Proposed boat yard in Matilda Township closer to reality

by Don Moore
Chieftain Staff Reporter

The proposed boat yard in Matilda Township is somewhat closer to reality, but it may be a long time before the last hurdle is cleared.

The concept for the boat yard was outlined to Maltida Township Council on September 11. Now the next step in the rezoning process has been staged. Last Thursday evening, November 6, Council chambers were crowded as local lawyer Mr. Grenkie described what was proposed for the land below the former railroad line through Iroquois and Matilda Township.

The rezoning meeting was called to consider a proposed official plan amendment and a proposed zoning by-law amendment. The amendment to the official plan would change the designation of some 40 acres of land from Rural to Highway Commercial. This land is located in part lot 25, 26 and 27, range 1, concession 1 of the Township.

The zoning by-law amendment would change the zone category from Rural to Commercial, Highway.

Mr. Grenkie explained that the development would consist of an 8-unit motel, outside storage for boats, some covered storage, and a maintenance shop. The buildings would be located on the flat land below the old rail right-of-way, and thus would be shielded from the highway, according to Mr. Grenkie. A "travel lift" would also be constructed in order to move the boats from the shore line to the storage area.

The developer, Mr. Wells, intends to cater to the owners of large boats, of 25 feet and larger. He says that there is a lack of facilities for such boats along the St. Lawrence River. He believes that the boat yard would provide additional employment in the area.

The rest of the 40-acre area would remain as open space, according to Mr. Grenkie, and other tourist-related businesses might come in.

However, residents who attended the meeting disputed the claim that there would be ready access to the St. Lawrence River, pointing out that in their experience a great deal of dredging would be required.

Mr. Eaton, who has a new home under construction just west of the site in question, objected to a commercial venture being located on his "very doorstep". He complained that he had bought land under the impression that adjacent land was zoned Rural, and was to remain as such. "It will be like Grand Central Station down there," he said.

The change to Highway Commercial was a major shift in concept for the area, in Mr. Eaton's opinion. He also worried about future development when he had paid a considerable sum to buy privacy. He also asked what standard of construction would be used, and what the tax impact might be.

A preliminary estimate, given by Mr. Grenkie was that the first construction would be in the neighbourhood of $500,000. Reeve Lorne Mellan noted that all construction would need to meet the Ontario Building Code, and be approved by the Township.

Mr. Elliott, saying that he was mainly concerned about the environmemtal impact of the facility and the dredging, wondered why another marina was needed. He also thought that the boat yard's presence would depress property values, and would affect many people.

A suggestion that the area be used for the building of estate houses was made by Bill Fridgen, who calculated that the land would bring a greater tax return. "It just doesn't seem right," he said, "to upset the apple cart in this manner."

However, Mr. Grenke noted that rural land could not, normally, be subdivided for houses, but being zoned Rural, could be used for a pig farm or other farm use.

None of the residents who attended the meeting spoke in favour of the proposed boat yard. Other comments from the floor concerned the amount of water frontage that was involved, who would pay for the dredging, and what other businesses would be allowed under the Highway Commercial tag. Highway Commercial normally allows sales and service outlets, stores and restaurants, a car wash, and mobile home sales, among other business establishments.

Morrisburg Council plans funding campaign for arena ice plant

by Pat Hare
Chieftain Staff Reporter

A campaign for funds is in preparation by Morrisburg Council to meet the Village's $100,000 share of the cost of a new ice plant for the Arena. The Minister of Tourism and Recreation is committed to paying the $100,000 balance.

Under discussion at the Council meeting, Monday, November 10, were ideas such as Village and Williamsburg Township participation in a fund raising campaign, with particular emphasis on service clubs and user groups such as Minor Hockey, and Figure Skating.

"Renovations are expected to commence in May, 1987," said Councillor Rosenquist. "The building will not be available in May and possibly June to groups who often book it for dances during that period" he added, "but it should be ready for events from July onward."

Councillor Belanger foresees a major fund raising effort, complete with a fund status board in the Village providing a visual indication of the status of the campaign as the dollars climb toward the $100,000 goal.

Even though the provincial support for the Arena renovations will probably come from the Wintario and Lottario profits, Council voted against supporting petitions received from two municipalities on the subject of reallocation of Lottery funds by the government. The City of Brampton and the Town of Onaping Falls have asked their counterparts in Ontario to petition against the government's intention to remove the existing "legislated designation" which restricts the use of Lottery funds to culture and recreational projects. Based on a statement by The Honourable Robert Nixon, Treasurer of Ontario, a change in designation would permit the government to direct money to the general tax fund to meet a range of top priorities facing the government.

The resolution from the City of Brampton points out that: the January, 1986 budget of Ontario allocated $25 million to programs for new and conservation projects for fitness, sport and recreational purposes; that profits from Wintario and Lottario were approximately $95 million; that the government had applications for grants exceeding $58 million; and that the Municipalities should demand that the money collected from the public for cultural and recreational projects be used to honour the applications. In the view of Brampton Council "the allocation of a total of $25 million will result in many municipalities and agencies being denied much needed funds for essential programmes and facilities."

The bottom line" said Gerry Rosenquist, Chairman, Parks and Recreation Committee, "is that government will decide what money is to be spent. If we get it one way, we'll lose it somewhere else." On this basis, Reeve Dillabough, said COuncillors McCooeye, Shearing and Belanger agreed to abstain from this controversy.

A letter from the Guiding Organization in Morrisburg made Council acutely aware that the old High School is a busier place than they, or probably most citizens, realize.

On behalf of The Guiding organization, Lois Rosenquist attended the meeting to support the written request for additional space on Tuesday evenings for Brownies and Pathfinders. Citing a membership of 36 Brownies, 36 Guides, 14 Pathfinders, plus 12 adults, Mrs. Rosenquist explained that during the past three years they have been allowed to use additional space in the build-

School committee meets tonight

The Seaway District High School Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m.

An item which was carried over from the last meeting has to do with school organization. This has to do with restructuring class cycles into one of two systems, these being a nine-period traditional schedule, or a ten-period semestered schedule. A decision must be made by the school staff before December 1, 1986.

Because the deadline is fast approaching, the issue must be resolved at the School Committee meeting tonight. Parents are urged to attend the meeting and make their views known.

At the last meeting, Mr. Lloyd gave an estimate of $67,000 to resurface the track, and noted that the school has accumulated about $20,000 toward repairs. However, there has been no decision as yet as to how to approach the problem, whether to pave the track or to try to restore it to its original condition.

The School Committee is made up of 4 students, 4 parents, and 4 teachers, with alternates also being selected.

Iroquois residents celebrate Nov. 11

Standing room only, was the order of the day for Iroquois' Commemoration and Memorial Service on Sunday, November 9 at the Civic Centre.

Members of the Iroquois Royal Canadian Legion Branch 370 organized and led the Remembrance Day service.

The programme began with the marching on of the Colours led by Parade Marshall Jim Logie, followed by the singing of O' Canada.

Two Iroquois girls, Mary Dulmage and Shelley Robertson, winners in the Legion Literary Competition, read their winning essay and poem respectively.

The memorial address was given by Arch Deacon Irwin who remembered those who in time of great need gave all they had to give.

He also said there are three kinds of givers and rememberers - the token givers and rememberers, and all I can afford, and the all that I have.

The two minutes silence was observed followed by the singing of O' Valiant Hearts, the benediction and God Save The Queen.

The Legionnaires, businessmen, Firemen, beavers, scouts, girl guides, brownies, and others who attended, then marched to the Cenotaph led by the Colour Party for the laying of the wreaths.

The following wreaths were laid: Local Government by Reeve Frank Rooney, Branch 370 Legion by Poppy Chairman Leonard Roberts, Ladies Auxiliary Branch 370 by Rose Marie Lavallie, On behalf of those who lost a relative Mrs. Lieverdink, Business Community - Lorraine Fader, and the Youth of Iroquois - Mary Dulmage and Shelley Robertson.

