COVERS EASTERN ONTARIO'S GREATEST DAIRYING SECTION

Sixty-Eighth Year, No. 48 | Chesterville, Ontario, Thursday, August 23, 1962 | EIGHT PAGES | Single Copies, 10c

BY'S LINE TODAY

This summer has been like a royal pay-as-you-go bus trip. Too much reign, and the first thing you know it's fair time.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

By the time this small effort is read, the writer and all the denisons of Crumb Castle will have been in the city of Winnipeg for some time. The big annual convention of weekly newspaper people is underway and familiar faces are everywhere in evidence.

We took to the puffer in Ottawa last Monday night, settled into the waiting arms of Mr Pullman and wakened in Sudbury. As we have mentioned on other occasions, the area around that town where the mine trailings spread out, leaves something to be desired. The nickel and copper is necessary, no doubt, but to a farmer's eye, the torn and heaped-up land is a disturbing sight.

Ontario has a lot of waste land. The train turns and twists for hours on end through the Northland. Trees, rock, lakes and more of the same are always in view. The only change is the occasional small resort village or train town that pops into view and almost immediately is out of sight around a bend.

It is worth the whole trip though to sight Lake Superior in the evening of the first day out of Ottawa. The slow trip around the rocky shoreline with the blue lake lapping at your elbow is quite an experience. Especially when you look back and see the tail of the train almost across from you at the opposite side of the inlet. They have very flexible trains on the north run of the CPR.

Winnipeg is the soul of hospitality. So much so, we will just have to rush away and enjoy some of it and let this short column be it for this week. When we get back down to the fertile Nation Valley, we will have more to add to our western excursion.

On August 5, 1962, an historical plaque commemorating the MacMillan emigration from Scotland to Canada in 1802 was unveiled in Williamstown, Glengarry County. This plaque is one of a series being erected throughout the province by the Department of Travel and Publicity, acting on the advice of the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. Participants in the ceremony, shown left to right, included: General Sir Gordon MacMillan, Chief of Clan MacMillan; Mrs Harriet MacKinnon, president of the Glengarry Historical Society; the Rev. Somerled MacMillan, bard and historian of Clan MacMillan; Mr Jack Barber, great-great-grandson of one of the leaders of the emigration; the Rev D. B. MacDougall; Mr W. H. Cranston ,chairman of the province's Historic Sites Board; Mr Lorne MacMillan, grandson of one of the leaders of the MacMillan emigration; Mr Fernand Guindon, M.P.P. (Glengarry), and the Rev Kenneth MacMillan.

Counties council to fill two offices

United Counties council will meet in Cornwall Friday to consider appointment of both a road superintendent and a safety engineer. The latter position was not created until recently.

The resignation of J. G. Cameron at the June session of council prompted the search for a new man to take over the extensive duties. Mr Cameron was county roads superintendent for the past 47 years.

Following his retirement in September, he will be retained as special engineering consultant for the United Counties roads system.

L. C. Kennedy, United Counties clerk-treasurer, said the session will convene Friday morning with an open council sitting in the afternoon.

The second position which is expected to be filled at Friday's meeting is one which is entirely new to the United Counties and to most other Ontario municipalities.

Mr Kennedy explained that a by-law took effect August 1 ordering the appointment of a man to provide for the safety of workmen during construction, alteration, repairs or demolition of buildings or other structures. The inspector will have the power to stop jobs not measuring up to safety standards until the requirements are met. He can also prosecute, if necessary.

The new act replaces the Building Trades Protection Act which has been repealed. Under the Building Trades Act all municipalities were required to appoint safety inspectors, but it is understood many municipalities had no such inspector.

"It would appear that the Department of Labour intends to enforce this new by-law," commented Mr Kennedy.

The counties official noted that the act does not apply to the construction or demolition of farm buildings or to any building job carried out solely by the owner.

Mrs Jean Casselman named secretary

Appointment of 16 parliamentary secretaries to federal cabinet ministers was announced last week by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The 16, all Conservative members of the Commons, included four re-appointed to secretarial posts they held in the last Parliament. Among the 12 newcomers was one woman MP—Mrs Jean Casselman, member for Ontario's Grenville-Dundas.

Mrs Jean Casselman

It was believed the first time that a woman had been appointed to such a post, which carries a salary of $4,000 a year in addition to the regular $10,000 for MPs.

Transfer accident victim to Montreal hospital

Herman Hutt, a 39-year-old Winchester man injured early Sunday when his truck overturned on Highway 43, has been taken to the Montreal Neurological Institute after he failed to regain consciousness in Winchester Hospital.

Mr Hutt, a farm equipment salesman, was returning from the Central Canada Exhibition when his truck overturned at 2.30 a.m. Sunday.

Crysler W.I. holds August meeting

The August meeting of the Crysler Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs Barry Armstrong.

Mrs Thos. Armstrong, second vice-president, opened the meeting with the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect followed by the Lords prayer.

The motto for the evening was "No One Get Indigestion from Swallowing His Pride. The roll call, "What I eat for beauty and good temper," was answered by 12 members.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. It was decided to send a birthday gift to the Institutes adopted child.

An interesting paper on Home Economics was given by Mrs Wm Ouderkirk. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs Delburn Baker.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs Barry Armstrong assisted by Mrs Thos. Armstrong.

Elma U.C.W. holds August meeting

The Elma U.C.W. met in the Church Hall on Thursday evening, August 16th. The president opened the meeting with the singing of the hymn "O Jesus, I Have Promised" verses 1 and 4, followed by prayer.

The minutes of the July meeting were read and approved and twenty member and one new member answered the roll call. Several items of business were discussed; the treasurer's report was given and the correspondence was read.

The September meeting will be held in the Church hall with Mrs Graham McPherson, Mrs Glen Barkley and Mrs Gertrude Barkley as program conveners.

Mrs Donald Dillabough, Mrs Claude Dillabough and Mrs Wilfred Garlough were in charge of the program. Mrs Donald Dillabough introduced the topic, "Members of the Church"; read the Invocation followed by prayer.

The scripture reading, Romans 12 and a poem entitled, "The Day's Needs," were read by Mrs Garlough. A chapter, "Rich Mixture," taken from the Study Book, "Old and New Canadi'ans" was given by Mrs Donald Dillabough, Mrs Egerton Barkley and Mrs Hugh Barkley. Mrs Claude Dillabough read a very interesting story entitled, "The Red Silk Dress."

The meeting closed with the singing of the hymn, "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, Is Ended," and the Benediction.

