In The Fire Zone

Mr. Dawson Beattie of Winchester, is visiting his nephew Mr. James Pickering and his nieces, Mrs. W. A. Pickering and Mrs. W. A. Franklin of Riceville, Ont. His sister Mrs. Margaret Pickering of Ricevllle is at present spending some time with her son J. R. Pickering who is teaching in one of the schools of Hamilton. She with her daughter-in-law and the latter's children were in New Liskeard when the terrible fire broke out. They went to the station Tuesday evening Oct. 3rd. to leave for Hamilton, but the fire was all around, and men were fighting to save the station, so the train did not come and they were hurried back to town, where they spent an anxions time until Thursday morning when they got away. They considered themselves fortunate to escape with their lives and belongings, the house where they had been stopping being burned, and they saw so many poor people who had lost everything except the clothes they were wearing.

Plough Turns Up Turtle Eggs

Mr. Wm Smith made a very interesting discovery when ploughing on his farm on Friday last. His plow turned up a nest of turtle eggs numbering 25 to 30. Several of these were brought to the High School and provided three good lessons in Zoology. One of these eggs was opened and a living, fully formed young turtle found inside, of the snapping variety. The young turtie within had only consumed about half of the yolk but it would probably have this all absorbed before frost set in. The turtle would remain in the shell all winter in a comatose condition emerging probably in April or May. Harold Smith, Wm. Smith's son, has planted some of the eggs again and will endeavor to see when the young hatch out.

John Stamp, Winchester Springs.

My wife had Neuritis and the doctor had been here five times and she kept getting worse, until we thought she would die. Stamp's Medicine cured her in one week.

I also had a heifer that had a large lump on her neck and the Veterinary said it would take an operation to remove it. One bottle of Stamp's Liniment took it entirely away.—MILES MARSELLUS, Reeve of Williamsburg Tp.

Listowel U. F. O. Store Closed

The United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Toronto, have decided to close their store in Listowel. With many farmers short of ready money, the store has been unable to retain the normal volume of business because of the head office policy which requires that everything be done on a cash basis. The result has been that many farmers have traded with the other stores where they can get credit.

Would You Stand Up?

A preacher at the close of one of his sermons, said, "Let all in the house who are paying their debts, stand up." Presently every man, woman and child, with one exception, rose to their feet.

The preacher seated them and said, "Now every man not paying his debts, stand up." The exception slowly assumed a perpendicular position.

How is it you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?

I run a newspaper and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers and—

Let us pray, exclaimed the minister.

Several Fine Cows Had to Be Destroyed

Belleville Intelligencer—David Smith of Glanford, one of Wentworth's best known dairymen, lost eleven out of fifteen pure-bred Holstein cattle on Wednesday last, when government inspectors tested the animals for tuberculosis. The loss is a severe financial blow to the owner, who voluntarily applied for the inspection that he might clean his barn of all diseased animals. In addition to the loss of these cows, which were being milked, many young animals were declared to be infected and ordered slaughtered. Government inspectors will supervise the killing of the diseased animals this week An interesting feature in connection with the discovery is that three of the diseased cows held Dominion production records, and were on tests for annual regular performance work. Government inspectors stated that Mr, Smith is not the only heavy loser. Other farmers have had their herds depleted to such an extent that they were almost bankrupt. Despite the loss, it was reported that applications for the tuberculin test are still pouring in. Wentworth is one of the leading dairy territories in the country.

A Women's Wisdom

When searching for gingseng root one day last week in a swamp near Dornoch, a farmer found a barrel of mash, or wash, as the Inland Revenue Dept. calls it, near a little stream, and all evidence of a dismantled moonshine distillery were there. A widow owned the farm on which the hootch plant was found, and the discoverer informed her of his find. The woman promptly sent a letter to Mat Beckett to come and investigate, as she didn't want to be charged with having a booze plant on her premises. The woman took the right course by avoiding even the appearance of evil. A lot of men who have been trying to disclaim ownership of little distilleries found on their premises would not have been convicted and fined had they shown the discretion of this Dornoch woman.—Chesley Enterprise.

