Charlie McMillan, Reeve By Acclamation Seven Candidates Contest Council Seats

Nominations for the positions of Reeve and Councillors were held in the Community Theatre last Monday night. Attended by about 60 citizens, the meeting was quiet and the business part of it went off very smoothly. The nominations started to come in at seven o'clock and continued to do so until the clerk called time at eight o'clock. In that time sixteen names had been proposed for the different offices. Several lively discussions developed among the various groups, the outcome of which was evident in the paring down of the rather unwieldy list of nominees, until as of today the contenders for the offices stand at seven for councillors with the nominee for reeve, standing alone, to be elected by acclamation. The original men nominated were as follows: for Reeve, R. G. Smith, Wm. Barker, Chas. McMillan; for Councillors: Albert Kilby, Wm. McCloskey, Thaddeus McIntosh, Glen Merkley, John Turner, Carl McMillan, Matt Flynn, Leo Gallagher, Francis Moriarty, John Wardell, Oscar Olsen, Harold Hamilton, Milton Phillips and P. G. Hewitt. Upon the reading of the names by the clerk, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Olsen withdrew their names from the nominations.

At the close of the nominations, a chairman was asked for the remainder of the evening, with Mr. H. C. Hummel appointed to the position. The retiring reeve and councillors were called upon to say a few words and Mr. P. S. Boyd began the talks with a brief resume of the work of council for the past year. Pointing out that it was a comparatively inexperienced council that took over last January, Mr. Boyd thought that the efforts on behalf of the ratepayers of the community were very commendable in the light of their inexperience. Pointing to the fact that the Corporation is solvent, the debenture debt low and money in the bank, the reeve hoped that council's efforts were appreciated. Referring to public interest in the council work, the speaker made it clear that one of the best ways for the ratepayers to find out what was taking place in the council meetings was to attend them, as every citizen has a right to do, and indeed, is urged to. "The less interest shown by the people of the municipality in the affairs of their local government, the greater interest will be taken by higher authorities, that is, federal and provincial bodies." said Mr. Boyd.

Council must meet 12 times in a year by law, Mr. Boyd pointed out, but the Chesterville council met 21 times this year with one more meeting in December to come. As a result of these meetings many things were accomplished, and the speaker named a few of them: The new traffic by-law, the new heating system in the Community Hall, a permanent full-time constable, fire chief and town foreman, the free public library, and several other items of public benefit. In closing, Mr. Boyd expressed his thanks to all those who had made the year a success.

Councillor Charles McMillan followed Reeve Boyd and expressed his thanks for the co-operation he and the rest of council had received in the past year. Councillor Matthew Flynn expressed his appreciation for a successful year that was in no small measure to the confidence the ratepayers had in the council.

In his talk, Councillor Turner gave a brief resume of the work of council and his part in it. Stressing the fact that he was against the giving of grants, he said that he didn't think it right that the taxpayers money should be given away in lump sums to various organizations. Mr. Turner thought a much better use of the money would be to take on the project of housing, with houses to be built at a minimum of $4000. It was the speaker's opinion that such houses would be of benefit to the community and as the speaker said, "stave off possible evictions." Taking a pardonable pride in the installation of the heating system being installed in the Community Hall, Mr. Turner outlined the trials that were attendent upon letting of the contract and the procuring of the necessary supplies.

After the nominees for the next year had expressed their thanks to their nominators and seconders and their desire to be of service to the community, the meeting closed.

The list of nominees and their proposers follow: for Reeve, Charles McMillan, by Leo Gallagher and R. G. Smith; R. G. Smith by Leo Gallagher and Bert Gillard; Wm. Barker by Carl McMillan and Wm. McCloskey.

For Councillor: Albert Kilby by Leo Gallagher and R. G. Smith; Wm. McCloskey by Leo Gallagher and Thomas Lapierre; Thaddeus McIntosh by John Turner and Stanley Lattone; Glen Merkley by John Turner and Stanley Lattone; John Turner by Thomas Lapierre and Stanley Lattone; Carl McMillan by Wm. Barker and Milton Phillips; Matthew Flynn by Leo Gallagher and Basil Sheridan; Francis Moriarty by Wm. McCloskey and Basil Sheridan; John Wardell by Thomas Moran and Thomas Allen; Harold Hamilton by Ralph McMillan and Charles McMillan; Milton Phillips by Leo Gallagher and Eric Casselman; P. G. Hewitt by John Turner and Stanley Lattone.

Following the qualifications on Tuesday night, the following names will appear on the ballots on December 15 in the coming election for councillors: Carl McMillan, Francis Moriarty, Milton Phillips, John Turner Thaddeus McIntosh, H. J. Hamilton, Wm. McCloskey. The reeve was elected by acclamation as Charles McMillan stood alone as condidate for the office.

Mrs. Gordon Merkley Celebrates 87th Birthday

Mrs. Gordon Merkley, 87-year-old resident of Winchester Springs, was honored Monday night, December 1st, when friends and relatives held a birthday party at her home.

Mrs. Merkley was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Coons whose father was the first postmaster of the village, and had a store and telegraph office. She is a member of the Winchester Springs United Church, and had formerly been active in the work of the WMS and sang for many years in the choir. She has two brothers, Salem Coons, of Hamilton, and Melvin, of Canton, N.Y.

