Red Cross Street Fair Interrupted By Rain

The weather man is neither a friend to the agriculturists nor the Red Cross of this district. Last night with the big event of the year for raising funds for the good work of the Red Cross light rain began to fall about nine o'clock and broke up the dance and many games in full swing on King street, just when people were flocking in from all directions. This sharply cut down paid admission and reduced by fully half the expectations of receipts from Bingo and other popular games and refreshment booths.

The drawing for the valuable prizes was carried out as advertised.

The fifty-dollar Victory Bond fell to Blair Laidlaw, one of the C.P.R. station staff.

Mrs. James Fyke drew the $10.00 War Savings Certificate and Pte Hess of Roma the $5.00 certificate.

The $25.00 gate prize was won by L. J. Clarke of Brockville, who had driven a party to town and had sauntered into the Street Fair.

Miss Jean McConnell was the winner of the doll given by the Junior Red Cross.

Mrs. Ken Harper won a quilt offered by the Nation Valley unit, and Mrs. P. Carley (nee Arlie Colquhoun) carried off the big chocolate cake from the same unit which operated a tea room in the former premises of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The big dance in the Community Hall profited to some extent by the outdoor weather conditions, when a very large number attended and enjoyed themselves to the music of Duquette's orchestra.

The total amount realized will not be known until all proceeds of ticket sales are turned in.

SGLMN. H. S. McMURRAY MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

On Saturday last Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McMurray received word from their son Siglmn. H. S. McMurray, in No. 6 British General hospital in France, informing them that he had met with a very painful accident.

Stuart was returning to his unit after delivering a despatch when he ran into a string of shell holes in the pavement which wrecked his motor cycle.

He was unconscious when picked up and taken to a Field Dressing Station with a very badly bruised knee and face, shoulder and hip injuries.

GLEN BECKER BOY SPENDS TWO DAYS IN ROME

A letter some time ago was received by Mrs. Chas. Baker of Glen Becker, from her son L. Cp. George Baker that he and his pal had had two full days leave and spent them in Rome. He walked along the Tiber River and crossed over the bridge Julius Caesar crossed in his chariot. He also went to see his brother, Carson, who was in the hospital at that time, but finding the hospital had been moved away didn't get in touch with him. He also saw the Coliseum and where the lions and tigers were caged. He said it was a wonderful sight.

MRS. J. T CAMPBELL DIES UNEXPECTEDLY FRIDAY

The death occurred at her home South Main street late Friday afternoon of Mrs. John T. Campbell, who was 68 years of age. She is survived by five daughters and three sons. Her husband passed away in 1938. The deceased came to Chesterville with her husband from Finch ten years ago. She took a prominent part in the good works of St. Mary's congregation and was an enthusiastic member of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club. The funeral was held in St. Mary's church Monday morning, when Rev. P. J. Keaney celebrated requiem high mass.

University Requirements Fully Available Here

For the benefit of those who contemplate sending their boys and girls to university, the following information is given, illustrating the requirements for admission into Toronto University. Next week we shall give those for Queen's University, although the requirements are very similar. Assuming the student has completed Grade XII work he now has the Secondary School Graduation Diploma.

Requirements For Art

XIII (1) English (2) Three of French, Greek, German, Italian or Spanish, Latin, Mathematics, (two of Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry), Science (Botany and Zoology), Science (Physics and Chemistry).

(3) One of history: A mathematical paper not chosen elsewhere, Music a fourth subject from the preceding group.

Thus, in Chesterville High School, a student taking English, French (or Latin) Science (chemistry and physics) and history has complete requirements to University in Arts. This school at present (and as it has done for years) offers everything that an Arts student requires.

Requirements for Medicine

Chesterville H. S. offers full requirements thus: English, French (or Latin) History (or another Math.), Science (Chemistry and Physics) and Mathematics (two of Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry).

Requirements for Applied Science and Engineering.

Our H. S. offers English, Mathematics (Geom., Alg., Trig.); Science, (Chem. and Phys.), French or Latin. These are full requirements. For this degree high honours are desirable. Therefore, most students seeking it, prefer to take two years at the work. Students are asked to consult the principal, early in the year, about proposed University Courses. Actually, this H. S. offers each year, more courses in Upper School than are required for most students' choices.

BARN AND CROP BURNED IN WINCHESTER

Tuesday morning about 9.30, a barn belonging to Jake Ross, Main St., Winchester, was totally destroyed by fire together with the season's crop of grain and hay. A garage was also gutted. The cause of the fire is not known. A light wind and the strenuous efforts of the fire brigade saved other nearby buildings.

Unveil Honor Roll In Winchester Church

An honor roll containing the names of 90 members of the Wesleyan Methodist Young People's Society serving in the armed forces was unveiled at a special service in Winchetser Sunday afternoon. Major E. H. Thompson, Canadian Army chaplain returning from overseas, spoke at the unveiling.

The service was part of the program of the annual Young People's convention of the Wesleyan Methodist church of Canada, held at Winchester Saturday and Sunday. E. E. Wilson, of Cornwal , president, presided and Rev. H. K. Sheets of Enid, Oklahoma, general superintendent for America, was guest speaker and conducted the morning and evening Sunday services.

Saturday morning was devoted to discussion of Sunday school work. Rev. J. A. Spearman, of Belleville, was in charge and talks were given by the following: Rev. J. Weaver, Newington, Ontario; Mrs. E. E. Wilson, Cornwall; Mrs. Arthur Summers and Mrs. L. Helmer, both of Winchester.