Laying of wreaths at Iroquois Cenotaph

Many gathered at Iroquois' Cenotaph for the wreath laying part of the Remembrance Day Service on Sunday, November 9th. Reeve Rooney of Iroquois laid the wreath on behalf of the Government. The laying of the wreaths concluded the Memorial Service for the fallen Comrades who gave all they had to give.

Final selection of consulting firm to be made this month

by Paul Evans
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Five engineering consulting companies vying for a contract to formulate a plan for a mutual waste disposal program for eight Leeds and Grenville and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County municipalities have been shortlisted by the project's steering committee.

The five companies were selected from about 40 applicants and a final selection of the consulting firm, which will develop a master plan for the project including waste disposal site and method recommendations and environmental assessments, is to be discussed at a meeting later in November, says Iroquois' steering committee representative, Councillor John Haldane.

The committee is also trying to convince two more municipalities, Prescott and Augusta, to join the project. At this time the townships of Mountain, Edwardsburgh, Matilda and Winchester and the villages of Iroquois, Chesterville, Winchester and Cardinal are involved in the study.

"The more municipalities they can get into the thing the better it will be," says Councillor Haldane. "It's an expensive project but it will be ideal for everyone if they can come up with the right site."

The Village of Iroquois now has a waste disposal agreement with the Township of Matilda, he says, but their dump site is expected to be full in about ten years.

Councillor Haldane says Iroquois Council wants the village to be ready to change sites well in advance and because the Ministry of the Environment has become more stringent in their waste disposal regulations, the council wants to be prepared if the ministry decides to restrict their dumping operations before the site is full.

The cost of developing the mutual waste disposal plan is expected to be at least $75,000, half of which is to be contributed by the Ministry of Environment, and Councillor Haldane estimates the total cost of implementing the project could be more than $300,000.

The cost of disposing the waste after the system is set up will probably be more than $30 per ton but it will still be cheaper than the more than $40,000 a year that Iroquois is now paying.

At the Inaugral Steering Committee meeting in August, the Ministry of the Environment's representative, engineer Joseph

Iroquois to hold Ident-a-child day

On Saturday, November 29, the Ident-a-child program will be instituted in Iroquois. It will be held in the meeting room in the Iroquois Civic Centre from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The program is being sponsored by the Iroquois Summer Festival Committee, in conjunction with the Ontario Provincial Police. Constable Alan Lummiss of the Winchester detachment will be on hand.

The Ident-a-child program has proven to be very popular. The process involves taking fingerprints, a very painless procedure; a record is also taken of such things as the child's height, and colouring. The records stay with the parents, and the parents may use the records if a child goes missing.

Ombudsman to be available to area

The Office of the Ombudsman has the mandate to investigate complaints from the public concerning all provincial departments and agencies.

The district officer for the Office of the Ombudsman for Ottawa and eastern Ontario, will be visiting the Brockville area on November 19 and 20. The ombudsman plans to meet a number of community groups and to be available to meet, privately, individuals with complaints.

Individual complainants can meet on a first-come first-serve basis from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Brockville City Hall on November 20.

The schedule for November 19 and 20 includes meetings with the following organizations:

November 19:

1 p.m. - Meeting with staff of the Cardinal Community Resource Centre, Dundas Street, Cardinal.

3 p.m. - Meeting with staff and professionals employed by other agencies: Family Focus, 32 Wall Street.

7:30 p.m. - Meeting with the Brockville and District Labour Council, 51 King Street West.

November 20: 11 a.m. - Meeting with members and other seniors at the Shepherd's Centre, 82 Emma Street.

Scouting program well established

The Scouting movement in the Iroquois-Matilda district is well established, but Scout Master Peter Graham hopes that even more boys will be attracted soon. At the investiture ceremony last Thursdav there were 7 boys in the Scout Troop, forming two patrols.

The boys who form the Troop are Patrol Leader Chuck Crunkshank, Assistance leader Darren Code, and Scout Simon Wilson of the Sky Hawks Patrol, and Patrol Leader Jason Barkley, Assistant leader Kirk Rumble, and Scouts Anthony Orlicky and Todd Beaupre of the Wolverine Patrol.

The program is for boys 11 to 14, and they usually move up after going through the Beaver program, ages 5 to 8, and Cubs, ages 8 to 10.

Usually there is no lack of interest among boys as far as Scouting is concerned; generally it is more difficult to attract parents. At the moment the Troop is lucky to have two dedicated leaders, Scout Master Peter Graham and Scouter Bill Rumble. Bill also doubles as Chairman of the Group Committee, the "civilian" organization that oversees the operation of the Scouts, Cubs and Beavers.

The local group is sponsored by the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club.

IROQUOIS BRANCH 370 LEGION REPORT

Dr. Peter Playfair

Last week in the House of Commons, the Minister of Veterans Affairs Honourable George Hees, spoke about Remembrance Day. He said: "Honourable members, Remembrance Day must never become a day just for veterans and politicians. It should be a day when the entire nation pauses to reflect on the many blessings we have inherited from those who lie buried in seventy countries and the seven seas. Let us never forget that they gave their lives so that we might know peace.

When King George VI dedicated our National War Memorial in 1939, he said: 'The very soul of the nation is here revealed'. I think the same can be said for all cenotaphs and war memorials that grace so many of our towns and cities in this country. My sincere hope is that wherever or however Canadians observe Remembrance Day they will not regard it as a routine duty but as a very special privilege."

The Iroquois Branch began its observances with the announcement of the Remembrance Day Poster Contest winners. All Branch members congratulate Sara Rushton, the Junior winner from Iroquois Public School, and Corey Albert and Terri Brennan, Intermediate and Senior Winners from Seaway District High School. We wish them luck in the Zone competition, upcoming.

Branch 370 held it's first annual Remembrance Day dinner Saturday when Honours and Awards Chairman and President Ray Delegarde made a presentation to Comrade Leonard Roberts. Comrade Gerry Cornell gave a short description of his duties as Branch Service Officer. Two excellent films were enjoyed.

Sunday afternoon saw our Annual Remembrance Day Commemoration and Memorial Service in the Iroquois Civic Centre. Poppy Chairman Comrade Len Roberts was the master of ceremonies for a well-attended event. Led by the Legion Colour Party the parade included Legionnaires, Ladies Auxiliary members, Iroquois Fire Department, Lions Club, Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs, Scouts and Beavers. Mrs. Jane Graham did her usual topnotch job as pianist with Ken Kirkby leading the singing. Archdeacon Sid Irwin gave an inspiring and thought-provoking address. The Chairman, Zone President Ed Hitchinson and Youth Education Chairman Dr. Peter Playfair read from the Bible or said prayers. Mary Dulmage and Shelley Robertson read their award-winning Essay and Poem from the 1985 Remembrance Day Literary Contest. The Iroquois Branch is very grateful to all those who participated in any way to make this such a splendid event.

Our Branch here is one of 1750 in Canada with some 600,000 members and nearly 100,000 ladies' auxiliary members. Last year the Legion spent over 30 million dollars on Community activities plus countless hours of volunteer time implementing the social service programs. We provide about 1000 students' bursaries for continuing education. There are sports training programs for young athletes, and sponsorships in hockey, baseball, softball, soccer, lacrosse and track and field. The Canadian Legion sponsors the national literary and poster contest and also public-speaking competitions for school-age young folk. There are also fellowships in geriatric medicine to train nurses and doctors in that important field. 3200 low-rental housing units for senior citizens are provided in 60 communities. And the list goes on.

Coming up shortly will be the 1986 Literary Contest in the area schools. Closing date for these entries is November 21st.

Bird Notes

by E. G. AVERY

The change from Autumn to near-Winter brings a feeling of uncertainty in the world of Nature. Most migrating birds are well on their way South, although a few slow-pokes can still be seen.

The landscape gradually changes from lush green to dull browns and greys, and now the trees are yielding up the secrets they have kept all summer, as we can see the nests where Sparrows and Robins have brought forth their families. Squirrels are scampering about gathering supplies for the long winter.

