Village considers water sale at October Council meeting

Chesterville water system committee members have been approached concerning the sale of village water outside the limits of the municipalities. Considerable discussion followed at the regular October meeting of village government. Present was reeve Jas. Brannen and councillors H. Allison, F. Coons and E. Kelly. The clerk, Lloyd Graham, was on hand to take the minutes.

Council felt it would need more advice about the sale of such a valuable property as village water. It was noted the cost of the system was being born by the villagers and any service sold outside the town limits would hardly prove popular to the owners of the system. The clerk was ordered to get further information in the matter from Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Winter is coming fast, council felt, and it ordered the clerk to put out tenders for a snow plowing and snow removal contract for the season. Harold Sharkey was appointed weed inspector, the minutes noted.

The prepayment of taxes found a small credit on the village books. Some landowners had overpaid, especially when they found a substantial shelter grant to their favour. Council ordered the sum of $849.95 paid back to the proper parties.

The village is still without auditors. Formal steps were finally taken to clear the matter. A by-law was passed rescinding the original by-law that had hired the auditors of the past few years. It was noted that appointments

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

A funny thing happened over the weekend. This Crumb was almost heaved out of an eating emporium due to the lack of a tie. Seems in Winona, Ont., some palaces of food and frolic blend total decorum with booze and beefsteak. Ties and jackets are a must.

Coming as we do from a part of the world where old-fashioned fancies in dress and deportment hold sway, we are always mildly shook to run up against the silly snobbery found in some dressed up joints. It all came about because we made our annual trip to the grape country. Each year we lay in a supply of Nature's delight of the vine. A little squeezing, a mite of fermenting. a spot of pressing and a lot of time makes a potion of some note. The Castle has an array of the end product that is slowly aging into either choice wine or good vinegar.

The companion on the safari left off the floor business long enough to lend a hand. And we arrived breathless and quivering after trying on the ratrace across the north of Tarunna and over the QEW. That country is all concrete and motion now. Not enough grass remains to feed a hungry fieldmouse for a week and the fumes from the cars would kill it in 20 minutes. Twelve lanes wide are hardly enough to get the traffic away even with a couple of helicopters overhead. But we arrived and with a short snort of Vineland's best, soon headed for the lunch-wagon.

We wandered in, answering the beckoning sign, wallet in hand. The girl was nice but firm. "Sorry," says she. "No tie, no grub; sit here close and have a gulp of grape." So we sat close to the dining-room carpet and gazed at the mighty.

Our friend and companion was wearing a pure wool pullover that one finds priced at about $35. The Vyella underneath came in popcorn likely but still no tie. This Crumb had remembered to slip into a bit of leather that came from Lucerne, Switzerland, and when the draft came through on it, we ate low for a month. Still no tie, so no foot in the diningroom.

But we were entertained. Some gentlemen clothed in ties and jackets did make the scene along with their companions. Said companions were offered all the usual courtesies and seated next to the gods. And we again felt very bitter about it. The nearest gal was clothed briefly in a mini skirt that covered her tail with the hem. She did not wear a tie, and from the depth of the cleavage, very little else until the situation became almost navel. Her decorum was modest and she was an ornament. So she sat in the diningroom and ordered ketchup with her steak and a side dish of french fries with her ice cream.

The silly part of the whole thing, we enjoyed the $10 meal just as much as if we sat three feet closer inside the invisible barrier. We finally decided there is a difference between leggy lasses looking for lunch and furrowed farmers foraging for a feed. The price was the same but no tie, no tablecloth. It felt right at home to eat off the wood.

Wage negotiations underway at Nestle plant

Two meetings have been held in the past couple of weeks between management and union officers at the Nestle (Canada) Ltd. plant in negotiations for a new labour contract. The meetings have been cordial and much ground has been covered to date.

Tuesday of this week it was decided to turn the matter over to the hands of a conciliation officer of the Department of Labour. Meetings will resume when the formal arrangement are completed.

Union representatives at the talks are Clare Elliott, president; Bernard Hall, vice president; Jack Lynch, Ronnie Servage and Geo. Barron, international union representative. Company people include plant manager James Moonie, chief accountant H. Fay Shaver, personnel director Wally Moore and D. Houck, labour relations consultant, Toronto.