FARM INCOME HIGH EXPENSES ALSO HIGH

While farm income throughout Canada in the past four years has shown a substantial increase expenditures on the other hand have kept mounting and this with the shortage of help has kept the agriculturist busy making ends meet. On the whole, however, the farmer has been able by working hard to strike a fair balance. Official figures disclose that the net farm income in 1943 amounted to $974,000,000, $180 million below the high of $1,154,000,000 reached in 1942 but substantially above the 1940 estimate of $534,000,000. The higher prices together with a pronounced expansion of livestock production and higher grain yields accounted for this remarkable increase in farm income between 1940 and 1942 and the decline in 1943 might be attributed to lower per acre yields of grain. Cash income from the sale of farm products increased consistently from 1942 to 1943 but [illegible] increase which occurred between 1942 and 1943 represented receipts from sales of the 1942 crop. Cash income in 1943 amounted to $1,397,170,000 compared with $1,114,894,000 in 1942 and $765,854,000 in 1940. Estimated operating expenses of Canada's 730,000 farms in 1943, including depreciation, amounted to $615,000,000, an increase of $11,000,000 or 22 percent over 1940. The increase in operating expenses arose largely out of higher prices for goods and services entering into production. It must be admitted that no pains are being spared to advance the interests of the farmer. The Federal Minister of Agriculture has arranged a floor on prices and the Ontario Premier has announced plans for the establishment in the Autumn of a group to integrate all research work in the realm of provincial agriculture. In the meantime experiments are to be conducted in artificial breeding which might have a tendency to banish the bull.

SAVING TEETH LESSENING DEAFNESS

Ever since it was discovered that children and adults in and around the little village of Ripley in Bruce County are in possession of sound and white teeth and that molar decay is practically unknown other districts in Ontario have been eager to share in this boon. Investigation has established that Ripley's freedom from dental attention has been due to the presence of fluorine in the drinking water. The city of Brantford is probably the first municipality to undertake the fluorination of its water but have not progressed beyond the initial stage. An added incentive to fluorination is contained in the findings of a Chicago specialist in Otolaryngology who declares that fluorination may also be a means of protecting the hearing. This specialist, Dr. Alfred Lewey, has appealed to the Brantford authorities that in the event of fluorine being added to the water tests be made and complete records kept among school children for prevalence of deafness to ascertain whether or not has any effect in decreasing deafness. He points out that tests conducted in 68 Illinois counties showed that where fluorine did not appear in the drinking water prevalence of deafness was 4.9 percent in 109,869 children examined. In counties where fluorine did appear in the water prevalence of defective hearing was 2.8 percent among 20,488 children examined.

ELECTION LIKELY FOR NOVEMBER

Without desiring to enter the realms of prophecy it may be taken for granted that a Federal General election is due sometime in November. Special officers who will conduct polling among members of the Canadian forces overseas already have left for Europe, Africa and the Far East. Returning Officers in Ontario have received instructions that they must definitely complete the preliminary work for an election by August 26th. Prime Minister King has advised that the Dominion-Provincial conference will not be held till after the General Election and many other signs indicate that the die is cast.

UNUSUAL TYPE OF GASOLINE OFFENCE

An unusual type of gasoline rationing offence was recently disclosed when five men were placed on trial at St. Thomas, Ont. At the end of last March, four of the men found that their 1943 allotments had not been exhausted, whereupon they deposited their unused coupons with a fifth man, a gasoline dealer, who subsequently delivered gasoline against this "credit". When the four consumers were charged by the Oil Controller with having transferred coupons in an unauthorized manner and with having bought gasoline without coupons, each of them was fined $200. The dealer was assessed $300 for having obtained coupons illegally and for delivering gasoline other than on receipt of valid coupons.

Properly Introduced

The clergyman in a wayside church in England was about to start a sermon when four British soldiers entered.

They were late and very conscious of it. Two of them found seats; the others, a sergeant and a private, walked up the centre aisle.

At that moment the preacher announced his text: "Paul I know, Cephos I know, but who are these?"

The sergeant paused in his stride then sang out: "Glad to have the pleasure, your reverence. This is Jock McTavish from Glasgow, and I'm Willie Hope from Belfast."

CHEER HIM ON
By Folger M'Kinney

DON'T you mind about the triumphs
Don't you worry about fame;
Don't you grieve about succeeding,
Let the future guard your name.

All the best in life's the simplest,
Love will last when wealth is gone!
Just be glad that you are living,
And keep cheering someone on.

There's a lot of sorrow 'round you,
Lots of lonesomeness and tears;
Lots of heartaches and of worry
Through the shadows of the years.

And the world needs more than triumphs;
More than all the swords we've drawn;
It is hungering for the fellow
Who keeps cheering someone on.

SOME TENANTS ARE NOT PROTECTED NOW

Rentals officers of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board point out that notwithstanding its order giving tenants of "shared accommodation" except hoarders protection from summary eviction unless they are on their bad behavior, tenants of such accommodation who were given notice to vacate prior to July 29 must observe such notice. Protection under the new order is not, of course, given to tenants who fail to pay their rentals or who violate agreements with landlords. Provincial laws apply in such cases, and if the tenants are held to be obnoxious they can also be put out through application to a court of rentals appeal which will review the circumstances before reaching a decision.

FARM TRACTOR AND FATAL ACCIDENTS

According to a recent report issued by the Kansas State Board of Health the greatest single cause of fatal farm accidents in 1943 was farm machinery and the machine taking the greatest toll of lives was the tractor.

Tractors were the means by which 27 Kansas farmers met their death last year. Twelve farmers died when their tractors overturned. One of these men was not accustomed to driving. Two farmers were fatally crushed when trying to drive tractors up a steep slope. One man's tractor overturned when being driven across a ditch; another when being driven out of a ditch. When driven too near the edge of a ditch, an embankment or a creek bank, seven more tractors overturned and each time the drivers were killed.