A dainty lunch was served by the committee and a social hour enjoyed.

Area baby deformed by thalidomide

Cornwall doctors this week confirmed a report that a thalidomide-deformed baby was born in hospital there.

The child, a girl, is normal except for deformities in the arms. She was born August 15 at the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Area survey suggests good tourist potential but development needed

Seaway Valley possesses an over-abundance of the facilities which assure a good tourist industry. But a little imagination and a lot of hard work are still required to make the most of these assets.

This is the considered opinion of J. C. Fallis, supervisor of research and planning for the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity. Mr Fallis heads a team of 13 Morrisburg men and women who spent last week on a detailed study of the vacation habits of both tourists and Morrisburg village residents.

People were questioned as they were leaving village stores and restaurants. Merchants co-operated by analyzing their sales according to whether the customer was a village resident or from out of town. The questions ranged over a wide area, covering both the reaction of the tourists to conditions they find in the area and their suggestions for improvement.

About 5,000 interviews were made. Mr Fallis said: "The answers will be analyzed by my staff at Toronto over the next several weeks and we should have a complete report ready by the end of the year."

The report will establish the impact tourism has made on the area and suggest ways and means of improving the tourist trade. It is better this summer but Mr Fallis was unable to give exact figures.

"Tourists are both impressed and interested in this area. Professional people, especially, reflect that the area has great potential 'and should be a real wonderland when this is developed'," he noted.

In this observation he saw a challenge to those engaged in the industries which serve tourists.

"You can't buy a motel or similar business and retire. Success can only be achieved through hard work and imaginative planning," he said.

One area that he suggested for further development was that along the scenic drive between Iroquois and Morrisburg.

"Flower beds could be prepared, picnic tables set out and grass trimmed to give the illusion of a country lane. Simplicity would be the keynote and the costs would not be high.

"I know of one imaginative operator who developed a country lane with far less potential and is now doing exceptionally well," he said.

Such developments could be tied in with summer theatre and similar attractions. By such projects this area could be given an individual character which would establish it as a must in everybody's vacation plans.

Mr Fallis said that industry and tourism go hand in hand. The more tourists visiting any given area, the more manufacturers are going to see its facilities, he noted.

"I would not be surprised if the tourists coming in here now would return and set up several new industries during the next 10 years," he said.

Secondary industries would also result, meaning increased municipal assessment, greater tax revenues and a lessening of the burden on individual ratepayers.

"Every tourist dollar which is left in the Seaway Valley is a new dollar as far as this area is concerned. It will add materially to the economic well-being of the area," he said.

The trend in vacationing is toward family holidays and for this reason local planners should think in terms of pleasing all members of the average family. Since vacations are getting longer every year, and travelling is on the increase, all district residents should encourage visitors to this district by being courteous and helpful at all times.

Village residents were asked where they went on their holidays, how far they travelled, how much they spent and whether the trip was motivated by advertisements or the wish to visit friends and relatives.

Visitors were asked questions along similar lines, along with their opinion on food, accommodations, services, the facilities they would like to find when away from home and prices they are asked to pay in comparison to prices of other places they visited.

Merchants provided figures on their total sales for the survey period, August 13 - 18, and this will be used to compute the tourist revenue for the summer.

Traffic counts were taken along the old scenic route of Highway 2 and along Highway 31. This too will help fill in the complete picture.

Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce payed 10 per cent of the cost of the survey and assisted where possible. Local men and women were hired "because we wanted to leave the money in the community and because we felt these were mature people who could do a good job."

We have experienced 100 per cent co-operation throughout the survey from both the merchants and the townsfolk," Mr Fallis concluded.

August meeting Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute

The August meeting of the Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was held in the Township Hall, with Mrs Ober Beckstead as hostess.

Mrs Flegg, president, was in the chair, assisted by the secretary, Mrs George Ferguson.

Mrs Lloyd Gallinger, historical research convener, gave a paper on "Doings in our W.I. over the past 15-year period."

Mrs Carl Collins gave comments on the motto, the second line of the Mary Stewart Collect "Let us be large in thought, in word and deed."

Mrs John Grandaw, social convener, conducted contests for the grandmothers and prizes were awarded.

A gift will be given to a local fire vicitim.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs Clifford Collins and Mrs John Grandaw.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs John Wylie, on the 11th, at 8 p.m. All members are asked to bring used fancy Christmas cards to help pack a box for overseas children.

Former local man's club helps world's needy through CARE

A former resident of Chesterville and now a resident of Mound City, Missouri, Mr W. J. McRae visited the "Record" office last week.

Last October Mr McRae organized the Elderly Men's Club. The club has been sending packages through CARE to various parts of the world.

The first acknowledgement came from Sayanda Rami Banik, a student of Baligaon Model Primary School, Kaliganj, Dist. Dacca, East Pakistan. The letter was written in Bengali, and a translation follows:

"I am grateful to you for your gift of powdered milk, with a view to improving my health. I am getting more interested in all activities and my good health.

"Long live the Pak-America-Canada Friendship."

Packages cost a dollar for 22 pounds which last an average family for one month.

Mr McRae has been a guest of Mr and Mrs Bert Gillard, of town.

Storms lash district at first of week

Keeping up the tradition, rain again came pouring down on Chesterville district Monday and Tuesday. The storms seemed to be localized, Chesterville reporting plenty of rain Monday afternoon and Dunbar, a few miles away, not getting a drop.

Sections of Cornwall were left without power for hours following Monday's storm. Along the Front more than two inches of rain fell, flooding basements, and winds overturned boathouses and knocked down trees.

In the Metcalfe-Kenmore district power was cut for five hours and a large barn on the farm of Mrs Alex Craig, three miles south of Kenmore, collapsed in high winds.

Ontario Hydro said five hydro poles were knocked down in the Metcalfe-Kenmore area and several individual services were knocked out.

Neighbouring Institutes guests at Elma Women's Institute August meeting

The August meeting of the Elma W. I. was held in the Dunbar Lutheran Church hall with a large attendance.

The president, Mrs Maurice Beckstead on opening the meeting first welcomed our neighbouring Institutes from Morewood, Colquhoun and Riverside Heights. After the Opening Ode and Mary Stewart Collect, the minutes were read by the secretary and approved. The roll call was answered by "A Woman in the News." Correspondence was then dealt with.

A letter was read concerning 4-H leaders for the Fall project "Supper Club". It was moved and seconded that Mrs Donald Dillabough and Mrs Harold McIntosh again be responsible for the 4-H Club work this Fall. The training school for the leaders is August 30 and 31, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and will be held in the new Agriculture building at Winchester.