G. Cooke speaks at Rotary meeting

A classification talk on draughting was given Monday night at the Chesterville Rotary club. Speaker was George Cooke, draughtsman at the Nestle (Canada) Ltd. plant. He was assisted by Bill Loucks.

The speaker told his listeners some of the history of the art of draughting. He noted that pictorial representation was needed to bring the world out of the Dark Ages. The draughtsman is a vital part of the economic world. He is trained to put down as working drawings the ideas that are developed by other parts of the scientific body. Without the draughtsman, it would be much more difficult to advance in this modern world of mechanical marvels.

A complete display of draughting instruments and other aids was offered by the speaker and his assistant. He was introduced by Tom Rance and thanked by Keith Graham. President Norm Harris called special attention to the steak barbecue and urged every member to sell a good number of tickets. Tickets will also be available at the Fair Grounds on Sunday, Oct. 20, the afternoon of the affair.

School Inspector guest speaker at meeting of St. Mary's P.T.A.

A meeting of St. Mary's P.T.A. was held recently in the school auditorium, Mrs Leo Coyne presiding.

Father Collins opened the meeting with a prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the treasurer's report showed a balance of $9.72. Membership fees have been increased from 50c to 75c per member.

In order to raise funds for the treasury, it was decided to hold a cash bingo in the near future.

Mrs Coyne introduced the new teachers for this year. They are: Sister Frances O'Brien, Grades I and II, and Mrs Coons, who is replacing Mrs O'Connor, Grades III and IV. The attendance prizes were won by Mrs Curran and Mrs Coons.

Mr Ben Wouters introduced Mr J. L. Jordan, school inspector, who discussed the new methods being employed in teaching, the areas of opportunity to learn available to each child, and briefly, the recent changes in the school-board system.

Mrs Bert Sharkey thanked Mr Jordan on behalf of the members, and Father Collins and Sister Nancy Wilson added their personal thanks for his help over the past three years.

The meeting adjourned and lunch was served by Mrs Basil Chambers and her committee.

North Dundas District High School students made it again. A team played North Grenville in the new series of "Reach For The Top" TV program. The locals won with a score of 340 to 280. The game will be featured on the TV program next Tuesday night at 6 p.m. over CBOT. Ways to shorten election campaigns

A recent report to the federal government by Nelson Castonguay has outlined a method to shorten election campaigns that in recent years have become tiresome and exhausting to both electors and candidates.

Former Canada's chief electoral officer, Mr Castonguay is noted for his knowledge of election machinery. Two years ago, says the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, he began a study of ways and means to establish a permanent list of voters and also to shorten pre-election campaigns. In his report, Mr Castonguay favours a system of a continuous electoral roll, patterned after the Australian system, which would permit the time required for a Canadian election to be reduced to 30 days.

Mr Castonguay, however, has suggested that Canada not follow Australia's plan because of the high cost involved. He recommends that instead of keeping an electoral roll in every province, as Australia does in every state, a principal roll of electors be maintained in Ottawa. He is of the opinion this would cut the expenses sharply and also would be a practical way of checking on duplicate registrations.

Mr Castonguay's report and proposed amendments to the Elections Act will not be considered immediately by Parliament since there are more pressing problems that rate priority. But the government should deal with his suggestions as soon as feasible. Anything that will streamline and modernize Canada's election machinery will be welcomed.

More will be heard about Mr Castonguay's recommendations. Meantime, Canadians should be gratified that at least something has been done towards cutting down on protracted election campaigns and on establishing permanent voters' lists.

Transporting loaded guns illegal

Since the opening of the hunting season in Southeastern Ontario a number of people have been wounded and several killed. Among the latter have been three who have met death from gunshot blasts that took place while a weapon was being unloaded or carried loaded in a car.

In once instance, acording to the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, a young hunter was killed while he and his girl friend were attempting to unload a weapon standing between them in the front seat.

Carrying a loaded weapon in a vehicle is contrary to the hunting regulations and the Criminal Code. More important still, it is against the rules of common sense.