Ten farmers died after falling from their tractors. Five died as the result of the fall itself. Five were run over by other machinery as a result of their fall. One of these farmers was run over by a disc, two were fatally injured by a one-way plow and two by a mowing machine.

One man's foot slipped from the drawbar and he fell into the power-take-off. Another's clothing caught in the whirling gears and he was drawn into the machinery. In all, three farmers died when caught in the power-take-off of their tractors despite the fact that power-take-off shields are available.

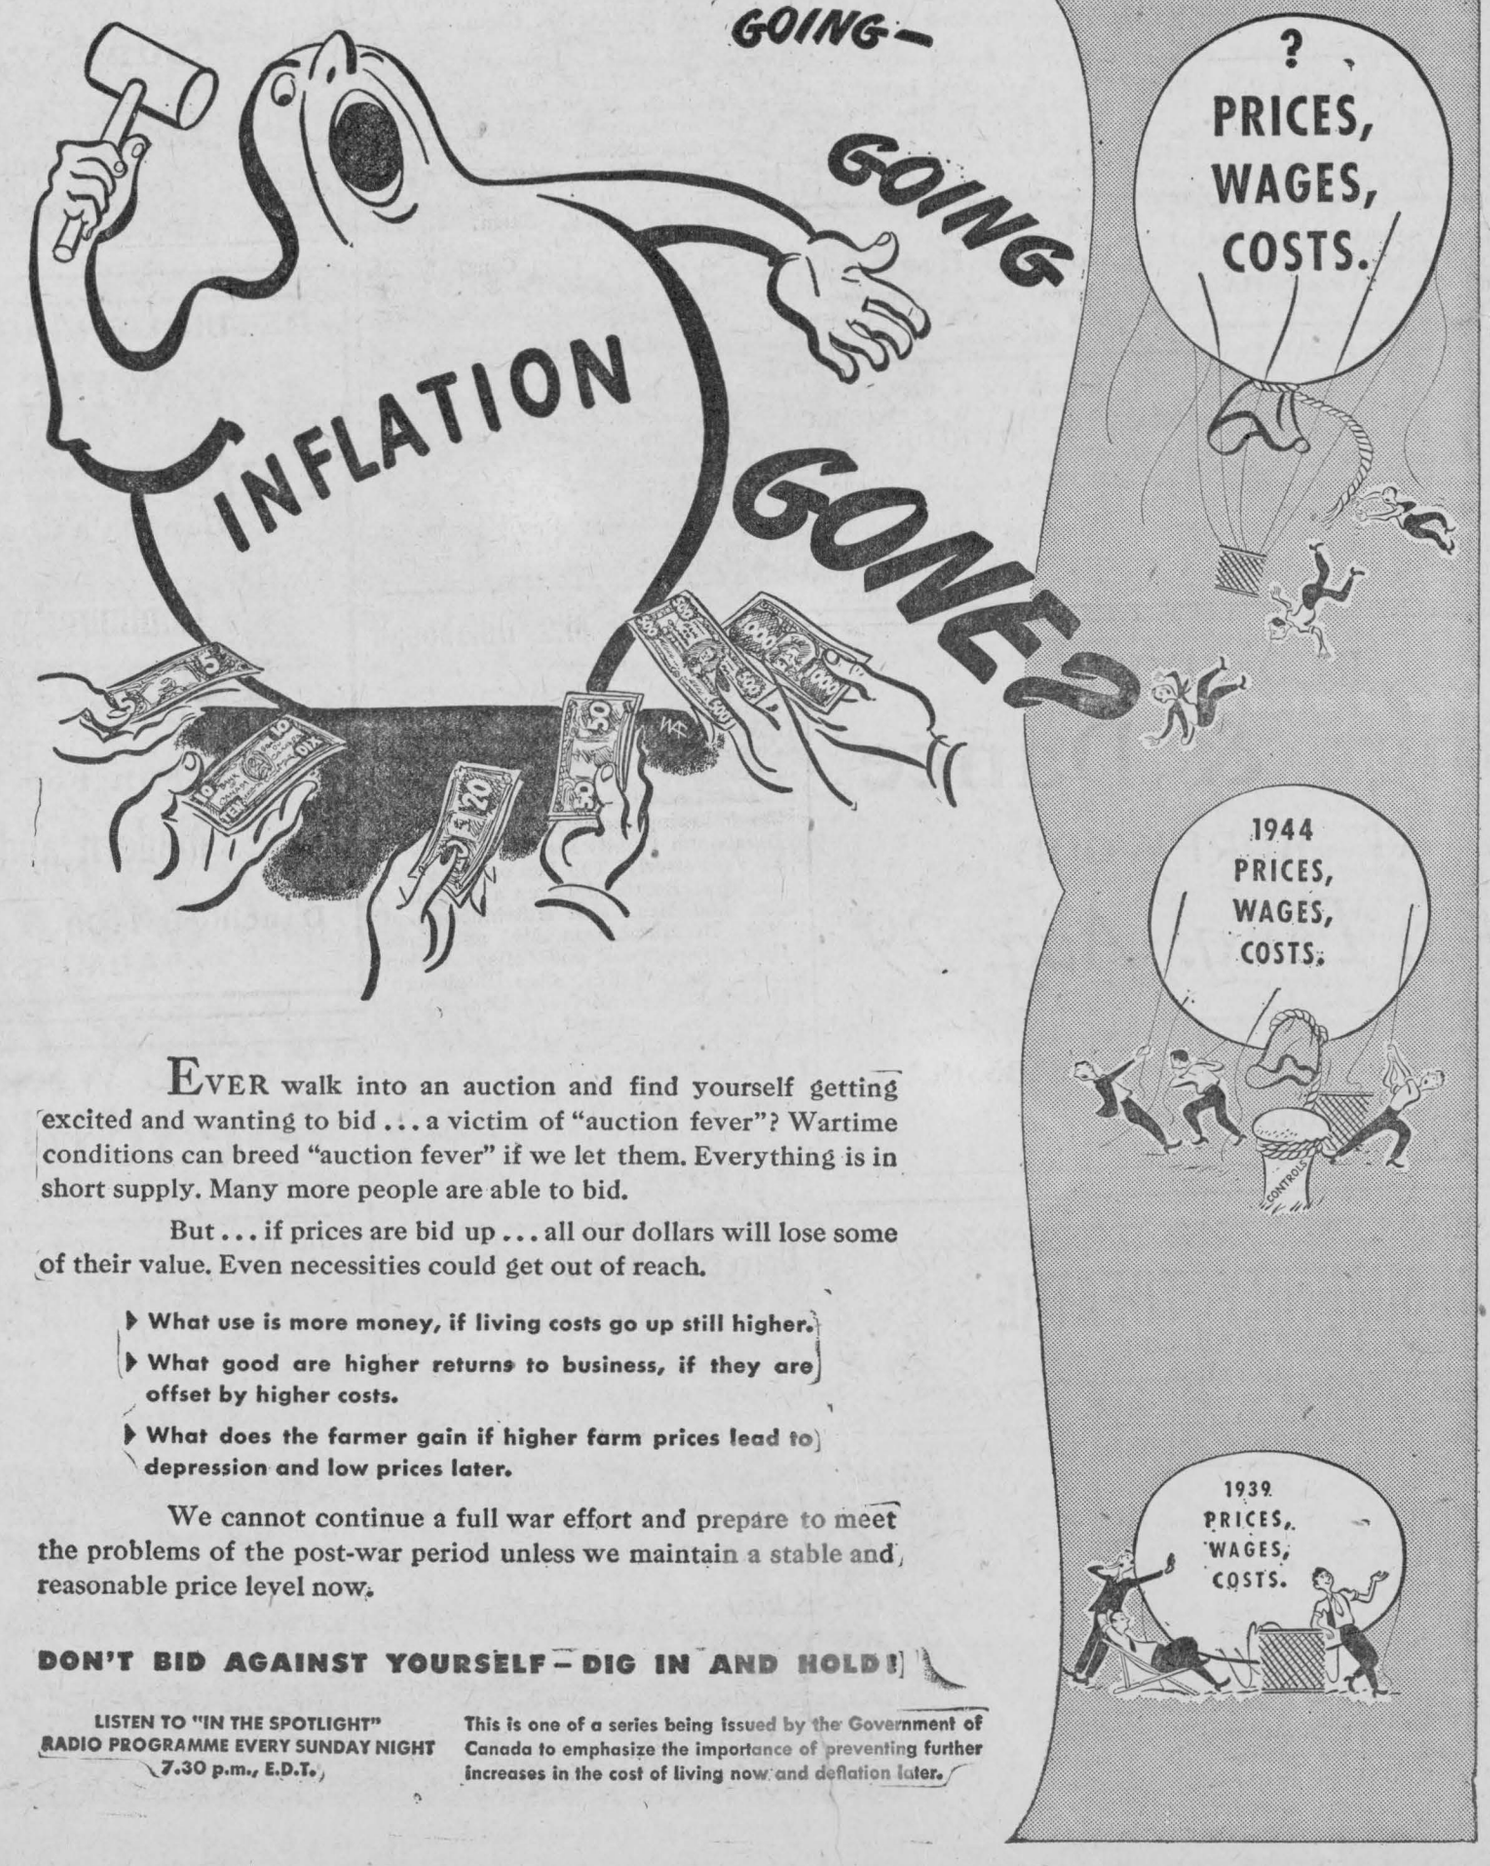
Another farmer died when caught between tractor and trailer after the clutch facing broke and the clutch would not release. Still another was run over when cranking his tractor while it was in gear.