An address was read by Mrs. Lorne McIntosh and the presentation of miscellaneous gifts was made by Mrs. William Barkley. The birthday cake for the occasion was made and presented to Mrs. Merkley by Mrs. I. Preston McIntosh. Four Teams In C.O.V. Hockey League

Winchester, Chesterville, Finch and Metcalfe will operate teams in the Central Ottawa Valley Intermediate Hockey League this year, according to arrangements made at a League meeting held in Winchester a few days ago, presided over by the president, F. Erle Helmer, with Randall Wylie as secretary. Metcalfe will use the Chesterville Rink for its home games, while the Winchester team will be made up of local and Osgoode Township players.

The president asked that all local branch rules which had been in force last year, be abolished, and that the league operate in strict accordance with O.H.A. rules under the constitution of the Ottawa district. A motion to this effect was passed, and one delegate was of the opinion that all of the trouble in the league last year, when every team had protested against the other one, was caused by local rulings.

The league will play a double schedule, and the president, secretary and Mr. J. Kinschellar, of Chesterville, will draw up the schedule soon and submit it to the clubs for approval. All teams will take part in the playdowns, with the first and fourth and the second and third playing in the semi-finals.

Each team will provide and pay for one referee or lineman throughout the regular schedule, and a suggested list of referees who might be available, were: Mel. Scott, Winchester; Mickey McIntosh and Charlie Ouderkirk, Finch; Alf. Jarvis and Lorne Marcellus, of Chesterville.

Voting delegates at the meeting were: Carl Guy and Wilfred Lannin, Winchester; Carl McMillan and Leo Gallagher, Chesterville; W. Schales and Morgan Doyle, Finch-Stormont. Metcalfe was not represented at the meeting. The Winchester entry into the league will be known as the Winchester-Osgoode team, as these two have combined in the hopes of making a strong contender for a place at the top.

Council Holds December Meeting

Attended by all the councillors and reeve, the December meeting of council was held in the clerk's office Tuesday night. The meeting opened with the business of the Chesterville Hydro Commission and after the passing of bills and accounts, the council called upon Mr. Derling Simpson who was waiting on the council, to state his wishes. Mr. Simpson was representing certain ratepayers of Hummel Street who had, on their own initiative, tiled an outlet in the open drain of the corporation for relief of water in their cellars. He was asking council if any reimbursement could be expected for expense incurred in doing the work and supplying the tile. It was pointed out by council that the corporation has no responsibility for the draining of cellars if the street is not equipped with a sewer. It is up to the homeowner to provide his own outlet. Mr. Simpson thanked council for his hearing, and the reeve expressed council's regret at being unable to offer relief of the situation.

On the presentation of a resolution by the Women's Institute, it was moved and passed that the sidewalks of the village by plowed and kept as free of snow as was within the means of the equipment on hand.

The resignation of Reeve Boyd was read and regretfully accepted. Mr. Chas. McMillan was appointed as acting reeve for the remainder of the term.

FREE TREE DISTRIBUTION

The Department of Lands and Forests announces that applications for trees must be received before January 15th, 1948, in order to be considered for distribution next spring. The date was formerly March 31st but as the demand for trees is so great, it is found necessary to have the applications earlier in order to ensure a fair distribution.

Application forms are available from the District Office at Kemptville but applicants are reminded that trees are not available for purely ornamental planting, as in a town or city lot, although farmers may use them to plant windbreaks for protection of their crops.

Another legitimate use is the planting of windbreaks for municipal county or provincial roads. Councils in many sections have been staggered by the high cost of snow plowing, and the expense of snow fence which must be renewed every few years. Road foremen have calculated that with snow fencing at $0.11 a foot, and the cost of erecting and taking it down at $0.02 a foot per year, it costs $1300.00 a mile every seven years. A permanent windbreak would make this expense unnecessary and would cost far less for protection which would last a lifetime. The only expense involved would be purchase of a strip of land 66 feet wide, or eight acres to the mile, moving the fence and planting the trees. The original owner might be given the use of the land between the windbreaks and the road so that it would be to his advantage to sell; in some cases a rail fence might be erected in the new location to serve as a windbreak until the trees grow and tree planting should not cost more than $50.00 a mile.

Councils would do well to consider this now.

10,000 DUTCH FARMERS WILL SETTLE IN CANADA

Their aim the ultimate ownership of farms in this country, 10,000 Dutch agriculturists will emigrate to Canada next year, it was announced jointly by the Honourable J. Allison Glen, Minister of Mines and Resources, and Dr. A. S. Tuinman, Agricultural Attache of the Netherlands Embassy at Ottawa.

To facilitate the passage of the Dutch families, who will pay their way to Canada, the Netherlands Government has chartered two vessels, the S.S. "Tabinta" and the S.S. "Kotabaroe", which will make a total of thirteen trips, carrying approximately 770 passengers each time. The first two arrivals will be at Halifax early in March, with the remainder scheduled for St. Lawrence River ports.

Owing to present exchange restrictions, these Dutch families will be unable at first to establish themselves on farms in Canada. They have agreed, however, to accept agricultural employment in all parts of the Dominion with farmers whose applications for their services have been approved and who will provide living accommodation. Through these arrangements they will acquire an excellent knowledge of Canada and of agricultural conditions and methods in this country.