Contrary to general belief the regulation covering the transportation of loaded firearms was not written into the Code to protect game but to protect people.

To some extent it was a conservation move to guard deer and the bigger game one sees ambling along or across the roads, but where birds are concerned it means nothing in this connection.

One must naturally feel sorry for the survivors of anyone who is killed, whether in a hunting accident or any other form of mishap, but how any birdhunter can be foolish enough to carry a loaded weapon in a vehicle is hard to understand.

It is a strange thing that men, who would never dream of breaking other laws would take the game and safety regulation so lightly, especially when the end result can be not just a minor fine but death.

Rules and laws will never totally prevent these tragedies. All the police officers and conservation officers in the world will never eliminate them. In the final analysis, the solution rests with the individual hunter. Until he smartens up, this annual death toll will continue.

Elements can't help every year

Figures just released on Canadian forest fires in August reveal there has been a reduction. But still the losses of valuable timberland are much too high.

During the month there were 1,149 forest fires, which damaged 76,000 acres of woodlands. In August last year there were 2,224 fires and the number of acres of forest damaged was 426,000.

The federal department of forestry and rural development estimated that up to the end of August, there had been 6,170 fires. These damaged 1,981,000 acres. In the comparable period in 1967, there were 7,355 fires that damaged 1,735,000 acres.

The report did not list the causes of the fires, but it can be said safely that human carelessness played a vital role. No estimate of the monetary loss was given, but it will run into millions of dollars.

Generally, the past spring and summer season was marked by abnormal rainy and cool weather. This undoubtedly was the key factor in bringing about the decrease in the number of forest fires and the resultant damage.

However, the forest fire statistics show that Canada's losses of this important natural resource remains at too high a level. The battle to save our forests must be continued on an all-out basis, since one cannot count to much on the elements to render an assist in keeping down the heavy toll.

WATCH OUT . . . HERE COMES THE THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY TRAFFIC RUSH! And a lot of the driving will be done after dark, now that the days are getting short. Darkness brings special driving hazards. Last Thanksgiving holiday weekend, 17 of the 27 fatal accidents occurred after dark and another two at dusk. The Ontario Department of Transport advises motorists to slow down when the sun goes down. Stopping distnace should never be greater than the disance in which you can see clearly. To avoid glare from approaching headlights, don't look directly at them. And, remember, it is courteous and required by law to switch to low beams when meeting or following other cars.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a food inspector. This is not his business. It is his neurosis.

He examines every slice of bread, even though he picked the loaf up himself on the way home that very evening. When he eats a banana he puts on his bifocals. Yesterday I said, "Clarence, what could possibly get between a banana and the skin?" He replied "A tarantula."

I have given up making salads. It is too much to watch him examine every piece of lettuce under a reading glass. We have had a dozen arguments over whether it was specks of pepper or a bug.

It is bad enough to put up with his crazy behaviour at home, but when we are guests I go through the floor. He says the worst food is the stuff you get at parties because hired help don't give a darn anymore. Please advise. — Wrecksville.

Dear Wreck: I doubt that you can do anything about your husband's behaviour at home. He's a little wacky and you know it.

Try again to get him to behave better when he dines in the homes of friends. It can unhinge a hostess to see such antics. She has no way of knowing if he found something or if he is just looking.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a homosexual. I know you receive thousands of letter from guys just like me so I will try to say something different to keep from boring you to death.

For five years I have been aware of my problem. I've read a lot about homosexuality and most of the authorities agree it is caused by a poor relationship between a boy and his parents — almost always the father. Somehow I can't blame my folks for the way I am. They are decent, hard-working people and if they knew their son was a queer it would kill them.

I date some very pretty girls, and they go for me, but I'll take a guy any day. I only date them to cover up. I am a Roman Catholic. I attend mass every Sunday and put as much as I can in the basket. I go to confession regularly and pray for God's help to set me straight. After two years of fervent prayer I am beginning to feel I am stuck with my fate and I should resign myself to it.

Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. I am not crazy. Furthermore, I see no sense in paying a man $40 an hour to tell me what I already know. Is there any hope? What can I do to get over this terrible feeling that I am a freak and a fraud?—Unalterable.