Agricultural engineers say that most, if not all, of these accidents were preventable. The best prevention, they say, is constant vigilance—and the determination not to take a chance.

A Sore Spot

Teacher: Bobbie, your composition is the worst in the class. I'm going to send your father a note telling him about it.

Bobbie: You'll just make him sore. He wrote it.



EVER walk into an auction and find yourself getting excited and wanting to bid . . . a victim of "auction fever"? Wartime conditions can breed "auction fever" if we let them. Everything is in short supply. Many more people are able to bid.

But . . . if prices are bid up . . . all our dollars will lose some of their value. Even necessities could get out of reach.

- What use is more money, if living costs go up still higher.
- What good are higher returns to business, if they are offset by higher costs.
- What does the farmer gain if higher farm prices lead to depression and low prices later.

We cannot continue a full war effort and prepare to meet the problems of the post-war period unless we maintain a stable and reasonable price level now.

Wounded Soldier Remembered By Folks At Home

Last week 3 of the ladies of Beckstead settlement canvassed the community to bring some cheer to Pte Leslie Whittaker who has been wounded in France on July 5.

They met with wonderful success, the results being that an order of cigarettes were mailed without delay and a substantial box of necessities and tasties were mailed on Friday along with the following letter.

Dear Leslie:

We, your old friends and neighbors want you to know how proud we are of you and how we appreciate your courage and valor in serving your country for our freedom sake.