The close co-operation between the Netherlands and Canadian Governments which had resulted in an independent move by a group of this size is unique in the history of immigration, and speaks well for the excellent relations existing between the two countries.

The plan will eventually afford Dutch parents an opportunity to obtain for their children farm land which is unavailable at home, and will be instrumental in a greater development of Canada's agricultural

CONSUMERS' ASSOCIATION GET QUICK ACTION

Women across Canada were quick to notify the Canadian Association of Consumers that they protested the sudden jump in the prices of home-grown fruits and vegetables following news of U.S. import restrictions, according to Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt, president of the association.

"Calls and letters from our consumer workers also indicated concern over the distribution of oranges now that they are to enter the country on a quota basis," Mrs. Marshall said.

"Consequently, the executive committee felt I should see Finance Minister Abbott immediately so that I could report to our association.

"Last week I saw Mr. Abbott and am particularly happy to learn that there will be an adequate supply of oranges," Mrs. Marschall said. "Young mothers particularly, were fearful that their children would short as a result of the restriction on imports. I am glad to learn that the trade is taking steps to augment the Canadian supply of oranges through imports from such countries as Palestine, Jamaica and British Honduras. The Minister has assured me too, of equitable distribution of these imports."

The president of the Canadian Association of Consumers pointed out that it is part of the policy the new association to keep its members informed on matters concernin their daily living as consumers.

"Right now, we are in the midst of a membership campaign with an objective of 250,000 members," she explained. "Every woman in Canada may become a member by paying the 50c fee. With an adequate budget, we expect to issue regular consumer bulletins to members to give them the facts on consumer matters.

"With the power of a substantial membership, we shall be in a position also, to make our voices heard in the interests of all consumers," Mrs. Marshall emphasized. She explained that women interested in joining the new association should mail a 50c postal script (obtainable at the post office) and send it with name and address direct to the Canadian Association of Consumers, Box 500, Station B, Ottawa, and an official receipt will be mailed to them. Membership fees are also being collected under the leadership of local voluntary campaign committees across the country.

Mrs. W. R. Walton of Oakville, is in charge of the Ontario Consumer Membership drive, Mrs. Cameron Montrose, Windsor, is leading Western Ontario, Mrs. Gordon D. Conant Oshawa, Central Ontario, Mrs. H. H. Webb, Brockville, Eastern Ontario, and Mrs. W. M. Flannery, North Bay, Northern Ontario, and the Lakehead.

"At our organizational meeting in September, the delegates from 56 National women's organiations went on record as being seriously concerned about the high increase in the cost of living," Mrs. Marshall said. "They urged the government to do everything in its power to hold off any further increase in the cost of essential foods.

"We are grateful that action has now been taken to curb price speculation in respect to fresh fruits and vegetables, canned fruit juices and the more important varieties of canned fruit and vegetables."

Wit

The lecturer was a celebrated Doctor of Law, and his talk was to be on "Fools." The chairman, who was something of a humorist, stood up to introduce him.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "We are now to have a lecture on fools by one"—he paused, and there was loud laughter before he resumed —"of the wisest men in the county."

The lecturer then rose to speak "Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "I am not half so big a fool as the chairman"— he paused, and again there was loud laughter —"would have you suppose!"

YOUR LIBRARY AND YOU

By Your Friend—The Bookworm

Dear Reader: During the summer months the librarian, with the aid of faithful helpers accessioned all the books in the library, pasted an envelop in the back of each book and made out a book card to correspond, the whole work sadly handicapped by lack of supplies as necessities for libraries are just as difficult to secure as are many others.

Two hundred books were discarded as worn out, those too badly dilapidated were destroyed, others still usable were conveyed by Mr. Boyd to Cornwall Gaol to be lent, if considered suitable by the Governor to the prisoners. Eleven hundred books are now listed, 50 of which were purchased by the Board and fourteen were donated by Mrs. Keith Graham. Also received was the volume "History of Agriculture in Ontario, 1630-1880", by Robert Leslie Jones of Marietta College, Mariette, Ohio. Dr. Jones is a son-in-law of the Editor and Mrs. Lacey.

Toronto Libraries sent us about 185 discards for a price of two dollars plus freight, a great number of these were non-fiction, but I feel sure many people will find the majority of them very readable. About 85 of these books are now in the library, the remainder will be added as soon as book cards become available.

Amongst the new books bought by the Board were reprints to replace the tried and true, Lloyd Douglas' "Magnificent Obsession"; L. M. Montgomery's books so popular with 'teen age girls. The magic of "Alice in Wonderland" was purchased and it is noted the Burgess books and stories about "Lassie" and "Lefty" and "Little Black Sambo" are very much demanded by smaller children.

The deep thinking person who would wish to understand why Communisim is not a creed to embrace would do well to read "I Chose Freedom" by Kravchenko.

The armchair traveller will find "Head Hunting in the Solomons", Hutchinson's "Unknown Country" and Kateherine Hales' "This is Ontario".

