Tractor for hire

Spring planting is in full swing across Dundas County, and area custom farm work operators are busy helping out those who need a hand. In today's mechanized world, not everyone can afford to buy the costly equipment needed for every phase of their operations and many are turning to custom operators for assistance.

Hole filled

Work crews began Tuesday morning to use fill from the site of a new pharmacy on Main Street to level off the hole at the corner of Main and St. Lawrence Streets created by the demolition of K.L. Reid's General Store. The building was demolished June 21, 1984 following a fire which gutted the century-old limestone structure the previous October.

Sewage project, larger lagoon planned for '86

WINCHESTER — Ten years of planning to improve Winchester's sewage facilities could come to an end this year if the provincial Ministry of the Environment gives final approval to council's plans to enlarge the village lagoon.

The ministry is in the process of considering the village's application for the project, and the next step will be the scheduling of an environmental hearing, Reeve Larry Gray said Monday. The province has set aside $473,000 toward the first phase of the $1.5 million project.

The capital grant will cover approximately 75 per cent of the money to be spent on the project this year, Gray said.

The improvements to the system will include enlargement of the existing lagoon, as well as upgrading of the north pumping station and mains along Mill and Clarence Streets. However, the plans will not be fully approved until after an environmental hearing has been held.

Three methods to improve the village sewage system have been considered in the past, said Gray. Alternatives to enlarging the lagoon include pumping the sewage to the Nation River, or a system of spray irrigation, in which effluent would be sprayed onto a large area of farmland to act as fertilizer.

Council would prefer to enlarge the lagoon, Gray said, and has purchased 38 acres of land to accommodate the expansion. "When the Fife Farm was put up for sale we took the initiative to acquire some of that land," he said. The lagoon is located on the Fife property northwest of the village in Winchester Township and the extra land was acquired in 1985.

The last major expansion of the village sewage system took place in 1971-72, and the entire project was funded by the provincial government, with a portion to be paid back late. Today, the municipality is responsible for the project and must supply 25 per cent of the cost at the outset, probably through bank loans or debentures.

Gray said the need to enlarge the sewage system was identified more than a decade ago, but plans were put on the back-burner because the search for new sources of water took priority. A new well was brought into production last year, and the sewage project has taken priority once again.

A program to upgrade a number of streets in Winchester is also planned, and Gray noted work on streets would tie in well with the sewage project. Enlargement of the sewage main along Mill Street is one of the improvements planned for the system, and Mill Street has also been given a high priority in a five-year plan for road construction.

Completion of the sewage project, together with the introduction of a new well, will likely permit development of a number of village subdivisions.

Council is also looking ahead to 1988, Gray said, and hopes work on the roads and sewage systems can be completed before the village centennial. "We would like to see all of that completed in the next two years," he said.

Area doctors' group calls protest successful

CHESTERVILLE — Doctors from this area who attended last week's demonstration to protest against proposed legislation forbidding physicians to charge more than Ontario Hospital Insurance rates, are calling the rally a success.

"We feel concerned that we've been pushed to this, but we felt we had to do it on a matter of principle," said Dr. Gabriel Slowey, president of the Winchester-Kemptville Medical Society.

Slowey was one of 13 doctors of the 24 in the society, who went to Queen's Park last Wednesday to voice concern over the provincial government's plans to fine doctors $10,000 if they extra-bill.

About 5,000 of the 17,000 doctors in Ontario were in Toronto last week. Even though Premier David Peterson didn't address the crowd, Dr. William Vail, president of the Ontario Medical Association (OMA), Ontario PC leader Larry Grossman and Jim Henderson, Liberal MPP for Durham did come out to talk to protesting doctors.

"We feel very good about taking part in the protest and we think we've made a point," said Slowey on Monday.

Describing the whole situation as a "chess game", Slowey emphasized the government should be taking the medical profession more into consideration when making rules to govern their jobs.

Lawyers make the laws which affect them, architects are consulted when their rules of conduct are made, so why shouldn't doctors help to make the laws which govern their profession, said Slowey.

Doctors are private citizens being treated like civil servants, so they have to adopt confrontational actions to fight back, he said.

However, Slowey refused to speculate on whether the society plans any further action against the proposed bill. "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it, but for now silence is golden."

The medical society had decided to support the OMA if it advised doctors in the province to opt out of OHIP if the Liberals bring in Bill 94. But Slowey said he doesn't foresee that yet.

Dundas doctors left Queen's Park at about 3:30pm when they met with Luc Gandon, Conservative MPP for Cornwall and Noble Villeneuve, Conservative MPP for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The legislation banning extra-billing is still being studies by a committee of the Ontario legislature.

Osgoode Township holds line on taxes

METCALFE — Although Osgoode Township's budget is going up by less than one per cent this year, township ratepayers face a total increase in their tax bills of six per cent.

"This council can be very proud of the fact that we have approved another budget holding the line of increases for the third year in a row," said township Mayor Albert Bouwers at a council meeting Tues., May 6. "Our 1985 prediction has come true, and at this time I am willing to predict the same for 1987."

According to Bouwers, 1986 will be an eventful year with plans in the works to completely reconstruct the Osgoode arena. A new community centre for Greely could become a reality if Wintario funding becomes available and a study is currently under way for a third non-profit housing project in the village, Bouwers added. Work on the boundary road and the South Castor Drain will be completed this year.

The township started 1985 with a deficit of approximately $100,000 and finished with a surplus of $100,000, Bouwers said. The surplus has helped to increase the township's reserve funds to over $1,500,000.

During the past year, the township fire department received a new completely equipped truck, while a number of new vehicles were purchased for the roads department. A modified computer system was also installed in the administrative office. "The upgrading of the office equipment together with a dedicated staff have allowed us to maintain the smallest per capita administrative staff of any township within the region," said Bouwers.

Other projects on the go include a new library facility in Metcalfe. Renovations at the municipal hall have been completed.

One major expense in the 1986 budget is the cost of township insurance, which climbed to $60,050 from $13,900 in 1985.

Chronic care facilities badly needed in Dundas

CORNWALL — Dundas County has a severe shortage of long-term health care facilities according to a report released last Friday by the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario.

"Dundas appears to have few facilities of any kind," said Art Bond, chairman of the long-term care committee.

The study, conducted by the firm Peat-Marwick at a cost of $40,000, investigated the needs of five counties and the city of Cornwall regarding the long-term care needs of residents. The findings were released at a press conference in Cornwall.

One of the report's findings was the need for extended care beds in Dundas and Stormont Counties while a surplus of beds exists in Glengarry, Prescott and Russell. The eight-month long study analyzed present facilities to determine future needs in the area.

The study said there is expected to be an overall increase of 10.5 per cent in the population aged 65 and over, bringing the numbers from 19,000 to over 21,000 in Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and the city of Cornwall by 2001. The most significant growth in this age group is expected to occur in Prescott and Russell.

The entire region studied is experiencing a shortage of chronic care beds although Dundas was singled out as especially lacking in all services.

Approximately 32 per cent of the extended care beds in the five counties are occupied by people from outside the region, primarily Ottawa-Carleton.

There appears to be an adequate supply of residential care beds in the area.

The consultants recommend that the long-term care committee of the council should take overall responsibility for the implementation and co-ordination of the long-term care plan for the region.

As well a placement co-ordination service should be established to oversee a central registry of all available long-term care services, programs and beds for the five counties.

A shortage of about 80 chronic care beds in the region "was one of the study's more significant findings," said Cornwall alderman Guy Leger, council chairman, in releasing the preliminary draft of the study.

The study says the area has 182 chronic care beds for a population of 160,000. There are 100 beds in Stormont, 35 in Dundas, 15 in Glengarry, 32 in Prescott and none in Russell. Leger pointed out there is no hospital in Russell County which may account for the absence of chronic care facilities there. The study noted half of Russell's 584 extended care beds are utilized by residents of neighboring municipalities.

Other draft recommendations include the services of speech therapists, occupational therapists and physiotherapists. Improved transportation for the elderly should be developed within the counties according to the study. As well, further assessment of respite or vacation services should be conducted. Don St. Pierre, executive director of the council, explained respite services are used to relieve families of responsibilities for relatives when they want to go on holidays or leave the home for a few days.

Psychogeriatric services should be available to all residents of the region, say the consultants. Day programs should be established in existing long-term care facilities. Home sharing programs for older adults should be established to supplement homemaking services.

Busy days for area florists

WINCHESTER — Most women will admit they enjoy receiving flowers, especially on Mother's Day — except, perhaps, florists.

For most merchants, Christmas is the time of year when they do most business. For florists, Mother's Day is like having Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter crammed into one, said Sandra Rennison, owner of Muriel Flowers in Winchester.

She, like many other florists in the area, spent the last few days preparing literally hundreds of flower arrangements and boxed flowers for all those people who wanted to say "I love you" to Mom.

This year proved no exception to the rule that Mother's Day is a particularly lucrative time for florists. Rennison said she had to hire four more people to handle the extra work. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday that work kept her and her staff at the shop until 9 and 10pm.

John Van Bruinessen, owner of Durant's Flowers in Chesterville said he and his staff were at the flower shop until midnight on Friday to prepare for the Saturday rush. "It was pretty hectic," he said. However, he admits he hasn't received one complaint call yet. "Usually Monday morning is when you get calls from unhappy customers, but this year we've been lucky."

"It's really the worst day out of all the special occasions florists have to cater to," said Deanna Bouchard, who co-owns the Village Green Flowershop in Morrisburg.

