the greatest departure from the policies of trade restriction and national self-sufficiency since the war and cannot fail to further the common outlook and cordiality existing between the British and American peoples. It is striking that the agreements, covering an enormous volume of trade and embodying hundreds of reductions of duties and lessened restrictions, include not a single increase. At the present time no detailed analysis of the effect of the agreements on specific industries is feasible but there can be no doubt that they will bring about an important expansion in trade."

Referring to the subject of "interest rates," Mr. Wilson remarked, "I believe it often true that if the relationship exists long enough, the debtor comes to hate his creditor. By the same token, I suppose he begins to question the morality of interest once the payment seems of burden. If you believe in the principle of private property you must believe in the legitimacy of interest. If it is proper for a person as a result of thrift to acquire, say a small property, there are few, if any, who would suggest that this property should be available for use by others wtihout some compensation. Therefore, if compensation for the use of property be legitimate, why should compensation for its equivalent, the cost expressed in terms of money, be less so?"

INTEREST RATES

"You frequently hear it asserted that the burden of interest has become intolerable and that relief can only be brought about by drastic measures. A forced conversion of public debt is sometimes urged, accompanied by reference to the action of Australia in 1931.' Commenting on this point of view, Mr. Wilson said that the average rate on the outstanding Australian debt had been cut by 25% since that country's debt conversion in 1931. The average rate of interest on Canada's outstanding debt in the same period had been cut 29%. 'The best way to keep the burden of debt as light as possible," continued Mr. Wilson, "is to maintain your credit at high standing and thereby obtain the benefit of lowest current rates. The rate at which the Dominion borrows compares most favourably with that of other first-class nations."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

The situation abroad remained difficult, stated Mr. Wilson, and expressed the opinion that "fate will overtake the totalitarian countries in due course if, in their efforts to become strong, they concentrate on the military point of view and disregard the first principles of sound economics as they are doing at present." The decline in German exports had become acute since the September crisis.

"Data available indicate," he said, that in 1938 total exports were actually less than in 1932 and 1933, the nadir of the world depression and the last two years prior to the Nazi regime."

"Internal business in Germany is exceedingly active, and full employment has been achieved, but only at the cost of colossal deficits in the Government budget. Indeed, one German authority has stated that an amount equal to 50 per cent of the national income is absorbed by government and party agencies." It was obvious, said Mr. Wilson, that no country could pursue such a policy without producing serious inflation and, unless it were reversed, he could not see "anything but a continued lowering of the standard of living in Germany. These remarks apply with equal force to the Italian situation."

The decline in business activity in Great Britain had been halted and business in the United States had, since May last, shown the most rapid recovery ever reported in its statistical annals.

Mr. Wilson also spoke with satisfaction of the closer co-operation and mutual understanding achieved in relations between Great Britain, France and the United States and also the countries of North and South America as evidenced at the recent Lima Conference.

"The outlook for Canadian business is again favourable and the upward trend would seem to be definitely restored," concluded Mr. Wilson. "The international situation is still obscure and further complexities may develop in foreign agairs. Barring such an evntuality, I am sure we may look forward to 1939 with courage and confidence."

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

Mr. Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, in reviewing the Annual Balance Sheet remarked that the bank's total assets were now at the highest point since 1929 and total deposits had reached a new record level. Current loans increased moderately during the year but a more active demand for commercial loans was desirable.

Taxes had ,however, become an ever increasing burden for the bank. "For every dollar distributed to shareholders by way of dividends, 71c is paid out in taxes in Canada," said Mr. Dobson.

Answering the criticism sometimes voiced, that banks are investing too large a portion of their funds in Government bonds and too little in assisting business enterprises, Mr. Dobson said, "we cannot compel unwilling borrowers to use our surplus funds if, for various reasons, they are not prepared to expand their business. It would be a strange type of banker who would prefer the small return from Government bonds to the more remunerative commercial rate." Mr. Dobson also pointed out that control of "credit" is not within the power of the Chartered Banks but is a prerogative of the Bank of Canada, which alone decides whether a policy of "easy" or "tight" money is to be pursued.

