CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

A delightful weekend has come and gone. The weather couldn't have been wetter. It will make the grain grow, it will slow up the late planting, but it made life at the cottage quite a treat. We just sat, allowed the wind to blow and recuperated.

It was not quite so comfortable for the Scouts and Cubs. A gang of them spent the holiday under canvas up beyond Brockville. Thanks to a few useful citizens, the gear arrived, the food was laid on at modest cost and the leaders kept everything under control. But it is difficult cooking over an open fire in pouring rain. "Be Prepared" is a good idea but it is hard to control the weather.

We used to fight the rain at the Castle on the Rideau. The roof was excellent to keep out the rays of the sun. When it rained, one would immediately start the bucket brigade. Drips began with the first downpour and continued merrily for the duration. Fortunately the floor was quite porous. When the puddles got too big, they quietly ran out through the cracks. As long as one did not mind a gentle shower on the way from the stove to the table, the situation was not too bad.

We developed a system of flood control that worked fairly well. When the rain would be at its height, this Crumb would don the parka, grasp a can of thick tar in hand and climb up on the roof. The vice president wandered about inside armed with the broom handle. She would thump the ceiling where the fattest drips were and up top we would add another patch to the leaky roof. It finally took on the appearance of Ottawa's pot-holed streets in Spring. We had more patches than paper and all the gobs ran in the hot Summer sun. Finally we had the man lay a better cover on the cottage. Now we sit and laugh at the rain.

Speaking of patches, the streets of this small city could do with a few loads of tar and stone. Here and there things are coming through with a vengeance. We have a pretty good reputation regarding our street maintenance and a couple of hard thumps into bottomless pits shakes our faith.

Summer must be here. The Connaught Rod and Gun Club lads spent Sunday trying for the big ones. The fish were biting fine, but the big ones stayed away from the baits. We do have a note though from a member of the executive of the club. Seems some of the boys were making their own spoons from the twist and pull can tops that may be found on drinks of a foaming nature. The Mounties swept along, saw the bait makings, and suggested the raw material might just as well be discarded too. We wondered why the river down our way took on such a delightful hoppy flavour late in the afternoon.

For the first time since 1915 Chesterville's voters' lists will be printed in Cornwall for the upcoming eelction. Talk about the tail wagging the dog!

Error of 5 mills in report of village taxes

Last week we received a rundown of th new tax rates for 1968 from the village clerk's office. The high school rates had just come in, council had met and the rates were incorporated in a by-law and sent on to the Department of Municipal Affairs. It seemed then according to the by-law rates would be up some 25 mills here.

An error was discovered later in the week. Calculations had been made only on the public school assessment. The seperate school figures had been overlooked.

The additional assessment of the separate school has changed the figures somewhat. The high school rate will be 34.48 instead of 39.29, a reduction of 4.81 mills for residential property owners. The commercial rates will be 38.-31, a drop from the published amount of 43.65. This is a drop of 5.34 mills.

All other igures are the same. It does mean that rates have gone up some 20 mills over last year, rather than 25 mills. Village council hurriedly passed a new tax rate by-law after repealing the incorrect one.

The tax rebate will be slightly changed as a result. It will now be $58.78 for p.s. supporters and $59.93 for s.s. supporters.

N.D.D.H.S. Open House was a total success. Hundreds of parents and others flocked up to the Ridge Wednesday night last to get a quick look at modern education aids and results. The French play, "L'Apparition," caused considerable amusement. Here the cast is getting used to the lines. From the left is Wayne Anderson, Winchester; teacher K. Mr, Mrs H. Scott, Newington couple mark 60th anniversary recently

Mr and Mrs Henry Scott observed the 60th anniversary of their wedding at Newington, quietly, yet in good health and apreciating the congratulations of family and friends. They received numerous cards and congratulations including one from Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons.

They were married on May 13, 1908 by the Baptist minister, Rev. Ebenezer Cameron. For several years the Scotts were farmers until they moved to the village where they took care of Mrs Scott's father and mather, Mr and Mrs Michael Warner.

Mr Scott's father was Robert Scott, and his mother Agnes Alguire before her marriage. There were five sons in this family, two of whom survive.

The Warner family, however, was more numerous still, for there were ten children, of whom three are still living. Three of the Warner boys served during World War 1, one of them being killed in action at Ypres.

Although Mr Scott was born July 2, 1881, and Mrs Scott in 1886 both of them are in what they describe as "pretty good health." They have a garden and enjoy their little home in the centre of the village. They have no children, but they reared a niece, the former Jean Scott, who lost her mother when she was just over three years old. She is now Mrs Jack Burrows and lives in Belleville.

Henry Scott was a railroad man on the old New York Central which used to run through the village. He was severely injured in an accident at the time the former International Bridge was being planked and had a leg amputated in 1933. Mrs Scott was organist for many years in the Baptist Church and is still active in the Mission Circle.

One of the chief ways in which they marked the anniversary was to go to Belleville with Mr and Mrs Murray Neville, for dinner with Mr and Mrs Burrows and family. Guests on that occasion were Mr and Mrs Donald Eldridge and family of Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs Robert Scott of LeRoy, N.Y.

Guest speaker from Cornwall addresses Avonmore men

Earl Myers, Cornwall, for many years identified with the Boys Scouts of Canada in a variety of capacities, was guest speaker at the annual Fathers' and Sons' Banquet in St. James United Church, under the sponsorship of the A.O.T.S. Men's Club of the Avonmore Pastoral Charge of the United Church of Canada.

In speaking to the fathers Mr Myers stressed their responsibility in the building of a strong character structure in their sons and in the youth of the community. He endorsed the principle of the Men's Club in its giving practical assistance to boys and youth work in the community.