The loyalty you have shown has brought to you hardships and suffering which we cannot bear for you, but through these few words we hope to convey to you how proud we are of our home boys who are carrying the torch for us. No matter what the outcome of your injuries are, you will always be held in our highest regards and we look forward to the day when we can clasp your hand and say, "Welcome Home".

Under separate cover we have sent you a small parcel which with only a mite in it we want you to know there goes our sympathy and wishes for a speedy recovery and a safe arrival in our midst in not too distant future.

As you partake of the contents may it remind you of your old friends and acquaintances who together have shared to make this gift as we have shared in glory of calling a boy like you one of our own.

In closing we attach herewith a paper individually signed by those who have helped to try and bring a little cheer to you in your hours of trial.

May God bless and keep you and bring you safely home. With love and best wishes from all the old Home Folks.

The ladies in charge wish to thank all those who made this a success with special thanks to Mrs. Geo. Weegar and Mr. Geo. K. Casselman for their extra thoughtful contributions.

Mrs. Earl Beckstead, Mrs. Lloyd Froats, Mrs. Maurice Beckstead.

FATTENING POULTRY TO GET BEST RESULTS

Except in the case of capons, some degree of fattening or finishing of birds for market is necessary to produce a carcass which will grade well and return the best price, says H. S. Gutteridge, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Capons, if vigorous and healthy, will usually be fat enough when taken off range to grade well with little, if any, finishing. Two facts should in themselves commend the practise of fattening for market: the weight gained during fattening is the most economical of any gain made during the whole growing period and that the premium paid for the improved grade of the market bird is paid not only upon the economically produced gain while fattening but upon the whole weight of the bird.

Crate fattening and pen fattening are the principal methods of fattening. Fattening in crates is best because it produces more gain and fat in a shorter time and softens the flesh producing a very tender carcass. Pen fattening is the best substitute but takes a longer time to produce the same effect and is less economical. Under satisfactory conditions two weeks of fattening should be sufficient to produce top grade birds with crates, while fattening in pens takes from three to four weeks.

If possible, skim milk or buttermilk should be used to mix fattening feeds. Unwatered whey is also good. Oat groats, not too finely ground, ground heavy oats from which most of the hulls have been sifted or ground corn are the most efficient of the common grains for fattening purposes. Buckwheat, wheat, oats (with hulls) and barley are next best, the respective merit being in the order stated. A mixture of the best of these grains, wet-mixed as stated will give satisfaction. If 7 to 10 percent of meat meal is added to the mixture gains considerably in excess of the additional cost of the meat meal should be made, but where not possible the grain and milk mixture should be sufficient.

Birds should be starved for 18 to 24 hours before fattening and flushed with epsom salts (¾ lb. per 100 mature birds). They should have water to drink between feedings. Feeds should be mixed to a consistency which will just pour and be given twice daily in such quantity that they will clean it up in twenty minutes, any residue being removed. The birds should be starved from 10 to 14 hours before killing and chilled as quickly as possible after killing. Such fattening treatment should prove profitable and produce the quality which encourages return orders from satisfied customers.

So Tactful.

The new recruit was late for parade. "Well, it's so nice to see you, soldier," said the sergeant with a snarl. "We so feared you had signed a separate peace."

We did it at VIMY... and CAEN-

WE'LL DO IT AGAIN- but we need YOUR HELP!

OVERSEAS BADGE OF HONOUR
GS
WEAR IT ON YOUR ARM

Yes, we need your help... and need it badly.

This is the biggest job we have ever tackled! Everything depends upon Victory.

Canada's Army needs volunteers NOW. And, that means you and you and you!

Wear Canada's Badge of Honour on your arm. You'll be proud of it, so will your friends.

Every man who is able has got to do his bit!

Maybe you don't think this means you . . . that it's a job for the other fellow.

If you do, you're wrong. It's your war, too . . . a war for every man who is a man . . . for everyone who has a stake in Canada.

Yes, this means you all right and we need you now for the months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit. We did it before and we can do it again . . . but we need your help.

"HAND MILKING" IS ON THE WAY OUT, TOO!

The Modern Milking Machine has won the favor of Dairymen

Freedom from the time-taking, tiring and tiresome chore of hand milking has come to thousands of dairymen through the perfection of the modern milking machine.

The milking machine saves hours of time and labor, making easier and quicker work of a task that has long been considered as "taking a lot of the joy out of life." In these times of help shortage, it has been the milking machine that has enabled many a dairyman to keep the monthly cheques for milk and cream coming in as usual and to benefit from the great demand for dairy products.

To users of milking machines, doing the job by hand is a thing of the past—to them hand-milking belongs to the days when grain was sown broadcast by hand and crops were harvested with the sickle and the cradle.

Tricked By American Officer Nazis Give Up French Town

Behind German Lines in France.—

At Le Fayet, in the Savoy mountains the Partisians had a close shave. Elsewhere the Germans were either annihilated or they capitulated when the situation became hopeless. But at Le Fayet the Germans went on fighting, largely with bullets made of wood. I have a handful of souvenirs. They make a big, scaring blast, but they scatter into splinters before they reach you. At Le Fayet the German commander kept enough metal bullets to kill 40 French men and women whom he held as hostages.

When the Maquis issued him an ultimatum to surrender or they would storm the town, the commander answered that if they did, he would shoot the 40 hostages. The French troops hesitated to attack.

An American officer, who advises the Partisions, had a bright idea. He sent a personal ultimatum to the German commander, saying he had a company of American paratroopers who, as German propaganda said, were notoriously disrespectful of French lives, and they would assault and kill every German in the town, regardless of the consequences.

The German commander there-upon reconsidered and sent a message back saying he would like to negotiate with the American and his staff. He didn't have any Americans and he didn't have any staff. Meanwhile, unknown to the German commander, a column of 14 German Nazi lorries with artillery was en route to relieve him at Le Fayet.