A Talking Crow

G. F. Stayner, Hartley street, is the owner of a crow which is a distinct curiousity. "Blackie," as it is called, is just crow in every respect but has it over his feathered brothers in great shape, being endowed with the power of speech. True his vocabulary is limited but several words are at hand as well as a power of imitating hens, roosters, etc., and a laugh that is contaginous. "Blackie" was captured when a young bird by Allen Stayner, in the Peace river district, and sent to Brockville when Allan Stayner came east to Kingston for medical treatment. During its captivity in a lonely cabin in the northwest "Blackie" learned to talk and became exceedingly tame. He is to be seen almost any day on Hartley street and rapidly makes friends, but citizens must not feel embarrassed if "Blackie" greets them with aloud "haw-haw," for he enjoys getting a laugh in on his friends occasionally.—Brockville Recorded.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Winchester Township School Fair
Maple Ridge Sept. 21st.

The School Fair which was held at Maple Ridge was fortunate in having ideal weather. The exhibits were numerous and of excellent quality. Competition was keen. School Section No12, Morewood School, was successful in winning the trophy this year, having the highest average number of points. School Section No. 6 came a close second with School Section No. 10 & 2 varying a fraction of a point behind.

As far as our records show we believe this is the best School Fair ever held in Winchester Township. The teachers and pupils who worked so hard to make it a success are to be congratulated.

We might mention the Live Stock Judging Competition which was held for the first time at this Fair. Quite an interest was shown in this event, and the work of Charles Loughridge of S. S. No. 12, was outstanding. If he just keeps on he will be quite a Live Stock Judge.

We wish to thank all those who in any way helped with the Fair, and our special thanks are due Miss Gray S. S. No. 6 and also Mr. G. D. Hutt for their kind assistance.

Publishers of Europe and America have expressed surprise that a paper of such wonderful value as the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal can be produced at the subscription price charged. It is not only the enormous size of the Family Herald that excites the wonder of the world, it is the vast variety and superexcellence of its contents. The great success of the Family Herald of Montreal has resulted in securing for it the very best talent in all its departments. This is a measure of its progressiveness. To say that the Family Herald is in a class by itself without a rival is to put it midly. The publishers we understand will send copies free on receipt of postal card.

Home Garden Competition Results

There were two Home Garden Competitions during the past season the total being 45 competitors. Mountain and Winchester Township making one competition while the second competition comprised the competitors from the other four townships. The winners in the first competition were as follows: 1st—Dorothy Blow, South Mountain; 2nd—Stanley Coleman, Halleville; 3rd - Hilda Cinnamon, Winchester; 4th—Eileen Durant, Winchester; 5th—Pearl Bellinger, Mountain. Percy Bellinger, Mountain; Morton Stobo, Winchester; and Mary Kerr, had excellent gardens but just outside the money.

In the second competitions the winners were: 1st—Myrtle Stata, Northfield Station; 2nd—Donald Casselman, Morrisburg; 3rd—Otho Thorpe, Winchester Springs; 4th—Arthur Bamford, Iroquois; 5th—Ralph Smith, Iroquois; 6th—Tres Bolton, Winchester Springs. With Claire Vance, Finch; Albert Norton, Farran's Point; Lillian Larabee, Iroquois; runners up.

A word might be said here in commendation of the work done by the contestents, first prize gardens in each competition i. e. Dorothy Blow and Myrtle Stata, were well nigh perfection; these girls are to be congratulated on the excellence of their gardens. The other prize winning gardens were of very high order especially those of Stanley Coleman and Hilda Cinnamon in the one competition and Donald Casselman in the other.

Many of the gardens which did not win a prize were nevertheless very good and some of these contestants were since successful in the Home Garden collection competition at the School Fair. Taken altogether the results of these competitions are very gratifying.

Dundas County Teacher's Institute

The forty-eighth annual meeting of the Dundas County Teacher's Institute was held in the Town Hall, Winchester, on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 12th and 13th. On Thursday morning in the unavoidable absence of the president, the vice-president, Miss Freida Allen, called the meeting to order, after the enrolment of members and adoption of the minutes of last meeting, the convention listened to a paper by Miss Vera Ellison on "The Use of the Map in Teaching Geography." Mr. Herman Hamilton, Principal of the Iroquois P. S. led in a discussion of the paper. The meeting was then taken charge of by the president Mr. Orville E. Ault, principal of the North Mountain Consolidated School. In his president's address, Mr. Ault outlined the many advantages of the Queen's Summer School Course leading to the degree of B.A. After the various committees had been appointed and the Financial Statement and Auditor's report given, the meeting adjourned till the afternoon session.

