M. Sullivan & Sons Awarded Contract For Huge Plant Here

Announcement was made over the week-end that M. Sullivan and Sons Construction Company of Arnprior, Ontario, had been awarded the contract for the erection of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association's huge new refrigeration storage plant in Winchester. The contract calls for an immediate start on the construction of the building, which will measure 200 feet by 192 feet, and cost approximately $200,000 without equipment.

Covering an estimated 38,400 square feet, the new building will be reinforced cement construction, and will be situated directly opposite the C. P. R. station and immediately adjacent to the tracks. The new plant will have a water cooled refrigeration unit which will receive its supply of water from a 300-foot well, six-inch hole, that was drilled several weeks ago by R. H. Casselman, of Williamsburg. The well, under test, pumped an average of fifty gallons per minute without affecting the water level. Capacity of the huge refrigeration plant will be 6,000,000 lbs. of cheese.

When in operation it is expected the plant will eventually employ fifteen to twenty persons. Decision to locate the plant here was made because of the town's strategic location in the eastern section of the province—on the Main C. P. R. line, the junction of two highways, and only a short distance from the St. Lawrence River. The Cheese Producers' other plant is in Belleville, where their head office is located. The Winchester plant is expected to be completed by next March.

Hydro Reveals Plans For Rehabilitation of Communities Affected By Power Project

Sixty delegates representing Eastern Ontario municipalities that will be directly affected by the St. Lawrence Power Development, members of the Press, Hydro, and Government officials met in a joint parley at Islington, just outside of Toronto, on Monday and Tuesday of this week, and from the history-making meeting residents of "Seaway Valley" were given the first real information of what will happen when actual construction starts on the huge $600,000,000 project.

From the session that featured panel discussions, and display of actual models of new towns and parks, highways and railways, six thousand residents of the "Valley" learned that there would be three new towns and one partially reconstructed town, Morrisburg. The new towns are:-

NEW IROQUOIS—The built up section of the present village will be entirely flooded. Plans show that the new town will be located immediately north of the present town site but still within the village corporation limits. Plans show layout for eventual population of 10,000.

MORRISBURG—The village of Morrisburg will be partially flooded including the business district and some residential property in the south and eastern portions of the village. The new layout calls for the relocation in an area still within the village corporation but north and east of the present populated area.

NEW TOWN No. 1—An entirely new community intended to replace Aultsville, Farran's Point, Dickinson's Landing and Wales. The proposals call for 100 per cent. replacement of the existing communities in the combined new settlement.

NEW TOWN No. 2—An entirely new community intended to replace Moulinette and Mille Roches. The proposals call for 100 per cent. replacement of the existing communities in the combined new settlement.

The plans of all towns call for an immediate population of 1100 with an eventual increase of 12,000 for Morrisburg, 10,000 for Iroquois, 7000 for Town No. 1 and 3000 for Town No. 2. The layouts of all towns include ample room for such an expansion, and are based on considerable industrial development. All plans are of the very latest design, with proposed houses and other structures to be of ultra modern design. Emphasis has been placed on traffic control and safety as well as convenience. Streets are of the two loop variety, making it necessary for children to cross no more than one street to and from school, regardless of where the child may live in the town. Business sections proposed are of the new shopping centre variety, situated in one specified section of the town, and built so as to allow added convenience to shoppers and more parking facilities for motorists. Water and sewerage and other municipal facilities have been thoroughly looked after and shoud be much better than are now afforded residents of the seaway towns.

New Highway

Villages will be joined by cloverleaf connection to the new four-lane Highway No. 401, which will run north of the present Highway No. 2. Business sections will run off the main thoroughfare to the new highway. Much attention has been given the possibility of modern multiple dwellings, strategic location of churches, and suitable parks for each municipality.

Highway No. 2 will remain in part as a connecting link and scenic route along the river. A special scenic route has also been planned for the lower part of the flooded area, and will join a series of islands from the powerhouse to a point several miles up the river. The C. N. R. railroad will have to be shunted north or raised for most of the thirty-five miles along the river.

Ontario-N. Y. Link

Proposed in the outline by Robt. H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro Commission, is a new highway link between New York State and Ontario over the Iroquois control dam. This is almost a certainty, and the highway envisaged would be suitable for all types of vehicles. This crossing would undoubtedly be a toll, and would be the shortest link between Canada and the United States on the St. Lawrence River. It would also join two major highways on each side of the river.

Three Choices

Hydro chairman said displaced population would have three alternatives: 1. Rehabilitation—whether for a house, a factory, a church, a town hall or otherwise in the new location on such terms as are agreed upon between Hydro and the owner after consideration of all equities involved; 2. Compensation in cash; 3. A combination of both rehabilitation and compensation.

Beefs Aplenty

As has been pointed out by the Ontario Planning Board and the Commission, the proposed new towns will be subject to changes and approval by the respective municipalities. Hydro's aim, the chairman said, is to please as many persons as possible and to border its transactions on the generous side. Hydro officials also warned that enormous prices will not be paid to people wishing to make some easy money. Although impressed by Hydro's proposed offers, delegates from areas to be flooded had criticisms. Main beef concerned rehabilitation estimates which, seaway valley delegates said, were too low. Delegates were also of the opinion that the word "compensation" was not justly or properly defined. Only a few actual figures were released, to the disappointment of delegates. Reeve George Beavers, of Morrisburg, said that in his area "everyone wants to know how he is going to be paid" for lands flooded by the seaway and power development. He doubted that the rehabilitation figures were realistic (the only figure mentioned so far has been $65,000,000, and no cost estimates at all were shown in the proposals prepared for the joint meeting).

Iroquois' Reeve Lloyd Davis said that not enough consideration was given farmers in the proposals, and that certain aspects of the new town plan for Iroquois were not too practical. Orville Seeley, of Matilda township, said his people were giving up 6,000 acres of land for the good of all Canada, and the people living there should be given special compensation. Hydro members said later that the farmer and his problems would not be overlooked, and would receive the same attention as matters concerning the more populated areas.

