Chesterville Rotary Club meets Monday, hear speaker from Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board

After an enjoyable meal at the McCloskey Hotel a hearty singsong led by Keith Graham and accompanied by Norm Harris on the piano, the Chesterville Rotarians and guest Rotarian Gil Hobson from Kemptville, were prepared for an interesting program.

Norm Harris introduced the guest speaker, Bill Draper, born and educated in Toronto, Mr Draper was a fighter pilot in W. W. 2, and was honoured with the Distinguished Flying Cross for his services. After the war he returned to university, and graduated as an engineer. He worked in industry for fifteen years and resigned as president of his own company, to take on the job of director of the Safety Services of the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario. In his speech Mr Draper explained that the Workmen's Compensation Board was formed in 1915, and that it was a crown corporation and therefore the employees were not civil servants.

He made it clear that the money paid out to persons for injuries did not come from taxes; that the money was raised from its members, that is, all the businesses, industries, etc.

Mr Draper staggered the group by telling them that in 1969 the compensation cost in Ontario alone for all businesses and industries reached a total of $130,000,000. He said that for every dollar paid out in the form of compensation that it cost another $4.00 for the industry or business, in the form of lost downtime, equipment repairs, etc. This, then, amounts to a total cost of $650,000,000 in Ontario alone, one third of the national defence budget.

The number of questions asked the guest speaker showed the group's interest in this matter. Rotarian Doug Mitchell thanked the speaker.

The staggering costs of Workmen's Compensation was the subject of guest speaker Bill Draper at Rotary meeting. Study student opinion at Superintendent's meeting

On Thursday, February 12, secondary - school representatives and their principals met with local members of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education, and academic officials in Williamsburg, at a meeting called by Superintendent of Schools, M. N. Hutchison.

A fifth in a series which has studied student opinion, this meeting concerned itself with the implementation of changes suggested by students.

After greetings from H. D. Shaw, Director of Education, and Lorne Thompson, Trustee, three discussion groups were formed. Each group consisted of the principal and students from one of the secondary schools, a trustee and an academic official.

Students were able to put forward their views. Principals were able to consider them in the light of conditions at a particular school. Trustees were able to assess the suggestions against the general philosophy held by the board of education, while the academic officials dealt with the wider educational implications.

In summing up the session and thanking the participants, the area superintendent of schools referred to the wisdom of partipitory democracy in which all parts of an organization become involved in the decision-making process.

"I feel a great deal has been gained from these meetings," said Mr Hutchison. "The students now know that they have a voice and that we will listen to that voice. The principals are now even more aware of this valuable means of feedback which can lead to positive change. The trustees are justifiably proud, as the parents should be, that, first of all, we have in our schools young people of such high calibre who are sufficiently interested in their fellow students that they will expend much thought and energy in their efforts to bring about improvements, and secondly, that the climate of our school system is such as to encourage them to do so."

Convinced of their value, Mr Hutchison has invited the students to other meetings to be held later in the year.

Those taking part were:

Student representatives: Debi Gray and Larry Barkley, North Dundas District High School; Margaret Waddell and Stephen Young, Seaway DHS; Lois Flegg and Wayne Scott, Mountain District H. S.

Principals: H. Manchester and A. Graham, NDDHS; A Bray, Seaway District High School; G. Fowler, Mountain District High School.

Trustees: Lorne Thompson, Winchester Township; Douglas Barclay, Williamsburg Township; Lorne Mellan, Mountain and Matilda Township.

Academic Officials: H. D. Shaw, Director of Education; J. R. Coulthart, Assistant to Director of Education; M. O. Beauchemin, Superintendent Curriculum and Planning; M. N. Hutchison, Superintendent of Schools, Area 1.

Mr and Mrs Burnice Ouderkirk received congratulations of relatives and friends, February 15, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. An "at home" was held at the home of Mr and Mrs Eldon Ouderkirk in honour of the couple who were married February 17, 1920.—Record Staff Photo.

