Briefly

Inaugural meeting for library board

FINCH – The SD&G County Library Board held its inaugural meeting Feb. 5. Chair of the board for 1998 is John Hope, and Frances Marin will serve as vice-chair. Other members are Jim Brownell, Archie Byers, Jane MacMillan, Cam Martel and Kent MacSweyn. The Library Board meets 10 times a year and is responsible for setting library policy for the 22 branches in SD&G. Its mission is to provide free and equitable access to services and collections which reflect the needs, interests and diverse heritage of the communities within the counties. For more information about the SD&G County Library, call (613) 984-0400 or (613) 936-8777.

Exhibit talk

CHESTERVILLE – Those with an interest in preserving the past can attend a special presentation at the Chesterville Heritage Centre next Monday. Museum technologist Don Currell will give a talk on exhibit development and research starting at 8 p.m. The Heritage Centre is on Victoria Street across from the former municipal hall. All are welcome.

Charges laid

CORNWALL – A 28-year-old Cornwall man has been charged with possession of stolen property and possession of a narcotic following an arrest in the city Friday. Police recovered a guitar valued at $4,000 that had been stolen from a South Stormont home Feb. 6, and discovered a small quantity of cocaine on the man, who was also charged with uttering threats. He appeared in provincial court Monday.

B&Es down

SMITHS FALLS – OPP credit a proactive approach by their Crime Unit for a decrease in break-and-enters in eastern Ontario in 1997 over the previous year. Police said the number declined from 5,067 in 1996 to 4,172 last year, a drop of 20 per cent. The Crime Unit stepped up its approach to targeting active suspects and patrols in high-crime areas, especially those off major highways. Studies show the average break-in results in $2,400 in losses to a homeowner, meaning a cost of $10 million to insurance companies and homeowners every year in eastern Ontario. Police hope to reduce the number by a further 10 per cent this year, and call on residents to keep their eyes and ears open in their neighborhoods.

Chainsaws taken

MOOSE CREEK – A Moose Creek business was broken into early Monday, and seven chainsaws were stolen. OPP said entry to the business was gained through a side window and stolen were a Jonsered electric chainsaw and six Jonsered gas chainsaws with a total value of $2,679. Const. I. Lalonde is investigating.

Snowmobile thefts

NORTH DUNDAS – OPP are investigating the thefts of two snowmobiles last week in the Township of North Dundas. A 1994 Bombardier Mach II machine was stolen from the yard of a Crump Road residence Feb. 11, and a 1997 Bombardier Formula 583 machine was stolen from the yard of a Main Street residence in Winchester Feb. 14. Neither has been recovered, and police are still investigating.

WDMH optimistic as budget time approaches

Rich Thorpe
Record Staff

WINCHESTER — Winchester District Memorial Hospital is positioning itself for the future.

On Monday night Hospital CEO Joseline Sikorski announced the proposed budget for 1998 has received approval from the hospital board.

The hospital plans to be very pro-active in accomodating several points addressed by the community in the strategic plan which was devised by the hospital board and formed the basis of the submission to the province's Health Services Restructuring Commission.

"The budget is pro-active in positioning the hospital within the Rural and Northern Hospital framework," she said. "We are re-prioritizing where we spend our dollars. We will be reducing the number of acute care beds and using the dollars to provide more operating room and clinic time and more specialized care."

The Ministry of Health provides the majority of funding for the WDMH's $12 million annual budget. Other revenues are generated through parking fees, the operation of cafeteria services and the money recovered from the differential for services covered by insurance plans.

"Unless something very drastic happens this budget will take effect on April 1," she said.

Sikorski identified some of the major priorities highlighted as needs by the community in the strategic plan. Included for possible service expansion at WDMH are a satellite chemotherapy clinic, urology, orthopedics and ophthalmology services.

A key component of the plan is to provide more ambulatory care programs and increased operating room time for surgeons.

Training talk: Twenty young people, half of them from the Chesterville area, have been hired on six-month contracts for ice storm restoration work in eastern Ontario. The federally-funded jobs are from Youth Service Canada and organized by New Beginnings for Youth, a Nepean-based charitable organization. In the photo, New Beginnings executive director Rob Tripp, right, gives a pep talk to some of the workers on the first day of training Tuesday in Chesterville.

Training underway for ice storm crew

Group will be unleashed on sugarbushes next week

CHESTERVILLE – A new squad of 20 ice storm cleanup workers began their training at the Chesterville Fire Hall Tuesday, and will be unleashed next week across eastern Ontario to help sugarbush owners and farmers recover from the damage of last month's storm.

The 20 young workers, 18 men and three women, are the second wave of restoration crews funded by the federal government and sponsored by New Beginnings for Youth, a charitable organization that is sponsoring the program. The second crew complements an Ottawa-area team of 40 that is now in its third week of storm cleanup.

The 20 Cornwall-area workers were chosen from among 56 young men and women between the ages of 18 and 29 who applied last week in Cornwall and in Chesterville, where 20 resumes were handed in. And about half the successful candidates are from the Chesterville area.

Interviews were conducted Monday, and training began Tuesday morning at the Chesterville Fire Hall.

Program co-ordinator Margaret Macdonald said Monday the first stages of training will include a briefing on the aspects of the work involved, followed by team building, workplace health and safety, first aid and CPR. Four of the 20 will receive chainsaw certification.

Once training is complete, the crew will be sent to worksites in eastern Ontario, as selected by New Beginnings headquarters in Ottawa. Sugarbushes are at the top of the list, followed by farms.

The workers are hired on a six-month contract, and they will each receive a $200 flat stipend for an average 35-hour work week. If they complete the contract, they will receive a $500 bonus, plus an additional $1,500 if they have an existing student loan, if they are returning to school, starting their own business or going to a job that is at least 30 hours a week.

The program is funded by Youth Service Canada, a branch of the federal Human Resources Development Canada. New Beginnings orchestrates the program and finds private sector help to cover such costs as transportation and equipment.

Macdonald, who is from the Chesterville area, said she is pleased there is a strong rural flavor to the squad. "It's the rural area that's most in need of the help, so I think it's very appropriate that a good number of the youth actually come from the rural area."

She said New Beginnings for Youth might try to find a large worksite between Chesterville and Ottawa where the two crews could work together for a short time to help the newly-hired workers learn the ropes.

Rob Tripp, executive director of New Beginnings for Youth, gave the 20 workers a pep talk Tuesday afternoon as part of their training, briefing them on the dynamics of the job that lies ahead.

He later said he was amazed with what he has seen from the group, even though its members had just been selected the day before.

Tripp said while they seemed anxious, he has already seen how they are working together, which is the first step in working together as a team at the job site.

Township will put its generators on auction block

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

WINCHESTER – When the ice storm crisis was at its peak, generators were a hot commodity in North Dundas, with units shipped to the township from across the province and some U.S. states. But since the lights came back on, the township has wondered what to do with the scores of generators now sitting in storage.

Council decided Monday night to put the generators on the auction block, borrowing an idea that proved successful in Russell Township earlier this month. The North Dundas generator auction has been tentatively set for Saturday, Feb. 28, with viewing in the morning and the bids flying in the afternoon. The auction will take place at the MTO yard at the intersection of county roads 31 and 43.

North Dundas purchased 107 generators during the state of emergency, at a total cost of around $300,000. Since the lights came back on, council has discussed a number of possibilities for their disposal, trying to find a way that was both effective and fair.

During discussion Monday night, Mayor Claude Cousineau noted a generator auction held in Russell Township attracted 458 registered bidders, and the township recouped 72 per cent of what it had paid for the units, which he said was a good deal. North Dundas council quickly agreed an auction was the best option.

Disaster relief process still taking shape

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

KEMPTVILLE – Disaster relief officials for eastern Ontario hope to finalize a proposal for storm coverage by the end of today (Feb. 18), completing a necessary step in designing official claim forms for victims and turning the results of fundraising back to those who need it.

Members of the Eastern Ontario Disaster Relief Umbrella Committee, which is made up of eight county-level committees in the region, are still trying to hammer out an agreement on how disaster relief funds should be made available to those with claims.

EODRUC chairman Andy Brown said Tuesday there are two schools of thought amongst committee members, one that coverage should be provided as quickly as possible and another that a better picture of the damage should be obtained before funds start flowing.

Brown said a local decision would hopefully be made at a meeting in Kemptville and in the hands of the province by the end of the day, and approved within a week to 10 days. Preliminary damage estimate forms have been circulating since early this month. From those forms, the committee hopes to gain an idea of the amount of damage done and official claims that can be expected. Official claim forms will be drafted once the province has approved a local decision on how the process should proceed.

"We have to go cautiously. It would be nice if we could start writing cheques right now, but when you have to raise the money first, it's a little difficult."

– OEDRUC chairman Andy Brown

Brown estimated about 8,000 preliminary damage estimate forms have been filed by victims across eastern Ontario. They are still available at banks and municipal offices, and will be accepted into March.

The Umbrella Committee must also hire an adjuster, but Brown said official claim forms could be available in April. "We have to go cautiously. It would be nice to start writing cheques right now, but when you have to raise the money first, it makes it a little difficult," he said.