Press Has All Up-to-date Information, Diagrams, Models.

Word that the big release would be made Monday reached the Editor of the Press Friday evening of last week in a special phone call from Hydro, inviting him, along with other newspaper representatives and civic delegates, to the joint meeting at Toronto. Unable to attend, Hydro took over and had the complete release of facts, figures and full line of picture models and line diagrams in the hands of Editor Workman before eight o'clock Tuesday morning, thus giving this newspaper the same coverage that other papers got by having reporters in attendance. Both press releases, uniquely made up in two books of information, pictures and diagrams, will be on display at this office, and may be referred to by interested persons.

District School Teacher Gives Her Impressions of Royal Garden Parties She Attended

While in England, as an exchange teacher from Cornwall, Ontario, to Liverpool, Miss Verna Levere was privileged to attend two Royal Garden Parties in London, and thought perhaps the readers of the Press would be interested in hearing about them.

Each year a garden party is arranged by The League of the British Commonwealth and Empire and the British Committee for the Interchange of Teachers between the United Kingdom and the United States, to have the honour of meeting Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. This year the party was held on the lawns of Lambeth Palace, London headquarters of His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, on Monday, July 12th, at 3 p.m. About two hundred teachers from Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Cyprus, Rhodesia and the United States attended. All exchange teachers to the United Kingdom were presented to the Queen Mother, who acknowledged the introductions and spoke to each personally, asking various questions about the year on exchange. The Commonwealth teachers were presented by Sir Graham Savage, President of the League of the British Commonwealth and Empire, and Mr. W. J. Rood, Director. The teachers of the United States were presented by Dr. Ford, their Director. Other distinguished guests present were the Archbishop of Canterbury and the American Ambassador.

The Queen Mother wore a white chiffon dress overprinted with pale blue cornflowers, and a matching blue and white hat.

Miss Levere wore a navy cocktail dress made of grosgrain taffeta embroidered with white beads. The dress had a round neckline, cap sleeves and full skirt. Her shoes were navy nylon mesh pumps. She wore long white silk gloves with pearl buttons, and an Escott hat in navy and white straw. She carried a silver brocaded afternoon bag and her corsage was of white carnations.

The Queen's Garden Party was held on the lawns of Buckingham Palace on Thursday, July 15th, at 4 p.m. The grounds were approached via the forecourt of Buckingham Palace through the main entrance and hall, thence to the beautiful gardens. Miss Levere got an excellent look at the rich red carpets adorning the great hall, the famous wall hangings, and the collections of fine china. The interior of Buckingham Palace is not gloomy and cold, as many people are led to believe, but, rather rich, warm and beautiful.

More than 8,000 Commonwealth guests attended the Queen's Party. Only ten exchange teachers received invitations, and Miss Levere was one of the fortunate few.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, with other members of the Royal Family, entered the garden soon after 4, p.m. The Queen wore a fitted dress of buttercup taffeta with a wide-brimmed hat of layer upon layer of yellow tulle with a green velvet crown. The Duke wore the usual morning dress, striped trousers, black coat and grey topper.

Other members of the Royal Family attending the party were Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, The Duchess of Gloucester, The Princess Royal, The Earl and Countess of Harewood, The Hon. Gerald and Mrs. Lascelles, Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, The Earl of Athlone and Princess Marie Louise.

There were bursts of clapping when Sir Winston and Lady Churchill crossed the Royal enclosure to join the Queen for tea.

The lunch at the Royal Garden Party was excellent. It consisted of finger rolls with fillings of ham, shrimps, cheese and meat, several kinds of cakes and jam rolls with ice cream. Tea and coffee and cold drinks were served.

Miss Levere was allowed to take her camera to both parties and was able to get several coloured slides.

While abroad, she was able to visit Northern Ireland, Eire, Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and France. She rode on the canals of Venice in a gondola, visited the Vatican in Rome, the Follies Bergere and Opera House in Paris, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Casino in Monte Carlo, the perfume factories in Grasse, the Alps Mountains in Switzerland, had a boat ride on the Zuider Zee in Holland, visited Killarney Lakes, kissed the Blarney Stone at Blarney Castle, shopped in Petticoat Lane, London, visited as many theatres as possible, attended the Grand National Race at Aintree, and saw the Queen on three different occasions. These are only a few of the many things she experienced. The garden parties proved a perfect end to a most wonderful year overseas.

Army Captain Has Narrow Escape When Car Goes Into Ditch

An Army Captain escaped serious injury late Monday evening when his late model car collided with a cement and iron culvert over the Henderson Creek at the east end of Main Street, Winchester.

James W. Baldwin, age 37, of 240 Osgoode Street, Ottawa, owner and driver, was driving east on the street when the car left the pavement and travelled a distance of some 200 feet on the south shoulder, striking the west end of the culvert, breaking the cement wall and iron pipe rails.

The car was found balanced over the wall's edge which protects an 8-foot drop on the south side. The guard rails had pierced the front end of the car and damaged the complete right side of the vehicle.

Mr. Baldwin had walked around the car and fell into the creek, which had approximately 3 feet of water in it. He was assisted from the creek by Constable G. B. Raistrick, who investigated.

Damage was estimated at $600.00. It took the workmen over one and a half hours to remove the car from the rail.

Mrs. Saunders wore a pink crepe dress with white accessories and corsage of roses.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding supper was served to the immediate families.

Trampled By Horse, Man Suffers Broken Leg

Irvin Cross, well-known Maple Ridge farmer, is in hospital today with a broken leg, after being trampled by a horse early last Thursday evening, at his farm four miles south-east of Winchester.

Mr. Cross was about to unharness one of two horses that had been used in the fields during the day. On approaching the horse, without saying anything, Mr. Cross was suddenly knocked down and both legs were severely trampled and crushed by the enraged animal which was apparently frightened.