Mr Myers showed a series of colorful slides which he took in Greece while attending a World Scout Jamboree.

He was introduced by vice-president Charles Rielly in the absence of the president Maldwyn Watkins, and thanked by James Begg.

The Married Couples' Club was responsible for serving a sumptuous turkey dinner to 50 fathers and sons. Jamieson Campbell expressed appreciation to the ladies.

Rev. Donald W. Pipe proposed a toast to the boys, and Terry McRae replied. Kevin Flanagan introduced a number of musical numbers on his piano accordian.

Sesel Wert had charge of the worship service. A time of silence was observed in memory of a valued member, W. A. Buell, who passed away since the time of the last meeting.

The local Men's Club together with other such clubs throughout the Seaway Valley Presbytery are joining forces in planning the annual Montreal and Otawa Conference Men's Forum to be held at the Kemptville Agricultural College the week end of Sept. 6, 7 and 8. It is the first time the local Presbytery has had the distinction and honor of hosting the Conference Men's Forum. Dr. Robert MacClure, the eminent church stateman who many years of service as missionary in India, will be the Forum's principal speaker.

Fishing derby Sunday well attended

Connaught Rod and Gun Club held its annual fishing derby last Sunday in the vicinity of Kemptville highway bridge and Beckett's Landing. Some 25 eager fishermen turned out to try for the good prizes and the fun of hooking a big one. Fish were striking quite well but as usual the big ones seem to get away.

Winners at the final gun were as follows: 1st and 2nd pike, 4 lbs., 14 oz., and 4 lbs., 4 oz, Richard Shaver. His prize was a $15 sport coat. Arnold Windsor hooked the best pickerel. It weighed in at 3 lbs., 9 oz., his prize was $10. Second prize went to Lou Wouters for a 1lb., 4 oz. fish. It was worth $5. Loran Brooks received a special spot time prize of $5.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank our many friends who attended our farewell party. Special thanks to our neighbours and friends who organized the party. We certainly appreciate the beautiful gifts which will always remind us of our happy years spent in the Finch area.

Clare, Mary, Douglas and Sharon. 36

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Canada's fire toll far too high

The Fire Marshal's News, published quarterly, reports that during the first three months of 1968, Canada's fire losses were estimated at $17,813,013. In the same period last year, the figure was $16,210,901.

More important than the financial aspect was the fact fatalities from fires numbered 54, of whom 18 were men, nine women and 27 children. The injury list numbered 97, with 65 men, 18 women and 14 children included in this category. No comparative figures were given for either deaths and injuries.

In all, there were 5,931 fires of major proportion in various communities, an increase of 35 over the 5,896 registered for the first quarter of 1967. The financial loss increased by $1,602,112.

Some of the major blazes occurred at Timmins, with a loss of $603,293; Chatham where the loss in a CIL plant was placed at $1,250,000; Preston, $1,200,000; Etobicoke, $905,000; and Port Hope, $750,000. Number of communities, in which the fire marshal's office, considered large fires were fought during January, February and March, was 43.

The quarterly fire report demonstrates convincingly that Ontario, and other Canadian provinces, must continue to emphasize fire prevention. This applies to business, industry and dwellings. Quite wisely, this province's fire prevention program begins in our elementary schools. This should pay dividends in the future. However, it also is necessary to keep reminding home, business and industry of fire hazards and the need for preventive methods.

Canada ranks high on the list of the world's countries in which fires take a heavy toll in death, injury and property loss. It is imperative that fire prevention plans be continuous, not only during the winter but the year round.

Honesty of hockey demonstrated

Now that Montreal Canadiens, as expected, have won the Stanley Cup, emblematic of world professional hockey supremacy, hockey fans across Canada will have to wait about four months before the NHL and minor pro league teams open their training camps.

Honesty of pro hockey was demonstrated by the four consecutive victories scored by Canadiens over St. Louis Blues in an excellent cup series. All games were close, observes the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, so far as scores were concerned. But the superiority of the Montreal team was never in serious jeopardy. The games were exciting and each one decided by one goal.

Canadiens could have taken it easy in one or two of the games. This would have set the stage for additional contests, in which the league and club owners would benefit financially. However, since the players benefit in the pocketbook only during the first four games, Canadiens took no chances. This shows the basic honesty of hockey, a rugged sport that requires skill, muscle and stamina.

Coach Toe Blake, who is retiring from this post, and his Montreal players deserve hearty congratulations for their feat in capturing the famed Stanley Cup, while losing only one game of 13 in which they took part.

Residents of Abbotskerswell, Eng., have been told not to adjust their TV sets if the picture goes wrong — it's only the cows scratching their backs.

Life

By Mrs Ella York, Chesterville

Life is like a harvest field,
It has to take work to prepare,
Before we can sow seeds of goodness
And kindness with others to share.

Life is a vine to be pruned,
Taking all the unworthy parts out
Before the plant will do its best
To grow only special fruit.

Life is like a wonderful garden,
Its mysteries to unfold;
We know there is a special Friend
To help us, without being told.
We can walk with Him and talk with Him,
While working side by side;
It is well to know this special Friend
And keep Him as our Guide..

FILL THE BUMPER WITH WATER

"Fill 'er up with gas, check the oil, and fill my bumper with water, please."

This unlikely instruction to service station attendants may become commonplace if the "water" bumper currently being produced in California catches on the North American commercial market.

Some U.S. police and taxi fleets are already equipped with the water bumper, which reduces personal injury and vehicle damage in accidents under 30 miles an hour.

The water bumper was demonstrated to delegates and reporters at the Canadian Highway Safety Council held in Victoria recently.