The attention of the shareholders was also drawn to the educational publicity conducted by the banks through the newspapers last year. "It is hoped these articles will help to clarify in the public mind what banks can do and what they are not permitted to do, and at the same time emphasize how necessary a safe and sane banking policy is to the welfare of the country."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Canada had escaped the more serious effects of the recession in business which first appeared in the United States about eighteen months ago, concluded Mr. Dobson. Conditions in Canada had remained comparatively stable and results achieved in 1938 could be regarded as reasonably satisfactory. "The present outlook includes a number of factors which are distinctly encouraging," he said, "and I look forward to the future with confidence, as I believe few countries have as promising a future as has our own."

FIRST PERSECUTED MINORITY

When Christian physicians and pharmacists away back in Nero's day indulged in a little duplicity so they could carry on their business of healing the sick and yet avoid persecution, they started something that still causes their modern confreres countless questions, according to Dean Hurst of the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

"What does the letter "R" with a cross on its tail represent as seen at the beginning of physicians' presciptions and in druggists' window displays?"

Dean Hurst says the answer to this question reveals that persecution of religious minorities headlined to-day had its counterpart in ancient Rome when Christians were forbidden to practise their professions. They used the astrological symbol of the planet Jupiter at the head of all their presciptions and medicine containers to indicate that outwardly at least they conformed to the state religion.

This interdiction lasted until the 4th century when, during the reign of Julian and Apostate, no Christian was permitted to teach in Roman schools. After Christianity became firmly established in Europe use of this sign persisted long after its significance had been lost to memory. To-day the most casual passerby realizes it is a symbol which assures him his needs will be skillfully attended by a highly trained pharmacist when he enters a drug store carrying his physician's prescription.

STEALING

The country newspaper publisher toils to make his paper interesting, mentally and mechanically, that's labor; once in a while a patron comes in and pays a subscription, that's capital; occasionally one moves off without paying and has a postmaster send a card to say the paper is refused, that's stealing.

The records kept by the Ontario department of highways reveal a rather strong indictment against the motorists of this province. Hon. T. B. McQuesten states that 300,000 of the 900,000 motorists in this province have committed infractions of the Highway Traffic Act. One third of any certain class labelled as law breakers is a big percentage.—Forest Standard.

HINTS FOR THE FARMER

TO HOG PRODUCERS

Producers of hogs in Canada are reminded that the increase in the number of overfinished and overweight hogs now being marketed is creating a very serious and acute problem in the export bacon and domestic pork trade. Farmers are therefore strongly advised to refrain from overfinishing and to endeavour to market their hogs before reaching a weight of 230 pounds at the farm.

PRINCIPLES OF GRADING

The grading of farm products is based on the principle that it is sound business to classify live stock in such a way that the consumer, will be able to recognize and purchase quality products, and that the price premium which the consumer will pay for the better grades should be returned to the producer of them. Practice has proven the value of the theory involved in the grading principle. Grading activities have been a tremendous incentive to quality production, with resultant price benefit to producers.

BREEDING TROUBLES

Following long winters with deep snow, as this winter promises to be, a great deal of trouble is usually experienced with hairlessness in young pigs, goitre in calves and lambs, and joint ills in foals. It is suggested that these troubles may be traced to a lack of iodine in the thyroid gland of the pregnant female, and losses from this cause may be avoided by feeding iodine, in the form of potassium iodide.

Potassium iodide has a generally stimulating effect, toning up the whole system, and exerts a particularly strong influence on the generative organs. Females which are apparently non-breeders will often become pregnant after this drug has been administered for a few months.

For cows, dissolve two ounces fo potassium iodide in a cup of warm water; sprinkle this solution over 100 pounds of salt spread evenly and in a thin layer on a clean floor, and mix well. When the salt is dry, place it in a box where the animals have free access to it. For ewes, follow the same method as for cows.

