Fire destroys garage

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG – A common garden hose is no match for a structure fire and that was the case in point Monday afternoon when the Morrisburg Fire Department was called to 84 Lakeshore Drive where a single car garage was burning.

"It went really fast," said Morrisburg Fire Chief Robert Hamilton of the aged frame building. "It was nearly down when we got there. All we could do was put it out and save the house."

The single house rental is owned by Mark Harper, and the house occupant attempted to put the fire out with a garden hose while yelling to neighbours to phone the fire department.

According to Hamilton, the fire started when an extension cord, buried under the ground, shorted out. "It was a really old building, and there wasn't much in it," he said.

It was a very hot fire and it melted the siding off the back of the house that Hamilton estimates is about 20 feet away. "That is the radiant heat," he explained.

Twelve fire fighters responded to the call, and water was pumped from the river.

Hamilton advises people to call 911 immediately upon detecting a fire. "Don't wait, and don't try to put it out yourself."

"What we can do in five minutes, a garden hose could never accomplish," he adds. "This shows what can happen."

The shaken resident of the house had burns on his hands and arms, but according to Hamilton, they weren't serious.

Jean Chretien revs up local Liberal rally

Samantha Thompson

CORNWALL – A room packed full of Liberal supporters were revved up by a powerful address from Prime Minister Jean Chretien on Tuesday at the Best Western Inn in Cornwall.

"I have a strong representation here in Eastern Ontario," said Chretien referring to Liberal incumbents Bob Kilger, Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh; Don Boudria, Prescott-Russell; and Joe Jordan, Leeds-Grenville.

"Our first responsibility is to our electors," Chretien began his speech.

"When we (Liberals) started we had a $42 billion deficit. Of every tax dollar, 37 cents went to pay the interest on the debt. We knew we had a tough situation and asked Canadians to support us. Now we have a $16 billion surplus."

The Liberals also cut 19 percent of bureaucrat positions since 1993. "Jobs, jobs, jobs" is their priority creating 2.75 million jobs. The unemployment rate in Cornwall went from 20 percent to 10 percent.

"We are making health care our first priority." This year the Liberal government has transferred $11.5 billion dollars to health care. "There is an agreement with all the provinces for the next five years. We are not like the Alliance – they would like a system for the rich and one for the rest of us."

"The Alliance want to call referendums. That's running away from the responsibilities," he stated forcefully.

Showing his lighter side he asked, "Have you seen the satire (of referendums) on 'This Hour Has 22 Minutes'? Let's be serious about it."

"Day wants to call referendums on abortion and immigration," Chretien spoke about Alliance Leader Stockwell Day's referendum plans.

"We don't try to sneak in the back door, we do it by the front door. And if we can't do it, well, you will replace us. You know we are doing it well."

About Progressive Conservative Leader Joe Clarke intention to scratch the Bill on Clarity, he stated emphatically, "As long as the Liberals are in power, it remains."

Chretien stated the Liberals are looking to the future. "Instead of building a huge dome like the British government to celebrate the new millennium, we established the Millennium College Fund."

The $25 billion fund will send 100,000 Canadian students to college every year for the next 10 years. Chretien added, "The job is not over yet. We have to invest in the future."

Chretien spoke of Canadian unity and national pride. Canada was voted the best country in the G7 group by the United Nations for the past seven years. "I want this country to remain the best country in the world in the 21st Century," he concluded his address.

"It's business as usual," Rosenquist

WINCHESTER - Dr. Gerry Rosenquist, after meeting with Ministry of Health officials on November 16, decided not to withdraw his maternity services as he had previously threatened to do.

"I will carry on as usual. The same as I have been the last two months, the last 5, 10 and 15 years," Dr. Rosenquist stated in a telephone interview on November 20.

Dr. Rosenquist, Chief of Staff Dr. Adamson; Dr. Jacques, President of Medical Staff; and Andre Rodier, WDMH Administrator met with Dr. Henry Phillips, OHIP Consultant in Kingston; and three Ministry officials to discuss Dr. Rosenquist's situation.

In the spring, Dr. Rosenquist consulted on two separate aspects of a patient's pregnancy and delivery. Yet, he was only paid for one of the two consultations. As a form of protest, Dr. Rosenquist threatened to stop seeing new maternity patients as of October 1.

Mike Waddell gets counties appointment

WILLIAMSBURG – It has definitely not been one of the best kept secrets in South Dundas, but it is finally official. South Dundas Administrator Mike Waddell has been appointed chief administrative officer for the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

What is the counties' gain, is a loss to South Dundas, that benefitted from Waddell's expertise during the amalgamation process and the last three years of the newly formed ward system of government.

Waddell who is 50 and lives with his wife Anne Marie in Morrisburg, will officially assume his duties on November 27. He was born in Kingston and brought up in Dixon's Corners.

Prior to the last three years as South Dundas Administrator, he was administrator and clerk-treasurer with the former Township of Williamsburg for 15 years.

He replaces outgoing Counties coordinator and clerk Raymond Lapointe who has retired.

Asked last week, Waddell said he and Anne Marie had no plans at this time to relocate to Cornwall. Anne Marie currently works for the South Dundas Economic Commission with an office here in Morrisburg.

WDMH celebrating review by Canadian Council on Health

WINCHESTER – Reaffirming what patients and staff already know – that Winchester District Memorial Hospital is devoted to its patients – the Canadian Council on Health Services Accreditation(CCHSA) granted the hospital Three Year Accreditation with Report.

With well-deserved pride and an abundance of smiles, more than 30 people attended the celebration on October 16 including Chief of Staff Dr. Adamson, Dr. Rosenquist, Ministry of Health representatives, WDMH Board members, staff and media.

"This (Accreditation) means our peers have objectively and independently determined that, based on nationally accepted standards of practice, our hospital provides quality care to its patients," said André Rodier, Administrator of WDMH.

To identify areas of improvement, CCHSA surveyors accessed WDMH on September 10-12. They reviewed the hospital in terms of practices, logistics, policies and results achieved. They interviewed Board members, staff, physicians, managers and patients to obtain information for Accreditation.

Joan Garrow, Vice-President of Programs and Clinical Services was pleased to report the hospital only received five recommendations from CCHSA. They are: 1. incorporate a high level documentation system; 2. establish more clinical guidelines; 3. hire an occupational therapist for the continuing care department; 4. improve and enlarge workspace in the emergency department; and 5. bring it all together with a structured framework.

"We are already acting on the recommendations and are in the process of hiring an occupational therapist," stated Garrow.

Linda Bowers, Vice-Chair of the Board of Directors addressed the audience, "On behalf of the Board of Directors, please accept our heartfelt thanks for a job well done!"

In the report, the CCHSA surveyors noted: "The Board of Directors of this hospital is interested, committed, well-informed and visionary in its endeavours."

The report also noted: "The WDMH staff demonstrates client centred care through

A night to remember

MORRISBURG – Although the final numbers are not in, the Upper Canada Playhouse Auction on Saturday was a "wonderful fundraiser," according to Playhouse Coordinator Roseann Kelly.

Max Keeping from CJOH in Ottawa donated a CJOH package that included one golf bag with accessories, two golf ball sets and one tour of CJOH studios.