Roger Savard, Montreal Expos addresses father-son Scout banquet

Cnesterville Legion hall was well filled on Tuesday evening as the local Scouts - Cubs held their second annual Father-Son banquet.

Rev. E. Earle Eaton, master of ceremonies, said the table grace, proposed a toast to the Queen and introduced the head table guests.

Tom Rance, Group Committee chairman, also representing Chesterville Rotary Club the sponsoring body, presented plaques to scout Bary Sullivan and Cub Derek Van Delst. These boys exemplified the true nature of Scouting through their attendance and attitude.

J. Roger Savard, manager of Sales and Promotion, Montreal Expos, was guest speaker. Mr Savard stated "1969 was the greatest year for baseball in Canada." The backing by the Expo fans was the deciding factor. He related "Montreal Expos had outdrawn the Baltimore Orioles in attendance," "the Expos had their frist no-hitter, first triple-play and had lost twenty-one games in the ninth inning, in 1969." Among the regular patrons at the park were a fiddler and a spectator with a live duck. The day a man showed up with a goat, he was refused entry.

Mr Savard stated that the Expo Caravan may pass through this area this summer giving local fans the oportunity to meet the players personally.

A colour film on the highlights of the 1969 World Series, between New York Mets and Baltimore Orioles, was much enjoyed by the group.

Tom Rance extended thanks to Mr Savard, the Legion Ladies for catering and everyone who had helped to make the evening most enjoyable.

With Norm Harris at the piano the singing of "O Canada" brought the evening to a close.

The noble game of hockey

The International Hockey Federation, which now has 58 member countries, including the Soviet Union, has announced a four-yearly World Cup competition starting in 1971. Though hockey is so widely played, perhaps less is known of its origins than of any other major sport.

Researching for a BBC overseas broadcast, Henry Swanzy discovered that hockey began to be played in modern form rather less than a hundred years ago. But some rather similar game was played nearly 3,000 years ago in Persia. From there it spread to Greece and Rome, and a carved relief on the Acropolis shows six young men clashing their bent sticks. Possibly from this game originated the one played by the Celts with bent sticks and a ball. And so, perhaps, across the English Channel to Britain.

Today hockey may well be played by more people in Britain than any other game, since it attracts both men and women. Yet all the players are amateurs, and it has never attracted the massed spectators of a soccer math. The picture is very different in the rest of the world, in Spain or Africa or Australia, and above all in the Indian sub-continent. There hockey was introduced by the British Army on the hard-baked mud surfaces of the parade grounds, and it spread like wildfire, to become the principal national game. For the past half-century, in fact, the Indians have dominated the tournament at the Olympic Games. But since 1960 the world champions have been from Pakistan rather than India, and they also were reared on the same hard surfaces and in the same tradition. In the last ten years, however, there has been a determined challenge to the Indian-Pakistani hegemony, above all from Holland and Germany, where hockey is treated seriously.

As hockey gets more organized and more popular one may hope that it may remain, as it has been for close on a century, the cleanest and most sporting of all field games.

Who saves trading stamps?

Shoppers in about eight out of ten U.S. households save them, according to a new nationwide survey by Benson and Benson Inc. of Princeton, New Jersey.

The latest survey showed no change in stamp popularity since the previous study in 1968, and very little change from the high level of savings over the last eight consecutive years.

The key finding of the study shows stamps are saved in some 47,100,000 households in the U.S., or 78 per cent of the estimated 60,400,000 households.

The poll was the thirteenth made annually to sample stamp popularity. The research was done in behalf of The Sperry and Hutchinson Company, which offers the S&H Green Stamp service nationwide.

The study also showed women slightly outnumber male savers. Of the ladies interview, 76 per cent, representing 51,680,000 of the nation's 68,000,000 women, reported they personally participate in saving stamps to redeem. About 74 per cent of the men inviewed either save themselves, or contribute to someone else in the household who saves.

The study showed trading stamps continue on a high plane of popularity in every section of the country, as well as among people in all age brackets. The highest proportion of savers was found in the 45-64 year age group of married adults. The lowest ranking group was single adults. Still, 68 per cent of this group said they save.