It was decided to send for the short course on Copper Tooling to be held on Mon., Tues., Oct. 1 and 2. The bills were then paid up to date. The next meeting of the Elma W.I. will be held in the Elma Church hall with Mrs Arthur Folkard and Mrs D. A. Dillabough as convenors, and the lunch committee will be Mrs Hazel Beckstead, Jean Feeley, Isabel Harper and Gwyenneth Pemberton.

The meeting was then turned over to the programme convenor, Mrs Alfred Carkner, the topic being, "Public Relations." Each visiting Institute was asked for a couple of numbers. The program opened with a sing-song by all "The More We Get Together."

Mrs Ernest Hart recited a lengthy poem "My Son Harry."

A duet by Marion McConnel and Wanda, "In the Garden", with Mrs H. McConnel at the piano, Reading by Mrs Cecil McMillan, solo by Mrs Robert Burns, "Honey Tower" and "Serenade of the Bells" with Mrs Laura Carruthers at the piano.

A solo by Wanda Moroski, "Whatever Will Be, Will Be" and "Jimmy Brown"; Wanda also showed how the twist is done; recitation by Isobel Harper, "Cuddle Doon"; duet by Doris Hummel and Iris Gow, accompanied by Mrs Hummel; a contest was held, winners were Gertrude Barkley and Mrs Douglas Gow.

Each one who helped in any way with the program was thanked by Mrs Carkner. The president closed the meeting with the Queen. Lunch was then served. Each Institute in turn thanked the Elma W. I. for their hospitality.

Finch High School '13' results

Mrs A. A. Morris

Mrs A. A. Morris, aged 88, died at the Glen-Stor-Dun Hospital at Cornwall on Wednesday after suffering a serious stroke a week ago.

The funeral arrangements are not complete at press time but it is expected the service will be held at Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Chesterville, Friday afternoon with interment at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Her husband, Alfred Morris, died 27 years ago. She is survived by three sons, William E., of Cardinal; Sydney, of Chesterville, and J. A. Morris, of Prescott. Another son, Harry G., of Cardinal, died several years ago.

Brockville Hurricanes down Juniors 11-1

Brockville Hurricanes, living up to their name, proved an ill-wind blowing no good for Chesterville Juniors Tuesday night at Brockville. The local lads went down to defeat 11-1 at the hands of the Hurricanes in the EOSSA finals.

George Butcher got Chesterville's lone run.

Playing for Chesterville were Freddy Harper, Ernie MacMillan, George Butcher, Arden Marcellus, Freddy Labre, Howard Henry, Gerald Desormeaux, Geo. Hagan and Jack Lannin.

Next game will be played tonight, Thursday, at Chesterville Fair Grounds at 7.30.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Our fall fairs

The season is fast approaching for the first of the fall fairs to start. Chesterville, Newington, Mountain and others have been getting grounds and lists ready since early summer and the season will soon be underway.

Chesterville and District Agricultural Society directors are taking a big step this year. They have started in the direction of a Class "B" fair and that means a much greater value in prize money. In order to qualify as a Class "B" exhibition, the society must pay out at least $3,000 in prize money for three consecutive years.

The directors increased the prizes by nearly 50 per cent right across the board. Along with the big 4-H Show, which alternates each year with South Mountain, there will be the usual attractions. A big new midway will be on hand, the racing will be right up to scratch and machinery will fill the infield. The big Red and White Show promises a big display of good Ayrshire cattle as does the Eastern Ontario Guernsey Show for that breed. Jerseys and Holsteiis will fill the bill for the dairy breeds and the beef breeds will fill out a real list of cattle.

Horses will have their day and more horses will be seen on fair day than one normally sees in a year on local farms.

Stormont Agricultural Society will follow right on the heels of the Chesterville show with their Newington fair. They have a three-day program lined up with a big bingo and other attractions planned for evenings. The Stormont Society will be having all three breed days, Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey.

The Stormont directors have a very ambitious program of domestic and home economics exhibits. Their fine buildings bulge with all sorts of displays that are worth seeing.

This would be the ultimate strike

In recent years Canada has had many strikes, observes the Cornwall Standard - Freeholder. Among the strikers we have truck drivers, rail workers, hotel employees, workers at auto plants, meat packers and many others.

However, there is one strike, which probably will never happen, but which would be the strike to end all strikes. That would be a strike of all the women in the country.

Statistics show there are around a million and a half women in Canada's working force engaged in about 500 different vocations. Just think what it would do to the economy if they decided to withdraw their presence from the daily task.

Such a decision would leave the industrial, commercial, financial and retail business of the country disrupted and close to a state of chaos. That was a prediction made by the Northern Daily News some time ago. Imagine what would happen in big business circles if there were no secretaries and stenographers to type letters and inter-departmental orders, reminders and suggestions.

Then if they were to be joined by the vast host of women, who work in domestic establishments, including their family homes; if they were to boycott work and threaten to do no work in their homes; cook no meals, wash no diapers, iron no shirts, comb no tousled heads and have nothing whatever to do with their husbands, until said husbands got a pay increase, things surely would be at odds and ends everywhere.

But could they agree to act in unison? Perhaps they could but it would require interminable telephone conversations and husbands with wire snippers could disorganize the plotters. Then if the husbands in any considerable number left the children entirely on their own, to range at will and exercise no parental restraint, the situation would be further confused.

The women folk could surely start something and everything would be topsy-turvey, but before long they'd be back wiping noses, washing behind the ears and spreading jam on bread. If they did not there would sure to be half the young'uns declared "neglected" and removed to a man-dominated central place for care.

Bad as it would be to tie up the factories, the stores, the banks, and probably the women could do it, but if the homes were included negotiations would be under way in a very few hours.

For holding a nozzle

John McKnight, relates the St. Thomas Times-Journal, was the producer of a show called "Aqua Carnival" in the New York Coliseum. The show was intended to run until the end of August. But it folded up after a few days.

The attendance did not measure up to Mr McKnight's hopes, but he attributed the collapse to the high cost of labour.

For example, it was the job of two master plumbers to fill the pool with water. All they had to do was to hold the nozzles and pour tap water into the pool. For these services Mr McKnight paid each plumber $157.50 a day including overtime. Other charges included $315 to the plumbing contractor for supervising the job, and $50 a day to another for making some kind of an inspection.

With wages like that, New York plumbers should have no need to worry about the high cost of living.

