High School Cadets Inspected On Parade

Nearly 100 boys and girls of Chesterville High School took part in an inspection here on May 10th by Capt. H. A. Craig, M.M., assistant DCO of M.D. No. 3.

"The inspection is greatly improved over last year," said Captain Craig. "Steadiness was outstanding and arm and foot drill and ceremonial excellent."

The Cadets in company formation were commanded by Cadet Major Charles E. Doering. The instructor, principal Edward E. Maybee and Miss Hilda Ower, Girls' instructor, were praised for the efficiency of the training.

Members of the School Board accompanied the inspection party.

The girls presented an attractive picture in their garb of red sweaters, white collars and navy skirts.

After the usual ceremonial drill Captain Craig was shown what the Cadets could do in signalling, demonstration of the Bren and Sten guns, map reading, tying of useful knots and hitches and general rifle training including the Swift Training rifle.

The girls gave a splendid demonstration of First Aid. Sgt. J. Gray and Sgt. F. Reny assisted in the examinations on which the Cadets passed with firsts.

It was impressive to see the three platoons formed in an open square with the Chesterville Band nearby. In front of this square Captain Craig praised the Cadets and the fine spirit of the band in supporting them. A moment's silence was then observed for former members of the school who lost their lives overseas.

The cadets then paraded down town and were led by the band. There was a good crowd to see the inspection, and also the parade as it passed through the streets. The principal and his staff deeply appreciate the support given by the parents and other visitors. We consider it a fine gesture on the part of the band to give up part of their time to help make our inspection such a success.

WAR BRIDE ARRIVES

This week another war bride arrived in Chesterville when Margaret E., wife of Pte P. C. Crombie, rural route 2, was met by her father-in-law, Mr. Robert Crombie, on her arrival in Ottawa from overseas.

IT'S A FUNNY WORLD

Half the time we are praying for rain and the other half for a dry spell. After about three weeks of considerably more rain than can be made use of in this area its time seeding was over, with many farmers still unable to get on the land.

ARRIVES HOME

PTE J. G. LISCUMB

Morewood H. S. Open House & Cadet Inspection

About 250 people showed their interest in education by visiting the Morewood High School Open House and Cadet Inspection. The Inspection started at two o'clock with Captain Craig of Military District No. 3 as reviewing officer. The chairman, Mr. Roy Fetterly and Mr. W. H. Dixon, principal, were at the saluting base with Captain Craig. The students looked very good in their army uniforms and carried out their drill with precision and steadiness, under their commanding officer, Cadet Captain Mac Feeley. The girls were a credit to the School Corps. After the march pasts demonstrations in signals, marksmanship, map reading, et cetera, were given by the students. Captain Craig was very pleased with the condition of the corps, and the good work done in teaching the syllabus. Chevrons for proficiency were awarded to Mac Feeley, John Gardiner, Edward Irvine, Kenneth Hunter, Arnold Swerdfeger and Gerald Gardiner. The latter received an extra chevron for his good work in marksmanship.

At three o'clock the school was opened to the public. Each room was carefully arranged to demonstrate the work done by the pupils. The basements held the Physical Training equipment which was built by the students; the army equipment which is used for Cadet Training.

The work shop drew a large percentage of the visitors. It contained samples of each branch of Manual Training and the wood work was exceptionally fine. A demonstration with the new plexiglass gave an inkling of other arts to be taught when the war is finally over. The other rooms carried the theme of Victory and contained samples of art, music, science, etc.

The students of Home Economics served lunch to nearly all the visitors. It was a student project and very well carried out considering that all were served in about an hour and one half.

A short programme was held in order to honor the students who had distinguished themselves in academic and extra-curricular activities.

The teachers, Miss C. Cook, Mr. R. W. Camm and Mr. W. H. Dixon are to be complimented on the organization and excellence of their work, and the fine spirit of co-operation that was shown by the student body.

Trinity United WMS

The regular monthly meeting of the WMS of Trinity United church was held on Thursday last in the S. S. Hall, Mrs. Wright presiding. This being V-E week, the meeting was opened by the singing of the National Anthem followed by the Doxology and a prayer of Thanksgiving. After minutes and committee reports had been heard, Mrs. Albert Smith took charge of the program. Mrs. Smith conducted the worship service and then called on members of her group to give a synopsis of the story "Second Pioneers". This is the story of a Japanese-Canadian family who were evacuated from the Pacific coast at the beginning of the war with Japan and of their struggle and experiences in trying to establish themselves in new surroundings. The story is very thought-provoking and well worth serious consideration. The synopsis was given by Mrs. Will Hamilton, Mrs. Hulbert Cross, Mrs. Angus Smith and Mrs. Wright.

A solo by Mrs. Chas. McMillan was enjoyed by all, after which the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Cheney was educated at Chesterville and attended the United church.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Edward, on the western front, Donald and John F. Cheney; two sisters, Miss Dorothy and Mrs. G. L. Towns, whose husband, FO. G. L. Towns, was killed in air operations over Germany last November while serving with the R. A.F.

1944 POTATO CROP WAS BIG ONE

There was a little flurry of excitement in certain sections of Ontario last week occasioned by a temporary shortage in the retail supply of potatoes, but the prompt cancelling of permits for export of potatoes to the United States has apparently relieved the situation. Among all the vegetables grown and consumed in the province the uncrowned "Murphy" is the most essential. It turns up practically at every principal meal in some form or other—boiled, baked, fried, scalloped, chipped, or in salad—and fortunately at a price that puts it within the reach of all It is announced that Ontario's potato crop last year was from 1½ to 2 million bushels larger than the year before but increased winter consumption and an unusual export movement across the border cut heavily into the surplus. This year, up to April 7, Ontario exported to the United States 711 carloads from last year's crop, while previously shipments to our neighbours was something unheard of. This coupled with the fact that in 1944 Ontario imported 3,255 carloads of potatoes from the Maritimes shows how the situation got out of alignment particularly as the Maritimes up to May 2 of this year sent 6,716 carloads to the potato hungry Americans as well as shipping from 400 to 500 carloads of seed potatoes to France.