It is possible to find the exaggeration of Dicken's, the romance and chivalry of Sir Walter Scott and those, who would like to wander around the London of Charles II with Sam Pepys, can do so, through the medium of his Diary, seeing through his eyes the Plague and Great Fire and remembering that his church, whence he often went to hear a "fine sermon", was destroyed by the Germans in their blitzkreig on London.

"Kabloona" (The Eskimo name for white man) will be found very interesting by those who would know more of the Arctic. There is available light fiction for the busy wife and mother who wishes to read for relaxation but must at the same time, keep one eye on the stove and one half of the other eye on the baby. Adventure, Westerns, Whodunits are all there in numbers. Those who like phylosophy will find "The Wisdom of Confucius", and "The Importance of Living" by Lin Yutang. Anyone who would like a good chuckle would do well to read "The Happy Time" by Fontaine, or "Ridin' The Rainbow" by Rosemary Taylor.

We feel the Chesterville Public Library is off to a good start as since September 6th, 136 members have joined, of this number about forty are children, and during the months of September and October 446 books were circulated.

The Chairman, Mr. Boyd, having left for his new duties in Cornwall, his place will be taken by Mr. C. MacMillan, acting Reeve, who will no doubt call a meeting of the Board in the near future. The Board is comprised of nine persons of whom three are appointed by Council, two by Separate School Board and three by Public School, and the Reeve by virtue of his office. It would be a great help if all users of the library would jot down on a slip of paper the title of any new book, they would like to see added to the shelves. Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Hughson or Mrs. Doering will be glad to take charge of your requests and in this way get an idea as to the type of books you would like, because a public library is first and foremost your library. To date all services have been given without charge and much credit is due Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. Hughson for their faithful and courteous attention.

Reading can be a delight and an education, guiding along the road to knowledge, where every fact leads to another, every gain on the ascent opens a broader view. Lincoln in his log cabin home learned the laws and lessons of the universe by patient study. May it be given to you to read your book in warmth and comfort, in peace and quiet content.

Princess Margaret gave the couple a picnic basket.—News item.

It takes a plum and it takes a sword,
It takes a ring and a dove.
To set the scene when a future queen
Marries her own true love.

It takes a necklace, it takes a cake
And a coach of gold and glass
When a sailor boy (ship, ship ahoy)
Steps out with the King's own lass.

It takes a spoon and a silver dish
And a priceless jewel casket,
But a royal bride must have, beside,
A royal picnic basket.

Oh birds sing high, oh birds sing low,
Oh clouds, blow soft and white
For a date that's not an affair of state,
When the weather is warm and bright.

Strawberry jam and a baker's bun
And a pot of cheese to share
Complete the joy of a girl and boy
Out for a beath of air.

When the hatches all are battened down
And the sail is lashed with the gasket,
The credit goes to Margaret Rose,
Who ordered a picnic basket.

—Mary Ballard Duryee, in the New York Herald Tribune.

One of the greatest causes of traffic accidents is the mental attitude that "accidents will hapen." Of course, accidents will happen to people who do not believe in trying to prevent them by common-sense carefulness.

The wife of a rail worker down in Texas contributes this one:

My little boy, about six years old, was lying on the floor reading some pictures. His sister and I were doing the dishes in the kitchen when he came rushing out to me, saying:

"Mother, have I any Irish blood in me?" I replied I didn't think so. "Then what kind have I?" the youngster persisted. "Well," I replied, "your father is Scotch and I am English."

"Oh, that is why I am half smart and half dumb, is it!" the boy exclaimed.

DRAWBRIDGE NESTS AVERT MUDDY EGGS

The bugbear of the farm poultryman—dirty eggs through the hens trampling on them with muddy feet farms as in Canada. So the Fog—seems to be as rife on Australian Board of Victoria offered $200 prize for a nest that would clear the egg before the hen could muddy it up. As a result, the Board's office in Melbourne soon got cluttered up with an array of models, some of them calculated to upset the equanimity of even the most stolid hen, says the Australian News.

One model incorporates a drawbrige, gearwheels, collection box, and conveyer belt. As soon as the hen lays an egg, it rolls down a chute to the conveyer belt. The hen must cross the drawbridge to leave the nest. Her weight causes the drawbridge to drop and set in motion the gears which carry the egg along the conveyer belt and into the collection box. Some models, says the News, utilize cereal packets and hairpins. Others are masterpieces of the metal-worker's art.

Radio Farm Forum

Discussing the subject of health, the fifteen members of S.S. No. 10 who met at George Edgerton's home on Monday night, were of the opinion that national health insurance is the best means of insuring adequate medical and hospital care for everyone at reasonable cost. It was felt that, whi'e we in this district are fairly fortunate in regard to doctors, hospitals and nurses, this is not the case in more sparsely settled areas wnere medical care is totally inadequate and hospitals too far away. Also the cost of operation has spelled financial ruin to many a Canadian home.

National Health Insurance would spread this cost over the whole population and would mean freedom from worry for many about how the bill was to be paid.

George Edgerton will be convener next Monday night when the Forum meets at the home of Hudson Johnston.

Film Board To Trace History of Winchester Hospital Project

A photo story of Winchester District Memorial Hospital is to be made by the photo service division of the National Film Board, as an outstanding example of "Democracy in Action", according to advice received by F. Erle Helmer.