Mr. Claude Bilow, who was at the scene of the accident, helped the injured man to the house, and Dr. Howard Justus was called. Later, Mr. Cross was removed to the Ottawa Civic Hospita, where it was discovered that both legs were badly crushed, and the left one broken. At present he is progressing favourably, but will remain in hospital for a few days until doctors are certain his legs will heal correctly.

A LESSON LEARNED

A Pembroke store manager was recently confined to bed in the hospital and his home for several months. On return to work he doubled his advertising space in the local newspaper. He explained—he has always been so busy he never realized how interesting it was to read, and if that were so with him, many other people in town must be avid readers.—Exchange.

Pitcher's Duel Features Williamsburg's Win In Dundas Softball Finals

A pitcher's duel that saw a no-hitter and a two-hitter thrown by Don. Smith and Dalt. Kenney, thrilled the largest crowd of the season here Monday night as Williamsburg CTC's took a stranglehold on the Dundas County Softball Finals with their 2-0 victory. It was another close thriller, the kind that these two teams have been providing since the opening game.

Royals came back last Wednesday night to tie the series with a 7-6 win. Williamsburg went one up Friday night at Locketown with a narrow 7-5 victory.

Monday night at the 100 Club Park the CTC's scored both runs in the fourth inning. Gord. McMillan got on with the help of an error, but a fielder's choice on Bert. McIntosh's single caught McMillan at second. Phil. Casselman's single, a fielder's choice on Lloyd Casselman, and a Winchester error was all it took, and the Burg lads had two across. Aside from the fatal fourth, Dalt. Kenney retired the side in order in the first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh innings, to hurl his best game of the current campaign, in a losing cause.

Don. Smith's no hitter was a well controlled game of pitching. He hurled to twenty-six men, one more than Kenney, waked two, and struck out one. He was backed up by some sound fielding on the part of his teammates to help him get his near-perfect game.

Royals never had a man past second, and only two got that far. The game was, without doubt, the best played of this hot series, which still can go the limit of seven games. Two double plays, one to each team, featured the inspired defensive playing of the two squads. Each team picked up a pair of errors, only one of them doing any damage, and that was the Royals' miscue in the fourth.

Williamsburg now leads the best of seven final round, 3 games to one. The fifth game was played in Williamsburg last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham MacPherson Honoured On 25th Anniversary

A surprise gathering of about fifty immediate neighbours and relatives met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Graham McPherson, of Elma, on Friday evening to extend congratulations and good wishes on their Silver Wedding Anniversary. During the evening the following address, on behalfl of those present,, was read by Mrs. Egerton Barkley:

Dear Gladys and Graham:—It is with the deepest feeling of pleasure that we, a few of your intimate friends, together with members of your family, have gathered here this evening to honour you. We are happy to have the opportunity of congratulating you on the occasion of your Silver Anniversary. We all feel that it is an honour indeed to have a couple such as you in our community. Your interest and willingness to help in all church affairs and community activities shoud be an inspiration to all of us.

Both of you have the ability to carry out whatever you are called upon to do. In your quiet way you always seem to be there when needed most.

We all hope and pray that you may be spared to celebrate many more happy anniversaries. In the hustle and bustle of daily living we are apt to lose sight of the things which matter most. You have set us an example of how to enjoy the best things in life——namely, the blessings and comfort of a happy Christian home and the love and respect of family and friends.

As a token of this love and respect, we ask you to accept these gifts, and may you find enjoyment in their use. May they serve to remind you of this evening when we met here.

"To greet you on this special day
That means so much to you,
With five and twenty happy years
Now passing in review;
And then to wish you all Life's best
As future years unfold,
To bring still greater happiness
As Silver turns to Gold.

Mrs. Don and Mrs. Melvin Dillabough made the presentation of a trilight floor lamp and a matching smoking stand.

Mr. McPherson, on behalf of himself and Mrs. McPherson, expressed his thanks, and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Two very fine and appropriate solos were rendered by Mrs. Bernice Barkley, after which pictures were taken of Mr. and Mrs. McPherson. Immediately following, a dainty lunch, a nicely decorated wedding cake was served by the hostesses.

The evening was brought to a close by the Rev. Mr. Bowering expressing his congratulations and wishing them many more years of happiness.

Fennell Feed Staff Enjoy Annual Picnic

Fifty members of the Fennell Feed Company staff and their families enjoyed the annual picnic at St. Lawrence Park, Brockville, last Wednesday afternoon.

Sponsored by the management, the picnic this year was hampered by intermittent rain, which put a damper on games and softball. However, everyone did get a chance to have a better look at the beauties of the mighty St. Lawrence River via a Snider Boat trip which was made available by Mr. Fennell. Catering was handled by Morrison-Lamothe, of Ottawa, and directed by Miss Florence Fennell, head dietician for the company. Transportation to and from the picnic grounds was made by a chartered coach from Colonial Coach Lines. The party left about one o'clock and returned after the sumptuous five o'clock meal had been served.

A NEW ERA

Six hundred million dollars and 5 years later, as the engineers say, it will be interesting to note the changes that have taken place in this area of the province. The future looks rosy, and regardless of the outcome, the day, Tuesday, August 10th, will undoubtedly go down in history as the day the great St. Lawrence Power Project was officially launched. Attended by civic and Hydro dignitaries, the ceremonies were attended by over 10,000 Americans and Canadians, in addition to an official party of guests estimated at 1000.

For many individuals, Tuesday, the memorable day, marked the beginning of the end—the end of a home, of a business, perhaps of a friendship and sentiment. This is unfortunate, but it is something that will have to be faced brightly, and with optimism. For all of us in the Eastern portion of the province it should mark the beginning of a new era—one, we hope, that will bring prosperity and advancement to everyone.

WANTED—SOME GOOD SALESMEN!

Waht happened to all those public meetings Council was going to hold concerning Water and Sewerage installation for Winchester? The St. Lawrence Power Development has started, and that means we have dropped behind in our bid to keep up with the expansion trend that will cover active Eastern Ontario municipalities. Make no mistake about it, a water and sewerage installation for Winchester is inevitable if we are to expect any fruit from the huge orchard that is shaping up in this section of the province now. Water and Sewerage for Winchester is a good product, but before it can be sold, every citizen must be informed why he should buy it. And before that can be accomplished there have to be some salesmen, and, as yet, there aren't enough in this town.