One car with a rear water bumper was left stationary while another tail ended it at 20 m.p.h. The result: noise and a drenching, but no damage to either car or driver.

The rubber bumper contains a four-gallon chamber which is filled with water through holes in the top. The holes are plugged with caps, which pop out, under the pressure of a collision. The force of the collision is absorbed by the water escaping upwards.

All of Mexico will be included in the national telegraphic service by the end of 1968 with the extension of service to 200 towns of less than 5,000 population.

LITTLE HELPER

A SOLUTION

A placard in a Minneapolis bus carried a picture of a computer with the caption: "What will you do when this learns your job?"

Underneath someone added. "Stay home and let it pay taxes."

Ontario Legislature Report

By F. M. Cass

The passage of the estimates of no less than four Departments during the past week in contrast to the everal week taken for each of the two preceding Departments indicates a bit of Federal Election fever in Ontario Legislature Members. It is obvious, if the work of the House and the business of the province proceeds at this new pace, the Legislature will finish its Session in time for Members to participate in the June 25th election — and this without scrimping on proper consideration of Ontario business, too.

Estimates of the Department of Agriculture and Food, of the Provincial Secretary, of the Department of Tourism and Information, and of the Department of Labour were all carefully debated and completed. Each Department's estimates indicated that the many and varied programs being undertaken would be continued but few new items were to be found. Despite this, all estimates were considerably in excess of those for the preceding year. One of the main reasons for this, of course, is the spiralling wage pattern and every item for wages or salaries showed a substantial increase. However, even with such increases the wage and salary structure in the Ontario Government Service cannot compete with similar returns in private business in the Metro Toronto area. And the trend for the future would appear to be in the same pattern.

His Honour W. Earl Rowe, P. C., our Ontario Lieutenant-Governor for the past five years, is nearing the end of his term of office, which is at the end of this month. The Lieutenant-Governor has been a great friend of our area and always has been most gracious in acceding to requests to be present, or officiate, at events in Grenville-Dundas. We will all miss him but wish him well in retirement.

The new Lieutenant-Governor is to be The Honourable W. Ross Macdonald, a former Speaker of the House of Commons, Federal Liberal Cabinet Minister and Senate Leader. With a wealth of experience in public life and a genial disposition, the new Lieutenant-Governor will fill the Vice-Regal appointment with efficiency and grace.

An announcement by the Minister of Labour that minimum wages in the Province will be increased is another indication of our mounting cost of living. It will also produce considerable hardship in certain rural areas and for those on pension requiring services of wage earners.

Amendments to the Highway Traffic Act introduced into the House provide, among other items for compulsory wearing of safety helmets of an approved standard by all motor cycle riders (both drivers and passengers), and also for proper inspection of used automobiles sold privately. Both of these changes in our law are much needed and perhaps overdue. The introduction by the Minister of Education of a Bill to place Retarded Children's Education Authorities under the jurisdiction of the new Divisional Educational Bodies is a great step forward and one which will be welcomed by our Williamsburg and other Authorities now struggling with so much success and so little aid to provide suitable accomodation and instruction for these children. A considerable amount of other new legislattion was also introduced but most of it was concerned with so-called "housekeeping" amendments – that is changes to aid better administration of presently existing laws.

As official host for the Legislature Assembly, your Member, The Speaker, has had the pleasure recently of receiving and entertaining the New South Wales (Australia) State Legislature, a Senator from the State of Hawaii, and the Attorney General of the State of Maine. Such events provide some of the pleasurable duties associated with the Office of Speaker of the House.

IN CANADA TO BECOME A DENTIST

Icy Nugara has swapped a sari for a crisp white uniform.

The 28-year-old Ceylon woman is in Winnipeg for a year's study at the dental college of the University of Manitoba.

The school's only Colombo Plan student, Miss Nugara was a dental assistant in her home country and was selected to come to Canada for further study.

She loves Canada and the people she has met here. Although she would like to work in the country after her studies are completed, she plans to return to Ceylon to impart some of the new knowledge she has learned.

The more sophisticated sterilizing equipment used in Canada is one thing Mss Nugara wants to introduce in Ceylon.

Administration of the dental college is another facet of the school she approves and she plans to make suggestions to college officials in Ceylon about changing their system.

Unlike some parts of Canada, Ceylon has no shortage of dentists. Both dentists and dental assistants there are well paid and increasing numbers of women are becoming dentists. "Sometimes they prove to be better than the men," she said with a smile.

Ceylon and Canada have equally good oral surgery procedures, she says. "But in the restorative field (fillings, for example), there is scope for improvement in Ceylon."

Although she entered a three-year dental assistant apprenticeship "almost by accident," Miss Nugara is tremendously enthusiastic about her work and calls it the biggest part of her life.

Though she has never met another of her countrymen in Winnipeg, she had no trouble adjusting to Canada.

"I was here two weeks when I wrote and asked my mother not to feel hurt — but I wasn't homesick at all."

Except when she is at school, she wears a sari. The intricate draping is no problem, she laughs. When she first arrived it took longer to put on nylons — which she wasn't accustomed to —than to arrange the sari.

The only problem she can grumble about is her hair, which seems to be affected by the different water or shampoo. She claims it is falling out, but she still has a black mane which she wears caught up in a bun.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in regard to your comment to the mother who was concerned because she suspected her fingernail - biting son of biting his toenails as well. You told her it was "highly improbable."

You are wrong about this, Ann Landers. As chairman of the Department of Clinical Surgery at the Ohio College of Pediatry, I can tell you that chewing the toenails is not uncommon. What's more, it can and does cause ingrown toenails. Toenail biting is a nervous habit and not very different from fingernail biting, except it would be highly unlikely for a child to bite his toenails at the supper table. — Dr R. J. S.

