MORE WINTER

Chesterville and district since Saturday evening has been in the grip of winter. Following a severe electric storm Saturday evening the weather turned quite cold and disagreeable, followed Tuesday night by a fall of about four inches of snow, which brought from their retirement many sleighs and cutters thought to have been stored away for the season. Up until the week end the conditions for making maple syrup had been almost ideal and were well taken advantage of throughout this section. With the recurrence of warm weather the season will about end as the buds of the trees in the bushes were far advanced before the cold spell. Syrup has been selling locally for $2.25 per gallon.

WINCHESTER GIRL'S HUSBAND ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

The news was received in Chesterville this week of the accidental death of Fred J. Grant of Medicine Hat, husband of Miss Maggie Suffel formerly a popular young lady of Winchester and sister of the late Charles Suffel. Mr. Grant was in the act of cleaning his gun which held a loaded shell when it exploded causing almost instant death. When the accident happened Mrs. Grant was attending a meeting of the Ladies Aid in the Fifth Avenue church of Medicine Hat. Besides the widow two children, Gerald and Helen, are left to mourn.

COCKBURN—BAKER

A very quiet event took place on Wednesday March 26th, at the Manse in Finch, when Miss Sadie Baker, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, was united in marriage to Mr. Cyril Cockburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cockburn of Crysler. The young couple intend farming near Newington. The best wishes of their many friends are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn for a long and prosperous life.

ALLEN ANNABLE

On Monday afternoon Mar. 31st, there passed away another of the pioneers of Winchester Township in the person of Mr. Allen Annable who resided with his sons Thomas and Wilbert in the Annable settlement. During all the winter months Mr. Annable, who was eighty four years of age, had been gradually failing so that the end was not unexpected. His wife predeceased him several years ago. The funeral service was held in the Winchester Methodist Church, Wednesday at 1.30 p. m., being conducted by his pastor Rev. J. A. Waddell.

ONTARIO PRIVATE BILLS COMMITTEE WRECKS UNION BILL

The private bills committee of the Ontario Legislature Tuesday decided by a vote of 36 to 26 to let individual congregations of the Presbyterian Methodist and Congregational churches settle the church union question for themselves. After three hours of debate the committee reversed its decision of last week and voted for revision of the union bill.

According to the decision the bill is to go back to the law clerks, by them to be redrafted so that it will not automatically force congregations into union and then allow them to vote themselves out, but so that it will simply allow congregations to vote themselves into the United Church which Parliament shall have incorporated. The vote of the congregations is to precede the congregation's identification with the union scheme, and congregations not voting shall simply remain in the church to which they belong. Whichever way a church votes, it is to take its property with it. The congregation is to be the unit.

This solution of the union controversy virtually leaves the three denominations intact and allows the unionists to go their way.

FAREWELL ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On Tuesday evening, March 25th, the members of the C.W.L. St. Mary's Parish, Chesterville, gathered in the Parish Hall to extend a farewell to one of its most active members, Miss Anna Kearns, who with her mother and sister, have gone to take up their residence in Ann Arbor, Michigan, where the Misses Agnes and Julia Kearns, nurses-in-training have purchased a beautiful home.

After the usual pleasant evening of games and music the following address was read.

"We, the members of the Catholic Women's League of St. Mary's Parish have assembled here this evening to extend to you, Miss Anna Kearns, upon the occasion of your departure from our midst, our most profound farewell. Perhaps there is no time in the many trying ordeals of life, when sorrow mingled with tears, are more manifest than when the tie of a lifelong intimate friendship is forced to be severed, not indeed by a feeling of animosity, but by the departure to another community to live, where new friends and new acquaintances must be made leaving those endeared people behind, where they must now pass into a happy memory. We beg to assure you Miss Kearns, that words cannot express our interior feeling of regret, that you and your much esteemed household is about to leave our good community. Were it not that the change owing to the lucrative employment in the profession of your devoted sisters, demand a removal of your home to them for obvious reasons, your departure from our midst would be received with disappointment and sorrow. Your career amongst us has been an admirable one. You were ever ready to help the poor and the needy. You as a staunch member of the League, your devoted confreres will ever respect and revere. Nothing was there ever wanting in your generous co-operation, to advance the noble work of charity and religion, self sacrifice for the uplifting of those in trouble was always your motto. The very mentioning of your name is one of praise. Your constant attendance at our meetings, your ever giving good example by your helping hand in all our activities in our efforts to do good., make us feel, one and all, that you have been always in our energetic society a good counsellor and friend. It is therefore, with boastful pride, do we say without hesitation, that what is our regretable loss is Ann Arbor's proportionate gain. Before concluding, we hope that you will return if only for a brief visit, as your reception will always give the greatest pleasure. In testimony of our appreciation of what you have been to us, and of our regret that we must now say adieu, we beg of you to accept this gift as a slight token of our esteem. It is not given to you for its entrinsic value, but as a symbol, emblematic of those ideals which you have been instrumental in making by your example, the environment about your life character and enviable personality, which will ever be respected in our midst with cherished regard.