That was just one of the 55 live auction items up for grabs. Flora Dumouchel was the auctioneer. For the silent auction 68 items were on the block. Dave King recorded and catalogued the bids. Auction items included a leaf blower, clothing, a historic trip down the St. Lawrence, a tractor trailer trip, retail items, paintings and Christmas baking.

The highlight of the evening was definitely the $2000 raised to see Tom Morrow shave his head. "I don't know who suggested it, but someone said 'let's see how much money we can raise'," said Kelly with a laugh. "He did it for a great cause."

Final numbers on the auction will not be known until auction organizer Geraldine Fitzsimmons returns from her trip to Australia.

Proud moment for WDMH

Runciman supports Lauzon and Alliance

CORNWALL – The Canadian Alliance Party will make a "historic breakthrough" in Ontario in the upcoming federal election, Ontario Cabinet Minister Bob Runciman predicted at a Canadian Alliance meeting Saturday in Cornwall.

"There are a lot of folks hiding in the weeds who will be supporting the Alliance," he said.

The Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations at Queen's Park spoke to a crowd of 160 at a fund raising breakfast in support of Guy Lauzon, the Canadian Alliance candidate in the riding of Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh.

Runciman recalled the 1995 provincial election "when the polls were against Mike Harris and he won a majority." He said this election is "critical" for Ontario and called the Liberal Members of Parliament who now represent this province "a hundred and one sheep who don't have the guts or the intellectual fortitude to speak on behalf of their constituents and we have to change that."

He called the campaign of the Liberal Party "disgusting, it's a smear and fear campaign, especially the attacks on Alliance leader Stockwell Day for his Christian views."

He referred to the Chretien government as "worn out, corrupt and arrogant" and praised the union of parties of the right under the Alliance banner.

Also speaking was Noble Villeneuve, the former Conservative MPP for this riding and Minister of Agriculture in the Harris government.

Villeneuve scoffed at the federal Liberals for taking credit for new jobs being created. He said the 750,000 new jobs created in Ontario in the mid nineties were the result of Premier Mike Harris' tax cuts and improved business climate.

Villeneuve decried the Liberals for personal attacks on Leader Day and said they were "at the bottom of the barrel. The Liberal Party stands for one thing and it's not principles - it's winning at all costs."

He called Lauzon "a true dedicated candidate" and said the Alliance campaign locally "is being run on respect and integrity. We won't go down to their level of a smear and fear campaign."

Said Villeneuve: "we have a winner in the Alliance Party and I'm proud of that team."

Also present was Grant Campbell who was a Conservative Member of Parliament for this region in the 1950s.

Candidate Lauzon spoke with pride of the local Alliance riding association with their efforts in the election campaign. The bilingual, 56-year-old former manager in the federal civil service, says he's been getting a great reaction from voters in his travels and added that he gets the sense "there's something going on out there."

Lauzon, who calls his winning of the Alliance nomination "the greatest honor of my life," spoke of campaigning with Villeneuve in the village of Crysler. He said they met many former Liberal supporters who were switching to the Alliance, citing the Liberals' arrogance, mismanagement, and corruption.

The Alliance candidate spoke warmly of a conversation with a group of Cornwall high school students after an all-candidates meeting recently in their school. The students told Lauzon he was 'the only candidate who spoke of honesty, integrity, respect and family values.'

Supporters at the morning meeting each made a $25.00 donation to Lauzon's campaign. Since the election was called, membership in the Canadian Alliance in Stormont, Dundas and Charlottenburgh has grown to over one thousand.

Principles, not promises

Samantha Thompson
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - Honesty, sincerity, integrity, fairness and family values are all attributes Guy Lauzon, the Canadian Alliance candidate, wants to bring to the MP office in Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh.

In an interview on November 17, Lauzon reaffirmed his commitment to the people of this riding. "I will represent the people in an honest, forthright, ethical manner."

Lauzon and the Canadian Alliance offer a different approach to politics. Their platform is "based on principles, not promises."

"My only promise is to operate on principles. I will bring fairness and honesty to problems. I want the constituents to respect me as I respect them."

Lauzon is working diligently on his campaign. Out in the community seeing what people want, he has met and shook the hands of at least 20,000 people in the last two weeks. His campaign schedule is packed with visits and public appearances.

"The people in this riding will not find a more hardworking representative," he stated.

According to the Lauzon pamphlet, if elected to power, the Canadian Alliance will end bureaucracy by making a smaller, more efficient government. It will keep the best of government spending such as benefits to seniors and children, National Defence, RCMP and equalization payments but fix the rest such as HRDC, Heritage, CIDA and Regional Development.

"First we would end Bill C68 - mandatory gun registration. It is a waste of taxpayers' money. Gun owners pay $10 for the gun registration card," began Lauzon. "Each registration then costs the government $840 to process. This bill has wasted $500 - $800 million."

The Canadian Alliance plans a fair tax cutting strategy that will see the basic personal exemption raised to $10,000 and a $3,000 child tax benefit for each child. For anyone earning less than $100,000 the tax rate will be 17 percent. Income earners over $100,000 will pay 25 percent for the first four years, then 17 percent thereafter.

When asked if services will suffer with such tax cuts, Lauzon replied, "No. Up to 40 percent of the current economy is underground. With lower tax rates, people will report previously hidden income thereby increasing the overall tax dollars collected. The flat tax rate is proven in New Zealand and Hong Kong. Plus, leading economist agree it is the future."

The Alliance plans to fix what ails the health care system by providing stable, guaranteed health care funding to the provinces. It will work with the provinces to develop national standards of care.

Lauzon brings a wealth of experience to the table. He has an extensive background combining business, government, community, labour and private industry.

Federal candidates discuss health care

Samantha Thompson
Leader staff

MORRISBURG – Health care seems to be the most debated issue in this federal election, both nationally and locally. Each federal candidate was asked three questions regarding his/her ideas about health care.

The questions were: 1. We have heard about a one-tier and two-tier health system. Can you clarify this for us? 2. How would you restructure the health care system in Canada? and 3. What direct impact will health care decisions have on us (the constituents)?

Kimberley Fry
New Democratic Party

"1. The Canada Health Act requires that Provinces that receive federal transfer payments for health must not allow charges to be made for medical services. In a two-tier system services would be available for a fee for those who could afford it.

2. The NDP would rebuild health care by: immediately increasing federal cash transfers to 25 percent of spending shared with the Provinces instead of 13.5 percent under the Liberals; halting the drift towards privatization by prohibiting the funding of private for-profit hospitals with public health dollars; creating a National Home Care program; and introducing a National Pharmacare program.

3. The changes would give you: better emergency services; shorter waiting-time for surgery; better funding for rural hospitals; universal Home Care; and universal funding for medication."

Guy Lauzon
Canadian Alliance

"The Canadian Alliance has a plan to invest in health care and help rebuild it. In addition to respecting the five principles of the Canada Health Act proposes to put a sixth principle in place to guarantee long-term federal funding.

The Alliance policy is to immediately return the 25 billion that the Liberal government has removed from health care since 1995. We are committed to provide reliable, long-term funding for public health care, while negotiating with the provinces to develop national standards that respect the principles of the Canada Health Act.

The Canadian Alliance does however acknowledge that within the current system, private medical care is also being provided to Canadians. The Liberals, by ignoring this reality, are engaging in a phony debate about the state of health care in Canada.