For sows, dissolve one ounce of potassium iodide crystals in one gallon of water, and mix one tablespoon per sow daily in the feed or drinking water. For mares, give each mare a half a teaspoonful of potassium iodide in the feed grain or water on the first and fifteenth of each month.

GREEN FEED FOR POULTRY

At all times of the year an abundance of green feed is essential to the health of the poultry flock. In summer it may be provided by free range on the farm, but in winter it must be supplied by some form of stored feed. Roots, cabbage, sprouted oats, and alfalfa hay are commonly used for winter feeding. Probably alfalfa is the most valuable element in the winter poultry ration, and if the following precaution is taken in feeding it may be used in unlimited quantity.

For several years it has been the practice at the Experimental Station at Harrow to chop fine the young alfalfa shoots for the baby chicks and to use cut alfalfa hay as the sole means of supplying the necessary roughage and greens for winter egg production. A good grade of second or third cutting hay is run through a cutting box in about half-inch lengths, steeped for twenty-four hours by entirely covering with cold water, strained, and fed in shallow tubs. For the best results it is fed immediately after the early morning grain and again late in the afternoon. Old stalks left should be thrown out where the birds cannot reach them or they may be the cause of crop trouble.

Fair results may be had by feeding good alfalfa leaf dry but the experience at this Station is that the steeped cut hay is better appreciated by the birds on account of its easy digestibility and because it is more palatable.

FEED A BALANCED RATION

If there is one thing more than any other the importance of which is stressed in hog feeding, it is that grains alone are not enough to make good hogs, and that for the production of the select bacon type hog it is important that a balanced ration be fed.

In many parts of Canada, particularly throughout the Prairie Provinces, there is an abundance of cheap grain feeds which as they stand are unmarketable, but when fed to live stock quite attractive prices can be realized. Where grains alone are fed the livestock product is seldom satisfactory and to get worthwhile results a protein supplement must be included to balance the ration.

Skim milk or buttermilk in some form is the ideal protein supplement in hog feeding. These, however, are not always available but because these are not available is no reason why other equally good forms of protein supplement should not be used. A very fine type of pork can be produced through feeding tankage, a by-product of the packing industry. This provides an animal protein supplement ideal for hog feeding, and at the present time this can be obtained essentially at cost.

FEEDING BROOD MARES

To properly care for brood mares during the winter months, it must be understood that they should be given mild exercise each day but deep snow and the hauling of heavy loads should be avoided. It is particularly important that mares in foal are not allowed to be idle during the winter months, as they usually produce weak foals—no matter how they may be fed.

A brood mare's ration may be made up of a variety of feeds, however, it is essential that it be nutritious and contain a generous supply of protein and minerals. A good grade of mixed hay, oats and bran will supply all the necessary requirements. A few roots fed daily will also prove beneficial. The amount of hay and grain to be fed daily wlil depend upon the size of the mare, her condition and the type of work she is doing. Naturally the more she is required to do—the larger the daily grain ration. Young mares that have not completed their growth must be fed quite liberally.

After the foal is born, drinking water with the chill taken off is given to the mare. The mare's first feed after foaling is always a warm bran mash and the grain ration contains one-half bran for a week or more after the foal is dropped. By so doing, complications such as an oversupply of milk or indigestion are usually avoided. When mares are this at foaling time, light feeding should only be continued for a few days. In such cases, the feed is usually increased gradually in order to ensure a good supply of milk for the foal. Mares that are required to work while nursing their foals will require liberal feeding, if they are to be kept in good flesh and provide a generous supply of milk for the foals.

With an eye to cutting down highway accidents, Wisconsin will begin each of its 700,000 motor car drivers a message printed on the envelopes containing their 1939 license plates. It will say: Keep this thought in mind; these plates identify you and the manner in which your car is operated. Drive so that you will not be criticized by the public or punished by the courts."