The Bouchard's started their work days last week at about 6am and didn't leave until 6pm.

Being 13 years in the business, Bouchard said Mother's Day is the busiest because everyone remembers mother. "It doesn't matter where she is, anyone can send flowers to her these days with Teleflora and FTD worldwide delivery."

Most florists in the area report normal sales for this time of year. And although potted plants are the most lasting floral gift besides silk or dried flowers, fresh cut flower arrangements and boxed fresh cut flowers were once again the favorites among customers this Mother's Day.

Flowers were again a popular gift for Mother's Day this year. Area florists say the volume of orders was about the same as in previous years, which kept some designers on their feet until close to midnight making arrangements.

Apartments have July 1 target date

WINCHESTER — The village's new senior citizens' apartment complex should be ready for tenants to move in by July 1, said Winchester Non-Profit Residence Corporation chairman Larry Cotton.

"It's starting to look quite completed," Cotton said. "We're just going day-to-day trying to get all the details looked after."

The second floor of the building's north wing has been largely completed although progress on the south wing has lagged because special materials had to be ordered.

A total of about $15,000 has so far been raised to install an elevator in the building. Between $35,000 and $40,000 will have to be raised, depending on the model of elevator chosen. "It's at a standstill right now," said Cotton. "We wanted the building completed and occupied first."

An official opening for the 45-unit complex should take place some time in early September, after landscaping work has been completed.

All available units in the building have been filled and a waiting list of over 60 applicants remains, said Cotton. "There's need for another building, but we won't be tackling that one this year at least."

Plans are under way for the auxiliary's International Bazaar, to be held in October.

Chesterville seeks applications for non-profit housing

CHESTERVILLE — Plans for a new senior citizens' apartment building here are now at the critical stage as members of a newly formed non-profit housing corporation look for applicants to live in the proposed building.

A preliminary survey of need conducted last year discovered a demand for 37 new apartment units in the village. This year, application for actual tenancy in the finished building will be mailed or hand delivered by a group of volunteers throughout the village to confirm that sufficient need exists for the project to proceed.

Provincial requirements for financing seniors' apartment complexes have recently been changed. The regulations now state that at least 40 per cent of the units in a complex have to be allocated to tenants earning less than $1,300 per month average income. The remaining units can be rented at existing market price.

The housing corporation's board of directors for 1986 consists of Marian Smith, Shirley Coons, Lorne Jordan, Leonard Morgan, Paul Monast, Lorraine Lefebvre, Hubert Casselman, Pat Young and Wendell Harper.

Project development consultant for the project will be Larry D. Cotton Associates Ltd. of Winchester. The development consultant guides the project through the four phases of initial application, design approval, tendering and construction. The firm is presently working on a similar project in the village of Lancaster.

The housing corporation hopes to generate enough applications to permit the project to begin construction in 1987, with a spring of 1988 occupancy. Inquires or requests for applications may be directed to the clerk-treasurer of the village of Chesterville at 448-2342.

Over half way there!

Students at St. Mark's Junior High School set themselves a goal of a $5,000 commitment to the Township of Osgoode Care Centre. Last week they paid another installment, $1,845, bringing the present total to $2,706 — well past the half way mark. This last contribution was raised as part of the students' lenten celebrations. In accompanying photo Rose-Marie Bekkers, Care Centre Board secretary accepts the donation from students' council co-chairman Yolande Menard.

Natural gas company bought by ICG Utilities

WINCHESTER — Natural gas consumers in the area began dealing with the same faces under a new name this month.

As of May 5, the full name of the natural gas distributor serving the Winchester area became ICG Utilities (Ontario) Ltd.

The change of name from Northern and Central Gas resulted from the company's acquisition by Inter-City Gas Corporation of Winnipeg in 1984.

There are 150 gas customers in the Winchester area who receive natural gas and service from ICG Utilities.

Township interested in DuPont land

WILLIAMSBURG — The status of a 640-hectare industrially zoned land tract in Williamsburg Township is still in question following a closed door meeting between municipal councillors and representatives of DuPont Canada here Friday.

Williamsburg Township clerk-treasurer Mike Waddell said Monday the municipality would release more information during the next few weeks.

The parcel is located in the southeast corner of the township between Church Road and the Morrisburg village boundary.

The township has indicated an interest in purchasing the land from Dupont if the price is right. Prior to Friday's meeting, council's only correspondence with DuPont Canada was a 1983 letter from the company indicating the property could be sold.

Council hopes to have a decision on the land parcel soon. The completion of a brochure promoting Williamsburg Township to potential developers has been stalled until negotiations for the land are finished.

DuPont Canada also met with Morrisburg council members Friday to discuss company holdings in that municipality.

Winchester UCW donates $700 for elevator for senior's building

WINCHESTER— Winchester United Church women met in the Sunday School Hall on Thurs., May 8 at 8pm. Doris Ennis, president, opened the meeting with prayer and led a Bible study on the lives of Rebecca and Tamar.

Orma Earl read a satire on Christian education by Emily Oakes and reported on the annual Presbyterial at Inkerman last month. The next executive meeting of the Presbyterial will be held at Jasper on June 10 and any lady interested in attending is asked to contact Orma Earl.

June Armstrong, Outreach secretary, reported that 640,000 Campbell's soup labels had purchased the following: a 35 mm camera, slide projector, 42" mobile cabinet table, microwave oven, two Olivetti electric typewriters, two special mirrors, a Polaroid camer, two Rubbermaid ingredient bins, 25 sets of library books, sports equipment and arts and crafts supplies, and over 30 software computer programs for the Evangelical School for the Deaf in Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Armstrong also asked for donations of tooth brushes and toothpaste for World Outreach for the months of May and June.

An ecumenical dinner will be held at the Wesleyan Church Hall on June 5 and all ladies are invited.

A total of $683.78 was realized from the noon luncheon, bake sale and mini flea market held on Fri., May 2 for the elevator fund for the new senior citizens building and members unanimously voted to give $700 to the project.

Doris Ennis voiced her appreciation to the units who catered to the funeral receptions for Harold Link, Hilda Fawcett and Gladys Cinnamon and all those who helped with the Easter Thankoffering, the 50th anniversary of the Ordination of Women service lunch for Jaime Adams, elevator project, trip to Cornwall and Presbyterial.

The meeting closed with all members repeating a benediction.

Contributions to hospital fund

Rose Campbell, area canvass captain for the current Winchester District Memorial Hospital fund drive, happily accepted cheques from two Metcalfe area groups Monday evening. In accompanying photo Mrs. Campbell, centre, extends thanks to Metcalfe UCW treasurer Nelda Isaac, left, and Wednesday Club president Grace Macadam. The cheques were for $700 and $300 respectively.

Local art displayed

WINCHESTER — The Winchester area is home to many talented artists, but members of the public have few opportunities to see their work first-hand.

Art lovers should have plenty of opportunities to see a variety of artwork in the months ahead following the opening of a mini-art gallery in Winchester. "Hopefully we can encourage everybody who's interested in art," said Tony Welland of the village's Re-Max Homestead Realty office. Welland, who says art has been a favorite hobby for many years, has decided to make space in the office available to artists on a rotating basis. About 20 local artists attended an official opening May 4-5.

About seven of the artists who attended the opening have expressed an interest in displaying their work at the office, Welland said.

Michael Lapp of Crysler, the first artist to be featured, said public interest so far has been encouraging. "It's not uncommon to see someone wander in on a slow Sunday," he said.

A four-member committee, made up of Welland, Stephen Workman, Marie Routledge and Caroline Manley, will be organizing the art exhibits. Plans are in the works to feature each artist for several weeks.

According to Lapp, the format of the exhibits will be"as free an arrangement in terms of the artists' expression as possible."

Correction

The information accompanying a photograph of Bank of Nova Scotia contest winners in last week's issue of The Press stated incorrectly that the contest had been sponsored by the bank's Metcalfe branch. The contest in fact took place at the Russell branch. Christine Langill and Eleanor Cottier won prizes of $100 each. The Press regrets the error.

Bar exam

Craig Robinson of Black House strained to clear the bar in the junior boys high jump during last Thursday's North Dundas District High School track meet. Robinson didn't qualify in this event, but second place finishes in the long and triple jump earned him a spot on NDDHS' SD&G track and field team.

Black House hangs on to win title

MAPLE RIDGE — It wasn't on a scale with the battles portrayed on the television mini-series North and South, but the points war waged over the final hour and one-half of last Thursday's North Dundas District High School track meet between the teams from Black and Gold houses caused quite a bit of excitment.

After holding a large lead throughout most of the day Black House had to fight a running battle with Gold House representatives over the final stages of the competition before finally capturing the meet championship with 483 points. A total just one half point better than Gold's 482.5.

Red House was third with 417.5 points and Green finished fourth topping the 400 point plateau at 403.

NDDHS physical education department member and meet director Hugh Conlin was pleased with the participation and reported the top two finishers in each event will be invited to join NDDHS' track and field team for today's (Wed., May 14) SD&G championship meet co-hosted by NDDHS and Tagwi. The event will be staged at Tagwi.

Several athletes in the senior division including Shelley MacDonald, Grant Groves, Pat Paquette, Darcy Provost, Norine Milne and midget aged Caroline Mulder, distinquished themselves by winning two or three events. Groves, MacDonald and Paquette and Mulder all earned three red ribbons apiece.

Shelley MacDonald of Black House captured the senior girls shotput (7.8 m), the high jump (1.35m) and the triple jump.