On Thursday afternoon, Mr. G. E. Copeland, principal of the Winchester H. S. gave some remarks on "The Advantages of Summer School Courses," stressing more particularly the course in Agriculture. As Mr. Copeland was principal of the Summer School class in Agriculture at the Kempiville Agriculture School last summer, the information he gave was first-hand and of a geat interest to those who have never qualified in this subject.

Owing to the illness of Miss E. C. Green of the Ottawa Normal School, she was unable to be present to address the Institute on "Household Science and Art." Mr. J. C. Fetterly, principal of Morrisburg P. S. gave a very practical address on the "Teaching of Decimals." The last item of this sessiou was an excellent paper by Miss Anna D. Smith on "Primary Reading," of interest to those connected with Primary work, especially in the teaching of this subject to beginners.

On Thursday evening the programme consisted mainly of an excellent moving picture film entitled "Turn to the Right" supplied to the teachers free through the courtesy of Mr. W. N. Lannin of Winchester. After this the presentation was made of the Forrester and Campbell Gold Medals to Entrance pupils by Messrs. H. B. Fetterly and J. Campbell. The teachers then enjoyed a social hour (particularly the refreshments served), so much that the Resolutions Committee passed a motion that this item be made a permanent one of the evening's session of each Institute meeting hereafter.

On Friday morning Mr. P. S. Boyd, principal of Chesterville P. S. gave his report as delegate to the Ontario Educ. Assn. at Toronto last Easter. This was followed by an interesting address by Miss Marion Campbell, school nurse, on "Health inspection in Dundas Schools." Miss Campbell gave a summary of her work in the Townships of Mountain and Winchester and outlined clearly the need of medical inspection in the schools as well as the benefits derived therefrom. The discusison on the topic was led by Mr. Fetterly, I.P.S., after which Mr. P. S. Boyd gave the convention the benefit of his experience in Junior Red Cross work as co-operating with the Medical Inspection work. Mr. P. Ward Payne then gave a most inspiring address on "The Relation of the Teacher to the Community and to the Profession." He quoted the life of Christ as typical of the Great Teacher being one to which every teacher should strive as an ideal.

The last session Friday afternoon was opened by an interesting address by Mr. Leroy Strader on the "Improvement of School Buildings and Grounds." In his remarks, Mr. Strader painted a vivid picture of the ordinary school and showed thereby how much improvement could be made in the way of interior and exterior decorations. Mr. Fetterly, I. P. S. gave some remarks on the P. S. course of study, regulations, etc, and answered the questions submitted by the Convention through the Question Drawer.

The subject of Household Science was very ably dealt with by the Misses Hess, Pack and McCormick each of whom gave her experience in the conducting of the work.

After Miss Susie Annable, Principal of the Winchester P. S. had told the teachers about her trip to Europe, taken last summer through Canadian Pickfords, Ltd. The various officers, committees and delegates were elected for the ensuing year and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

This year's convention of teachers has been one of the most interesting and successful for some time notwithstanding the fact that only the teachers from the county supplied the programme, no lecturers from outside points being present. It is believed however that the interchanging of ideas with other teachers is one of the great benefits to be derived at such meetings.

A Squeak That Was

The Khan, in Toronto Telegram.

When I was a little shaver old Major Thresher was the big man, or rather one of the big men, in Gumbo. He drove to church in a real carriage and I will never forget his long-tailed pair of horses. He wore a beaver hat—if you know what a beaver hat is—and when he walked, or rather marched, up the aisle his boots squeaked. Folks seemed to enjoy wearing noisy clothing in them days. The Major's wife must have starched everything she wore. When she came into church she made as much noise as a load of cornstalks and when she sat down she sat down with a crash that sounded like a boy falling through a skylight. I fancy that it is only handmade shoes that squeak or squeaked And I fancy also that the old-time village shoemaker could put a squeak into a shoe. I don't know how he did it, but he done it. If you were just a common ordinary person he made you a pair of shoes you could walk up the aisle from the porch to the channel steps and nary a squeak. But if you were a big bug the shoes he made for you would squeak musically and delightfully on all occasions. One of our old church wardens had a marvelous pair of shoes. The left shoe was a contralto and the other shoe had a rich coloratura voice. When you heard the duet you didn't have to turn your head to know who was coming into church.