Signed on behalf of the League President Mrs. M. Thos. Allen, Secretary Mary Flynn.

WINCHESTER BOWLERS ORGANIZE

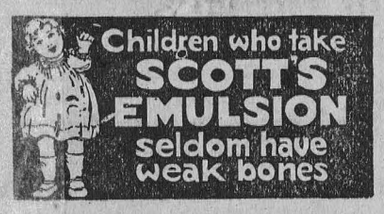
There was a well attended meeting of those interested in Lawn Bowling at the Council Chamber on Monday night, and matters pertaining to the welfare of the club were discussed. It was decided to repair the lawn as much as possible at the first opportunity. It was also decided to purchase a new mower, specially made for bowling lawns. Mr. J. Stewart was engaged as caretaker of the lawn for the season. The membership fee was fixed at $6.00 and $3.00 for ladies the ladies to be restricted to the use of one rink, and the whole green to be used for matches with outside teams. The following officers were elected by acclamation. President, Dr. Keown, 1st. Vice-Pres., J. H. Ross; 2nd. Vice-Pres. Dr. McKendry; Sec'y-Treas., Johnston Morrow; Grounds Com., Wm. Johnston, John Johnston, Wes. Patterson and Wm. Leslie. Reception and Social Com.—Dr. McKendry, H. B. Fetterly, Rev. Mr. Glassford, Albert Dixon and K. Helmer. Membership Com.—J. F. Gibson, H. Helmer and A. E. Goodfellow. Rules and Reg. Com.—Rev. Mr. Glassford, H. B. Fetterly, Wm. Leslie and K. Helmer.

It was decided that the vice skips of last season should be the skips for this season, and a schedule of games will be arranged later. The club starts out with very good prospects and the promise of a much larger membership than last year.

A resolution of sympathy was unanimously accepted to be sent to Mr. J. W. Ault, in his illness, and who has from its beginning been one of the most enthusiastic members of the Club.

FARMER TWICE VICTIM AS LIGHTNING STRIKES

For the second time within a year E. Storey, east of Omemee, has suffered through lightning. Last year his house was struck, and in Saturday's electrical storm his barn was struck and destroyed in the fire which resulted; a horse, a bull and a sheep perishing in the flames. In Saturday's storm, Mr. Storey's son was stunned and his clothing was burnt by the bolt that hit the barn.



COLLECTING THE TAX

Beaverton Express: The collection of the amusement tax, so far as it applies to rural amusements, is absurd; it does not produce anything in the end, revenue being eaten up by the expenses of the collectors, a concrete example of which came under our notice last week when two dapper young gentlemen dropped into Beaverton to look into the affairs of the local baseball team which had not come across with any tax during the season. They operated a nice automobile and, previous to leaving town for a week end stay at that charming and exclusive summer home, the Kirkfield Inn, they acquired the names of all the little village clubs in this section, for, was blandly stated, it was necessary to make their expenses. What luck they had in the effort we do not know, but this is an example of the irritating and useless forms of taxation which have come into use and which are practically of no value.

THE VARIATION IN BULK TEA

The quality of bulk tea is unreliable for several reasons. In the first place its origin and age is unknown to the housewife so that it does not carry any responsibility. In the second place, it is exposed to the air while offered for sale, and therefore very quickly loses its flavour and freshness. Even if it were as good as "SALADA" in the first place, it would rapidly deteriotate for this reason and in any case it would be impossible for any dealer to follow consistently the same quality throughout the year. "SALADA" always maintains an unvarying high standard possible through skilful blending and careful preservation in sealed aluminum packets.

EASIEST WAY

"The bootleggers are killing their own game," said Wm. J. Bryan, recently. "More than anyone else, the bootleggers are leading the country toward real Prohibition. This is partly due to the exhorbitant prices they charge, and partly on account of the virulent poisons they sell. The trend of the times is summed up in the case of the darkey woman, who had called in a doctor to attend her husband, who was down with the flu

"What's I gwine gib him?" asked the woman.

'Whiskey,' was the doctor's reply.

When the doctor had named the price per quart of good whiskey the wife remarked:

"I can bury him cheaper den dat."

20 WOLF PELTS BRING $1,200

In the last five weeks 20 wolf pelts have been brought into Crown lands agent MacLennan's office and the Government bounty claimed This makes 30 pelts delivered to the Sudbury office this winter and a total of $1,200 given in wolf bounties for this district. Mr. MacLennan states that this is more than twice the number of pelts brought in other years. Trappers and farmers state they never saw wolves so plentiful as this winter and think it would be a mistake to lower the bounty of $40 on a wolf pelt as is planned by the Ontario Government. Alex Laamanen a 16 year old boy at Nairn Centre trapped three wolves this winter.