Donna Koekkoek also of Black House claimed the gold in the 800m (3:06.5) and the 1500m (7:02).

Norine Milne representing Green House won the senior 100m (13:34) and 200m (30:49).

Carolyn Anderson of Black House took the 400m in 1:20:08 while Gold's Cindy St. Pierre (12'10") won the long jump. Green's Carole Droop took the javeline (18.90m).

Veteran long-distance runner Grant Groves swept the senior boy's distance events winning the 400m (58:52), the 800m (2:22:00) and the 1500m (5:04.85). He also ran the anchor leg of the staff student co-ed relay snagging first place points for his Green Team.

Pat Paquette was another senior three event winner capturing the triple jump (10:08m), the 100m (12:07) and 200m (26:32). In both races the Red House runner nipped Gold's Tom Savary at the wire. Savary was also second in the 400m in 1:01:44 earning three silvers in the day.

Darcy Provost claimed the senior gold in both the long jump (16'11") and shotput (11.10m).

Gold's Danny Sarault won the high jump while teammate Jamie Cheney won the javelin (34.50m) and was second in the shotput.

JUNIORS

Red House's Kerry Lynn Thompson was first in the 100m (14:20) and 200 m (31:55) and will be part of a strong junior squad going to the SD&G meet.

Kristi Merkley of the Green Team lost close decisions in both sprints to Thompson and will also go to SD&G.

Linda Mulder, another Red runner, won the 400m (1:15.43) and 800 event (2:58.51).

Rose Rombough captured high jump and long jump honors for the Green Team. Linda Hamelin won the 1,500 m in 6:46 for the Green Team.

Jeff Holmes of Green House won the 400 m (1:01) and the 800 m (2:26.7) and was fourth in the long jump.

Gold's Sam Gibson took the long jump (17.4) and the triple jump (10.59) while Dirk Seelemann (Gold) won the 1,500 m, Dean Armstrong (Gold) the 100 m and Dave Barkley (Green) the 200 m.

MIDGET DIVISION

Caroline Mulder of Gold House sparkled in the midget girls division distance events, winning the 200 m (33:14), 400 m (1:17.57) and 800 m (3:10.9) runs.

Cindy Cholowski took the high jump (1.30) and long jump (13'2") events earning big points for Black House. Another Black (8.7) and javelin (12.20) and was Helmer, captured the triple jump (8.7) and javelin (12.20) and was second in the 200 m.

Jan Ford of the Green Team finished in top spot in both the 12:67 and 26:20 (respectively). m (27:75). Ford also wound up in first place in the long jump (14'8"). Faris Cornell of Gold gave Ford a real battle in both the 100 m and 200 m, finishing in 12:67 and 26:20 (respectively).

Green Team's Danny McIntosh was first in the 400 m (1:04.9) and 800 m (2:35) while Chuck VanWinden of Gold gained the red ribbons in both the shot put (11.50) and javelin (38.60).

Chris Williams of Green took the triple jump (9.39), Chuck Droppo won the high jump (4'11") for Black House and Art Porteous of Black House was best in the 1,500 m in 5:46.

Hamstring pull slows Runnalls

OTTAWA — Brian Wainman said he had fun winning Sunday's 12th Annual National Capital Marathon. He set a personal best time of two hours, 18 minutes and 23.8 seconds and won $5,000 for his 42,195 km romp through the Nation's Capital City.

There was no glory, reporters, or personal best time or money for one of the event's original runners, Winchester's Alvin Runnalls. The 46-year-old Winchester area farmer completed his 12th consecutive National Capital event without any fanfare. A slightly pulled hamstring muscle made the final five km of Sunday's run a painful ordeal.

But despite limping to the wire, Runnalls completed this 12th Ottawa marathon in three hours and 21 minutes.

Before the run he felt we was in good shape and was looking for a time of around 3:05. Last year he ran with a bad knee and without the benefit of extensive training and finished in 3:25, so he was looking for the three-hour plateau.

"I hurt the hamstring after the Long Sault half marathon, but felt pretty good and was going at about a 2:55 clip when the hamstring started to bother me. Four hundred or 500 people must have passed me in that last 5 km," he said.

The veteran runner described his finish as a real learning experience and was just happy to finish. Monday morning he was at work on his farm east of here, returning to a very busy spring planting season.

Runnalls reported several fellow runners from the area who finished Sunday's marathon were Dr. Ray Dawes in 2:44, Jonas Fossitt 3:10, Lee Taillefer in 3:30, Frank Casselman in 3:47 and Ian Simms in 3:56.

Interlocking ball schedule

BROCKVILLE — Four teams from the Eastern Ontario Fastball League will play a 24-game interlocking schedule with the five Brockville Men's Fastball League this summer.

Johnstown Counts, Toledo Jets, Cardinal Red Sox and Prescott's Mr. Gas of the Eastern loop will tangle with Shirt Shack, Dave Jones Sports, Royal Brock, Re-Max Realty and Gelco Express Rebels this season.

The playoff champions from each division will then meet in a best-of-five championship series to determine an Eastern Ontario-Brockville champion.

Order of finish

Red House runner Kerry Lynn Thompson, left, led the field to the wire in the junior girls 100m. Kristi Merkley of Green House, centre, and Tara Berry of Gold completed the top three finishes. Thompson won in 14:20, Merkley recorded a 15:32 and Berry a 15:35. Black House won the NDDHS competition.

McClatchie, Bongard, Henry top Hawks award winners

WINCHESTER — Trevor McClatchie carried off three individual awards here at Saturday night's Winchester Hawks Award Night.

Defenceman Kevin Henry shared three awards and forward Rene Bongard captured two trophies as the Junior B club closed another Eastern Ontario (Alex English) Junior B Hockey League season.

Trevor McClatchie was voted his team's Most Valuable Player a second consecutive year and received the Dawson Memorial Trophy from former Hawks' coach Bob Byrnes.

The hard working forward also collected another Top Scorer Trophy for scoring 28 goals, 42 assists and 70 points in 33 games. McClatchie also led playoff scoring with 13 goals and 15 assists in just nine games. Jeff Thompson was second, just six back at 22 points. His total effort in the playoffs also earned Trevor McClatchie the Playoff MVP award.

Alex English Division President Robert Ramsay presented the playoff trophy and Hawks' executive Leslie Ault presented the top scorer silverware.

Team-mate captain Kevin Henry was in on three awards this season. He shared the President's Trophy (for dedication and desire on and off the ice) with veteran forward Mark Smith, who copped the award last year. Smith's 69 scoring points (31 goals) was second to Trevor McClatchie's total of 70. They accepted the trophies from Hawks' president George Davidson.

The captain also was co-winner of the Coaches' Award. Goalie Jamie McGuire also has his name engraved on this trophy. Assistant coach Al McLean made the presentation to Henry and McGuire.

Henry's third nomination came in the top defenceman category and this time he received the trophy along with team-mate Peter McGrath. The co-winners accepted the new Terry Carkner Top Defenceman Award from team manager Ken McClatchie.

Another multiple award winner in 1986 was forward Rene Bongard who tied Mark Smith for most goals scored in the regular season at 31. He finished third in team scoring with 68 points, two back of McClatchie and one behind Smith.

Bongard was also the club's third leading scorer in the playoffs with 15 points in nine games. Bongard accepted the Brackenbury Trophy (sportsmanship and desire) and the Most Improved Player trophies from team executive Al Van Bridger.

The Henry family wasn't finished coming to the trophy table after Kevin Henry had finally taken his seat. Younger brother Dolton Henry came forward to receive the Rookie of the Year trophy from Hawks' executive Bob Volks.

Team captain Kevin Henry and associate captain Pete McGrath then presented special plaques to coaches Tom Kirkwood and Al McLean, manager Ken McClatchie, trainer Jim Fling and stick boy Jason Wagner.

The team had earlier received several individual presents from the executive.

Head coach Tom Kirkwood was unable to attend the presentations because of an illness in his family, but was represented by assistant Al McLean who thanked the executive and fans for their support and the team for the hard work and a good season.

Alex English Division president Robert Ramsay spoke briefly noting the strong showing made by Alex English Division teams and the Eastern Ontario championship eventually won by the Char-Lan Rebels. He said that perhaps Clarence Creek, Navan Grads and Vanier Senators would move into a newly formed Ottawa City Division next year. If that should happen he said he would ask that Kemptville and Morrisburg join the remaining English Division. He stressed that nothing had been confirmed at this time.

Hawks' president George Davidson commented briefly thanking the fans for their support all season, the players for their hard work and the big effort they came up with in the semi-finals against the champion squad from Char-Lan and particularly those who worked to make the evening a success.

The Hawks' Hockey Club's next event will be their annual Lob Ball Tournament slated for the Winchester Community Park on June 14 and 15.

Berwick, Chesterville Blues post fastball victories

WINCHESTER — Brownlee Sports of Berwick and the Chesterville Hotel Blues picked up victories in Monday night's Winchester Town Fastball League doubleheader.

Berwick passed Williamsburg Old Timers' eight-man crew 8-1 in the opener, scoring six times off of starter Jim Whelan and twice off of reliever Jim Morrell. Terry Gove posted the win for Berwick, who took over the WTFBL lead with five points.

Berwick leads the pack with five points and hold a one-point lead on both Toyes Hill Dynes and Williamsburg, who have four each.

Chesterville Hotel Blues edged FBM Cementmen 6-4 in Monday's nightcap to record their first victory. The decision also lowered FBM into the basement at one point.