CANCER MORE INSIDIOUS THAN T.B.

Cancer, which is regarded by many as a more insidious foe than Tuberculosis, can only be fought by early diagnosis and early treatment. The recently formed Women's Advisory Council of the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer is urging the formation of a national medical advisory board made up of prominent women physicians to combat the inroads of the disease. The co-operation of all organized women's groups is to be sought. The program will be of an educational nature. It is contended that National Societies can open a tremendous field of education by urging their provincial and local branches to support this imperative work.

CANNED MEATS FOR EUROPEANS

The assurance is given that the decision of the Government to take over all stocks of canned meat in Canada does not entail a resumption of meat rationing. The necessity for such a step, particularly in Ontario, is indeed doubtful where there is no scarcity of live cattle and where the people are not partial to the canned variety of meat. It is estmated that this country will export 125,000,000 lbs. of canned meat products in the next 14 months to meet the critical needs in the liberated areas of Europe. The order defines canned meat as any meat or meat product packed in sealed or metal containers. This does not include poultry meat, blood pudding, soup, pork and beans, pureed meat products for infant feeding, imported beef concentrate or beef concentrates processed from imported meat extracts. The order prohibits domestic sales of canned meat by processors or wholesalers and puts a "freeze" on all such stocks held by any retailer in a warehouse separate from his store. In addition, it freezes all supplies of canned meats exceeding 1,000 pounds stored or in transit to any retail store. Manufacturers are prohibited from packing meat or meat products in glass containers in future.

FIRST OVER FIRST BACK

V-E celebrations in Ontario will probably pale into insignificance compared with the shouts of jubilation that will ascend when the boys "come marching home" from overseas. In the meantime Ontario families are studying with some care the plan for reallocation, repatriation and demobilization of the forces and there will be general approval that married men are to be given higher priority than single men. The highest priority for return to Canada has been given those troops who have volunteered and been accepted for service in the Canadian Far East force. The next highest priority will be given soldiers with the highest point score for demobilization and generally speaking the principle on which priority is based is that those with the longest service in the army will be the first released. The long list of casualties that appear from day to day emphasize that despite the Nazi collapse there are many gallant Canadian lads who have not been spared to share the Victory save that their deeds and sacrifices will remain enshrined in the hearts of a grateful country. In the meantime the coast to the Pacific seems all clear. Any who wish may volunteer for service in that theatre of war. In fact in respect to the naval personnel they are given until June 1st to make up their minds whether they want to volunteer for Pacific service.

INFLATION STILL MUST BE FOUGHT

Although Canada remained free from the horrors of war on her home front, she fought hard to keep the Canadian way of life alive for the boys to come home to. This fight which included a successful prevention of runaway prices shows that now returned servicemen and women pay no more or very little more for supplies than they did when the first donned uniforms.

Since the beginning of this war, the cost of living in Canada has gone up only 18 percent compared with 81 percent during the competitive period after the outbreak of the First Great War. Since the establishment of the price ceiling in December, 1941, the rise has been only three points.

Emphasis in the first months after the imposition of the price ceiling was on ironing out injustice and apportioning the "Squeeze" of higher replacement cost.

With a very small Enforcement Administration, the Board has relied on the people who are being protected by price control—the consumers themselves to watch the price ceiling. Through its Consumer Branch, made up of more than 16,000 officers representing the women of Canada, the Board receives reports and recommendations which influence Board policy.

The Board established 14 Regional Offices across Canada to assist the Board's work, much of which was decentralized and also has 500 Local Ration Boards made up of volunteer groups who serve their people in every community.

We must continue this fight against inflation during these months ahead, remembering that it is up to each individual to see that ceiling prices and ration regulations are kept, so that this country may remain free from the inevitable deflation and utter ruin which would follow a skyrocketing of prices.

SMELLS THAT HAUNT A HOUSE

The lovely smells that haunt a house
Are part of memory's golden page;
The little pantry dark and cool—
Bunches of dill and sage,
Fall pickles cooking on the stove,
The rich exotic scent of clove.

A whiff of cookies as you lift
The heavy cover off a crock,
Where little discs of goodness lie
As fragrant as a hollyhock;
The smell of scones and griddle cakes
The home-made kind that mother makes.

The plain old-fashioned pot of soup,
A pan of biscuits light as down,
A stew of vegetables, beef,
A roast with gravy hot and brown,
The rich aroma of spiced pears,
Warm in the little halls and stairs.

The smell of sun-dried clothes brought in,
Scented geraniums in a pot,
A whiff of spicy apple tart—
All these in lovely fragrance caught
And blended into one that holds
A home within its scented folds.

SOMETHING TO SHOOT

A man on holiday had been told he would find splendid sport on the lower reaches of the creek and along the lagoons bordering the river.

Gun in hand, he wandered for miles without getting a shot, and was crossing a bridge on the way back to the hotel in the late afternoon when he met a small freckled boy.

"Is there anything to shoot about here?" he asked.

The boy scowled thoughtfully and shook his head. Then his face brightened up.

"Here's the schoolmaster coming across the bridge now!" he exclaimed.

CHECK-UP OF FARM WORKERS ON POSTPONEMENT OF CALLUP

A check-up on a sample of farm workers who are on postponement of military training is being undertaken by National Selective Service, according to an announcement made by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

At the present time over 160,000 men in agriculture are on postponement of military training, and the sample check will cover about 10% of these cases.

