Chesterville dam clears first obstacle

Chesterville has cleared the first hurdle in its quest for a new dam for the South Nation River in the village following the approval in principle of the project by the executive of the South Nation River Conservation Authority.

The matter will now have to wait for the endorsement of the full authority, which probably won't be meeting until July.

The authority's executive gave its nod to Chesterville's proposal, put forward at the meeting in Berwick April 15 by Reeve Keith Graham, following a drastic change in the grant structure for dams on land owned by the authority which greatly reduces the financial commitment of both the municipality and the authority.

If approved by the full authority, the new dam would be built 50 yards downstream of the existing structure on the Nation. The plan has been resurrected after it was shelved in 1967 because of soaring costs.

It was estimated at the time the engineer's report was prepared on the dam in 1967 that the cost to Chesterville would have been in the neighborhood of $50,000 of the total $130,000 construction cost. If the project is accepted this year, grants from the provincial Ministry of Natural Resources would force this cost down to about $12,000.

Authority secretary Arnott Empey said under the new grant set-up, the province pays 50 per cent of the first $30,000 of the project and 100 per cent of any costs over that.

The municipality in which the dam is built bears 80 per cent of the first $30,000 and the rest of the authority's member municipalities pay the remaining 20 per cent.

Mr. Empey pointed out that the village and authority contributions be further reduced through supplementary grants from the ministry which vary each year between 10 and 20 per cent of the first $30,000 of a project. This year's supplementary is 10 per cent, down from 15 last year.

Chesterville Council decided at its March meeting to bring up the dam study again in light of increased provincial financial participation in such projects. The dam would provide extra water for village fire protection, enhance the scenic value of the village and provide more water for industrial use.

The village would reap an extra benefit if the project is given the authority's approval as it would be situated close to the senior citizen apartment building at the east end of Chesterville. Engineer's specifications call for a 17-foot-wide walkway on the top of the structure which would give senior citizens closer access to the new drop-in centre being built in the Community Park.

According to the 1967 report the dam would be 17 feet high and a 160 feet long, with a sill set flush with the riverbed. The concrete deck would be fitted with handrails to double as a footbridge and it would have six 22-foot-wide stop logs, which would leave sufficient clearance to pass summer peak flows from the weir and which, when removed, would allow high spring flows to pass unimpeded.

The report says the dam would raise the river level one foot west of the structure and full authority approval hinges on a study to determine the effect this would have on the upper course of the Nation.

While the executive was passing the resolution on the dam, it was also passing a motion requesting the Ontario Milk Marketing Board to reconsider its decision requiring all milk shippers to convert to bulk tank systems by October 31, 1977.

The authority sent a letter to the OMMB's head office stating that the annual flooding of the Nation made it next to impossible for farmers in low lying areas to ship their milk in bulk for one or two weeks a year.

The letter requests that the bulk regulations be eased during the annual peak flood so that farmers in affected areas - particularly those around Brinston and Platagenet - could ship their production in cans.

OMMB Regional Marketing Director for Eastern Ontario Sarsfield O'Connor said last Friday that he has made the provincial body aware of the problem, which he described as a "spotty situation" affecting about "a dozen farmers".

He didn't say whether he thought the marketing board would change its policy for such an "isolated situation" but explained the OMMB's decision to change the milk transportation across the province as ultimately benefiting farmers as if forced them to become more efficient.

Mr. O'Connor said the plan was devised to force farmers to change to bulk or cream or to leave the industry.

The necessity to switch to bulk, because of the higher cost transportation, more stringent quality standards and the lack of availability of cans to replace deteriorating containers, was made apparent to the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the Ontario Dairy Council, the Ontario Milk Committee and the Milk Transportation Association.

He added that increased prices and lower transportation costs for larger producers of bulk-shipped milk would pay for new equipment and facilities required for the change-over in a couple of years.

Higher education costs up taxes 17 mills

Like the fellow who's told by his executioner to cheer up, things could be worse: he could be using a dull axe, Chesterville ratepayers, hit with a 17-mill tax increase can be consoled with the fact that the increase could have gone as high as 28 mills.

This year's rate has gone up to 134.5 mills, from 117.3 for supporters of public schools on the farm and residential rate. For commercial and business public school supporters, the increase is even greater, climbing 19 mills from 135.1 last year to 154.1.

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board of Education had not released its 1976 budget when the tax rate bylaw was passed at a special meeting of Council last Thursday night, so figures for separate school supporters were unavailable at press time.

Village clerk-treasurer Lloyd Graham said once the separate school figures are received, they can be dropped into the bylaw and tax bills can be prepared and sent out towards the end of May.

Higher educations costs are almost solely to blame for the 1976 increase, which amounts to $51 per $3,000 or residential assessment and $57 for commercial.

While the village rate declined 0.1 mill and the county levy dropped 0.6 mill, the elementary school requisition shot up eight mills on the residential side and 8.9 for those paying commercial and business taxes. The SD&G County Board of Education requisition for secondary schools went up 8.7 mills for residential and 9.6 mills for commercial ratepayers. Rates are 28.5 and 31.6, respectively, as compared to 1975 rates of 19.8 and 22 mills.

Although tri-county education costs increased over 4.3-million this year to $30.7-million, the board of education pared its spending to the bone and cut back what could have been a 28-mill increase to an average of 14 mills for the 21 municipalities in the school area.

The board has blamed lower provincial grant ceilings for the increase in local assessment, saying the Ministry of Education's policy is detrimental to areas of low assessment. The province's move was designed to shift more fiscal responsibility from Toronto to local boards.

Chesterville's requisition for education spending for 1976 is $77,370 for elementary schools and $75,056 for secondary schools. This is based on the village's total assessment of $2,508,212, which breaks down to $870,510 residential and farm public school; $236,945 residential separate school; $863,572 commercial public school; $57,580 commercial separate school; $461,715 business public school and $17,890 business separate school.

The following is a breakdown of the mill rate for public school supporters. Separate rates for elementary schools and separate totals were unavailable at press time and will be published as soon as they are received by the village clerk's office. (1975 rates follow the 1976 figures in brackets.)

On their way to a winning time

Paul Brunt and Danny Martel paddle under the Nation Valley ridge in winning style on the way to their first-place finish in the first annual Nation River Canoe Race, sponsored by the Morrisburg Canoe Club Sunday afternoon. The boys finished the approximately seven-mile course in 1H:26min., three minutes ahead of Loyal Brunt and Linda Coons. Bob Gilroy and Mac Shepherd finished third with a time of 1H:35min. and Alan Crowder and Doug Disheau placed fourth with a time of 1H:39 min. Club officials were disappointed with the turnout of competitors and blamed the bitterly cold weather for the small number. - staff photo -

E.O. horse pulling championships here May 22

This could very well be the year of the horse in Chesterville as area teams compete against those from across Ontario, Quebec, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan in the Eastern Ontario Horse Pulling Championships at the Chesterville Fairgrounds Sat., May 22.

The event is being sponsored by the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society and is being organized by Ken McNeely, RR3 Winchester. Mr. McNeely, a member of the Eastern Ontario Horse Pulling Association, has organized several similar events in Winchester.

He expects about 40 teams-10 from the local area-to be entered in the event's two classes. Teams of combined weight of under 3300 pounds in the light division and those of 3300 pounds and over in the heavy class will be competing for between $1,800 and $2,000 in prize money and trophies for their teamsters, Mr. McNeely said.

The competition is very simple. Weights are piled on a stone boat and teams have to pull them a minimum of 15 feet. The team lasting the longest as the weights are increased wins. Prize money and trophies will be given to the top 12 teams in each weight class ranging rom $100 to the top teams to $20 for the 12th-place finishers, according to agricultural society president Stan Vanden Bosch. The greatest weight pulled locally is six tons, Mr. McNeely said.

Horse pulling is gaining in popularity, Mr. McNeely stated. Many farmer keep teams strictly

Engineer to prepare Joseph St. survey

The reconstruction project of Chesterville's Joseph St. got officially on the rails last Thursday night with the appointment of R.M. Kostuch Associates Ltd., of Ottawa to prepare the final engineering survey and call tenders for the work.

The decision was made at a special meeting of Council Thursday at which the Ottawa consulting firm was given the go-ahead for the plan which involves moving hydro and telephone poles back to property lines, the installation of a new storm sewer system, the removal of sidewalks and the widening of Joseph St. to 26 feet.