We still can't overlook everyday problems like baby pig scours and worms, even though we have the so-called "disease-free" pig. Swine researchers with the Ontario Department of Agriculture say extra cleanliness and sound management pays off in better production.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

"God has used the Holy Scriptures to bring thousands of men and women in Indo-China to a living knowledge of Himself." So stated the Reverend H. Curwen Smith when he addressed an informal luncheon arranged by the Hamilton, Ontario, Branch of the Canadian Bible Society. Mr Smith has served for forty years in Indo-China, first as a missionary and then for the past twenty-nine years as the General Secretary for The British and Foreign Bible Society in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Mr Smith has recently returned to Canada where he will be in active retirement.

In 1892 The British and Foreign Bible Society sent two men to Cambodia. They succeeded in learning the Cambodian language and translating the Gospel of St. Luke into that tongue, and thus publishing the first Scripture in Indo-China. The first Vietnamese Scriptures were published in 1896.

In 1923 the first edition of the Vietnamese New Testament was published, followed in 1925 by the first edition of the Bible. In Cambodia and in Laos the entire Bible has been published. The revision of the Laos New Testament is now under way. In the Mountain regions of Indo-China the Gospels have been translated and published in the three major language groups of Radee, Jorai, and Koho.

THE NIGHT IS FILLED WITH MUSIC

The summer night is filled with music. If you listen, you will hear a regular orchestra, an insect orchestra it is true, but an orchestra for all that. Of course, to get the full benefit, you should be in the country, but there also is quite a little music in the gardens of the town.

The orchestra is at its best during the last two weeks in August. Sitting on a screened porch in silence, and listening intently, you may be able to identify each part as it is taken by the various instruments of these insect players.

The high notes of the violin are furnished by those insect pests, the mosquitoes. They fiddle their instruments at the base of each tiny wing as they fly through the air or light upon some unfortunate individual who crosses their path.

The bass drum of the band is the harvest fly, or, using his true name, the cicada. He is not particular about playing his drums at night alone, but he often may be heard practising during the day. He has two musical boxes called "chapels," each containing a little drum whose "head" is pressed in and out continuously. This is what makes his cheerful, ear-filling sound.

Then there are the grasshoppers. Never a sound do they make in the daytime, except now and then a frightened whirr as someone almost steps on them, but they are the backbone of the whole night orchestra, some fiddling high, some low.

Next to the grasshoppers come the crickets, and there are several species of them. The so-called "mole" cricket has the heaviest instrument, but the black cricket, which we know so well, is the most peristent in his part. Indeed, long after the last grasshopper has gone, and the busiest mosquito is dead, and other members of the orchestra are safely hidden away for the winter, you may hear the cheerful chirp which tells you one of the musicians of the summer night orchestra, the black cricket, has moved in to stay with you during the long, cold winter months.

CORROSION PREVENTION

Most farm implements are in use for only a few weeks each year, but rust and corrosion are at work the year round.

A large portion of the cost of repairing farm implements and machines can be attributed to rusting. For example, unprotected moldboard plow bottoms can incur more wear from a year of rusting than from an entire season of use, says Dr. W. K. Bilanski of the Engineering Department at the Ontario Agricultural College. Rust-proofing them for even short periods of storage pays. Therefore, after each period of use, and before the implement is put away for storage, be sure that all mud, grass and other dirt is removed, since rust is likely to form under such a layer.

After you have cleaned the implement, touch up paint wherever necessary and spray each part likely to be affected by rust with a light waxy coating, using one of the modern rust-preventatives now available. Then store the implement in a weather-proof shelter that is also dry and well ventilated.

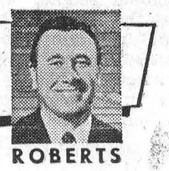
Protecting your farm implements from moisture is important because corrosion or "rusting" is a chemical reaction which takes place between metal and oxygen in water, and results in the formation of a metallic oxide commonly known as rust. Rust-preventatives operate by sealing the metal from contact with the atmosphere.

A film that can be readily applied with either a fly spray, handgun, or low pressure air-line type gun, will keep rust from forming even while the machine is left out-doors for prolonged periods of time. Also when you apply the rust preventative over non-flaky, thin coats of rust, it penetrates and loosens the rust, thereby assisting in its rmoval as well as preventing further rusting. So it's a good idea to kep a spray gun, or whatever device you choose to use always full of the compound and in a convenient place. This will facilitate frequent re-applications of the rust preventative to any area on the implement where the protective film may have been broken through use or weathering.

Although you may use several different substances such as paint, oil, and grease as rust-preventatives, the modern petrochemical wax-base rust-preventatives are far superior in their ability to prevent rust formation, and also to stop any rusting action already in progress. These compounds may be purchased from any reputable oil company dealer.

The small amount of time and effort required for rust prevention can save you money in longer service, easier operation, and greater resale value for your farm machinery reminds Dr. Bilanski.

ABUNDANT LIFE



by ORAL ROBERTS

PERFECT SOUNDNESS CAN BE YOURS

Perfect soundness is the desire and goal of everyone of us. We want perfect soundness in soul, mind and body. And thanks to God, this perfect soundness is within the reach of all—if we will only use our faith and believe.

The New Testament cites many instances where Jesus Christ of Nazareth made people perfectly sound. A good example of Christ's complete healing power was the lame man outside the temple gate. "And immediately, his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them inside the temple, walking, and leaping and praising God" (Acts 3:8).

A miracle of healing—then as today—was something that was seen and felt. A modern-day healing from God opens up a person's heart showing him just how powerful faith can be.

Just as in Bible times when certain men doubted, today some doubt the power of God to heal when no evidence seems apparent. People want to see what faith can do. A miracle of healing is something people can see and feel. They want evidence, and they have a right to know Jesus is alive and real. Every healing wrought in the name of Jesus, every miracle, every sign and wonder is evidence that convinces people of the reality of Jesus.

Faith makes direct contact with God and through this contact faith gives perfect soundness in soul, mind and body. If you want perfect soundness and you feel faith rising in your heart, look up to God right now and believe. Remember, it is through faith in the name of Jesus of Nazareth that you will receive perfect soundness.

Thousands of people are being healed and given perfect soundness today. Testimonies pour in everyday from people all over the world telling what their faith has done for them.

God loves you more than anyone in the whole world. He wants to deliver you and give you perfect soundness. God is a good God. Turn your attention to Him and what He can do for you. Develop in you a sense of expectancy. Expect God to heal you. Your hour of deliverance will come and when it comes act upon the evidence and believe.