Dear Dr: Within five days of the appearance of "Concerned Mother's" letter I received over 500 letters from readers who are (or have been) toenail biters. It was a shock, to say the least, to learn that toenail biting is such a popular indoor sport. I have put my foot in my mouth on several occasions, but never to bite a toenail.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I was in a hurry this morning and didn't have change for my child's lunch money so I went to my husband's coin collection and took a Kennedy half-dollar.

When the child came from school he told me his teacher talked him into taking two quarters for the 50 cent piece. "She is always looking for half-dollars," he said. "Every time a kid has one she gives him two quarters for it."

I consider this teacher a conniving crook and I'd like to do something about it. My husband suggested I check with you first and get your opinion. Do you agree?—Comittee of One to Protect Innocent Children Against Crooked Teachers.

Dear Committee: I am mystified as to why you consider the teacher a crook. When you gave your son lunch money you expected him to spend it, didn't you? What does it matter to you if the half-dollar ends up with the lunchroom cashier or the home room teacher? Sorry, lady, you've got strudel in your noodle on this one.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I have a big house, lots of relatives and I like to cook. I also like to clean up the kitchen my own way. I've begged my relatives not to "help" me clear the table and wash and dry the dishes, but they act like they are deaf. They go right ahead, chipping my dishes, cracking my glassware, scratching my china and putting things away where I can't find them.

Last night two "helper" almost drove me nuts. My cousin threw a beautiful piece of meat into the garbage before I could stop her. Her sister then took it upon herself to "clean out" my refrigerator and get rid of the things that were taking up too much space.

Please, Ann, tell people to take the hostess' word for it when she says she'd rather do it herself. Thanks. — Overhelped.

Dear Over: Your problem is that when you say "no" it comes out sounding like "maybe." Often it's not what you say but how you say it that carries the message.

132 leaders and girls attend C.G.I.T. rally at Ingleside

A rally for Canadian Girls in Training was held at the high school, Ingleside, on Saturday, May 11. Following the registration of 132 leaders and girls they divided into two groups for recreation. One, under the direction of Miss Alma Fox, and the other was led by Miss Grace MacKinnon of Ingleside. The recreation consisted of reels, polkas, creative and Greek dancing. Mrs Geo. Fowler of Iroquois was the pianist.

The song leader was Miss Laura Townsend assisted by Mrs Bryan McEwan and the service of worship was led by Miss Nancy Fyckes of Long Sault. The theme was "Influence Others to be Christian Builders." Her closing thought for the worship was "To set out to help others to know Jesus Christ and the God revealed in Him is an adventure more thrilling and full of more possibilities for buildng a better world than even puttng a satellite into orbit or launching a man into space."

The special guest speaker was Miss Alma Fox, executive director of the Ontario C.G.I.T. Committee. Her address centered on "Adult and Teen Relationships." She said "Let us stop, look and listen" and under these headings illustrated with practical examples the meaning of the Christian life. "Let us listen with a sense of sharing and interest in each other and with a desire to work as a team and with enthusiasm for the needs of others." Following her talk, the girls, ranging in age from 12 to 17, formed 12 discussion groups. They discussed working together as youth and adults in church and community, "Can Chistianity Be Exciting," and other topics.

Miss Fox was introduced by Miss Lottie Franklin, deaconess at St. Paul's, Cornwall, and thanked by Cathy Ouderkirk of Ingleside, chairman of the event. During lunch the leaders had a time of fellowship and the girls explored Ingleside and then returned for the afternon session.

The rally committee was introduced: Mrs Eric Casselman, of Chesterville; Miss Grace MacKinnon, Ingleside, and Mrs Harold Giffin, Ingleside. They were thanked by the chairman.

Linda Barry of South Mountain spoke of her experiences at Camp Council. The many ideas she had gained she had been able to share upon her return.

Three groups formed this year were present: Maxville, Moose Creek and St. Paul's, Cornwall. The latter group presented a playlet entitled "All in the Family." This depicted the formation of C.G.I.T. up to the present time. There are now 50,000 girls in this national organization. Those taking part were Mary McLaren, Kathy Baugh, Debby McConnell and Nancy Poapst.

An interesting demonstration on the uniform was presented by Judy Flath and Beth Hill of Long Sault. The commentator was Mrs Bob Fyckes. Following this, Karen Grant of Ingleside gave a brief talk on "The Meaning of Graduation to Me."

"Summer in the Seaway Valley" was discussed by Miss Grace MacKinnon. Suggestions for inter-group visiting by bicycle and over-night camping were made. A huge map, drawn by Miss MacKinnon showing the Seaway Valley area, was on display. The rally closed with the Friendship Circle, the C.G.I.T. hymn and Taps.

Groups from Cardinal, Iroquois, Morrisburg, Ingleside, Long Sault, Cornwall, Moose Creek, Avonmore, South Mountain were well represented. The rally was sponsored by the Seaway Valley Committee whose chairman is Mrs Carman Brown of Cardinal. The committee is a co-operating group of Presbyterian, United and Baptist churches. Mrs C. V. Nesbitt of Cardinal is secretary and Mrs A. Moffat is treasurer.

Stor. Safety Council sponsors competition

A safety poster contest for elementary school students in Stormont has been organized by Stormont Farm Safety Council, it was announced by Mrs Earl MacNeil, president, and Mrs Wm. Maginnis, secretary.

The contestant does not have to use any fixed theme, although the poster will impart some safety message. However, if potential competitors want to use a predetermined theme, the one chosen for this year is "Man, Machinery and Fire."