In every walk of life there is always one outstanding achievement, and there is always some name associated with it.

CANADIAN FISH AND PINEAPPLE DELICIOUS COMBINATION

Plan an unusual main dish for dinner tomorrow by combining Canadian fish (whitefish, haddock, or salmon are suggested) with pineapple cubes or tidbits. It's a dish that will linger in memory and for which you will be asked again and again. Men, particularly, find the combination of flavors pleasing and unusual. Here's the way to do it:

Canadian Fish and Pineapple

1-2 cup pineapple, cubed or tidbits; 2 cups cooked, flaked fish (whitefish, haddock or salmon); 3 tablespoons cream or top milk; salt and pepper; 1 beaten egg; dash of paprika, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons milk, grated Canadian cheese.

Line a greased casserole with the drained pineapple. Mix the fish with the cream or top milk, season and add to casserole. Mix the potatoes with the egg. milk and paprika and pile on the fish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degreesF.) for 20 minutes. Top with grated Canadian cheese, return to oven, and brown.

Serve with this Canadian Fish and Pineapple a vegetable that will provide contrast in color and texture. Baked pepper squash, cut in half, dotted with butter and sprinkled with cinnamon-sugar, is a happy combination, or any green vegetable in season. The dessert should be light and tart, a puffy lemon meringue pie, or an orange-chiffon pie would be a fitting finish to the meal ensemble.

INDIA WEDDING ODD AFFAIR

Just think of not being able to tell a wedding from a funeral. What a confusing state of affairs. But that is exactly what would happen if one were travelling in Bengal, in the northeastern part of India, along the road to Mount Everest, asserts a writer in the Washington Star. Almost any day one might meet a procession winding through the hills. In its center some of the marchers would be carrying a bundle suspended from two poles. Such a bundle is wrapped carefully in heavy hangings. Nothing much can be made out about it except that it has the shape of a human body. Naturally, the onlooker, if he is a stranger in the country, thinks it is a corpse. But he is mistaken. It is a bride. In this part of India a bride is wrapped over and over again until not a toe or finger is visible. Thus prepared, she is hung between two poles and carried to the new home, where she and her husband are about to set up housekeeping.

PLATINUM PLEASE

It was not so many years ago that platinum was a far more precious metal than gold. For a little over $20.00 an ounce one might obtain gold, but for platinum, about $125.00 an ounce had to be paid. Gradually as Canada became the world's largest producer of platinum, it became more difficult to impress jewellers with the casual request for "platinum please," when a tray of wedding rings was brought forward. For today, platinum and gold have about the same value.

In the meanwhile, platinum has become an important industrial metal. Glass manufacturers employ it as a dye. In airplane engines it is used for contact points. And research is constantly finding new uses for platinum, especially in the electrical and chemical industries. Canada in general, and International Nickel, in particular, are benefitting from its increasing utility.

Sudbury is the largest producing area for platinum in the world. Last year over half the world supply came from this district, while a few ounces were obtained from British Columbia rivers and a little more from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting plant at Trail where Platinum was obtained as a residue in the refining of gold. Russia, South Africa and Columbia are also producers of platinum, but Canada with an output approaching 10 million dollars anncally is the world's major source of the metal.

DODGE'S WIDOW TO RECEIVE $3,000,000

Mrs. Laurine Dodge, young widow of Daniel G. Dodge, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Leamington, will receive approximately $3,000,000 from her husband's estate, according to a settlement announcement at Pontiac, Michigan, recently.

In addition Mrs. Dodge becomes an heir to half her husband's share in the $40,000,000 trust fund established by the late John F. Dodge, Daniel's father. The younger Dodge was heir to $10,000,000 from this trust fund.

Thus Mrs. Daniel Dodge is heir to another $5,000,000 with Mrs. Mathilda R. Wilson, Daniel's mother, becoming heir to the other $5,000,000 of the $10,000,000 amount.