As time shortened, the American got another bright idea. He hustled together four Frenchmen who donned four British uniforms which had been parachuted down recently and he met the German commander in a forest.

When the Germans saw the five khaki uniforms—the men of the Maquis in France wore mostly grey uniforms—he surrendered the town, and the main force of the Maquis was then turned against the advancing German column and destroyed it.

In Annecy, we witnessed an almost Shakespearean tragedy. In the rue Grenette we heard a gun gasp from one of the houses. Gendarmes rushed into the house and up the stairs. Before they reached the door of the room, a second shot rang out. When they opened the door they found the last Gestapo officer whom they had not yet caught lying on the floor with his mistress in a pool of blood. The S.S. officer, whose name was Kamft, had shot her and himself. At headquarters we learned the woman was a spy.

In St. Julien, the day before the Maquis attacked, the Germans caught a tough little French Communist carrying a revolver. He was taken to the Gestapo jail and beaten with an iron poker. When we met him both his eyes were purple and his clothes red.

After St. Julien was taken the Maquis commander lined the Germans up and told the tortured lad to pick out his man. The boy pointed to the man who had done it.

"I grant you the right to do anything you wish with him," the commander told the boy. "You may even shoot him."

The boy advanced silently. The Gestapo man flinched and his knees buckled. The boy fingered his revolver handle a minute. Then he grinned and slapped the Gestapo man on the right cheek and then on the left cheek. Then the boy turned to his commander and said: "Thank you, my lieutenant."

I asked him why he did not shoot his torturer. He lit his cigarette and said: "I know I am a donkey, everybody says so. But what could I gain from it?"

The same lieutenant then made a little speech to the Germans. He said: "You have tortured our women and children. You have killed thousands of us. Now I can kill you. But I shall show you that we are more human that you have been."

He pointed to the French border and told them, "Go, you are free."

The lieutenant was a Jew. His brother was killed by the Germans a year ago.

BRITISH FLEET AIR ARM'S LATEST SUCCESSFUL ATTACK ON GERMAN CONVOY OFF BODO.

Details have now been received of the Fleet Air Arm's successful attack on a German convoy off Bodo, northern Norway. The Barracuda aircraft took off in the early hour of a bitter Arctic dawn. When they reached the enemy convoy they were met with fierce flak but they dived in and scored direct hits on several ships, and at the end of the raid five ships were ablaze. The continuous attacks on enemy convoys trying to creep through northern waters with supplies for the eastern front, have been a deterrent to Germany's fighting powers in Russia, and every blow struck at enemy shipping is another step towards the final and inevitable defeat of the Nazi aggressors of world freedom.

EMPLOYERS REQUIRED TO CHECK ON EMPLOYEES

An order signed on August 15th by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, requires employers of male employees to check on the documents in the possession of any new employees being engaged, so that the employer may be satisfied that the man has not failed to comply with Mobilization Regulations.

While each employer is required to check on all new employes he engages in the future, he is only required to report to the Mobilization Registrars on men thought to be in the designated age classes who fail to furnish evidence that they have complied with the military call-up, or that because of marriage or for other reason, they do not have to comply.

The employer must report on any doubtful case within 7 days of the time he engages the man. Even though a man does not possess documents to show that he has complied with the regulations, the employer is not prohibited from hiring him, providing that any other Selective Service regulations have been complied with.

By an order of the Minister of Labour signed several months ago, all employers had to similarly check on their male employees by May 1st this year. Under the present order employers are required to report by August 29th, to the nearest Mabilization Registrar, on any employees hired since May 1st, who do not possess the necessary documents.

Employers in business and industry are being notified by mail of their responsibilities under the order just signed, while the necessary report forms are available on application through the employment and Selective Service Offices. These Local Offices will also assist employers by furnishing information regarding the procedure under the check-up.

Brother, Should You Spend a Dime?

A dime is small change! (10¢) But when a lot of dimes march out of your pocket they soon become dollars that start to fight other dollars, for the new neckties, dresses or furniture left for us to buy. This battle of the dollars is called INFLATION because it starts prices rising! And the higher prices go...the less your dollar is worth! For instance, during the last war, people had to pay 23¢ lb. for sugar that you get for 8¢ lb. today, A voile night dress was $6.95 compared to the $1.98 you pay now. Your dollar buys more goods, is worth more than the dollar of 1914-18. Price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have helped keep it's value high. And remember! Every time you use your money wisely to pay off a debt BILL PAID or to increase your savings BOND 100 when you refuse to hoard goods or patronize black markets...it makes your dollars worth MORE!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!

Lieut. Jack Morris Writes Interestingly To Mrs. Morris About Invasion

Saturday, July 29th, 1944.

My Dearest Ida:

I hope I shall be able to finish this letter tonight. It has been fairly quiet today so the outlook is good. I had rather a bad day yesterday I guess it's the strain. After tea at 9.30 I went to bed and slept till 7.30 this morning. It's the longest sleep I've had since we landed on these shores, was only awakened once when Jerry started pumping a few heavies over our heads from his long range artillery. I was secure in the bottom of my slit trench. The only possibility of danger here is from a direct hit and that is only once in a million.

We have finally found Jack Couper's body; I had hoped he would be a prisoner of war when he was missing for so long. He had been buried by another unit and when the bodies were being moved recently to a proper cemetery we found his. I do feel so sorry for Mary.

When we moved into our present location we found several trees of ripe cherries they were of the black variety and boy they were good. We are now almost fully on fresh rations, which taste very good.

I do hope those rubber boots get here this time. They will be very useful.