Posters are to be on bristol board, not paper, and size 18 by 24 inches. They may be in black and white, crayon, water colours or oil as the participant wishes.

Key stipulations are that no identification of the contestant may appear on the front of the poster, and they must be in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, 109 Eleventh St. West, not later than July 1. Prizes are $10, $6 and $4.

Newington U.C.W. holds meeting at Presley home

The United Church Women, Newington, met at the home of Mrs Russell Presley for their May meeting. The president, Mrs Elizabeth Beaudette, opened the meeting with a poem, "Our Pilot," followed by the Purpose and prayer.

Mrs William Pettit read the chapter from the study book entitled "Modern Naomi" which was very interesting. The social convener, Mrs Melvin Waldroff, reported that the travelling basket is on its way.

It was decided to cater to a Mother and Daughter banquet for C.G.I.T. and Explorers and their leaders and also to serve the noon meal to the directors on the first day of the fair.

Mrs W. H. Baugh gave two readings, "Beautiful Women," based on Scripture passages from Solomon, and "Mothers," on Scripture passages frum Luke. From this reading it was noted that every mother should live to be a credit and honour to her children.

Mrs Baugh chose as her theme for the worship service "Religion in the Home." Christian education begins in the home and the home and church work hand in hand. Besides food for the body, it was noted, we must have food for the soul. "Co-operation is the keynote of a happy home."

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a fellowship hour was enjoyed. Mrs Edwin Waldroff extended a vote of thanks on behalf of the group.

TIME FOR A CHANGE NEW GARDEN ANNUALS

Many gardeners who have become tired of the old favorites such as zinnias, petunias and marigolds, are looking for new annuals this year. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food suggest that you try these four rarely-grown species.

Love-in-a-mist (Nigella damascena) is a unique, low-growing annual, native to southedn Europe, where it is sometimes called devil-in-the-bush. Both these common names reflect the fact that the handsome double flowers are nestled in a mass of fine, lacy, thread-like leaves. This plant is extremely easy to grow, and is very popular in many countries. The flowers are generally blue, but there are several white varieties available now. Its flowering period starts early in July and continues through August. The seeds should be sowed one-eighth inch deep in ordinary garden soil sometime during May. They require full sun, and should be spaced 9 to 10 inches apart.

The creeping zinnia (Sanvitalia procumbens) offers the gardener a new and interesting carpet-like flower of rich golden yellow color. This attractive prostrate plant, with its rather hairy leaves and numerous flower heads, can be a highlight of any garden. Its flowering season is from July through September. To grow this plant, sow the seeds outdoors one-eighth inch deep in full sun. Ordinary garden soil is quite satisfactory as long as it is well-drained. It thrives in dry, hot places, and is useful for edging or as a seasonal ground cover.

The tree mallow (Lavatera trimestris spendens) is an excellent plant for the back row of an annual bed. This interesting pink-blossomed plant grows 3 to 4 feet high, and blooms continuously from July until frost. It is a native of the Mediterranean region, and ofter has flowers 4 to 5 inches wide. Sow the seeds of this plant after warm weather has arrived. Place them one-quarter inch deep, in a sandy rich loam, moist but well-drained and in full sun. For succession of bloom, repeat the sowing until nights get really hot. They are best when spaced 15 to 20 inches apart.

The large spider flower (Cleome spinosa) is a tropical American annual, cultivated for its showy terminal cluster of aparently irregular flowers. The flowers have long stalk-like petals and long protruding stamens. The color range includes white, pink and purple. Put this plant well back in the bed, as it stands 4 to 5 feet in height, and flowers from mid-July through August. Sow the seeds of this plant one-quarter inch deep as soon as warm weather arrives. Ordinary garden soil is quite satisfactory, but they must have full sun. The spacing should be 18 to 25 inches apart.

CHECK LABELS FIRST BEFORE MIXING SPRAYS

Before combining fungicides, insecticides, miticides, and other materials in the same spray application, study the labels on the containers to find out whether or not the products can be safely combined in the same spray mixture, advises C. B. Kelly, Botany Department, Ontario Agricultural College.

A combination of incompatible pesticides may "burn" the leaves, injure the fruit or spoil its appearance, and even result in poor control of diseases, insects or mites. Not following the directions for mixing, or using the wrong combination, may produce a mixture that will plug intake screens, valves, and nozzles on the sprayer, as well as causing injury to the crop.

Applying the incompatible pesticides in separate spray applications does not avoid the difficulty in every case. It may be necessary to wait quite a few days after one material is applied before it is safe to use certain others. The labels on the package will state how long the interval should be.

The manufacturer's representative can advise you about new or untried combinations, or consult the Fruit and Vegetable Extension Specialist of the Department of Agriculture and Food in your area, who has the appropriate spray calendars available.

FERTILIZE YOUR ROSES FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

The condition of the foliage is an excellent indicator of the type of fertilizer roses will require. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food advise home gardeners that fertilizer should be applied to keep the plants healthy throughout the season.

To overcome deficiencies of nitrogen, phosphorus or potassium, use one of the commercial fertilizer mixes such as 5-10-5, 5-10-10. Pick the one that suits your specific needs, keeping in mind the condition of the plant foliage. Remember that the grades given above idicate the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, respectively, in the fertilizer. Each plant should be given one heaping teaspoonful of the fertilizer. It should be worked into the soil, and followed up with a thorough watering. First application should be made when the new growth is well under way. This should be repeated several times throughout the season. For further information on deficiency symptoms of roses, write to the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Parliament Buildings, for Publication 320, Hints on Rose Growing.