Expressing grave concern over the shortages of labour faced by the farming industry this year, the Labour Minister pointed out that heavy food production in Canada is even more essential than in the earlier years of the war. "It is the intention," Mr. Mitchell said, "to see to it that men given postponement, being in the prime of life, are a highly important section of farm manpower. "We cannot afford," the Minister added, "to allow a single one of these men to just walk off the farm to work in another industry when his services are essential to food production."

The Minister also added that if any farmer knows of any man on postponement for farm work who has left the farm without authority of National Selective Service, he should report the fact to the nearest Employment and Selective Service office, in the interests of food production.

One day the unpredictable George Bernard Shaw visited a London theatre to watch a rehearsal of his "Captain Brassbound's Conversation" in which the incomparable Ellen Terry was participating. Miss Terry's memory had begun to fail, and she was saying practically anything that came into her mind.

In a state of great confusion and alarm the producer rushed down the aisle where Shaw was sitting in silent contemplation.

"Oh, Mr. Shaw, what are we going to do?" the producer cried.

"Nothing," replied Shaw. "Only be quiet. She is speaking my lines as I should have written them."

Thankful for Woollens

April 18th, 1945.

Dear Mrs. Cornelius Kearns,

This is just a note thanking you for the comforts which I have just received through the Merchant Navy Club. I come from England so you'll have an idea what woollens mean to me as they are hard to get in England.

As you are a stranger to me I'd like to tell you about myself but I guess I'll just say thanks again, hoping you keep up the good work.

I might as well fill the page in as well just to say I haven't wasted any paper. We are lying in harbour now and I think we will be here a few more weeks so I'll have a good chance to look around the place. My home town is called Beddington, a mining town near Newcastle. I'll bet its raining there now, all the same I wish I was back. I think this country is a bit too big for me.

Cheerio and all the best.

Yours truly, J. Hardy.

At Last— Fair Play for the Farmer

"Canadian farmers have never had a fair return for their labour. They are forced to buy in a protected market at relatively high prices and to sell in a world market at generally low prices. What agriculture needs is not crutches to carry its disability; it needs to have the disability removed. This can only be accomplished by permanent measures and long range planning."

John Bracken

At last—a farmer fights for fair play for farmers! For more than twenty years John Bracken, the Farmer, was the undefeated leader of a Farmers' Party. To-day, as leader of a great, national, progressive party, he is determined that throughout the length and breadth of Canada there shall be a square deal for agriculture . . . fair play for the farmer . . . on a permanent basis!

Farmers have seldom had a fair share of the nation's income. Rarely do they receive a just reward for their endless labours. John Bracken means to stop, once and for all, the unfair discrimination against farmers, the unjust economic practices which make it impossible for farmers to obtain fair prices for the fruits of their labour.

"It is the responsibility of the nation," says the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, "to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated . . . I know where I stand in the matter. Let me make that position clear. It is not fore-ordained that farmers shall work for less pay than anybody else; or have their children receive only one-quarter the chance of a secondary education or one-tenth of the chance of a university education that other children get; or see their wives forced into lives of toil, often 12 but sometimes 14 hours a day—Sundays and holidays included. . . . The trouble is that no one with the necessary authority has determined to correct the basic economic ills of Agriculture."

To-day, John Bracken, the Farmer, seeks the necessary authority to put into immediate operation the far-reaching Progressive Conservative policies that will permanently ensure fair play for the farmer. Here are just some of the points in the Progressive Conservative plan for the definite, continuous and permanent protection of farmers against income collapse and wide extremes of income fluctuation:

The Farmer shall be guaranteed a proportionate share of the nation's income.

A permanent policy for forward contract prices shall be guaranteed to farmers—by law.

The prices guaranteed will be calculated by a non-political council, and will be based on the farmer's proportionate share of the national income. These prices will be announced before the production seasons begin.

This policy will increase present average farm income by not less than twenty per cent.

It takes a farmer to understand farmers' problems. Only a farmer knows the full economic injustice from which farmers suffer. To-day, John Bracken is fighting for fair play for every farmer. The leader of the Progressive Conservatives is determined to bring security and prosperity to farmers permanently. Join in the fight. Help him to win his life-long struggle to give Agriculture a place in Canada's prosperity, not for a day—but for all time to come.

A Farmer fights for you . . . He needs your help.

Mountain Ridge Sets Record In Purchase of Stamps

For the month of April Mountain Ridge School set a record for Dundas County Public Schools for the average amount invested per pupil in War Savings Stamps. The average purchase per pupil for this school was $5.38, the eight pupils enrolled purchasing stamps to the value of $43.00.

Other schools reaching or exceeding 50 cents per pupil were:

Matilda Township: Flagg .56; Dixon's Corners .83; Strader Hill .50; Stampville 2.41.

Mountain Township: St. Mountain $1.04; Inkerman $1.58; Rosehaven .53; Harmony $1.02; Mt. Ridge

Williamsburg Township: Dunbar .63; Grantley .50; Bouck's Hill .63.

Winchester Township: Ormond 1.36; Maple Ridge 1.85; Forward .63; Morewood .57.

Urban Public: Chesterville .56; Iroquois .56; Morrisburg .39; Winchester .25.

Total purchases to the end of April amount to $7607.75. The objective for that period was $8000.00 which leaves the school short of their objective by $392.25. If the objective of $10,000 is to be realized, purchases of not less than $1200.00 per month will be required for May and June. This means average purchases per pupil of at least 60 cents for those months.

Twelve schools report no purchases for April and approximately another twenty reported purchases which were exceedingly low. If these thirty-two schools could increase purchases for May and June, and the schools where purchases have been good can do at least as well as for the other months, there will be no difficulty in reaching the objective.

An appeal to parents to make a purchase of one certificate per month for May and June where circumstances permit this large a purchase, is hereby suggested. It will be just too bad if, having reached such a splendid total, the schools should fail to make their objective by only a few hundred dollars. If teachers, pupils, and parents all do their part, the Public Schools of Dundas County will reach their objective of $10,000 for the School year September, 1944 to June, 1945.