Dear Unalterable: You have told me not to suggest psychiatric help but I'm going to suggest it ,anyway. I suggest it because you are miserable (some homosexuals are not) and you need to express your innermost feelings to someone who will not judge, deprecate, humiliate or punish you.

The experts on homosexuality with whom I consult tell me that while the chances for a complete cure are extemely slim, the tortured homosexuals who hate themselves often profit from the therapy. While it does not convert them into normal males, it helps them to accept themselves without guilt and shame and all self-destructive emotions that accompany these twin horrors.

Baker - Brown

In a setting of potted ferns and standards of white gladioli, Betty Marjorie Brown and Kenneth Cameron Baker exchanged wedding vows in Inkerman United Church at high noon on Saturday, September 21. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Ray S. Brown, Inkerman, and the groom is the son of Mr Cameron Baker and the late Mrs Baker of Chesterville.

Rev W. E. Black assisted Mr Mervyn Peters for the double ring ceremony; the organist, Mr Russell Suffel, accompanied the guest soloist, Miss Lillias Lippert, of Prescott. Lyle Simpson, Winchester, assisted the groom as best man, and the guests were ushered to the marked pews by Michael Shannon of Guelph and Dick Fulton of Chesterville.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride was attired in a sweeping full-length gown of Chantilly lace over a silk taffeta sheath. The gown was fashioned with scoop neckline, bell sleeves and highlighted by a circular chapel train of self material accented by a large bow at the back neckline. A cluster of tulle petals and seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried pink American Beauty roses and white 'mums.

The bride's attendants were Miss Joy Armstrong, Vars, Miss Erma Allison, Inkerman, and her sister, Miss Donna Brown. They wore identical floor-length teal blue sheath gowns with alencon lace coat-effect overlay in deeper tones and carried hand bouquets of yellow carnations; their brief veils were held by shirred bands of matching lace.

The mother of the bride chose a terra cotta re-embroidered lace over taffeta two-piece dress, matching hat, brown accessories and yellow 'mums en corsage; a muskrat stole complemented her attire.

The grandmother of the groom selected a pastel blue pure silk dress and coat ensemble featuring a re-embridered cowl neckline of self material, velvet hat, and black patent accessories. Her corsage was of pink tea roses.

Guests from Prescott, Carleton Place, Osgoode, North Bay, Innisville, Guelph, Williamstown, Chesterville, Ottawa, Winchester and Inkerman were entertained at a reception in the church hall following the ceremony.

Mr and Mrs Baker spent their honeymoon in Western Ontario, at Georgian Bay, and in Vermont. The bride travelled in a brown and white herringbone wool sheath with three-quarter length matching coat, brown accessories a shoulder knot of yellow roses.

Mr and Mrs Baker will reside at 85 Willow Road, Guelph, Ont.

Mrs Baker is a graduate of Ottawa Civic Hospital, and Mr Baker is a graduate of Ontario Institute of Technology.

Prior to her wedding Miss Brown was honoured at a miscellaneous shower held in Ottawa by the graduating class of nurses. Hostesses for the occasion were Miss Erma Allison, Miss Joy Armstrong and Miss Ella Ballantyne. The mother of the bride and the grandmother of the groom were special guests for the occasion.

Dedicate new centre at Lunenburg church

Members of St. Mark's Memorial Church, Lunenburg, took part in the dedication of their new Christian Education centre after the Sunday service.

The centre represents a complete renovation of the former community hall which was purchased by the church as a church hall. Using a large amount of volunteer help, the members of the church have removed the old stage, installed a large new kitchen, washrooms and heating plant.

The building is located a short distance from the church, and the congregation walked to the front of the new hall for the ceremony of unlocking the door. The keys were presented to Roy McEwan, chairman of the trustee board, by Milton Hillis, treasurer of the building fund.

With the members admitted to the building, the keys were presented to the pastor of the church, Rev Cecil A. Dawson, and the building dedicated to the glory of God and the use of the congregation.