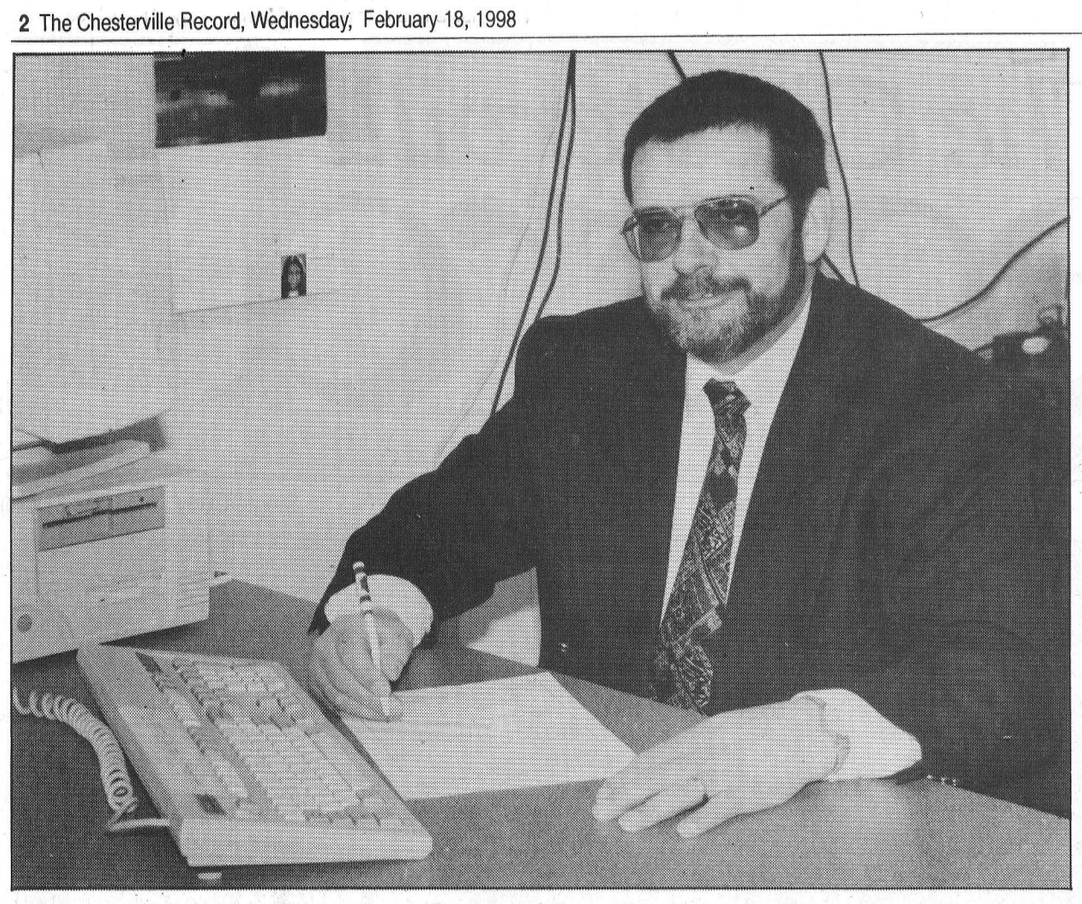
"To the victims, if it seems like we're going slow, we're not. I'm working seven days a week as a volunteer – and 100 per cent of the dollars we collect are going into the victims' pockets."

The immediate focus of the committee is still on fundraising. Brown said cheques are arriving daily from service clubs, businesses and corporations, all qualifying for additional provincial funding of four to one, turning a $100 donation into $500. A benefit at the Corel Centre in Kanata last weekend raised close to $6 million when provincial funds are factored in.

And Brown said a group in western Ontario, the Foundation for Rural Living, has raised $480,000 at last count. "They're complete strangers. They're other farmers that realize there's going to be a big problem."

Brown also noted Ontario is the only province that has disaster relief guidelines under which insurable losses that weren't insured can also be considered for relief funding with valid reason, such as expense.

In other EODRUC news, it was announced this week that retired Maj.–Gen. Lewis MacKenzie has joined the relief effort as honorary chairman of the fundraising campaign.



Tax man: The deadline for filing income taxes is approaching, and there's a new helping hand in Winchester. Ben Patey has opened a branch of his U&R Tax Depot across from the Bank of Montreal on Main Street. The business also has locations in Russell, Manotick and Osgoode.

Crew will soon tackle sugarbushes in eastern Ontario

Because they share a variety of backgrounds, it will no doubt be a rich experience for them, something they will learn from and never forget.

"In 15 years from now, people are still going to be talking about the ice storm of 1998. And this will give them a chance to say they made a difference."

The Ottawa-area crew actually spent its first week in this neck of the woods, at Sanders Maple Products near Finch. The team cleared debris, removed broken trees and rescued sap collector lines buried under snow and ice.

Owner Albert Sanders said last week while there's still plenty of work to do, the New Beginnings crew made a huge difference. "If it wasn't for them, I probably wouldn't be going at all this year." Sanders plans to open his doors on March 7; on a reduced production scale perhaps, but open nonetheless with the full slate of activities.

Briefly

Beware of home repair schemes

WINCHESTER – OPP are advising the public to use caution when approached by transient home repair workers offering their services in the wake of the ice storm. Police say dealing with workers "just in the area" or "passing through" may seem like a good deal, but problems can arise if follow up is required. Police advise the public to not be rushed into signing contracts and not to pay up front for work to be done. The warning follows a number of incidents in the summer of often unnecessary renovations offered at exorbitant prices.

Auction

But not all of the 107 North Dundas generators, of various sizes, will be put on the block. The township's four fire departments will scoop some of them up for their needs, and the roads department will also take one. But that will still leave about 100 for the auctioneer to dole out to the highest bidders.

Earlier suggestions that service clubs and other organizations that helped during the ice storm be placed at the front of the generator list were quashed, though. Cousineau noted it was public dollars that purchased the units, therefore the public should have equal opportunity to buy them.

Cousineau also told council the sweat was rolling off his nose when he was writing cheques as high as $45,000 to purchase generators when the crisis was in full swing. "But if it happened again, I would do the same thing."

WDMH

"We are taking our future into our own hands," she said. "If we are allowed to keep the dollars we can provide these services to the community. We are moving in a direction to provide more specialized services and clinical services that are characteristic of a solid B-1 or B-2 hospital."

In order to attract specialists and surgeons to WDMH, a concerted effort has to be undertaken to provide the necessary resources and equipment, Sikorski said.

"A lot of specialists need a lot of referrals to make the visit worthwhile," she said. "We believe we can do that where appropriate. We would like to be able to offer these services as close to home as possible."

Sikorski said she hoped the community would continue to provide financial support to WDMH.

"We will need the support of the community and service groups if we are going to be able to provide the necessary tools of the trade and the specialized equipment that ophthalmologists and orthopedic surgeons require.''

With the health care system in Ottawa undergoing a major restructuring, Sikorski alluded to the fact that there has been some interest from surgeons and specialists inquiring about the availability of operating room time.

"In Ontario right now the availability of operating room time is a magical gold standard for a hospital. If we re-priorize our objectives and have the resource available we will have an advantage. O-R time is a scarce resource for surgeons.''

Presently, WDMH has one operating room functioning for seven hours a day for five days a week.

Sikorski hopes to see that level of service increase dramatically.

"If we deploy the staff support and the clinic time and offer that gold standard we will be able to attract surgical specialists.''

"We are limited only by the capital dollars we can raise to purchase the equipment. Our major focus is to position ourselves to do that.''

The shift from acute care services will result in the net loss of some jobs, Sikorski said. Presently, the WDMH is working with unions to devise early-retirement and voluntary exit packages. In addition there is the possibility some personnel will be shifted into other areas of the hospital where their skills can be utilized.

The WDMH is hoping to obtain funding from the Ministry of Health for its restructuring initiative and for a refurbishing of the hospital, which was built in 1948.

"In our proposal we highlighted the need for dollars for a facelift. We have definite space requirements for the ambulatory care programs, for day surgery and for clinics. We have been very proactive and we have to be.''

Sikorski would like to see an improvement in the WDMH's information technology services.

"I think we will be able to do everything we like and there will be some latitude for growth in services.''

Thank You North Stormont

Mother Nature chose to welcome our new Township of North Stormont with a cold wintery blast known as "Ice Storm 98", however the warmth, dedication and community spirit of our citizens was felt in all corners of the Municipality.

Council would like to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to the hundreds of volunteers, who facing their own personal hardships, gave their time and energy to help others survive this disaster.

To the people who manned shelters, cooked meals and washed endless mountains of dishes, comforted the elderly and entertained children; to those who opened their homes to neighbours and friends less fortunate than themselves; to others who provided generator services to heat homes and pump basements; to those who provided a kind word or a shoulder to lean on when there seemed to be no light at the end of the dark tunnel; to all those people who gave of themselves without the need for personal recognition, thank you.

We would also like to express our appreciation to our volunteer fire departments, our municipal staff, the Ontario Provincial Police, the Canadian Army, the Social Services, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army who worked above and beyond the call of duty during this unprecedented emergency; to the South Nation Conservation Authority, the Ministry of Labour, the Regional Municipality of Ottawa Carleton, the Health Unit and our neighbouring municipalities for supplying staff, equipment and services.

To the hundreds of people and companies who donated food, wood, supplies and transportation, many many thanks.

The feeling of togetherness and community spirit was overwhelming during the January ice storm, and we are proud to be part of that Community. Once again, our sincere thanks.

Fair Board acquaints itself with a new municipal partner

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

WINCHESTER – Federal grants have been eliminated, and provincial grants have been in a decline over recent years. But the Chesterville Fair Board is hoping amalgamation doesn't hamper the municipal grants the annual summer fair receives.

Fair Board president Martin Sunderland and past-president George Ennis paid a visit to North Dundas council Monday night to ask that the Chesterville Fair be kept in mind at budget time, and to affirm various agreements the Fair Board had with the village of Chesterville before amalgamation took place.

Sunderland told council the board had enjoyed a good relationship with both the village and Winchester Township, the two local municipalities that supported the fair in the past. And said he hoped the written agreements, which cover such items as use of the arena and other municipal matters, would continue.

While council must defer spending decisions until budget time, Ennis asked council to consider a $4,000 commitment to the fair in each of the next three years, actually about a 10-per-cent increase from what the fair received separately from Chesterville and Winchester Township, which last year contributed $2,000 and $1,650 respectively.

Ennis explained the loss of the federal grant, last seen in 1995 in the amount of $4,735, and the decrease of the provincial grant from $4,500 to $3,500 last year, meaning the fair is about $9,000 shorter in grants than it used to be. But he said the Fair Board takes a business-like approach, holding fundraisers such as the annual Lobsterfest in June, and business and individual donations have increased to the point where they have almost made up for grant reductions.