Council originally estimated the project to cost in the neighborhood of $70,00.

John Coe, consulting engineer with J.L. Richards Ltd., another Ottawa planning firm, met with Council to go over the revision of the village's 1967 Zoning bylaw.

Final approval was given to the revision, made necessary to bring Chesterville's zoning into conformity with the recently-approved North Dundas area Official Plan. The revision has been sent to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval at the provincial level.

Decision on an addition to the village's truck fleet was reached at Thursday's meeting and clerk-treasurer Lloyd Graham will be advertising this week for a small, foreign-style pickup truck to be used primarily by the hydro and recreation staffs.

The Community Hall facelift a step further Thursday night as Council signed a contract with Dwyer Glass of Cornwall for the installation of metal framed, vent-topped thermopane windown on the hall's second floor. The 84-inch-high windows will cost the village a total of 4,492.

Another addition was made to the hall with Council's decision to install a pay telephone in the downstairs lobby. Councillors originally wanted the phone on the second floor, Bell Canada refused to go along with the proposal, saying it couldn't install a telephone near a kitchen area.

The clerk-treasurer's office had some of its equipment modernized with the purchase of a new photostatic copying machine. Part of the 1965 purchase price of the new, faster machine, was offset by the sale of the machine formerly used in the office. The old copier was sold for $300.

Plans were made Thursday night to extend water and sewer lines on South St. so that the first four lots of the Peter VanKessel subdivision, immediately facing College St., could be developed. Services will also proceed to the Armstrong subdivision.

Council is still looking for an inspector to act under the Ontario Home Renewal Program. The job involves scrutinizing homes of those who have applied for assistance under the municipally-administered program and inspecting work as it is carried out. It is a part-time, paying position.

Clerk Graham reported that as of Thursday six applications for loans had been received by his office. The village received $20,168 for the program from the Ontario government in March. The money is to be used to renovate older, owner-occupied homes in the village. The maximum income for those eligible under the plan is $12,500.

for competition and the fact that he travelled to over 40 meets across Ontario and Quebec last year attests to the resurgence in popularity the sport is enjoying.

The pulling event will take place during the day in front of the grandstand and the day's events continue with a supper and dance in the arena Saturday evening. Both are sponsored by the agricultural society and the dinner will be catered by the Winchester Presbyterian Women.

Tickets for the buffet supper and dance are $5 per person and admission to the grounds during the day is $2 for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted free of charge. As well as the outdoor events during the day, there will be a beer garden in the arena.

There will be no entrance fees for teams competing in the pulling event and arrangements can be made with Mr. McNeely for accommodating teams from out of the area at the Winchester Livestock Exchange.

Rev. E. Earle Eaton was in Ottawa Easter Monday for the Bill Prankard Evangelistic Association Bible study. On Wednesday he motored to the Watertown area and visited friends and former parishioners. Thursday evening he furnished the piano accompaniment for a song service in connection with a meeting of Presbyterian Men at Ingleside.

Making his point

School closing chairman Mrs. Sandra Enns and superintendent of education Arnold Kelly listen as M.N. "Hugh" Hutchison argues a point with parents at last Wednesday's meeting in Williamsburg Public School. Mr. Hutchison told the concerned parents that the SD&G County Board of Education found itself in a bind as capital expenditures were cut back by the province and it was because of this that the closing of the village school was recommended before facilities were ready at Elma for the Williamsburg students. - staff photo -

School closing protested

WILLIAMSBURG—The storm of protest matched the weather outside as over 60 Williamsburg parents crowded the old schoolhouse last Wednesday to declare their opposition to the SD&G Board of Education administration's recommendation that the school, built in 1890, be closed at the end of this academic year and the projected enrolment of 38 students be bused five miles to Elma Public School at the start of the next school year.

Angry parents told board School Committee Closing chairwoman Mrs. Sandra Enns, Cornwall trustee, and Superintendents of Education John J. Comtois, M.O. Hutcheson and Arnold Kelly that their children would receive less educational benefits and would be disoriented by the move to Elma.

They also accused the board of not honoring its promise to keep the students at Williamsburg until facilities at the Elma school were ready to accommodate the larger enrolment.

The recommendation to close the three-room school was made at the April 13 board meeting by Mrs. Enns but no decision was made that night. The board decided to wait until it heard the parents' point of view before it acted on the recommendation. Last Wednesday's meeting in Williamsburg was called for that purpose.

Williamsburg parents were told two years ago that the village's school would eventually be phased out of use and its students moved to Elma when that school was ready to accept a larger student body.

The meeting two years ago was to inform parents that senior elementary students were to be bused to Maple Ridge Senior Public School, mid-way between Chesterville and Winchester. The Williamsburg school now accommodates children from grades one to six in two classrooms.

Mr. Hutcheson said the board administration now finds itself in the situation where it realizes it is difficult to keep the commitment made at that time and because of the eight-month provincial freeze on education capital expenditures, it can't afford to build the necessary extension at Elma to handle the extra students. An extra portable unit would be moved to Elma as an interim measure, he said.

He and Mr. Kelly said, however, that the declining enrolment at Williamsburg - down on a projected basis to 38 in September from the present 47 - makes the continued operation of the school untenable.

They argued that the September student-teacher ratio in Williamsburg would be 19:1, a level unacceptably lower than the 23.8:1 the board has set as the average across the three counties. In effect, the school would be entitled to 1.5 teachers and Mr. Kelly stated that since half a teacher is hard to come by, two staff members would put the school over its allowance. He added that support staff would put the school over its allowance. He added that support staff would put the school up to three fulltime teachers.

He was asked what the saving would be by sending students to Elma and what the figures were for educating elementary students across the rest of the United Counties as compared to Williamsburg.

He said the board would realize a total saving of about $15,000 by closing the school and after he, Mr. Hutcheson and Mr. Comtois huddled together for awhile, he gave rough comparative figures which showed it cost about $330 a year more per student at Williamsburg than the tri-county elementary school average.

His figures showed it cost roughly $1148 a year for each elementary student across SD&G while the figure at the Williamsburg school is $1477.

The board would save about $17,250 by closing the school, part of which would be offset by extra transportation costs of $2,200 for busing students the five miles to Elma.

Mr. Hutcheson explained that when the province thaws its capital expenditures, the Elma school is high on its list of priorities for expansion. The work would have been done before this, but Tagwi, St. Lawrence and Char-Lan high schools took precedence over the smaller, elementary school, he said.

He promised that the second portable classroom was only an interim solution to the space problem and that when the spending freeze is ended, Elma would get its long-awaited addition.

The portable unit was the main point the Williamsburg parents objected to. They said there was a real danger the unit would become a permanent fixture at the school. Once students were placed in it, the permanent addition would be forgotten about, several claimed.

They also claimed the quality of education at Elma wasn't up to that students already received in Williamsburg, arguing that the smaller school allowed for more individual attention for students, particularly in the area of remedial reading help. They also pointed that Elma has neither a gymnasium nor a library while Williamsburg has both.

Some suggested that to compensate for the declining enrolment in the village school, students should be bused to it rather than moving the entire student body at Williamsburg to another school. To do that would require a realignment of school boundaries, which now follow township lines, but Mr. Hutcheson made note of the point and said he would carry it with him to the board.

He said the question boiled down to a strong disagreement with the use of temporary classrooms at Elma and the fact that no programming benefits would be gained by the move.

He told the parents he gathered from the meeting that although they wanted to see their school left open permanently, they would reluctantly go along with the move once permanent facilities are completed at the area school. He added that the administration would investigate the possibility of busing students from Dixon's Corners and Elma to bring the student-teacher ratio up to an acceptable ratio.

He said parents would have to remember that if the school is left open, they would have to face the possibility that support staff for Williamsburg would be cut out and students would lose such courses as phys. ed., art, music, remedial reading and French.

Education resources survey nears completion

CORNWALL — The survey of resources in the tri-county school board area is nearing completion. The project, under the auspices of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education and financed with a Local Initiatives Program grant, is designed to determine the human and physical resources in the community which may be of use to schools, community groups, and individuals.

The data collected will be catalogued in a handbook to be published over the summer months for distribution this fall.

With the present restraints being put on school spending, the facilities of local communities have become increasingly important adjuncts of school curriculum. Field trips for students will be an obvious budget item to feel the pinch.