Other memorials dedicated at the same time were a picture of Christ, in memory of Alfred Arthur Wereley, and Ewan Duncan MacMillan, which was given by Mrs Alfred Wereley and her family, and Mr and Mrs Carl Wereley. A Bible was given in memory of Mrs Grace Stewart by some of her friends and a hymnary in memory of Mrs Stewart, by Mr and Mrs Archie Stewart.

FALL FERTILIZER PLOW-DOWN

What are the pros and cons of fall plow-down for application of fertilizer? If you were one of those who had difficulty getting delivery of fertilizer when you needed it last spring, then you'll be quick to spot one of the big advantages of fall plow-down. It can get one of next spring's time-consuming jobs out of the way now.

The experts in the Soil Science Department at the University of Guelph say that this one advantage merits consideration of fall plow-down application. But they also say most emphatically that there are some places you should use fall plow-down and some places you shouldn't.

Only apply nitrogen in the fall for residue decomposition. If more than is necessary is added, regardless of its form, you will lose a good deal of nitrogen over winter. Some will evaporate into the atmosphere and some will leach away with the ground water so that by spring you will have a lot less nitrogen in the soil than you apply now.

These same experts also advise against using plow-down on land to be seeded to small grains. Only if soil tests values are very low should some phosphate and potash be plowed down. For small grains, drilling with the seed will give the best results, they say.

For corn, however, it is a different story. They prefer plow-down to discing in spring for the phosphorous and potash portion of the corn fertilizer. With the bulk of the P2O5 and K2O applied now and plowed down, you can use a minimum of starter fertilizer in the corn planter and side dress the nitrogen.

It i a little late to get the best results from application of P2O5 and K2O on legume meadows, but you can still apply it now as well as in the spring. August or early September is the best time to top dress alfalfa or other legumes.

You see, potash helps to make the alfalfa plant more winter hardy, but to do this the plant must take up the potash during its rest period in September. This is the month when it is so important to leave a good top on alfalfa so the plant will have as many leaves as possible, to manufacture food to stock up its winter reserves. Plenty of available potash right now will help the plant. Late September applications aren't in time to help much this fall, but will be there ready for next spring.

Another advantage of fall fertilizer application, whether on sod or on corn ground, is the fact that now the land is solid and spreading is easy. Whether you use a custom bulk spreader truck or a tractor-drawn spreader there is no problem on most fields with fall spreading. In the spring it is another story with valuable time often lost hauling out a bogged down spreader.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere thanks for all the cards, gifts and treats and to all who visited me while I was a patient in the Cornwall General Hospital and the Maycourt Convalescent Home in Ottawa, also to all who drove and offered to drive me to the Ottawa Clinic, and all who have helped at home. Special thanks to Dr Randlett, nurses and staff on Second North and Third West at Cornwall General ,and to clergy who called. Your many kind acts will always be remembered.

Mrs Ellwood Thompson.

Ambulance attendants course taken by local men

Barry Brownlee of Finch, and G. D. Craig of Chesterville, were among the 158 graduates from the intensive four-week basic training program for ambulance attendants carried out recently at the Canadian Forces Medical Training Centre located at Base Borden.

On Friday, October 4th, certificates and pins were presented by Dr. N. H. McNally, director of ambulance services for the Ontario Hospital Services Commission. The class, the seventh to graduate from the course since the Ontario Department of Health developed the comprehensive plan for the operation of ambulance services and higher qualifications for attendants, are now qualified to efficiently administer emergency care to the victims of an accident or illness and transport them safely to medical care without further injury during transportation.

The training program included instructions on cardiac and circulatory emergencies, head and back injuries and the proper methods of extricating trapped victims from smashed cars.

Mr Brownlee represents the W. G. Brownlee and Son ambulance of Finch, and Mr Craig the Vice and Craig ambulance service of Chesterville and Winchester.

N.D.D.H.S. Rams off to slow start

"We came, we saw, but we were conquered": the Rams are in a slump! The three games they played last week ended in defeat. South Grenville was victorious on Wednesday, Oct. 2 with a 2 to 1 score; Saturday, October 5, North Dundas lost both their games in a double elimination tournament held at Mountain. Ottawa Tech and North Stormont both beat North Dundas 2 to 1.