FBM led Chesterville 1-0 after two innings on Victor Puddy's run. They went up 4-3 in the third as Dennis Puddy, Victor Puddy and Ernie Fawcett all scored. Gary Gallinger, Andy Windsor and Darren Kirkwood, who homered, all counted for Chesterville in the third, making it a one-run game.

Dave Cross and Andy Windsor (double) scored in the fifth inning, pushing the Hotel Blues up 5-4. Stan Woods, who got into the game to pitch in the third inning, tripled and scored on Graham Ball's RBI single in the seventh to make it a 6-4 final.

Steve Stewart started and allowed four FBM runs on two hits, three walks, two errors. He fanned four. Stan Woods worked four innings and gave up one hit.

Gerry Belanger started for FBM and was tagged for five runs. Dale Williams took over and gave up the triple and single in the seventh.

SUNDAY'S SCORES

WEDNESDAY'S GAMES

Last Wednesday night (May 7) Berwick and Williamsburg scored a couple of exciting one-run wins.

Berwick scored twice in the seventh inning and ruined Stan Woods' strong pitching effort as they defeated Chesterville Hotel 2-1. Darrell Massia scored the winning run for Brownlee Sports in that contest.

In the other matchup Bruce Casselman's seventh-inning run proved to be the winner as Williamsburg edged Toyes Hill 4-3.

Casselman, who had two singles and his seventh inning double in four trips to the plate, scored the winner on Ed Orzel's RBI single to make it 4-0.

Toyes Hill charged back and scored three times in the bottom of the seventh, but came up one short, losing 4-3. Grant Levere homered to right with Steve Plummer aboard to make it 4-2 and then Bill Hogaboam blasted another shot out over the right field fence to make it 4-3.

Ed Orzel scored in the Williamsburg second (1-0) and then Jim Shaw and Earl Nesbitt counted in the fifth to increase the lead to 3-0.

Jays rally with four in fourth

WINCHESTER — A four-run fourth inning highlighted by Peter Holmes' two-run double, enabled the Winchester Blue Jays to chalk up their first victory of the young Interprovincial Junior Fastball League season.

POOL STAFF PICKED FOR THIS SUMMER

We held interviews Monday night for the pool staff for this summer's program and we had a good turnout of well qualified applicants. All details are not as yet worked out, but we will have well qualified instructors available for what should be a great year. Kevin Henry will manage the pool again this year, but poor old Kevin had to bow out of the interviews at the last minute. When I got home at a little after five Monday night, I had a call from Kevin to inform me that he would not be able to attend the meeting as he was at the operating room door and would not let them take him in until he informed me of his absence. At 5:30 Kevin's appendix was removed and although he was quite sore Tuesday morning, he will be raring to go in a few days. Talk about being conscientious, and they say teens don't care. You'll have quite a task convincing me after that call.

DUNDAS JUNIOR FARMERS HOST ALL-DAY BALL HOCKEY TOURNAMENT

We will have an arena full of fine young farmers this Saturday when our local branch hosts an all-day ball hockey tournament. Teams from all over Eastern Ontario will be in attendance with both a boys and ladies division taking part. Refreshments will be served throughout the day in the upstairs hall and the young people will host a dance on Saturday night. We always look forward to a day with this fine group of young rural people as they are lots of fun and do hold a well behaved day of merriment. It is my understanding that any profits made will be turned over to a worthy recreation project, so we do hope they do well.

Fencers do the impossible

WINCHESTER — Inkerman Vice led St. Pierre's Fencers by 12 runs (20-8) after four innings in Monday night's Winchester Lob Ball League opening game, but the rookie squad learned before the contest was over, no matter how many, you can never have enough runs.

The Fencers stormed back from 7-0, 11-6, 12-8 and 20-8 deficits to win the game 22-21 and even their record at a win and a loss. The Vice squad's mark fell to zero and two with the setback.

Wayne Pollock, Ted Mead, Bill Steele, Hubert St. Pierre and Keith Baker with the winning run on Rene Domoulin's RBI single, gave the Fencers their dramatic victory in the seventh inning.

Hubert St. Pierre led his Fencers scoring three runs. Keith Baker and Dave Weatherall also crossed the plate three times. Bill Steele, Wayne Pollock, Dave Marriner, Gerald Beuman and Randy Vice all scored twice. Single runs went to Ted Mead, Mike Toonders and Rene Domoulin.

Weatherall started on the mound, but Gerald Beuman finished up. Col. Rob Saunders went the distance for Inkerman Vice.

Glenn Simms, Dwayne Fawcett and Dale Simms all scored three runs. Fawcett went four for four at the plate while Simms cracked two triples and a single in four appearances. Doug Crowder, James Milne, Mark "Louis" Redmond, Jack Ace and Tom Beck all scored two runs. Bruce "Gingras" Angus and Larry Simms scored a run each. Simms was an inside-the-park homerun in the third inning.

MOREWOOD CLUBS CUBS

Morewood Marauders took advantage of the fact their opposition was playing without a rover and defeated Winchester Country Club 24-9.

The Marauders scored in every inning enroute to their win. Country Club actually took a 7-5 lead after two innings, but were down 9-7 after three and didn't score again until the sixth when they added their final two runs.

Brian Gunnell, hitting out of the leadoff spot led Morewood with four runs. His last one was an inside-the-park homerun in the seventh inning. Roger Helmer homered and scored three runs. Bill Melvin, James McWade and Larry Stewart all brought in three runs. Steve Brewer, John Bailey and Marcel Roy all touched home twice. Martin Schoones and Earl Hutchinson supplied a run each.

John Guy and Rob Carkner each had two runs for the Country Club. Brad Hanes, Gord Milne, John Smith, Kenton Holmes and Paul Reinhardt also scored.

Larry Stewart was the winning pitcher. John Guy took the loss.

Stage West Bantams switch leagues

MOUNTAIN — Mountain Stage West Bantams have left the Osnabruck and District Minor Ball League and will begin play next week in the Ottawa Valley Minor Softball Association.

Mountain Stage West will be competing against Stittsville, Smiths Falls, Osgoode, Parkwood Hills, Orleans East and Kemptville in what coach Bob Williams feels will be a very competitive league.

Stage West will host their opposition each Tuesday evening at the ball park in Mountain with start time set for 8pm.

Monday evening (May 12) the Stage took on Osgoode in an exhibition contest and came up with a 4-2 victory.

Chris Williams, who will handle the pitching duties, combined with catcher Kevin Daly for the win. He gave up two runs on seven hits, four errors and one walk. Williams fanned five Osgoode hitters.

Mountain took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Dave Brennan drew a walk. Scott Gregory and John Mackler's back-to-back singles scored the run.

With two out in the third Mountain struck for three more runs. Chris Williams singled, Kevin Daly singled and Ray Sherrer singled. Dave Brennan walked and Scott Gregory cleaned the bases off with a double tomake it 4-0 for the Stage.

Skillen and Findlay scored on a walk, two errors and two seventh inning hits to get Osgoode on the scoreboard.

Members of the Stage West Bantams are Bryan Helmer, Dennis Ouellette, Chris Williams, Kevin Daly, Ray Sherrer, Dave Brennan, Scott Gregory, John Mackler, Scott Barkley and Jeff Holmes. Doug Armstrong is expected to join Mountain once the summer hockey season is over.

Rowdies slam Wings 6-1

WINCHESTER — Six shooters found the target as Gowdy's Rowdies clipped the Red Wings 6-1 here last Tuesday night to pick up their first victory of the young Winchester Ball Hockey League season.

In the first game on the two-game card, the front-runners, Mark Guy's Black Flyers and Paul Bjergso's Pacers battled to a 2-2 draw and remained deadlocked atop the standings at three points apiece.

Rowdies gained a 3-0 first-period lead on the Red Wings and cruised to their 6-1 decision. Jim Thom opened the scoring, hitting on a pass from Gord Milne at 9:29 of the opening stanza. Glen Mackie made it a two-goal game when he scored from Larry Simms and Bruce Angus at 4:49. Simms then pumped in a Kevin Gowdy rebound with 2:14 left in period one to make it 3-0.

Bruce Angus found net on another Gowdy assist at 11:57 of period two, increasing the Rowdies' margin to 4-0.

Red Wing captain Dean McIntosh scored his third goal of the season at 6:35 of the same frame, ruining Kevin Barkley's shutout and accounting for his team's lone goal.

Rowdies fired in a pair of third-period, unanswered markers to make it a 6-1 final. Richard Leque scored from Sandy Johnson and Bruce Angus at 9:27 and Dean Hansma finished it off with an unassisted goal with 3:51 left on the clock.

TWO-GOAL DRAW

The evening's opening contest was a close-checking affair which ended in a 2-2 tie.

Paul's Pacers took a 1-0 lead, scoring the lone first-period goal. Paul Helmer netted that marker on an unassisted play at 3:01.

They took a 2-0 lead with 12:37 left in period two when Sean O'Connor beat Steve Watkins with a pass fed to him by John Guy.

The Black Flyers rallied for their tie, scoring a pair of late goals. Doug Crowder picked off Pacers' Jim McIntosh's clearing pass with 9:36 left in the game and beat Paul Bjergso to make it a 2-1 difference.

Bourk Boyd then tied it up, scoring on a powerplay with 5:41 left in the game. Mike Holmes engineered the tying goal.