In order to maintain the quality of school programs, educators will make greter use of local or nearby industries, farms, businesses, and knowledgable citizens to supplement what is taught in schools. Community groups will also have access to the handbook to aid them in improving the overall quality of life through contact with these individuals and businesses.

Five researchers have been in the field since January contacting those who have something to offer and who wish to become involved.

While some industrial and other types of plants have declined due to safety hazards or inevitable interruption of production, the general response has been very positive.

Artists, professionals, farmers, industrialists, collectors, historians and those with many other interests and talents have shown their willingness to help.

While the board is indebted to those who have offered their support this far, the survey is by no means complete. Researchers are still gathering names and information from all areas.

Those interested in becoming involved in the project should contact the T.R.I.P. office at 901c Montreal Road, or call 933-0242.

Choosing contractor can be as important as type of silo itself

Today the investment in a tower silo of any type represents a substantial sum of money and if the farmer is to get the most for his money it is important that the contractor be selected with care, states H.E. Bellman, Walkerton, agricultural engineer with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

The farmer should investigate the reputation and performance of the prospective builder and ask other farmers who own silos constructed by the particular builder some of the following questions:

Are they satisfied with the way in which the contractor built the silos and the quality of the structures?

Does the contractor have a poor record of building his silos by the agreed-upon time, and does he stick to his original price - even under the pressure of present-day inflation?

Does the contractor build the footings for his silos and does he pay close attention to the type and condition of the subsoil at each silo site in order to provide proper footings for each situation?

What kind of record does the contractor have in dealing with problems relating to construction after the silos have been built?

Does the contractor provide an Operator's Manual with each silo, and does he have some type of follow-up program after the silo is constructed?

Mr. Bellman says one way of choosing a contractor is to pay attention to the way he sells his silo.

A "good" contractor does not sell on price alone. Rather, he emphasizes the quality of his structure, the advantages his silo can give the farmer and the follow-up services his company is prepared to provide.

He should sell a silo as part of a total system of feed storage and handling and should be prepared to assist the farmer in planning the system - from field to feedlot - dealing not only with the present situation, but also making allowances for future changes and additions.

Above all he does not infer that his structures will perform miracles!

In the final choice of a contractor, a farmer should give serious consideration to those who are members of the Ontario Silo Association, and who design and build their structures according to the guidelines set forth in the association's standards.

If attention is paid to the foregoing points, chances will be greatly increased that the farmer will be satisfied with the contractor selected and the resulting structure, Mr. Bellman concludes.

Chesterville's past

FROM THE RECORD THURS., APRIL 30, 1936

Officials of Locketon Lodge, Williamsburg hotel, must have thought yesterday that they had the cow that jumped over the moon when it is alleged they found a cow contentedly occupying an upstairs parlour. It seems that Stanley Casselman bought a couple of cows at Clarence Deeks' auction sale west of the village and was driving them home when one of the animals disappeared. The bovine is said to have entered the front door of the hotel, ascended the flight of stairs to the upstairs storey and entered the sitting room. A hotel guest who witnessed the episode must have thought he was seeing things when bossy leaped over a Chesterfield and stood surveying the strange surroundings.

Tune in the new, tune out the old! The passage of the old and the coming of the new is a common story today with the old being superseded on every side by the freshly modern. This time the scene of change is Trinity United Church where a brand new Hammond organ has been installed to supplant the old organ, which had been in use for 35 years. The new instrument was dedicated Sunday morning by Rev. C. Tait. Money for the purchase of the new electric organ was provided by a generous bequest by Miss Laney Kittle.

Michael J. Casselman, father of A. Claire Casselman, Member of Parliament for Grenville-Dundas, died at Morrisburg Tuesday afternoon at the age of 88 years. The funeral is being held this afternoon at two o'clock from St. Paul's. During Mr. Casselman's lifetime, he was Reeve and Councillor of Williamsburg Township several times; Reeve of Morrisburg in 1925 and warden of the United Counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry in 1903.

With the arrival in town Monday of the director, Miss Eileen McCarthy, from the John B. Rogers Producing Company, rehearsals are getting merrily underway for the big community show "It's a Knockout". The show is packed with novel surprises, catchy tunes, tricky steps, drama, laughter and love. Stars of previous productions will be recognized in the cast which includes Marjorie Lynch, Frances McAvoy, Joan Millea, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. D.M. McElheran, Dick Merkley, Ted Carr, Jim Foley, Harry Hummel, Frank Casselman and Leon Marcellus. Ella McCloskey is the pianist.

The Finch Cheese Board reorganized Saturday evening for the coming year. The following officers were elected: president, John Robinson; vice-president, D.A. McIntosh; secretary-treasurer, W.C. Johnstone. Thirty-four cheese sold at 10 cents.

FROM THE RECORD THURS., MAY 2, 1946

Many church-goers in Chesterville found themselves going to Sunday morning services just about the time of the last hymn as confusion reigned about when the timepieces should have been set one hour ahead for Daylight Saving Time. The proclamation issued by Reeve Barkley stated Daylight Saving Time would go into effect "from midnight, Sunday, April 28, 1946" and this was interpreted by many as setting the clocks ahead an hour on retiring Sunday night, in spite of the fact the CBC went on fast time at 2am Sunday.

At a joint meeting of the High School and Public School boards of Morewood, it was decided that both schools would, beginning Monday next, go on fast time.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario School Inspectors' Assembly held in Toronto April 23, W.J. Stewart, M.A., B. Paed., Inspector of Schools for Dundas County, was elected president for the academic year 1946-47.

Following a fall of snow and cold weather on the weekend, the weather has moderated somewhat and some farmers are reported on the land.

Elvin LaSalle, of town, is a patient in the Water Street Hospital, Ottawa, where he underwent an operation last week.

A meeting of the businessmen of Chesterville will be held in the Community Hall at 8:30 on Monday evening, May 6th, to discuss the organization of a Board of Trade for Chesterville. A representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will address the meeting. A large attendance is desired so that everyone may be informed of the benefits of such an organization. Will all business men make it a point to be present.

Mrs. Jack MacMillan was tendered a gift by the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia on her resignation on Tuesday in appreciation of her very efficient services over a number of years.

Chesterville Larder Lake Gold Mining Company Limited, Kearns, Ont., reported a net loss of $139,038 for the year 1945, compared with a deficit of $105,066 for 1944.

FROM THE RECORD THURS., MAY 3, 1956

A large tract of land south east of Crysler was selected this week as the site of the 1956 International Match. Armand Clouthier granted his permission to use a 35-acre field between the Eighth and Ninth Concessions in Finch Township as the "tented city" and most of the plowing contests will be held nearby. Farms owned by Bernard, Raymond and Ralph Beehler, all well-known plowmen in international match circles, are nearby.

A weekago, a transport-trailer arrived at The Record's back door with 12½ tons of press in hundreds of pieces. By that night the pieces were strewn over the floor of our new addition in seeming utter confusion. This week our 43x56" press is rapidly nearing its original state under the patient hands of erector Claude Grainger, Montreal, and we hope to report the press in operation next week.

Donald Brownlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mansel Brownlee, is going to Banff National Camp to represent Chesterville High School. He is one of 28 cadets from Eastern Ontario selected for the trip.

James E. Cunningham, principal of Chesterville High School for the past five years, has resigned his position to accept the principalship of Glencoe District High School, 30 miles west of London. William Kavanagh, teacher of mathematics in the local high school for the past two years, has resigned to accept a similar position at Glencoe and Miss Gisele Senecal, teacher of Latin and home economics since 1951 here, next year will be on the staff of Cornwall Collegiate and will instruct Grade 12 and 13 history.

The most astonishing adventure of the century - a soldier's hunger for a woman, a woman's lust for gold. An all-out excitement unsurpassed for sustained suspense - that's the description in this week's Record for "A Prize of Gold" starring Richard Widmark and Mai Zetterling now playing at the Community Theatre.