Shooting of the story began on Monday last, when Miss Anne Marriot of Ottawa, and a cameraman came to Winchester to cover municipal elctions, as Walter C. MacDonald, chairman of the hospital board, was a candidate for reeveship. His opponent for this office was John M. Fader, councillor, with five years experience, also pledged to continued support of the hospital project.

The five aspirants for the four seats on the board also signified at the nomination meeting that they would continue as a council to give leadership in completing the building of the 32-bed hospital.

Since the project was first started by the council of 1944 the ratepayers of the village have signified their support by returning only those in favor, and the one candidate known to be opposed got relatively few votes.

Will Trace History

According to the prospectus, a reconstruction of events will be made from the time when Dr. J. J. McKendry, a former practising physician of Winchester for 30 years, wrote a letter to the Winchester Press setting out the problem and the seriousness of conditions in the area, due to lack of hospital facilities.

The editor of the paper backed up the statements in the letter editorially and Reeve Albert Turner and his council were so impressed by the situation that they called a meeting of the heads of societies and representative citizens.

Finding that there would be support from all citizens a provisional board was set up, symbolic of the co-operation which has existed between municipal government and citizens throughout the project, consisting of the reeve, the four councillors and three private citizens, and the Ontario Government granted a charter to these eight original charter members.

Later Walter C. MacDonald was named the chairman of the board and Chester R. Robinson, the secretary, which positions are still held by these men.

Shots will be made of canvassers, nearly all veterans of World War II, who in two days raised more than $30,000 in this village of about 1,100 people and of Norman W. Beach, 82-year old resident who was also one of the hardest workers at the time of the canvass, and is now a member of the new board.

Human Interest

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wylie, who celebrate their golden wedding anniversary in December and who have paid $100 out of their old age pension fund to the hospital, will be filmed in the centre of their golden wedding celebration.

Dr. H. S. Gross of Winchester and Dr. Howard Justus of Chesterville, both large contributors will be shown with patients at a Chesterville clinic. There will also be pictures of the council of the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry in session at Cornwall (they gave a grant of $15,000), of Reeve Geor Lewis of Osgoode, the township most solidly behind the undertaking.

There will also be shots of the Women's Institutes who will furnish rooms, the Red Cross Society of Winchester at work on hospital supplies Hart Melvin with his finance and building committees at work, shots of the building itself which is growing rapidly, and of the spectators who come daily to "watch it grow".

Farm Fires Cause Annual Loss of Over $10 Million

It is estimated from a recent survey made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics that there were 8,000 farm fires in Canada in the 12-month period ended June 1, 1947. It is difficult to obtain adequate representation of farm fires, because if a fire is sufficiently serious to destroy the farm residence and it is not rebuilt, there is little possibility of collecting information about the fire from a sample survey of households. However, even with this probability of under-estimating, the results of the survey indicate that farm fires occur with considerable frequency and cause enormous property damage. The estimated value of farm property destroyed by fire in the period under review amounted to $10,254,000 and the amount of loss covered by insurance was estimated at $3,778,000, just under 37 per cent. This indicates that a relatively small proportion of farm property is adequately insured against fires.

Fires were most frequent in barns or outbuildings and 45 per cent of all fires originated in these places. The farm house was the location of 38 per cent, and 15 per cent were stubble, bush or grass fires. The remaining 2 per cent of the fires concerned machinery and equipment. In addition to buildings, including the farm home, it is estimated that farm equipment was lost or destroyed in 16 per cent of the fires and equipment and live stock in 15 per cent.

The frequency of farm fires shows considerable seasonal variation, the late spring and summer being the season in which fires are most common. Nearly half of all farm fires occur in the four months of May to August.

50th Wedding Anniversary Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Flegg

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Flegg, Newington, Ont., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of Mancel Flegg, one of their sons, on Monday, November 24th.

The evening was spent in playing games and singsongs.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Flegg were called to come forward under an arch decorated with white and gold streamers and wedding bells. Mancel Flegg read an address while their granddaughter, Mrs. Arlene Hart presented them with a purse. Mr. Flegg on behalf of his wife thanked the family and relatives.

Rev. Mr. Harding, pastor of the Newington United Church, gave a real nice talk in regard to the occasion. Lunch was served and wedding cake cut and treats of candy.

The couple had 5 children: J. I. Flegg, Newington, Elmer Fleg, Finch, Mancel Flegg, Newington, the late Eldon Flegg, Toronto, died two years ago, Mrs. Bruce Moore, Spencerville and 9 grandchildren.

"My Week"

By R. J. DEACHMAN

In recent articles I have pointed out that there was a prospect of a substantial surplus this year, an excess of Federal Government receipts over Federal Government expenditures. Then I asked this question: If you were Minister of Finance and found yourself with a billion dollar surplus at the end of the year what would you do with it. I put the same question before a group meeting at the Y.M.C.A. in Ottawa. I have received a shower of responses, people are interested, they have definite views on this subject. If my miniature Gallop Poll reflects public opinion, the Canadian people want to reduce the national debt, lower taxes and after that there are other things, many of them, want to have and much they want done.