Venom from a poisonous Malayan snake may provide new hope in preventing heart attacks, says a British medical magazine.

The Lancet reports that experiments show the serum from Malayan pit vipers can reduce clotting in the blood, a cause of certain cardiac complaints.

HORIZONTAL SILOS

Horizontal silos can be used very efficiently for staring forages. Spoilage losses can be kept at a level nearly comparable to those in vertical silos, if they are properly constructed and filled.

A solid well-drained base is essential. The silage should be cut fine. The silo must be packed well and should be filled as quickly as possible.

Dr Stan Young, of the Crop Science Department at the Ontario Agricultural College, emphasizes sealing the silo tightly.

Plastic is usually the best, but care should be taken to make certain it is securely held down. Used tires, placed tread to tread, can be used for this purpose.

PRUNE FORSYTHIA

Prune forsythia immediately after flowering. Putting this job off until mid-summer may reduce the amount of bloom next year. To prune correctly, remove all weak, broken or badly - placed branches, leaving the young vigorous growth from lower down the bush to produce next year's show of flowers.

Donna Swerdfeger of Winchester was kept busy minding Henry and Henrietta. The little hamsters were anxious to explore here and there but some of the visitors at N.D.D.H.S. doubted whether they would like a hamster in a pocket.—Record Staff Photo.

Morrisburg O.P.P. installs new telecommunications machine

Midnight May 4, saw the Morrisburg O.P.P. detachment receive the first message over the National Telex hookup. Basically the local police office is restricted to communication with the Ontario Police network which has been in operation for some time. Messages by Telex have been dispatched and received at Major detachments in the area, Long Sault, Ottawa, Hawkesbury, Brockville, Gananoque, Perth and cities with large municipal police departments, of which all are on the network.

Although the machine at Morrisburg will be handling police messages, Sergeant Boyd explained that its potential (with proper authority) is such that it is "good anywhere in North America."

Another innovation at the local 24-man detachment is the installation of a radio transmittter whereby cruisers may be contacted directly from Morrisburg. Previously messages were transmitted through the Long Sault office which continues to retain constant contact.

FULL-SCALE ECONOMIC STUDY UNDERTAKEN in NORTHWESTERN ONTARIO

Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture and Food announced in Port Arthur recently that a full-scale, socio-economic survey of Northwestern Ontario will be undertaken immediately, the prelude to a long-range development program for the area. The undertaking to 1st survey the potential of the region, and then develop a co-ordinated plan with opportunity as its goal, was announced by the Minister at a meeting in this city. First proposed by the Ontario ARDA Directorate, the plan has been aproved by the Federal ARDA Administration. Costs of the survey will be shared equally by the Federal and Provincial administrations under the ARDA Agreements.

One aspect of this extensive, multi-purpose study will be a survey of the entire economic base for Northwestern Ontario, and this will be prepared by the regional Development Branch of the Provincial Treasurer's Department. Another part of the study to be carried out by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, is designed to develop ways and means of improving the living standards of Indian people in the region. An examination will also be made of the development policies of all department of both Federal and Provincial governments with a view to maximizing the efficiency of public investment, and to better enable the Northwestern Ontario Regional Development council to establish priority objectives that are in conformity with a development plan.

When this study has been completed, and the information assessed, it is then proposed that assistance will be sought from the Federal Economic Development Fund (Fred) for its implementation. FRED is ARDA's response the need to mobilize Federal, Provincial and local resources to develop areas where only a major effort can suffice. FRED programs are already under way in Northwestern New Brunswick, the Gaspe area in Quebec, and in Manitoba's Interlake District. Similar programs are being developed in Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island.

To ensure the fullest cooperation of all departments of both levels of government, an eight-man steering committee will be formed.

The membership of this committee will consist of four senior representatives of the Federal Departments of Government, and four from Departments of the Government of Ontario. The chairman and personnel of this committee will be announced shortly.

In making this announcement on behalf of the Federal and Provincial governments, Mr Stewart said, "The Province of Ontario has seen a virtual explosion of development and growth in the post-war years, and particularly in the last decade.. Unfortunately not all parts of the pro this growth, the very nature of our geography being the shief stumbling block to development in some areas. We are confident that from this comprehensive study will emerge a program that will provide the kind of oportunity and orderly development desired by the peole of Northwestern Ontario. But to achieve its greatest success, any such plan must, of course, involve local people, and we will not only be encouraging the cooperation of individuals and organizations in the region, but soliciting their support and participation."

Studies show that 80 per cent of car accident fatalities could be prevented if everyone wore seat belts. Wearing the shoulder belt as wll gives added protection.

FOR THE BIRDS

A radio message was flashed from an oil rig off the Norfolk, Eng., coast to the company's supply office on shore. "Please send two packets of birdseed urgently."

The crew explained a tame budgerigar landed on the rig and laid an egg. "We dispatched two packets of birdseed immediately," a spokesman said.

PLANTING EVERGREENS

Immediately after planting, give evergreens a thoorugh watering, and mulch the peat moss or other organic material. During the first year, it is most important that the plants be kept well watered throughout the hot summer months, to aid them in becoming established successfully.

Takea little time — a few minutes — to tie up boot laces, put on power-takeoff shields, take off a ragged sweater. Take a little time — and prevent a possible accident.

STUDY TO BE MADE OF LARGE ANIMAL PRACTICES

In an effort to resolve the shortage of veterinarians engaged in large animal practices in some areas of the province, a Large Animal Practices Committee has been appointed to make a complete study of the situation, Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food, told the Ontario Legislature recently.

The committee, which will include veterinarians and livestock producers, will be headed by Dr. Harold Worton, Director of the Veterinary Services Branch of the Department of Agriculture and Food.