Our constituents are not receiving proper health care under the current federal government. The Alliance will provide adequate funding to the province so that the provincial government can provide adequate services to the residents of Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh."

Michael Bailey
Progressive Conservative

"In some instances the system is already two-tiered. People with money can jump the cue and are awarded service based on their financial status.

"A Conservative government would immediately restore the cash portion of the Canada Health and Social Transfer to (at the very least) 1993-94 levels. As well, we would add a sixth principle to medicare, that of stable funding for health care. We would guarantee a commitment to stable federal funding through appropriate legislation so that provinces could better plan to meet the health care needs of our growing and aging population. We would also work with the provinces to develop a series of performance targets and goals for our health system as well as a system of public report cards to measure progress toward achieving these goals. A Progressive Conservative government would work with the provinces and health professionals to encourage the development of a "Wellness Agenda" which stresses health promotion and disease prevention."

care processes and their attention to clinical outcomes, as well as their energy used to promoted the services that are in the best interests of the community," according to Kim MacLennan, Coordinator of the Foundation and Community Relations.

The CCHSA would like feedback on the hospital's progress in the spring of 2001. The next full survey for WDMH is planned for 2003.

Rosenquist

His decision was delayed until after meeting face to face with Ministry officials last Thursday. "We arrived at an accommodation that some form of payment must be paid, whether it be as an office visit or a consultation," he explained.

Dr. Rosenquist added, "I am pleased that they (the Ministry) recognized the principle involved and that a principal has been established. People should get paid when they perform a service."

To finalize the situation, Dr. Rosenquist teleconferenced with Dr. Marcos, OHIP Regional Consultant in Ottawa on November 21. "It was to make sure we understood each other."

Live for today, but plan for tomorrow

Even thinking about managing finances makes many of us want to bury our heads in the sand. In fact, most Canadians think financial planning is a long and cumbersome process - but it doesn't have to be.

Experts agree that the earlier you start thinking about your financial goals and planning for them, the easier they will be to achieve. A good financial plan includes a budget, savings, paying off your debt and having a well diversified investment portfolio. Whether it is a new house, a comfortable retirement, university education for your kids, or even a trip around the world, having a well-thought out financial plan can help make your dreams a reality.

Few Canadians actually take the time to work out a big-picture financial strategy; we often just focus on our immediate needs - be it a child's education , or a new car. Take Gracie and Leo for example. They have a $180,000 mortgage, $40,000 in RRSPs, need a new car and would like to start saving for their daughter's education. Like most of us, Gracie and Leo have never thought about their overall financial strategy. However, taking the time to create a road map of your financial life can be a very valuable (and rewarding) experience. Starting now, you can feel much better about the money you work so hard to earn.

The first, and most fun step is setting and prioritizing your goals. Just ask yourself a few simple questions. Is retirement planning more or less important than paying down your mortgage? Is starting your own business more or less imperative than maximizing tax savings? Are you thinking about renovating your kitchen? Would you like to send your children to college? You need to assess what is most important to you and your family. It's a small but important step that you can make today that will bring your financial dreams that much closer.

The next step in organizing your finances begins with understanding where you are: what your current income is versus your current expenditures. What are you spending on car payments, loan payments, insurance, mortgage, food? What are you saving, investing or putting into you RRSP? In other words, a reality check on where you stand financially.

There are a tremendous number of resources available for consumers on the web and at your local bank. Your financial institution can be of great assistance in helping you develop a plan that makes sense for your life today and for the future.

Understanding how your entire financial picture works gives you control over your financial future, and it can help make your financial dreams come true.

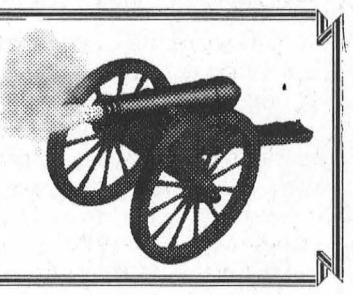
The Leader's Blast from the Past

Compiled from The Leader's files by Bonnie McNairn



1990

Ten years ago, Bob Leroux, General Manger at Beavers Dental made an unhappy pre-Christmas announcement that 28 full-time production workers would be laid off in early January. The process would start with a bumping down procedure which would affect employees with up to 14 years experience. Leroux said he hoped to call the workers back by the end of June 1991. One of their major customer had over purchased and were to bring their inventory down in 1991 which in turn meant less production for Beavers.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission approved an Iroquois Gas Transmission System application to construct a 370 mile underground natural gas pipeline from Long Island, New York to an area in Matilda Township near the Village of Iroquois.

Fire destroyed a free stall barn and silo owned by Glenn and Margaret Swerdfeger in Matilda Township.

Daniel and Brenda Towell had their wedding photo printed in this week's issue. The bride was the daughter of Wayne and Charlotte Barkley of Williamsburg.

Pictured in the issue was the Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion Cribbage team that included Sarah Merkley, Dorothy McBain, Elva Baker and Goldie Daoust. The ladies placed fourth, out of 40 teams, at the District Tournament.

Twenty years ago, the picture on the front page of The Leader showed candidates and scrutineers as they attended an official recount of Morrisburg's poll three municipal election votes. Following the recent election, discrepancies were made public, and as a result a recount was done. It resulted in one change, with the election of Willard J. Steinburg to the Morrisburg Hydro Commission.

The grand opening of Westway Feeds Inc., an international agricultural feed processing company, was to take place on November 21.

Studio 231, a sophisticated discotheque was to open at the Loyalist Hotel in Morrisburg. Featuring up-to-date recorded music, the decor of the newly renovated room had been completely changed following the extensive smoke damage from a recent fire.

The Morrisburg Loyalist Golden Knights were off to a good start in St. Lawrence Intermediate Hockey League action with an undefeated record. Players patrolling the forward lines included Doug McNairn, Chuck Lawlor, Kevin Duvall, Gary Hess, Eddie Gove, Billy Mullin and the Byers brothers, Herb and Minnow. The team was coached by Bill Dillabough.

A new wave of interest was being directed to the Legion Dart League and league president, Jim Logey told The Leader he was trying to get a mixed league going in Morrisburg.

The congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Morrisburg dedicated a beautiful stained glass window to the memory of Rev. F.W. Howald during a special service held for the occasion.

The Morrisburg Combines dropped their first league game, 4 - 1, to Embrun Panthers. The Combine's lone goal came from Roy Pyke.

In Junior hockey action, it was Brian McNairn's night when the hometown Lions travelled to Prescott and he scored four goals and added two assists in the 7 - 6 win. Tom Whelan, Roger Morrell and Danny Cassell added the other markers.

At Seaway High, the senior girls' basketball team defeated Osnabruck 36 - 31. The top scorers were Arlene Summers, Debbie Scott and Bonnie Casselman. In Junior action Anne Summers and Angela Lafortune led the Spartans to a 31 - 25 win.

At Heinz' Food Market a 25 pound bag of potatoes was 75 cents.

1960

At a meeting of Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce, it was decided Morrisburg's Centennial Celebration in 1961 would be held from July 1 to July 5, to coincide with the opening of Upper Canada Village.