Bird watchers who live along the Broken Second are busy these days. We expected to hear about Grosbeaks and Blue Jays; even Woodpeckers, both Downy and Hairy, were not too much of a surprise, but we were not prepared for this one: "There's a Robin digging worms on our lawn". Robins have vanished from our village for the most part, but on Sunday we heard that anyone who is longing for one more glimpse of a Redbreast should go down to the Upper Canada Village area, where the grass is apparently greener.

Starlings are moving in from the fields, and look quite different in their Winter coats; they still wear the irridescent blue but have added golden speckles, and their bills are dark now.

Snow Buntings just couldn't wait for the snow to come, according to two reports this week. They are easy to identify in their white plumage with touches of brown and black. Snow Buntings travel in flocks and are often seen in open fields, along the roadsides, and along the beach area here.

It seems a little bit ridiculous to be talking about Mosquitoes in November, but they do seem to have over-stayed their time this year. It has been suggested that the low numbers of Swallows and Martins this summer have contributed to a surplus of flying insects.

Spectacular sunsets are the order of the day, as old Sol goes to bed early these evenings in the proverbial blaze of glory.

Villeneuve proposes riding name change

Noble Villeneuve, M.P.P. for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry intends to introduce legislation to change the name of the new provincial riding to Stormont, Dundas Glengarry and East Grenville.

"I know that's quite a mouthful", says Villeneuve, "but the new riding includes one half of Grenville County and it's only fair that this fact should be represented in the name of the new constituency."

Villeneuve wants the legislation introduced quickly in order to avoid any costly reprinting of election-related maps and material by the Chief Electoral Offices.

Villeneuve will introduce the Bill for First Reading within the next few weeks, but in order for it to get prompt attention for Second Reading, he will need the consent of both Liberals and New Democrats in the Legislature. Every bill must pass three readings in order to become law. It is up to the Government House Leader, Robert Nixons, to schedule a bill for the third and final reading.

Iroquois Bakery re-opens

After an extended round of illness, David Kelly is back in business at the Iroquois Bakery.

Mr. Kelly opened the bakery on February 6, 1986, and it was a welcome addition to the Iroquois Shopping Plaza. But sickness overcame the entire family two months ago, forcing the premises to close. At first, Mr. Kelly thought that he would be back on his feet within a few days, but it was not to be. His mother came down with the flu, and Mr. Kelly himself ended up with pneumonia, and other complications, keeping them from re-opening the bakery for an extended period.

Paying special homage on Nov. 11th

by Norm Warner, M.P.

On November 11th, we had the opportunity to pay special homage to those men and women who died in service to their country. We honoured those who fought for Canada in the First World War, the Second World War, and the Korean War.

More than 1,500,000 Canadians left the comfort and security of their homes to defend the rights and freedoms we presently enjoy. Over 100,000 of these courageous individuals never made it home. Many more returned with injuries that would trouble them for the rest of their lives.

Records tell of specific campaigns and battles and of war individual acts of courage which turned the tide of war. They note the skillful strategies and brilliant leadership. All these must be remembered. But other aspects of war must be included in our histories. With every battle over this century, extremes of temperature, mud, mutilation, fatigue, fear and death were daily realities. While most of us have not experienced these hardships we can try to understand what the combattants experienced and learned from the survivors.

Remembrance Day is not just a time for those who saw wartime service, or widows or dependants of veterans. Every Canadian has a very special reason to look back in commemoration. So much of what we enjoy; our freedom to participate in cultural and policical events, our right to live under a government of our choice, our security and protection under the law, was secured by the veterans of the two World Wars and Korea. We continue to reap the benefits of the sacrifices of others.

On November 11th, we wear poppies. We pause for two minutes of silent tribute and we attend commemorative ceremonies in memory of wartime dead. For one special day each year we remember and focus our attention on why we must work for peace all year round.

Proud to Remember

November 11 is a day set aside for people around the world to honour their war veterans, and those who sacrificed their lives, so we could enjoy our freedom.

It is a sad realization that there are a great many people who use many arguments against remembering those who fought for us.

Without the sacrifice that these people made, we most likely would have a government who would control our minds and dictate the way to live our lives. Probably we would be told what profession to choose, not be able to voice our opinions, have freedom of the press, have control of our own destiny, be able to practice the faith in the religion of our choice or attend church.

One must never forget the valuable gift, nor the individual sacrifices those courageous men and women went through for our benefit. To brave the hardships of war a demon in itself. Separated from loved ones, being surrounded by adversity, witnessing death and heartache, being cold and hungry. Trying to surpress their fears, and most of all survive the traumatic experience. For those who survived it would be an experience that would come to haunt them from time to time.

The war not only affected those who were fighting in it, but also affected the lives of the family members and friends left at home. The war years were tense years, and no one escaped the pain and suffering. Many laid down their lives: husbands, sons, daughters, relatives, boyfriends and fiancees never returned, many were stripped of their youth. Bewildered children had to deal with the fact that daddy wasn't coming home - ever.

Victims would not have the opportunity to share in the lives of family members, to guide, nurture or tend to the needs of their families' growth. Ones who were fortunate enough to return suffered serious injury, loss of limbs, physical as well as emotional scars.

For those men and women who survived the ordeal of war, we must make them die a little more inside each year as people stop recognizing them. Did they give their lives in vain? They gave so much, and in return we give so little.

If we are taught and realize the facts of war, the horror of war and try to comprehend its devastation and destruction it will make us strive to appreciate and value what we have...PEACE... then they will not have died in vain.

Lest We Forget!

Jane Ewing

Fire Department to exist legally

The Village of Cardinal will soon have a fire department in the legal sense of the word. A motion was passed at Monday night's Council Meeting to authorize the drafting of a by-law which would establish a Cardinal Fire Department.

The Village has actually had a volunteer force since 1953 but it was never authorizes by law to exist. The monthly report from the Village Fire Chief to Council this month contained a request that Council pass a by-law to establish a Fire Department for the protection of the municipality and of the department.

Quarry Road closed

Matilda Township Council has been given the green light to proceed with plans to close the road that leads to Fetterly's Quarry, west of Iroquois. Binnion's Road as it is properly known will soon be closed at a point 500 feet north of Highway No. 2.

Weekend vandalism

Vandals in Iroquois on Sunday night did damage estimated at over $4,000 to two telephone booths and a beach building. A stop sign at the intersection of Highway 2 and County Road 2 was also removed. The vandals attached a chain around all the obstacles and attempted to remove them from their foundations by pulling them with a vehicle. The two telephone booths were located at Fetterly's Garage and at the Lockview Gift Shop on the point. A lifeguard's shelter and storage building at the Iroquois beach was also destroyed.

Iroquois store to close after 30 years.

One of the oldest business establishments in Iroquois, Saver's Department Store will soon be closing its doors for the last time. The decision to go out of business was made, according to owner Jack Saver, as a result of changing times. Also influencing his decision was the fact that his son Michael is not interested in becoming involved in the family business.

Busy night for Cardinal thieves

Thieves in Cardinal last Wednesday night managed to do a good deal of damage without getting much for their efforts. They made their first stop at the Voyageur Restaurant at the intersection of Highway 401 and the Shanly Road, then moved to Baker and Fletcher Pharmacy on Dundas Street.

The intruders smashed the glass in the front door of the restaurant to gain entry and then proceeded to force open the cigarette machine. They proceeded into the restaurant kitchen and in doing so triggered an alarm that alerted the manager in her home in Cardinal.

Several hours later at Baker and Fletcher Pharmacy the front window was broken to allow the thieves access to the store. Once inside they search for money but finding none, made off with some prescription drugs, valued at $130.00.

Present Golf Clubhouse

Down by the riverside, this home of the old days is now the Iroquois Golf Clubhouse, noting of course that there have been a few changes since this picture was taken. Boat races were held in front of this home around 1950 and Dr. Chas. Haley had been one of the last owners.

Good year for Iroquois Council

One Year Later

One Year ago voters were going to the polls to elect their representatives for the next three years. In Iroquois, Reeve Rooney was acclaimed, but five hopefuls were contesting the four Council seats.