The new committee will work closely with the Special Committee on Farm Income to combat the scarcity and high cost of veterinary services in some areas of the province.

The committee will survey all large animal practitioners in the province to analyze the cost of operating such a practice.

Two other programs to help provide veterinary services are already in effect. Bursaries are available to students at the Ontario Veterinary College who agree to spend a minimum of four years after graduation in large animal practice. In 15 areas of the province, in Northern Ontario and the Madawaska Valley in Eastern Ontario, grants are available to encourge settlement of veterinarians. A local committee is responsible for securing a veterinarian. Grants make possible a standard rate regardless of the distance a farmer may be from the veterinarian's office.

Dr. Howard Patterson, Director of the Department's Farm Economics, Co-Ooperatives and Statistics Branch will help plan the proposed study.

Other members of the committee are: veterinarians Dr. R. Fish of Perth; Dr. K. Mountjoy of Brooklin; Dr. Jack Turnbull of Seaforth; Dr. K. A. McEwan of the Veterinary Services Branch (secretary); Dr. W. R. Mitchell, President of the Ontario Veterinary Association will be an ex-officio member of the committee.

Livestock producers on the committee are: Andrew Stewart, Ailsa Craig, a hog farmer; Preston Ralph, Kemptville, a dairy producer; Francis Walsh, Peterborough, a beef feeder; and James Barrie, Galt, a beef and sheep producer.

The committee is representative of all areas of the province.

THE BIBLE TODAY..

"I pray God that the supply of Scriptures will be all sufficient during the coming crusade as we try, with the help of the Lord, to reach those who do not know Jesus Christ as Saviour!"

This petition was made by a missionary who had been engaged in recent months in Gospel crusade in Sumatra. "When people come forward to give lives to Jesus Christ," she writes, "many of them Moslems and Buddhists, we lead them in prayer to receive Christ as Their Saviour and then we give those who have no Bible (the non-Christians) one of the Gospels (received from the Indonesian Bible Society). In this way we distributed 6,000 in South Sumatra and 6,000 in North Sumatra.

"At the moment we have an interdenominational Gospel Crusade in Medan and thousands are coming to hear the word of God. We are giving out our last Gospels. The 420 Bibles we brought with us were sold in two nights! We estimated that 10,000 have been saved in the last months during our eight crusades. But only the Lord knows the real impact of the Gospel and the Word of God in the hearts of the multitudes who have been at the meetings."

The Bible Societies are at present studying the possibility of a greatly increased program of Scripture production for Indonesia. It is of interest to note that within a twelve-month period there were one-quarter of a million converts to Christianity in the whole of Indonesia.

YOU MUST BE AGED TO GET JOB

Gerry Van Arnelsvoort claims people treat him like whisky — no good until aged.

Gerry, 19, claims to be one of the best glass-blowers in Canada but can't get a good job because everybody believes that anyone younger than 40 isn't old enough to be good.

Gerry says Canadian glass-blowers are not skilled until they are in their 40s because they have to learn their trade in industry,

The marshmallow plant, none of which is used in the confection marshmallow — was a popular medicine in ancient Rome.

He said he learned everything there is to know about the business in four years at a school in Holland.

So instead of working at a university where the best in glass-blowing is done, Gerry works for a glass company, which manufactures custom-made scientific equipment ordered by small industries and small universities.

He says he got a job at the University of Alberta only because the chief glassblower there was a graduate of the Holland school and knew age was no factor in ability. But he left the job later because of the cold winters.

While he works in Toronto blowing intricate mercury diffusion pumps at $300 each, he says he may have to wait, as whisky does, to grow to an acceptable age.

HOME-BUILT SHIP BIGGEST IN YEARS

When Jack Norris of Vancouver sets sail for the Virgin Islands this fall he'll be doing it in style —in the largest home-built vessel made on the west coast in years.

He spent two years on the hull, interior and decking of the 59-foot, 40-ton schooner Aria. She can accommodate eight and will be used for charter cruising from the island of St. Thomas.

Mr Norris built the schooner of fir over oak frames. He is mate of the yacht Marijean, and his maritime experience includes service on a fivemaster barque.

CAN'T GO VERY FAR

Maureen Chant didn't get very far when she put her car in reverse and attempted to back out of her driveway recently.

As Mrs Chant stepped on the gas there was a loud clang and the car dropped to the ground.

All four wheels and tires had been stolen and the car left blocked up on rocks.

Vancouver police are investigating.

Sod for instant lawn fast and successful

Sodding is the fastest and often the most successful method of establishing a lawn, say horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. In addition to using sod to establish an 'instant lawn' it is advisable to use sod when establishing grass on steep slopes. The sod will maintain soil on slopes which might otherwise erode away. Sod is best used when a lawn is to be established during the hot summer months. During this time it would be difficult to establish a lawn by any other method.

The area to be sodded should be carefully prepared in the same manner as a seed bed. The soil should be thoroughly cultivated and all stones and debris raked off the bed. It is important that there be no depressions on the soil surface to act as air pockets after the sod is laid. Leveling by raking or dragging a straight edge planks are two methods used to eliminate these depressions. Further recommendations on soil preparation may be found in the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food Publication 448, Lawns.

As the cost of sod is high, buy only high-quality, weed free sod from reputable growers. Mixtures containing merion bluegrass or Kentucky bluegrass and creeping red fescue are best for home lawns. The cheaper, poorer grasses, and the more expensive bent grasses should be avoided, as they do not provide satisfactory home lawns.