NOT BY ANY OTHER NAME: Federal Liberals can be forgiven if they feel like a skunk at a garden party in light of the Ontario party wing's decision to sever ties with the national party and go its own way. The decision, made at the party's weekend meeting in Toronto, was proclaimed ostensibly as being the result of new election financing laws, under which politicians are invited back for a second helping at the public trough. But with the situation as it is in Ottawa, Ontario Liberals can't be blamed for their attempt at escaping the stigma the feds seem to create wherever they go. The move also leds credence to Premier William Davis's claims of last fall that the electrion of the Liberals to power in this province would create an unholy trinity, as the Grits would hold sway in the pivotal axis of the country - Quebec City, Ottawa and Toronto. The Ontario wing therefore can't be blamed for changing their name from the Liberal Party In Ontario to the Liberal Party Of Ontario. They have obviously tired of being tarred with the federal stick and then having Messrs. Davis and Lewis beat them half to death with it. The party can now address itself to the problems of this province and take the Tories' favorite red herring out of the political parlance of Ontario. Provincial elections will, hopefully, now be fought more along provincial lines. -RM.

APRIL BLIZZARDS: Thank the Good Lord for that smattering of snow Sunday night and Monday. It's what we needed to get us back into the mood for the lunacy of the NHL playoffs. Just think. With May around the corner we have reached the midway point of what has to be the most exhausting round of post-season sports competition in North America. It took 34 games to complete the eliminations and quarter-final rounds and now, if we're really lucky, we'll get a maximum of 21 more before Lord Stanley's shaving mug is held aloft by some hairy-legged mercenary and we can settle into some activity more appropriate for the spring and summer months. -RM.

THEY HAVE GONE TOO FAR: Seseame Street has, since its inception, been held in universally high regard for the educational content the U.S. program has aimed at its young television audience. Going on the premise that learning isn't always a pleasurable experience, the show's producers have mixed in a hearty helping of sugar to help the medicine go down. One of the main ingredients in the sugery coating surrounding the bitter pill of learning are the Muppets, that innocuous bunch of almost-human puppets led by the archetypal paper tiger, the Cookie Monster. And now some bunch of child care "experts" want to rob the Cookie Monster of its name, arguing that he (or she, or whatever) creates both through his ('hers, or whatever's) name and actions, unhealthy dietary habits among children viewers. They've even gone as far as suggesting that the character be renamed the Carrot Monster. Really! Do they have to take all the fun out of being a kid? - RM.

by wyn thompson

We've never owned a brand new car. Nothing spectacular about that. Lots of people have never owned a brand new car, nor any car for that matter. We appreciated that fact and always felt quite exalted as we drove yet another used car away from the car lot to become our very own.

"One of these times", the Farmer would say, "we'll get a lemon, but we've always been lucky to date."

Well, the lemon is sitting in a Sunoco garage just off the QEW at Burlington. With 53,000 thousand miles to its credit!

But even at that, it had the common decency not to break down until the last few hours of our holiday.

We started our holiday in high spirits with the Farmer's sister and spouse on a shunpiking trip to the Caledon Hills where their son and his wife lived. Good Friday was a pet day and we dawdled, taking every side road imaginable arriving just in time for the dinner hour. The sun was slowly sinking into their farm pond...a large red orange, it gilded the escarpment land.

Sleep came easily after oohing and ahhhing over their new home. Next day and the next were filled with visiting and recollecting. All too soon it was Monday morning and we took leave of these two young people as they headed off to their offices in Toronto and we headed off on another adventure.

This time to the Aberfoyle Mill near Guelph as I have a special interest in old grist mills. Yes, I do work near one but, also, my father had a small grist mill once, so my remembrances go a long way back.

Shortly we arrived. The delightful interior of Aberfoyle Mill was a reminder of its history. Through a vestibule, we entered the Main Dining Room where the total decor was made up entirely of authentic antiques in the country's largest personal collection of Canadiana. A complete full size, single cutter hung from the ceiling surrounded by more than a hundred individual pieces of farming and agricultural implements such as an early miller would know.

The walls were equally interesting, with large blacksmith's bellows, firearms, pioneer rakes, flails, scythes, a cracker barrel that once occupied a place of honor in a general store, and a score of other articles of another period.

I spoke to the owner Bill Bragg, who told me to look about as much as I liked. His wife had done a painting of the Watson's Mill, Manotick, in which I am interested. There it hung on the wall looking quite in keeping with the period for both mills were near the same age.

The Aberfoyle Mill was built in 1859 by George MacLean, a Scottish immigrant, who settled his family here in the mid-19th century. In 1867, his mill became world-reknowned by winning a gold medal for oatmeal at the World's Fair in Paris.

George was 30 years old when he built the mill and his young wife only 23. their oldest son Peter, then only two, was to operate the mill in later years. The youngest son Donald was born the same year as his father built Aberfoyle Mill.

The value of the mill in 1861 was $565. with the 4½ acres surrounding it. The MacLeans at that time were the proud owners of 5 horses, and 9 pigs.

Another immigrant family who lived close by was the Hammersley family, from England. They became the second owners of the mill. This may have occurred as one of the young Hammersley girls married one of the MacLean boys. The Hammersley family installed a steam boiler in an adjoining building to keep the mill operating 24 hours a day, as at times drought would lower the water level in the pond.

A tragic incident occurred during a busy period at the mill when the boiler blew up hurling the miller out of the boiler room into the mill. Shortly after this unhappy event he sold the mill. It was reported in the annals of the township of that time in a wryly, humorous way: "Shortly after the explosion Mr. Hammersley sold the mill, he wasn't feeling very well."

The mill has had two or three owners since the Hammersley family lived there, but the last man to use the building in the flour and feed chopping business was James F. Murphy. He lived directly across from the mill, in a house still occupied by his daughter Miss Lenora Murphy. Hydro was installed in the mill at this time and no doubt made life somewhat easier for the miller.

In 1960, the mill was purchased and the new owners set about restoring the old building which had fallen into disrepair. The turbine and all the machinery was repaired and put into working condition. The long neglected sluice runway was repaired to supply the water to operate the turbine again and the same mill pond was used to supply water power.

On November 1st, 1973, the mill came under the ownership of Lynne and Bill Bragg. They are continuing to maintain the tradition and atmosphere of Aberfoyle Mill.

For lunch I chose Miller's Omelette...somehow it seemed appropraite!

From Aberfoyle we went on to Hamilton to stay the night with long-time and dear friends. As always it was a rewarding experience! Having said fond farewells, we started for home and shortly after entering the rush of traffic on the QEW we heard a little tick-tick-tick in the motor. The Farmer feared the worst and said so. The little tick-tick-tick- became a louder tick-tick-tick.

The Farmer eased the car off the QEW and into Burlington where the mechanic rather confirmed our suspicions by saying, "You're not going to like what I'm going to say."

We rented a car, transferred our worldly belongings to it,had lunch (the best fish and chips I've ever eaten), refused to be cowed by this set-back and set out for Eastern Ontario.

The weather was still crazily wonderful for a little past the middle of April. Another stop in Kingston refreshed us and we soon pulled into our driveway to be scolded severely by Scamp for having deserted him so cruelly. Journey with me next week-end on our return trip to Burlington...a place I had never been to before.

IMPIP loan changes caused by quota cutback

William Newman, Ontario Minister of Food and Agriculture, has announced that he will meet with the Ontario Milk Marketing Board to discuss the situation of milk producers who have been in production for less than a year and are being limited in the amount of milk they can produce due to federal quota cutbacks.

He made the statement in the Ontario legislature following the federal government's disclosure of the new Canada Dairy Policy for the coming dairy year.

Under the new program, the support price for butter will be $1.08 a pound, up five cents. The support price for skim milk powder will rise four cents to 68 cents a pound and the subsidy on industrial milk will be $2.66 per hundredweight.

Special levies have also been placed on milk and butterfat shipped over the national requirements of 95-million cwt. of milk to control overproduction.

The milk levy is $8.60 cwt. and for butterfat, $1 per pound. The farmer will receive only a few cents per unit of milk or butterfat shipped over quota.

Mr. Newman stated that this policy is in line with the federal government's policy to cut production in the dairy industry. He said it began with the reduction of industrial milk subsidies and the 15 per cent reduction in Ontario's milk share quota.

He recalled the Ontario government's Industrial Milk Production Incentive Program of July 1973, introduced when the federal government announced its plan to increase production and make Canada as self-sufficient as possible.

Under the provincial program, producers were eligible for five-year loans and were not required to repay any principal in the first year. If they succeeded in raising production to an agreed level, they qualified for a refund of up to 20 per cent of their yearly principal payments.

With the change in federal policy to reduced production, the provincial government may reduce by 15 per cent, the amount of increased milk production required in the 1976-77 dairy year for a dairy farmer to qualify for the refund under IMPIP.