Winchester man injured in truck crash

Herman Hutt, 39, of Winchester is unconscious in hospital with a broken arm and other undetermined injuries after he was found lying beside his overturned truck at 7.45 a.m. Sunday on Highway 43 near Hallville.

Mr Hutt a farm equipment salesman was found by Mike Roach, of Hallville.

OPP Cost. Herbert Myers said the pick-up truck apparently missed the curve and overturned. It is believed the accident occurred at 2.30 a.m. Sunday.

THE GOLD STANDARD

Most nations of the world were on the gold standard before World War I. Gold was the money that spoke all languages. Each nation cut its gold bars into different sizes and weights and called them by different names—the dollar, the pound, the franc, the lira, the mark, or some other unit in which prices and wages are customarily expressed and in which debts are usually contracted. The idea back of the gold standard was that governments bought and sold gold at a fixed price, which made any kind of money have a value equal to that of gold money.

Until the United States went off the gold standard in 1933, its paper money was backed by the government's promise to pay gold on demand. Since that time no currency has been redeemed in gold. Previously the government paid out a kind of paper money, called gold certificates or "yellow backs." These have all been called in.

The supply of gold by the government was never large enough to cover all the paper money outstanding; but they knew that in normal times only a very small per cent of the paper money would be presented from month to month. So long as individuals felt that they could exchange their bills for gold, they usually didn't bother to present them. Most people preferred paper to gold money, anyway.

The United States was for many years on a double monetary standard—gold and silver. Then after 1873 it went on a single standard of gold. Even though it does not use gold coins any longer, gold is still the money standard, and the basis from which all values are computed.

U.S. RADIO PROGRAM LINK WITH ALASKA

Need some seal oil for dunking? How about an oogruk skin for mukluk soles?

You could get both, easily, with a few short lines on one of the United States' most unique radio programs, KICY's Ptarmigan Telegraph.

The program was designed primarily to knit more closely the people of Alaska's barren western and Arctic coasts, which KICY claims as its listening area.

For the most part, the messages station manager, Lloyd Sundstrom, airs on the nightly 15-minute show are between individuals living along the coast or on the isolated islands offshore—Little Diomede, King, St. Lawrence and the Pribilofs.

But the messages also include official notes from state or federal agencies to individuals or villages far removed from the meagre lines of communication which serve western Alaska.

To degrees for a moment, seal oil is the universal dunk in Eskimoland, like coffee for donuts or cheese dip for potato chips.

An oogruk is a bearded seal and mukluks are the fur and skin shoes of the Arctic and sub-Arctic. Oogruk skins give mukluks a non-skid sole, even on glare ice.

That seal oil is a necessity for Eskimos living even in a relatively modern city such as Nome is borne out by this recent message on Ptarmigan Telegraph from Ben Herman of Nome to Harry Kokrok of Shishmaref:

"I received the seal oil today. I send you the money. God bless you all."

Need some mukluks? Apparently John Angusac of King Island did, judging from this message to him from his sister, Annie Pullock of Nome:

"Please send me seal skin to make your hunting mukluks and white seal skin. Also an oogruk skin for soles."

"SOS" ANSWERED

At Clarke's Harbor, N.S., fishing vessel skipper Dewey Nickerson is going to puff on Russian cigarettes for days to come following his encounter with a Soviet ship off Nova Scotia's southern tip.

Drawing alongside the Russian vessel, he offered its crew tins of sardines in exchange for cigarettes he needed.

The Russians tossed down about 25 packages but refused to accept the sardines. "Darn it, I can't get over how friendly they were," he said. He estimated the Russian crew at 150, including about 50 women.

Shearer–Merkley

The wedding of Phyllis Marlene Merkley, daughter of Mr and Mrs Harold G. Merkley, Chesterville, Ont., and Thomas Andrew Shearer, son of Mr and Mrs Edward Shearer, Lyn, Ont., took place in the Elma United Church, on Sat., Aug. 11, 1962 Rev. Ralph Brookson, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs Edward Herriman sang, "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer" accompanied by Mrs Bernice Barkley at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a waltz-length gown of peau de sore with a lace bodice, a scalloped neckline, embroidered with sequins which added accent as did the pointed sleeves. Her tiara headdress of seed pearls and sequins held her shoulder length bouffant veil of tulle illusion in place. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with white stephanotis. Her only jewellery was a pearl necklace a gift of the groom.

Miss Judy Merkley, sister of the bride and Miss Geraldine Shearer, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids and wore identical dresses of pink nylon sheer and lace. Miss Linda-Gail Merkley, sister of the bride, and Miss Donna Salmon, cousin of the bride were flowergirls and wore identical dresses of white lace over blue taffeta.

The groom's cousin, William Barnhart was best man. Mr Roger Carkner, cousin of the bride and Mr Donald Slack, cousin of the groom, ushered the guests.

Following a reception in the Elma Church hall the couple left for a short honeymoon. For travelling the bride chose a dress of mauve organza with white accessories.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honoured with a shower in the Elma church hall, where she was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Calls for re-examination of agricultural production problems

Mr Stewart said new outlooks were needed to fulfill ever-increasing demands for food.

As an example, he said Ontario would not produce enough beef in 1970 to supply consumers in the province.

He noted that Canadas entire beef production is only eight per cent of North America's output. He said opportunities to provide good livestock were often missed by Ontario farmers.

The minister said farming was more important than many people realized, reminding 4-H ers that the income of Ontario farmers was almost double that of farmers in other provinces.

First prize winner in the senior open judging competition-results of which were announced after the banquet — was Barrie Tripp, 20, of Kinburn. The winner is the son of Mr and Mrs Robrt W. Tripp.

Also announced at the banquet were 10 winners of $125 Home Making Club scholarships.

The top homemakers, each representing a local county, are:

Van Breugal–Cinnamon

The spacious lawns at the home of Mr and Mrs Kenneth R. Cinnamon, R.R. 1, Winchester, was the scene of a pretty mid-summer wedding on Saturday afternoon when their youngest daughter, Barbara Ann became the bride of Adriaan J. H. VanBreugal only son of Mr and Mrs Dingman VanBreugal of Morewood.