The fair broke even in 1996 and turned a modest $3,000 profit last year, he said, but inflation must also be considered. An original $30,000 debt that came from covering the grandstand about eight years ago has been paid down to $17,000, Ennis noted, adding the president does not receive any honorarium and other volunteers receive only minor amounts, meaning there isn't a lot of room for cutting in that area.

Council agreed to keep the fair board in mind at budget time, and carry agreements forward with the new municipality. Mayor Claude Cousineau congratulated the Fair Board on the "marvelous" work it has done over the years.

Also discussed was the Fair Board's monthly use of the Nelson LaPrade Centre in Chesterville for its meetings, and the location of the ball diamond on land owned by the Fair Board in front of the grandstand.

North Dundas expressed concern that giving the Fair Board free use of the Nelson LaPrade Centre raised an issue of insurance liability. The Fair Board agreed to share liability with the municipality when it uses the centre.

The Fair Board asked the village of Chesterville in 1995 to find a new location for its ball diamond, as it was limiting the kind of entertainment that could be held in front of the grandstand during the annual fair. A committee was set up to explore alternate options, including another location on the fairgrounds.

The village of Chesterville set aside $20,000 in reserves for a new ball diamond, but the issue has been dormant since the fall. North Dundas council Monday night asked its Recreation Committee to revisit the issue.

Charities receive gift from council

Rich Thorpe
Record Staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Charitable groups selling break-open tickets in South Dundas are getting a bit of a break from council.

At the Thursday, Feb. 12 meeting, council opted to follow its northern counterpart and introduce a lower licensing fee for charitable groups who sell break-open tickets in South Dundas.

Presently, groups are charged a rate of three per cent which works out to $33.45 per box sold. Under the new resolution adopted, groups will have more money at their disposal, thanks to a reduction authorized by council. Groups will now be subject to a surcharge of one per cent for each box sold.

The move was prompted in part by Matilda ward councillor Bev Sabourin, who quoted from a story carried in the Wednesday, Jan. 28 edition of the Chesterville Record that North Dundas council had opted to introduce a flat-rate fee for charities.

Of the 20 or so groups which have break-open ticket licenses in South Dundas, just five support South Dundas community groups.

During the discussion councillors noted they had no problem with such national and provincial groups as the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and Red Cross, which support a number of residents within the township.

A representative of the Morrisburg Minor Hockey Association noted its group was being charged $33.45 for each box of break-open tickets sold in South Dundas. Previously, the group was being charged between $6 to $10 by the village of Morrisburg.

Councillor Rowdy Gillard felt it was appropriate to reduce the fees, given the fact local groups such as Morrisburg Minor Hockey were being charged the same amount as the Cornwall Girls Hockey Association.

"My feeling is if we don't change this we'll be supporting these groups whether it is through our taxes or a donation. If we're having money taken out of our area to support hockey in Cornwall, we can at least give our groups a break."

Councillors felt North Dundas's plan to charge the yearly $100 fee for break-open tickets unfairly penalized groups which do not sell large quantities of tickets.

"It's not fair to charge a group which sells only two or three boxes a year the same fee as a group which would sell 100 boxes," said deputy-Mayor Cam Martel.

Mayor Johnny Whitteker felt the township could afford to slash its surcharge by one-to-one-and-a-half per cent.

However, council opted to endorse Martel's resolution dropping the surcharge to one per cent, which works out to $11.15 per box sold.

Where there's smoke...

Let's talk about marijuana. The omni-present green plant has been in the headlines quite often lately, in the hands of terminally-ill patients, in the hands of illegal growers and dealers, even in the hands, or second-hands, as it were, of Olympic gold medalists.

Is marijuana a dangerous drug, or is it a recreational substance no worse than alcohol? Is it the first step on a rocky road to harder drugs and a hard lifestyle, or is it a plant that has beneficial qualities to those suffering from the pain of cancer or AIDS, or epilepsy? Should someone who lights up the occasional joint in their own home be considered a criminal?

It seems the doorway to debate about marijuana on a higher level has been opened in Canada in the past few months, and it's quite possible the laws that govern it will be revisited. And it will be an interesting debate indeed. Already, an Ontario judge has ruled that a man who grows marijuana in his own home and uses to reduce symptoms of his epilepsy is not breaking the law. And there are many who would agree on compassionate grounds, that someone who needs marijuana for its medical benefits (and they are well-documented) should not be denied it, or risk criminal charges.

But what about the recreational marijuana user? Should they expect a boost from our lawmakers?

There are different schools of thought on this. On one had, many feel it should be allowed, albeit in a controlled sense, as is alcohol. It is widely said a person who uses marijuana is not as prone to violence as someone who is drunk, and that because marijuana is not physically addictive, it could be legalized without chaos. Long-term marijuana use can lead to health problems, but so can cigarettes – which are legal.

On the other side of the coin, it is commonly felt marijuana is a so-called gateway drug, leading to harder drugs. And it is an impairing substance.

Marijuana's Olympic appearance was an interesting snapshot of the debate from a Canadian perspective, as well as a puzzling contradiction in messages. The Canadian Olympic Committee fought the decision to strip Ross Rebagliati of his medal tooth and nail, and it was overturned. But in the process, Canada was again held up to international ridicule, and a subculture of recreational marijuana users was exposed.

We're all glad we didn't lose the medal, but what kind of message was it to our children? We spend so much energy telling them to "just say no," but when it comes down to it, we fight against a decision that would punish someone for using drugs.

Perhaps its time our lawmakers took a sober second look at marijuana, for all that it is, and set some clear rules. Should it be available to those with medical needs? Yes, it should. But should it be legally available to all who want it? That's a much more difficult question to answer, because it is not known what our society would tolerate as a whole when asked that question, if polled or through a free vote in the House of Commons, for example. Wouldn't it be interesting to find out?

Off The Record

Jumping through Olympic rings

By Robin Morris
Faster, stronger, and much, much higher editor

Remember that 60-year-old Swede in the old Participaction ads? You know, the old geezer on cross country skis who was in better shape than the 30-year-old Canadian? Well, can they prove he was really Swedish? Can they swear he wasn't travelling on, say, an American passport, à la Ulf Samuelsson, the defenceman who was bounced from the Swedish national hockey team this week?

Harold Ballard was fond of saying that one-time Maple Leaf Inge Hammarstrom was the only hockey player he had ever seen who could go into the corners with an egg in his pocket and come out with it intact. Poor old Ulfie can't come out of the corner without egg on his face.

You see Sweden is a real country. Unlike Canada it doesn't allow dual citizenship. While you can be Canadian/Bulgarian, or Canadian/Montenegran, you can only be Swedish/Swedish. Yumpin' Yimminy. You're either Svedish or you're not. No slashes. No hyphenations. No smorgasbord of nationalities at one address. Which is probably why Israeli secret service hit squads don't favor Swedish passports. And when it was discovered that Samuelsson had applied for, and received, American citizenship, Olaf and the lads in Stockholm bounced him off the national team.

And the International Olympic Committee should have stripped Sweden of its first-round win over the USA since it is quite clear in International Ice Hockey Federation rules that if a team uses an ineligible player, it is to be stripped of all points gained while that player was in uniform. The IOC is supposed to enforce the IIHF's rules but when the top dog in international hockey is some Swiss dentist, well, maybe you can ignore the rules and just let the country keep its points.

It's different if you're a Canadian snowboarder. The IOC will step in and scoop your medal faster than you can say Acapulco Gold and then only relent when it is successfully argued in front of an impartial commission that despite claims to the contrary by Cheech and Chong, marijuana is not a performance enhancing drug. A snack enhancing drug, maybe, but unless your chosen sport is giggling in front of Flintsone re-runs, el ropo isn't going to turn you into a world beater.

So we get our medal back and Sweden gets to keep its victory over the USA. And the Yanks are 1-2 in the preliminary round of the men's hockey tournament, their only victory that thrilling Miracle Whipping on Ice of Belarus, aided and abetted by NHL refereee Kerry Fraser, who awarded Uncle Sam not one, but two consecutive two-man advantages.

It seems as if Fraser toook his cue from the ice dancing competiton and decided to award the two points for the game before it was even played.

But at least in hockey we're spared the sight of the Big Babushka in the bearskin and bad blonde dye job blubbering on the team bench. Is it a requirement of the sport that two will'o-the-wisp skaters have to be accompanied by a mammoth matryosha? What is it about ice dancing? Can't the Europeans get anything straight? The French and a couple of Russkies decide who's going to win the gold medal before the Olympics even begin and the IOC goes along with the sham. And then to top it all off we get the unseemly performance of the ice dancing coaches slobbering all over their winning athletes as if this is the biggest surprise since Soviet agriculture failed to meet its wheat harvesting goals. Never mind that your male skater, dressed up like some Slavic Peter Pan, trips and almost falls in the first round and should have been tossed out of medal contention. You've got the judges on your side.

It's like they say in the fight game, if it ain't fixed, don't broker it.

Aah, Gentle Reader, there's nothing like the Olympics to bring out the tribalism in the best of us.

Doubt my word?

Then check out USA Today's web site.