CORNWALL MILLS CLOSE

The Canada and Dundas Mills, two of the three branches of the Canadian Cottons Limited, located in Cornwall, shut down completely Monday and will remain so for the next two weeks. The Stormont Mill, the third branch, will continue to operate four days a week, as has been done for some time back in all three mills. The cause of the shut-down is attributed to the fact that some 22,000,000 yards of colored cotton goods were brought into Canada from England and the United States during 1923, and that this quantity of goods would be sufficient to keep the Cornwall mills in operation for a period of two years. Between 500 and 600 hands are affected.

MOSTLY ALIENS

According to Deputy Coroner Pau. of Philadelphia, garbage is frequently used in the making of bootleg liquor. He says:—"The majority of illicit distillers are aliens of the lowest kind. They have been repeatedly caught, going from garbage can to garbage can along the residental streets, gathering the pieces of meat, potato peelings and other refuse, which they use in making their vile concoctions. In ne still confiscated by the police, recently, a dead cat was found."

TO FEED AND FINISH HOGS

"In the making of bacon it must be remembered that the right type of pig may be ruined by heavy feeding on barley, corn and other heating and fattening feeds just after weaning and before he is properly grown. Rations should be made up with the idea of promoting growth rather than finish. The best growing feeds are: middlings, shorts, finely ground oats, skimmilk, buttermilk, whey, tankage (alfalfa, red clover, green) rape and roots. The bacon hog must be grown first, then finished. Heavy feeds too early in life tend to round the rib, shorten the side and lay excess fat on the back and ham as well as make for a flabby jowl and a wasteful middle. Many well bred hogs of good type are spoiled by early pushing with the wrong kinds of feed. Middlings, oats, milk, whey, tankage, and the clovers are high in protein, and so build bone and muscle rather than fat. Exercise helps to build muscle also, and should be freely given to young pigs.

"Generally speaking, it is well to grow the pigs until they are four-and-one-half months to five months old and then finish them as quickly as possible by gradually adding barley in place of middlings, a good-finishing ration being composed of two-thirds barley and one-third finely ground oats. If skimmilk is not available, tankage up to 8 or 10 per cent. in the ration will prove profitable, particularly in winter feeding. The plan should be to grow the pig before he is finished. The all too prevalent idea that pigs make cheaper gains when around 200 lbs. is erroneous. Pigs, like all other animals, make most economical gains when young. It does not pay to hold them over the market weight, either in gains or in market price."

SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE AND HOW TO OBTAIN IT

Composed and read by one of the girls of the Berwick Women's Institute at their March meeting.

As all know life is more or less what we make it, important stress should be put on the manner in which life, not only the physical side, for most of us are aware that to maintain health, we must observe nature's law of moderation in all things.

We are told that man cannot live by bread alone, then surely woman whose work is more or less varied needs the outside, stimulus to put zest into life, more than man. Therefore the one great ingredient to put spice into a sunny life is a deep and satisfying joy into each day as we live it. Whether we are rich or poor, we are striving, clamoring, for something to make life more happy. So we can do a great deal by meeting little crosses we have with a smile and looking on the sunnyside. A. E. Fowler tells us that the inner side of every cloud is bright and shining, I therefore turn my clouds about, and always wear them inside out t o show the lining which will always be the sunny side.

If we are putting it off until some future time in hope of having happiness all in a bulk, we will never be happy. Unless we enjoy ourselves as we go along. We are going to wake up some morning and find that we are old; that we have allowed the best of our life to slip by, getting ready to be happy.

We will have to learn to get happiness out of small things, out of the success of our neighbor, out of the joy that shone from that widow's eyes with all her little children, when we took her a mess of fresh meat, or hauled her a load of wood. Few people are born with this spirit of happiness. Some acquire it by unremitting practise others live as I said before, looking for it, and life is drab and colorless for them. Strive each day to rejoice over something. Some people have trials and troubles which do not allow them to go out in society, but if they look from their kitchen window as they go about their work, they may find help there from a day of trials. It may be only the view from the distant hills, a beautiful grove or a babbling brook all of which speak peace to our troubled souls and tell of God's kindness to mankind. Every where the observant one can discern things to be glad about. It may be only a memory of a beautiful garden in which we have passed some happy hours with a loved friend, a song heard long ago which brought joy to us or the brilliant flash of the blue bird's wing when he arrives to be our summer guest. Whatever it is take it and rejoice in it and believe that God sent it for our special pleasure. Then we cultivate the habit of looking on the sunny side of life and we enjoy searching for beauty and gladness in the things about us, and the passing day will be full of joy, not only for ourselves but for others. Yes—and it is a good thing sometimes to spend a little money for happiness, even if we cannot afford it. Saving and skimping year in and year out tends to make as narrow. Even if we cannot afford to go to a show, or buy more books, or own a car, it is sometimes a good idea to invest anyway. The item purchased will help us look on the sunnyside through many a long day of weary toil afterward. Our thoughts are with us always and that is where we can learn to look on the sunny side so much; but we must have food for thought and that is where we benefit by reading a good book, attending a lecture, listening to music or even taking pleasure in a car ride. We want to keep our mind out of a rut and find things to make us look on the sunny side of life. After all, being happy, cheerful, and looking on the sunnyside of life is only a habit, just like finding fault and being pessimistic, the more we cultivate it the more happiness we will have. Therefore we must change our mind and insist with all our soul strength in having our share of happiness, then making our friends, homes and families share in looking on the sunny side of life.