Rev. A. D. Sutherland of Chesterville, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The wedding music was supplied by Mrs George Cinnamon, aunt of the bride. Allan B. Cinnamon, brother of the bride, assisted the groom as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding a street-length white organza over taffeta dress featuring a deep scoop neckline, fitted bodice, wide shirred cummerbund at the waist and bouffant skirt. A brief alencon lace jacket complimented the dress. She wore a tiny floral hat with white accesories. Her only jewellery was a string of tiny pearls, she carried a semi-cascade of pink and white miniature carnations.

Miss Marie VanBreugal, sister of the groom was the bride's attendant. She chose a pink nylon organza street-length dress, featuring a boat neckline, dipping to a deep V in back accented by a shirred capelot of nylon organza, matching pink floral headdress and accesories. Her jewellery was a string of pearls, she carried a semi-cascade of white and mauve miniature carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn for 20 guests. To receive the guests the bride's mother chose a pale blue lace over taffeta dress, floral pink picture hat, with white carnations. Mrs VanBreugal wore a green floral sheath dress with matching shantung silk duster, beige accessories and a corsage of mauve tinted carnations.

For a honeymoon trip through Algonquin Park, Toronto, Niagara Falls and points west. Mrs VanBreugal travelled in a three-piece honey-gold linen suit with logan-green accesories and a corsage of tiny pink and white roses.

On their return the young couple will reside at Morewood.

Mrs Douglas Gow, accompanied by Mrs Merton O'Shaughnessy, spent Thursday afternoon in Cornwall and called on Mr and Mrs Ernest McMillan and Mrs E. Archambeault.

Sunday dinner guests at Ben Bowman's were Mrs A. Bowman, Church Road, Mr and Mrs Howard Saddlemire, Glen Becker, and Mr Grant Bowman, Kenmore.

Mr and Mrs Ben Bowman spent Saturday evening with Mr and Mrs Albert Bowman, Mrs John Bogart and Miss A. Bogart, of Chesterville.

Mr and Mrs Wm. Norton spent an evening in Winchester recently and called on Mr Ernest Fling in hospital there, where he is recovering from an operation. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Holmes–Fergus

St. John's Anglican Church, Smiths Falls, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sandra Joy Fergus, daughter of Mr and Mrs Earl Fergus, Smiths Falls, and Mr George Albert Holmes, son of Mr and Mrs Harry Holmes, of Winchester Springs, Ont.

Canon G. H. Sadler performed the double-ring ceremony and Miss Joyce Lawson played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Carol Fergus, as maid of honour. The bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Fergus, also sister of the bride, and Miss Lorraine Holmes, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Sheryl Streby, of Detroit, Mich., cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Mr George Wood, of Ottawa, was the best man for his brother-in-law. The ushers were Mr Robert Fergus, brother of the bride, and Mr Carl Robinson, of Winchester Springs.

The bride chose a floor length gown of white nylon organdy covered with hand-embroidered satin roses. It was styled with a portrait neckline, lilypoint sleeves and a skirt caught in a bustle effect at the back by tiny bows.

A pearl tiara with dangling crystals held her four-tiered elbow-length veil. Her jewellery, a single strand of cultured pearls, was a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

The bridal attendants wore identical gowns of flamingo pink nylon chiffon over taffeta.

Mr and Mrs Holmes are graduates of Ottawa Teachers' College and will teach at Manordale Public School in the Fall.

44th annual meeting Federation of Women Teachers

A profession with such high standards, ideals and great accomplishments that more and more young people will be anxious to join it comprise one of today's major aims of Ontario's public school women teachers.

This point of view was tressed by Miss Cora E. Bailey, Peterborough, president of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario, speaking to the 44th annual meeting of the federation held in Toronto last week.

"Where do we start?" Miss Bailey asked. "We must take a long, hard and objective look at our aims and our activities. Harking back to the war years, there was a decided shortage of teachers.

Many emergecy measures were put into effect to meet this need. As a result, many poorly qualified and even some unqualifiel teachers entered the profession.

"At that time our federation protested this lowering of standards; steps were taken by federation to initiate a salary schedule which would recognize improved qualifications. This schedule has done much to improve the qualifications of teachers, to raise the professional standards and to increase the professional training of teachers."

She pointed out that this activity has been difficult and time-consuming with a sizeable expenditure of time and effort. " We do appreciate the co-operation of trustees, which has been given quite readily. Now that the shortage is over, we welcome the time when emergecy measurs will not be needed and we can be more selective in the recruiting of personnel for our profession."

In line with Miss Bailey's remarks the FWTAO Teacher Education and Certification Committee recommend to the annual meeting that eventually a minimum of a four-year arts degree, plus one year's professional training be the requirement for teaching in Ontario's public schools.

At the annual dinner, two Ontario teachers were awarded the Helen Keefer Echolarship. The scholarships, each in the amout of $1,000, were awarded for special work in the field of educatiion. The recipients were Jean I. C. Houston of Toronto and Isabel B. Ward of Pembroke.

Two FWTAO members were designated Fellows of the federation at the dinner. The fellowships went to Marion Johnston of Ottawa and Dorothy Kinrade of Toronto. Both teachers have been engaged in post-graduate work in education at a doctorate level, attending the school of graduate studies at the Ontario College of Education.

Each year the FWTAO chooses a number of teachers to become honorary members of federation. These teachers represent the outstanding contribution made by all teachers to the field of education through their years of teaching service in their communities. This year ten retired teachers received their honorary meberships. They were Mrs Myrtle Childs, Ridgetown; Miss Jeanette Clarke, Kitchener; Mrs Maud B. Tomey, St. Catharines; Miss Nellie MacDonald, Toronto; Miss Electa Mills, Kemptville; Miss Elizabeth D. Taylor, Toronto; Miss H. Jean Beach, Ottawa; Miss Lila A. Ellison, East York; Miss Jean Gall, Hamilton; Miss Jessie I. Smith, Kirkland Lake and Miss Eva Walker, Toronto.

"Elementary schools are doing a better job of meeting the individual needs of the student than secondary schools," said Dr Geo. E. Flower, director of graduate studies, Ontario College of Education. Dr. Flower was addressing the gathering of more than 650 women teachers from elementary schools across the province at the 44th annual dinner of federation.

He emphasized three essential points to be considered by teachers: a break-away from the traditional views of the past in order to think freely toward the future; development of new programmes which will bring out the best in each student; and willingness to face up realistically to new developments in society and education.

Dr. Flower went on to say "If major decisions affecting schools are made by the public then surely we professionals have no course but to take every opportunity to see that the public has solid educational facts on which to base their decisions."

"A prime responsibility of the teaching profession is to make professional knowledge widely available as a basis for public decision."