SEWING GROUPS MUST CARRY ON

In response to enquiries reaching the Red Cross from all parts of Canada, Mrs. Clara McEachren, National Chairman of the Women's War Work Committee, today issued a most urgent appeal to Red Cross women workers throughout the Dominion to "stay on the job" as their help will be vitally needed in the months immediately ahead.

Stressing the immense needs facing us in liberated Europe today, Mrs. McEachren stated: "This week has brought to the world the glad knowledge that the war in Europe is over. It has not, however, brought to an end the work of the Red Cross. Certain Departments of Red Cross war service will necessarily be drawing to a close. But not the work of sewing and knitting. Rather, in this work we are facing a period of intense activity.

"The needs of Europe know no bounds," said Mrs. McEachren. "With the liberation of all countries comes the opportunity of shipping to them supplies of clothing, quilts and certain other household articles, replenished to the fullest extent that our materials will allow.

"Moreover, since V-E Day, a call has come for 25,000 'Release Parcels' to have available for the Far East. This entails a total of upward of 100,000 articles to be made by women within the next two months.

"All this," Mrs. McEachren emphasized, "can be accomplished for the Red Cross only through Sewing Groups, which also issue wool for knitting at home, as we are under obligation to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to use only such materials as are allocated to the Red Cross by the Government.

"We appeal, therefore, to our workers all over Canada to stand by us. We invite women released from other war activities to offer their services to the Red Cross."

Inexperienced.

Provincial Liberal Candidate

MAHLON WEBSTER ZERON

Mahlon W. Zeron, Liberal Candidate in the forthcoming Provincial Election on June 4th, is a native of Dundas County, born on a farm in Matilda Township, a few miles west of Morrisburg. This farm he now ownes and operates efficiently himself, with modern equipment and a high class herd of registered cattle. He is also well-known throughout Eastern Ontario as a Licensed Auctioneer.

Born in 1902, Mahlon is the son of Mrs. Fannie Zeron and the late James Zeron, lifelong residents of Matilda Twp. He attended the rural schools, Morrisburg Collegiate Institute and completed the two-year Diploma course at Kemptville Agricultural School in 1923. In 1927 he married Iva Millar, daughter of Mrs. Edna Millar and the late James Millar of Iroquois. They have two daughters, Mrs. Carl Empey, and Phyyllis, attending Morrisburg Collegiate.

During the last thirteen or fourteen years, Mahlon has devoted much time to municipal affairs, and has been successively Councillor, Deputy-reeve and Reeve, of Matilda Township., which latter officer he now occupies. During his eleven years in municipal council, his policies have been forthright and progressive and his judgment sound and farsighted. These characteristics have served him well in United Counties Council, where he is chairman of the Agricultural Committee, and Dundas representative on the Board of Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances.

Mahlon Zeron has always been active in local Agricultural organizations, and at present is secretary treasurer of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Association and the Dundas Crop Improvement Association.

Williamsburg

V-E Day was fittingly observed in Williamsburg when the good news of the victory in Europe was announced by the ringing of the church bells and a spirit of thanksgiving to God for the end of the most disastrous war in the history of the world. A large parade formed at the Public School grounds and marched through the village to the Picadilly theatre where a public service of praise and thanksgiving was held. The theatre was filled to capacity with residents of Williamsburg and the surrounding district. The local clergymen, Rev. W. C. Nolting, Rev. R. G. Newman and Rev. E.C. Lacey were in charge of the service with the combined local church choirs also on the stage led in the singing of the hymns with Miss Joye Dillabough at the piano and Mrs. McMillan accompanying with the violin. The printed order of service prepared by the Canadian Council of Churches was read and followed throughout the service. A moment of silence was observed in memory of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice. The singing of the National Anthem concluded the service. The theatre, homes and places of business in the village were well-decorated with flags.

After her marriage to Chas. McCain of Fort Covington, N.Y., which took place on July 6th, 1925, they resided at Fort Covington until recently they went to live at Rouses' Point, N.Y., where Mr. McCain holds the position of customs officer.

Mrs. McCain is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Frank Wells and two sisters, Mrs. Lloyd G. Hess (Gladys) and Mrs. Cyril Smirle (Dorothy), all of Bouck's Hill.

Little Hiram was busy scattering grain to a flock of chickens when a well-dressed man drove into the farm yard and got out of his car. After watching the boy for a minute or two without speaking, he approached him and said.

"Sonny, how do you tell the old hens from the pullets?"

"By the teeth, sir," the young farmer replied.

"By the teeth?" the stranger asked in surprise. "But chickens don't have teeth," he protested, laughingly.

"No, but I do," the boy said, emptying his pail and starting for the house whistling as he went.

NOW THERE'S A FUTURE IN FARMING

Under Liberal Government, Farm Incomes Rose Steadily

ONE out of every three men working in Canada is on the farm. Agriculture is the nation's most important industry. Since 1935, your Liberal Government has kept farming at the top of its list for action. Look at the panel (left).

Although 23% fewer men have been available for farm work, production has increased more than 40%—a splendid record of achievement for victory!

Even before the war, by securing foreign markets, taking off surpluses and stimulating home consumption, your Liberal Government assisted in raising total farm income by 45%.

During the war, the farmer for the first time was put in the sound position of knowing exactly how he stood financially. He was protected against increases in his costs of production and guaranteed a market at fixed prices for a specified volume of produce. In 1939 farm income was $772,000,000; in 1944 it was $1,817,000,000, an increase of over a billion!

After the war, your Liberal Government has arranged to keep farm incomes up by floor prices on farm and fish products, and by foreign trade... to improve farm living conditions by Family Allowances, National Housing Plan, Farm Improvement Loans Act, and other social measures... and to secure agriculture's future by conservation of soil and other natural resources together with farsighted projects for irrigation, road and other improvements as soon as manpower and materials are available.