An application of 30 pounds per 1,000 square feet of 5-20-20 analysis fertilizer prior to sodding prepared the bed for sod, and will promote fast root formation. It should be worked into the top six inches of the soil. Watering the soil at least once a day before sodding provides moisture for the roots of the sod, and will promote faster establishment of the new lawn.

Sod is laid so that the sods fit together perfectly, without being packed too ttightly against one another. The sod can be rolled, using a garden roller half full of water. This will push the sods firmly into place, and level the surface of the lawn. Any spaces between the sods may be filled by raking in a small amount of topsoil. The turf will soon spread into this new topsoil, and provide an even grass cover in a few weeks. The sod is watered thoroughly after it has been rolled. Do not walk over the sod once it has been watered, as a person's weight will be enough to move the sods out of position.

The sodded lawn will establish faster in spring and fall than in midsummer. Sod can be established in midsummer, if watered properly. One and one-quarter inches of water, once every ten days, is sufficient under dry conditions. Water should be applied only as the soil requires it under less dry conditions.

FARM SPRAYING SAFETY

Let's make sure we don't kill more than weeds in our spraying operations this spring, warns Oscar M. Snyder, Farm Safety Coordinator, Ontario Farm Safety Council.

In order to get the most value from your spray material, be sure to read the label carefully, and follow the instructions of the manufacturer."

When filling your sprayer, avoid spillage. Spilled material finds its way to the small creek on the farm, then to the rivers, and as a result, many fish are poisoned. It can also result in poinsoned livestock.

Make sure the empty containers are properly disposed of. Do not leave them where children or livestock can get at them. Burying them is protection against such a hazard.

Leftover material and wash water from cleaning the tank should be carefully disposed of, so the runoff doesn't find its way to some litch, stream or river.

EVERYBODY EATS TRY THESE

ASPARAGUS, THE FIRST SPRING VEGETABLE

ASPARAGUS, one of Ontario's first spring vegetables, is a popular addition to any meal. Serve fresh asparagus (cooked until just tender-crisp) soon and watch your family's lagging appetites perk up. Buy about one pound of fresh asparagus for every four servings. Be sure to purchase straight, crisp stalks with a bright, fresh-looking colour.

Asparagus and eggs are a delicious combination for lunch or supper meals and eggs supply high-quality protein so necessary for growth and health. Creamy asparagus with eggs is a simple, appetizing recipe from the Foods Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Creamy Asparagus with Eggs

1 to 1½ lbs. fresh asparagus
1½ tbsps. butter
1½ tbsps. flour
½ tsp. salt
¾ cup milk
½ cup grated, process Ontario cheddar cheese
6 hard-cooked eggs, shelled
½ tsp. very finely chopped onion
½ tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 to 2 tbsps. mayonnaise

Snap woody end from each stalk of asparagus. Wash thoroughly to remove any sand. Slit stalks (but leave attached at tip) for faster, more even cooking. Spread asparagus in large pan and cook in about one inch of boiling, salted water until large ends are tender-crisp, about 15 minutes. Or tie stalks in bunches and stand in a deep pot with water halfway up the stalks.

In saucepan, melt butter; stir in flour and salt, and then milk. Cook until thickened. Add cheese and blend until smooth.

Slice eggs in half; remove yolks. Mash yolks and mix with onion, seasonings and mayonnaise. Fill whites with mixture.

Arrange asparagus spears in a 10x6x2 baking dish. Place stuffed eggs on top. Pour cheese sauce over mixture. Bake, uncovered, at 400 degrees F. for about 40 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes four to five servings.

Asparagus and Eggs Goldenrod

24 to 30 asparagus spears, cooked
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. butter
1 cup milk
2 tsps. prepared horseradish
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsps. lemon juice
½ tsp. salt

Press 2 yolks through coarse sieve; set aside for garnish. Press rest of eggs through sieve.

Melt butter in double boiler top over direct heat. Remove from heat and add flour, salt and pepper, stirring until smooth. Gradually add milk. Cook in double boiler until mixture is thick and smooth and there is no taste of raw starch.

Add sieved eggs, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and mix well.

Arrange warm asparagus on serving platter and sprinkle with lemon juice.

Pour Eggs Goldenrod over asparagus and top with sieved yolks and chopped parsley. Surround with bacon slices and serve immediately. Six servings.

Asparagus Divan

1 lb. hot, cooked asparagus
6 slices hot turkey or chicken
1 tbsp. melted butter
1 can heated, undiluted cream of chicken soup
½ cup grated Ontario cheese

Arrange turkey slices in shallow baking dish. Top with asparagus. Dotwith butter. Combine daise sauce as soon as prepared. soup. Pour over asparagus. Brown lightly under broiler.

Buttered Asparagus with Hollandaise Sauce

Cook asparagus until just tender, either in stalks or cut in bite-size pieces. Drain and serve hot with hollandaise sauce. Because it tends to separate, serve hollandaise sauce as soon as prepared.

3 tbsps. butter
2 egg yolks
¼ tsp. salt
Dash of cayenne pepper
2 tbsps. boiling water
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Cream butter; add beaten yolks of eggs. Stir in seasonings and water. Cook gently over boiling water until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add lemon juice. Serve at once. Makes about ½ cup of sauce. Pour sauce over freshly cooked asparagus. Garnish with sautéed mushroom slices.

Hydro's Little Helpers

Nature occasionally upsets Ontario Hydro's solid reputation for delivery. Power interruptions have been caused by wildlife. In one case, an industrious beaver dropped a tree over hydro lines. In another, a moose tangled with a hydro pole. The pole lost.

Fifteen of Ontario Hydro's 65 hydro-electric generating stations are operated by remote control. This system offers vast economies when stations are located in the wilderness.