One of the most eagerly anticipated sessions was conducted at the meeting when a panel of four women teachers discussed how rural and urban teachers could aid one another.

Moderated by Miss Margaret Ferguson of the provincial office staff, the panel consisted of Mrs Catherine Paisley of Manitoulin Island and Mrs Lilyan Goheen, Dundalk, representing the rural teachers' viewpoint and Miss Dorothy Taylor and Miss Hazel Faulkner of Toronto representing urban teachers.

Concern was voiced on the question of Department of Education grants for library books. In the case of rural schools with only a small number of pupils in a number of grades, the grant of $1 per student is often too small for effective use in purchasing library books, the rural teachers claimed.

The panel agreed that the textbook grant system was in need of revision.

The concensus was, although rural schools get enough books, they cannot give their pupils variety in reading material and most of these schools have only one reading series.

The teachers discussed the difficulty in giving the new elementary school curriculum in one-room rural schools with 8 grades "With the advanced science courses now being given in grades seven and eight, it is impossible to teach 40 children at different grade levels," said one rural teacher.

Her belief was supported by many delegates and it was felt that public opinion should be activated to encourage more school boards to consolidate districts and build four-room schools with more teachers and specialists on the staff.

The annual meeting elected a new slate of officers to govern federation activities during the coming year. Miss Ola Reith of St. Thomas was elected president.

Mainly About People

Weekend callers at the home of Mr and Mrs Wilburn York were Mr and Mrs Arthur York, Ottawa, Mrs John Fader, Prescott, Mrs Kenneth MacDonald, Prescott, and Mrs Keith Campbell, of St. Catharines.

Mrs Hildred Morrison and son, Durant, spent holidays with Mr and Mrs Haldane Durant.

Mr and Mrs W. L. Wilson visited Mr and Mrs Haldane Durant.

Mr and Mrs Aura Hutt, accompanied by Mr and Mrs Clinton Hall, Cardinal, and Mr and Mrs Ernest Stata, Morrisburg, spent a few days motoring through Quebec City, Winooski, Vermont, and White Face Mountain, N.Y.

Mr and Mrs Stewart, of Melvins, Mr and Mrs H. Ouderkirk and family, Chesterville, and Mr Ross Rainey, Finch, spent Sunday with Mr Johnston Ouderkirk and family.

Mr Johnston Ouderkirk is spending two days in Ottawa with his son and wife and is attending the Ottawa Exhibition.

Mrs L. R. Acreman is returning to her California home by TCA and on the way will spend a weekend in Winnipeg with her brother, George MacIntyre, and family. Mrs Acreman holidayed at Finch with her parents, Mr and Mrs Rupert MacIntyre, and family.

Mr and Mrs Wallace Carruthers and family left on Saturday for a week's holiday at Ocean Beach, Maine.

GLADIOLUS CARE

Now is the time to check your gladioli for signs of disease, say horticulturists with the Ontario Department of griculture.

Dig up bulb and all of every stunted or yellow coloured gladiolus plant, and burn it. Don't leave it lying around or add it to the compost heap.

Diseased gladioli are unlikely to flower or produce good corms so you will lose nothing by discarding them now. The big advantage in discarding them at this stage, is that you will help to prevent healthy plants from becoming infected, and will keep the soil free from disease.

Later when the plants have begun to bloom, remove dead blooms from the spikes. Doing this has several advantages. The spikes will remain attractive much longer and you will prevent unwanted seed production. Botrytis blight will also develop rapidly on dead blooms.

If you want to use the gladioli for cut flowers, leave as many leaves as possible on the plant when you remove the spike. A good method of cutting is to slide the back of a knife dow nthe stem as far as possible and then tilt the blade toward the stem and cut upward. Place one foot at the base of the plant to prevent pulling it up by the roots.

The small amount of time and effort required for rust prevention on farm implements can save you money in longer service, easier operation, and greater resale value, say Agricultural Engineers at the Ontario Agricultural College.

It may take longer to stop your 'car in hot weather, says the Ontario Safety League. Asphalt roads may "bleed" under a blazing sun. The oil rises to the surface and can create a slippery condition.

Keep clear of bad-mannered neighbours, to avoid possible unpleasantness. And keep clear of bad mannered drivers, to avoid possible disaster, recommends the Ontario Safety League.

To restore freshness to hardened brown sugar, place a slice of apple or orange on wax paper on top of the sugar.

Chesterville Juniors enter EOSSA finals against Brockville

One of the local baseball teams Chesterville Juniors, cleaned up last Friday night in the finals against Mountain. They came out on top with a score of 3-2 with Freddie Harper making the final counter.

By winning the league games the Juniors earned a very handsome trophy, which will be theirs until next year. The cup was donated by Earl Francis.

The first of the EOSSA finals was held in Brockville on Tuesday and the next game is slated for Chesterville on Thursday, today at the local fair grounds. Brockville Hurricanes will be the opponents for the two games.

CLOSING TIME

In 1869 a French scientist, Pierre Berchelot, stated, "Inside of 100 years of physical and chemical science, man will know what the atom is. It is my belief that when science reaches this stage, God will come down to earth with His big ring of keys and say to humanity, 'Gentlemen, it is closing time'."

Big plowing match has unique features this year

This year's International plowing match, to be held in Derby Township, four miles south of Owen Sound, on October 10 to 13, has two features which make the event unique.

This is the year when it might be said that lightning strikes twice in the same place. October 10 to 13, 1933, was the date of the last International plowing match held in Grey County and the site was exactly the same as planned for 1962.

Norman Barber, owner of the farm where most of the events will take place, was only six years old when his father, the late Vernon Barber, was host to the I.P.M. in 1933. Today, he is the successful operator of the 250-acre farm with a fine herd of Ayrshire cattle and has been a director for District 5, Ontario Plowmen's Association, for the past four years. The district comprises Grey, Bruce and Huron counties and Gordon McGavin, of Walton, well known in plowing circles, is his fellow director to represent District 5.

The other feature of this year's match is that a real effort has been made to make the event, the agricultural showcase of Ontario, more attractive to women.

More than ever before, women can enjoy a visit to the match for there are a variety of attractions which are bound to interest and please. A cooking school, fashion show and hair-styling demonstration, a furniture show, films, parades and a competition to name a "Queen of the Furrow" are a major part of the over-all plan to have women come.

The Owen Sound businessmen have arranged for free bus service during the day from the plowing match site to the city's shopping area. As, and if, women tire of the farm scene and tented city, it will be a simple matter to board a bus, spend a couple of hours in modern stores, then return to the site in lots of time to "collect" their husbands.