Income makes little difference in attitudes toward stamp saving. About 82 per cent of both middle and upper income families save, covering incomes of $7,000 per year and up. People in all walks o f life save stamps, the study showed. Seven out of ten families save stamps, and among labour union members, 81 per cent save.

Among families where the head of the household was at the professional or managerial level, about four out of five save. The same proportions held where occupations were sales, or clerical, skilled or semi-skilled.

Most consumers reported they appreciate the extra value of trading stamps. About six out of ten households said they like and want stamps. They continue to take a dim view of government interference with their right to save stamps. Only eight per cent of U.S. households favour governmental action to eliminate stamps. This percentage has remained almost constant since the first study was made by Benson and Benson in 1957.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I never read your column but I stumbled avross it accidentally yesterday. You certainly have a nerve claiming credit for saying, "The only way to have a friend is to be one." That motto did not originate with you. The credit belongs to Ralph Waldo Emerson. It appears in his Essays on Friendship.

I'll bet this is one letter you won't print.—Florida.

Dear Florida: I hope you honour me again today by accidentally stumbling across my column. The subject matter might be of interest. Please read the following letter.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I've known for some time that you think you are God, but I didn't realize your identity problem was so severe that you would claim the Lord's word as your own. I refer to His counsel on friendship as it appears in the St. James version of the Bible. It is as follows: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: Nothing is lower than a person who steals ideas. You did not originate the line, "The way to have a friend is to be one." I heard Edgar Guest say those very words from a platform in Detroit at least forty years ago. I can't remember whether it was from a poem or if h e made the statement in a lecture. Anyway, I wrote the phrase down because it struck me as worth remembering. You owe your readers an apology.—Big Rapids, Michigan.

Dear Big Rap.: Thanks for your letter. Please read the next one.

Dear Ann Landers: In the past you've been big enough to admit it when you are wrong. I hope you will do so again. You claim to have have made up the phrase, "The way to have a friend is to be one." Robert Louis Stevenson wrote those words. Here's the complete sentence: "To have a friend is to be one; not just once in a while, or when it's conventient, but year in and year out."

I hope I see this in the paper. —Mr X.

Dear Mr: I hope so, too. And here's more.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I thought you were too young to remember Andy Gump — the comic strip by Sidney Smith — but I was wrong. You do remember and you swiped from it. A character in the strip named Widow Zander used to give some pretty good advice. One of the things she said often was, "If you want to have a friend, be a friend."

What you lack in writing ability, old girl, you make up for in memory. Congratulations. — Mexico City News.

Dear Mexico: Muchas gracias and buenas noches.

Loneliness is all too often a part of life's routine to a crippled child. To help treat and rehabilitate these youngsters, the Ontario Society for Crippled Children this year is seeking $1,600,000 through its Easter Seal campaign which runs February 26 to March 29.

ODORS DETECTED BY NOSE WATCH

A huge chemical plant at the northeastern outskirts of Edmonton has developed a feminine "nose watch" to detect odorous fumes from its plant.

And the "nose watch" reports that the last year has been a good one in that odors haven't amounted to much.

The "nose watch" is a committee of Chemcell Ltd. employees' wives who live in various areas of the city. When a complaint is received, the wife nearest the originating point is telephoned and told to take a fast sniff and report back to the company.

"They do a pretty good job of spotting Chemcell odors," says Bill Flook who is in charge of the program. "They tend to be very critical."

MACHINE RUNS ON ANIMAL BYPRODUCTS

Livestock producers may some day be providing fuel for an engine which runs on salt and water and material made from tendons of animals.

Dr M. Sussman is experimenting with his machine using a long strand of fibre-collagen which spirals around cylinders to produce electric power. Sussman is a Tufts University scientist.

BALLOONS GOOD TARGETS

Balloons — the 10-cent variety — are adding realism and a marked improvement in shooting accuracy to the training of infantrymen in the Canadian forces.