Do you wish the world were better?
Let me tell you what todo.
Set a watch upon your actions;
Keep them alway straight and true.
Rid your mind of selfish motives,
Let your thoughts be clear and high
You can make a little Eden
Of the sphere you occupy.

Do you wish the world were wiser?
Well, suppose you make a start
By accumulating wisdom,
In the scrap book of your heart.
Do not waste one page in folly,
Live to learn and learn to live.
If you want to give men knowledge
You must get it ere you give.

Do you wish the world were happy?
Then remember day by day,
Just to scatter seeds of kindness
As you pass along the way,
For the pleasures of the many,
May be often traced to one
As the hand that plants the acorn,
Shelter armies from the sun.

A GORGEOUS FLOWER FOR SHADY SPOTS

(By the Ontario Horticultural Ass'n.)

The shady part of the garden that will not grow even decent grass can be made beautiful by the use of the tuberous begonia. So long as a bit of the ground can get either the early morning or late afternoon sun, or for an hour's duration during the middle of the day, a bed of tuberous begonias planted there will bring charming results. This plant does for the shady spot what the geranium does for the sunny location, but it does more because of the variety of colours secured and greater beauty of the foliage. The tuberous begonia cannot be used in an open location facing the sun during the hot part of the day because the leaves are apt to curl np and wither.

The tuberous begonia has been greatly developed in recent years. The best varieties produce flowers from four to six inches across and bloom from July until frost takes them off. They require rich soil. When the space is reached by roots of trees, they need plenty of moisture. If started in light soil in pots or flats set in a warm place at the first of April, they will be almost ready to bud by the first of June, but some growers prefer to plant the tubers in the soil early in May or as soon as the ground would be ready for potatoes.

The plants should be set 12 to 15 inches apart, about 2½ to 3 inches deep, with the hollow side of the tuber uppermost. Tuberous begonia plants as well as dormant tubers are frequently offered as premiums for membership in the Horticultural Societies. By this means the tuberous begonia has become well known in many parts of the Province that they might not otherwise have reached. The surface of the soil should be kept stirred during the summer and a dressing of bonemeal or other manure, preferably from the poultry yard, applied from time to time.

CIRCUS WEIGHT GUESSER WAS SPY FOR PICKPOCKETS

Circus life with P. T. Barnum was vividly described recently at the National Democratic club in New York by Robert Sherwood, introduced as the oldest clown in America."

"Ohio is said to be the land of presidents and crooks," said Mr. Sherwood, and after I gave up my hopes of becoming president I ran away from my home there in 1876, and joined Barnum's circus. The life under the big top in those days consisted mainly of devising means to get money away from the crowds. You will remember the high-wire exhibition announced by the barker to take place on the circus lot immediately after the parade. The idea was to get the people straining their necks to watch the performance while a few wary pickpockets removed their change.

"The weighing machine found its origin among the pickpocket element of Barnum's circus., The guesser ran his hands over the candidate. "I guess your weight to be, meant 'his money in his hip pocket.' I think his weight is' meant the trousers pocket, and I say your weight is, the inside coat pocket.

"If finally every means, failed to locate the pocketbook one of the gang mounted a soap box and said: 'Ladies and gentlemen, I have been informed that there are several pickpockets circulating in the crowd and in behalf of the circus I ask each one of you to keep his hand upon his pocketbook.' "

REGISTERED COCKERELS

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Canada is setting the pace for the whole world to follow in the system adopted to obtain registered cockerels.

The bred-to-lay cockerel that can transmit to his pullets the ability to produce a large number of eggs is what all keepers of utility poultry are after. It is recognized that the quickest way to increase the average egg yield of any flock is through the male, and this fact is commercialized by many breeders of so called bred-to-lay stock, who advertise high producing males that have not the breeding behind them, and are therefore unable to transmit this quality to their offspring.

Because of this fact dishonest breeders have foisted over rated stock upon the public, and one of the reasons why registered cockerels are wanted is to overcome this practice of selling inferior birds as good breeding stock.

At the present time it is possible for honest breeders to enter their pullets in the Laying Contests (of which there are twelve throughout the Dominion) and by having their birds qualify to produce cockerels that may be registered by the Canadian National Records.

The fact that a cockerel is registerer is a guarantee to the public that he has a certified pedigree behind him, of at least two generations of 200 (or more) egg blood, and that he is himself a bird typical of the breed and without standard disqualifications. Such a bird grown in our Canadian climate means the very best procurable in breeding for high egg production.