The refund would be available by application from the farmer and mean an Ontario farmer under IMPIP will not necessarily have to increase milk production to qualify for the refund.

Concerning those people who have been in production for less than a year, he stated that their quotas have been set according to their production for only part of a year.

This makes it necessary for them to buy additional quota in order to increase or maintain their production.

Mr. Newman said ministry staff in the district and county offices and the provincial IMPIP review committee will review requests from individual farmers regarding refunds and the repayment of IMPIP loans to those who need assistance.

These measures will be in addition to his planned meeting with the Ontario Milk Marketing board, he said.

QUEEN'S PARK REPORT

by The Honourable Donald R. Irvine

Home plan successful

The Honourable Dennis Timbrell, Ontario's Minister of Energy, will be the guest speaker at the Carleton-Grenville Progressive Conservative Association Nominating Convention at 8pm, Friday, April 30th, in the Marlborough-North Gower Public School, North Gower.

At the meeting, accredited delegates will elect the Carleton-Grenville representatives to the upcoming Ontario Progressive Conservative Party Annual Meeting. The delegates will also nominate a candidate to represent the Progressive Conservative Party in the next Provincial General Election, whenever it may occur.

I wish to announce that I will seek that nomination, and it is my hope that I will have the opportunity of continuing to represent the residents of Carleton-Grenville.

Housing

Many residents of Carleton-Grenville may be unaware of the extent of Ontario Ministry of Housing's activity in our Riding. A recent summary supplied by Housing Minister, The Honourable John Rhodes, shows that most of the Ministry's programs are represented in this area.

For example, there are 311 rent-geared-to-income housing units either under management or in the development or construction stages. Of these, 105 units are for families and 206 are for senior citizens. One of the newest projects is the 51-unit senior citizen building now under construction on the Prescott waterfront.

However, assisted housing is only one of the Ministry's many programs. Another very important aspect is providing homes which moderate income families may purchase.

The Home Ownership Made Easy program, for example, provides solid, no-frill housing at affordable prices. In our Riding, lots for 524 single and 732 semi-detached homes have been marketed in Goulbourn Township and lots for 15 single and 30 semi-detached homes have been marketed in Prescott.

OHAP Incentives

To help municipalities develop housing, the Ontario Housing Action Program provides incentives for private builders, municipalities and the Province to act together. Goulbourn Township and Prescott have both received housing policy study grants from OHAP. The program has also provided the Region of Ottawa-Carleton with a $1,965,000 interest-free loan to assist with servicing, and a $100,000 grant for housing study.

One of the most successful programs launched by the Ministry of Housing is the Ontario Home Renewal Program. To date, eight municipalities have taken advantage of OHRP, which provides funds to homeowners, through their local municipalities, for upgrading houses to acceptable municipal standards.

These are the municipalities which received OHRP funds: Augusta Township, $10,000; Cardinal, $15,000; Edwardsburgh Township, $15,000; Merrickville, $15,000; Osgoode Township, $57,496; Prescott, $30,000; Rideau Township, $40,000; and Wolford Township, $29,366.

If you would like more information regarding any Ministry of Housing program, just write to me and I will see that you receive it. You may contact me at: Room 180, Legislative Building, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario. M7 Z 1A2. Toronto: (416) 965-0190, Prescott: 925-2451.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I just read an article, "Sex and the Senior Citizen". It was about a man, 92, and a woman, 86, not exactly taking the roof off the Old Folks Home, mind you, but still enjoying sex. Here I am, a 42-year-old wife, dead as a doornail. I'm so depressed I could die.

I'm not turning to you for advice, Ann. What I need is approval. I just happen to be one of those unfortunate people who has never enjoyed sex. Believe me, I've tried, but it just isn't there for me. Everything I read makes me feel like a freak, an oddball, a nothing. Even you, Ann Landers, who are sympathetic toward the handicapped, the mentally ill, the underdogs of the world, have failed me and my kind. You've made us feel that somehow we are deficient — especially if we happen to be married to a person who DOES enjoy sex, which I am.

Please don't suggest therapy. I've tried it. I've also tried prayer, transcendental meditation and yoga. Just tell me I'm not crazy. Thank you very much. — Your Opinion Matters

Dear Y.O.: You're far from crazy. In fact, I'd say you are a special kind of lady. A woman who "feels nothing" but manages to provide satisfaction for her husband rates E for effort, and T for trying. So stop hanging pejorative labels on yourself. You're O.K.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm ashamed to tell you what our family problem is, but we've reached a Dutch stand-off and need the opinion of a disinterested third party.

It's a battle between our 13-year-old son and his 42-year-old father. If you ask me, the kid has more sense than his old man.

My husband insists that the boy part his hair on the right side because he is right-handed. The kid's hair is full of cowlicks and it falls to the other side naturally. I know you have always taken the position that what's on the inside is more important than what's on the outside, but there has been an awful lot of haggling. We need to hear from you because your word is respected around here. Please rush your reply, Ann. The're at it again. — S.D. of Danbury, Conn.

Dear S.D.: A 13-year-old is old enough to know what side of his head he wants to part his hair on. Being right-handed or left-handed doesn't have a cotton-pickin' thing to do with a person's hair. End of hassle. I hope.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the young woman who broke off with her fiance because he chewed the ice in his drinks (she sometimes thought he was eating the glass) gave me the courage to write to you.

I broke up with a young woman because she stuck chewing gum behind her ear, under the seats in movies, on the legs of restaurant tables, and sometimes she'd just spit the wad out on the sidewalk.

I told her repeatedly how I felt about this ugly habit, but she ignored me. The day we traded seats at a tennis match and I got up with the gum stuck to the seat of my new slacks, I told her goodbye forever.

My buddy said if I really loved her I'd have overlooked it. What do YOU say? — Unstuck in Caracas

Dear Un.: I say your buddy is wrong. The girl sounds like a slob and an unteachable one at that. Good riddance.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the woman who is married to a quiet-a-holic made me green with envy. I wish I could take her husband and give her mine. She signed her letter "Ready to Explode". That makes two of us.

My husband never runs out of things to talk about, except it's the same stuff over and over. I know all his stories by heart. I can finish every sentence he starts.

He is retired, under my feet constantly and follows me all over the house when I clean. It drives me nuts. If I go to the store for a quart of milk, he tags along. When I try to escape to the bathroom for a few minutes alone, he stands outside by the door and continues to yak.

He even talks at the table, with food in his mouth. It's sickening. If I correct him he blows his top, says I'm picking on him.

After 50 years of marriage, I'd hate to get a divorce. But something's got to give. Since he is an avid fan (he reads your column aloud to me as if I were illiterate) maybe he'll recognize himself and mend his ways. What do you think? — Bunioned Ear.

Dear Bun: I think you have a compulsive talker on your hands and at his age it's unlikely that he will change. Carry a small radio in your pocket, the kind with earplugs. "Develop" some favorite programs and learn to tune him out when he rambles on. Look interested. Nod at frequent intervals. Say "Yes, dear." And think about something else.

CONFIDENTIAL to Horrified, Degraded and Ashamed of Him: Your letter indicates that you don't have the slightest concept of what homosexuality is. Every day I receive letters from wives who display the same kind of ignorance. Have a talk with your family doctor. He will put your mind at ease, and hopefully recommend some reading material to enlighten you on sex in marriage. Then please enlighten your mother. You've done your husband a grave injustice.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (24 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Don't bet burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers's guide to "Necking and Petting — What are the Limits"? Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RNAs hold first '76 meeting

The St. Lawrence Chapter of the Registered Nursing Assistants Association held its first meeting of the year April 13, at the Cornwall General Hospital.

President Linda Collins presided over the meeting. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison and 15 members and two guests signed their names for the roll call.

Secretary-treasurer Mrs. Gloria Baker read the minutes of the last meeting. The financial report was read and books audited. Miss Dorothy Allen, Smith's Clinic, Hawkesbury, presented the St. Lawrence Chapter with a donation. New business was discussed.

Members decided not to send a delegate to the annual meeting in May as they thought they would benefit more by sending someone to our fall workshop. The annual meeting will consist of electing new officers to the Board of Directors. All members were urged to use their proxy and send it in no later than May 1.

The president read a letter stating that a representative from the Ministry of Health would be in Cornwall some time in May to discuss the New Health Discipline Act. A brief report from the Annual Report, 1975, on the Colleges of Nurses of Ontario was read by Mrs. Zeta Godard.