One man wanted to devise a scheme whereby young people could get married at a reasonably early age and be sure of a home within their means. Tough job! People have been trying to do that for a long time. The trouble, in recent years, is that they want too many other things. Not all of them want houses. It's a good idea, let's keep it in mind! Another suggested that we needed a change of heart, a willingness to consider the interests of others instead of seeking always, our own advantage. I agree with him. He also wanted debts reduced and taxes lowered. I hope he lives to see his three desires become realities. It would bring a happier wiser world.

Through these replies ran suggestions that we ought to spend substantial sums on public works of a productive character. Of course that isn't a suitable suggestion for the moment. We have full employment now. To extend public works at this time would involve the transfer of workers from more productive employment, moving them into tasks which were less productive. Some saw this point and suggested that we should do this when, and if, employment falls off.

One man suggested compulsory savings to mop up some of the money now spent on luxuries. That brings up a curious point. We are more prosperous now, than we have ever been before. Total salaries and supplementary labor income in 1946 was more than double the 1939 level. Even after allowing one-third off that level because of increases in the cost of living we have vastly increased spending capacity in comparison with any past period, but our desires are still beyond our means. All are anxious for more money to spend.

I imagine that if we were to do what my friend suggests, establish compulsory savings, people would fight against it with tooth and claw—and, if not with claws, with votes, for many feel as poor now as they did when they had half as much. I doubt if humanity will ever be satisfied purely by increased material prosperity.

One man distributed his program over nearly all fields of efforts. He would give 50% of the hypothetical surplus to debt reduction, 30% to lower taxes, 10% for increased old age pensions and 10% to raise the salaries of civil servants. Bless their dear hearts, the civil servants are seldom out of the minds of the people of Ottawa—and the salaries and retiring allowances of the civil servants is as keen a subject of discussion as crop prospects among farmers.

I like best the story which came from far away Alberta. He was a farmer but has now retired:

"Mr. Abbott", he wrote, "is in the position of a farmer who finds that his income for the year is 50% above his requirements. What should he do with it? He should consider the prospects for the future. He should study how best to use his surplus so as to add to the properity of future years and in my humble opinion the best place for it would be in the improvement of his live stock, buildings and equipment, with the hope that this may help him to get better results out of his farm in future years. It may be that in this there is a basic idea for the Minister of Finasce."

I sat and looked at the answers to my questions I read them again then I said to myself: "Canada is in the position of that farmer. We should look carefully over the whole field of effort with the object of improving methods, lowering costs and maximizing production. When we accomplish this purpose debts and taxes will become less important. The burdens will be less because the backs that bear them will be stronger and with still larger national income the debt can be reduced.

Yes, the hearts of the people are sound. One man placed first on his program these simple words: "Feed Europe". It's a good idea but I am far from unkind when I make this statement: Better by far if we could put the people of Europe to work. The man who can devise a means of doing this will have conferred upon Europe a power of recovery far greater than can come from any Marshall plan. If you have a better idea on how the expected surplus should be spent—let me have it. Fame might come to you through finding wiser ways of spending a billion dollars.

THE WEEK-END RADIO PROGRAMS

THRILLER OF 70's RE-TOLD ON AIR

In 1872 a fictional English gentleman named Phineas Fogg bet some friends half his fortune that he could circle the globe in 80 days—an unheard-of speed in those days—and then set out to do it. The story of his journey, its set-backs and excitement, as told in "Around the World in 80 Days," by Jules Verne, has been adapted for radio by Tommy Tweed, and is currently presented by the CBC in a series of weekly dramas. Mondays at 8.00 p.m. EST, over stations of the CBC Dominion network.

The Monday, Dec, 8 episode of "Around the World in 80 Days" finds Fogg and Passepartout, his French valet, in a Calcutta police court, their journey delayed following arrest for entering a native temple in their street shoes.

TELLS OF NOTED HOCKEY PLAYER

Howie Morenz, noted hockey player, is the sports figure whose personality and background are to be described on Dec. 7 item in "Canadian Athletes," radio series broadcast at 12.15 p.m. EST, over the CBC Trans-Canada network.

Here's a simple lesson in arithmetic. Traffic accidents multiply a man's worries; divide his money; add to his discomfort; and substract from his family's happiness. Be alert — be careful — for soundness of body and long life.

WITH "CHARLIE & MORT"

Anita Gordon, teen-age vocalist of the "Charlie McCarthy Show," broadcast Sundays at 8.00 p.m. EST, over the CBC Trans-Canada network. Program features the comedy antics of Edgar Bergen's two wooden proteges —Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd, interspersed with music by Ray Noble's orchestra.

DRAMA OF JUDEA IN BIBLE SERIES

As an introduction to its annual presentation of the Christmas stor , the CBC's "Way of the Spirit" series is currently giving listeners a picture of the Holy Land at the time Jesus was born.

Broadcast on the CBC Trans Canada network in dramatic form on Sundays at 1.30 p.m. EST, the next program (Dec. 7) will tell about the place the Romans occupied in the world and especially in the land of Judea.

OFFER LISTENERS REWARDS IN QUIZ

Canadian "dial-twisters" who rate quiz programs high on their radio entertainment list are invited to listen to a recently introduced question-and-answer series called "Beat the Champs," Fridays at 9.00 p.m. EST, over the CBC Trans-Canada network.