When you vote Liberal you act for your own and your family's continued welfare.

Liberal Action for Agriculture

Here are some of the practical steps which your Liberal government has taken for your benefit:

1 Guarantees of minimum prices for farm products.

2 Trade agreements with 20 countries.

3 Debt cancellation took $225 millions debt off farmers' shoulders.

4 Took import duty and war exchange tax off farm equipment.

5 Saved apple industry by special marketing agreements.

6 Premiums paid on high grade cheese and grade A and B1 hogs.

7 Wheat Acreage Reduction and Prairie Farm Income payments made in 1941 to tide farmers over until market for wheat found.

8 Export contracts, operative until 1947, act as floor prices under farm products.

9 The above, with the Export Credits Insurance Act, will maintain farm incomes throughout post-war period.

10 Appointed (August 1944) Agricultural Prices Support Board to guarantee for post-war security to farmers' incomes.

11 To enable farmers to improve their working and living conditions, your Liberal Government has provided for intermediate and short term credits by amending the Bank Act and passing the Farm Improvement Loans Act, and further, has arranged that those wishing to build new homes or repair, extend or renovate their present homes can borrow the money under the National Housing Act.

12 Inaugurated annual farm production programmes through co-operation between the Department of Agriculture and farmers' organizations in every part of Canada.

MONEY FOR FARMERS
RAISING BROILERS

Due to the shortage of meats there is little doubt that all kinds of poultry will be in greater demand and the broiler, particularly the broiler of the heavy breeds, will be in greater demand.

Considered more or less of a luxury, the demand for broilers is in the top grades, and proper care in feeding and finishing is not only essential but becomes of great importance in determining the margin of profit, says W. T. Scott, Head Poultryman Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

Buyers of broilers are inclined to be discriminating, consequently an effort should be made to cater to their taste by placing the product on the market in its most attractive form. As a side-line, the general farmer or his wife may find raising a few hundred broilers an attractive prospect.

Under fairly average conditions the two pound broiler of the right type can be raised on about six to seven pounds of feed in ten weeks and the feed should constitute about half the total cost of production. The margin of profit will depend on the price paid for the chick, skill in feeding and finishing and the rate of mortality.

Broilers can be successfully reared to the market stage in either pens or batteries, but providing the weather permits, the weather that generally appeals to the farmer on account of the saving in labour and equipment is to allow about five weeks in the nursery brooder, about three weeks on good grass range and two weeks confined to pens for finishing on a good milk diet.

Reliable ready mixed rearing and finishing mashes are available. For the farmer who prefers to use his own grain, good results will follow the use of the usual starter and developer dry mash to about eight weeks followed by two weeks finishing on a mixture of 50 pounds of corn meal, 20 pounds middling and ten pounds of ground heavy oats moistened to the consistency of heavy batter with sour skim milk or buttermilk.

The skilful feeder will give just sufficient to satisfy the birds thoroughly and is careful to remove what is left over at each feeding.

In order to ensure a better appearance and keeping condition, the crop and intestines should be thoroughly emptied by starving for at least 24 hours before killing. Water should be supplied during this period.

TO PREVENT DAMAGE
BY ONION MAGGOT

Onion flies usually emerge about the middle of May and towards the end of the month commence laying their eggs in the soil at the base of the tiny onion seedlings. Preventive measures should be taken before this takes place, says Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Onion maggots can be controlled by treating the young seedlings with an oil emulsion spray. Use a light to medium lubricating oil of good grade. The oil may be obtained from any of the oil companies or service stations. To prepare the spray, mix a gallon of Bordeaux mixture by first dissolving two ounces of bluestone in a gallon of water and then adding two ounces of hydrated lime to the solution. Stir and pour into a pail containing a gallon of the oil.

By means of a bucket pump or other small sprayer, pump the liquid back upon itself until the oil and Bordeaux is well emulsified. This operation should take about five minutes and can be tested by pouring a small quantity into water. When no droplets of oil are found on the surface of the water, the mixture is ready to use. Should free oil be present agitate the emulsion still further. When the oil is thoroughly emulsified, mix the two gallons with 38 gallons of soft water, or, if the water is hard, with 38 gallons of Bordeaux mixture.

The onions should be sprayed four times, the first spray being applied as soon as the earliest apple blossoms appear. Subsequent sprays should be applied at weekly intervals. In spraying, the whole surface of the ground should be covered, as well as the tiny plants. Thorough work is essential to good control and 100 gallons of spray should be used per acre at each application.

WHY APHIDS AMASS

Gardeners are frequently puzzled as to why aphids, or plant lice, amass so rapidly and are able to cause such serious damage in so short a time. The explanation is simple. Unlike most insects, particularly in the spring and late summer, aphids reproduce by giving birth to living young. The offspring in about a week are themselves producing young. When this process is continued for some time, the number of aphids becomes tremendous and far outstrips the relatively slow increase of insects which reproduce only by depositing eggs.

Fifty Pounds, Legless This Successful Farmer Wants No CCF Destroying His Independence

By W. J. Gartley

I am a little man with a great big gripe.

I weigh 50 pounds. My hands are crippled with arthritis. I have no legs, no means of locomotion except a wheel-chair and a motor car. Yet I run my own business and make a success of it.

My gripe has nothing to do with my physical infirmities which date back to service in the last war, and I am not bellyaching over business or taxes, market prices or even the weather.

My gripe, the doctors tell me, is political indigestion. It is directed at all these long-haired Socialists running up and down the country with plans for this, plans for that, and a master plan for everybody.

My gripe concerns CCF attacks on banks, railroads, packers, big business and little business—euphemistically called "monopolies"—and the inability or unwillingness of these institutions to speak up in their own defense.