Announcements will be made regarding date and place for our next meeting.

Church members' role main Presbyterial theme

CORNWALL — "Fifty plus One" was the theme of Mrs. Emily Marquis' address to the annual meeting of the Seaway Valley Presbyterial United Church Women at St. Paul's Church, Cornwall, April 21. Mrs. Marquis, associate secretary for Stewardship Services in Toronto, is the first woman appointed to the board of finance of the United Church of Canada.

"During last year's 50th anniversary celebration of Church union, the focus of attention was on church history", she said, "now we are into the first year of the rest of the life of the church, and it is time to take a closer look at the church as it is now and, more important, where it is heading".

The meaning of stewardship was discussed with the audience and several ideas were brought forward. 'Doing what you can with what you've got' is important; also the three 'T's, - Time, Talent and Treasure. 'Working together for God' and 'Giving of your best, not leftovers' are two more.

"One of the greatest meanings of stewardship is being able to open doors for other people", added Mrs. Marquis.

Some areas where the UCW could and should become involved were mentioned by Mrs. Marquis. They include the involvement of everyone - especially young people - in the work of the church; less talk and more action by church members; the world environmental crisis; alcohol and drug abuse; hunger and starvation existing in the world contrasted with the affluence in Canada, northern development, and the issue of land use.

"We have a God-given responsibility towards all these things", she said.

Some of the money donated to the United Church's Mission and Service Fund is earmarked for emergencies such as the Guatamalan earthquake where the United Church of Canada was the first to bring aid. Mrs. Marquis pointed out that 450-million people suffer from hunger in the world today, and that 16 per cent of the world's population consumes 91 per cent of the earth's non-renewable resources. "We are riding on the backs of the down-trodden", she said. "The United Church is people; people who can give of their time and talents, and, as you cannot be everywhere at once, 'let your money do the walking'. Remember the meaning of Easter, praise, faith and, above all, hope.

Opening worship at the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Funge, Mrs. Mary Marjerrison and Mrs. Lois Park from Avonmore UCW using the parable of the withered hand and the prayer, "use our hands, Lord, to serve Christ with love in our hearts."

Mrs. Jean Scott, Seaway Valley Presbyterial president, remarked on the busy year just completed and the joy that she had found in meeting so many UCW members throughout the year.

She also expressed concern about the apparent "gap" between local UCW and the Presbyterial. "We should be growing together", she said.

Mrs. R. Bunker welcomed all the 211 delegates on behalf of St. Paul's, hostesses for the meeting. Mrs. Carl Hunter gave news of resources available on the literature table, and Lynne Francis led the singing.

Mrs. Lillian Armstrong, Montreal-Ottawa conference president installed the slate of officers for the coming year.

Leaving the executive this year will be Mary Wall and Edna Sullivan. They will be replaced in their offices of Publicity and Regional Vice-President of Region two by Louva Couthart and Verna Gallinger, respectively. Mrs. George Marjerrison will be the new chairman of Church and Society and Mrs. Elizabeth Funge will be Outreach chairman. Betty Milne will take over Personal Growth.

"S.E.B." or "Summer Event Bulletin" followed, giving details of this year's Summer Event, "Learn to Live" which will be held at the University of Ottawa, August 13, 14 and 15. Registration forms will soon be available from local presidents. All women of the church are invited and, again this year, husbands and highschool age children are also invited. A special family rate is available. Dr. Wilbur Howard, moderator of the United Church, will be guest speaker and the many interest groups will focus on the theme, "Learn to Live" in today's changing world.

In the evening, an unusual worship service was presented by Verna Gallinger and Mary Loree of Long Sault, using film strips, overhead projector and cassette tapes.

Mrs. Brian Gee from Iroquois gave the courtesies and Rev. Harry Funge, Seaway Valley Presbytary, president gave the closing benediction.

Stel presents certificates of appreciation to Nelson LaPrade, Chesterville, and Harry Mussell, Winchester, right, as the two men reached milestones at the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic at the WDMH last Wednesday night. Mr. LaPrade, a member of Chesterville Village Council, made his 60th donation at the clinic, while Mr. Mussell, with the Department of National Defence in Ottawa, made his 35th. Both men made their first donations of the "gift of life" during World War II, Mr. LaPrade in Cornwall in 1940 and Mr. Mussell by direct transfusion with the Canadian Army. Two hundred and fourteen units were collected from 252 donors at the clinic, with 38 donors rejected.

Late bus service cut for tri-county high schools

The decision of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education to cut out late buses at the 10 secondary schools in its jurisdiction has forced school administrations, particularly in rural area schools, to seek alternative means of transportation for students who take part in extra-curricular activities.

The move to cut out the buses was made by the board last week and announced at the April 20 budget meeting. It was made as a measure of restraint as the board tightens its belt in 1976 and according to board figures, it will save $12,800 from a total secondary school transportation cost of $1,120,814.

The board's decision is effective as of this Friday, April 30, and area bus drivers were informed of it by letter Monday.

The removal of the late bus system is most keenly felt in rural areas, where all students are bused to school.

According to North Dundas District High School principal Don McGahan, the cancellation of late buses will affect the school's band and athletic programs as well as students receiving remedial academic help and those working after school on projects and in the school library.

Mr. McGahan said Tuesday that alternative means of transportation for the rest of the school year were being examined, although he added it was too early for the school to have come up with "any concrete alternatives".

The policy will extend into the next academic year and the NDDHS principal said the school would have to come up with a permanent substitute for the board-operated late bus system for the 1976-77 year.

"This has already had a tremendous effect on our school. Extra-curricular activities are very much a part of school life and the educational process and they complement what goes on in the classroom" Mr. McGahan said, adding that there are more to them than just the band and inter-varsity athletic programs. He said students are into intramural athletics now after school, particularly badminton and tennis, and with exams approaching they are making greater use of the library facilities at NDDHS.

As far as the band programs are concerned, the music department still has credit for six bus trips, gained during the winter when snow forced cancellations of scheduled late buses.

Mr. McGahan said the board's new policy won't affect buses used for school trips, just those used for after school activities.

The late buses, operated at NDDHS by Lannin's of Chesterville and Boyd's of Winchester ran on a thrice-weekly basis, and will make their last trips this Friday afternoon.

Clean-up Weeks

Clean-up Weeks in Osnabruck Township will be held this year from May 3 to 14, during which time all ratepayers receiving garbage collection are requested to have all garbage ready for pick-up on regular collection days. After May 14 household garbage only will be picked up provided it is placed in proper containers. Township clerk-treasurer L.E. Marcellus states that household garbage does not consist of old tires, rocks, tree limbs and other garden, lawn and garbage refuse, which will only be collected during the clean-up period.

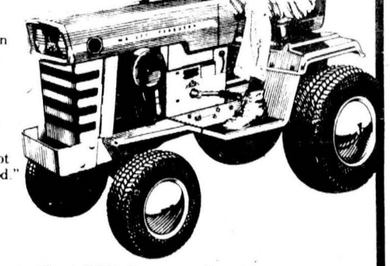
Give us 5 minutes and you'll see why it's not "how much" but "how good."

If you've looked at lawn and garden tractors lately, you know they vary in price, horsepower for horsepower.

But don't assume that all tractors claiming the same horsepower are alike except for price.

Dollar for dollar, Massey-Ferguson lawn and garden tractors give you the best value for your money.

If you'll give us five minutes, we'll show you how MF quality can save you money. Anyway, in the long run, it's really not "how much" but "how good."



Let us prove to you that MF is your best value in a lawn and garden tractor.

With the purchase of a 10 - 12 - 14 - 16 H.P. Tractor you can buy a Snow Blower for $25.00 and, or Rototiller for $50.00

GO Zero Concord FROM TEAT TO TANK!

The ZERO CONCORD is the only system that provides stable milking vacuum at the teat end — in parlor or stanchion barn — with a low or high, short or long, pipeline — and without injecting air into the milker units to move the milk. Only with stable vacuum and no air injection can you hope to reduce leucocyte counts up to 65% — increase milk production as much as 20% — and prevent off-flavor and rancid milk.
The safe, stable vacuum is made possible by a patented, scientific principle . . . TWIN-VACUUM . . . whereby one vacuum milks the cows, and a different vacuum moves the milk through a separate pipeline into the bulk tank. In addition — thanks to ZERO's patented SPATTER-SPRAY Automatic Washer and new, improved, high-capacity, transparent milker unit — you have built-in, "push-button", visible self-cleaning and sanitizing of the entire system — without disassembling. And there are many other advantages.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Linda & Laura Holmes

A sure sign of warm weather was the presence of the tennis nets and lots of people on the courts this week.