Bill Barclay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barclay was awarded the First Class Scouts' Badge. He was the first, First Class Scout in the history of Morrisburg Scouting.

The Junior Hockey club boys were practising and would be ready to go as soon as the league started.

Residents of Morrisburg and the surrounding area were without power for several hours, a problem caused by electrical storms in the area.

Upper Canada Village was to open in 1961, and researches were interested in obtained original recipes known to have been written prior to 1860.

"Fry that Boot", a band that includes Williamsburg musician David Garlough has released its first CD which can be purchased by phoning Dave's home in Williamsburg at 535-2124. The CD is selling for $10 which includes the taxes. In a story on David and the Band, in the November 8, issue of The Leader we made several big errors, especially one concerning David's mother Ann. How we managed to incorrectly name Ann we have no idea, especially when you consider the writer (Bonnie) and the proofreader (Wanda) have known her all of our lives. Our apologies Ann. The story was full of Daves, all band members are Daves, and in one spot we even named brother Rob, who does the band's web page, Dave. Fry That Boot's music is being played on the local Seaway High radio Station CISD 107.7 FM.

The Morrisburg Arena is going to be one of the busiest spots in town this Saturday and Sunday, when some 260 figure skaters compete at the annual Morrisburg Invitational skate. The skate has become very attractive to skaters from throughout the area and that's a credit to the hardworking executives and volunteers who have built it up over the years. With that many youngsters attending, we definitely offer all the workers on the weekend the very best of luck. That's a lot of skaters. A large number of Morrisburg skaters are competing so stop in and cheer them on. There is no admission charge.

That's also a lot of pie. We are referring to a letter from Timothy Christian School that reports an amazing 2,130 home made pies were produced by volunteers in an eight day period. There must have been a wonderful mouthwatering smell floating around in the area.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor
Morrisburg Leader

We would like to say a sincere thank you to all those who came out to the Blood Donor Clinic in Winchester last Wednesday, making it a big success. The clinic's target was set at 190 units and from a total of 223 donors, including the high school students - and a doctor who took the time to give blood - 181 units wee collected, making that 95.3% of its target.

Thanks as well to those who wanted to give but were unable to at that time. Your heart was in the right place, and there is always next time.

Thanks go out to the high schools for allowing the students to come to the clinic and to the teachers for pre-screening them ahead of their arrival. There was a total of 43 students - 23 from Seaway and 20 from North Dundas. Your generosity is greatly appreciated and we hope you will continue in this good work.

We would also like to thank the public for their patience in having to wait for processing due to an unforeseen delay. It seems that, because of the fast-paced age we live in where we want everything in an instant, waiting has become such an inconvenience. But, if you stop and really think about it, doesn't the importance of what you're doing - giving a unit of blood that can help save up to four lives - far outweigh that inconvenience of time spent waiting? It sure does to the recipients, many of them whom have had to wait an hope for blood or its components to become available before it's too late.

To further illustrate this importance, Nancy Lusk, the clinic organizer, has reported to us that the results of this clinic will help over 700 patients in area hospitals. So if you should experience a delay, take that time to remember and think about all the good you are doing and those people who depend upon it.

Once again, sincere thanks to each an everyone of you for making this clinic such a success.

DEAR EDITOR -

For approximately 37 years now, Timothy Christian School families have been raising money for their non-government funded school through various fund raising efforts. One such popular event is the annual Apple Pie Sale.

Behind the scenes, many diligent hands, some as 'young' as 90, volunteer time and energy to assemble these pies from scratch, ready for the oven. Recently though, a record number of them were hand-made during an eight day period - 2,130 pies!!

The total amount raised for Timothy Christian was $8,772 which will be used towards annual operation expenses of the school.

Thanks so much to all who contributed to this successful event: those who donated ingredients (including apples from Dentz Orchards); those who organized helpers; the Williamsburg Christian Reformed Church for kitchen use; those who collected orders/money; especially the hardworking pie assemblers; and those who ordered pies. Enjoy!

On behalf of the Fund Raising Committee, Timothy Christian School,

"O Canada: Who Stands Guard?"

From A Biblical Perspective

Rev. Duncan Perry

Just a couple of more days until the election. It certainly is shaping up to be different than what Canadians are normally used to. It appears to me that we are becoming more and more Americanized. Our Pre-election Campaigns have certainly taken on the American flavor. Let's hope and pray that we do not find ourselves in the same embarrassing situation that our neighbors find themselves. I had thought that I would not have any more to say about the election in this column but the events of last week have brought a change in mind.

I was very disappointed in our Prime Minister, whom I have supported ever since he made known some years ago, his desire, to become Prime Minister, when he referred to Stockwell Day's religious beliefs as the dark side of human nature. I let it pass at the time because it sounded like a desperate man wanting one final opportunity to drink from the Golden Cup, and in a moment of uncertainty resorted to whatever it takes to have that chance. Human nature causes all of us to react at certain times in that manner. However, I am appalled at the attack on Stockwell Day this past week because he believes the Biblical account of creation, and that Adam and Eve were real people. Tonda MacCharles, the reporter who wrote the story for The Toronto Star, obviously agrees, for she went on to inform us that, "Scientists around the world overwhelmingly dismiss these creationist ideas as lacking any empirical basis". The truth is that more and more reputable scientists have been disregarding the theory of evolution as having no sound basis whatsoever.

However, back to Mr. Day and his religious beliefs. I wish that he had not responded to the remarks made about his beliefs. It seems that this has hurt his campaign. In defense of him though, he did show that he is not super-human, and in the end that may be a good thing. After all, as I have said here before, it is not a human, super or otherwise, that this country needs. God is the only answer.

I am not saying that you should vote for Day or Chretien, or any of the other three leaders. What I would like to get across is this. Evaluate each of the parties, their leaders and each of the local candidates and vote as to your observation of their policies. Maybe Mr. Day is inexperienced and lacks what it takes to be Prime Minister of our country. That's fine. It may be that you don't like his stand on health-care or taxes, and that is okay. These are valid reasons why you would not vote for him. But to withhold your vote from him, or any other candidate, because they believe in God's Word, is not okay. That says something to me about the country that I love that is far from okay.

Please don't get me wrong. I am not promoting Mr. Day or any other candidate in this column. That is outside the spectrum of what this column was meant to be. People who know me also know who I support I am not a fence sitter. However, this column is entitled 'From a Biblical Perspective' and the Bible says in Isaiah 5:20, "woe to those who call evil good and good evil". The fact is, believing in the Bible is good, not evil as some are trying to promote. It is a sad day for this country, which once stood for Biblical Values and was once considered Great. God help us, especially when our leaders refer to those who believe in the Bible as those with dark natures. Proverbs 14:34 says, "Righteousness exalts a nation but sin is a reproach to any people".

"Field of Glory" booksigning here Nov. 25

MORRISBURG – Historian Donald E. Graves will be at the McIntosh Country Inn and Conference Centre, Saturday November 25, to autograph copies of his book Field of Glory: The Battle of Crysler's Farm, 1813.

Graves is one of Canada's foremost military historians, and he has written extensively on the War of 1812. Field of Glory has been favourably reviewed as "history as it should be written". It is the first book-length treatment of this little known, but pivotal, battle in which a heavily outnumbered Anglo-Canadian army defeated an American force that was descending the St. Lawrence River on its way to attack Montreal.