Wagon tours through tented city and around the site are a feature each day, along with bands, majorettes, machinery parade and a host of other activities.

The official opening Wednesday, October 10, will see the Honourable William A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, officiating with Floyd A. Lashley, the O.P.A.'s key man, Robert Campbell, president of the O.P.A., warden Henry Lantz of Grey assisting.

The warden's challenge match takes place in the afternoon and to date, nine county wardens have indicated they will compete against Mr Lantz who farmed for many years in Carrick Township in Bruce and more latterly at Neustadt in Grey.

Each day has many "specials" to highlight the program which include championship classes, safety demonstrations, historical exhibits, industrial equipment exhibits and events for women and music.

The award banquet, to be held on Friday night at the Owen Sound Arena, will be, in effect, the wind-up for many of the plowing contestants. An estimated 1,200 people will be the guests of the city council at the banquet.

Stores in the city will remain open in the evening until 9 p.m. and various organizations have planned variety shows and dances for each night to provide further entertainment for the visitors to Grey County.

An estimated 100,000 attended the International plowing match sponsored by Hastings County last year near Belleville and Elgin County had almost that number at St. Thomas in 1960. Truly a worthwhile event, people of both rural and urban centres should plan to attend the 1962 I.P.M. in Grey County near Owen Sound.

Knox Church groups meet at Crysler

Knox Presbyterian Church societies held their August meeting in the church, Crysler.

The W.M.S. president, Mrs D. Carruthers, opened the meeting with the Call to Worship. Responsive Scripture reading was led by Mrs Carruthers.

Mrs Carl McRae led in prayer. Roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture containing the word "Strength." Minutes were given by Mrs Wm. Ouderkirk. Mrs D. Carruthers and Mrs K. McGillivray read from the Missionary book.

Mrs Chas. Burd, Ladies' Aid president, presided for that Society's meeting. Responsive Scripture reading was led by Mrs C. Burd. Roll call and minutes were given by Mrs J. McCrimmon.

ABSENT-MINDEDNESS OF GENIUS

The absent-mindedness of great thinkers is a well-known phenomenon. When Morse had completed his wonderful telegraphic system he confessed to a difficulty which appeared to him almost insurmountable. "As long as poles can be used," he said to a friend one day, "it is easy. But what must be done when we come to a bridge? We cannot use poles there, and the wire would break of its own weight without some support."

"Well," replied the friend, "why not fix the wires to the bridge?" Morse looked at him thoughtfully for a moment, and then exclaimed: "I never thought of that. It's the very thing."

This instance of mental concentration on one leading idea to the exclusion of all others is almost as remarkable as that told of Sir Isaac Newton, who cut a hole in his study door to allow his favourite cat to come and go freely, and then cut a smaller one for the use of her kitten.

Dogs frequently kill humans—by running out unexpectedly into traffic. It is reported that seven people are killed or injured every day in Britain in road accidents in which dogs are involved. The Ontario Safety League points out that obvious need to train, or restrain, dogs in heavy traffic areas. Female dogs in season, if allowed to run free, are a special hazard as they are liable too be followed into the roadway by other dogs, oblivious to the traffic.

JUICY GOLDEN PEACHES

WITH THE APPEARANCE OF OUR OWN Ontario grown peaches at the grocery store you can be sure of a lot of good eating ahead.

Peach Pie with Criss-Cross Crust

Make a recipe of your favourite pastry and line a pie tin with it. Pile sliced sweetened peaches on unbaked crust. Top with ½-inch strips of pastry placed criss-cross ontop. Bake in 400 degree oven till juice boils up in the open spaces. Serve slightly warm with or without vanilla ice cream.

If you do not like a juicy pie add two tablespoons of flour to sugar and mix well before sweetening the peaches.

Some folks like to add a drop or two of almond flavouring to peaches. I like it with canned peaches but think the fresh ones have enough flavour without it.

Peach and Orange Marmalade

Red Haven peaches make the best marmalade I always think.

15 peaches
4 oranges
½ lemon
7 cups sugar

Wash oranges and lemons. Cut in quarters. Pour boiling water over peaches and let stand two or three minutes. Pour off hot water and cool in cold water. Remove skins; cut in half and remove pits. Put peaches, oranges and lemon through food chopper. Add sugar. Mix well. Boil 20 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Seal with hot paraffin.

Peach, Cherry and Orange Marmalade

6 lbs. peaches
6 lbs. white sugar
2 oranges
1 8-oz. jar red maraschino cherries

Peel and slice peaches. Wash oranges and cut in eighths. Put peaches and oranges through the food chopper. Add sugar and cherry juice to chopped fruit. Simmer from 1½ to 2 hours. Add quartered cherries. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal with paraffin when cool.

Peach Refrigerator Dessert

2 c. vanilla wafer crumbs
¼ c. melted butter
2 tbsps. orange juice
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. lemon rind
30 large marshmallows
1 c. finely cut peaches
2/3 c. chilled evaporated milk

Combine crumbs and butter; spread over sides and bottom of greased 8" square cake pan. Reserve ½ c. crumbs for top. Simmer fruit juices and rind in saucepan. Add quartered marshmallows. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Fold in peaches and whipped evaporated milk. Pour over crumbs in pan. Top with reserved crumbs. Chill 3 or 4 hours or overnight in refrigerator or cover and store in freezer.

Pavement markings help to protect motorists. The Ontario Safety League points out they would give far more protection, if all drivers observed them, all the time. Perhaps taxpayers would respect white lines more if they realized what they cost. It costs upwards of $400. a mile each year to keep a solid white line on the road.

IN MEMORIAM

SWERDFEGER—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Herminah Swerdfeger, who passed away August 22, 1960.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.

Sadly missed by daughter Edith, son-in-law Harold, and grandchildren Ronnie, Donnie and Susan.

IN MEMORIAM

FROATS—In fond and loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Mrs Elgin Froats, who passed away August 23, 1950.

Time speeds on, twelve years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
Her vacant place there none can fill;
Here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Basil, Shirley, Rick and Connie Barkley. 48-1

DIED

BARKLEY—In Winchester Memorial Hospital on Monday, August 20, 1962, Emerson Dalton Barkley, aged 39. The funeral will be held from his residence today, Thursday, August 23, to Dunbar Lutheran Church where service will be conducted at 2.30 p.m. by the Rev Walter Ohrt. Interment will follow in Maple Ridge Cemetery.