THE BOY AFRAID OF HIS DAD

Bill Jones, who goes to school with me
Is the sadest boy I ever see.
He's just so 'fraid he runs away
When all of us fellows want to play
An' says he dassent stay about
Coz if his father found it out
He'd wollop him. An' he can't go
With us to see a picture show
On Saturday, an' it's too bad,
But he's afraid to ask his dad.

When he gets his report card, he
Is just as sacred as sacred can be,
An' once I saw him when he cried
Becoz although he'd tried and tried
His best, the teacher didn't care
An 'only marked his spelling fair,
An' he told me there would be a fight
When his dad saw his card that night.
It seems to me it's awful bad
To be so frightened of your dad.

My dad ain't that way—I can go
An' tell him everything I know,
An' ask him things, and when he comes
Back home at night, he says we're chums,
An' we go out an' take a walk.
An' all the time he lets me talk.
I ain't scared to tell him what
I've done today, what I should not
When I get home I'm always glad
To stay around an' play with dad.

Bill Jones, he says he wishes he
Could have a father just like me,
But his dad hasn't time to play
And so he chases him away
An' scolds him when he makes a noise
An' licks him when he breaks his toys.
Sometimes Bill says he's got to lie
Or else get whipped, an' that is why
It seems to me it's awful bad
To be so frightened of your dad.

BOOST YOUR TOWN

(Contributed by Wos. Inst.)

Chesterville to your surprise no doubt, is one of the best known towns in Eastern Ontario, to all parts of the world.

For instance, since the first of the current year some one hundred and thirty eight cars of milk were handled by the transportation company in our town, and were practically all going to foreign countries, such as British West Indies, Jamaica, Germany, England, Ireland, France, Cuba China and Japan. Now each car represents at least one thousand cases with the words "Chesterville, Ontario, Canada" on each and every can and also on the case.

The products manufactured in our town reach every country in the world excepting Mars.

Some forty cars of live stock were shipped from this town during the same perid.

The revenue of business handled at our local station equalled any two stations on this division according to statistics for the year 1923.

The more shipments from our town means the more raw products that have to come in and the more labour required.

Chesterville is situated in the most extensive and thriving milk district of the world.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Beatrice daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks who passed away March 24th, 1924.

Beatrice has gone to heaven,
God called her up on high,
To be a shining angel.
Above the bright blue sky.

She will be happy up in heaven
Away from earthly snares,
We'll all miss little Beatrice
From her little vacant chair.

We never can forget her
She was so good and sweet,
But she was called to heaven
To sit at Jesus' feet.

We must not grieve about her
She is better off by far,
For she has entered through the Pearly Gates
That were waiting there ajar.

Now let us all take heed,
And live a life, that when
We're called away from this old world,
We'll meet little Beatrice once again.

By a Friend.

IN MEMORIAM

In kind and loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Campbell Thompson, who departed this life December 7th, 1923.

In my heart her memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That I do not think of you.
T'is sweet to know we'll meet again,
Where parting is no more,
And that the one I loved so dear,
Has just gone on before.
Can I forget dear mother?
My heart was in her set
I'll not forget my mother,
O how can I forget.

Daughter, Mrs. George Alguire.

IN MEMORIAM

Thompson—In kind and loving memory of my dear father who passed away October 16th., 1918.

Years have passed my heart still sore,
As time flies on I miss you more.
Your tender smile your loving face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Daughter, Mrs. George Alguire.

MAGISTRATE FINDS FARMER NOT GUILTY OF O. T. A. BREACH

A peculiar case was partially heard by Police Magistrate Cline of Cornwall a few weeks ago, when a farmer named Antoine St. Onge, from near Glenroy, Glengarry, was charged with selling liquor, rumors having reached the officers that he was engaged in that business, and Officers Frank Wetherill and Alfred Seguin, who visited his home, took a sample of the stuff and sent it toToronto for analysis. The report received tested 14.35 per cent proof spirits, hence the action.

It was brought out in evidence that Mr. St. Onge, like many other farmers who have no silos and some who have , use what is called feed molasses to sprinkle on straw and marsh hay, which they feed to their cattle to save the better quality. The molasses is thick and black and is thinned and made to run easily from an ordinary garden sprinkler by adding hot water and going through a stirring process before being used.

Mr. St. Onge testified that he never knew it to ferment or develop any alcoholic content, nor did he ever detect it souring. He and other witnesses said that it was used quite extensively in their section and was brought in in carload lots by dealers. A couple of the witnesses said that they had heard that something resembling liquor could be made from it, the same as could be done with ensilage, but had never heard of Mr. St. Onge making or selling anything that could be construed as liquor. The molasses was made by the Cane Mola Co., of Montreal, and was extensively advertised in farm journals. As the case affected many farmers who might be using the mixture for feeding purposes, not knowing what results might follow, and being the first case of such a nature on record, the magistrate's decision if against the accused would have a far reaching effect so the case was adjourned several times, but was finally disposed of on Saturday.