The action on John Crysler's farm on November 11, 1813 ended the American invasion attempt of Canada and dispersed the largest marshalling of U.S. forces seen until the American Civil War.

The book signing will be part of the annual general meeting and election of officers of the Friends of Crysler's Farm Battlefield, a non-profit association whose mission is to increase awareness of the event through public education and the continued operation of the Battlefield Memorial Building adjacent to Upper Canada Village.

The meeting starts at 2:30 p.m.

The Battle of Crysler's Farm, fought 187 years ago on the fields of John Crysler's farm in what is now South Dundas Township, is now on the World Wide Web.

The site contains a history of the battle, description of the work done by the Friends of Crysler's Farm Battlefield, and a map to the site for out-of-area visitors. It will soon contain links to other War of 1812 sites and to historical re-enactment groups.

Members of the public are invited to Saturday's annual general meeting to learn about the projects the Friends have undertaken. These include last summer's reopening of the Battlefield Memorial Building, and plans for the expansion of its collection of artifacts and displays.

The organization is also planning a military re-enactment weekend on the battle site on the weekend of July 14-15, 2001.

Membership in the Friends of Crysler's Farm Battlefield is $20. For more information on the Friends, visit the web site or contact Bob Irvine of Johnstown at bobirvinie@cryslers-farm.com.

WILLIAMSBURG - In this ever increasingly busy world, it's nice to see people taking the time to help others. The Dundas County Hospice is proud to announce the graduation of 10 new volunteers on November 20.

To cap off a 10-week training program, the volunteers along with Hospice Coordinator, Reina DeJong celebrated with a potluck lunch.

"This is the second graduation we have had this year," explained DeJong. "There was an increase in the client case load so we needed more volunteers."

The graduating volunteers spent three hours a week listening to different experts in the community. The speakers included a dietician who discussed the clients' nutritional needs; a lawyer who outlined living wills and powers of attorney; a bereavement councilor; a nurse who demonstrated basic bedside care, a clergyman who spoke of the spiritual needs of the clients and clients that have a life-threatening illness. In addition, there was a field trip to a funeral home.

"I would say that 90 percent of the graduates have experienced loss but that is not a prerequisite to volunteering for the Hospice," said DeJong.

Volunteering is open to anyone with an interest to help others. DeJong would like to work closer with the schools to get young people involved with the rewarding work of Hospice volunteerism. Volunteers work with clients in all stages of illness.

"I want to clarify that hospice is not just for terminal cases. We can come in to help when a client is undergoing chemotherapy. Once the client is strong enough to return to work, the case is discharged," stated DeJong.

Upper Canada Playhouse

"Our Town" coming to town

MORRISBURG – It was named one of the top 100 plays of the century by Britain's Royal National Theatre. It won the 1938 Pulitzer Prize. And it's being brought to the Upper Canada Playhouse this weekend, by the Russell Association for the Performing Arts.

Thornton Wilder's classic play "Our Town" has lost none of its impact or relevance since it was first produced in 1938. It continues to be considered one of the best-loved depictions of small-town life in America, with its moments of great humour and sadness, and its message: that this moment that we're living right now, will be forever gone in another, so savour it. Don't take it for granted. The stuff of everyday life, when viewed from a distance, is unbelievably rich and almost unbearably poignant.

This timeless play is set in the fictional Grovers Corners, New Hampshire, but it could be set in any small town, anywhere, at the turn of the century. It is the story of each of us "in our growing up and in our marrying, and in our living, and in our dying".

It follows the lives of two families: the Gibbs and the Webbs, as their children grow up, fall in love, marry, and carry on after the death of one of them.

Michael McHugh plays Dr. Gibbs; Christine Erdos is Mrs. Gibbs, and their children George and Rebecca are played by Robert Janelle and Brittany Carson.

Our Town is directed by Bill McInnis, whose last production was RAPA's wildly successful, The Mouse That Roared. McInnis has a talent for casting, as well as directing and acting.

The large cast includes Brian Fitzpatrick from Merrickville, Glenna Walkden from Chesterville and a member of the Dundas County Players, and Steve Campbell a seasoned actor from Ramsayville who has appeared in RAPA's Inherit the Wind and The Black Bonspiel, as well as with the Ottawa Little Theatre.

Our Town played to sold out houses in Russell last weekend, so don't miss RAPA's first on-the-road production.

Our Town will be presented in two performances only, on Friday, November 24 and Saturday, November 25 at the Playhouse. Tickets are available from the box office or at the door.

Admission is $10 for adults, and $6 for seniors and youth 12 and under.

Arts & Crafts Fair draws big crowd

MORRISBURG - Walking into the Morrisburg Legion this past weekend was like walking into a dream world. Crafts of every kind imaginable adorned the tables and walls.

Crafters from Dundas and South Stormont gathered for the Morrisburg and District Arts and Crafts Fair on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The artistic talent included woodworking, knitting, fabric crafts, quilting, homemade candy, scroll work, carving and tole painting.

"It was exceptional!" exclaimed Sharon Duprau, one of the Fair organizers. "Visitors were very impressed with the quality of the work."

Twenty-three artisans welcomed the steady crowd of 1500 - 2000 visitors as far away as the United States and Beaconsfield, Quebec. Many of the exhibitors were eager to discuss their craft and give hints whenever possible.

Ken Scott of Morrisburg, sat quietly carving, stopping to speak to onlookers. He told the story of how he carved his Roman chariot. "Four horses would draw the ceremonial chariot but two were used to draw the battle one."

At the table opposite Scott, Linda Schenck displayed her tole painting and scroll woodwork done by her husband, John. "It's a great sale, with a nice location. I would do it again next year," she said.

The Morrisburg and District Craft Club plans to hold their spring show on March 30 and 31. "As well, we are excited to be opening our shop along County Road 2 on the May 24 weekend," Duprau said.

So if you missed out on this arts and crafts fair, be sure to stop by the next one. To quote Schenck, "It's a nice bunch of talented people."

Homes for the Holidays - Dec. 2

MORRISBURG – Like a well wrapped Christmas surprise, Upper Canada Playhouse has an exciting treat for area residents and out-of-town visitors.

On Saturday, December 2, five homes, beautifully dressed for the festive season, will be featured in the second "Homes for the Holidays" house tours.

The tours will begin at 1 p.m. and conclude with a "Victorian Tea" in the basement of the Morrisburg United Church. Maids in period dress will serve refreshments, and Queen Victoria Herself will be present to pour the tea.

As the year's final fund raiser, this event promises to be a Christmas delight.

First on the tour is an Iroquois house, at 26 Bay Street, which was once featured in Century Home magazine. Owned by Brian and Jane McMillan, this dignified house was built by Mr. Call for his daughter in the 1920's. The three-storey, Georgian style home was moved to higher ground before the Seaway flooding in the 1950's.

At 22 Sir James Morris Drive in Morrisburg, Senator Jack Marshall and his wife Evelyne open the doors to their home which dates back to pre-confederation days. This 'Inn By The Park' features beautifully decorated rooms with bay windows and a balcony overlooking the magnificent St. Lawrence River.