Reeve Frank Rooney had intended to run on a platform of improvements, with a face-lift for the Iroquois Shopping Plaza being a priority. He also wanted to attract industry to the Village. As it turned out, he did not have to defend his proposals on the election platform, but throughout the first year of his new term he has been able to bring a change to the Shopping Plaza, in the form of a mini-mall, or what the architects called Plaza Square.

Contestants for the Council seats had made no specific promises, but most had hopes that improvements could be made to the Village in general. Lorraine Fader, in her bid for a seat, expressed a desire to contribute more to the Village, and has certainly done so through her activities on the Recreation Committee and the Summer Festival Committee. Joyce Fader also had hopes of improving the Shopping Plaza, and both John Haldane and Joan Saver were promoting residential developments.

A year later, all Council members believe that it has been a good year, with the biggest accomplishment being the co-operation with which Council worked. As some of the Councillors have said, one alone can accomplish little, but by working together much gets done.

Lawyers may advertise

If there's a will there's a way, could be one for getting people to have their wills drawn up.

Slogans of this type may soon be broadcast over television and radio stations now that the Upper Canada Law Society has recently eased restrictions on lawyers being allowed to advertise.

The recent announcement from the society on advertising regulations may appear to be a breakthrough but it didn't excite lawyers in rural areas though.

I spoke to lawyers in Kemptville, Cardinal and Morrisburg and they all, basically, made the same statement. Lawyers in large cities will probably take advantage of it but lawyers in small communities probably won't advertise with the exception of a new practice starting up, they said.

I find that statement unbusinesslike. The only reason I wouldn't advertise would be because I didn't need the business. What does it matter if you're in Toronto or Moonbeam, Ontario. If you have the right and you want to drum up business, I'd devise up some cute ad to let the public know I exist. I guess the rural lawyers have enough work on their hands by word-of-mouth, which is great on their part.

I do understand though, why a lawyer wouldn't advertise a fixed price on a will or a criminal case when time spent on these types of things varies.

The lawyers also have to comply with conditions such as the ads have to be in good taste and they can't advertise discounts.

In the United States lawyers are allowed to advertise any service they provide in any way they see fit. It works there but the Upper Canada Law Society must fear seeing ads such as a person just zapped in a electric chair and then a voice saying they should have seen such and such a law firm first. Tacky? Not in the business world my friend and such type ads do air in the United States. And being a lawyer means being a businessman. They offer services and should be allowed to advertise to the same capacity as their Americian counterparts. They may be verbal and written services but verbal can be considered material because it involves money.

Just look at the many airhead ads we are forced to watch and listen to now. A bunch of people dressed like fruits running around for an underwear manufacturing ad. Some naive person pretending to be in paradise when he takes a bite out of a chocolate bar. Give me a break. Lawyers are intelligent creatures, they wouldn't even have to hire an ad firm. They know their business the best and I think we would be seeing and hearing some interesting ads. This is what free-enterprise is all about. So come on Upper Canada Law Society, get out of the conservative Canadian syndrome and let the good times roll. Sorry thats a Kawasaki motorcycle ad, I meant let the gavel fall where it may but this dragon of a lawyer is never slayed.

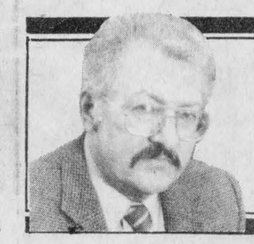
"Everything alright?"



Peter Hessel

Elizabeth is a gourmet cook. That's not why I married her, but it certainly didn't hurt her chances. So with a terrific, imaginative cook in the family, who needs restaurants?

Well, once in a while we do pig out, just to be able to compare. Also to escape from the kids. Or we may take the children with us, to treat the whole family to "eating out".

It is a big deal for the children to eat at a restaurant. I'm not talking about assembly line feeding stations like McDowell's (name slightly changed to protect the innocent). I mean establishments that serve food made from agricultural products, prepared - hopefully - by a live chef or the equivalent thereof. In other words - in Stephanie's words - "a fancy restaurant".

Last Sunday we decided to go to a place that isn't only fancy but also expensive. That, of course, does not impress Stephanie who doesn't really understand the difference between a dime and a dollar yet.

This fancy, expensive restaurant was chosen because we had never dined there before, and someone whose name counts around here had recommended it. I should have followed my instinct and rejected the place on the grounds that my budget for restaurant food had already been exceeded. In other words, I couldn't afford it. But as in so many instances, my instinct was overruled by my pride. What self-respecting husband and father likes to admit that he can't afford to take his family out to dinner once in a while? It's like being unable to support them.

As we entered the restaurant - which shall remain nameless to protect me and the paper from a libel suit - we were greeted by a hostess whose professional smile wilted when she counted three young children. "Do you want booster seats?" she asked. No boosters necessary, we told her. Our kids have reasonably good table manners - especially in restaurants, and they have learned to sit on chairs. "Are you sure you don't want booster seats?" "Quite sure, thank you."

The decor was early Renaissance, with the odd Gothic window and Remanesque pillar thrown in for effect. Panelled wainscoting, dark, rustic beams. Menus that weighed half a pound, had a table of contents, an introduction, index and bibliography.

"How strange," I said, "all the prices are in French francs. Twenty-four francs for a hamburger steak - how much is that in Canadian dollars?" "It's not a hamburger steak, it's Hachis de Boeuf en bordure." Elizabeth corrected me with a degree of indignation, "and it's priced in dollars, as you very well know."

There was no children's menu, and the waiter pretended not to understand when we ordered "one serving of lasagna with two plates" for Duncan and Stephanie. His bow tie bobbed as he swallowed hard, but he finally got it right.

I won't bore you with the details of our meal. The food was fairly ordinary. My potatoes were undercooked, Elizabeth's carrots overdone. The soup was lukewarm. The wine - like everything else in the place - was grossly overpriced. In fact, the only thing this establishment seemed to excel in was their pricing policy. Like too many restaurants today it offered mediocre meals served by indifferent staff at magnificent prices. I suppose they use so much creative energy working out their prices that there is nothing left for cooking tasty meals.

Ten seconds after we had started the main course, the waiter came back. "Everything alright?" I was going to tell him to come back after we had a chance to find out, but a sharp pain in my right foot prevented me from saying what was on my mind. Elizabeth is easily embarrassed by what she interprets as my sarcastic remarks. Had the waiter come back two minutes later, I could have informed him about the little annoying details, but he wasn't seen again for quite some time.

Instead a young man dressed like a hospital orderly came to ask whether we wanted dessert. He was the only staff member who spoke to our children, in fact, he was a very pleasant chap. Everything went well with the cheesecake and the ice cream and the coffee.

But then came the Big Wait. It had never occurred to me before why people who serve meals in restaurants are called waiters and waitresses. It's because they let you wait and wait and wait.

Our man with the bobbing bow tie crossed the room a few times, but he shielded the eye facing our table with his hand. He looked like a horse with one blinker on. This continued for perhaps fifteen minutes. I finally got up and spoke to the so-called hostess. Instead of graciously apologizing, she snapped: "We're really busy today. It won't be long."

After another long wait - the children were getting a bit restless - the hostess with the leastest must have tripped our waiter up or something. At last he found our table again to present the bill. "I hope everything was alright," he had the nerve to say before he disappeared again.

I paid the bill at the cash and told Elizabeth: "I'm going back to the table to leave a tip." I placed two dollars in the hand of the white-clad dessert man. Then I prominently displayed one shiny new penny on our table.

Special evening for Beavers, Cubs and Scouts

by Sandra Lee Johnston
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Last Thursday night was a special one in the lives of quite a few local boys.

As their parents and grandparents watched eleven youngsters became "Beavers" at the Civic Centre Ceremony. These boys have been "kits" up to this point and having learned the Law, Promise and Motto of the Beaver Program, were invested as "Beavers". To show this distinction, each received an official tie and woggle. They also got, along with the five Beavers who returned this year from last year's colony, a new "tail" for their hats. These colour-coded tails symbolize growth by each young Beaver and will be changed in another ceremony in February.