Rick Barkley wins men's night

BOUCKS HILL — Chesterville's Rick Barkley picked up where he left off last year at Cedar Glen Golf Club here Thursday night, carding a one under par 34 to win low gross honors in "A" class at Men's Night. Barkley shared the limelight with Winchester's Gary Munro, who also covered the links in one under par, winning the "B" flight.

Barkley fought the cool, windy conditions for birdies at holes number one and six, with a solitary bogey at five. Munro's round featured birdies at two and six and a bogey at five.

Dean McIntosh provided Barkley's closest competition, finishing two shots back, while winning low net Gary McMillan captured second gross with a 38 and Don McMillan rounded out the prize winners in "A", taking second net.

Munro's 34 was good enough for a five-shot cushion over Curtis McMillan. Bert McIntosh and David McCadden recorded the lowest net scores in "B".

Ron Ferguson fired a 41 to claim a one-stroke victory over Bruce Freer in "C" division. Carl Robinson finished two shots off the pace. Net prizes went to Freer and Barry Fawcett.

Brian Williams was the only man in "D" class to crack the 50-barrier and his reward was a one-stroke margin over Jack Faulkner and Bill Williams. Kevin Fawcett recorded a 52 to win second net honors. Faulkner had first low net.

This Saturday the men will tee it up in the season's first major event, the annual Dr. Locke Tournament. Prizes are awarded in all four men's classes. Pre-registration for the event is required by Thursday.

The ladies begin their season tonight (Wednesday) with the first ladies' night featuring a post-golf steak barbecue.

Other upcoming events at the club include a mixed two-ball Sun, May 18 and the first men's four-club event Sat., May 24.

Astros, ShoneRoy post lob wins

WINCHESTER — CountryBoy Astros and ShoneRoy Farms were the winners in two of three Winchester Lob Ball League games played here last week.

Wednesday (May 7) CountryBoy Astros nipped Top Valu Hansma 11-10. The same evening the Country Club Cubs battled back from a 6-0 deficit and salvaged a 7-7 tié with the Stage West Reds.

Thursday night's single game produced an 16-8 victory for ShoneRoy as they doubled the new Inkerman Vice squad.

CountryBoy took a 2-0 first-inning lead on Top Valu-Hansma on Harry Castle's two-run homerun. Paul Helmer was on board for the free trip.

Terry Buske then crushed a homer to left in the second frame, making it 3-0 Astros.

Al Porteous, Tom Kirkwood, Harry Castle, Paul Helmer and Bryan Helmer all scored to put CountryBoy up 8-0 after two and one-half innings.

Kevin Guy scored, slicing it to 8-1 in the bottom of the third before Roy Hansma, Wayne Hunter, Dean Hansma, Greg Erwin, Brian Larmour and Garth Hansma all scored in the fourth to close the gap to 8-7.

Top Valu went up 10-8 when Obele Hansma and Greg Marriner singled and scored on Roy Hansma's triple. Wayne Hunter then singled in the 10th run.

Don Swerdfeger and Larry Hogendooren scored in the Astro sixth to deadlock it 10-10.

Tom Kirkwood singled and scored the winning run (11-10) on George Bloom's two-out basehit in the top of the seventh.

7-7 SAWOFF

Gary Milne, Bill Lillico, Bob Peddle, Brian Condon and Zeke Saunders gave Stage West a 5-0 first-inning lead on the Country Club in Wednesday's second game. Milne's second run in the second inning made it 6-0.

Gord Milne cut it to 6-1, scoring in the club's fourth.

Gary Milne's third run of the game in the sixth inning gave Stage West a 7-1 edge.

Country Club's bats came alive in the bottom of the sixth as Brad Hanes, Keith Moore, Rob Carkner and Mark Smith all scored on RBI doubles by John 'Jig' Smith and Kenton Holmes to make it a 7-5 game.

John Guy and Brad Hanes crossed the plate in the seventh, tying it up 7-7.

SHONEROY ON TOP

Thursday night ShoneRoy Farms got 12 runs in the third inning and went on to defeat Inkerman Vice 16-8.

Blake Fawcett homered and scored four times for the winners. Bill Skelly, Doug Coleman, Mike Holmes and Ron VanKoppen all scored a pair of runs. Mark Levere, Dave VanMoorsel, Darrell Shelp and Wally Vandekemp all made it home once.

Glen Simms scored three runs for Inkerman Vice. Dwayne Fawcett homered and scored two runs while Doug Crowder tripled and doubled and scored twice. James Milne touched home with the other Vice Squad run.

Bruce Racine earns second Northeastern hockey letter

BOSTON — Bruce Racine, a former Metcalfe and District Minor Hockey Association player and son of former Ottawa Rough Rider All-Star Moe Racine, recently earned his second letter as a member of the Northeastern University hockey team.

Racine is a second round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Penguins (drafted in 1985), played Central Junior hockey with the Hawkesbury Hawks before attending Northeastern.

The Huskies' sophomore goaltender, Racine was a key factor in his team's 20 win, 17 loss and two tie record in the NCAA's first division. He was in on 19 university records, including most minutes played - 2,212, saves - 1,015, games played - 37 and victories. The Huskies finished third in the regular season behind Boston University and Boston College.

Racine was selected as most valuable player and earned the best goalie award in the Beanpot Tournament, played annually to determine the top college hockey team in the greater Boston area.

Rain of terror

One of the most significant implications of the Chernobyl nuclear disaster must surely be a heightened awareness of how small — and fragile — the global community really is. News of fighting in Libya or Lebanon has no real power to touch our lives. But when we are told to avoid drinking rainwater because it has been contaminated with radiation following an accident halfway around the world, it is a sobering thought.

How many of us gave a sigh of relief when the experts later told us what we wanted to hear — that the radioactive rain presented no "real" risk?

Canadians have been assured that a repeat of Chernobyl — or the almost-forgotten Three Mile Island accident — could not happen here. But is anyone really sure what happened there? Our own politicians and nuclear experts have faithfully acted out scenes from the American movie "The China Syndrome" as they issue reassuring statements that the public is in no danger.

The public has a right, and indeed an obligation, to demand more convincing evidence that nuclear reactors are just as clean and safe as we have always been told they are. The reactor and how it operates, as well as what safeguards surround its operation and the disposal of its toxic waste, remain a mystery to the average citizen. The time has come for the mystery to be explained, and for the public to be allowed a greater say in the role of nuclear power in this province.

Ontario Hydro has begun the process of considering options for meeting the province's energy needs in future as the demand for electricity increases. One of those options is nuclear power. Do we really want it? It is reasonable to ask why we should be immune to the risk of another Chernobyl or Three Mile Island. It is equally reasonable to ask why the authorities find it necessary to locate nuclear generating stations so close to major centres of population. The Pickering station is surrounded by over three million people.

History records that regulations to ensure an adequate number of lifeboats on ocean liners were not drafted until after the huge loss of life in the sinking of the Titanic in 1912. Must human nature always dictate that concerns of safety take a back seat to profit until it's too late for some of us?

This week in...

The Bank of Nova Scotia was encouraging people here to open savings accounts at their branch locations. At the time, the bank was boasting total national reserves of $230,000.

The people who make Wrigley's chewing gum were in this year advertising slogans which said chewing gum after every meal kept a person lean, benefitted teeth and breath, and helped with food digestion.

With planting season so close at hand, one farmer was advertising Timothy seed, No. 2 government inspected at nine cents a pound. A mixture of Timothy and Alsike seed was 10 cents a pound.

Rev. Cecil H. Roach, rector of Metcalfe, was appointed by Rev. Roper, Archbishop of Ottawa, to take charge of St. Matthias parish in Ottawa. Rev. Roach took over his new post on June 1 of this year after Rev. Canon Butler announced his retirement.

A special meeting was held by Winchester Township council to discuss the fate of Morewood High School which burned a few months earlier. After a lengthy discussion, council finally decided to defer action until the school board presented a petition containing the names of all ratepayers in favor of rebuilding.

The Anglican Church of Canada was asking its worshippers to raise $4,300,000 to "strengthen the arm of the church". The objective for this area which included Winchester, South Mountain and Chesterville, was $375,000. The money it was said, was needed urgently to carry on the education and social work in the church.

Jo-Anne Ladies Wear here received a shipment of ladies cotton dresses sizes 12-20 and 38-44. Each dress was regularly priced at $2.25.

Mother's Day had a special touch here in this week when 11 infants were baptised at the United Church at a special service. Rev. T.N. Mitchel conducted the service prepared in conjunction with the Sunday School.

Two more teachers from Winchester High School resigned in this week. This brought the total resignations at Winchester to seven in one year. Wallace Park, a two-year veteran in teaching French, and Bill Kanavaugh, a math teacher resigned to take a job at Glencoe High School.

1966

In the grocery store, McIntosh apples were 34 cents for three pounds, corn on the cob was 69 cents for eight cobs, tomatoes were 35 cents a pound and imported fresh green beans were 25 cents a pound, at area stores.