This $40,000,000 fund cannot be apportioned until all the children are dead. This means that Mrs. Daniel Dodge cannot share in the principal amount until the deaths of Daniel's three sisters.

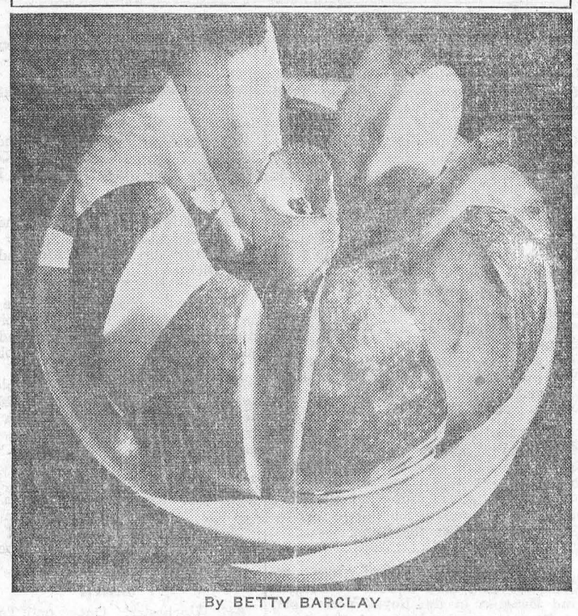
Serving Sectioned Apples



By BETTY BARCLAY

Apples can now be cored and sliced by a single motion, through a new stainless steel kitchen utensil. Serving these sectioned apples to guests adds a thoughtful (and novel) touch to the apples-and-popcorn evening at home. To give a very festive air, a tray of sectioned red-skinned apples can be arranged, flanked by wedges of cheese, popcorn or popcorn balls, salt wafers, or nuts. Just a tip: sprinkling lemon juice on the cut apples will prevent discoloration.

Of primary importance, of course, is the convenience of the slicer "gadget" for everyday usage, as it expedites the preparation of apples for sauce, pies, and all recipes calling for apples.

This utensil is available through leading grocery stores, who offer it for a very nominal sum with purchases of certain outstanding brands of Pacific Northwest apples.

Women who already have slicers are getting them for friends as gifts.

Many recipes utilize the slicer-cut apples (cut in eighths) without further slicing. A couple such recipes follow:

Apple-Carrot Casserole

Cook carrots, that have been sliced once lengthwise, until nearly done. Remove water and place with slicer-cut apples in a buttered casserole. Sprinkle about a tablespoon of brown sugar over the top; dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven until apples are tender and sugar has melted through.

Apple-Oatmeal Breakfast Dish

Cook slicer-cut apples in syrup made by boiling one cup sugar with one and one-half cup water for five minutes. Drain, and mix apples into hot cooked oatmeal. Serve with cream and sugar.

Fried Sausages and Apples

Fry sausages slightly. Add slicer-cut apples and fry a few minutes, until brown and tender. Remove sausages, and add one heaping tablespoon of brown sugar for each apple used. Baste apples with syrup formed in pan, and serve with sausages.

Book Review

"DOWN THE YEARS" BY S. MORGAN-POWELL

The MacMillans in Canada—$2.

Distinctive alike as to both format and contents this volume of poetry from the brilliant pen of the Dean of Canadian Critics proves to be one of the year's outstanding lyrical creations. When the judges finally convene to decide on the winner of the Lord Tweedsmuir Award for the best volume of Canadian Poetry published in 1938 this book should be a foremost contender for the coveted medal. Dr. E. J. Pratt the most recent medallist pens a noticeably splendid tribute to the writer and his work in the work in the "Foreword."