Rick and Peggy Leroy will be sharing the beauty of their 76 Lakeshore Drive home which boasts no fewer than four exquisitely decorated Christmas trees on the first floor. This elegant two-storey home is brimming over with outstanding Christmas accents, and is sure to inspire you.

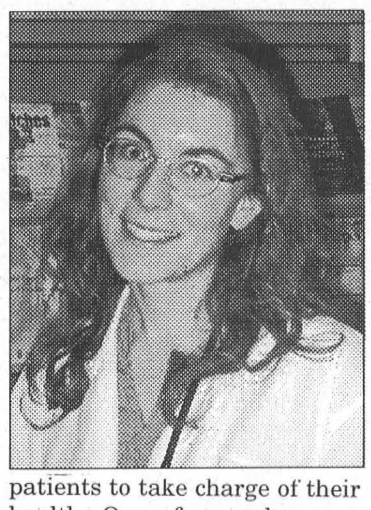
Close by, at 72 Lakeshore Drive, Peter and Gail McCooeye welcome visitors to their large Edwardian home. You'll feel as at home as Christmas in the warmth of this frame house accentuated by two verandahs and sparkling stained glass windows, which few homes in the area can claim.

At 61 High Street, the red brick house owned by Denis and Mary Ellen Viau has seen over 100 Christmases. After standing empty for years, the house was completely restored and renovated by its current owners. Once again its halls are decked in Victorian Style for the Yuletide Season.

Tickets for the tours and tea are $15. A special invitation is extended to Seniors who are interested in the "Victorian Tea" portion of this event. Price for the Tea is only $5.

For more information, or to reserve tickets, call the Playhouse at 543-3713.

New doctor in town



WINCHESTER - Hitting the ground running, Dr. Patricia Moussette has seen about 200 patients since joining the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic team on November 1.

Three days a week she is actively growing her practice in Ingleside and Morrisburg. The other two days she is an anaesthetist at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. As well, she covers one to two shifts in emergency.

"I like being able to help people," began Dr. Moussette. "It's a privilege to be able to get to know people so personally and gain their trust."

Dr. Moussette, who grew up in Granby, Quebec, came to Morrisburg after working in Georgetown, Newfoundland and Nepal. She wanted to work in a rural setting. "I am used to a smaller community, although I have never lived in such a small town. I think I will like it."

Currently, Dr. Moussette is focusing on patients without primary care physicians. She encourages her patients to learn about their health, to go to the library or on the Internet. "I want to allow my patients to take charge of their health. One of my roles as a doctor is to help guide people through all the information available."

As part of her family practice, Dr. Moussette plans to include prenatal care. And although she does currently do epidurals, she doesn't plan to do deliveries until she has settled in more.

At the moment, Dr. Moussette is observing all the things going on around her and deciding into what projects she wants to put her energy.

Dr. Moussette can be reached by calling the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic at 543-2963 or 537-2044.

Old barns . . . a big part of our heritage

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG – It's like being a Sherlock Holmes when looking at a building, says Richard Casselman of his interest in the area's heritage buildings and in particular timber frame barns.

Richard's specialty is historical timber framing. Traditional timber framers use rough surfaced timber, and all work is done by hand with the proper period tools. The timbers are cut to measurements, laid out flat on the ground and put together much like a jigsaw puzzle where each piece fits into another. Once together, the sections are raised manually, one at a time to construct the barn.

Richard's career spanned close to 30 years at the St. Lawrence Parks Commission where he started as a carpenter in the restoration department at Upper Canada Village.

"My job was to preserve our heritage, and now these buildings are surviving at the Village."

Richard is talking of barns and out buildings that predate 1860. The Village opened in the spring of 1961, and Richard was hired by Glen Cunningham in 1968. "Glen was always good to hire local people, and of course, they liked to hire young people who they could train, and who would be there for a few years."

Richard's father had been employed previously at the village and was involved with the relocation of many of the buildings, including Crysler Hall and Cook's Tavern, to the site before it actually opened.

"We have three generations of timber framers in our family," says Richard. "It's one of those things handed down from generation to generation."

Richard, who had his carpentry license when he applied at the Village, had no actual experience in timber framing construction, but he did have some knowledge. "If your Dad was a shoemaker, even if you never made a pair of shoes, you have that knowledge."

Richard worked alongside his father until he retired and says, "What he taught me was good. He demanded good workmanship."

During Richard's years at the Village there were several big projects, and after Cunningham's retirement he worked under Chris Porter. "I had the best of both worlds," he says. "I learned the traditional construction under my dad and Glen, and the research angle from Chris."

During his career, some of the reconstructions included two drive sheds, a three bay English barn which took three years to complete, the tin shop, the fire engine house, an addition to the woolen mill, and reconstruction at the grist mill. Daily displays of traditional timber framing were carried out during the summer, and the building raisings were held on Labour Day. His crew, which at times included up to eight artisans, were dressed in period clothing and were trained to use the hand tools in the proper way. For the raisings, 40 - 50 extra men were brought in for two or three days.

"We entertained while we were doing the work," he says. "Everything was done in front of the public. Traditional wood working is a big deal. People like to see you working with your hands."

Over the years he honed his skills, and he has not lost interest since his retirement in 1997. This past October, he was honoured to be invited as a guest lecturer at the Eastern Conference of the Timber Framer's Guild of North America by Executive Director William Beemer. Held in Montebello, Quebec most of the participants came from the United States.

"Most of the people there were involved in the trade, but only a small percentage were traditional framers," explains Richard, who also used the opportunity to promote the South Dundas area. "In a room full of about 80 people only three knew about the Seaway."

"I spoke about the Seaway, and showed them slides of the house movers," he says. "I could hear them say 'wow' as they were watching."

Richard spoke on a number of topics, and used slides and video presentations to show the building of the Seaway, the formation of the Village, and the reconstruction at the Village of the disappearing buildings modeled after documented examples from the surrounding area. He paid tribute to the many co-workers and artisans who helped to maintain the site over the years, and the disappearing historical trades.

The process of reconstructing a heritage building at Upper Canada Village began with research to decide what was to be built. "Once that was decided, I had to go out and find an existing building," he explains. "When you found one, you then had to prove it was what you wanted by researching its age."

The example for the three bay barn was found near Iroquois where it still stands and is owned by Glen Whitteker of Williamsburg. "He had no idea of the historical importance of the building he owned,"," says Richard. "The doors originally swung on wooden hinges, but only half of each hinge remained. Many people who settled here came from Pennsylvania, and to research the wooden hinges it was necessary to travel to Pennsylvania to see what the rest of the hinge looked like. We managed to find one, and we were able to copy it."

The replica for the tin shop, which was a one year project, was found in Merrickville, and is now a small church on Main Street.

The fire engine house required a lot of digging. "I finally found an example of the building, but it had fallen down," he explains. "There were still a few beams and pieces laying around, and the foundation was there, so I was able to obtain some measurements for the reconstruction."

McNairn Photo

One of his biggest finds, which was accidental, was his discovery of a swing beam barn on the Barkley homestead, located north of Williamsburg and now owned by Hubert and Barbara Barkley. "They used to operate a sawmill there, and one day while I was there, the barn caught my eye. The swing beam is an unusual style, and to my knowledge Barkley barn is one of only two which survive in the area.