Training officers, adopting a method used by the German army before the Second World War, are using balloons shaped like men to simulate attacks on infantry units.

The balloons are attached to sleds drawn by bullet-proof army vehicles as they race across training areas toward the infantrymen deployed in defensive formations.

One training officer said the method was used last summer to train groups of militiamen and improved their shooting accuracy to 450 from 250 yards.

The officer said the men trained with balloons were asked to indicate their reactions in a questionnaire and results were highly favourable.

Form committee for water and sewage at Ingleside

The Ingleside Citizen's Association has been successful in its application to Osnabruck Township council to have a committee established to consider matters connected with water and sewage.

Council appointed reeve James Zeran and councillor Gordon Ross as its representatives on the new committee. Michael Fitch, Thorold Lane and Summers Elliott will represent the village. This is looking forward to regional government.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of the president, Mike Rowden, heard a challenge to its local purpose in life in the form of a report from the committee interested in young people. There are 415 of these people in the community and it is part of the ICA's planning to provide guidance and assistance for year-round activities of interest to them.

The membership committee, which is under the direction of Robert Bedingfield, reported that a week's drive for members has resulted in 84 of the 216 households being signed up for membership. The Association plans to continue to increase its representation.

Bert McQuaig was nominated and accepted as chairman of the ways and means committee with the task of raising $3,000 so the Association will have funds to carry out its program and reach its objectives.

The February meeting was in the Anglican Church hall, and the intention is to have three meetings a year in each of the four church halls. The Association plans to mix business with pleasure at future meetings, as plans call for a period of entertainment in connection with each meeting, either local talent —music singing, or other — or movies and slides.

The Association hopes to have the famous Ontario film, "A Place to Stand," to show at the next meeting.

Play-offs two weeks away-

Three teams vie for top positions

by John Cameron

With the advent of play-offs starting in less than two weeks in the North Stormont - Long Sault Junior Hockey League, all teams are striving for wins. Three teams are in contention for first spot and it appears no one is assured of winning the Regular Season Trophy. At the opposite end of the ladder, Berwick and Avonmore are fighting for survival from being eliminated as the last team. The top eight will play an elimination playoff with the winners of 1 and 5 going against the winners of 3 and 7 and 2 and 6 against 4 and 8. The two ultimate winners will play for the League Playoff Trophy.

Last week, on Wednesday night, Crysler hammered Long Sault 8 to 2. Germain Lafleche was the big gun of the game as he picked up four goals. Following close behind was Daniel Brisson with a hat trick which helped move him into the lead for the Scoring Championship Trophy. J. Landry picked up the other single for the winners. For Long Sault is was Terry Bainbridge and Walter Baker with one goal each.

In the second game Glen Walter doubled up on the Cardinal Pats as they downed them 4 - 2, in exhibition play.

The big upset of the week started when Osnabruck Centre was slow getting out of the starting gate on Friday night. At the first turn St. Regis was ahead by a length and as they passed the half they had increased it to two. Before they hit the 3-4 pole the Angels were eating dust as St. Regis had increased their lead to four lengths. The Braves who have always been noted to fade in the stretch on all their previous outings, surprised the bettors as they lost only one length to the favorites. They crossed under the wire ahead by three. Steve Arquette was the favorite jocky as he picked up two and alternating was Rudy Seymour and A Thompson with one each. For the Angels it was Roger Wells with a single.

The second game of the night saw the strong unit of the All Stars pick up a decisive victory over Avonmore, as they whipped them 8 to 2.

Berwick was content to be able to pick up a 3 to 3 tie when they played the crowd pleasing St. Regis Braves on Sunday afternoon. The point they received for this brought them out of the cellar and put them standing on the same rung of the ladder as Avonmore. The game between these two teams on Sunday, Feb. 22 should prove very interesting as it looks like this contest is going to decide who's going to hang them up for the rest of the year.

Albert Thompson led the St. Regis team with a two-goal performance. Rudy Seymour notched the other marker. Gerry Rushford, Bobby Grant and Leonard O'Donohue scored for Berwick.