As the officers were not able to secure any additional evidence against St. Onge and had not taken further samples of the mixture, Magistrate Cline dismissed the case. In doing so, he said, he had in mind that his judgment might be commented on in reference to the trade in this mixture, which was used largely for feeding stock, if he found defendant guilty other farmers might become suspicious and cease using it. There was no evidence that St. Onge was dealing in liquor, despite the fact that the officers had received letters accusing him of doing so. This was weeks ago and there had been no proven evidence of sale. "Often letters are sent to officers to put them on wild goose chase," said the magistrate, "and sometimes it is done for spite. and the letters in this case might have been for spite." J. G. Harkness, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the Crown; John A. Chisholm for accused.

GARDENERS REQUIRE PERMIT TO IMPORT STOCK

With the arrival of the seed and bulbs catalogues the amateur gardener begins to make his plans for the garden and grounds and to prepare a list of plants that he intends to buy. In order to avoid disappointment in securing the prompt delivery of shipments of plants from the United States or other countries, he is reminded of the regulations now in force whereby all importers of plants from any country are required to secure a permit to be presented to the Collector of Customs at the port where the shipment is cleared. Permits are required for the importation of trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings, greenhouse plants, roots, perennials, corms, bulbs, etc. Copies of the regulations and information regarding permits may be secured by writing to the Secretary, Destructive Insect and Pest Act Advisory Board. Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

FIVE YEARS' AGONY ENDED

When He Took "Fruit-a-tives" For Rheumatism

The Medicine Made From Fruit

There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-tives" is the long sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N.S. writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives" and took a box and got relief, so I took them for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since".

ESTIMATING A COW'S FUTURE

(Experimental Farms Note.)

It is the custom with some dairymen to use the production of the first, or two-year-old lactation period, as a basis for culling his herd. As a general rule this is a good policy to follow. A good heifer sufficiently matured to make a good record at her first calving is a desirable animal to use as a breeder in the herd Occasionally, however, a mistake is made in disposing of a heifer that does poorly during her first lactation. Whether the owner sells her to the butcher or to some unsuspecting neighbour, the fact reains that frequently he makes and disposes of a young animal which later develops into a fine mature cow. There are many instances on record of where young animals were sold at very ordinary prices which later developed into magnificient cows.

On the Agassiz Experimental Farm to date twenty-eight two-year-old heifers have made R.O.P. records. Five produced over 16,000 pounds of milk, seven produced between 14,000 and 16,000 pounds, while sixteen gave less than 14,000 pounds. All the heifers which produced over 14,000 pounds of milk are valuable animals; the cows that made the highest heifer record also yielded the largest mature production. Of the sixteen heifers which produced less than 14,000 pounds of milk, only two have completed mature records and each did exceptionally well. The cow which stood in thirteenth place amongst the two-year-olds came through as a mature cow with 24,567 pounds although as a heifer she gave only 13,956 pounds. Had she been culled from the herd because she produced less than 14,000 pounds as a heifer, the herd would have been minus a good cow and the purchaser would have annexed a valuable animal.

An interesting comparison is available between the production of two cows, which were of much the same breeding, reared together and generally handled in the same manner. The first as a two-year-old produced 12,707 pounds of milk which was 450 pounds more than number two. As a four-year-old the first only increased her production slightly while two years later the second cow produced 21,071 pounds of milk. The latter is a good example of a cow with only a fair heifer record, making over 21,000 pounds of a mature cow. There are at least two other cows in the herd each of which gave less than 10,000 pounds as heifers and have not been tested since, but are capable of producing over 20,000 pounds.

Where a breeder has a large herd and desires to retain only the choicest animals, the first lactation records are a suitable basis for determining the value of the mature cow, but where a breeder is endeavouring to increase the size of his herd economically, he cannot afford to be too hasty in disposing of females until they are given another chance. Some cows mature earlier than others and although the earlier maturing ones are probably the more desirable, many others prove to be valuable in any herd.

Foolish Question

Counsel—Now, where did he kiss you?

Plaintiff—On the lips, sir.

Counsel—No! No! You don't understand. I mean where were you?

Plaintiff (blushing)—In his arms sir.

RIIGHT HERE AND NOW

Just How and When to Start Things

The place to take hold is here.

Right here.

And the time to begin is now.

Right now.

If you don't know how to go at it right, go at it wrong, but go at it.

All the worth-while things of this life are difficult. Nothing's easy but slumping.

Most of the problems that affect your happiness are complicated.

And the way to perform a difficult and complicated task is to go to it—somehow.

For you learn by trying.

Life is an art, not a science. It is mastered by experiment and patience and infinite beginnings again. Nobody in the world can learn just what to do before he does it; I mean in the way of living and getting along.

If you have to see a man and dread the interview, because he is an impossible fellow and will make things as hard for you as he can, go right away and get it over with.

If your desk is cluttered with a dozen half-finished matters, clean it up now. Decide. Act.

If you owe money, pay it. If you cannot pay it make the best arrangements you can with your creditor now. Don't evade and equivocate.