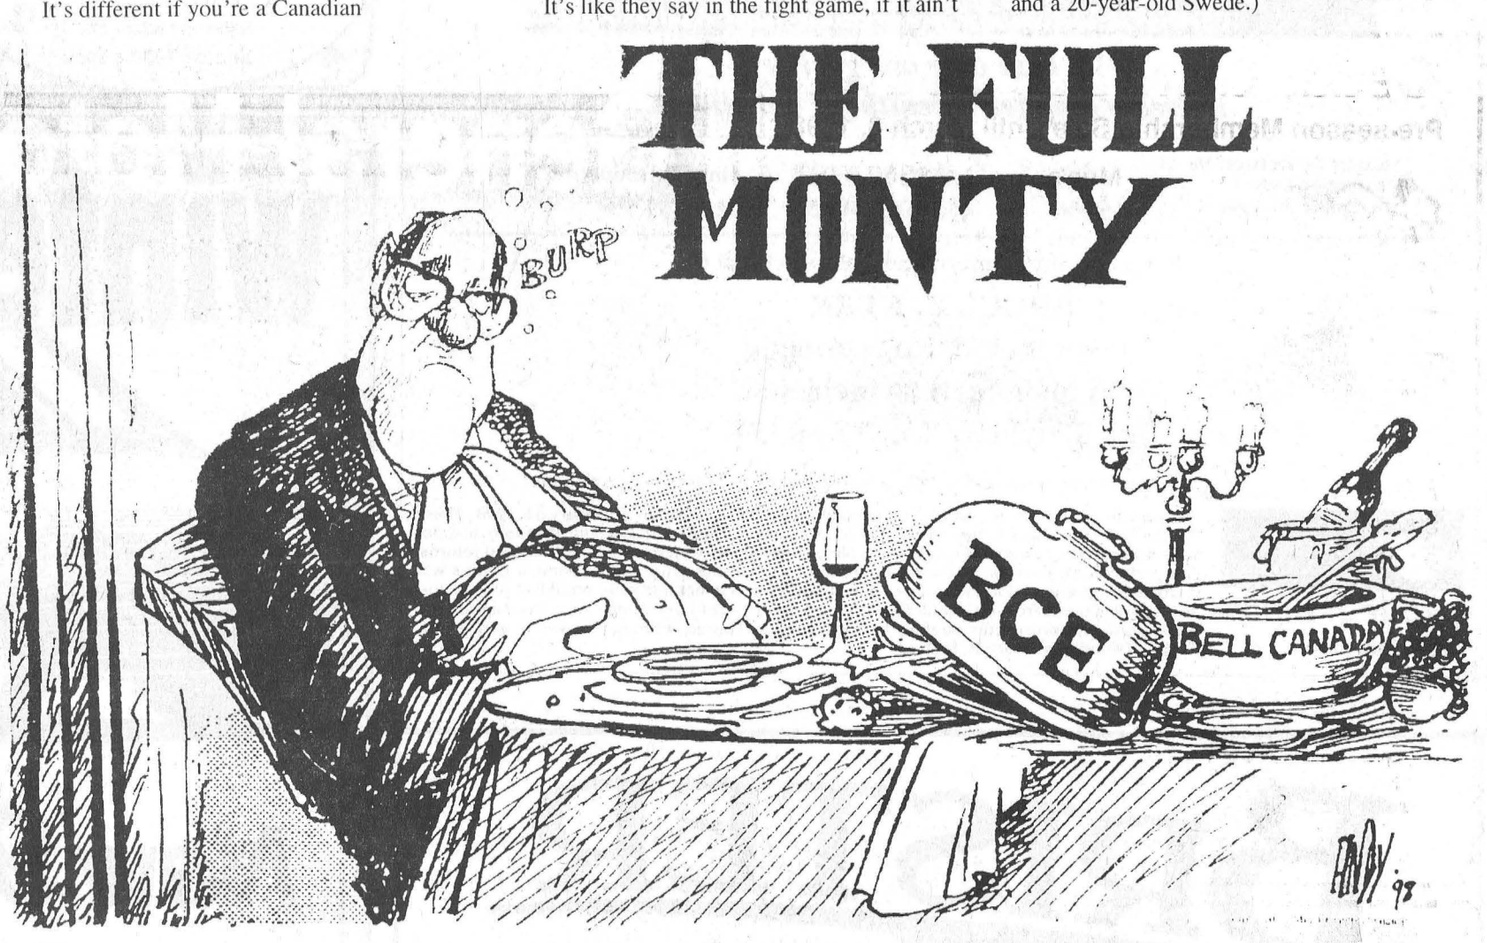
The Americans, with 250-million people, have amassed a grand total (as of 7:50 a.m. Tuesday) of eight medals, four behind Austria and Canada. Yet according to the American method of calculating Olympic standings, that country is ahead of Austria since they have three gold medals to Fritz's two. And one of those golds came in the best of 15-game women's hockey tournament. Canada should insist that it be a best of 17, then a best of 19, 21, 23, etc. and by the time it's finished they'll be running the Zamboni around in downtown Salt Lake City, site of the 2002 Games.

If the Olympics serve any purpose, it's the unintended one that has given hockey back to Canadians. We've allowed the Bubbas south of the 49th to steal our game, shipping our NHL teams to places like Phoenix at wholesale prices. But the Olympics pit country against country and it doens't matter if Eric Lindros is a chattel of the Philadelphia Flyers from September to June. When his country calls he's got the maple leaf tattooed on his butt and once you've had Canada vs. the U.S., or a Canada-Russia game, or even Canada against Kazakhstan, who's going to settle for the Ottawa Senators and the Carolina Hurricanes?

With a bona fide gold medal at stake they can ship the rest of the Canadina NHL teams to Florida and we can wait quite patiently for four years between meaningful tournaments.

(Oh yeah, and that 60-year-old Swede? Canada has 12 medals to Sweden's two. Maybe we can interest Swedish TV in some Participaction ads about a 60-year-old Canadian and a 20-year-old Swede.)



Cross Roads

By Clarence Cross

We are all fascinated by our family name. What does it mean? Where does it come from? Many reference books have been written on the subject, some of them very scholarly, as the authors dig into ancient languages. As the early settlers of this area where English, Scottish, Irish, German, French and a few Dutch, we have a rich history of names to dig into.

Until the middle ages, most people had only one name - think of all the characters in the Bible. You can see why, in the course of time, a village, say in England, would have a growing number of Johns and Marys; something had to be done to distinguish one from another. Additional names started to become common. There were four categories of them: patronymic, occupational, locational and nicknames.

Patronymic names were derived from a father or ancestor. A young James might be called, "James, son of John" and eventually James Johnson. In Scotland and the north of England, a "t" was often inserted, and sometimes an "e" added. In Wales the surname was shortened to Johns or Jones. Other examples, some of which have suffered some alteration are Thompson and Thomson, Anderson, Richardson or Dickson or Dixon, Jamieson, Robertson or Robinson. Welsh forms were Roberts, Richards, Andrews.

In Scotland and Ireland, the Gaelic "Mac" was often put in front of the father's name, eg. MacDonald, MacGregor, MacMartin. The "Mac" was often shortened to "Mc" and both forms often appeared in the same family. The Irish prefix "O", also Gaelic, means "a descendant of". Thus we find both MacNeill and O Neill (with or without the apostrophe).

Patronymic names appear in other languages. Think of all the Scandinavian names ending in "sen" or "son". The Russians add "vitch" for "son of" and "ovna" for "daughter of".

The next category is the occupational. John, the village blacksmith, became John Smith. Other such surnames are Taylor, Weaver, Fuller, Hunter, Farmer, Shepherd, Cooper.

Locational names are easy to spot. The John who lived beside the church, became John Church. Other names are Wood, Bush, Lake, Ford, Hill, Mill. My name Cross comes from a man living at the crossroads, often called in England the cross.

Finally we have nicknames. If John had dark hair or complexion, he might be John Black. Similarily for John Brown, etc. If he were very short or tall, he might be called John Little or John Long. If he were bowlegged, he might be John Crookshank.

Now let's look at what happened as German and French people moved into an English neighborhood, first in the American colonies, and later in Ontario.

Large numbers of German refugees were settled in the Hudson Valley in the early 1700s. These were the Palatines from the Rhineland. They spread out during the next two generations, and were eventually caught up in the American Revolution. Those adhering to the British crown came to Canada, where they were called Loyalists. A lot of these Germans were settled along the St. Lawrence. Just look at some of the local place names: Williamsburg, Osnabruck, Lunenburg.

The British settlers and government officials had trouble with the German names, although many of them had already been anglicized in the U.S. Today, not many of the descendants spell their German names in the original way. (I'm never sure of the proper German spelling myself.) Shaver has been changed from the original Schaeffer (meaning shepherd); Cook was originally Koch; Coons was Kuhn; Merkley and Markell were probably Merckle; Carman was Kahrmann; Snyder was Schneider (meaning tailer); and so on. Most names ending in "mann", like Casselmann, dropped the second "n". Long names like "Schwerdtfeger" were shortened to Swerdfeger, although some of the family today are using the long form. Some names translate readily: Steinberg means stone mountain or hill.

As French families moved into the area from Quebec, their names were also mangled. The early census records were often taken by enumerators who didn't speak French, and sometimes had trouble with English spelling. Since many of the French couldn't read or write, it's not surprising to find all sorts of weird spellings. These French names provide some interesting puzzles for anyone studying census records. Vincent becomes Vassau; Taillon becomes Tyo; Gareau becomes Garrow; Drapeau becomes Droppo; Gignac becomes Jannack; Simard becomes Seymour.

But you have to watch for some names that can have more than one racial origin. Cook can be of either Irish or German origin. Weaver can be either English, or corrupted from the German Weber.

As I said earlier, there are many books on the meaning and origin of surnames. The one I have is the "Penguin Dictionary of Surnames" (only those of British origin). At 450 pages it is one of the smaller collections, but even it sometimes gives you a bewildering choice of origins and meanings. You might want to hunt in other reference books for a more flattering meaning if your name is, for example, Hollister, or Fulton, or Morris.

CHESTERVILLE — The Chesterville and District Historical Society played host to members of the Chesterville Women's Institute as part of Heritage Day celebrations on Monday night at the Heritage Centre.