What I want my neighbours on every "back concession" and my fellow-veterans of the last war to realize is that I am alive today and a successful farmer and stockman because one of these CCF-cursed, profit proud, monopolistic institutions, a bank for which I worked until I became incapacitated, stuck with me through thick and thin.

Maybe I had better start at the beginning. I am a former bank employee whose health was shattered as a result of wounds in the last war. I have had nine amputations, six attacks of pneumonia, I count blood transfusions by the score, and have learned to disregard minor operations and illnesses that would highlight other men's lives.

Physically I am but a shadow, but I operate a 550-acre farm near Cobden, Ont., not as a hobby, but as a business. And I make it pay. I have a herd of 60 Shorthorn cattle and I am going to have more.

CCF Attacks Everything That Helps

I said I had a gripe. It is because I have read lots of what has been written or spoken by the CCF, a political party dedicated to State planning; a party which is, if you please going to plan my life—plan it, mind you, for me! If I can succeed—and I have succeeded—with no legs, crippled arms and a wasted body, what is there that cannot be done by an able-bodied man in this country of ours, provided our system goes on without revolutionary changes?

The CCF attacks everything that has helped me in my success. It says so many things that ought to be answered about banks, and the other monopolies, as it calls them. Just why the banks don't give the answers I don't know. If it is due to modesty it is too bad. If it is lack of guts, it is worse. But I have some of the answers and I am going to make them.

Before and after the last war I worked in a bank; and when my war wounds finally caught up with me and resulted in a series of illnesses that have led me to my wheel-chair the bank took care of me. I don't suppose the bank would like me to say how much it has spent on me during the long years of my many surgical operations and heavy medical expenses. Suffice to say that I was treated handsomely and am alive today chiefly because of the bank's consistent determinaton to help stand by and relieve of worry a comparatively unimportant employee who became disabled.

If the banks refuse to sing their own praises when people who would not know the difference between an asset and a liability attack and berate them, then I think it is time to speak out.

Wrong Government Can Bring Ruin

If I know something about farming, I know a lot, too, about banking, and my blood pressure rises every time I hear CCF talk about nationalizing the banks. We have in Canada the best banking system in the world but just let the Socialists get their hands on it and we will soon have the worst. Look at the great inflation deliberately engineered by the Government of Germany after the last war, if you want a picture of what ruin a Government can bring about if it runs the banks. To hear CCF spokesmen you would think all bankers are fish-eyed gents, with a perpetual "No!" on their lips, whose mission in life is to enslave those who fall into their foul clutches and to jeer at all the others. You would think the banks are heartless institutions, holding Canada and the Canadian people in a merciless grip, rolling up boundless profits and extending their control in ever-widening circles. But I know that is a lot of twaddle. Listen to my story:

The bank that I am talking about is full of men with human feelings, as well as keen intelligence. I have no doubt that these words go for all of the banks. Not only are banks full of human men; they are headed by men who started at the bottom and climbed to the top; and banking is one of the few businesses left where the old system of apprenticeship has its counterpart and where a boy can start from the bottom and go clear through to the top. These men gained human experience along the way and they treat their men like human beings—just like I have been treated. I am surely Exhibit A in this matter. I started with a bank at $100 a year. I climbed to the position of inspector, in charge of premises and purchases. I went to war in 1915 and physically have been paying ever since. The bank has never relaxed for one moment its interest in my physical well-being and, as I said before, were it not for the bank—a part of this so-called wicked, monopolistic, heartless system—I am convinced I would not even be alive today.

An Example in Rehabilitation

We hear of how the CCF will rehabilitate returned men, but the fact is the banks have undertaken to rehabilitate their own employees as they have before. I know. I am an example, greeted with open hands at the end of the last war. Who is Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Jolliffe or Mr. Douglas of Saskatchewan compared with the present Canadian bank executives? I venture to say that the leaders of the CCF will not personally rehabilitate one man or woman, whereas what they call monopolies will handsomely rehabilitate thousands.

What about the men who are actually at work today in the banks?

Most banks provide for them group life insurance; a broad pension plan; also hospitalization, surgical insurance and vacations with pay. In cases of absence on account of illness full pay is continued over lengthy periods. Their rights and privileges have been protected and nurtured throughout the years, not by the CCF, or the State, but by the wicked banks.

The Socialists attack monopoly, but they actually would create a super-monopoly, because that is the ultimate of State socialism. Is this not what our army, navy and air force today on the verge of defeating? Just take a look at the prostrate countries of Germany and Italy, and surely any sane person would never want State socialism in Canada.

The CCF talks of nationalizing the banks, but I, for one do not want to be forced to wear a political button when I go into any bank. And here are my reasons: During my years with the bank, and I refer particularly to those black depression years 1931-33, it was my painful duty at that time to call on farmers and others who were in difficulty, not because they were not doing their job, but because of shrunken foreign markets. Remember hogs at 3½ cents? And export beef at 5 cents a pound on the hoof? I came into contact with many farmers and business men where we held security which, if exercised, could throw them out in the road. Did we do this? I tell you honestly not in one instance.

Wants to Run His Own Life

At this time, being an inspector, I consulted my principals, and asked them if they were desirous of going into the farming business or other businesses through the exercise of security they held. Here was their short reply: "Gartley, if you think these men are honest and you are looking at them with head-office eyes do everything within your power to keep them on the land or in business, and we will stand by your judgment." And this was done.

If space permitted, I could quote hundreds of cases where we never exercised our security, but stood pat and said: "Come on, boys, a big heave here, and in a few years you will see the daylight ahead." And thank God, I lived long long enough to see this come true.

I don't want a bunch of professors, economists and statisticians in Ottawa deciding whether I can plant my back 50 acres in alfalfa or soya beans. I want to run my own life, despite my physical handicaps. All this talk of plans and planners, Government commissions, nationalized industry and finance, leaves me cold—and mad. It is just a bunch of hooey dangled in front of the voters with the hope that some sucker will fall for that line.