The old Major was a big man and a proud man, and if he was not generally loved he certainly was widely respected. He subscribed largely to build the beautiful and now almoft deserted old stone church.

A decayed family is a sad spectacle. One thing that kept that stupendous combination, Great Britain and Ireland, on the map was pride of race and family. The maintaining of the old estates and homes and the name—that was something to conjure with always. But here on this side of the salt water the people have not come to that yet, if they ever come to it. They let the old homesteads slip away even as the Threshers let go theirs.

An alien lives in the old Thesher home and cultivates the wide Thresher acres. They went to pot. They don't go to church. The beautiful old shrine that their ancestor helped to build is almost empty. The people who cannot keep the fires burning on the altars erected by their fathers are no good. And these folk are now in the same class with pagans. They have no gods. One of the reasons the Threshers don't attend divine service is that the church got good money out of the old man, but she will never get any out of them. The old family pew is empty. Occasionally a stranger slouches into it and it seems almost a desecration. One of the Threshers says that religion is superstition. His fine old father didn't think so and he was bigger than his decadent sons, physically, morally, mentally and spiritually.

Grow Native Trees

Some years ago a Canadian forest engineer who was doing some work in the centre of one of the second tier of counties northward from lake Ontario, met a man who was fencing-in a hundred acre lot. The land was what is commonly known as a pine barren, an area once covered by a pine forest, but, since that was clean cut off and burned over, practically a useless waste. Any farms taken up in the area had been abandoned, and the repeated fires and the running of cattle had up to that time frustrated the attempts of pine to come in again, although around old trees that had been left clumps of young trees were bravely making a start.

Learning that he was talking to a forest engineer, the man doing the fencing proceeded to explain that he was a Canadian, who had resided a long time in the United States, and that he had now come back to Canada to try his fortune in growing soft shelled walnuts on this cheap land. The forest engineer said that growing trees was a good investment if a long time one, but he asked, "Why plant soft-shelled walnuts?" "Because Mr. Blank" (naming a celebrated botanist) "personally assured me that they were the most profitable kind of trees. One has yearly harvests of nuts to bring in money while his trees are growing to timber size."

"All that is true," said the forest engineer, 'but Mr. Blank lives in California. I do not think he was ever in Ontario, and it is practically certain he was never in this county. Walnuts will grow here but they are native only along the North shore of lake Erie. That they would really thrive here is doubtful, and that is more particularly true of a special and probably tender variety. This land once grew some of the finest white pine Canada ever produced. In spite of fires and cattle, white pine is struggling, as you see, to cover the ground again; why not grow white pine, when nature is ready to meet you halfway? Walnuts are a gamble, pine is a certainty."

However, the walnut man with his California guarantee was not to be dissuaded. He spent considerable money in planting soft-shelled walnuts, and is now back in the United States at his old job, convinced that forestry is a fraud. In the meantime, the white pine has continued to come back and in a few years there will be a county forest of fine young pine in the township in which his soft-shelled walnuts were a failure It is a good plan to experiment with exotic trees, but as a business proposition it is better to start growing the best of our Canadian native species, than which for the production of structural timber there are no finer in the world.

More Work For Assessors

Changes of considerable interest have been made in the Assessment Act in regard to the taking of the census of school children in the muuicipality. Uuder the act as it stood prior to amendments made last year the census of children was included in the assessment roll the assessors being required to record all children resident in the municipality between the ages of 5 to 16 years.

Under the Amended Assessmen t Act, which comes into effect on January 1st, 1923, the assessors are required to enter in a special book details of all children in the municipality between the ages of 5 and 8 years, 8 and 14 years. 14 and 16 years, and 16 and 18 years, along with information as to the parent or guardian and whether such parent or gnardian is a public or separate school supporter. This School Census book is to be returned to the clerk of the municipality at the same time as the assessment roll, and is to be for the use of the school attendance officer and others.