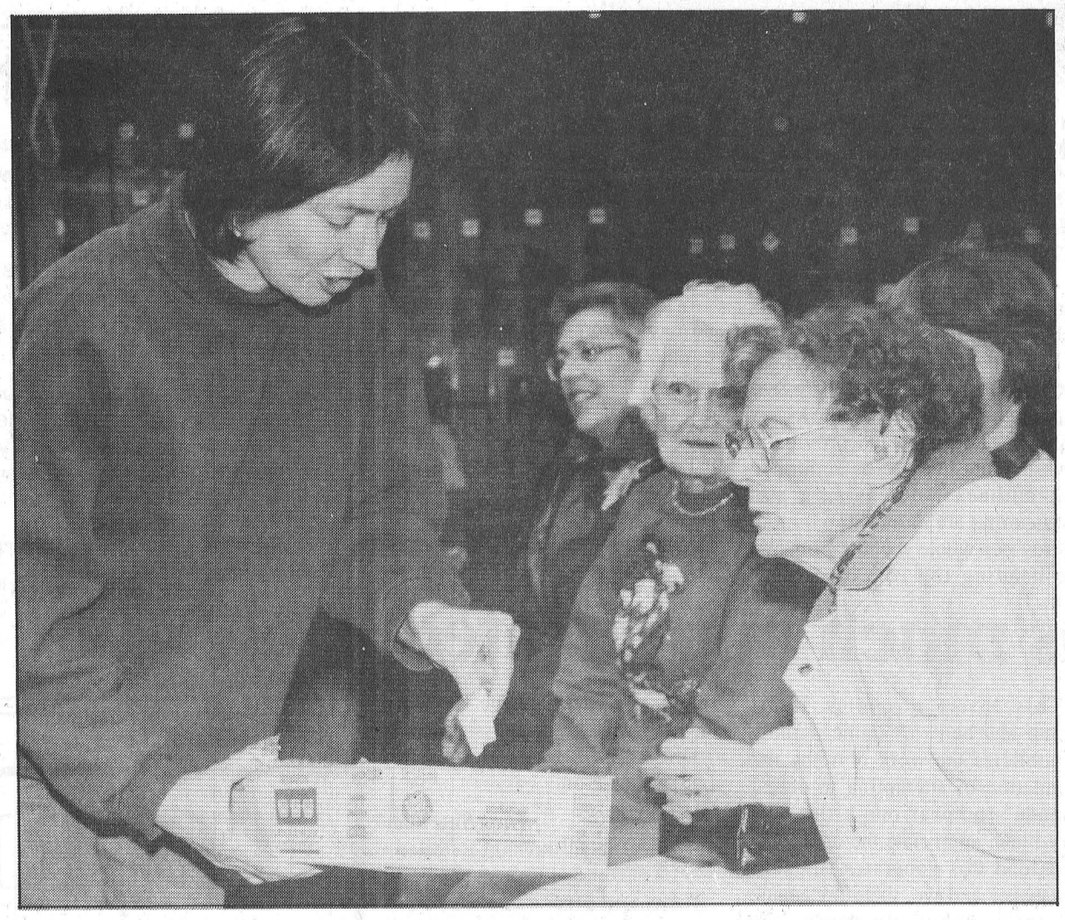
Historical Society president Anne Thomson, secretary Caroline Roberts and summer curator Don Currell gave brief presentations about the Heritage Centre and its important role within the community.

Thomson outlined the highlights of the centre's successful archaelogical program which it has run in conjunction with local elementary schools.

"We were very pleased on how they reacted and we will host it once again this fall," she said. "It kept the students stimulated for the whole time."

Roberts recounted the history of the centre which was founded in 1984 thanks in part to the Village of Chesterville, which allowed the Historical Society to use the former Fire Hall for the museum and to Nestle Canada for its generous corporate donation.

"We have static displays and collections," she said. "One project that we have undertaken is an oral history of the many Dutch immigrants who came to this area in the 1950's to work on the farms. We felt it would be useful in the future for anyone visiting Chesterville who wanted to research their family history.''



Caroline Roberts, secretary of the Chesterville and District Historical Society displays articles discovered on properties in Chesterville during excavation work. The Chesterville Women's Institute were the special guests of the Historical Society at the Heritage Centre on Monday night to mark Heritage Day in Canada.

The centre also has developed a walking tour of the south side of Chesterville, and has a display on the history of the Nestle factory and it has set up special fair displays.

One of the most promiment features of the heritage centre is the 1862 map of the united counties of SD&G and Prescott-Russell which was obtained for the museum by Glenn MacGregor of Morewood.

Don Currell, who was the curator at the museum last summer explained the restoration process which the map underwent at the Canadian Conservation Institute in Ottawa.

The entire process from start to finish took more than 18 months complete.

The CCI in turn donated the cost of the restoration effort to the Heritage Centre.

Thomson said the Historical Society and Heritage Centre are hoping to embark on a membership drive this spring in order to attract interested volunteers.

"A lot of the people who initially founded the heritage centre were in their 60s and 70s," she said. "We need new members and we need to get younger people involved."

With provincial funding grants for community museums being slashed drastically, Thomson said it is important for the Historical Society and Heritage Centre to attract new members to off-set the reduction in money.

"We used to be able to cover our operating expenses with the grants," she said. "Now we need to look at fundraising like a lot of other community groups."

The Heritage Centre is planning on applying for a grant to hire a summer student.

"We are looking for people who are interested in the history of Chesterville and want to learn more about the community."

Public school board selects its first-ever director of education

PERTH – The new Upper Canada District School Board has its first director of education. The board announced Monday that Gino Giannandrea, a former director for the Lanark County Board of Education, has been appointed to the position.

Giannandrea will replace Jim Dilamarter, who has served in the role on an interim basis since school board amalgamation took effect January 1. Dilamarter was director of education for the SD&G Public School Board.

Giannandrea has experience as a teacher, school administrator, superintendent and director with both rural and urban boards of education. He recently served as chair of the Human Resources Subcommittee of the Local Education Improvement Committee.

He holds a Supervisory Officer's Certificate and degrees in arts and education, as well as a Masters of Education degree with specialization in administration.

In accepting the appointment, Giannandrea said his vision is "the creation of a school system in which trustees, parents, students, staff and members of the public will work together to ensure that each student who enters our doors graduates with a secondary school diploma that is perceived to be of the highest quality."

Dilamarter came to the SD&G Board in 1983 from a principalship in southwestern Ontario. He served five years as a superintendent and 10 as director of education before the board was amalgamated on January 1.

He said Tuesday he had indicated to the new board while he would gladly serve in that role in an interim basis, he did not want to be considered for it permanently as is nearing retirement.

But he will stay with the Upper Canada District board for the time being to help with transitional issues, such as policy and government liaison.

Legion News Branch 434

On Mon., February 16 zone commander Dave Brown presented past officer medals and bars to Cecil Hatt, Brian Markwick, Ernie Windsor, Barry LeClair, Randy LeClair and Bruce Whillans. He also presented certificates of merit to Cecil Hatt, Judy Hatt, Virginia Patenaude, Mac Feeley, Richard Shay and Harold Sharkey for their outstanding work in the branch.

Also at this meeting, 15 new members were sworn in and the total of new members this year is over 30 which is a great achievement for our area.

On Sat., February 21 the Ladies Auxiliary Bingo will have the normal game prizes along with the progressive jackpot of $540 in 52 numbers or less or the consolation prize of $150. Come out and enjoy an afternoon of bingo.

The Saturday Night Dance will have The Part Time Cowboys playing at the Legion for the first time. With all the reports from other Legions where they've played, this band is very good and the fiddler is excellent. He can really make the fiddle sing. Come out and enjoy a night of dancing.

Snowarama a big success thanks to participants

To the editor:

The final tally isn't in quite yet but it's clear that the funds raised by this year's Snowarama will exceed $7,000, our highest total ever.

While Snowarama 1998 was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Chesterville on behalf of the Easter Seal Society, the bulk of the credit for this successful event rightfully belongs to the members of the Nation Valley Snowmobile Association - in particular, the Winchester Township and Dunbar snowmobile clubs. They dealt with the ramifications of the ice storm, including clearing considerable debris from the trails and accommodating the change in date for the event, in order that Snowarama 1998 could take place on February 8. It should also be recognized that members of snowmobile clubs personally account for the bulk of donations to Snowarama 1998. Clearly, the Nation Valley Snowmobile Association is truly committed to the Easter Seal Society objective of assisting physically challenged children and their families.

Especially in view of the complications posed by the ice storm, I'd take this opportunity to thank The Chesterville Record for your continued cooperation in publicizing Snowarama.

Finch firefighters deserve praise

To the editor:

I was told that during the last firefighter's meeting, Thurs., Jan. 22, the firefighters got criticized because they did nothing.

I would like to say that all of our Finch firefighters worked like fools during the ice storm. I live in town and I've never seen the men work so hard.

Every time I needed something, they were there for me because my husband was at work. The firefighters set me up with heat for my home, they ran around pumping out basements and moving tree branches.

I worked at the shelter and I saw police, military and ambulance personnel often; however, I saw only 2 of our firefighters there. I'm not running down the other forces, but at one point and time I asked some of the police force if they thought the shelter was a Tim Hortons.

Therefore, our Finch firefighters are thanked graciously for the terrific job they did. All of them rarely slept throughout this ordeal. These men should not be told that they did nothing, because they were the ones who kept all of the Finch Village and Township together.

For example, Friday morning at 2:30 a.m. my neighbor's tree fell down on her house. Not 5 minutes later all of the firefighters were there looking to see if it did any serious damage.

So, if Mr. Byers and/or Floyd Dingwall think that the Finch firefighters did nothing, maybe they should go around the town of Finch and ask the residents of the village what they thought of the help from the Finch firefighters. The whole town of Finch thanks all of the firefighters tremendously.

Rural hospitals a necessity

To the editor:

My father was rushed to Winchester and District Memorial Hospital on January 13 in the midst of the infamous ice storm. He was admitted to third floor, moved to second and finally to I.C.U.were he succumbed to his illness on January 30.

The family of Mr. Fickes would like to express their sincere thanks to the staff of the Winchester Hospital. Special appreciation has to be forwarded to Dr. Domanko, Dr. Schnurr, Cathy MacDonald R.N. third floor, Kim Campbell R.N. I.C.U. and an extra special bouquet to Jane Sachs R.N., whose compassion and devotion will be etched in our memories forever.