THE WEATHER

Volumes could be written about the inclement weather conditions this area has not been enjoying this summer. With September only two weeks away, we have, as yet, to enjoy one complete rain-free week of mild weather. As a matter of fact there has been so much rain in this area that two neighbouring towns have wired Venice for town planners. This is the only section of the province where everybody is on the water front.

Not even the weatherman knows the answer. Last week, besides seven days of rain, the temperature also dropped to a low of 48. If nothing else, it's good fireplace weather, but who has a fireplace? It's been so cool here this summer that even the ducks wouldn't go any further north. Favourite song is "Blue Skies," which everybody is singing with fervent anticipation.

PULLETS NOT BULLETS

Flying across Southern Saskatchewan the other day, a young Regina air cadet lost his bearings, unwittingly crossed the international border and finally landed in a Montana wheat field. The farmer filled the flier with a chicken dinner, then drove him to the nearest town. The cadet reported to local police who phoned Regina, fetching another plane to pick him up. Red tape was apparently conspicuous by its absence.

There have been uncounted thousands of words written and spoken about the undefended Canadian-United States boundary, notes The Financial Post, but one trouble-free incident like this points up the realities very well. Compare this treatment with the bullets wandering fliers encounter over some world borders.

WINCHESTER'S TRADE FAIR

Winchester is to have a Trade Fair. Sponsored by the newly organized Business Men's Association, the event will be the first of its kind ever attempted in this town, and will be held in the Winchester Arena. According to Trade officials, all booths, which will measure ten by fifteen feet, have been taken, and an entertaining and educative program is being lined up for the two days of the Fair.

Trade Fairs are different from most of the Rural Exhibitions and other fairs that appear in the fall months each year. Instead of having competitive exhibits from just about every source, Trade Fairs specialize in displays of electrical appliances, furniture, machinery, new devices and a host of other things, depending on the size and location of the Fair. Here in Winchester it is not expected there will be anything too lavish, nor will there be any huge displays of new methods and ultra modern gadgets. There will be, though, a good show, one that the people of Winchester and vicinity should not miss.

Because it is the first fair of its kind ever held in the district, the Business Men's Association may look forward to a large crowd, and providing suitable pre-fair advertising of the event has been carried out, plans should be made to accommodate such a gathering of interested onlookers.

EDITORIAL NOTES!

We welcome the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association's decision to erect its new refrigeration storage plant in Winchester. Announcement that the contract had been let for the new building was made last week-end. Covering 38,400 square feet, with a capacity of 6,000,000 pounds of cheese, construction of the new plant is to be completed by March, 1955. The reason for the Winchester site chosen was the town's strategic location in Eastern Ontario, situated on the main Toronto-Montreal C. P. R. line, the junction of two increasingly important highways, and the close proximity to the St. Lawrence, not to mention the choice location of the actual plant which is immediately adjacent to the C. P. R. tracks, opposite the station.

Those who are most ready to criticize to-day's youth as a generation without morals, without responsibility, without anything as far as many oldsters are concerned, must have received quite a jolt last week as they heard daily reports coming from the British Empire Games at Vancouver. Average age of Canadian athletes was somewhere in the vicinity of 20 years, and Canada placed third in the total number of points. Last week in Toronto it was also reported that two 18-year-old girls had received perfect marks, 100, on their Departmental History examinations for Grade XIII. These are only examples, but proof enough that the younger generation is not as bad as a lot of people would have it, and probably about the same as past generations, if they had lived under similar conditions that exist to-day in a fast-moving world.

"True Warfare"

"Bishop McDowell tells about an old soldier who, in recounting his army life, stated that he had received three wounds, one of which he showed to his listener. "Where are the other two?" he was asked. "Oh, they were only insignificant, for they were made by spent balls." There are some folks who remain so far away from the scene of battle that the only wounds they ever receive are from spent balls. It would be a great day for the kingdom if the battle waxed so hot that we would have to say, as did the coloured valet in a fierce battle in the South, 'Befor' God, boss, they ain't no rear to this heah battle'." —Selected.

WARNING WORDS

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death."—Prov. 14.

The Bible speaks of only two ways and two destinations—the broad way to destruction, and the narrow way to eternal life.

It is either heaven or hell for you. "Choose ye this day."

Your decision determines your destiny. Christ said, "I am The Way."

All striving and self-effort is a way that seemeth right. Christ alone is the way of peace, happiness and salvation. Receive Him now; "For there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." —Matt. 7, John 14, Acts 4.

A TRIBUTE TO DOROTHY SPROULE

Something Unusual About the Folks Raised on the Banks of the Nation River

(Ottawa Citizen)

Evidently Dorothy Sproule's poetry must be as pleasing to others, in more distant places, as it has been to the rest of us hereabouts.

We supposed we were a bit partial, because this poet hailed originally from Dundas County, and somehow, one rather instinctively becomes obsessed with the idea, that people and things, whether poets or politicians, curlers or colorful cavaliers, are just a little more profound and pleasing out there, where good fellowship is a business, and dairying an art; but another poet, Jean MacDonald, of Montreal, is even more enthusiastic than we, and she should be authentic, because she likewise is a poet, and probably knows all there is to know concerning the metre and tempo and technique of writing rhyme.

There must have been some impelling force to induce Dorothy Sproule to leave the embracing friendliness of Dundas, for the vast spaces of Montreal, but that's where she is, that's where she pens the limpid lines, that find their way into the press, magazines, brochures and anthologies of two hemispheres.

She is probably content at having made the world a little brighter, because of her presence, yet hers was no ordinary struggle against ill-health, and many another obstacle of consequence and tragedy.