It was an extra special night because two adults who had Beavers invested at this ceremony became leaders along side their sons. Mrs. Brenda Millard and Kim Cassel became part of the team headed by Sandra Lee Johnston. Judy DeJong is helping out this year but is not prepared to be inducted in the program at this time.

The cub pack was also present at the ceremony. There were seven Beavers who out-grew the Beaver colony and swam up to the wolf cub pack. (complete with big brown beaver tails!). Leaving the Beaver Dam and swimming to the Cub Pack the boys recited the Cub Law and received their ties, a link badge (showing they were Beavers and are now Cubs) and were welcomed with a grand wolf howl. Four other boys were also included in the Cub circle. These boys had not previously been in the scout movement. Keith Hall, Diane Orlicky, Dave Beach, Tom Winter and Kyle Hall a scout-in-training will show the cubs the path to follow this year.

Once all the Beavers and Cubs had played a game to unwind, refreshments were served and the proud boys headed home.

While all this was taking place a most impressive induction was happening in the United Church Hall. Six older boys became Boy Scouts in a well-presented candle-light ceremony.

Since neither Scout Master Peter Graham nor Bill Rumble had joined the movement, it befell District Commissioner Jack Tennant to invest them as well as the boys.

One boy has transferred from Morrisburg's branch to round out the Iroquois Troop. The parents watching felt the same pride the boys did when they repeated the Scout Law and exhibited Knowledge of Baden-Powell's history. (B.P. is the founder of the Scout Movement throughout the world). Their orientation to the scout program entitled them to wear the complete Boy Scout uniform with pride and dignity.

It has been some years since Iroquois has had a Boy Scout Troop . . . it is good to see this part of the program active again.

The boys in all areas of the Iroquois Scout Program will once again this year be selling cheese gift boxes for Chistmas. This effort raised a goodly amount to assist the boys in camping activities, fun days and related projects. They make a great gift for the person who is tough to buy for. If you are interested and do not get canvassed please call a leader and don't miss out on a chance to help Scouting and help your Christmas list at the same time. The Cheese comes from Winchester Cheese Inc. and Craig Packaging and Iroquois Enterprises, both locally owned businesses have donated the gift boxes to help the boys along.

The Scouting Program in Iroquois is alive and well. Boys from all three levels planned to march in the Remembrance Day Services Sunday, November 9 conducted by the Royal Canadian Legion and I am sure they'll be proud to help us remember why we enjoy the bounty afforded us by those who went before.

Brinston Express winning streak ends

The Brinston Express hockey team had a disastrous game last Sunday against the Winchester Capitals, losing 13 to 0, but before that they had been on a winning streak, not losing in five games.

All positions on the Express are now filled, and the team is really rolling. In three home games in October they held the Matilda Oldtimers to an 8-8 tie, then went on to defeat Haddo Roadrunners in two straight games, 7 to 5 and 14 to 6.

Playing in Morrisburg on Sunday, November 2, Brinston Express managed a tie with Rowena Rams, but back home in Cardinal on Thursday, November 6, Brinston put on the steam to run over the Rams by a score of 13 to 7. But the bubble burst last Sunday in Winchester. The Winchester Captials crushed the Express with 13 unanswered goals.

Tomorrow night, November 13, the Brinston Express team will be at home in Cardinal to the Arctic Cats. Game time is 10:30 p.m. A Saturday game will be played in Chesterville against the Ingleside Kraft team, at 11:30 p.m. Sunday's game is in Cornwall against the Flames; the games goes at 2 p.m. And on Monday, November 17 the Express will take on Warner's Garage at 10 p.m. in Morrisburg.

Close call for Broncos

The Cardinal Broncos goalie found himself busy Saturday night in action against the Kemptville 73's team in a game that was very close from the start to finish. He was able to successfully glove this shot before any damage could be done and allowed two goals over the three periods of play. The 73's shut the Broncos out 2-0.

The Cardinal Broncos had a hard fight against the Kemptville 73's on the weekend and went down to a 2-0 defeat.

General Manager of the team, Mitch Collison, said he thought the team played a good game and they could have come out with a win but couldn't swing it.

"The boys were a little down because of the last game we had against Kemptville," he added.

The team is thinking of signing more players to the Broncos lineup, but Mr. Collison said he wouldn't know for sure whether they had additional players until after a game against Brockville on Wednesday evening.

Following the game on Wednesday, the Broncos will meet Westport on Friday evening in Westport and will play Morrisburg in Cardinal on Saturday evening.

Winchester in cellar

The Winchester Hawks are having a difficult time getting into the win column. Over the past weekend they lost a hard fought game to Metcalfe by a score of 7 to 5, on Friday, and then were crushed by Char-Lan 13 to 3 in a Sunday game.

On Thursday, November 6 Metcalf triumphed over Alexandria 9 to 4, but lost to Char-Lan on Saturday 10 to 3, to remain locked in first place with Char-Lan. Navan got a split with Clarence Creek, taking their Friday game 7 to 4, but losing on Sunday 6 to 5.

In interlocking games, Navan put in an overtime goal to beat Ottawa South by a score of 4 to 3. Ottawa West, last Thursday, beat Clarence Creek 4 to 2.

Games close in football tourney

Iroquois Public School didn't fair too well in the Dundas County Tenth Annual Senior Flag Football Tournament at Morrisburg Public School on November 6, but Iroquois Coach Dean McCurdy reports that all the competitors had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

Iroquois lost its first game against Morrisburg Public School 26-6 and was then beaten in its second game 20-6 by Nation View Public School, the eventual winners of the tournament.

In its final game, against Maple Ridge Public School, Iroquois put up a good fight but eventually lost that game as well by a score of 13-12 and finished the tournament in last place.

Nation View completed the tournament with a 3 and 0 record after beating second-place Morrisburg 31-13 in the final game of the tournament.

As well as beating Iroquois, Nation View also defeated third-place-finishers Maple Ridge 32-7.

In the other game of the round robin tournament Morrisburg beat Maple Ridge by a score of 14-6.

SDHS sports

In Seaway District High School sports last week the Senior Boys Volleyball Team finished off the season in third place after defeating the divison leading La Citadel team from Cornwall two games to one on November 6.

Although the team lost its first game by a score of 7-15, the seniors rallyed to win the match by beating La Citadel 15-12 and 15-13 in the next two games.

The SDHS Senior Boys Volleyball Team then traveled to the playoffs at Cornwall Collegiate on November 10

The SDHS Junior Boys Volleyball team was also in action on November 6 but remained in the basement of the division after losing by a score of two games to nothing.

The Juniors play their last regular season game this week.

The SDHS Girls Basketball Teams played matches against Glengarry Secondary School from Alexandria on November 3 and against Rothwell Osnabruck from Ingleside on November 5.

Both teams won their games on November 3, the juniors by a score of 53-23 and the seniors 49-37, and although the seniors lost by a score of 67-50 on November 5, the juniors won their game 46-41.

Leading SDHS junior scorers on November 5 were Kim Bucking with 21 points, Laura Dawley with 9 and Kathy Byvelds with 8.

ing. The introduction of the Tae Kwon Do School has preempted this additional space and, on Tuesday evenings only, they do not have sufficient space for active games and areas for quiet concentration. Both are necessary to their programs, she said.

On the recommendation of Building Custodian, Syd Drennan, who was also present, Council agreed to removal of a partition which would put all Red Cross activities into a single area, and fre eup space to meet the Guiding needs. Councillor observed that there are more demands on the building than they had realized. To avoid costly building renovations, the agreed administration will have to be tightened up to schedule some events in future on different nights.

Custodian Drennan took the opportunity to inform Council that many of the windows in the High School must be replaced, and also that a water drainage problem had not been satisfactorily repaired by the Contractor hired for the job. A further adjustment is required.