Rural hospitals have to be kept open with full staffing to provide appropriate care for an aging population. Federal and provincial governments have to be reminded that cutbacks, downsizing and restructuring are ultimately going to destroy our whole social fabric. We are heading towards disaster if something isn't done soon.

It is my opinion that if you slash the onslaught of bureaucrats in the hospital setting and give back the daily business to our doctors, nurses and the support staff, apathy would be replaced by hope!

Rural hospitals are an absolute necessity. They provide a familiar family oriented structure that provides the resources for the patient to make a fall recovery.

Support was much appreciated

To the editor:

On behalf of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario, and in particular, the Dundas Chapter, I would like to thank you most sincerely again this year, for kindly providing the insert and special page of upcoming events in your February 4, 1998 edition.

This insert promotes Heart Month and helps us immeasurably to publicize the work done by the foundation in attempting to defeat Canada's number one killer. We very much appreciate the additional workload this generates for your newspaper and we, therefore, thank not only you but also thank Greg Hewitt and Rich Thorpe for their fine reporting and great assistance.

Once again, many thanks for your participation.

Memorial donations to VON or Christ Church will be gratefully appreciated.

Notice

Beginning February 23, forestry crews and contractors will be working with South Nation Conservation and municipal drainage superintendents to clean up after the January ice storm.

Branches and other debris may block municipal drains and tributaries that feed the South Nation River. This could lead to ice jams, and higher than normal flood levels in the spring.

If you know of any municipal drains or natural watercourses that require clean out or want more information, please contact your local municipality or South Nation Conservation at (613) 984-2948.

For the first time ever, Racing Against Drugs was held in SD&G. The program, which is sponsored by the RCMP was organized locally with the assistance of the Upper Canada detachment of the OPP and the Cornwall Police Service. More than 1,200 Grade 6 students took part in a variety of activities held last week at the Cornwall Armory.

SD&G students race against drugs

CORNWALL — Thanks to the combined efforts of police, social agencies and businesses, more than 1,200 Grade 6 students from across SD&G were given the chance to participate in an inter-active drug and alcohol awareness program last week.

Racing Against Drugs is a community-based drug and alcohol awareness program developed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The SD&G program was organized by the RCMP, the Cornwall Police Service, the Upper Canada detachment of the OPP as well as the Addiction Services of Eastern Ontario and the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Grade Six students from the public and separate school boards in SD&G participated in the program which was held at the Cornwall Armory. In total, 44 elementary schools took part in the 90 minute program.

Local schools which took part included St. Bernard, Newington, Longue Sault, Rothwell-Osnabruck, Elma, and Notre Dame du St- Rosaire.

The focus of Racing Against Drugs is to promote healthy drug-free lifestyles. It is designed to utilize the sport of auto racing to capture the attention of young people and communicate with them through an exciting and high-profile sport such as auto racing which has no tolerance for substance abuse.

Students had the opportunity to visit nine pit stops covering a variety of topics. At the end of the 90 minute presentation, each participating school competed against one another in a slot-car race around a large track set up at the centre of the armory.

"This is the first time Racing Against Drugs has taken place in Cornwall," said Senior Constable Joel Doiron of the Upper Canada detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. "It was a success-—big time."

Const. Doiron said the event had to be postponed twice once due to the province-wide strike by teachers in November and once because of the ice storm.

Nonetheless, school officials felt the program's message was one they wanted students to hear.

"It is a good opportunity to reach a large number of kids in a short time period," he said.

"The kids had fun and hopefully in the process we were able to get a message across to them as they keep making choices as they become teenagers."

Senior Constable Joel Doiron of the Upper Canada detachment of the OPP speaks to students from Ecole Notre Dame du St-Rosaire in Crysler on Friday afternoon as part of the Racing Against Drugs presentation held last week in Cornwall. During the 90 minute presentation students learned about the consequences associated with drug and alcohol abuse. The Eastern Ontario Health Unit and the Addiction Services of Eastern Ontario were also involved in planning for the event.

Crime Stoppers targets indoor pot labs

Crime Stoppers, in co-operation with law enforcement agencies throughout Eastern Ontario are seeking help in locating marijuana being grown indoors.

The term hydroponics is used for all marijuana cultivated indoors. By use of specialized equipment and carefully controlled conditions, growers are able to cultivate marijuana plants with the desired chemical content.

Special lighting, electrical transformers and reflective materials such as aluminum foil is normal in an indoor growing operation.

Cultivation of marijuana is a crime.

If you have any information on marijuana cultivation or any other crime, call Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers toll-free at 1-800-265-TIPS. If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward of up to $1,000. You do not have to reveal your identity to help solve a crime.

Thank You...

We would like to thank everyone who remembered us on our wedding day. A few cards are missing off some gifts, also we do not have some people's addresses. We did not want to forget anyone.

Thank you for your kind thoughts, and gifts and for making our day special.

We would also like to thank the Ladies Aid from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Avonmore for the wonderful meal that they prepared and served.

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank Dr. Slowey and Dr. Chadwick. I would also like to thank all my friends and neighbors for the cards and flowers while I was a patient in the Winchester and Ottawa Civic hospitals. Special thanks to my family that was always there for me. It will always be appreciated.

Bartha Barkley

CARD OF THANKS

Rodena Farms boasts a shiny new roof on one of its barns with no small thanks to many of you out there. Our gratitude goes to all the friends, neighbors and family who played such a generous part in coming to our rescue when the barn roof collapsed after the recent ice storm. Everyone's hard work removing ice from other farm buildings surely prevented even more loss. Each of you, in your own way, made our burden easier to bear.

Thankfully,
George & Fransi den Dunnen
of Rodena Farms

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone who helped in anyway during the ice storm. To our families for flashlights, candles, food and water for bathing and laundry. To Woody for pumping the basement, to Pat and Peter for fixing the generator, to David for the aerial. To all the hydro workers for a great job. With the help of God, family and good friends we survived. Thank you.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

BYERS - In loving memory of Trevor who passed away February 19, 1986.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
Lovingly remembered by Linden & Beth

IN MEMORIAM

NURSE - In loving memory of my parents, Tressa, February 6, 1994 and Ross, February 20, 1986.
Away in the beautiful hills of God
By the Valley of Rest so fair
Some day, we know not when
We will meet our loved ones there.

• Iggie Peters 347-7252 or Paul Vogel's Farm 528-4045.

Farmers in Stormont County will be taking own samples to show.

The Innovation '98 Competition

This competition will also take place at the Crysler Farm Show. This is your opportunity to share an innovation idea with other farmers.

PRIZES: 1st - $100.00, 2nd - $75.00, 3rd - $50.00, 4th - $25.00 & 5th - $10.00

Innovations are to be brought to the Crysler Community Centre by noon, Wednesday, March 4, 1998.

All S.D. & G. farm families are eligible. The innovation must be made on the farm. In cases where innovation is too big to bring, a photo (approximately 8" X 10") with a description of working part(s) will be accepted.

Innovation can have anything to do with -

• environmental protection • field machinery • feed systems • livestock handling • barn equipment • or anything to do with seed and forage

All entries must be accompanied by a sheet of paper describing the following:

1) Name of the Innovation
2) Function of the Innovation (what it is supposed to do)
3) Description of the Innovation (how it works)
4) Estimated cost and/or time to build

Entries, including the descriptions will be displayed mounted in space provided. Judging will be done by public ballot at the show. This competition is sponsored by the Soil and Crop Improvement Associations of Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry.

Novice Demons edge Cornwall 3-2 to claim UCMHL pennant

Demons claim first with four games to go in regular season

Travis Froats scored in the first minute of the third period to break a 2-2 tie and give the North Dundas Demons A 3-2 win over the Cornwall Royals here last Tuesday night.

The win clinched the UCMHL's Novice B1 east division pennant for the Demons, losers of only one game this season. The win gave North Dundas a record of 19-1-0 and 38 points, with four games to go in the regular season. Cornwall came out of the game with a record of 16-4-2, with only one game to go in the regular season.

The Royals took a 2-1 lead out of the first period. Both their goals came as the result of Demons' players redirecting the puck into their own net.

Chris Ayotte got credit for the first Cornwall goal, just 26 seconds into the game, and Eric Lemire was given credit for the second Royals' goal, scored at 5:44, to make it 2-0.

Tyler Fawcett and Matt Simms go flying through the Cornwall crease in third-period action in last Tuesday night's game against the Royals in Chesterville. The Novice Demons overcame a 2-0 first-period deficit to edge Cornwall 3-2 and claim the UCMHL East Division pennant. Travis Froats got the winner at 9:05 of the third.

Mat Simms put ND on the board with 1:05 to go in the period, to end a three-way passing play from Froats and Tyler Fawcett, and Trent Scott tied the game, from Simms, with 1:24 to go in the second as the Demons caught Cornwall in a line change.

After being dominated in the first period and playing Cornwall to a standstill in the second, ND exerted pressure from the opening face-off of the third and went ahead to stay 55 seconds into the final frame when Froats beat Filion on a set-up from Simms and Fawcett.

ND threatened to widen the winning margin through much of the third as they enjoyed a wide territorial advantage but Filion kept Cornwall in the game.

ND will finish out the regular schedule with two games against Morrisburg - home and away - a home game against North Glen-Stor and an away game against Kemptville.

Playoff format determined

Playoffs are scheduled to begin the first week of March and league officials met Tuesday night in Brockville to determine the playoff format and whether all nine team swould play in the post season or whether the playoffs would be limited to the top four regular season finishers.

Express start playoffs against Eagles Sunday

FINCH - The North Stormont Express will start their playoff series against the Eagles on the road Sunday night in St. Isidore after finishing the regular season in fourth place in the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League.