To achieve success under these circumstances requires abundant courage and perhaps it was she who wrote the telling phrase:

"He who would climb a tree must grasp its branches, not its blossoms." Or was it Thackeray?

LATE REV. JAS. PROUDFOOT

Word has been received of the death of Rev. James Proudfoot on Saturday, August 7th, in Toronto.

Known and highly respected in this community as representative of the Shantymen's Christian Association, Mr. Proudfoot was General Superintendent of that organization for 17 years. He was, for a time, editor of "The Shantyman." He retired in 1951. He travelled extensively throughout Canada and in Kentucky, establishing new fields for workers. Much of Mr. Proudfoot's missionary service was with the lumbermen of Northern Canada.

He served as stretcher-bearer overseas in the First World War.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Proudfoot came to Canada in 1913 and prior to the Shantymen's work served as minister of Baptist charges in Sudbury, Ridgetown, Cochrane and Toronto.

ST. PAUL'S W. M. S.

The July and August meeting of the Senior Auxiliary of St. Paul's W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Alex Summers on August 10th at 8 p.m. The president, Mrs. R. D. Ledgerwood, presided for the business part, opening with the call to worship. The secretary, Mrs. A. G. Suffel, gave a full account of the 65th Anniversary of the Society, held in June. The treasurer, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, gave the report for the first half of the year.

An invitation from Chesterville W. M. S. to be their guests on Friday evening, August 20th, was read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Geo. Wilson, and accepted by the Society.

Mrs. Walter Moffat spoke of her visit to Mrs. W. D. Turner, of Hillsburgh, and expressed her wish to be remembered to the Society.

Mrs. Grace Myers, Mrs. Alex Summers and Mrs. Thos. Coulthart were the program committee. Mrs. Myers read the 8th chapter of Genesis and led in prayer. Miss Isabel Hay was the guest speaker and gave a very interesting and inspiring talk on the Pre-Assembly Congress, which she attended in Toronto in June.

Mrs. Ledgerwood expressed the regret of all the members for the illness of Mrs. R. J. Empey, a faithful W. M. S. worker and press reporter. Special prayer was made for her recovery.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Hospitals cannot operate on the rates charged patients. If they did, such rates would be excessively exorbitant. In the case of a public hospital, there is usually a large grant from the municipality which is paid for in taxes. A safer method would be through endowments. In this manner, the interest on such money can be used year after year to assist hospital operation. —Carleton Place Canadian.

COUNTRY GIRL

By F. L. Rowley

MISS BETTY JOHNSON'S heart danced to the clickety-clack of train wheels as her eyes settled on familiar country. She swallowed hard when the conductor poked his head into the car to announce: "Hillcrest—next stop!" After a grueling year of facing glassy-eyed cameras and carping directors Betty was returning home.

Her stay in Hillcrest would be brief. She would then leave for New York in a blaze of affected glory—and complete oblivion. For Miss Betty Johnson was through with show business; irrevocably finished; washed up. True, she had made one picture—of sorts. Hillcrest was playing it up big in anticipation of its release—DESERT FEUD, starring our own Betty Johnson."

If her friends and neighbors had only known! If they'd been with her on the set day after day; if they had seen the director slapping his toupe on the floor in despair. Many a night had she allowed herself too little sleep in order to study a script—only to forget it by camera time. Her friends would look upon her as a quitter. Let them! She'd be buried in some New York business school by the time all this excitement had died down.

"I think the whole town's here!" cried Mayor Fulcrum doffing his topper as the train came to a halt. "Best turnout I've seen since Willie Watkins won the hog-calling contest over by Silver Creek."

"How's it feel to be a celebrity?" came a voice from the crowd.

Betty blushed. "I wouldn't know," she said faintly.

"Hear that?" Mayor Fulcrum half turned to face those on the platform. "That's a Hillcrest girl! No airs for her. Just real honest-to-goodness talent." The mayor then proceeded to outline the plan drawn up by the entertainment committee. The festivities would begin with an old-fashioned square dance in Pat Quigley's barn.

"Hello Betty!" A familiar voice spun her around as she was entering the big barn later that evening.

"Why Bill Saunders!" she cried, feigning surprise. "Whatever happened to your promise to write?"

Bill was no fool; she knew that the hurt look in his eyes was the result of her own attempted whopper. His letters hadn't gone astray—of that he was sure. She tried to make up for it by catching his hand as the music started.

Square dances were never designed for serious conversation between partners. Betty soon allowed Bill to steer her into the cool night air; the moon was just rising behind Quigley's orchard.

"I—I wish things were different," he whispered.

"What do you mean, Bill?" She knew perfectly well what he meant. The poor chap was pitying himself for being a farmer, while she—why she was Betty Johnson, the big movie star.

"Why you're famous. If you weren't so important—if you were just a country girl; oh, what's the use! Let's go in—"

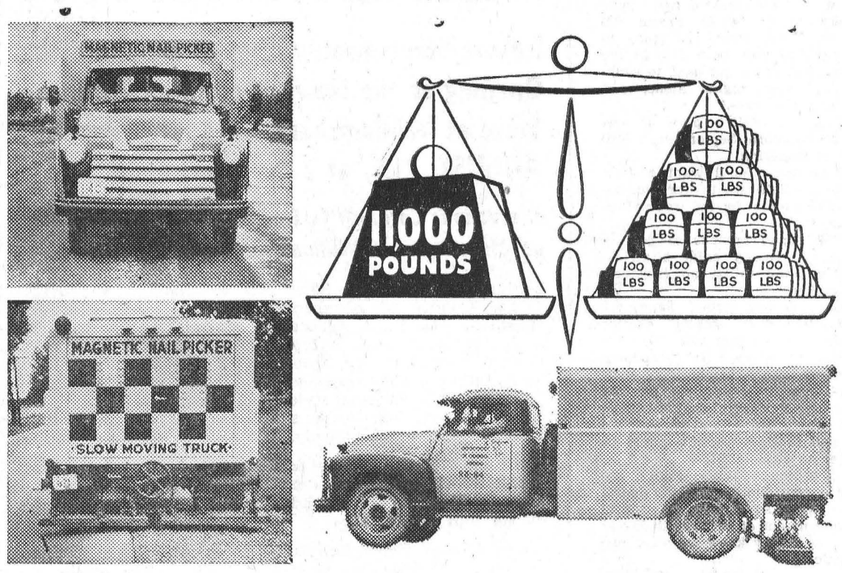
She caught his flannel sleeve: "You never was a coward, Bill."