A letter to Council from Gordon Thom Real Estate pointed out similar problems with work done adjacent to his office. Councillor Belanger explained that the Contractor had sloped the pavement improperly, thus, under certain weather conditions, causing water to flow in the direction of the building. The trapped water then seeps through the wall of the Real Estate office. The Contractor will be asked to correct the situation. the situation

Mr. Grenkie gave an estimate of 2000 feet for the water frontage on the parcel of land, and explained that any costs involved with dredging would be the responsibility of the developer, Mr. Webb. He also outlined the rezoning process, explaining that Council had been appraised of the plans first, then the public meeting had been advertised. At the same time, plans had been circulated to all the interested government departments. After the views of all agencies have been made, Council will make a decision one way or the other. In either case there is an avenue of appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Reeve Lorne Mellan said that Council would consider the concerns that had been voiced by the residents, and that another meeting could be held after the Ministry of the Environment, Transport Canada, and other agencies had registered their comments or approvals. The next meeting would be able to look at the proposal in more detail. Council, he noted, had the responsibility to look after the overall welfare of the Township. The meeting closed on that note.

Waste plan

•From the front page

Burnham said the final solution will probably involve the operation of several disposal sites because of the wide area covered by the municipalities and warned that site selection might be difficult because of the high water table and the large quantity of bed rock in Eastern Ontario.

It is expected that a draft master plan for the project will be ready some time next summer.

Seaway flow to increase

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority has been advised by the international St. Lawrence River Board of control that flows, higher than normal for this time of the year, will be run in the Montreal-Lake Ontario Section.

These flows will create velocities higher than normal in the navigation channels and variations in the normal current patterns may occur.

Mariners are advised to take these conditions into account when transiting the Montreal-Lake Ontario Section.

In Memoriams

HALL: In loving memory of a dear dad, Wilburn Hall, who passed away November 14, 1951 and a brother Clayton Hall, who passed away November 11, 1984.
We do not need a special day,
To bring you both to mind;
For the days we do not think of you,
Are so very hard to find.
Sadly missed and always remembered - The Family.
N12-1tp

CASSELMAN: In loving memory of my dear huband, Carl G. Casselman, who passed away November 23, 1982.
The leaves and flowers may wither,
The golden sun may set;
But the heart that still remembers
Is the one who won't forget.
He gave me love beyond all measure,
Care, devotion, thoughts to treasure;
And in my heart he will always live,
The dearest husband God could give.
I don't talk much about it,
But I'm sure that you must know
You were a special husband,
And I love and miss you so.
You joked with me and schemed with me.
And teased me now and then;
And though we had our differences,
We soon made up again.
So you can bet I always thank
My Saviour up above
For the husband that I had,
To brag about and love.
Always remembered and loved by wife, Marion. N12-1tp

COLLIGAN: In loving memory of a dear son and brother Dale, who passed away November 16, 1973.
Beside your grave we often stand,
With heart both crushed and sore;
Silent till the sweet words come, not lost,
But gone before.
God knows how much we miss you,
He counts the tears we shed;
And whispers he only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead.
So we will be brave dear Dale
And pray to God each day;
And when He calls us Home to you,
Your smile will guide the way.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters. N12-1tp

ROBERTS: In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Jean Roberts, who passed away November 11, 1979.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well;
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep. keep.

OBITUARIES

Lottie Merkley

One of Iroquois' oldest and highly respected citizens, Mrs. Lottie M. Merkley, passed peacefully away, after a brief illness in the Winchester Memorial Hospital on Monday morning November 3rd, 1986 in her 93rd year.

She was born in Brinston, Ont., the daughter of the late Thomas Hamilton and Lydia Larmour, and acted as an assistant Past Mistress at Brinston and taught music until her marriage to Earl Merkley when they took up farming in the Iroquois area and later took up residence in the Village of Iroquois. Mr. Merkley passed away in 1967.

Mrs. Merkley was very active in many organizations, being a life member of the Iroquois Women's Institute where she acted as pianist for many years as well as being the president of the organization; a very active member of the Order of the Eastern Star, first in the Morrisburg chapter and later in the Iroquois Moonlight Chapter of which she was a founding and a charter member. She was also a Past Worthy Matron, a Past District Deputy and Grand Matron; also a member of the Order of the White Shrine Jerusalem in Brockville. For a number of years Mrs. Merkley was a very successful Avon representative both in old Iroquois and the new Iroquois, where she made a host of friends who held her in high regard.

She is survived by one daughter, Ruth (Mrs. E. P. McLaughlin) of Ottawa; and one son Lorne Merkley, River Road West, Iroquois; two grandsons, Ian McLaughlin of Kemptville; and Dr. Peter McLaughlin, of Toronto; also three great grandchildren, Natasha of Kemptville, Caroline and James of Toronto.

Friends were received at the C.W. Marsden Funeral Parlor in Iroquois, with funeral service in the Iroquois United Church on Wednesday November 5, with Rev. Allan Tysick, of Brinston United Church conducting the service in the absence of Rev. Herb Klaehn, with a large number in attendance. During the service, Mrs. George Fowler and Mrs. Orean English sang a duet, "How Great Thou Art".

Legionnaires honoured at Cardinal

Many gathered at the Cardinal Legion on Saturday, November 8 for the 35th Annual Armistice Banquet of the Cardinal Legion Branch 105.

"As we gather here this evening, let us pause for a few moments to think reverently of Those of our Comrades, who by sea, land or in the air, laid down their lives for their Queen and country. Their sacrifice will every inspire us to Labour on, to the end, that those who survived and need our aid may be assured of assistance", said Comrade Lee MacDonald.

Two minutes silence was then observed to remember the comrades who passed away during the past year They were Joe Whiteduck, William Stocks, Idona Beckstead, George Fairfield, and Harold MacDonald.

Following a delicious roast beef dinner, words of welcome were extended by Ray Hall, President of the Cardinal Legion. The guest speaker for the evening Comrade James Tyndall was introduced by Ken Sorrenti.

Comrade James Tyndall gave a very interesting talk and encouraged the Legion members to keep up the good work.

The following head table guests extended their thanks and congratulations to the Legion members: Reeve James McLaughlin, on behalf of the Village; Eldred Wells on behalf of Best Foods; Fraser Macintyre on behalf of Casco; Comrade J. Students visit Parliament

Norm Warner, MP for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, invited students from ten area high schools to spend the day in Ottawa with him on October 29.

About 40 pupils from Seaway District High School's Grade 10 Advanced French Immersion class taught by Miss Siebalj and Grade 10 Advanced English taught by Miss Pinkus went on the trip.

During the day the group toured the parliament buildings, watched the proceedings of the House of Commons and met with Mr. Warner.

A spokesman for Mr. Warner's office says the trip was intended to give the students a better understanding of parliamentary procedures and to provide them with an opportunity to meet Mr. Warner and ask him questions.

WHOLESALE VS. RETAIL LAND

In the normal market place, there are two price levels - wholesale and retail. The purchase and sale of raw land is no different. A review of the sales price history of any large parcel of land will show abrupt little jumps as the acreage is subdivided and sold off in smaller lots.

Much of this increase is due to the cost of improvements such as sewers, streets, sidewalks, and utilities. But increases of this sort are also due to the wholesale/retail marketing structure of the world. Therefore, consider bulk buying of land at a wholesale level a good way to buy. It may take the pooling of several financial sources (partners for example). But if ten acres are available for $2,000.00 per acre, then fifty acres may be available for $800.00 per acre if you are buying from one seller.

Conversely, assemblage, which is the act of buying a group of small parcels to make up one large parcel, can prove very costly because the buyer will have to pay retail prices.

IOOF donates to hospital

The funds that were realized from the summer baseball game that featured the CJOH Special Effects team and the Brinston IOOF Express has paid off for the Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

On Monday evening a cheque for $300, the proceeds from the game that was held last August 15, was turned over by the Brinston Independent Order of Odd Fellows to the Hospital. Raymond Smail handed over the cheque to Anna Smail, a director at the hospital, at the Monday night installation of officers at the Brinston Lodge.

Also, at the conclusion of the installation ceremony, recognition was made of several long serving members of the Lodge. A 25-year jewel was given to Newell Hanes by Deputy District Grand Marshall Clifford C. Hart. The presentation of a 50-year jewel was deferred until a later date, but Mr. Hart had the pleasure of presenting a 70-year jewel to Charles Crowber, who had joined the Lodge on November 3, 1916. Immediately after joining he left the service in the First World War.