Raymond St. Pierre was the only scorer last week with all three goals to his credit.

To make a good showing at the season's end the Rams will have to work harder and it can be expected that coach Maharaj has some hearty workouts planned. The Ram's 1st home game is coming up and with the whole school out rooting for them a win is assured.

The Rams may not be racking up the points this year but as far as North Dundas is concerned "The Rams" are still "The Champs."

Presbyterian Church at Dunbar marks anniversary

Last Sunday, Sept. 29th was Anniversary Sunday at Dunbar Presbyterian Church.

Two big services were held, at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. At the morning service the sermon, "Ties That Bind," was delivered by the recently inducted minister, the Reverend E. Earle Eaton, B.A., B.D., B.Th., B.T.A. Gordon Thom of Morrisburg was guest soloist.

At the evening service the Reverend A Newton Reid, M.A., of Prescott was guest preacher. His sermon subject was "The Need of the Church". Dennis Millward of Morrisburg was guest soloist. Mrs Arthur Thom of Williamsburg was at the organ console for both services. Beautiful floral effects in the sanctuary were arranged by Douglas Dillabough.

Safe hunters wear bright orange, the colour that is easiest to see in the field in any weather.

Mr, Mrs J. A. Blair honoured on 25th anniversary

Mr and Mrs John A. Blair were feted by relatives, neighbours and friends on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary at a largely attended reception in the IOOF Hall.

The occasion gave friends an oportunity to extend congratulations and good wishes to this well known and highly respected couple who have lived all their lives in this community.

The evening was spent in dancing to the music of The Glen Orchestra, of Dunvegan. Guest artists included Clifton Britton and his son Douglas, who entertained with violin and piano selections. Friends too apreciated Mrs Ruth Robillard's participation in "calling off" for a square dance.

During the course of the evening Mr and Mrs Blair were escorted to the platform where Allen McIntyre read an address and Clifton Britton made the presentation of a well-filled purse. John and Dorothy replied thanking one and all for their expressions of good wishes.

All those present joined in the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Lunch was served at midnight.

Mr and Mrs Blair were married in Cornwall on Sept. 25, 1943. Their attendants were Mr and Mrs Lorne Valley, of Cornwall, who were also present at the 25th anniversary observance.

The groom is the son of Mr and Mrs James Blair, Moose Creek, and the bride the daughter of Mrs Samuel Mills, Avonmore, and the late Mr Mills.

Mr and Mrs Blair have one son, Alton Blair, of Cornwall, one daughtera (Sharon) Mrs Colonel Montgomery, Finch, and one granddaughter.

In a double-ring ceremony at Inkerman United Church, Miss Betty Marjorie Brown became the bride of Kenneth Cameron Baker. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs R. S. Brown, Inkerman, and the groom is the son of Mr Cameron Baker and the late Mrs Baker of Chesterville.

Kathy Allan elected president Chesterville 4-H Club

Chesterville 4-H held their first meeting of the fall club on Tuesday, October 1, at 6.30 p.m., in the Institute Room of Community Hall. Mrs Betty McIntosh and Mrs Annie Johnston were in charge.

To open the meeting, Janice Docksteader read the 4-H pledge to the other ten members present. It was decided to hold the weekly meetings on Tuesday at 6.30 p.m. This year the colours of the record book are orange and white.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Kathy Allan; secretary, Mary Craig; treasurer, Janice Docksteader.

It was decided to call the club "Stitch in Time," with needlecraft as the project.

The leaders explained the new project and distributed the 4-H members' pamphlets. Home assignments were given at the close of the meeting.

VILLAGE OF CHESTERVILLE

At the request of the Council of the Village of Chesterville, the Ontario Water Resources Commission has investigated the possibility of installing within the village, a sewage works project to be owned by the Province of Ontario, consisting of sewage treatment facilities adequate to provide sewage treatment to all of the wastes of the built-up area of the village and a collector system which will service a major portion of the built-up area of the village. It is now proposed to construct such works at an estimated cost of $534,961. To recover the cost of constructing and operating the sewage works, it is proposed to impose an estimated service rate of 70 cents per 1,000 gallons of sewage treated and a frontage rate of 40 cents per foot per annum and an annual connection charge of $12.50 per connection.