Even in the moonlight she could see the perspiration on his brow. "All right," he gulped, "I'll say it. You've probably heard it from a dozen guys who can say it real fancy-like; only I mean it. I love you, Betty. Will you marry me?"

She thought of her New York plans. She thought of those difficult days in Hollywood where she had struggled to be something she was not.

"It's like coming home after a long trip; I guess maybe I am just a country girl after all. Yes, Bill—I will marry you."

And as they started back toward the barn to tell all their friends the good news, Betty didn't see the crushed letter that Bill tossed into the high grass; a letter that contained a newspaper clipping describing Betty Johnson's release from her studio.



TONS OF NAILS COLLECTED BY ONTARIO'S MAGNETIC NAIL PICKER DURING PAST YEAR

The figures don't indicate how many lives may have been saved, how many flat tires avoided. But, if the Ontario Department of Highways hadn't sent its magnetic "nail picker" over 4,896 miles of provincial roads last year, there would have been more than 5 tons of menacing metals left as potential hazards to tires and lives on Ontario roads. The scrap netted by the nail picker had a total weight of 10,842 pounds.

In operation since 1943, when it was produced by engineers of the Highways Department, the nail picker averages about 95 miles of road weekly, each year, gathering in nails, filings and other hazardous metal objects which have fallen on the roads.

The machine works on simple principles, it is pointed out by W. B. Hutcheson, executive officer to the Minister of Highways. An ordinary ton-truck generates electricity to magnetize a heavy steel bar, which extends across the back of the truck, close to the roadway. Metal objects are picked up on this, and when the magnet becomes loaded, it is demagnetized, and the objects then drop into a "blanket". This is then emptied into the truck.

The machine is in constant demand throughout the province, Mr. Hutcheson reveals. Various towns and municipalities as well as private concerns seek its use, "and we can't begin to comply with all the demands which are made". He points out that the use of the machine is particularly valuable in long stretches of road through lonely country where few service stations are in operation. Flat tires can mean much more under such circumstances, he said. The stretch between Hearst and Geraldton was pointed out as a typical area of this nature where the services of the nail picker were invaluable.

DRESS REHEARSAL

By R. G. CROCKER

NANCY gripped Bob's hand tensely. Currents of excitement rippled from her eyes, as she whispered breathlessly: "I'm only sixteen, Bob! The folks still think I'm a kid. You can't convince them! I'll bet you can't!"

Bob, more cockily than he felt, grinned back: "They expect us to get married some day. Why not now?"

Nancy dubiously agreed: "Marie told me at the Drama Club last night that she and Jerry are getting married this summer. She's only a year older than I am."

"You can think of your darned old club at a moment like this?" Bob demanded, aggrieved. "We're facing the most serious decision of our young lives—the real turning point." Nancy repressed a half hysterical giggle, and reached for the door knob. "They'll really hit the ceiling!" she whispered.

Nancy's parents looked up as they entered. Her mother smiled up from her sewing, and her father nodded, an ear glued to the sportscast as if it were an ordinary evening. Nancy hesitated only a moment, then announced brightly: "Congratulate us, folks! Bob and I have decided to get married!"

"What!" Nancy's father exploded. His pipe fell out of his mouth, scattering ashes in his lap.

"Now, Dad," Mrs. Parker said slowly, the anesthesia of shock wearing off. Her hand rested persuasively on his arm. "We were young once, remember?"

"THAT young?" he said bitingly. "Now, what's this all about?"

Bob's arm circled Nancy protectively as he said: "We want to get married."

"That's nice," said Mrs. Parker quietly. "You'll make a good son-in-law, Bob. But you're both pretty young. What's the rush?"

"No particular reason," Bob said lamely, coloring. "It's just that we're going to get married anyway sometime, and we'd rather get married while we're young and adaptable. I love Nancy, Mrs. Parker, and I'll take good care of her, honest!"

Mrs. Parker smiled, but with no mirth. "I'm not against young marriages — as long as they make sense!" she said decisively. "Let's do some figuring."

"I'm sure you love each other, so that's settled," Mrs. Parker said impersonally. "We'd better start with finances. Marriage is a lot of budgeting. Any apartment will be at least $15 a week, food about $20, furniture to buy, and odds and ends—. Of course, Bob," she continued, glancing at him keenly, "you'll have to forget about that engineering course—."

"And children?" Nancy's mother asked. "You'll want to raise your family while you're young. Of course, Nancy dear, it's going to be hard on you, with Bob in the Army. But you'll get used to walking the floor nights alone, and washing diapers—."

"But, we didn't plan to get married before September," Bob was stammering.

"Nonsense. You'll want a June wedding. We'll get to work on announcements in the morning, Nancy."

"You sound anxious to get rid of me!" Nancy said, shakily. "Bob's going to be an engineer, remember?

Bob rose and pulled Nancy toward the door, saying gently: "Maybe we'd better talk this over a bit more, honey." Nancy nodded, relieved. Like a couple of carefree teen-agers, they escaped out the door. The Parkers sighed in unison, and her father said weakly: "We stopped that! A tornado would be easier to cope with!"

Out on the sidewalk, Nancy giggled uncontrollably. "Oh, the dears! They were so utterly cute about talking us out of it! They'd disown us both if they knew we were just practicing!"

Bob said gloatingly: "Woman, you've got a new leading man! Now tell me I'm not good enough for your darned old Drama Club!"