My rising impatience is due to the fact that the CCF would destroy everything that has contributed to my business independence, and stands ready to serve every sensible person in the same way. I have witnessed this attack on the Canadian way of life with growing alarm, because it boils down to an attack on the institutions that have made it possible for me to be independent and a business success.

I am not a rich man, and my farm is not a show farm. The same opportunity to succeed and in greater measure is open to anyone. I have demonstrated that any intelligent Canadian can succeed in the society or way of life that the CCF is determined to uproot.

No Advantage Over Others

The fact that I had some banking experience obviously has helped me as a farmer. It has enabled me to keep books, to estimate costs, but it gave me no financial advantage over my neighbours. I have never borrowed five cents from the bank for farming operations, but the proceeds of the sale of peas and stock or cattle I plowed back into fixed assets i.e., to purchase old buildings and reerect them on my farm, to build a new pig-pen, chicken house, summer kitchen, garage, etc. A lot of people forget that if you take proper care of a cow, she reproduces herself yearly: a ewe reproduces two or three times yearly, a sow eight or ten times and it doesn't take very long with careful handling and planning until a man, starting like myself, finds he is working himself into a pretty nice position.

I bought a farm of $550 acres near Cobden, Ont., in Renfrew County eight years ago. I bought it because I was convinced the purchase of land would be a hedge against inflation, and would give me an opportunity to be independent. I made a start with a cow and a calf, buying them for $38. I applied ordinary business principles to farming, buying beef stocker cattle in carload lots and eventually developing a purebred herd.

Early in the game I decided that tractor power would be more economical than horses, because of the heavy clay soil. I developed custom work for my tractor, getting in about 1000 hours each season on neighboring farms—and believe it or not, this tractor was built by our arch-enemy, Germany, in Hanover; but with this outfit, using the cheapest grades of fuel I could plow an acre of land more cheaply than those whose machinery had to be operated with high-power gas.

State Planning Of No Help.

The point I am trying to make is that any one can do this without State planning from Ottawa. I succeeded not because I was a former banker, but because I was determined to succeed and be independent That has been the glory of Canada in the past. One most important factor in my success I must especially mention, namely, that in all my efforts and through all my ills I have had help beyond all description from a wife without parallel, a gift of God in all reality.

The Canadian way of life has been based on economic and social equality and, to my way of thinking, any system that permits a man without farming experience and is a complete physical cripple, to build up a successful stock farm in eight years is good enough to keep without any "fundamental reconstruction," or experimenting by people like the Socialists who immediately suggest dealing in "funny money"—or perhaps they have another word for it—but that is what it looks like from where I sit. If you can find out from them how they propose to do the things they suggest it is more than I have been able to do and I am willing to make a small wager that they have not got the foggiest idea of what they are talking about.

There's another angle to this business that makes me mad. I have 550 acres of land, 150 acres in cultivation, the rest in bush and pasture. I know the CCF claim they will not nationalize farm land, but, to be frank and honest about it, I don't believe them. Look at it this way: They say in their Regina Manifesto they would replace the present economic system by a "planned and socialized economy in which our natural resources and the principal means of production and distribution are owned, controlled and operated by the people." Where do I, the farmer figure in this master plan of the planners?

Farm land is Canada's first great natural resource, and if it is not one of the 'principal means of production' what is it? For my part, I believe that, even if the Socialists do not include it among their avowed planks, they are heading toward a system that would mean the same thing. The essence of the CCF policy is State control, the regimentation of everything and everybody, in accordance with a national plan drafted by the long-haired boys in Ottawa. The philosophy of socialism is that the freedom and enterprise of the individual must be submerged for the supposed well-being of all; the State must be supreme not the individual.

The CCF platform calls for a National Planning Commission and the Regina Manifesto defines its duties in these words: "To plan for the production, distribution and exchange of all goods and services necessary to the efficient functioning of the economy . . ."

Everything "Fixed" by CCF Policy

Are farm products "necessary to the efficient functioning of the economy?" If so, they would be planned in accordance with the Socialist doctrine of a controlled economy. The farmer—and that means me—would be told how many acres he could plant and in what crops, how many hogs he could raise, what he must do with his apple crop. His prices would be fixed, he would be told when and to whom he could sell.

The CCF policy would mean that my freedom and individuality would vanish. Under conditions of that sort what practical difference does it make whether my farm land is nationalized? The question of ownership of the land becomes academic in the light of its absolute control by a board of economic planners.

To my way of thinking, any man who swaps his freedom for some airy dream, miscalled security, is a downright fool. History shows that when individual freedom is surrendered to the State it is seldom, if ever, regained in its original purity. Bedridden, or confined to a wheel-chair, as I am, I know what freedom means. I know its value, its infinite power, its limitless capabilities. It is that precious heritage of freedom, that abilty to be what I want to be and do what I want to do, that I will never surrender to any political party. I never will submit to economic dictation any more than I will submit to political dictation, so long as I have a vote.

In Johannesburg, South Africa, an old lady sitting opposite a gum-chewing U. S. soldier in a suburban train, smiled amiably, finally leaned forward and said apologetically:

"It's very kind of you to talk to me, sir, but I am stone deaf."

IT'S TIME TO BE GLAD Wisely

Germany has collapsed. It is as if we had been in a tug-of-war, with life itself as the prize. Now suddenly, the line seems loose in our hands. We must brace ourselves lest the pent up force of our own power send us plunging backward into disorder.

Joy is natural to us at this time; but let us be glad wisely. Much remains to be done. Much sacrifice must yet be endured if we are to establish on this world that peace and order which is, and has been, our real goal.