In remarks later, Mr. Crowber reminisced about days gone by, remembering the names of school mates in Dixons Corners. At 92 he has a remarkable memory.

The IOOF Lodge in Canada is a non-denominational organization that promotes fellowship and works for the well being of all. The Brinston Lodge is active in promoting minor sports, besides supporting the WDMH and charities.

50th wedding anniversary

Gwynneth and Bertram Shaver of the third concession, Matilda Township were honoured and surprised by family and friends on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Gathering at Matilda's Community Hall on Saturday night, a full house greeted the happy couple as they entered the decorated room. A standing ovation ushered them to the table of honour where a beautiful wedding cake sat. Adorning the cake were miniature pictures of each member of their immediate family.

Seated with Mr. and Mrs. Shaver were the couple who witnessed the happy occasion fifty years ago, Aden and Hilda Marcellus. It must have brought a memory or two to these folks as well since this the same year they celebrated their fiftieth anniversary.

Many old friends and neighbours were on hand to wish Gwyn and Bert many more years together. Their children Aden, Wayne and Joy, along with their families are living proof of the good life shared by Bert and Gweynneth. The large crowd that extended best wishes attested to the fact that happiness is not found at the end of the road but rather along the way and when we share the good and the bad with loved ones we keep rambling along.

Plaques were presented on behalf of the Federal and Provincial Governments, commemorating the auspicious occasion. Reeve Lorne Mellan gave a Matilda Township plaque as well as "Matilda pins" to the bride and groom, and wished them all the best from all those present.

Dancing and refreshments rounded out a great celebration.

Just plain livin'

by Sandra Lee Johnston
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Someone once told me they felt fall was their favourite season. It is one of mine too. Everything bursts into one brilliant frenzy of colour, like one last celebration of life before the long, dreary days of winter sets in. It could be called Mother Nature's mid-life crisis!

Well Mother nature should feel relieved, for, once again, for another year, fall seems to be giving way to old man winter. Well there was enough snow on Sunday morning for my two nieces to build snowmen that incidentally lasted throughout the day. (was it really that cold?).

Hallowe'en is over for 1986 and yes, sons number one and two finally decided on costumes their handy old mom could conjure up in time for Friday night's festivities.

The Great Pumpkin failed we vigilantes yet again, but the eldest trick or treater at our house did scare the -- out of countless young Pythagoruses at South Grenville High.

All in all we had a fun time and I must compliment numerous, anonymous persons in and around town with their most imaginative decorating. As sons and I travelled we were greeted not only by varied Jack-O-Lantern faces but paper plate skeletons, old sheet ghosties, hobos and scarecrows standing or sitting on guard on steps and decks, spiders'-webs complete with spiders and even were greeted personally by fiendish ghoolies handing out treats to those with a lot of intenstinal fortitude. The efforts put into such ghoulish fantacies paid big dividends to those revelry-seeking Hallowe'eners.

Things seemed reasonably quiet and not many used the eve as an excuse for vandalism or insensative acts.

You die-hard Toronto Maple Leaf fans out there (are they any left?) may have cause for celebration this year. The way those boys have begun the season - you never can tell . . . just look at what the worst team in the CFL did to the best. For those non-footballers, last Saturday the Ottawa Rough Riders masqueraded (it is the season) as if they were a contending C.F.L. team. With a 16 to 4 deficit to overcome, the Riders pulled off a tie in the dying seconds of the game. This just goes to show that perseverance and persistance paired with hard work can accomplish.

Enough sports - the grapevine tells me I best get my apples for the winter SOON. Past experience tells me we need a big bunch of those juicy red symbols of our Township for the coming months. A hamper (plastic bag) of crunch apples chosen this fall and properly stored will be just as crisp and delicious in February as they are now.

Storing apples in a dark, well-ventilated, cool (0 to 5 C) room that has a humid atmosphere will keep them well and prevent them from shrivelling. Apples can be stored up to eight months without losing their crispiness or flavour. I'm sure you all knew this but it helps to shake up our memories once in a while.

My boys couldn't eat apple sauce with lumps and mine usually has more than its share so I tried putting enough for them in the blender and pureed it for a few seconds; now everyone wants theirs this way and often asks for refills. Live and Learn!

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," or so they say - well son number one went to visit a friend Saturday and returned in time for Sunday School. Yes - we did miss him, after all his brother had no one to argue with. His bed even seemed lonesome. They do grow up fast, don't they? It is good advice to enjoy every minute with them we can; good and not so good, they'll soon want to borrow the mortgage money from us!

I'll sign off now and the Lord willing and if the creeks don't rise (can they anymore?) we'll meet here next week - Take care now - you hear!

Lung Association visits Dixons

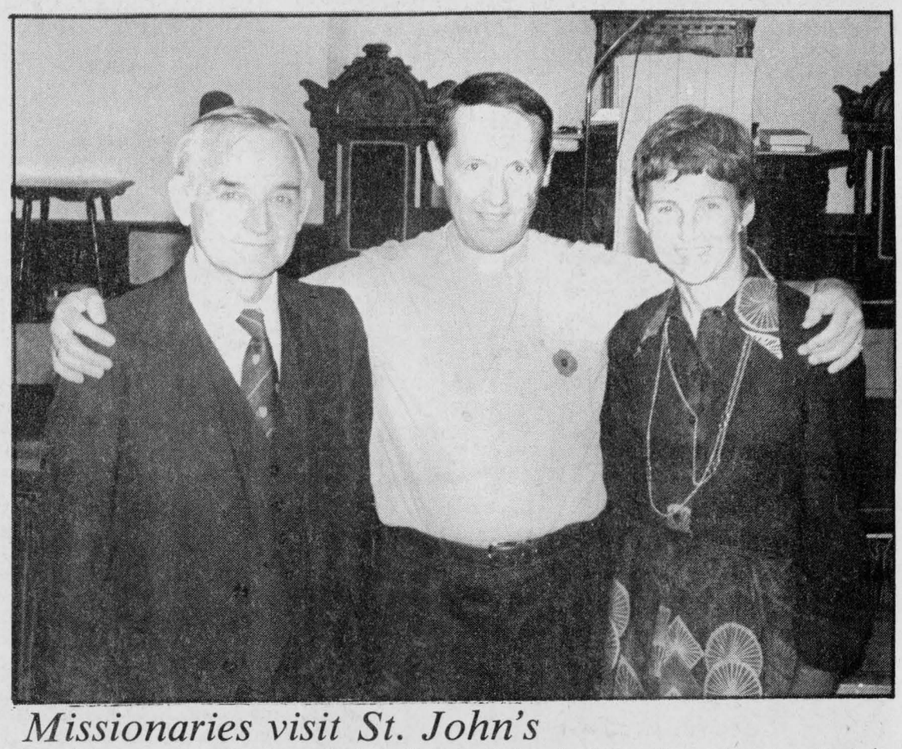
Wednesday November 5, students at Dixons Corners Public School were visited by The Lung Association with their "Lungs are for Life" school program.

Kindergarten to Grade 3 students saw a 9 minute movie called "Octopuff", Octopuff was in the classroom in the form of a large soft animal that children could touch. After the presentation given by him, and Margaret Inskip, the children went home sporting a button, saying "I'll never smoke" and a pamphlet on the Story of the Christmas Seals.

The Grade 4, 5 and 6 students viewed a video on the hazzards of smoke called "Finanine Mistake".

Their program was presented by Margaret Alexander, Executive Director of The Lung Association Eastern Counties. Buttons were also given to the students of grades 4, 5 and 6 to reinforce the message they had seen.

These school programs being offered through the 5 counties by the Lung Association are made possible through your donations to Christmas Seals. Please be generous and answer your Christmas Seal letter to-day.



Missionaries visit St. John's

Sam and Lee Evans, missionaries on furlough from Tanzania, shared their experience with the congregations of St. John's United Church in Cardinal and Johnstown United Church on Sunday, November 9. Missionaries visit St. John's Church

Guest speakers at St. John's United Church in Cardinal and the Johnstown United Church on Sunday, November 9 were Sam and Lee Evans.