The Express won both their games last week against the Vankleek Hill Cougars, 6-3 on the road Wednesday night and 7-4 at home Thursday night, to raise their record to .500 with 13 wins, 13 losses and three overtime losses for 29 points. Last year the team finished third in the league's Blaine-Leroux Division with a winning percentage of only .388 with 13 wins, 18 losses and three overtime losses in a 34-game schedule.

The Express won't know until late tonight (Wednesday) if they will have to play their final game of the season, scheduled against the Russell Thunder in Finch Thursday night. If Russell beats Rockland tonight they sew up second place. If they should lose, then Thursday night's game would be necessary to determine second and third places. Thursday night's game was scheduled to make up for the Jan. 22 game between the two teams postponed because of the ice storm.

A pair of newcomers each scored a pair of goals in the Express's pair of victories last week.

On Wednesday night it was Pat Albert with two in Vankleek Hill and Thursday night it was Alf Philippen against the Cougars in Finch. Team scoring leader Mike Reimer also had a pair in the Express's win on the road. Albert picked up five points in the two games.

Express 6 - Cougars 3

The Express scored four goals in the third to break open a close game after two and win their 12th of the season Wednesday.

North Stormont took a 1-0 lead out of the first on Albert's first goal, at 9:26 from Scott Coleman and goaltender Darryl Burns, and they made it 2-0 2:04 into the second on Reimer's first goal, from Eric Bourgeois and Mark Palmer.

Robbie Rutherford drew the Cougars to within one when he scored at 14:36 of the second.

James Rolland restored North Stormont's two-goal lead at 15:31 of the third, from Albert and Julien Benoit. Vankleek Hill drew back to within one when Carl Cadieux scored at 12:33 but Benoit put the Express back up by two when he scored from Rolland and Leo Bedard at 10:38. Reimer made it 5-2, unassisted, with 5:34 to go in the game. Ian Lalonde got Vankleek Hill's third goal with 4:43 remaining and Albert got the Express's sixth goal, from Rolland, with 2:34 left.

Express 7 - Cougars 4

The third period was the tale of the tape again Thursday night at home as North Stormont got four in the final period to win lucky number 13 and draw the team to the .500 mark.

Vankleek Hill led 2-1 after one on goals by Martin Cormier and Yan Baillargeon. Scoring for the Express in the third first was Mike Kilroy, from Rolland.

North Stormont took control in the second with two goals to led 3-2 going into the third. Philippen tied the score at 11:20 of the middle frame from Rob Desormeaux and Coleman and Benoit got his second goal in as many nights, from Albert and Rolland, 1:17 later.

The Express ran off three straight in the first nine minutes of the third to take a commanding 6-2 lead.

Bourgeois started the assault at 18:17 from Peter Azzie and Reimer and J.F. Gagne made it 5-2, from Bourgeois and Azzie, 34 seconds later. Desormeaux upped the lead to 6-2, from Albert and netminder Jason Bright, at 11:27.

The Cougars got two goals in a 1:27 span around the midway mark of the period to draw to within two but Philippen got North Stormont's seventh goal with seven seconds remaining in the game. Coleman and Desormeaux had the assists.

Express Checkout

The league's awards banquet will be held in Casselman Friday night and the first round of the playoffs begin this weekend. After playing in St. Isidore Sunday night, the Express will host the Eagles at 8 p.m. Thursday night and their third game will be in Finch at 8:30 p.m. Fri., Feb. 27. Game four goes in St. Isidore Sun., March 1 at 8 p.m. Game five will be played in Finch either March 3 or March 4.

Vipers lose 7-3 to Stars but end season in sixth

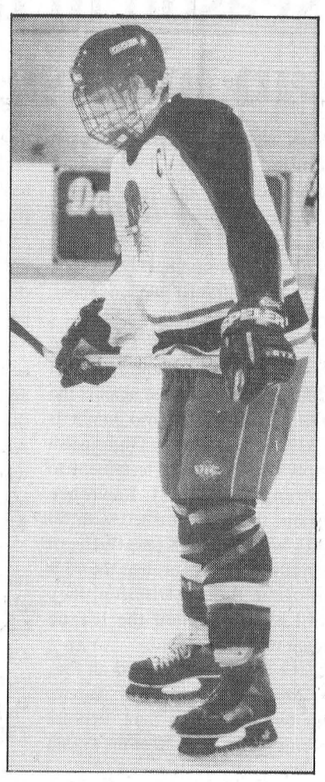
LONG SAULT - The Vipers finished a woeful season on a woeful note Saturday night, dropping a 7-3 decision to the first-place Casselman Stars to end the 1997-98 EOJCHL regular season tied in points with the Vankleek Hill Cougars at the bottom of the league standings.

The Cougars went into the final week of the season with two games in hand over the Vipers and won one of three, a 7-3 decision in Vankleek Hill Saturday night. They lost both ends of a home and home series with the North Stormont Express on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Final standings see the Vipers and Cougars tied with 18 points each on identical records of 8-20-2 but Long Sault gets the nod for sixth place on a better season record against Vankleek Hill.

The Vipers will open the playoffs Saturday night against either Rockland or Russell, which are battling down to the wire for second place. The teams are tied for second with 37 points each and will play each other tonight (Wednesday) to determine second. The Thunder hold a game in hand and if they win Wednesday night's game, they won't need to play their final game of the season, scheduled against the North Stormont Express Thursday night in Finch. If the Thunder lose tonight Thursday night's game in Finch will be necessary to determine second and third places.

The Stars were runaway pennant winners, finishing the season with only five losses and 50 points in 30 games. They will sit out the first round of the playoffs.



Long Sault captain Chris Proulx captured the EOJCHL scoring championship with 38 goals and 32 assists and should receive his second consecutive MVP award when the league holds its awards banquet in Casselman Friday night.

They finished out the last week of the season with four wins, 4-2 over St. Isidore, 13-7 over Russell, 7-3 over Long Sault and 7-6 over Rockland.

Stars 7 - Vipers 3

Casselman took a 4-0 lead into the third period at the Cornwall Township Arena Saturday night and then scored two powerplay goals in the final to win 7-3.

Ben Menard led the Casselman attack with three goals and Francis Brisson and captain Jean-Rock Rainville each had a pair.

Long Sault captain and league scoring leader Chris Proulx got his 38th of the season and Myles McPhail and Jason Cholette each scored in the loss.

Menard scored the game's first goal, at 16:19 of the first, and he made it 2-0 with 4:19 gone in the second. Brisson got his pair 12 minutes apart in the second as the Stars carried a 4-0 lead into the final.

Proulx scored with just 52 seconds gone in the final while Pascal Desnoyer sat out Casselman netminder Marc Fredette's roughing minor, and McPhail drew the Vipers to within two when he scored 2:45 into the period.

The Stars struck for two extra-man goals in a span of 1:26 with Rainville scoring with 7:09 gone on a two-man advantage, while Lee Charlebois was off for hooking and David Leblanc was sitting out a high sticking call.

Menard got his third of the game while Leblanc finished out his minor.

Cholette got Long Sault's third, with 4:54 remaining, and Rainville got Casselman's seventh with 4:01 to play.

Pascal Decoeur, with a pair, Mike Scott, Chris Roy, Charlebois and McPhail each had assists for the Vipers.

Crysler shocks RC Heagle 3-1

FINCH - A week after holding first-place Finch to a 2-2 draw, R.C. Heagle lost a 3-1 shocker to Crysler in Finch Women's Broomball League action here Monday night.

In the night's other game, Finch registered its 14th win in 17 games with a 2-0 shutout over the Seaway Hawks.

Crysler 3 - Heagle 1

Crysler moved three points ahead of the Hawks in the battle for third place with the win Monday night. It was only their third of the season.

Heagle grabbed a 1-0 lead when Angie Vanier scored at 14:38 of the first, from Kim Beehler, but Crysler tied it six minutes later with Tanner scoring from J. Yelle. Roxanne Yelle got the winner, unassisted, at 22:50 of the second and Herfkens got the insurance goal at 16:54 from Tanner and G. Yelle.

Finch 2 - Hawks 0

Wendy Shaver had a goal and an assist to lead Finch to its 14th win of the season. The teams played to a scoreless draw through the first and Shaver got the first goal of the game at 10:09 of the second from Kim and Kelly Shaver. Kim Shaver got Finch's second goal with 1:32 left in the game.

Canucks take four-point lead, Dawgs, Grumpy's tied at five points

FINCH - The Chesterville Canucks grabbed a four-point lead in their semifinal playoff series with Avonmore Friday night, dumping the Aces 6-3, while Long Sault and Berwick split their weekend NSIHL games to remain tied after two weekends of play.

The Canucks, who lead their series 6-2, could finish Avonmore off Friday night while Long Sault and Berwick will have to play at least two more games to decide their series, which is deadlocked at five points each.

Canucks 6 - Aces 3

Kent Young scored three goals and Bob Deleevey had a pair in the Canucks' win Friday night. Young and Deleevey each scored twice in the first half to give the Canucks a 4-2 lead at the intermission.

Deleevey opened the scoring at 15:58 but the Aces grabbed a 2-1 lead on goals by Ed Gove, at 11:15, and Chris Lefebvre, at 10:48. Young got his first at 9:51 to tie it and then put the Canucks ahead at 3:52. Deleevey made it 4-2 with 2:26 left in the period.

Young got his third to make it 5-2 at 16:00 of the second and Frank Sinfield drew the Aces to within two 1:03 later. John Morrow scored for the Canucks with seven seconds left in the game.

Bull Dogs 5 Grumpy's 1

Berwick took a 2-0 lead out of the first half on their way to a 5-1 win and a two-point lead in their series Friday night., Scoring for the Dawgs in the first were Chad Brownlee and Kevin Villeneuve. They ran it to 4-0, on goals by Mike Grady at 13:47 and Jeff MacLean at 4:29, before Josh Gowsell finally put Long Sault on the board with 1:36 left in the game. Steve Tait got Berwick's fifth goal, with 36 seconds left on the clock.

Grumpy's 7 Bull Dogs 4

Gowsell and Andrew Barrie each scored twice to lead Long Sault to their win Sunday night and back into a series tie.