"It was built in 1784, right after the United Empire Loyalists came here," says Richard. "What is unique about the swing beam, is the 45 feet long beam that forms a truss along the barn floor. This gave the area more width for threshing. We didn't reconstruct it at the Village, but I wanted to."

Richard also picked up knowledge by examining old buildings. "I like to examine a building when I already know its age, because I can examine and document the workmanship of that period and use it to an advantage at a later time ."

One such building was the Lutheran Church in Williamsburg which was built in 1865. He was able to go into the attic and look at the trusses built in that year. In another instance he found an unusual carriage shed that featured one bay that was higher than the others. This, he learned, was done to provide for the high top carriages reflecting on the people and the conveyances they were using at that time.

The Earl Colquhoun farm northeast of Williamsburg has the largest collection of surviving buildings, that you can prove in the area," says Richard. "We copied a small barn and the drive shed from his farm to the grist mill area at the Village."

"We worked from photographs and from family documents," he explains. "When we reconstructed the grist mill we had an original photograph showing the mill and its outbuildings, and we wanted the complete set up. On Earl's farm we found both, and you'd swear when they were reconstructed at the village, they were the same buildings."

To prove a building's age, Richard examines nails, saw marks, the way it was constructed and researches family information.

"I want to continue to document local buildings on film for the archives," he says, explaining the Village's restoration program no longer exists, a victim of government cutbacks.

"I hated to see it come to an end," he adds. "But I'm still a real supporter of the village, and I've kept a good relationship there."

So now Richard continues to keep his eyes open for rare finds in the area. But, he says he also keeps an eye on the Village, just to be sure the buildings representing our local heritage, are being properly cared for.

Timber framer skills preserved

Atom House win against North Dundas

CHESTERVILLE – In a fast paced game here Friday night, the Atom House Lions defeated North Dundas 4 - 1.

Scoring for the Lions were Adam Bogle, Liam Mills, Evan Harper and Jordan Derue. Bogle, Harper and Derue also had one assist each.

Jordan Hawn had a strong game in net, with only a late goal spoiling his first shut out bid.

Sunday, November 19, the team travelled to Kemptville where their hosts handed them a 9 - 0 loss.

Adam Bogle, making his first start in net, had a busy afternoon facing 26 shots.

Much of the credit for the 9 - 0 Kemptville win went to their goalie, John Houseman, who was solid throughout the game and stopped the Lions on six break aways.

Peewee House Lions win and tie

MORRISBURG – The Peewee House Lions had two games on tab in weekend action, coming up with a big 9 - 2 win over Kemptville, and settling for a 2 - 2 tie against the North Dundas Demons.

The Lions were at home to the Kemptville 1's, and took control of the game right off the opening face off. Controlling the play, the Lions took an early 5 - 0 first period lead. In the second they added two to the visitors' one, and did a repeat performance in the third for the 9 - 2 final.

Kevin Phifer led the attack with three goals, T.J. McManus had two, and singles came from Scott Speer, Adam Schnurr, Kevin McIntosh and Jeremy Stewart.

Assists were credited to Andrew Cassell, Andrew Adlington, Speer, McManus, McIntosh (two) and Stewart.

Sunday, the Lions faced the hustling North Dundas Demons in Chesterville.

After an early Lions' rally, with numerous scoring chances and their control of the play, the Lions found themselves down 2 - 0.

In the second, Thomas Toonders took an Adrian Bongers' pass and made a rush to the Demons' net. Toonders found the net, just off the tip of the goaltender's glove, closing the gap to 2 - 1.

Morrisburg kept up the pace producing several chances in the third. The tying goal came when Jeremy Stewart intercepted a pass, went in alone, and got a shot to trickle in off the pad of the Devils' goalie.

Neither team could finish it off in the final minutes, allowing the game to end in a 2 - 2 tie.

Curling Chatter

Submitted by Steve Thompson

MORRISBURG – Local mixed teams looked strong in the Gamble competition held on home ice Saturday. Craig Harriman, Sydney Schnurr, Mahlon Locke and Carolyn Beckstead made it to the 'A' final, but lost to the Lester McInnis rink from Winchester. Larry and Anita Cooper, with Harry and Gail McCallam, won the 'B' final, defeating a strong Russell entry skipped by J.P. St. Pierre. The Metcalfe teams played well, but were eliminated. Thanks to the volunteers, who looked after meals, the bar, etc., and allowed the local teams to concentrate on their games. Without these workers, our curling rinks would be unable to function.

Saturday's curling featured heart-stopping action from start to finish, with plenty of rocks in play, forcing tap-backs, angle-raise-takeouts, and what looked like billiard shots by the skips. Several games were decided by an extra end. Hopefully, some of these teams will try out for the Canadian Championship in mixed curling. They would not be out of place at that level.

Local teams have been active in recent area competitions. In the Cornwall Men's Open, Jack Dikland, Earl Jeacle, Karl Duncan and Fred Hofman won, but lost out to Prescott on a 'points' tiebreaker. On Wednesday, in the Senior Men's Invitational in Winchester, Steve Thompson, Wally McDonald, Dwight Gilmer and Ray Baker lost to Cornwall and Lancaster, but came home with prizes anyway. A senior mixed foursome composed of Steve and Alice Thompson, Wally McDonald and Eleanor Allison finished second in Prescott, losing a close match to Arnprior, then defeating Manotick in the afternoon.

Bob Bedingfield, Neil Williams, Tony Toonders and Ray Baker won both of their games Friday, at Parnell Cup play in Cornwall, but lost out on points to the host team. Rinks from Lancaster and Prescott also competed.

Thanks to past president Rick Leroy and a few of his friends for installing our fine new sign outside the club last weekend. It looks great Rick.

This week two of our women's teams travel to Brockville, and on Saturday our club hosts the men's Founders Bonspiel, which should be as exciting as the one we hosted Saturday.

See you there.

CARD OF THANKS

RIDDELL–The family of the late Beatrice Riddell wishes to express their sincere appreciation and thanks for all the visits, telephone calls, cards, food and flowers during their mother and grandmother's illness. At the time of her sudden passing, for all the compassion and caring and expressions of sympathy, to relatives, friends and neighbors. Thank you, seems so inadequate, to Dr. Beth Rivington, Dr. Chande, Dr. Young, the V.O.N.'s and Ginette Newcombe, Homecare, for their excellent care shown to our mother. We, Beatrice's family, will never cease to remember Marsden-McLaughlin Funeral Home - namely David Lapier for his support and comfort during and since our loss. The burden was great, but Grandma's grandsons carried her to her final resting place - Lyall, Blair, Woody, Steven, Dean and A.J. To Travis, whom was left to comfort his mother and to granddaughter, Donna, for her excellent poem. Special thanks to Rev. Angus McDonald of Ottawa for the comforting words. And last but not least, to Larry Granger, of St. Andrews for the solos you sang, and especially "Dancin' In Heaven" that you so eloquently wrote for mom. We have lost our mom and grandmother, but her memories live in our hearts forever.
–The Riddell family 47p

"People do not drift toward holiness. Apart from grace-driven effort, people do not gravitate toward godliness, prayer, obedience to Scripture, faith, and delight in the Lord. We drift toward compromise and call it tolerance; we drift toward disobedience and call it freedom; we drift toward superstition and call it faith. We cherish the indiscipline of lost self-control and call it relaxation; we slouch toward prayerlessness and delude ourselves into thinking we have escaped legalism; we slide toward godlessness and convince ourselves we have been liberated." From the "Love of God" by D.A. Big scoring punch

Junior B Lions have big weekend

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG – Morrisburg Junior B Lions head coach Barry Degray is happy with the way the team is shaping up and particularly pleased with the past weekend's action.