The "champs" are Morley Callaghan, Canadian novelist, and Ralph Allen, associate editor of Maslean's magazine, with two guest experts each week. The four attempt to answer questions on an unlimited range of subjects, sent in by listeners. Don Fairbairn is master-of-ceremonies.

Each question is divided into three sections. If any part stumps the experts, the sender of the question receives a copy of the Book of Knowledge Annual as a prize. If the whole question proves too much for the broadcast quartet, a complete set of the Book of Knowledge is awarded. For each question used, whether answered correctly or not, the sender also receives a copy of a current best-seller.

VOICES REPRESENT ONTARIO, QUEBEC

A mezzo-soprano from Toronto and a tenor from Quebec will be featured on Dec. 7 during the next broadcast of "Singing Stars of Tomorrow," weekly radio program designed to encourage young Canadian singers. It is broadcast Sundays at 5.00 p.m. EST, over the CBC Trans-Canada network.

The artists to be heard on this date are Margaret Kerr, 22, who has done considerable concert and radio work in Ontario, and recently received the highest vocal marks in the 1947 Kiwanis Music Festival; and Pierre-Andre Boutet, 21, who has been heard on CBC French network broadcasts and is preparing for an operatic career.

Wages Linked to Production By Immutable Logic of Facts

From the Labor Review (C.F.L.)

No worker in his right mind would expect wage rates to keep on rising, year after year, without their pushing up the price of the goods he helps to make or the service he helps to maintain, unless the increased wage rates were matched by an increased rate of output. Whether he is employed in an ice-box factory or on a railway, neither he nor his employer can alter the rules of the game. The rules are not graven on stone, nor even written on paper in terms that command universal acceptance, yet in their spirit and purport they are as durable as the laws of the Medes and Persians.

The main rule is that the customer must be satisfied, if he is to remain a customer. He must be satisfied with both the commodity or service he buys and the price he has to pay for it. He is the supreme boss, to whom employers and employed alike must bow. This customer, this buyer of ice-boxes and railway tickets, this final arbiter of our nation's economy is no shrinking violet. He is easily identified. He is on view in any mirror. He is us, all of us.

* * *

We people of Canada, all of us (and most of us are workers, too) are the willy-nilly dictators of the market place, armed with a shrewdness for which we can claim no credit because it is less an attribute of our character than an ordinance of our needs. We decide how we will spend our earnings, and if the prices of the things we want don't suit our pocket we buy less of them than we would otherwise be inclined to buy. The sum total of our private decisions determines how much of each thing shall be produced and how many people shall be employed in producing it.

Thus, collectively, as the chief customers of industry, the people of Canada, with some support from customers abroad, have the last word in the price argument. And since prices consist of costs plus profits, the main cost being wages, it is the part of wisdom for workers to ponder the consequences of increased wage rates upon the sales volume of the goods and services they have a hand in providing. Whether they make doughnuts or locomotives, or play in a band, as wage earners they are as much the servants of the whole buying public as are their immediate employers, who in this sense are merely middlemen. The customer may not always be right, but he is in the driver's seat.

* * *

There is always a point beyond which wage rates cannot be raised without increasing the costs of production, and thereby the selling prices. Every increase of prices increases buyers' reluctance. The buyer (who is any one of us, commonly called a consumer) may need the goods and services that are offered for sale, but he will take or use a little less of them. He is not plotting against the worker (for he is most often a worker himself), nor against anybody, but merely figuring what he can afford to spend on this or that.

The workers must figure, likewise, not merely how high a wage rate they can secure but how high a rate they can afford to press for. No benefit can be gained by a high wage for the hour if it does not mean a high income for the year. Separation from the payroll, whether due to slack purchasing by the cash customers or to strikes, trims a fancy hourly rate to a niggardly pittance for the worker who likes to eat in all the 52 weeks and not only in some of them.

It is the main business of the workers' organizations, the trade unions, to make the strategic calculation of how far to go in forcing a bargain which may bring big immediate advantages and yet offer a bleak prospect for the future if high costs of operation cause sales to drop off? The workers in urban industry appear to be sitting pretty at this moment, when the market belongs to the sellers. But there is a cloud novering in the sky, still no bigger than a man's hand, yet likely to throw a deep shadow upon our meretricious and brittle camp-following prosperity. Unless Canadian union members agree that full employment obliges them to offer full co-operation with industrial management with the definite goal of higher output, they would do well to eschew all programs for continued increases of hourly wage rates beyond the levels recently attained, which seem generally to be about all the traffic will bear.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! When I lived at Grandma's place we always had a bowl of soup before dinner was served: it was ladled from a stock pot on the stove. Today there is a great variety of soups from which we can choose one for the particular occasion. If we wish the soup merely to create interest in the dinner, we will select one of the clear soups, either a bouillon or consommé. To discriminate between the latter you will remember that the clear soup made from fresh lean beef is bouillon, while consommé, also a clear soup, is a combination of meats, fresh or cooked. On the other hand, if we wish the soup to be the main item we will select one of the thick vegetable, fish or meat soups.