Long Sault led 4-1 after one on Gowsell's pair and singles by Barrie and Mark Donnelly. John Grady replied for the Dawgs.

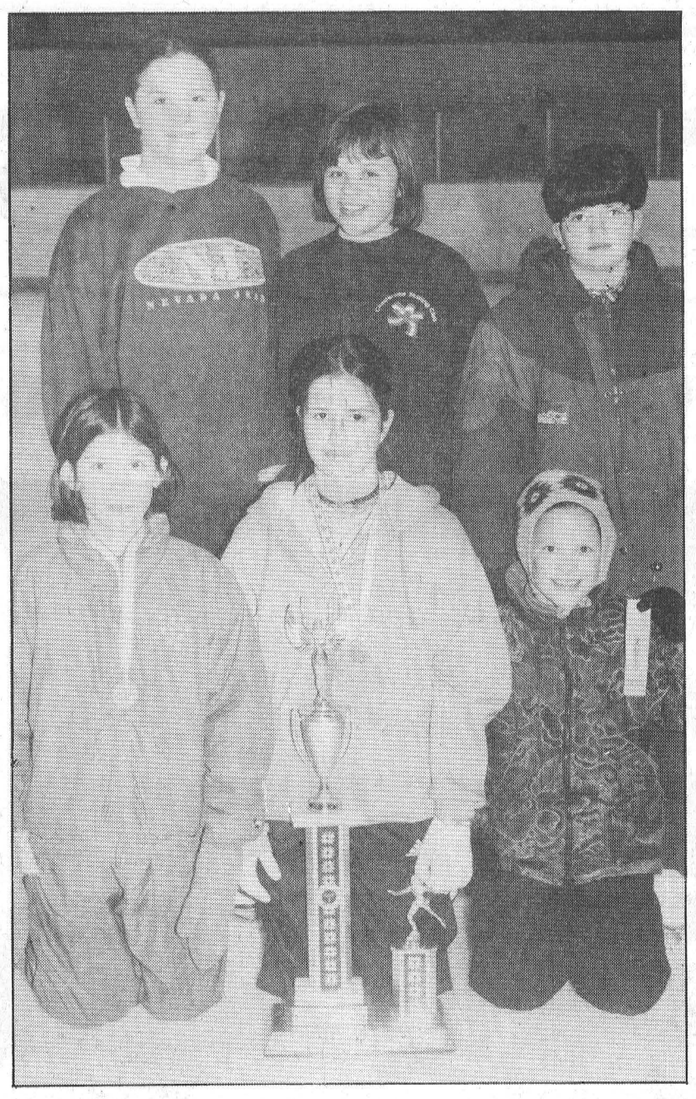
Barrie made it 5-1 at 19:16 of the second but the Dawgs came back with three straight to make a game of it. Tait scored at 14:08, McLean made it 5-3 at 5:45 and Chris Leroux brought them to within one 37 seconds later.

Craig Villeneuve and Brian Synott each scored in the last minute of the game to preserve the win.

This weekend

All four teams play this Friday night. If Chesterville wins Friday night, Berwick and Long Sault will play Sunday. If Avonmore wins then it's Avonmore and Chesterville in action again Sunday night.

The Junior C Express have the ice the followign Friday night.



Members of the Chesterville Skating Club participated in the Cardinal Recreational competition Sunday, and returned with some awards. In the front row, Emma Bowie got a medal for a third place finish, Jennifer Foster a trophy for a first place showing and Rebecca Bowie a ribbon for fourth. Also competing were (back row) Amy Collins, Cathy McGlashan and Jacqueline Foster. Three members of the Chesterville Skating Club also competed in the Seaway Valley Interclub competition Saturday. They were Shannon Tyrell, Kaitlyn Thompson and Alicia Hunt.

Atoms split shut-outs

The North Dundas Atom 1 Demons allowed only one goal in two league games last week.

Unforutnately, it was in a 1-0 loss to Kemptville Saturday.

In their other game, the Demons got one in the second and two in the third on their way to a 3-0 blankingof Cornwall in Chesterville Feb. 10.

ND 3 - Cornwall 0

Dale Dellaire had a goal and an assist for the Demons in the win over visiting Cornwall and Craig Moran was unbeatable in the ND nets.

Dellaire got what held up as the winner at 6:46 of the second, from Matt Davies, as the Demons went into the final period ahead 1-0.

Blain Moran scored from Delaire at 5:13 of the third and Scott Brdley made it 3-0 with 4:36 to go in the game. Ben Baker had the assist onm the third goal.

Kemptville 1 - ND 0

Peter Freeth scored the only goal of the game at 9:15 of the third, from Brendan Conquer, as Kemtpville blanked the Demons. Each team had a man in the box at the time of the goal. ND's Adam Guy and Kemptville's Brenna were off for roughing.

Hawks end season in third, face Char-Lan in first round

Rich Thorpe
Record Staff

WINCHESTER — It was a photo finish in the race for first place in the St. Lawrence Division of the Rideau-St. Lawrence Junior B Hockey League.

At the end of the regular season, just one point separated the top three teams. Alexandria won the tie-breaker with Char-Lan to claim the league pennant with 62 points. The Hawks came in third with 61 points, setting up what should be an intense and prolonged first round series with the Rebels.

Game one of the best of seven starts on Fri., Feb. 20 in Williamstown at 8:15 p.m. Game two, is set for Sat., Feb. 21 in Winchester at 8:15 p.m. Game three will be played on Tues., Feb. 24 in Williamstown at 8:15 p.m. Game four is set for Fri., Feb. 27 in Winchester at 8:15 p.m.

Game five, if necessary, has been scheduled for Sat., Feb. 28 in Williamstown at 7:45 p.m. Game six, if necessary, will be played on Mon., March 2 in Winchester at 8:15 p.m. Game seven, if necessary, will be in Williamstown on Tues., March 3 at 8:15 p.m.

As for the other St. Lawrence Division series, Alexandria will hold home ice advantage against the defending Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League Champion Kemptville 73's. As a testament to the strength of the St. Lawrence Division, the 73's finished with 50 points which left Kemptville in fourth place. However, had the 73's been in the Rideau Division, they would have clinched the league pennant with that record.

Game one will be played on Fri., Feb. 20 in Alexandria at 8:30 p.m. Game two will go on Sun., Feb. 22 in Kemptville at 7:30 p.m. Game three will be played on Wed., Feb. 25 in Alexandria at 7:30 p.m. Game four will be on Fri., Feb. 27 in Kemptville at 8:15 p.m.

The Hawks received more than their fair share of accolades for their outstanding regular season performance.

Left winger Ryan Nichol won the scoring title and the sportsmanship and ability award and was named to the St. Lawrence Division's First All-Star team. Centre Eric Savard was also picked to the First All-Star team as was General Manager Bill Wammes.

Right wing Jeff Leonard was named to the Second All-Star team along with coaches Lindsay Selleck and Jeff Johnston. Defenseman Chad Simpson and goalie Gregg Griffith earned positions on the All-Rookie Team for the St. Lawrence Division.

By hook or by crook

North Dundas Demons' Trent Scott is upended just as he gets off this third-period shot on Cornwall Royals' netminder Nick Filion during last Tuesday night's UCMHL Novice B game in Chesterville. Scott scored ND's second goal as the Demons edged Cornwall 3-2 to capture the UCMHL East Division pennant with a 19-1-0 record. The Demons have four games left in their regular schedule.

Undefeated in '98, Bantams claim pennant

The North Dundas #2 Bantam Demons wrapped up first place in the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League's East Division with three wins last week, their sixth, seventh and eighth in a row. The Demons claimed the division pennant with two games to go in the regular season.

The Demons, with a season record of 16-3-3, haven't lost a game in 1998. Their last defeat was on Dec. 30 when they dropped a 4-3 decision in the A final of a tournament in Kanata.

The team gave up just four goals in their three latest wins and so far in 1998 they have allowed two or fewer goals in five of their eight straight victories.

On Thurs., Feb. 12, the Demons took a 3-1 first-period lead en route to a 6-2 win over the visiting South Grenville Rangers; on Sat., Feb. 14 they doubled Brockville 2-1 in a make-up of a postponed Jan. 14 game and on Sunday they led 3-0 going into the third to win 4-1 over Brockville #2.

ND 6 - SG 2

Tyler Brown had two goals and two assists to lead ND over the Rangers last Thursday night in Winchester.

The Demons grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first on goals by Brendan Flowers, assisted by Phillip Hansma and Brown, at 10:46, Brown from Aaron Kelly and Flowers at 7:28, and Danny Pelkey, from Jason Klassen and Kelly with 56 seconds left in the period.

Klassen scored from Derek Murdoch and Brown at 7:06 of the second and Tyler Hoy made it 5-1 20 seconds later, from Klassen and Brodie Spratt.

Brown got his second of the game at 13:08 of the third, from Kelly and Murdoch.

ND 2 - Brockville 1

Shane Skinner's goal with 33 seconds left in the game spoiled ND netminder Rob Lacelle's shut-out bid in Brockville Saturday.

Klassen staked the Demons to a 1-0 led after one when he scored from Hansma and Robbie Brannen at 10:13 and Brown got what held up as the winner, unassisted, at 9:41 of the third.

ND took three of the game's four minors.

ND 4 - Brockville #2 1

Lacelle played shut-out hockey through the first two periods and ND got one in the first and a pair in the second to lead 3-0 going into the final frame Sunday in Winchester.

Kelly figured in all four ND goals, scoring two, to pace the Demons. He opened the scoring at 6:09 of the first from Brown and Klassen and Brannen made it 2-0 at 13:51 of the second from Murdoch and Kelly. Brown got ND's third goal, with 1:15 remaining in the period, from Kelly and Kelly closed out the scoring with 7:42 left in the game, unassisted. Steve Good was the only Brockville player to get one past Lacelle, scoring with 9:42 left in the game.