As the title implies these poems have been written over a period of years and have been selected with keen discrimination and impeccable taste. There is not a poem in the entire volume which fails to elicit a definite emotional response, nor is there heard one discordant note in the starry symphony of the fugitive years whose haunting cadences have been recorded within these pages in sensitive and charming poetry. Here is the true quintessence of living with its "overtones of laughter and undertones of tears" imprisoned in lines of poignant beauty, lines which frequently startle one into breathless admiration at the stark simplicity of their lyrical perfection.

The fact that impresses one most strongly regarding the poetry of Mr. Morgan-Powell is that in it he projects. vitally and unmistakeably that priceless integrity of personality which alone distinguishes the work of the truly inspired. Each and every poem bears the indelible hallmark of his own creative genius. Whether he is etching in suggestive word-pictures some colorful vignette of the tropics such as the vivid opening poem, "Spirit of the Forest," or singing such an exquisite love lyric as "The Call," with its unforgettable ending—"For when Love calls, all other voices cease," one is constantly aware that here is an artist who has lived abundantly, and has garnered an inspiringly wholesome philosophy from the rich harvest of experience which has been his in various parts of the world.

With a dexterity of technique which is a joy to behold, Mr. Morgan-Powell writes with a superb economy of phrase and enviable facility of expression which should serve as a shining example to any initiate in this most difficult of all the arts. Coupled with this gift for choosing crystal-clear imagery and provocative metaphor, he possesses the innate ability of revealing "the strange in the familiar and the eternal in the transitory" without which no poet ever achieves lasting greatness. On page after page we find that "impassioned cry of the heart in the presence of the wonder of life" which Markham calls the very soul of poetry.

Such a volume as "Down the Years" is doubly welcome, coming as it does at a time when many writers of modern verse seem more intent on frenetic word-juggling and the display of intricate mental gymnastics than in the creation of genuine poetry. So we warmly hail this authentic poet-voice which, following the highest traditions of lyric beauty. brings us a spiritsong that cannot fail to possess an universal appeal—a major poet-voice "clear as a bell sounded at midnight on a waste of waters."

The following is typical of the musical strength and exaltation, the rhythmic beauty and illuminating significance of the poems throughout:

The Song Immortal

When all the youthful judgments have been uttered,
And all the rash young Salons had their say;
Still there remains the silence that close
shuttered,
Keeps sentinel behind the spears of day;
And still the glory of the song immortal
Shall sound triumphant—melody alone
Shall sing beyond the years. and through the portal
Of the great Sinners' House and o'er its throne,
Shall cast the spell of beauty and of laughter,
The dream of ecstacy, the undying fire
Of poetry,—for all to follow after
Who know the secret of the Sapphic lyre.

DISCOVER MATILDA MAN DEAD IN CHAIR

When Mr. and Mrs. E. Ault, of the 3rd Concession, Matilda Township, returned home on Wednesday evening of last week about 10.30 o'clock, after being away for about three hours, they found their uncle, Jesse Ault, 94, slumped in a rocking chair with a bullet through his head and a revolver on his lap.

Dr. E. H. Marcellus, of Iroquois, was notified and upon his arrival, called Dr. Thomas Hamilton, coroner, of Brinston. who has decided to hold an inquest.

Mr. Ault had been living with his nephew for the past 15 years, following his return from Salt Lake City, where he had gone as a youth. He was the eldest son of Philip Ault and had been a farmer all his life.

Surviving relatives include two sisters, Mrs. H. Seeley, Matilda, and Mrs. L. Durant, of Cardinal; one brother, Edward Ault, of Osnabruck Centre.

TOWN LEAGUE HOCKEY

by a one-point margin.

Witnessed by the largest crowd of the season, the game was fast and clean, and ended 4-3 for the Rangers.

Dave Melvin, two, Bob Hitsman and Harold Baldwin were the Rangers scorers, while S. Barkley, F. Soucie and K. Schell netted Williamsburg's goals.

The line-ups were:

Rangers—Goal, G. Coons; def. B. Hitsman and A. Barkley; centre, G. Elliott; wings, D. Melvin and K. Boyd; alternates, R. Wylie, C. Curtis, H. Baldwin, and R. Cummings.