Sam and Lee Evans are on furlough from their work of the Christian Council of Tanzania. They spoke of working with the African people in the development of a technical centre, an integral part of the social program of "villagization" to assist the economic and therefore, home and family improvement program.

The family unit in Africia is very important, said Lee. A family unit is not just the immediate family as we know it but aunts, uncles, cousins, are all considered brothers and sisters.

Sam and Lee went to Tanzania in 1983 and have spent the last three years working with the African people and learning their ways.

Sam was born and schooled in England, graduated there just after the war from an early "co-op" program and after 40 years as an electrical engineer, decided to retire at 60 to take up a second career. During his career as an engineer, Sam travelled to Portugal and Brazil, remaining in Brazil for 7½ years.

During this period he met his wife Lee, a southern "belle" from Alabama, who grew up in Montgomery and completed a B.A. degree in Education at Huntingdon College. After a year in a Master's program in Religious Education at Emory University, she was accepted by the Methodist Church for a three year term of service at the Institute Central de Povo in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. It was during a financial drive to help that Institute that Lee and Sam met.

Sam and Lee became active members of the United Church in the various locations where they lived and it was here they became impressed with a concern for the more impoverished peoples of the world. They are located in southwest Tanzania at Liuli, a center which serves quite a numberof vollges on the east shore of Lake Malawi.

Anglican Church Women hold annual bazaar, tea

by Sandra Lee Johnston
Chieftain Staff Reporter

The annual Anglican Women's Bazaar and Tea was a huge success. Everything from home-baking to home-sewing, nearly new items to children's toys were sold to a capacity crowd at the Iroquois Civic Centre, Saturday, November 8.

The highlight of the day was the draw for the hand-made quilt. Eunice Aitkens quilted this masterpiece and Mrs. Dianne Avery was the lucky winner. The quilt was on display in the church hall and at Ron Fader Furniture last month.

There were 519 names embroidered on the quilt at a cost of one dollar each. As each name went on the quilt it also went into a jar, thus the winner was drawn and although not present the ladies of St. John's were assured by her mother-in-law Eden that she would be most pleased.

Shoppers at the bazaar enjoyed a light snack of tea or coffee, jello, tea biscuits and a delightful assortment of Christmasy type cakes as they visited and listened to festive music for the season provided by Jim Millard's wizardery.

The case of the missing cookies brought an element of intrigue to the day but by supper time it was solved and Rev. Crawley will rest easier for Sunday's service I'm sure!

Missed clergy at service

Dear Sir:

I was up to the Iroquois Memorial Day Service on November 9 and I didn't see one of the clergy from our town there. Did they forget that the service is held at the same time and place every year.

I'm glad the men and women that fought and died for us to have a better place to live in didn't have somewhere else to go while the war was on. I may not be sitting in such good circumstances to-day. I think it was terrible for not one of them to be there. Although the people who got the service to-gether did an excellent job.

A.K.

An Ex Service Women, along with a husband, 6 brothers and a father who are ex-servicemen also.

Dome reunion

Dear Sir:

We are attempting to contact all former Dome Public School students and teachers. We are having a reunion on July 31st, August 1st and 2nd, 1987. If you have attended the school or know of the whereabouts of anyone who has, please contact our committee.

Thanks for coverage

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the International Bazaar and Festival Committee and the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary we wish to express our thanks to the Iroquois Chieftain for their co-operation concerning our news releases for the bazaar. The success or failure of such an affair depends so much on the kind of publicity it receives. It was a pleasure to deal with the staff of the Iroquois Chieftain.

News from Seaway

by Kimberly MacDonald

Is everyone digging out from under this years first blizzard of tests which marks the end of first term?

November isn't just a time for fall reports. It's a time to remember those who fought to defend Canada and especially those who lost their lives in the process. Seaway is going to remember them by selling poppies during homeroom. There will be a senior and junior Remembrance Day service in the mornint.

Last week was a great week. The week started off with Seaway's first pep rally. The idea of the pep rally was to get everyone at Seaway into the school spirit. The theme was "Revive the School Spirit". Our temporary mascot was a ghost named "Peppy". (What else could you call the school spirit?) There was a tremendous response to the pep rally. Many appeared with painted faces and helium filled balloons. It didn't take long before everyone who attended the rally was jumping up and down screaming, giving Seaway lots of spirit. There were 144 members who formed the pep squad. The number of spectators and participants was estimated at about 500, which was not bad. Another pep rally is already being planned.

The excitement didn't end there. On Thursday, November 6, 1986 the gospel singing group Chrisma came to Seaway to perform. Chrisma consists of three sisters. Kathleen who is the lead singer. The back-up vocalists are the twins Patsy and Angela. They are the first all-female gospel group to have a hit song on the gospel charts in the United States.

It looks as if the girls senior and junior basketball teams aren't doing too badly. The Senior girls played against Rothwell-Osnabruck on Wednesday November 5, 1986 defeating them 46-41. Some of the credit can go to the participants of the pep rally. On Monday November 10, 1986 the junior girls won against St. Josephs with a score of 46-24.

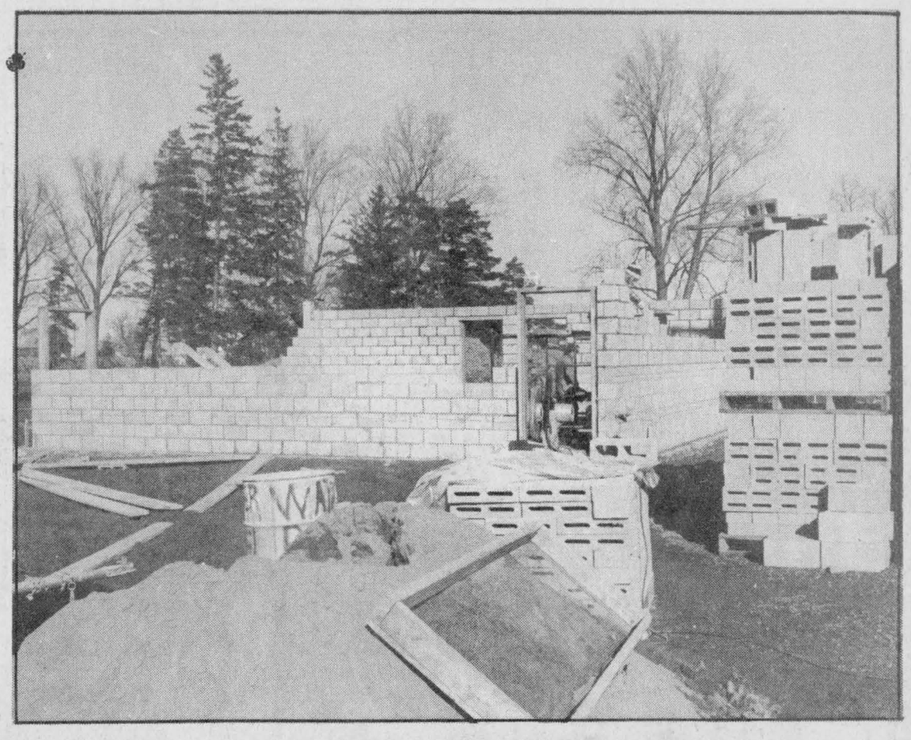
I hope everyone's parents will be satisfied with their report cards. If there is any doubt about how your marks will turn out, take my advice and either pack your clothes or get a good excuse ready.

See you next week.

Fall bazaar

The St. John's United Church in Cardinal will be holding its annual Fall Bazaar and Covered Dish supper on Thursday, November 13.

The bazaar which included baked goods, knitting, crafts and attic treasurers will start at 1:30 p.m. and the covered dish supper will begin at 4:30 p.m. The supper will cost $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for public school children while preschoolers are free.



Brinston Rec Building starts

Work begins on the new Recreational building in Brinston, just behind the Matilda Township Council chambers. The 57 by 32-foot concrete block structure should be ready for next spring's activities. Work is being done by Triple B Structures of Williamsburg.