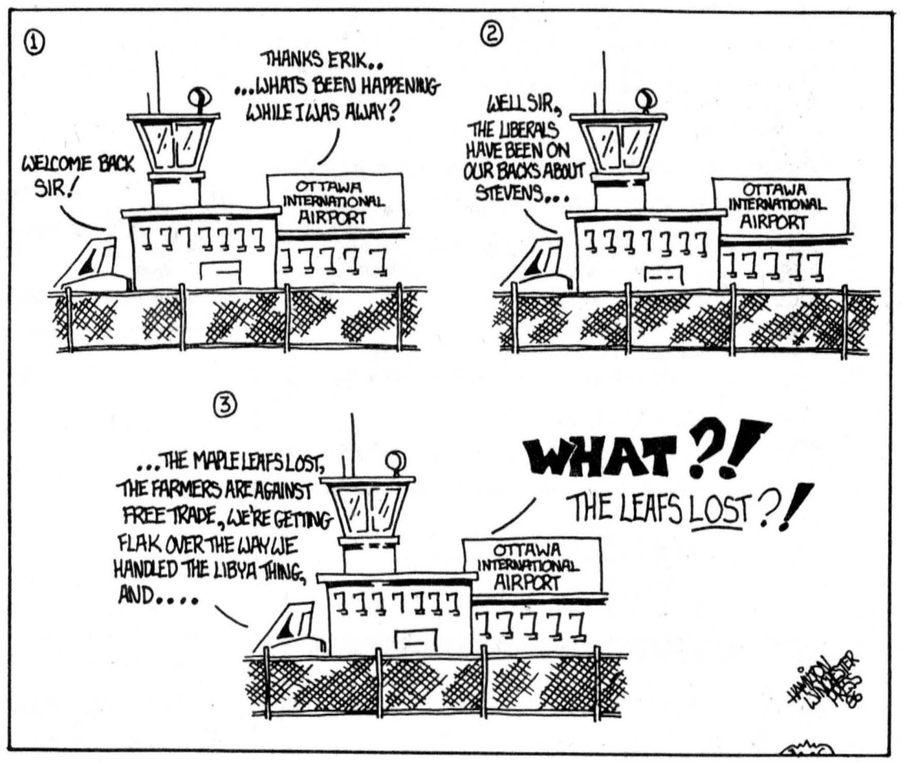
Williamsburg Township taxpayers had to swallow a four mills plus tax jump, this year. The new residential rate for 1966 was 55.3 and the new commercial tax rate was 62.3.

The deadline for use of coupons under the Federal Provincial Adverse Weather Assistance Program was extended until May 1 of this year. Agricultural Representative, Doug Keyes, was advising people that only registered feed dealers may accept coupons on the purchase of feeds.

1976

Ontario Milk Marketing Board chairman, Ken McKinnon, told farmers here that quota transfers between individuals would be halted to bring production requirements into line with actual production. McKinnon, who was speaking at a milk producers meeting said the decision had to be made in order to ensure quota is allocated where it is most needed. In future, he said all quota that becomes available would be sold by the board.

Mountain Township residents were being asked to vote on whether beer and wine should be sold under licence for consumption in dining lounges in the township.



The life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

I suppose if you really wanted to be fair about it, you could look at the new Canadian $5 bill from three different angles.

From the front, from the back and from the United States.

All three angles will let you clearly see how funny the bill looks. The latter angle, however, lets you laugh all the way to the foreign exchange counter of your local bank.

But is funny money what Canadians really want? You can bet your bottomed-out dollar it isn't.

Canadians want money that looks, well, Canadian.

I had heard that the Bank of Canada was going to modify its money with braille and larger numbers to make its bills more easily distinguishable for the blind and visually impaired. No problem with that.

But the $5 bill I was shown at the bank this week was a modification only in the general sense that the family Chevette can be considered a modification of a Rolls Royce Silver Cloud.

The first thing you notice is the lack of ink. There is a lot of white space on the new bill. The state-of-the-art squiggles of Spirograph technology are gone, replaced with a border of white.

This latter change was made to foil counterfeiters on the assumption that white space is a lot harder to forge than Spirograph squiggles.

The second thing you notice, turning the bill over, is a gigantic drawing of a bird. The bird is a kingfisher and is probably seen occasionally in some parts of Canada. I saw a blue jay in the tree in my backyard this spring. It sort of looks like a kingfisher.

The kingfisher is standing on what may be the hull of the fishing vessel that used to be on the back of the $5 bill. There are no fishermen with lifejackets in the water.

And finally, the third thing you notice is that for a new Canadian $5 bill, it sure looks a lot like English money.

Personally, I thought the new old money that came out in the early 1970s struck the perfect balance between vision and tradition. Here was money to say "eh" about.

Both in looks and in value ($1.05 U.S.) it made American money look sickly. I'll tell you, even as a teenager. I couldn't get enough of those new bills.

So why are we getting new money again?

I have no problem understanding why the dollar bill is going to be phased out and replaced with a dollar coin. The answer there is fairly straight forward.

It's for the sake of change.

Canadians apparently can't get enough of it. Nickels, dimes, quarters, the jingle of money is music to the Canadian ear.

It should be pointed out here that the new dollar coin should not be confused with the silver dollar which is a coin that is worth a dollar. The latter coin has failed to play a major role in the money market because the majority of those receiving silver dollars in transactions donate them to kids' coin collections, thereby taking the coins out of circulation.

The new dollar coin will get around that problem by being ugly.

Anyway, I'm at a loss to explain why we have to replace our old new money with new new money. The new new money isn't even worth more.

I suppose one explanation is that the money now in use is too closely associated with the former Liberal government for the present Tory government's liking. That government was for fishermen and Eskimos and foreign-owned oil rigs. This government is for the birds. Every government has its preference.

A second possible explanation is that the Canadian public has liked its old new money too much, hoarding in savings accounts and mattresses so that it won't get crumpled or dirty looking.

I've always avoided this tendency myself, believing that art should be shared by the masses. My lenders have also held this view.

But you can see how this kind of hoarding can really put a crimp in the government books. And so the government is forced to issue new money that no one wants to collect.

A more far-fetched explanation being put forward in some nationalist quarters is that the new bills can be seen as play money, drawing Canada one step closer to free trade with the United States.

My own feeling is that government simply felt committed to its election promise of creating new wealth for Canadians.

I'll use this new new money, but only because I'm a Canadian who believes in his country and because I don't want the government to design any more money. I don't believe you should send good money after bad.

Who knows, I might even grow to like it, although my mother told me the same thing about stewed tomatoes and I still gag when I see them.

But even if I do grow accustomed to the money, I will not lose the feeling that this was change for the sake of change.

I suppose this reveals me as the traditionalist that I am. I believe, stick-in-the-mud that I am, that a country should not change its flag or its money more than once in any 100-year period.

Why buck the system?

Smoking — a personal decision

The Editor:

I've recently been made aware of the proposal to ban all smoking from area high schools. I have strong objections to this outrage because frankly, I don't think it would make a difference at all.

People who smoke now, will not stop smoking because of this change; instead, they will develop the disgusting habit of sneaking a quick puff in washrooms, in hidden doorways, anyplace where they will not likely be caught. As a result, those awful cigarette butts will be lying not only in the smoking area, but everywhere else.

Why should the school board decide that smoking is unacceptable? Is it not everybody's own decision to make? We get enough counselling on how smoking affects one's health. If a person does not want to realize the consequences of smoking, it is his business. The board should make people aware of the problem, not supress it by regulations.

Being a non-smoker, I have every reason to be in agreement with this change in policy, but I feel such a rule would cause unwarranted disobedience. After all, the smoking area at North Dundas is located behind the school, out of my way, and the smoke going up into the air is by far less poisonous than acid rain.

Equality for smokers

The Editor:

One subject under discussion in many area high schools is the controversy over the banning of smoking on high school premises. There are many aspects to this issue, but the one which will have the greatest impact on the successful implementation of a new policy is the matter of teacher compliance. If specific smoking rights are restricted to students, then teachers should also be obliged to follow the same regulations.

To begin with, one thing to remember is that teachers and students must be treated on an equal basis in this situation. I do not think that the two main groups being discussed here are teachers and students; the groups that we are actually talking about are smokers and non-smokers. If students are required to smoke in one specific area, then teachers must also follow this guideline. If smoking is abolished completely, both groups must also follow this rule as well.

Also, both teachers and students are concerned about the risks of smoking and the benefits of abolishing the practice. Surely, many high school teachers find it uncomfortable to walk into the teachers room and find it filled with smoke.

Finally, teachers should set an example for students. This is very important in all schools; in fact, the "teacher's example" is absolutely necessary when students are young and exposed to smoking for the first time.

In this situation then, it is necessary that equality between teachers and students is considered in order that a workable decision is made.

Yours sincerely,
Wayne Paquette

Reader applauds 'Dear Joe' letter

The Editor:

Many thanks to Chantelle Brown for her letter of May 7, 1986. I stopped reading Mr. Rowan's column a long time ago because of his snide remarks about women. I would never refer to Mr. Rowan as "the old man" and would appreciate the same courtesy and respect.

My husband has always said — "If the good Lord made anything lovelier than a woman, He kept it for Himself."

Wake up Joe!

Sincerely,
Myrtle Murray

Profanity on the increase

The Editor:

I am getting quite tired of hearing the steadily increasing use of profanity by Winchester and Chesterville youths, some so young that they still go to elementary school.

One cannot seem to escape the bad language used by children nowadays; it can be heard at the playground of the Winchester Public School, coming from the audience at the Winchester Theatre before, during and after the show, and on the main streets of villages where boys who image themselves to be "tough" yell obscenities at pedestrians. Recently, I've twice seen boys around the age of 10 using vulgar language to harrass smaller girls.

Exposure to this kind of behavior in public, especially from young children, is offensive and can be upsetting to some people.

If children continue to exercise this verbal abuse so much that it becomes a habit, they can expect to face social problems in the future when responsible conduct and good manners are important.