If you have a bad habit that is throttling you, take hold now. You must conquer it sometime, and every day you delay your fight your enemy grows stronger.

If you want to save money and get a little ahead, put a portion of what you have now in the savings bank. Nothing is finished that was never begun.

If you want to be charitable and help your fellowman, give of what you now possess. If you are not helpful with a dollar only in your pocket you would not be if you had a million.

If you have a lesson to learn at school and it looks formidable and you don't see how you can possibly master it by tomorrow's class, go at it, learn a little of it now, get what you can out of it, only don't wait for some miracle to happen.

Don't dawdle.

BONDS
Are Mortgages on Fixed Assets

When a township issues debentures (or bonds) it gives a mortgage on the whole township for security to the buyers of the bonds for the loan of their money for a definite uumber of years at a satisfactory rate of interest.

If the amount required is large it is divided into small mortgages, (that is, bonds or debentures) of $500 or $1,000 each, with the same security behind each, so that investors with small sums may take advantage it.

Bonds or debentures are rated the safest kind of an investment.

IS ANTHRACITE A LUXURY?

Youth's Companion— Perhaps one reason why those who burn anthracite coal have found it so hard to check the constantly-rising price of it that premises on which they base their plea for consideration are not accepted by the dealers. People who live in the northeastern states and who have always used anthracite believe that it is a necessary of life. They know well enough that in other parts of the country people burn other fuels,, most of which are open to objections that do not apply to anthracite; but they themselves regard anthracite as the only satisfactory domestic fuel and resent the continual advance in the price of it. During the great coal strike of 1902 the government shared their understanding of the matter. President Roosevelt intervened to bring the strike to an end on the explicit ground that hard coal was a necessary, and that the anthracite industry was in the nuture of a public utility.

The men who have anthracite to sell, or at any rate some of them, do not agree. We learn from an article written by one of them for a mercantile journal that they regard their product, not as a necessary, but as a luxury. The supply is admittedly limited; no one has to use it, though it has certain advantages for which the user should be willing to pay. The business is a private enterprise out of which those who are engaged in it are entitled to make whatever the law of supply and demand will permit.

That view has some justification; for we all know that hard coal is extensively used only in certain parts of the country, and that many people who were long used to it have lately turned to substitutes, some of which they find in almost every way preferable to anthracite, and so are quite as likely to become luxuries for the well-to-do. Moreover, the prices of the cheaper fuels are largely determined by the price of anthracite. No matter what it costs to produce them, they tend to sell just a few dollars below the price of anthracite. As that goes up they too go up.

It is hard to avoid the conclusion that fuel is a necessary, and that the industry of producing it is so far affected with a public interest that the government cannot supinely permit a deliberate attempt to check the consumer; and, although there are different kinds of fuel, they are all subject to the same general conditions of supply, demand and price. It is impossible to make distinctions so long as the price of the "luxury" fuel determines that of the cheaper sorts. It is all a most perplexing question, and it will not be answered until the industry of supplying fuel is so organized by those who are engaged in it, perhaps under a reasonable amount of government supervision, that the public will feel that it is being fairly treated.

Superfluous.

"Brother Johnson," said the deacon, "cain't you-all donate some small contribution to de fund for fencing in the culud cemetery?"

"I dunno as I kin, parson," replied Brother Johnson. "I don't see no use in a fence round no cemetery. You see, them what's in there can't get out, and them what's out sho' doan' wanta git in."

Among the most interesting pencils made is one used only by surgeons. For marking out lines or divisions on the surface of a patient's body before performing an operation, the use of a pencil is sometimes necessary, and as the ordinary pencil is useless, a special one is made which marks the skin as clearly as an ordinary lead pencil will mark a sheet of paper.

WHY JOIN A MOTOR CLUB

Why should motorists join motoring organizations? Clifford Sloan writing recently in "Motor" endeavors to analyze the question, which often occurs to car owners. Many believe in motor clubs as a matter of general principle, but few, he points out, take the time to consider the value of organization, and even less is the number of non-members who appreciate the fact that many of the motoring benefits they enjoy are being paid for by other motorists.

His story is a gruelling brief on the subject, and almost throughout it is couched in the form of a question. Excerpts from it, which follow, present an unusually forceful answer to the question.

When you are touring, and friend wife, who has been serving as Blue-Book pilot, tells you that the next thing to do is to turn sharp left at a pump, pass a stone church and then follow some trolley tracks, it sounds clear enough doesn't it? So, with full faith in both friend wife and the Blue-Book you wait for that pump and the left hand turn and the trolley tracks. Then, after about six miles, when it should have been only one, and you come to fork in the road and there is no pump, no left hand turn and no trolley tracks, and you find upon investigation that friend wife has been following route forty-one when she should have been on fourty-four, it is with a keen sense of satisfaction that you discover a road sign that tells you which road to take, isn't it?

Or, when you learn that a bill before the legislature which, if passed, would make motoring more expensive for you, has been killed you are deeply thankful, aren't you? You should be.