Treating A "New" Disease

A mysterious disease called pancreatic fibrosis affects one out of 600 infants. Treated for many years as a combination of pneumonia and an intestinal disease causing malnutrition, it almost always proved fatal to the young sufferers. Even though thousands of children were affected, pancreatic fibrosis was regarded as a "new" disease by many doctors.

Finally, in 1938, Dr. Dorothy H. Andersen of Columbia University put together the symptoms and various changes made on the body by pancreatic fibrosis, and medical science recognized the "new" disease.

Pancreatic fibrosis produces a double attack on youngsters. A heavy mucus liquid forms in the lungs causing a severe cough and hampering breathing. This condition also results in frequent infections, such as pneumonia and bronchitis. The second set of symptoms affects the pancreas and it fails to deliver its quota of enzymes to the digestive system. The children, though they eat large amounts of food, are underweight and suffer from malnutrition.

As a result of medical research, better methods for treating these patients have been evolved. A series of tests on 49 patients was recently conducted for 15 months by four Boston doctors. They found that the broad-range antibiotics, such as terramycin, were the most effective in this disease, protecting the child against lung infections and at the same time stimulating their growth. With proper diet and careful treatment, the children now have a new lease on life.

NEW GRAIN IN FOR GRINDING

The new grain that has come in for grinding seems to be fairly good quality. It is soft yet, of course, but not bad weight. Care should be taken about feeding new grain to poultry—for a few weeks. It does give trouble sometimes.

We'll be glad to look after the grinding, rolling and mixing of your new crop. Our equipment has been overhauled and is in first class shape. Grinding will be done 'fine,' 'medium,' or 'coarse' as you want it. All rations will be carefully mixed, either with concentrates or according to your own formula. A full range of protein, mineral, vitamin and antibiotic ingredients in stock.

CEMENT

Phone 136 for Cement—fresh stock unloaded this week.

We will help figure on the job, deliver the cement and then go and mix it for you.

As the supply is a bit tight, it is a good idea to order Cement as far ahead as possible.

65th Anniversary of W. M. S. of Williamsburg United Church

On Tuesday afternoon, August 10th, the Williamsburg United Church was the setting for a very happy event when the W. M. S. of that church met to celebrate 65 years of missionary work and service.

The first part of the anniversary was a devotional service in the church, conducted by the president, Mrs. Grant Cougler, assisted by the vice presidents, Mrs. W. Garlough and Mrs. G. Dunlop.

Following the opening hymn, Mrs. Dunlop led the responsive reading and prayer. After this, Mrs. Cougler welcomed guests from seven visiting Women's Missionary Societies; these societies contributed one item each to a very fine programme.

Mrs. W. S. L. Merrill, from Morrisburg United W. M. S., conducted the worship period and left some soul-searching thoughts with her listeners.

Mrs. Dalton Robinson and Mrs. Irwin Holmes, of Winchester Springs United W. M. S., sang a duet, and Mrs. Mahlon Gow, of Colquhoun, sang a solo. These musical numbers were much appreciated. Mrs. Maefred Merkley presided at the organ during the service.

The offering was received by Mrs. Grant Beckstead and Mrs. Dalton Larmour, and dedicated by Mrs. Clifford Sypes, all of the Robertson Auxiliary of Morrisburg West.

The special speakers were Mrs. J. L. Kirchhofer, president of the Williamsburg Lutheran W. M. S., and Mrs. Earl Munroe, president of the Winchester Springs Presbyterian W. M. S. Both brought inspirational and worthwhile messages.

Mrs. Geo. McIntosh, of Elma W. M. S., offered the closing prayer.

Mrs. Strader McIntosh, granddaughter of the first president, Mrs. J. H. Merkley, gave the history of the 65 years in the local Society, and told many interesting stories of the early days. There were only ten members when the Society was organized in 1889, and the yearly contribution was $5.00. This is now over $300.00, and the membership is 35. Two of the early presidents were present, and were asked to stand: Mrs. Mary Shannette and Mrs. Edgar McIntosh. Miss Dora Merkley, of Brockville, was also a guest, and Mrs. McIntosh told that Miss Merkley had joined the Society at the age of 12 years, as her mother, who was one of the first ten members, had taken her to meetings to play the organ. She continued as organist for thirty years.

A short "In Memoriam" service was conducted by Mrs. Wilbur Garlough, while Mrs. Roy Leizert, Presbyterial president, placed a basket of white and purple gladioli at the front of the church in memory of all deceased members.

Following the service, the guests were taken into the Sunday School Hall where a delightful buffet luncheon was served. The table was attractively decorated with flowers and candles, and centred by a three-tier anniversary cake. Miss B. Saddlemire, Mrs. R. Wingard and Mrs. Lyle Hess were in charge of the luncheon, and were assisted by other members of the local Auxiliary. Mrs. M. W. Locke and Mrs. Grant McIntosh poured tea. Mrs. Mary Shannette, the Society's second president, cut the anniversary cake.

At the close of the tea hour, Mrs. Grant Cougler read a letter of greetings from a former pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Russell, of Dumfries, Scotland. A letter of greetings was also received from Mrs. (Rev.) Gerald Fee, of Cowansville, Que.

Mrs. Roy Leizert, of Cardinal, president of the W. M. S. of Dundas - Grenville Presbytery, brought greetings and also gave a short talk. This was followed by greetings from one member of each visiting Auxiliary.

Over 100 guests signed the guest book, and the Anniversary celebrations were brought to a close by singing one verse of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

BOOKS LOST!

When disposing of my old books at the time I sold my house, I lost track of two Bibles and a Hymn Book, which I treasure greatly. One book was a Church of England Prayer Book, which belonged to my grandmother; the other was an old family Bible, which belonged to my mother. These books were evidently placed with lots of other books, which were either sold or given away. If you received any of these book lots would you please check to see if the Bible and Prayer Book are among the books. If you have them, please notify the Press Office and I will pay you for your trouble, when I return to Winchester in the near future. I am anxious to get these two religious volumes back, as there is a great deal of sentiment attached to them.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

GAMMA GLOBULIN WISDOM

Recently a group of pediatrician and immunization experts regularly connected with the Health League Immunization Committee formed a sub-committee to study gamma globulin as a public health weapon in the fight against polio. It was unanimously agreed by this group that because of its short supply and short-term protection, gamma globulin was not the answer to polio. The group felt that since gamma globulin is the only protective weapon available at present, it should be reserved for use in epidemic areas, since it cannot be administered practically for the benefit of the general public.