Williamsburg—Goal, L. Schell; def., C. Marcellus and M. Smith; centre, S. Barkley; wings, R. Casselman and F. Soucie; alternates, K. Schell, H. Eamon, V. Schell and C. Casselman.

Second Game

In the second contest Metcalfe suffered a 7-2 setback at the hands of the Frost and Wood team. Although the score would indicate a lop-sided contest, this was not the case. The tricolor squad from Metcalfe. while outplayed at certain intervals, proved a constant threat to the Frost and Wood team and hard luck alone kept them from scoring on several occasions. Bud Robinson and Doug. McLean each scored twice and Art Summers, Willis Cross and Dan Robinson once for the winners, while Hubert Quart and D. Carkner collected Metcalfe's pair of counters.

The line-ups were:

Frost & Wood—Goal, G. Corry; def., D. MacLean and E. Marquette; centre, L. Kenny; wings, A. Summers and B. Robinson; alternates, W. Cross, D. Lannin, C. Carkner and D. Robinson.

Metcalfe—Goal, C. Harrison; def., D. Craig and H. Quart; centre, F. Mulvey; wings, W. Casserly and W. Conlin; alternates, O. Stanley, S. Bishop, D. Morrison, J. Rowan and B. Conlin.

Referee—Dan O'Neil.

THE UNITED CHURCH

The large congregation of last Sunday morning enjoyed the anthem given by the choir, with Mr. Johnson at the organ. Rev. W. S. Atchison's message on the victorious life was also appreciated. Taking Acts 4:7 for a text he showed that the early Church grew because it produced Christ-like men and women. In order to possess this power we must have fellowship with Him and with one another, and disciplined thinking. To the children the pastor spoke on one of the stories of Jesus—that of sheep without a shepherd.

At the evening service Mr. S. Lindsay sang "Jesus Blessed Jesus." The text from which Rev. W. S. Atchison spoke was I Sam. 17:42. He sketched the story of Israel's invasion by the Philistines. picturing the appearance of the giant Goliath, and of the young David daring to stand before him. There always seems to be a clash between youth and age. David was charged by his brother as being forward, self-willed and lacking seriousness. With God's help he went forward and was victorious.

THORPE—In loving memory of my dear husband, Ezra Thorpe, who passed away 17th of January, 1937.

God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,

ST. PAUL'S W. M. S.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church held the first meeting of the year on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 10th, at the home of Miss Empey, with a good attendance.

The President, Mrs. Turner, was in charge of the meeting and spoke a few words of encouragement to the newly elected officers to try and make 1939 the best year yet. Mrs. Geo. Wilson and Mrs. Spinks took charge of the devotional period. The theme "Courage," was carried throughout the program. A duet, "The Harbor Light," was contributed by Mrs. R. J. Empey and Mrs. Hugh Wilson. Current Events were given by Mrs. Angus. Mrs. Turner gave a very interesting synopsis of the past days of India taken from the new study book "Moving Millions."

The meeting was brought to a close by singing a hymn and all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by members of the Executive.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' AID

The first meeting of the New Year of St. Paul's Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. George Angus. The president, Mrs. Bouchard, expressed her delight at having a good attendance also to the new members.

After the devotional exercises the Secretary and Treasurer's reports were given, showing a substantial amount in the treasury. It was decided to pay the lights and fuel as usual this year.

Ways and means were discussed planning work for the year. It was decided to divide the society into two groups, the leaders being: Group A—Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Miss Grace Irving, Miss Mary Empey; Group B—Mrs. C. R. Robinson, Miss Ida Gardner and Mrs. Geo. Angus.

This interesting meeting was brought to a close with the Doxology. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Agnes Smith, assisted by Miss Algate and Mrs. Bouchard.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Angus and Mrs. Smith for their home, also the committee in charge.