I was so sorry to read about Francis Marcellus's death. I was talking to Ross Fawthrop of Cornwall yesterday, and I find most of the boys I knew are gone, including Bud, Archie MacDonald. Freddie Williams is missing. I don't believe you knew all of these boys, but they were very good friends of mine. Yes, I know you cannot realize what actual warfare is even faintly. The saddest sight is to see the ruined homes and villages, even the trees are blasted and in some places only stripped poles remain. Then you see families trundling back to their homes with the few possessions they managed to take when the tide of battle hit their homes. They look so dejected (no wonder) but they are almost 100 percent glad to see us and welcome their deliverance.

The Hun's 88 m.m. is a deadly weapon, but our 17 pounder anti-tank gun is just as good, and I've seen German tanks, including the notorious Tigers with the turrets blown completely off where one of these shells hit. I counted over a dozen wrecked Heinie tanks in a recent location about the size of a ten acre field. So our weapons must be good. Just now the Pipe Major is piping away in the orchard and the sound of the big guns and planes roaring over is a strange mixture, that we have become accustomed to.

I am well supplied with all the necessities and luxuries just now, dear. Have a nice supply of food and cigs. That strawberry jam was about the nicest food I've tasted since coming over here. I gave one of the cooks a packet of 250 cigs the other day. I still have a generous stock.

I saw Jim Fleming to-day and had a nice chat with him. Percy Plantz tells me he has received a letter from Frances McAvoy every week since he arrived over here and quite a lot from Addie Campderros. It is certainly nice of them to remember the boys over here.

I have a feeling I'll be denied my Sunday night date with you but if I can manage I'll write you.

Jack.

Sunday, July 30th, 1944

My Dearest Ida:

I can hardly express my thoughts tonight having just received two lovely letters and your parcel of June 30, in which another letter and some clippings were enclosed. I have had so many lovely letters and parcels since I crossed the Channel.

We are in a new location tonight. In a lovely setting of a woods surrounding an old Chateau. The war has passed lightly over this place for some reason, it seems so very peaceful. At 8.15 this evening the Padre held evensong in the Chapel adjoining the Chateau and the service was attended by as many as could crowd into the tiny place. It was a voluntary service and to illustrate how much their religion means to the boys now, one of the remarks was: "You see more of the boys from one platoon now than from the whole battalion back in England. The chapel is Roman Catholic, of course, but it is the property of the Baron who is also Mayor of the town. He spoke to the Padre when we arrived and said he would be pleased if we would make use of it. It is a beautiful little sanctuary and I plan on getting a snap of the interior.

I must tell you, I have seen the city of Caen and the result of the terrific bombing the air force subjected it to before our boys went in to capture the place. I have seen devastation in England with whole sections of streets knocked down but to see this place is to realize the tremendous holocaust that an all-out effort causes. Hitler started this bombing business and he has to pay for it a thousand fold. There were no fires in the city, just high explosives. Vast areas are nothing but heaps of rubble as high as ordinary buildings. The bulldozers and engineers have cleared the streets so traffic can move with comparative ease.

I see Jim Fleming nearly every day. I guess we will be tagging along near each other for some time. I was grieved to learn of Major Archie MacDonald's death. I knew him very well and counted him one of my best friends in the Glengarrians. Archie's little girl was born after he arrived overseas so he never saw her. It is tragic.

By the way, I've delved into this grand parcel, and how tempting it looks. I'll have some of the cakes with our tea which will be up in a few minutes. The remaining contents will fill in the vacant feeling one sometimes experiences between meals.

There are so many letters I should write but I just don't seem to have time.

Good-night now my dears,

Jack.

MUST WIN BATTLE AGAINST INFLATION TO AID EMPLOYMENT

To win the battle against unemployment after the war, states a recently issued Dominion Government Handbook. Most farmers know what happened after the last war—the drastic decline in land values, the overwhelming burden of debt. the reduction in income, and the lowering of the standard of living. All were caused by inflation.

In every previous war in modern history, the strains and pressures on economic systems have led to a steadily rising cost of living, resulting in inflation. This cycle used to be accepted as inevitable even though it meant hardship for the great majority. With Canada equipping her own fighting forces of the United Nations, the danger of inflation was there and still remains.

In the present war, if the cost of living had been allowed to rise unchecked, living standards would have been progressively reduced. Under a certain condition of inflation, some wages and salaries might rise but wages and salaries could not keep pace with the increase in the cost of living. For people living on pensions annuities and other forms of small savings bringing in a fixed income, inflation would mean poverty and hardship. On the other hand, inflation would fall less heavily on people who were able to use a rise in prices as an excuse to demand or take higher incomes. Thus by keeping prices stable, an enormous amount of hardship and injustice has been so far averted.

To fight inflation in Canada, price control which protects the people by putting a ceiling on the prices of goods, rents and services, has been adopted. However, price control is only one of the measures which constitute Canada's economic strategy in war. There are other controls—wage and salary and distribution controls, together with wartime taxation and Government loans. Combined they are known as Canada's Stabilization Controls, and are so interlocked that a defect in the working of any one of them directly weakens the whole system.

The relationship between Stabilization Controls and the greatest possible war effort is not even yet fully understood. To some people the stabilization of prices may mean to be no more than a plan to protect the purchasing power of every dollar earned. It is that and more. The important thing is that it is possible to plan and organize Canada's economic resources for the greatest possible war production and to safeguard the essentials of the standard of living, only if there is economic stability on the home front. That is the real significance of Canada's war effort.