Introduced To New Life

Their first visitation to civilization in their lives, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Loutit and four children arrived in Fort William and Port Arthur recently from the lonely reaches of James Bay, where Mr. Loutit is in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Co. The family all registered at the Mariaggi hotel, and the first thing that took their breath away was the passenger elevator, which whisked them all up to their room. Then the service and equipment of the dining room excited their curiosity. But more was yet to come.

Dr. R. A. Caldwell called for them in his automobile and took them for a drive round the district, and they attended a picture show. Nor had they even seen a street car until they arrived in Fort William. Their comments on the ordinary every-day affairs of the city, which to them appeared most strange as viewed for the first time, were interesting and demonstrated how modern civilization first impresses those who have never been privileged to take advantage of it.

Change in Hydro Line

Last week a change was made in the hydro-electric power line between Cornwall and Brockville, when the voltage was switched from 26,500 to 44,000. The change was brought about by the requirements of the Eugene F. Phillips Electrical Works, Limited, load, and necessiated the changing of transformers at Cornwall to a much larger size, in order to increase the carrying capacity of the line. In order to take care of the higher voltage necessary the wires on the poles had to be changed to a larger spacing, and also made necessary the substitution of larger insulators and new switching gears in all the substations at Prescott, Winchester, Chesterville and Brockville.

Things That Don't Happen

Infant's "Grasping Power"

What is regarded by many scientists as a proof of man's monkey-like origin, is the power of the infant to hold on by its hands. Dr. Louis Robinson says that while the baby is in most respects a very weak creature, its powers of grip may be favorably compared with those of adults. A study of 60 cases, all infants less than a month old, were made. Of these, 30 were less than one hour old. In every instance the child was able to hang on by its hands to a small stick and to sustain the weight of the body for at least 10 seconds. In 12 cases of infants one hour old, half a minute passed before the grip was relaxed, and in four cases one minute. One infant three weeks old held on for two minutes and 35 seconds. A three-weeks-old baby can perform a feat of muscle strength that would tax the powers of many a healthy adult. The faculty reaches its maximum a fortnight or three weeks after birth.

Lazy Sandy

Angus MacTavish was the only grocer in the little Scottish village, and he was going about his business when a woman entered his shop.

"Did ye no' dismiss my lad this morning, after he had served you for a week as an errand boy?" she asked.

"Yes," said the grocer; 'I did, I am sorry to say that he was far too slow and lazy."

"Weel," said the woman, "it's like this, He's to be pitied. He's what they ca' a somnambulist—walks in his sleep, ye ken—"

"Yes, yes!" interrupted the grocer. "That's all right. I could get on quite well with a lad who walked in his sleep; but I can't put up with one who sleeps in his walk!"—The Manchester Guardian.

The teacher was trying to demonstrate a simple experiment in the generation of steam. "What have I in my hand?" he asked. "A tin can," came the answer "Very true. Is the can an animate or an inanimate object?" "Inanimate." Exactly. Now can any boy or girl tell me how, with this can, it is possible to generate a surprising amount of speed and power almost beyond control?" One littte boy raised his right hand. "You may answer, Carter." "Tie it to a dog's tail!"

Cancer Treatment At Home

Since, thanks to the courtesy of the press throughout the Dominion, the general public are to have the privilege of obtaining accurate knowledge concerning the most terrible scourge of humanity during Cancer Week of Nov. 12, may I be permitted to give sufferers in your county the same beneficial knowledge which, through the kindness of other papers I have given sufferers in Ontario? The late Dr. F. W. Forbes Ross was an eminent cancer surgeon in London, England, who, after twenty years' experience—ten years of which were devoted to the study of cell physiology in special relation to the pathology of cells in cancer—claimed that cancer is caused by a deficiency of potassium "salts" in the body. He also claimed—and this is of vital interest to sufferers all over the world—that if this deficiency is remedied cancer, even in advanced cases, will retrograde. In November, 1912, he presented to the medical profession a full account of his researches and, with the case of a woman suffering from far-advanced, ulcerated and inoperable cancer of the womb, established the accuracy of his claims by administering certain of the assimilable forms of potassium "salts" and definitely curing. Since this priceless gift was made to the profession, it is not astonishing that such prominent English cancer authorities as Drs. Robert Bell, John Shaw, Weedon Cooke, E. B. Foote, Sir James Paget, Professor Syme, Sir Benjamin Brodie and countless other members of the profession have, with astonishing success, prescribed in accordance with Dr. Forbes Ross' discovery.