Since this committee announced its position with regard to gamma globulin, there has been a great deal of newspaper and radio publicity about the availability of additional supplies from commercial sources. This has caused considerable embarrassment to pediatricians who have been under pressure from patients for doses of gamma globulin. The following question gives an indication of the pressure to which pediatricians and general practitioners have been subjected.

QUESTION: "Recently I heard that gamma globulin would prevent polio; so I took my two little boys to the doctor to be inoculated, or whatever it is that they do. He said it wouldn't be a very good idea, and advised me to forget about it. Why?"

ANSWER: In my opinion, your doctor's advice was wise and fair and thoroughly justified. In the first place, the effectiveness of gamma globulin is not completely proven, and in any case its probable protective effectiveness lasts for only a short period of time (not more than five weeks). In the second place, there is barely enough gamma globulin in all of Canada for use in areas stricken by severe epidemics. If it is truly valuable it should certainly be reserved for use in such areas, since there is so little of it and since more than one dose would be needed for each person in an epidemic area. It would take four doses to continue the probable protective effectiveness throughout the summer.

If your doctor decided to give gamma globulin to your boys, who are not in an epidemic area and who are not in any real danger, he would, in effect, be stealing that gamma globulin from some youngsters in an epidemic area whose lives mght be saved by it. Moreover, if he gave gamma globulin to your boys he would have no valid reason for not giving it to any other of his patients who asked for it. This would be wasting still more of the supplies urgently needed for emergencies that might arise, and besides your doctor would soon find that there was not gamma globulin available for everyone; so he would have to draw the line somewhere. Some mothers do not understand this. They will say to a doctor: "Take care of my little Willie, and let the rest of the population go hang." This may be what is called the "mother instinct," but it is certainly not an attitude that can be shared by an ethical physician.

There is hope that an effective vaccine will soon be available which can be mass-produced and which will offer long-term immunity. In the meanwhile, we should all cooperate by seeing to it that every drop of gamma globulin is reserved for use where and when it is most needed. Otherwise we simply waste it to no purpose; it would be less costly and just as sensible if we poured it down the drain.

It will prove easy to remove ink stains from hands by rubbing for a short time with a ripe tomato, or with the inside of a banana peel.

KEEP a jar of soft butter outside the refrigerator and you'll always have butter ready for toast in the morning, sandwiches for lunch or for seasoning cooked vegetables.

If you cut crusts from bread for sandwiches, save them for Apple Betty. In this way they can be used to good advantage.

Mix together cinnamon and brown sugar for cinnamon toast. It has a rich supply of minerals and vitamins and will give the family a flavor treat.

When you do not have time to make cheese sauce for vegetables, simply melt some processed cheese with a small amount of milk in the top of a casserole for an excellent sauce.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Potato-Stuffed Frankfurters
(Serves 4)

8 skinless frankfurters
1 cup finely diced cooked potatoes
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 slices bacon

Heat oven very hot (450°F.). Split frankfurters, lengthwise, almost through to the opposite side. Lay open. Combine potatoes and seasonings and spoon over split frankfurters. Top with another split frankfurter, sandwich style. Hold in place with toothpicks. Wrap a strip of bacon around each serving. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until bacon is crisp.

It's easy to make Thousand Island dressing to have on hand. Simply mix together chili sauce and mayonnaise and add some chopped hard-cooked egg to the mixture.

Bits of leftover cheese and luncheon meat are tasty and well used in a green salad for luncheon or supper.

Give the children a treat at party time by mixing together milk, chocolate syrup and ice cream in a jar, shaking until fluffy. Serve with peppermint sticks as stirrers.

HE FORGOT that a bit of wood preservative, applied at little cost when the fence was put in, would have saved him the cost of new posts now.

In the telephone business, as around your own home, we find it's better to do the job right in the first place and then look after it. It's the best way we know to avoid heavy repair and replacement costs, to save expense and give you most service for your money.

That's why we treat telephone poles against rot; why we keep our trucks clean and in good repair; why we put up exchanges and offices to last;

It's common sense if we are to keep our costs down—and the price of your telephone service low.

If you would like to get useful information on the preservative treatment of wood we suggest you write Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources, Ottawa.

"It's Astounding
says Mr. R. B. Blyth.

Robert Bayne Blyth
4490 BROADALE ROAD, CLEVELAND 9, OHIO

25 January, 1954

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada,
Waterloo, Ontario.

Gentlemen:

Let me express my deep appreciation of your promptness in forwarding the cheque in settlement of the quinquennial dividend on policy 53970. I want also to express my great gratification at the results of this policy, taken out by me when I lived in Victoria, B.C.

Not long after I took out the policy; it seemed advisable for me; for health reasons, to come to this country, where I have been ever since. Had I remained in Canada, I certainly would have bought more insurance with your Company, but living on this side of the line; I secured several policies from other companies. While I have been pleased with the records of some of these policies, none of them compares favorably with the one I have with The Mutual Life of Canada.

It happens that we have five children, for each of whom I took out a policy when they were in their 'teens—in five of the better companies in this country. But none of these policies show a record that compares favorably with the record of the policy I hold with you.

I presume you have the policy result before you. It is one of which you may be proud. To me, it is astounding that I should have received in dividends from the policy an amount more than equal to the total amount of the premiums I paid out—while the policy still offers the protection it always did. It is a marvellous record for which I am profoundly grateful.

Sincerely yours;
R. B. Blyth

You have full permission to use my letter of January 25, 1954, in any way you deem best. I shall be highly gratified if it can be used to call attention of a wider public to the advantages offered by your company.