Thankful we should be. Proud we may well be of the courageous fidelity of our fighting men and the women who have backed them up; and of the proven quality of our technical minds and industrial workers.

Let us face the future with confident determination that Canada's new war-developed abilities shall be applied to assure better living for all our people. As Hydro has expanded to power the mighty war industries of Ontario, so in building for peace your Hydro stands ready to do its full part in providing a dependable low-cost electrical service to homes, industries and farms.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers: May is the month of spring rains, spring flowers and new spring hats. But it is also the month when many people are thumbing over seed packages. This year there is as great a need as in the past two years for more individual garden plots. Many of us in Ontario already have the Victory Garden habit; we like to see things growing and we like to grow our own. Hospitals are taking a tip from Victory Garden enthusiasts by using gardening as a healing means of rehabilitating disabled veterans.

CARROT RING

2 cups riced, cooked carrots, 3 eggs, well-beaten, 3 tbsp. melted fat, 1 tsp. minced onion, 1 cup milk, 1 tsp. salt, pepper to taste.

Mix in the order given and pour into a well-greased ring mold. Set the mold in a shallow pan of hot water, an inch deep around the ring, and bake in an electric oven at 350 degrees for 40 mins. Remove from oven and let stand a few minutes; then loosen edges, invert a large hot plate over the mold and turn out carefully. If desired, melted cheese may be poured over the ring just before serving. Fill the centre with peas, beans, asparagus or creamed fish. Serves 6.

CORN TIMBALES.

1 cup canned corn, 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, ½ cup of milk, 1 tbsp. chopped onion, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, salt and pepper to taste.

Mix the ingredients. Pour into four greased custard cups, set in shallow pan, containing about half an inch of hot water, and bake in oven at 325 degrees for about 30 mins. or until a knife blade inserted comes out clean. To serve, loosen the edges and turn out.

Serve with a vegetable plate dinner, including green beans. baked potatoes and broiled tomatoes on toast rounds.

CASSEROLE MEAT AND SPAGHETTI

1 onion, sliced, 1 lb. hamburg steak, 1 can tomato soup, ½ pkg spaghetti, 1 cup boiling water, salt and pepper.

Cook the spaghetti until tender in boiling salted water, then drain and keep hot. Put a tablespoon of oil or dripping into a hot frying pan and saute the hamburg until brown. stirring occasionally. Brown onion in hot fat and stir occasionally until well-browned. Put in one cup of boiling water, cover and simmer 15 mins., then add the cooked spaghetti, the salt, pepper and tomato soup.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

1¼ cups macaroni (broken in 1 ½ inch lengths), salt and pepper to taste, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 cup rich milk, 1 cup or more grated cheese.

Cook macaroni until barely tender in boiling salted water. Drain, add salt and pepper and mustard dissolved in a little of the milk. Stir well, so that the seasonings will be well distributed throughout the macaroni, then add the milk and cheese, saving enough cheese to sprinkle generously over the top. Turn into a greased casserole, top with grated cheese and bake in an electric oven at 350 degrees until lightly browned.

TAKE A TIP

1. In choosing a new area for vegetables be sure to select an open space where the sun will pour in, and excess moisture will be drained away. Few vegetables flourish in soggy damp soil.
2. Ploughing or deep hand spading should be followed by breaking up the soil until it crumbles finely and until fertilizers are evenly mixed in. Vegetables require well fertilized land. Rake the part of the bed which you are preparing for seeding down smooth, leaving the remainder in semi-rough state until seeding time. Some seeds being more tender than others will not be planted until later.
3. Varieties essential to health can be grown in very small space—for instance, carrots, lettuce, parsley, beans and the all-important tomato. Even a sunny window box can grow vitamins in the form of parsley or chives.

THE QUEST[illegible]

Mrs. B. J. says: [illegible] you make crisp popovers s[illegible]

Answer: When you bake popovers, have the baking pans sizzling hot before you pour in the mixture. Grease them generously and heat in the oven until hot. (Electric oven should be preheated or top element turned off).

Our rule for crisp popovers is this: Sift together 1 cup flour and ½ tsp. salt. Beat 2 eggs. Add 1 cup milk and 2 tsps. melted shortening. Add to the flour and beat several mins. Pour into heated cups and cook in electric oven at 450 degrees for 15 mins. Turn off the oven. open the door and leave in oven 5 or 8 mins. more to crisp.

Mrs. N. D. says: We're very fond of vegetable loaf for supper. Chopped mixed vegetables are thoroughly mixed with egg and crumbs. Use 2 eggs and 2|3 cup dry crumbs for a quart of vegetables and don't forget to season well. Bake in a moderately heated electric oven for ¾ hours.

Mrs. J. M. says: Ever try flavoured bacon—roll back bacon around a section of dill pickle, then broil it. It takes on a pleasing flavour.

CANNED MEAT FROZEN...

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced that beginning May 11th all wholesale stock of canned meat will be frozen. This prohibits the domestic sales of canned meat from processor or wholesaler and freezes stocks held by retailers in warehouses separate from stores.

Also frozen are all supplies of canned meat exceeding one thousand pounds stored or in transit to any retail stores.

Inventories of stocks affected must be filed with the board on special forms not later than May 25 and may only be released at the direction of the Meat Administrator. Most of these frozen stocks and over ninety per cent of canned meat after May 11 will be purchased by government agencies for delivery overseas.

It is expected that Canada will be able to export 125 million pounds of canned meat products within the next fourteen months.

MAN SHORTAGE.

Just give me a man
With a million or two,
Or one that is handsome
Would happily do;
A dashing young fellow
As swell any day,
Or one that is famous
Would suit me O.K.
But if the man shortage
Should get any worse,
Go back to the very
First line of this verse.

Sergeant (to raw recruit)—What is the difference between a time and a precussion shell?

Raw Recruit: That's what I say, Who cares?