Our track team will be travelling to Kingston this Saturday for the first Invitational meet. Results will be posted next week.

The Junior math contest was written by Jeff Hunter, Steve Grebb, Martha Justus, John Maxwell, Garth Steele, Vicki Wennacott and Ron Porteous. Final results came back this week. North Dundas placed sixth out of all Eastern Ontario Schools. The outstanding achievement was made by Jeff Hunter who placed second in Eastern Ontario. This rated him 13th in all of Ontario to place on the Provincial Honor Roll. He also placed in the top 100 over Canada on the National Honor Roll. Congradulations, Jeff!

Would you like to buy a magazine subscription or renew an old one? I am sure any student at North Dundas would be happy to give you that chance. The Athletic Association is sponsoring this fund raising activity, so please support our athletes and student body.

One of the latest controversies is the fact that there will be no late busses as of April 30. This means our music program will suffer, our athletes won't have much time for practice and extra help and social activities will decrease. It is regrettable that these worthwhile activities have to be curtailed.

Dairy princesses visit Long Sault

Stormont Dairy Princess Karen Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, Moose Creek, and Ontario Dairy Princess Debbie Rogers of Odessa took time out from their busy schedules last Thursday to talk about farming with members of Mrs. M. Morrison's grade three class at Long Sault Public School. Following their tour of the school the two ladies were guests of the Kraft Co. Ltd., for a tour of its Ingleside plant. Miss Rogers has taken a year off from her studies at Ernestown Collegiate, where she has completed her grade 12, to travel across the province and visit the United States and Great Britain as the ambassador of the Ontario dairy industry. During her year as provincial princess, she maintains an office at the headquarters of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board in Toronto. - staff photo -

A letter to Beryl

E.K. Pearson, Ag. Rep.

A Letter to Beryl

Dear Beryl:

There are some things I don't understand. I don't understand why modest increases in farm product prices get so much publicity. I don't understand why efforts to stabilize farm product prices through Marketing Boards are criticized.

Some years ago the Ontario Department of Agriculture became the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. That seemed like a good idea at the time, because with the exception of foods such as fish and wild berries, it can truly be said "No farmers, no food." Yes, it seemed like a good idea to associate "agriculture" which is the $5.00 word for the farming industry with man's survival by means of nutritious food.

Now I'm beginning to wonder if it was such a good idea. The farmer sometimes gets a lot of press coverage with respect to rising food costs, through eggs, milk, Marketing Boards etc., but the whole perspective is often way off base. First of all, we Canadians are fortunate food-wise in that the percentage of our income spent on food is one of the lowest in the world. For many of us, food costs have in reality gone down in the past thirty years, when we think in terms of income changes. The job I had at that time paid me around $2,000 per year. The same position to-day would command about $10,000 per year. Beef that at that time cost 50c per pound to-day would be around $1.50 per pound. The salary increased by five times, the beef price by three times. As far as I can re-call, milk costs have also trippled while salaries have quintupled.

Another side to the story is the cost of the raw product compared to the finished food product. An article I read recently about bread stated that the price of the raw wheat grain used in a loaf of bread was less than five cents a loaf. The article also stated that the cost of transporting and handling the loaf of bread between the bakery and the retail outlet was as much as the farmer received for the wheat. Isn't that fantastic?

At a meeting of the Grenville Milk Committee a few days ago another example came to light. Someone asked why it cost 40 to 60 cents for a glass of milk in a restaurant. At a retail price the value of the milk in the glass should be around 12c. The farmer's share of that 40 to 60 cents is about 6 cents depending on the size of the glass. Why does a cup of coffee cost only about half as much as a glass of that beautiful food. The price of milk at a lunch bar doesn't do much to reduce the current surplus.

A more classic example, of course, would be to consider the farm value of the grain in an 89c box of breakfast cereal. That would be about the same as comparing the value of a couple of tons of iron ore in Labrador to the same iron ore converted into a 1976 automobile. In other words what we are suggesting is that reasonable increases in the products of the farm in their raw state, have a very modest effect on the price to the consumer. A healthy profitable agricultural industry is important to all of us. If farm income can be made more stable, and more profitable in terms of income on investment, and payment for labour and management, it will help to preserve good food producing land for future generations. That will make it possible for future generations of farmers to stay on the farm to provide our daily bread.

Best regards,
Ed.

KCAT tenders called

Margaret Scrivener, Minister of Government Services, announced last Friday that tenders are now being called for the construction of a gymnasium and auditorium building at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

A project of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the proposed single-storey structure will provide students of the college with a new facility for indoor sports and recreation during the school year. It will also be utilized as a regional centre for agricultural meetings, exhibits and shows.

The fully air-conditioned building is to contain an integrated gymnasium and auditorium furnished with built-in sports facilities and serviced by an elevated stage and projection room. Other features of its design include group meeting and recreation rooms, sports equipment and general storage areas, a small kitchen, change rooms, showers and washrooms.

Ministry of Government Services contract documents specify that the building, with a gross floor area of 23,900 square feet, will be of reinforced concrete construction with concrete floors, concrete block walls, and brick and colored steel panel facing. In addition, the building site is to be landscaped and parking space provided for 300 cars.

H.L. Clow of Brockville is the associate architect for the project, expected to be completed in December, 1977.

Weed control essential for winter wheat crops

Well-established stands of wheat provide considerable competition to weeds. However, many Ontario producers find that perennial and winter annual weeds are frequent problems in winter wheat.

According to a Ridgetown College of Agricultural Technology weed control specialist, proper timing of herbicide applications in winter wheat is important to ensure both satisfactory weed control and crop safety.

"Winter wheat should be sprayed after tillering has started in the spring, and before the crop reaches 12 inches in height (extended leaf) to safeguard against crop injury. Winter annuals such as false flax, shepherd's purse, pennycress and peppergrass are best controlled at this time, since they become more resistant as they reach flowering," states W.R. Allen of the college's horticulture and biology section.

If winter annuals are present in winter wheat fields, he recommends that producers not wait for the spring annuals to germinate. Delaying herbicide applications could result in poor control of winter annuals and increased chances of crop damage.

Research has indicated that proper timing of herbicide application will give effective weed control with excellent crop tolerance. As much as a 10-bushel per acre yield increase has been noted when weeds are controlled, he says.

Chemicals such as 2,4-D, Kilmor and MCPA will effectively control most winter annuals. Common chickweed, a 2,4-D resistant winter annual, can be controlled with applications of either Mecoprop or Kilmor. Mr. Allen recommends that only 2,4-D be used when winter wheat has been underseeded to a legume crop.

For specific recommendations on weed control in winter wheat, producers should consult the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's publication 75, Guide to Chemical Weed Control, available at county and district offices of the ministry.

Archdiocese of Kingston marks 150th anniversary

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Kingston will mark the 150th anniversary of its establishment with a program on the weekend of June 12-13. Representatives of the Church from Newfoundland to British Columbia will participate in the ceremonies, which will culminate with a Mass of Thanksgiving in St. Mary's Cathedral at 3pm Sun., June 13.

The actual date of the anniversary was January 27 it was on that date in 1826 that the area then known as Upper Canada was removed from the Diocese of Quebec and to constitute the Diocese of Kingston. This marked the first time since the Reformation that the Roman Catholic diocese had been set up within the British Empire. The Diocese of Quebec was founded in 1674 when Canada was a colony of France and was allowed to continue to function when the British took over the country in 1763.

Plans for the celebration of the 150th anniversary were inaugurated by the Diocesan Pastoral Council early in January, 1974. At that time Lt. Col. Louis J. Flynn was commissioned to write the history of the Diocese which appeared in DEcember 1975 under the title "Built on a Rock."

Individual parishes have been observing a "Founders' Day" to honor the pioneers who started the parish and develop an interest on the part of present parishioners in what went before in their section of the diocese. Children in separate schools have been working on projects related to their parishes and the diocese in conjunction with their history studies.