The project will consist of the following works:

The installation of a sewage works system consisting of sewers as follows:

Main	Hummel	Queen
Joseph	Francis	Main

including service connections from the collector sewer to the property line, together with the construction of an outfall sewer to the South Nation River, a 10 acre lagoon with control structures, an 8 inch forcemain approximately 1,540 feet long from a sewage lift station, approximately 300 feet east of the Nestlé Dam on the north side of the River.

It is proposed to meet the annual charges for the sewage works as follows: a frontage rate of 40 cents per foot per annum on all lands which abut or connect to the sewage collector system, the annual connection charge will be $12.50. For a typical domestic user an annual sewage service charge will be $72.00.

In computing the frontage charges, provision shall be made for the exemption or partial exemption from a foot frontage rate and for the termination of such exemption or partial exemption in the following manner:

(a) A reduction in the case of corner lots at the junction or intersection of streets of not more than 50% of the flankage and a reduction or increase in the case of triangular or irregularly shaped lots may be made in the foot frontage rate that otherwise would be chargeable thereon, sufficient, having regard to the situation, value and superficial area of such lots as compared with other lots, to adjust its frontage charge on a fair and equitable basis.

(b) Where a lot is for any reason wholly or in part unfit for building purposes, a reduction may be made in the foot frontage rate that otherwise would be chargeable thereon sufficient to adjust its frontage charge as compared with that of lots fit for building purposes on a fair and equitable basis.

(c) Where a lot, other than a corner lot, has two limits that abut on streets described herein and the size and nature of the lot is such that any or all of the works in such streets are not required, a reduction in respect of the works that are not required, so long as they are not required, may also be made in the foot frontage rate that would otherwise be chargeable thereon, sufficient to adjust its frontage charge on a fair and equitable basis.

(d) In the case of lots that, because of the nature of the terrain or the elevation of the sewer, do not derive the same benefit as other lands abutting on the sewer, a reduction may be made in the foot frontage rate which otherwise would be chargeable thereon, sufficient having regard to the benefit derived as compared with other lots, to adjust the foot frontage rate on a fair and equitable basis.

(e) The reduction shall be made by deducting from the total frontage of the lot liable to the annual foot frontage rate so much thereof as is sufficient to make the proper reduction, but the whole of the lot shall be charged with the annual foot frontage charge as so reduced.

On the basis of these levies a house having a frontage of 66 feet would pay the following amounts annually after connection has been made to the system:

66 ft. Frontage @ 40c	$ 26.40
Connection Charge	12.50
Service Charge	72.00
	$ 110.90

Any rate payer may, within twenty-one days after the first publication of this notice, send by prepaid post to the Clerk of the Village of Chesterville, at the address given below, a notice in writing stating his objection to such approval or to the imposition of the sewage rates.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve the said works, but before doing so it may appoint a time and place for a public hearing when any objections will be considered, but notice of such hearing will be given only to those persons who have given notice of objection as provided for above.

All plans, reports and estimates may be inspected at the office of the undersigned during business hours.

DATED AT CHESTERVILLE and first published this 10th day of October, 1968.

MR. G. L. GRAHAM,
Clerk-Treasurer,
Village of Chesterville,
Box 20,
South Mountain, Ontario.

LONGEST LOAF

New Zealand bakers claimed to have baked the world's longest loaf — 66 feet, one inch of crusty bread. J. T. Gould, town baker at Okahune, cut a hole in his baker's oven and police stood by ready to halt traffic in the road outside as the loaf came out. It beat the previously listed record of 56 feet held by a Dutch firm.

N.D.D.H.S. Sports

On October 3rd North Dundas played football against Osgoode High School at Metcalfe, in their first game of the season.

It was a wet day and conditions proved to be rather unfavourable for the North Dundas team.

By the end of the second quarter Osgoode was leading Dundas 19 - 0 and by the end of the game had extended their lead to 38-0.

The bad showing of the Dundas team was due to lack of practice.

The coach feels that before the year is out Dundas will have one of, if not the toughest team to beat.