Even though it is next to impossible to censor young children from adult and theatre profanity, parents can still make the effort to forbid their children from using foul language, explaining that it signifies a lack of respect and self-discipline.

Hopefully, on readers' lists of knowledgable, interesting publications, The Sunday Sun is far below The Winchester Press on a priority scale. There are times, however, when pages in the Sun are not only highly informative, but worthy of very special note. Right now, thanks to someone's ingenuity, we have in front of us a photocopy of page 56, April 27 issue. A human interest page with the bold headline...The world his oyster and sub-head Genial PR with travel tales to tell. The writer (Paul Rimstead) cleverly and skillfully condenses 20 busy, exciting, adventurous years into one page, leaving just enough space to include a striking photo of the man of action, seated at his Toronto office desk, flashing the same mischievous grin familiar to all who knew him back in his "old home town". The story has a special appeal to us since our association with Winchester Press really began when Mike Dukelow left the news editor's desk suggesting to the Workman Brothers that "Old Joe might fumble along till such time as a suitable replacement could be found." For the benefit of young readers (and we're indeed pleased to note we do have some over at NDDHS) Mike left us with a mighty big pair of shoes to fill...and mighty big pants, shirt, socks and hat as well. Mentally we knew right then we were no match for this "college kid" gifted with just the right blend of wit, wisdom and personality. Physically we fared even worse. Imagine the dilemma of the publishing brothers trying to convince themselves their popular 6'4", 250 pound, rosey-cheeked blonde Adonis could be replaced by a 5'5", 125 pound (soaking wet) ageing, wizened-up greying stranger. Mike, according to the writer, has slimmed down to a mere 205 pounds and now travels the globe more extensively than Mulroney, Bush and Reagan combined. The "Friendly Giant" is, and has been since he left Winchester, a PR man of renown with Canadian Pacific Airlines and has flown millions of miles making friends wherever his "wings" let him down. You name the place, he's been there. What, exactly, is the lad doing? A quote from the Rimstead page offers just a glimmer of his busy life: "He is now manager of public relations for Canadian Pacific Airlines eastern region and, five months ago, took over PR duties for the company's chain of hotels." The 42-year-old former Press news editor — reporter — photographer — "Mike" of all trades is the type of after-dinner speaker every local organization would love to have. He could tell about walking barefoot over a bed of red-hot coals in Fiji travelling back and forth from China with panda bears as fellow passengers; or taking his 80-year-old dad (Arnold) to those "far away places with the strange sounding names", we all dream of. Rimstead (if he were master of ceremonies) might introduce his special guest this way: "Please welcome a guy who, no matter what the time of day or night, is responsible for seeking out information on his corporation's affairs; advising various media outlets; acting as goodwill ambassador; and dreaming up promotions to enhance CP Air's image. I give you Michael Dukelow." Here in Winchester guests might prefer an introduction more like this: "Please welcome "Big Mike"... he used to live here." Congratulations friend. Guess we should tell you we never did manage to fill those big boots, but Reg and Ron tolerated our inadequacies until we finally "fumbled" them right out of business. How come we're still here — sometimes? Well you see, Mike, the new owner (from the Fort town) is a history nut.. and likes "old things".

Popular journalist and TV commentator Charles Lynch claims no one takes him seriously since he passed his 65th birthday. Being well past that "marker" on the highway of life we know what he means. But Charles, we do have an "ace-in-the-hole" you know. VIPs at all levels "tolerate" the "aged". Perhaps there are times when the wisdom of experience is even appreciated. Maybe that's why we were so favourably received at the municipal (Osgoode) office Monday. We had a complaint (come to think of it, who doesn't?), but ours was legitimate. A resident of Stanley Apartments (senior citizens' complex) had suffered a serious and painful arm fracture when she tripped over a faulty sidewalk on her way to Sunday morning mass. Apartment dwellers will be pleased to know Mayor Bouwers assures immediate steps will be taken to remedy this dangerous situation. We'll keep you posted. And hurry home from the hospital Beatrice (Sullivan). We'll "deal"for you at the next euchre party.

Words of wisdom: Bravery is discussing politics with the boss. Foolhardiness is doing it a second time.

Farm update

Have machinery, will travel

WINCHESTER — From spring planting to fall tillage, there's always plenty of work to be done on the farm. But in today's highly mechanized agricultural scene, not every farmer can afford the equipment needed to do every job as efficiently as possible.

Over the years, custom farm work operators have been filling a need by providing both equipment and manpower at the busiest times of year.

"The advantage of having us as a custom operator is that the farmer doesn't have to lay out big capital money to do it," said Glen Crowder, who has been doing custom farm work for five years. Crowder McDonald Farms Inc., or CMFI, does a wide range of heavy field work, including plowing, discing, cultivating and planting. Crowder and McDonald have over 70 pieces of equipment available to them.

According to Bruce Cummings of Winchester, who bought his first farm in 1979 and went into custom work the following year, there should be no real shortage of work for custom operators this year. Cummings and partner John Cinnamon operate two combines, and are available to harvest corn, barley or soybeans, and also offer crop drying services. Cummings said he and Cinnamon expect to do custom work for about 40 different farmers each year, and will probably combine 3,500 acres this season. "You can hardly finish one guy fast enough to get to the next guy," he said.

Arden Holmes of Winchester, who has been a custom operator since 1967, said the demand is not what it once was, however. Holmes said he offers help with planting, haying, harvesting and combining, but finds the number of customers has dropped in the past few years as many smaller farmers have gone out of business.

Cummings describes the process of growth in his own operation as "expensive". He originally purchased one combine, hiring John Cinnamon to operate it. The volume of business seemed to justify an expansion, and the two pooled their resources to add a second combine. "It's the same as any business," said Cummings. "One thing leads to another to become more efficient."

The business is competitive enough, Cummings and Crowder agree, that a customer who isn't satisfied could call someone else the next time he needs a job done. The number of customers grows over the years as the operator's reputation spreads by word of mouth.

According to Cummings, it isn't difficult to find the time to supply work for others, despite having to run his own operation as well. Once he has filled his dryer to capacity with corn, he is free to transport someone's else's crop to an elevator, or fill their dryer or silo.

But, said Crowder, the work requires some dedication. Many custom operators will find themselves working 24 hours a day in the fall, but the average day is about 16 hours, starting at 5 or 6am and finishing at 8 or 8:30pm.

"I guess it's just something that's in your blood," said Crowder. "I was born and raised with farm work."

Tractors and tillage equipment don't come cheaply these days, but farmers do have an alternative to buying all their own equipment. Custom farm work operators supply both machines and the manpower to run them during the busiest times of year.

ORFEDA is the recognized voice of the farm equipment dealers, making presentations to the provincial government, supplying trade publications, regular dealer bulletins, conducting training seminars, insurance counselling and legal representations to its members.

Farm legislation options under study

WINCHESTER — Farmers may be able to escape right-to-farm legislation if they fully accept the responsibilities of farming, an executive member of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture told the Dundas Federation of Agriculture here Wednesday.

Doug Avery, in Winchester as part of a communications exercise between the provincial association and its county counterparts, said right-to-farm legislation is not a foregone conclusion despite pressure for it from Western Ontario.

Citing a status report from a provincial task force on the right to farm issue, Avery said the government is still interested in hearing all options to right to farm legislation.

The task force, whose members include Women for the Survival of Agriculture president Dorothy Middleton, will meet with the OFA executive on June 3 and is scheduled to submit its report to the government later that month.

One of the options that may be available is the creation of local arbitration committees that would settle nuisance disputes between farmers and their neighbors.

"If we had a code of ethics, generals ideals we have to look up to and this arbitration committee, maybe that's all we really need," said Avery. "We can't have rights until we determine our responsibilities.

DFA member Gordon Garlough agreed the committees might be a way of dealing with nuisance complaints "without getting into legislation."

Although the committees would still create some interference to the business of farming, federation vice-president Max Sabey said he would prefer it over right-to-farm legislation as the "lesser of two evils".

The task force's idea of creating agricultural reserves for five-year periods — designating areas as agriculture through zoning and making everything else non-conforming — was unanimously criticized as impractical.

Financial stress a killer: Middleton

Startling task force statistics show suicide causes one in three farm fatalities

WINCHESTER — The familiar myth that farming is a relaxed, carefree way of life away from the pressures of the city has already been disproven by report findings in Southern Ontario, and may soon be true for farmers in Eastern Ontario.

Recent findings of the provincial task force on farm safety showed that one farm fatality in three in Ontario was a suicide. The same financial pressure which contributed to this alarming statistic will eventually run another group of farmers in this area out of business, said Dorothy Middleton, president of the Women for the Survival of Agriculture.

If you put farmers on a scale of debt-free to heavy debt load, she said, a whole strata of farmers of the heavy debt load level is gone even in this area.

"The next group to go will be the 25-50 per cent equity group and it will keep going until the government legislates a change in farm prices," said Middleton.

Citing an example, she said corn costs, without land taxes or interest payments, amounts to about $101 per tonne. The projected price per tonne for corn this year is $108. "How does the government expect farmers to survive and pay their debts on seven dollars?"

With 16 per cent or 3,000 Farm Credit Corporation loans in Ontario in arrears, something is bound to break sooner than anyone expected, added Middleton.

These figures are even more startling when one looks nation wide. Across Canada, 19,000 federal Farm Credit Corporation loans are in arrears. The debt burden carried by farmers has almost trippled to $21.6 billion in 1984 from $7.8 billion in 1975. And, between 1971 and 1981, 10,000 farmer's families in Canada left the land.