The second game of the afternoon saw the Pats from Cardinal start to hit their stride as they whomped Long Sault 5 to 2 in exhibition play. The Pats play positional hockey, equal to the best in the local league and are pleasing to watch. Their downfall has been their lack of speed. Every game has seen this fault slowly being corrected.

Those people who stayed home Monday night to watch the Frazer - Ellis fight might better have come to the Long Sault arena. They would have witnessed not one but four bouts during the Newington - Cardinal game. The main attraction saw Beaudette paired against Milligan, and in living colour. This writer calls them the way they are and we go on record on this one and say it was a fight-filled game. Three players were ejected from the game by the whistle blowing of Dalton Ouderkirk and Linden Wells. Scoring for Cardinal it was Rob Milliken with two and Walt Smail and Jim Riddell with one each. Coming through for Newington it was Ricky Tait with a pair.

Before one of the larger crowds of the season Osnabruck Centre pulled themselves into sole possession of first place, as they downed Eamer's Corners 6 to 2. The end of the first period had both teams deadlocked 1 - 1 with goals by Brian Shorley and Roger Wells.

Brian McIntyre jumped the Angels into the lead at the beginning of the last period, only to have Gary Lalonde tie things up. The Centre then went on a rampage with four uncontested goals. Sharing the honours were Larry Ezard, Dale Swerdfeger, Danny Beaudette and John McCann

League Comments

Eamer's Corners will play Crysler in the second game this Friday night. This game had been scheduled for March 1.

Some of the rules and regulations regarding playoffs —

(a) The top eight teams will be in the playoffs

(b) Regular league winners and standings will be determined as follows:

(1) Highest points with two for a win, one for a tie and 0 for a loss.

(2) if points are tied then team with most wins.

(3) if still tied then a for-and-against average in goals.

(4) if still tied then we use only statistics which tied teams obtained when they played each other. Then follow the same procedure as in 1, 2, 3.

We have received cash remuneration from the Cornwall Royals Hockey Club for the players that went from our league into their organization. One half of the money goes to the team concerned and the other half goes into the league. We are well satisfied with our agreement and are pleased to say that both parties have lived up to their end of the bargain.

BLOOD DONOR CLINIC—

Further notice of the Dessert and Games Party in mid-March, under the direction of Mrs Summers, Mrs Byers and Mrs Duane Justus, will appear in the County Press. Illness prevented Mrs C. Robinson from continuing to work with Mr Stel and Mrs Lancaster in setting up the area Blood Donor Clinic and Mrs R. Summers will assist in her place. The former area, served by the hospital in this clinic has been enlarged to include Morrisburg and Iroquois. Former blood donors will be notified by card of the particulars of the clinic. A 25% increase, especially in the area of new donors, is needed and it is hoped that the enlarged area will provide some of this increase. Posters with specific instructions and particulars will be distributed through the district during the week of Feb. 8th. Seventeen - year - old donors have forms signed by parent or guardian.

A lovely quilt, made and donated by Mrs Percy Durant, was won by Mrs Keith Carkner.

An encouraging financial statement was presented by the treasurer, Mrs Summers and it was decided that the auxiliary be responsible, financially, for the needs of the clinic, as well as supplying volunteers to service it.

Miss Legris' report showed a very full, very busy month for the hospital, with 230 admissions and an overall occupancy of 98%; out patients' department serving 671 patients and the physiotherapy unit giving 694 treatments.

The president, Mrs Colin MacGregor, called attention to the advance notice of the Spring Conference for District no. 9 which will be held in St. Vincent's Hospital, Ottawa, in late April. This notice was tabled for full discussion at a later meeting.

Knitters are still urgently needed to supply baby things for the Display Cupboard. Free supplies may be obtained from Mrs R. Summers, Winchester.

At the close of the meeting Miss Legris presided over coffee and small cakes at the usual half-hour in the cafeteria.

IN MEMORIAM

WADE—In memory of my husband, Ralph Wade, who passed away February 16, 1965.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

Sadly missed by Wife and Family.