Although the actual anniversary occurred January 27, the committee in charge of arrangements decided to postpone the observance until June in hopes of having better weather and more convenient travelling.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, June 8-9, children from the separate schools around the diocese will conduct field trips to Kingston where they will be given tours of the cathedral, including the crypt where the early bishops and some others are buried. Each afternoon at 1:30 there will be a special mass in the Cathedral in which the children will contribute their part to the celebration.

A feature of the celebration will be a visual presentation of the development of the diocese in the cathedral school and cathedral. In most parishes displays are being prepared to depict the growth in that area. These will be available for viewing by the public on Saturday and Sunday June 12-13.

On Saturday evening June 12 at 8pm there will be a pageant in the cathedral school auditorium depicting the development of the diocese. It will be in the form of a narration interspersed with slides, and with a few live numbers and accompanying music.

The high point of the celebration will be the special mass in St. Mary's Cathedral at 3pm on the 13th. Principal celebrant will be Cardinal Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec and Primate of Canada. The homily will be given by Crdinal George B. Flahiff of Winnipeg. Apostolice Nuncio to Canada, Archbishop Angelo Palmas, will be in attendance, as well as from 20 to 30 bishops from all parts of Canada.

Archbishop J.L. Wilhelm and the priests of the Archdiocese will concelebrate with the visiting bishops.

Representatives of the federal and provincial governments, the city of Kingston and the armed forces have indicated their intention to attend. Religious sisters and the lay persons from all parishes will be represented in the congregation.

Following the mass there will be a dinner at the Holiday Inn for invited guests. There will be a social program in Macdonald Park for people from the various parishes.

Max Keeping to open Antique and Craft Show

A planning committee meeting for the Antique and Craft Market for the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was held recently at the home of Mrs. Olive Cass, Chesterville.

Auxiliary members hope proceeds from the June event will help pay for the MSA22 instrument, used in the laboratory for blood work. This instrument takes up only two feet of lab shelf space yet is capable of performing 12 blood tests in a very short time. All patients who require blood work will benefit from the use of the MSA22.

Mrs. Cass reported that 48 of the 60 spaces available at the Winchester Arena have been rented. The four corner spaces will be manned by the Auxiliary, featuring baking and candy in two, plants in one, and books and records in the other. All unit members are being asked to contribute ot each of these booths.

Following the noon lunch, members travelled to the Winchester arena to discuss facilities with Frank Morgan. The Winchester Lions will be asked if their canteen could be used by the Golden Valley unit to sell hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks on Saturday June 26. Sandwiches and coffee will be available to exhibitors who will be setting up displays on Friday.

The gala opening Friday night June 25 will feature Max Keeping doing the honors, followed by a wine and cheese party catered by the Summers-Cass Bridge unit.

A full executive meeting, including two members from each unit, standing committee chairmen, planning committee members and publicity directors Mrs. Jennie Dow, will be held May 6, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Macartney, president, to complete arrangements.

Berwick holds Minor Sports Night

BERWICK — Don Foster was presented with the sportsmanship of the Year Award Mrs. Vaughn Burd with the Lady Sportsmanship Award at the Berwick Minor Sports Banquet in the Recreation Centre here last Tuesday night.

Mr. Roster was presented with his award by Carl Rhines, guest speaker for the evening, and Mrs. Burd was given her trophy by Mrs. Sheila Hume for their contributions to this community's minor sports programs over the past year.

A crowd of over 200 filled the Recreation Centre for the dinner and awards presentations. Following supper, the crowd moved upstairs for the presentation, emceed by Murray Manley.

Berwick Recreation Centre president Ken Dingwall gave a brief report on the year's activities, saying Berwick had an outstanding year judging by the success of its minor sports programs.

Jack Forsyth introduced Mr. Rhines, physical education teacher in tri-county seperate schools, instructor at the annual Finch Hockey School and head coach of the North StormontLong Sault Junior C League champion Char-Lan Rebels. Mr. Rhines gave an address on the workings of minor hockey and was thanked by Don Foster, who presented his with a small gift in appreciation for his talk.

Following the speaker's address, trophies were presented by Mrs. Burd to 135 hockey, broomball and softball players and their coaches.

Eleven Most Valuable Player Trophies, all donated by local residents, were presented and captains of each team presented their coaches with small trophies for their part in the year's program.

Helen Dingwall accepted the 1975-76 Playoff Trophy from Carl Rhines on behalf of the Senior Girls Broomball Team. The senior girls also captured the trophy for last fall's softball tournament.

Mr. Rhines presented Dalton Baker with championship trophies for the Bantam Boys Softball team, the top 1975 squad.

Kiters warned

Ontario Hydro and local utilities have issued a warning to would-be Benjamin Franklins that their kites can be potentially dangerous, especially if flown in the vicinity of power lines. The increasingly popular metallic lines used for kites are excellent conductors of electricity and could be responsible for the death of their users should they come into contact with high tension wires. Hydro authorities therefore urge kite fliers not to practise their pastime near power lines.

Lawlor scores in overtime to deadlock series with Hawkesbury

HAWKESBURY - Captain Chuck Lawlor scored at 6:11 of regulation overtime and the Morrisburg Lions withstood being two men short for the last minute of the period as the Lions beat the Hawks on their own ice here Sunday night to even their ODHA final series at two games a piece.

Morrisburg came back Sunday night to deadlock the series after being humiliated 10-5 before over 1300 of their own fans in Morrisburg Friday night in a fight-filled game that had OPP officers going into the stands several times to separate fans trying to emulate their on-ice heroes.

Lawlor's clutch goal came out of a goalmouth scramble, with assists going to Kevin Duvall and Doug McNarin and it stood up during the rest of the 10-minute extra period after Hawkesbury came from behind in the third period to force the overtime.

The Lions almost went behind by two games in the series shortly after Lawlor's score when Morrisburg's Ernie Duval was detected tripping a member of the Hawks while his team enjoyed a man advantage.

The penalized Hawkesbury player came back on the ice with 1:01 remaining in the period and after the Hawks lifted their goaltender they held a two-man advantage for the next 48 seconds. They pressed around the Morrisburg net but couldn't beat Don McNairn, who held them in when the Lions needed him.

Penalties played a big part in the Morrisburg scoring Sunday as the Lions capitalized on three occasions while they held the manpower advantage.

Doug McNairn scored at 8:09 of the first while the Hawks played two men short and two minutes later Duvall scored the first of his pair, again with two Hawks in the box.

Bill Veley scored seven seconds later as it appeared as if the Lions might run away with it but Robert Foucy, at 14:48, and Walter Radford, at 17:57, brought the Hawks to within one going into the middle grame.

McNairn's steady goaltending kept Morrisburg in the game during the second period. The St. Lawrence Division's leading goaltender throughout the regular season with a miserly 3.32 goals against average, he had to be sharp in the second as the Hawks outshot the Lions 22-9 but failed to score a goal.

The only score of the period came at 16:49 with Duvall getting his second powerplay goal of the night to make it 4-2.

The Hawks reversed the trend in the third with Yvan Joly beating McNairn on a powerplay at 15:05 and Luc Beaulne sending the game into overtime with his score at the 17-minute mark.

Each team was assessed 10 minors and one major and the Hawks' Mike Kelly received a game misconduct after becoming embroiled with Morrisburg's Tim Cassel with 58 seconds remaining in the first.

Someone pitched a stink-bomb into the Hawks bench with 3:05 remaining in the second period and the teams were sent to their dressing rooms and the three minutes tacked onto the third.

Friday night in Morrisburg the Lions again jumped into an early 2-0 lead on goals by McNairn and Duvall and led 2-1 going into the second. Joly scored late in the period to draw the Hawks to within one.

The Hawks opened it up in the second as Beaulne fired three goals and Kelly added a fourth as the visitors shot into a 5-3 lead.

They continued the fireworks in the third with Kelly getting two and Joly, Cousineau and Radford getting singles as Hawkesbury buried Morrisburg 10-5.

The series shifts to Morrisburg Wednesday night and moves to Hawkesbury Friday at 8:15pm. If a seventh and deciding game is necessary, it will be played in the Morrisburg Civic Centre at 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

The Matilda teams came out the winners in the men's Tournament held at Monast Bowling Lanes in Chesterville. A high single was rolled by George Barkley of 318. The total pinfall for the team was 3832. From l-r are Albert DeJong, Eugene McCann, Larry Casselman, Paul Monast, George Barkley, Duane Kirker, Percy Robertson. Runner-up for the trophy was Copain with a pinfall of 3793. - staff photo -