The economic crisis hit first in Southern Ontario, said Middleton. "It's just a matter of time before it hits here too."

The seriousness of the financial problems farmers face was recently discovered in a 1985 Ontario task force report on farm safety. Between 1979 and 1982, 34.8 per cent of Ontario farm fatalities were suicides. In addition, it seemed likely that stress contributed to accidents in much the same way as fatigue does, report author Earl Halett, said recently.

Dorothy Middleton

The first reaction from this area, was that those farmers failed because they were poor managers, said Middleton. "But now the message is starting to sink in now that farmers around here are feeling the same pressures."

Even though Middleton admitted the farm crisis situation in this area hasn't reached proportions comparable to Southern Ontario, she said traditionally secure farmers, even in dairy, will soon find the equity they rely heavily on is depleting quickly every year.

A 1983 study done on Bruce and Grey County farm women forsaw the dilemma now occuring on Ontario farms. "Everything was in the book, a Farmer Takes a Wife, but no one wanted to listen then. Now governments are acting like it's something new," said Middleton.

In the study, done by the Concerned Farm Women, 86 per cent of the 343 women who responded, said they felt the agriculture community was worse off in 1982 than in 1976.

The reasons they cited were interest rates, low commodity prices and input prices — all factors out of their control.

It's this lack of control that professionals say is causing the long-term stress leading to suicide on so many farms.

With only three per cent of the population in farming, it's no wonder the situation hasn't been given top priority by governments until now. "It's just too bad it had to come to this before anyone would listen," said Dawn Runnalls of WSA.

However, since the figures on farm suicides were released, the provincial government has taken steps to help farmers in desperate financial straits. A 24-hour financial help hotline (1-800-265-1511) was introduced in December. Since then, 818 calls were answered, said helpline operator, Gary Stephens. Of those calls, 98 or about 10 per cent came from Eastern Ontario, a traditionally secure farming area. Stephens said the calls aren't limited to the suffering commodity groups either. About 30 per cent of the calls from Eastern Ontario came from dairy farmers.

No follow up has been compiled for the task force report which mentioned the suicide rate among farm fatalities. But, a recent report to the Ontario government recommended that much closer tabs be kept on all aspects of farm fatalities.

Applications file in for summer programs

KEMPTVILLE — Despite high interest rates, low farm-rate prices and surpluses in the agriculture industry, just as many young people are applying to work on farms this summer as every before.

Two Ministry of Agriculture and Food (OMAF) youth employment programs, Agricrew and the Junior Agriculturalist Program, are receiving about the same number of applications this year as in the past, says Debbie Reed, Youth Employment Coordinator for Carleton and Lanark Counties.

So far, she says she's received 45 applications for agricrew, of which she'll consider 18 or 20, and 45 applications came for the junior agriculturalist program.

Hugh O'Neil, youth employment co-ordinator for Dundas and Grenville Counties, hasn't received as many applications as he would like to have for agricrews, but he adds, "it's still early."

Not as many students apply for the junior work program in Dundas and Grenville because there are no large urban centres in the area, says O'Neil.

Anyone applying for this program must have no farm work experience to qualify. On the other hand, agricrew applicants must have some farm work experience even to be considered.

An agricrew is made up of four students 15 to 24 years old. In Dundas and Grenville, three teams of four have been adequate to meet the demand, says O'Neil.

A farmer can hire a crew for a maximum of five consecutive days, at a cost of $90 per day, which is paid to OMAF. The ministry takes care of all other expenses including transportation to and from the farm and Workers' Compensation.

Crews are mainly hired to do haying in the middle of summer. However, O'Neil adds, that quite a few farmers hire them to pick stones, take out fences and do painting.

Each crew has an appointed foreman, and can do any type of farm work except that involving second-storey construction, operating chain saws, driving farm vehicles on public roads or using creosote.

The Junior Agriculturalist Program is exactly the opposite, says Reed. It's designed to introduce urban students to farm work. Qualifying youths between the ages of 16 and 18 work and live on the farm for eight weeks and cannot have any previous farm work experience.

The applications stress that work is hard and anyone considering the job for a summer should be prepared to adapt and be flexible, says O'Neil.

Farmers interested in joining the program must be full-time, provide room and board for the student, and must contribute $10 per day to the program. Workers' Compensation is also the responsibility of OMAF.

Both co-ordinators say they are still receiving applications and will have an orientation meeting in Kemptville at the beginning of June to organize crews and inform junior agriculturalists where they'll be spending the summer.

Anyone interested in hiring a junior agriculturalist or an agricrew should contact the OMAF office in Nepean or Kemptville. The agricrew is booked on a first come first served basis, says Reed.

Horse pullers in action Sunday

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Teamsters get your teams in shape because the South Mountain horse pull promises to be another tough competition this year.

Organizers are expecting about 25 competitors on Sunday, as in previous years, said Roy Sherrer, teamster and horse pull organizer.

Only about five teams come from the immediate area. Most competitors travel from as far away as New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Quebec and other parts of Ontario, said Pam Sherrer.

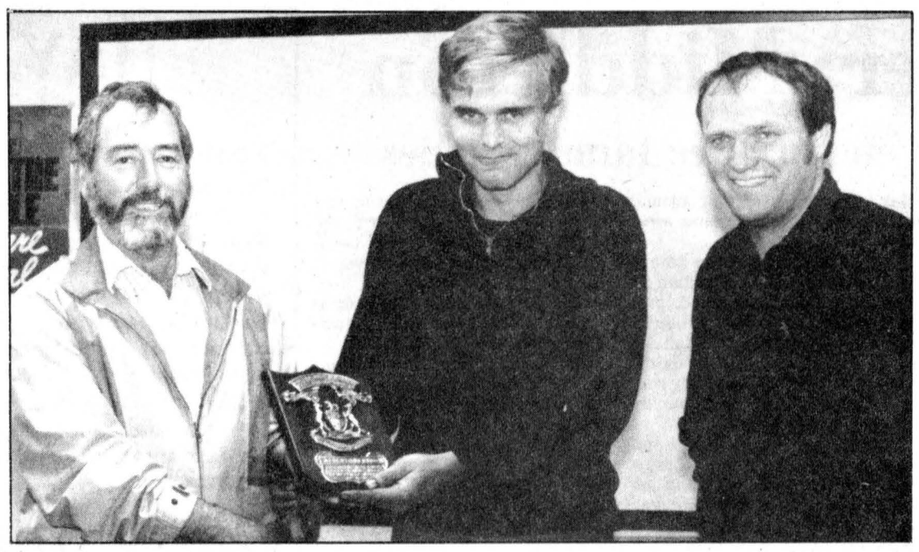
A tradition in South Mountain for six years now, the horse pull will once again be featured in the fair grounds.

Weighing in of horse teams begins at 10am and the pulling gets under way at 12 noon.

Two classes of horses will compete on Sunday. A light class team cannot weigh more than 3,300 pounds together and a heavy class team cannot weigh less than that together, said Sherrer.

Winners in the competition will be the horse team which pulled the most weight the farthest distance. A maximum distance of 15 feet is pre-measured and when a team can outpull that distance, another 200-pound slab of cement is added to the sleigh.

Cash prizes will be awarded for teams placing up to 10th place and for the best teamster and best team. A barbecue will also be served commencing at 4pm.



Top KCAT student

Albert Bening, RR1, Winchester and an employee at Metcalfe Service Centre was last week recognized as recipient of the KCAT Top Student Award after graduating from a farm equipment mechanic course with an overall average of 84 per cent competing against a class of 30.

In accompanying photo Albert happily accepts the attractive, engraved plaque from Dan Kane, left, farm equipment mechanic instructor, while Service Centre's Henk Huizenga, service manager, offers congratulations.

Club studies career planning

by Lianne Rystenbil

WINCHESTER — The Dundas West 4-H project, "Quest for Success" has been organized for senior members aged 16 to 21. Seventeen members under the leadership of Linda Porteous and Eunice Johnston will be studying career planning.

During the first meeting the four stages of career planning were studied: self-awareness, self-evaluation, career awareness, and career search. Values in decision-making, computer testing and costs were ali related to career choices. Members were to interview or shadow someone in a career that interested them as their home activity.

Meeting two focused on writing a resume and a covering letter. Special guest Heather Shane of Ault Foods explained how important a resume was in obtaining an interview and reviewed the parts of a resume. All members are to bring their resume and covering letter to meeting three.

Officers for the club are: president, Cindy St. Pierre; vice-president, Rhonda St. Pierre; secretary, Sue Gordon; and press reporter, Lianne Rystenbil.

4-H members make halters

by Darlene vanWylick

WINCHESTER — Thurs., May 8 the third meeting of the East Dundas Dairy Club was held at 8pm at the home of Herman vanWylick.

The meeting opened with the members present reciting the 4-H pledge followed by the minutes, which were read by the secretary, Pam Porteous. Members then went to the barn where the senior members learned the correct way to clip a calf. The junior and intermediate members reviewed the parts of a cow and judged a class of four cows. The club then joined together and each tried to make a halter with the assistance of Marjorie Rose.

Members gathered inside again and watched a film on calf housing, then read further in their lesson books.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Don Rose on June 12.

CLARMO — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Albert (Ab) who passed away May 16, 1972.
I miss you more than anyone knows,
As each day passes, the emptiness grows,
The tears I shed will wipe away,
But the ache in my heart will always stay,
So wherever I go, whatever I do,
I will always love and cherish you.