"It was a very positive weekend," he says. "We scored 18 goals and had only four against."

The Lions kicked it off on home ice Friday night with an 8 - 4 win over Athens, and on Saturday night they were on the road to Cardinal where they downed South Grenville 10 - 0.

Mathieu Whalen was in net for the shutout, which saw the Lions leading 2 - 0 after the first period and 4 - 0 heading into the third.

The scoring was well spreading around with Charlie Froment, Stef Champagne, Wayne Garlough, Paul Gauthier, Alex Grey, Greg Millard, Jamie Leger, Paul Dedekker, Sebastian Thibault and Peter Barnet all counting.

The Lions drew only four minor penalties, and South Grenville sat out seven.

Friday night in Morrisburg, The Lions trailed Athens 2 - 1 after the first period but pulled ahead 4 - 3 in the second. They turned it on in the third to outscore their opponents 4 - 1, for the 8 - 4 win.

Alex McCormack was in net for the win, and Charlie Froment led the scoring charge with three goals. Singles came from the sticks of Barnet, Gauthier, Champagne, Thibault and Millard.

Answering for Athens were Kevin Dostie with two, and Bryan Shepherd and Cahl Gerow.

Athens drew eight minor penalties, and the Lions were assessed six.

Last Wednesday night, the Lions were in Brockville where they were handed a 10 - 5 drubbing by the Tikis.

"We were flat right out of the gate," says Degray. "We didn't play hockey, and we got thumped. Every shot seemed to go in. We switched goalies and it didn't much help."

"But we had won three in a row and had one tie," says Degray. "We came right back on the weekend for the two wins, so that gives us a 5-1-1 record in the last seven games, and that's not bad."

Wednesday night in Brockville, the Tikis led 3 - 1 after the first period and 9 - 2 heading into the third.

Both Whalen and McCormack saw action in the Lions' net. They faced 42 shots, while the Lions managed only 31 against the Tikis goaltender.

The Lions drew eight minor penalties, two five minute fighting majors and three game misconducts, while the Tikis had seven minors, two five minute fighting majors and two game misconducts.

Degray says he is still working on line combinations and on the weekend put Wayne Garlough and Paul Deddeker back on the point. "They worked well," he says. "We need some defense who can move the puck, and they did the job."

The latest Lions' acquisition is Philip Boots who came to the Lions in a one on one trade with Akwesasne for Maurice Gahzi.

"Philip is a huge acquisition on the right side," says Degray. "He has a lot of speed, is tough and can move the puck well. He makes a lot of things happen."

Degray is trying Champagne, Froment and Boots together and says they are working out.

This Friday night, the Lions host Brockville at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday they are on the road to Gananoque for a 7:45 match.

Thanks to the initiative of Gary O'Neil, a strong Lions' supporter who also opens his home to billet players, several of the Lions are now visiting area schools to talk to aspiring hockey players, and introduce themselves to the community.

They were at Morrisburg Public last Friday and will be at three more schools later this week.

MORRISBURG – Led by a two goal performance from Justin Elliott, the Morrisburg Bantam B Lions defeated Cornwall 3 - 1 here last Wednesday night.

The two played to a 1 - 1 draw in the first period, and the Lions put it away in the second with two unanswered tallies, the winner coming from the stick of Cole Dingwall, assisted by Jamie Hess and Travis Baldwin.

Elliott opened the scoring in the first with help from Kyle Jarvis and Dingwall, and counted the insurance marker in the second with Baldwin providing the assist.

Answering for Cornwall was Pat Dumond.

Atom B's win two of three

MORRISBURG – The Morrisburg Atom B Lions were busy last week playing three games in three days and coming up with two wins and one loss.

They got rolling with a 4 - 0 win over Potsdam last Tuesday night, and on Wednesday they were at home to the N.G.S. Braves for a 3 - 2 win. Thursday night, they lost to Ogdensburg 3 - 2.

Last Tuesday night, the Lions travelled State side to play Potsdam for the first time this season. The meeting was scoreless after the first period.

Brandon Elliott got things rolling in the second with two counters, the first assisted by Ali Tait, the second unassisted.

The Lions added two more in the third from Scott Douma, assisted by Allan Waddell and from Alex Whelan with help from Chris Tindal.

Ryan Swank patrolled the crease for the shut out.

Wednesday night, the Lions hosted the N.G.S. Braves earning another two points in league play with a 3 - 2 win.

The Braves hit first off Scott MacMaster's unassisted shot early in the first. Elliott tied the game with help from Pat Bongers, but the Braves ended the first period up by one when Patrick Poirier snuck one past Swank, unassisted.

Bongers tied the game on the first shift of the second frame, with Whelan and Noah VanMoorsel providing the setup.

Thursday night, the Lions returned to the U.S.A. to play Ogdensburg at the Golden Dome where they lost 3 - 2. The game was for first place in the eastern Atom B league.

The first period was scoreless, and in the second Ogdensburg scored twice on shots from Mike Morrow and Nathanael Ashley.

Whelan cut into their lead in the last minute of the second with Tait assisting.

The third saw Ashley score his second, putting the Lions down two, but Tindal got one back off a Douma pass.

Swank was pulled in the final seconds of the game for the extra attacker, but the Lions couldn't find the magic for the tie.

Gamble Cup

The Gamble Cup took place here at the Morrisburg Curling Club on Saturday, November 18. Pictured here is Anita Cooper preparing to throw a rock. Her team of Anita and Larry Cooper, Harry and Gail McCallam won the B finals against Russell. The other local team of Craig Harriman, Sydney Schnurr, Mahlon Locke, and Carolyn Beckstead lost to Winchester in the A finals.

Novice B's boost win column

MORRISBURG – Offensively, the Morrisburg Novice B Lions were extremely productive, and defensively they just couldn't be beat in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League action this week.

Friday night the Lions downed the South Stormont Selects 3 - 0, and Sunday afternoon Akwesasne became a victim in an 8 - 0 victory.

The wins improved the Lions' record to 6-0-1.

Friday night, the boys in blue were on the road taking on the Selects in Long Sault. Luc Stewart picked up his second shutout of the season in the 3 - 0 Lions' win.

Morrisburg goals were scored by Scott Summers, Jay Kellar and Josh Veltkamp. Helpers went to David Toonders and Nick Thomas.

Coach Dan Kellar remarked this was one of the team's better efforts this season, in an all-important league game.

Sunday afternoon, the Lions were at home to Akwesasne for the 8 - 0 win. The game was cut short due to an injury to an Akwesasne player early in the second frame.

Scoring for the Lions were Drew Hutt, David Toonders, and Nick Thomas, all with two markers. Jay Kellar and Michel Thurler had one goal each.

Assists were provided by Scott Summers, Drew Morrow, Josh Veltkamp, Nick McCaslin and Thurler.