A soup helps to make use of every extra piece of bread toasted, diced or broken. Other varieties of accompaniment are: salty crackers, tiny cornmeal muffins, French sticks. cheese bites and celery biscuits. By the way, to freshen breads and crackers, soak in salted water. When they are puffed up, transfer to cookie sheet with egg lifter and bake in oven for 5 to 10 minutes.

BEEF BONE SOUP

Cover leftover roast beef bones and scraps with water. Cover; simmer 1 hour; remove bones. Add 1 cup diced carrot, ¼ cup chopped onion, salt, pepper. Cover. Simmer for 45 minutes. Add 1¼ cups cooked or canned tomatoes; heat. Garnish with lemon. Serves 4.

POTATO CHEESE SOUP

3 medium potatoes, 2 cups boiling water, 2 to 3 cups milk, 1 slice onion, 2 tbsps. fat, 2 tbsps. flour, 1 tsp. salt, pinch of pepper, 1 cup grated cheese, 1 tsp. chopper parsley.

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Put through strainer. Measure and add enough milk to make 4 cups. Scald with a slice of onion. Melt fat, add flour and seasoning. Gradually add potato mixture, removing onion. Cook 3 minutes. Add cheese and beat till smooth. Sprinkle parsley on soup before serving.

BARLEY BROTH

1 qt. meat stock, 1 tbsp. turnip diced, 1 tbsp. carrot diced, 1 tbsp. white navy beans, 1 medium onion chopped, ½ cup pot barley.

Add beans to cold bouillon or stock, bring to boiling point and add vegetables and barley. Cover and simmer 1½ hours. Season to taste. Makes about 5 cups.

GRANDMA'S MEAT AND VEGETABLE SOUP

2½-3 lbs. of shin, knuckle or neck of beef, 1 onion sliced, ½ cup diced celery and leaves, 2 peppercorns, 2½ qts. water, 1 tbsp. salt, 3 carrots in strips, 1 bay leaf, paprika.

You may also add:

½ cup rice, pearl barley or noodles, 1 cup tomatoes.

Wipe the meat, cut the lean part into cubes. Cover with cold water, heat slowly to the simmering point. Remove the scum as it forms. After simmering for 2 hours, add the vegetables and seasonings. Simmer for at least 1 hour longer. We like our fair share of meat and vegetables. You may prefer to strain them out, for a clear, sparkling bouillon.

* * * *

TAKE A TIP

1. Vegetable water poured down the sink means food value wasted. Canned soups take on new zest with the addition of vegetable water, but remember to go easy on the salt if the vegetable has been salted.

2. If you have oversalted the soup, there is something you can do about it. Slice a raw potato and add it to the soup. Remove potato before serving.

3. The nutritive value of the outside leaves of cabbage is good even though they are not attractive. Wash thoroughly and add to soup stock for flavour. Remove before serving.

4. A dash of chili sauce and a bouillon cube added to blended soups or dehydrated noodle soups make a richer food.

5. Simmer soup. Do not boil.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

Mrs. C. M. says: To preserve wicker furniture, spray with water. This will remove dust and keep reed from drying and cracking.

Mrs. J. D. says: The easy method of cleaning silver is in the aluminum pan. One quart of boiling water with one tablespoon common salt and one tablespoon of baking soda added to it before the silver is dropped in. Add silver, enough to be covered. Too much silver in pan causes scratches and also prevents good chemical action.

The aluminum pan may be freed of the silver tarnish by boiling apple peelings in large quantity of water for 10 minutes.

OTTAWA MAN BUYS BECKETT TOURIST HOME

A well known landmark for many years the Beckett Tourist Home, on the Rideau river, at Becketts Landing, has changed hands and Mr. Joseph T. Radcliffe, of Ottawa, is the new owner and will take possession almost immediately.

The property, which is a favorite place for picnics, swimming, fishing and tourists, has been in the Beckett family for more than 100 years a was one of the original spots used for crossing the Rideau river when a barge with cable was the means used. Later a wooden bridge was built with a swing portion to open for the then heavy boat traffic which went up and down the river and a bridgeman lived close by.

When trucks and buses began to cross, the bridge was found hardly strong enough, and a few years ago the new steel and cement high bridge was constructed about a quarter of a mile east of the old bridge.

EASE UP IN THE FREEZE-UP

These are dangerous days for drivers, says a bulletin from the s: committee of the Ontario Department of Highways. Roads made slipper by snow and sleet, less visibility, early darkness, large shopping crowds—all add up to the need for more attentiveness by drivers. A simple skid, a minor hazard in clear dry weather, might end in a fatal accident when streets are wet and crowded, it says.

Driving conditions on the open highways also become more hazardous in these late autumn days, continues the bulletin. Emergency stopping distances increase on slippery roads, fair warning that reduced speeds are needed to offset this condition. Vision obscured by snow, fog or sleet calls for motorists to proceed cautiously.

Wise drivers give special attention these days to the safety factors of their vehicles. Good brakes are a 'must' with them, as are correct headlights, smooth working windshield wipers and properly adjusted steering gear. Safety-minded motorists keep a cloth handy for clearing their windshields, side and rear windows.

Cold, wet weather also requires the motorist to keep a wary eye on the other fellow. The good driver will bear in mind that others may not have given the same attention to their brakes, windshield, lights, etc., and that he must be prepared to act quickly to avoid mishap arising from their negligence.