Or, that some local motor-cycle cops that work on a fifty-fifty basis with the town, and who have been fleecing motorists, have been made to rebate a couple of thousands of dollars and then have been fired, you are mighty glad, aren't you?

But, at the fork of the road did you stop to consider that the sign that saved you from a whole lot of annoyance was erected by an automobile club? That the bill that would have increased your motoring cost was killed by an automobile club? And that the fee-working cops were fired because of an investigation conducted by an automobile club?

No, of course you do not stop to consider these things. You are glad that someone put up the road sign. You feel grateful that someone has sense enough to kill the bill. You are delighted that someone has exposed the cops. But you fail to take into consideration that the someone has been an automobile club. Moreover, you fail to give thought to the fact that this service rendered you has been done at the expense of others; that is, if you are not a member of your local club. Not a comfortable feeling when you come to thing of it, is it? And you have never thought of the club in your town or city in just that light, have you? That is, as an organization that is working every minute of the time to make motoring safer and better for you; working every minute of the time in your interest. You have, perhaps, always regarded the club as a flock of fellows who got together once in a while and did a lot of visiting and carried club emblems on their radiator and talked about bore and stroke and carburetors and piston displacement. You have never felt any particular interest in these things and so you have never felt that you should join. You have never considered the club as an organization working for you, have you?

Well, that is just exactly what it is—an organization working for you. And to the degree that you and hundreds like you in your town or city belong to it and support it, can it accomplish good big results for you. To put up road signs and fight bills and fire grafting cops takes money. Your local club would like to do a lot of things for you that it cannot do right now because it cannot afford them. In other words it would like to serve you in a big way, but you won't let it because you won't or rather have not joined.

This good work is only possible because of large membership. To the degree that motorists join automobile clubs and support them can the clubs do good work, for it takes money to put up signs, to fight unjust legislation and to fire grafting motor cops.

Two months ago I was from the centre of Missouri on this question of automobile clubs. I did not belong to one. Then I went out to find out what clubs are doing; to find out why I as a motorist should belong to one. Today I do belong to one. And I consider such membership as necessary as to carry insurance. The emblem of my club is on my radiator.

Go thou, brother motorist, and do likewise.

SUCCESS WHERE YOU ARE

The sweetest grass is on the other side of the fence; the prettiest girls are over in the other village or town; the best farm land is in some other country; the only chance the farm boy has is to go to the city, and the only hope for the city man to get ahead is on the farm. Where is the best country in the world? Where are opportunities to get ahead the greatest? Where are conditions just right for successful farming and happy living? Where should the young man go in order to make the greatest success? The answer is easy and quickly told; he shouldn't go at all. The best opportunities and the best people in the world are right at home. The best section of the country is the one where you reside at this moment. It has taken you half a life-time to make your friends and establish your reputation for honest dealing. Your neighbors are the ones you grew up with and one old friend and neighbor is worth a multitude of strangers. The loneliest place in the world is in a crowd where you are unknown. Heart-breaking loneliness abides in the great city, and never in the country. The best land is in the land you are familiar with. Eastern methods will surely fail in the West; Northern methods will surely fail in the South and vice versa. Opportunities are all around you; success awaits you right at home and not at the end of the rainbow.

Slow-worm or Gloworm?

Cuthbert had been listening for half an hour to a lecture from his father on the evils of late nights, and late risings in the morning.

"You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember, it's the early bird that catches the worm."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he get for turning out so early?"

"My son," replied the father, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home."

WILL GO OVER FALLS IN BIG RUBBER BALL

Bobby Leach, who went over the Horseshoe falls in a steel barrel on July 25th, 1911, announced that he is negotiating with a rubber company for the manufacture of a rubber ball, in which he plans to make a trip over the falls early in June. Prior to the trip, Leach says, he will make three parachute leaps from the upper steel arch bridge on successive Sundays.

The ball will be of the thickness of an ordinary large automobile tire, and will have a hammock inside, in which he will recline, Leach said. He plans plans to have the ball with himself as passenger placed in the water a few hundred feet above the falls on the Canadian side as he believes that the ball will clear the great plunge of water, and will land safely in the river below.

Leach has attracted attention by daring feats about the falls for several years. In addition to going over the falls in a barrel, he made a parachute leap from the upper bridge on April 21, 1921, and went through the lower rapids and whirlpool in a barrel on June 28, 1911.

Remarkable Record

The Continental Red Seal Motor in this car, after the hardest tests in livery and business service, in some cases being driven over 10,000 miles, on all kinds of roads and weather conditions, has proved itself a Marvel of Efficiency and Durability.

Not a motor or set of spark plugs required cleaning, not a cylinder showed any signs of over-oiling or oil-pumping, and not a break of any kind in Motor, Transmission or Rear Axle, truly a Remarkable Record, proving without question the Superior Qualities and Durability of Durant cars.

We want you to ask the owners of Star Cars if they have had satisfaction with their cars.