Therefore, the whole hearted support of the Stabilization Controls on the part of every Canadian is necessary to prevent the chaos and hardship of inflation the chaos and hard- greatest possible war effort on all fronts, to build sound foundations for the post-war period, and in short to win the war. The farmers are doing their share.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS REOPEN SEPT. 5, DREW REAFFIRMS

Premier Drew in his capacity as Provincial Education Minister on Monday isssued a statement reaffirming that Ontario Secondary Schools will reopen for the fall term on Sept. 5 except where local boards have taken action to keep the schools closed to permit pupils to work on farms.

The premier's statement said that the department was continuing to receive requests that all secondary schools remain closed during September to provide additional help on the farms.

On April 4 a notice had been sent to every secondary school urging that pupils be impressed with the need for help on the farms, and arrangements were made to leave before the termination of the school year so they could do this work.

At the same time it was stated that responsibility for keeping schools closed during September rested with the local school boards. This notice stated that except where action was taken by local boards all elementary and secondary schools would re-open on Sept. 5.

Eddie Albert, the film actor who participated in the invasion of Tarawa, reports that during the mopping up process he discovered a group of Marines trying to question a wounded Jap.

"He's an educated Jap, educated in America," one Marine told Albert, "but he won't talk."

"Has he said anything at all?" asked Albert.

"Yeah, at first," replied the Marine. "He came out with his hands up, said he was a Harvard man and asked if any of us was from Harvard. We told him no—so he just won't talk to us."

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! There are few household occupations more satisfying to the heart of woman than the making of pies—and probably few that give the family so much satisfaction either!

Now is the time to make fruit pies and ones that are juicy but not soggy. The secret of a delectable fruit pie is in the baking. Bake in a pre-heated electric oven at 425 degrees F. for only 10 minutes, then move the indicator down to 350 degrees F. for the remaining 30 to 35 minutes. If you have a regulator which does not reset, then turn the top oven element off and the lower switch to medium as the oven temperature is reduced about 15 degrees F. in 10 minutes. It is quite important to maintain a constant heat for the next half hour. When the troops are home for dinner and there is more than one pie to make place 2 or 3 in at a temperature of 450 to 475 degrees F. but lower to 350 degrees F. in 15 minutes. Cool pastry as quickly as possible to prevent a "soaking" crust.

APPLESCOTCH PIE.

¾ cup brown sugar, ¾ cup corn syrup, ¾ cup water, 7 cups sliced apples, 2 teaspoons vinegar, ¼ cup flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 recipe bran pastry.

Combine the corn syrup, water and vinegar; bring to boiling point. Add the apples and simmer gently until tender but unbroken. Remove apples and cool. Combine the sugar, flour and salt and add to the syrup. Mix well, and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the butter and flavoring. Cool. Place apples in pie pan lined with bran pastry. Bake in a moderate electric oven (425 degrees F.) about 35 minutes.

BRAN PASTRY.

¼ cup prepared breakfast bran, 1½ cup shortening, 4 tablespoons cold water (more or less).

Roll the bran until fine; combine with sifted flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on a lightly floured board to about ⅛-inch in thickness.

DEEP DISH PLUM PIE

2 tablespoons cornstarch, 4 cups plums, washed and pitted, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter, plain pastry.

Combine cornstarch, plums, salt, sugar and melted butter. Pour filling into deep baking dish. Roll pastry to ⅛-in. thickness. Fold, cut slits to permit escape of steam. Place crust over filling, trimming off surplus. Bake in electric oven of 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer.

PEACH PIE

Plain pastry, 2½ to 3 cups sliced peaches, ½ cup granulated sugar, 2 tbsps cornstarch, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon butter, milk.

Line an 8-inch pie plate with pastry and fill with the peaches. Mix cornstarch, sugar, cinnamon, salt and lemon juice and sprinkle over the peaches. Dot with the butter. Moisten the edges of the pastry with water. Roll upper crust 1-inch larger than the pie plate, fold in half, and make three ½-inch slits in the centre. Place on top of filled crust and unfold. Turn edge of upper crust under lower crust and press edges with fork dipped in flour. Brush top with milk. Bake in electric oven at 425 degrees F. for 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 to 375 degrees F. for 20 minutes.

GLAZED PEACH TARTS

1 cup soft custard, 6 deep tart shells, 3 large fresh peaches, currant or other clear jelly.

Pour custard into baked tart shells, filling about one-half full. Place one-half peeled fresh peach on custard, cut side down. Melt currant jelly and spread gently over the top of each peach. Chill in electric refrigerator.

ELDERBERRY CRISS-CROSS PIE

Pastry, 4 cups elderberries, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour.

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Fill with elderberries, washed and drained. Combine sugar and flour and sprinkle over the fruit. Place strips of pastry lattice fashion over the top of pie and flute edges with finger tips. Bake in electric oven at 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and bake for 30 minutes longer.

TAKE A TIP

1. Reminders for summer-time foods are: corn on the cob, sliced cucumber with sour cream, summer squash with cheese, green lima beans and peppercress.

2. Save some fresh chili sauce to use—add it to a welsh rarebit, spaghetti and other rainy night dishes.

3. Beat every sauce with the whip or dover beater and you will always have rich, creamy ones.

4. A few nasturtium leaves add more than decoration when they are put in cheese sandwiches, or with sliced cucumbers.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. M. J. asks: How to pasteurize milk at the summer cottage?

Answer: Make raw milk safe to drink by boiling. Put it in a heavy saucepan; bring it to the boiling point and hold it there for only two minutes. Be sure to keep it from burning by stirring constantly. Cool by pouring into another pan and placing it in cold water, chilling it as quickly as possible.

Mrs. B. T. asks: Why does homemade ice cream form a clear layer of ice at the bottom?

Answer: Ice cream should have been taken out two or three times and well beaten during the freezing.