What the public generally, and the cancer sufferer in particular, must now know is the incontrovertible fact that this highly dangerous potassium deficiency, which is yearly becoming more prevalent, is caused by improper diet and what Dr. Frederick W. Alexander, the popular London, England, medical officer of health, calls the "sophisticated cooking" which civilization has brought us. Space forbids any lengthy dissertation upon the obvious truth Suffice it to state that the invaluable mineral "salts" of our vegetables are usually boiled out of them and thrown down the sink, and we eat what Dr. Forbes Ross called "muck minus minerals." Also, that the potassium "salts" have generally been abstracted from the artificially prepared foods we so largely consume, and these two causes of gradual potassium starvation are in all innocence, still further aggravated by the excessive amount of dead matter in the form of flesh foods and meat extracts which are daily eaten. Nature is long suffering, and it is astonishing how much ill-treatment our bodies will stand. Sooner or later, however, owing to the continued lack of the necessary supply of minerals in the dietary, the cells break from their accustomed course and disastrous consequences result. This may be hastened by a blow, friction, worry, suckling an infant, a fall or illness. Long-continued irritation or inflammation of any part frequently leads to cancer being set up, owing to local potassium exhaustion. Strict and faithful adherence to the following directions have proved a great benefit to cancer sufferers in all parts of the world, and recently, to many in Ontario, and if each sufferer will realize that every meal eaten which conforms to the dietary is steadily assisting nature to completely restore the system, the resultant effects will be surprisingly gratifying.

Directions:—Forty grains of bicarbonate of potassium dissolved in half a tumbler of warm water should be taken an hour before breakfast every morning. If this time is inconvenient, it might be taken, instead, at least an hour after the last meal of the day—preferably immediateiy before retiring to rest.

Vitally important dietary instructions:—As meat of any kind, including poultry and all meat extracts, rob the already depleted system of potassium, you must give up eating meat now. In it's place you must find body-building foods. Eggs cheese, lentils, nuts, beans, bananas, oatmeal, raisins and whole-meal bread form admirable substitutes, having high nutritive values. Eat regular quantities of fruit and vegetables in their natural condition, i. e., uncooked, For example: Grate a raw turnip, carrot, beetroot and parsnip; mix with vinegar, oil, pepper and salt. Eat this with buttered bread and cheese. You will be surprised and pleased when thus giving your system what nature demands and requires. A little fish may be taken occasionally, as a relish, but it is not recommended. It certainly should not unsurp the place of foods richer in potassium. Water should be drunk freely, but if there is reason to believe it contains lime in excess any of the bottled table waters may be taken, especially potass water. Milk may be taken in any quantity as a drink, and tea, coffee and cocoa, freshly made in moderation.

The chief points to be strictly observed are:—1, Total abstinence from meat. 2. The substitution of body-building foods. 3. Vegetables to be cooked so that they may retain their valuable "salts." Regular inclusion of fresh fruit and vegetable salads in the dietary. Less cooked food altogether and more food in its natural condition. I wish to strongly emphasize the fact, that as his home treatment cannot, at its commencement, perceptibly relieve pain or ensure sleep, prescription of drugs or stimulants for these purposes is the absolute prerogative of each sufferer's own medical adviser, and he alone, is or can be, a proper judge of the requirements of each individual case.

Confidently predicting that the above instructions will bring untold relief and lasting benefit to many homes in your district and cordially thanking you, sir, for this invaluable assistance in coping with the deadly scourge, permit me to conclude by stating if any medical men or sufferers wish further explanation of this home treatment without operation, I will gladly, without charge, answer their questions as promptly as I am able, if they will enclose stamped, addressed envelope for their replies from.

Yours, etc.,
CHARLES WALTER.

Winter Feed for the Dairy Cow

How to keep up the winter milk flow is a problem confronting a great many dairymen, more so in sections where the temperature is severe than in the milder climate of British Columbia. Invariably the price of milk goes up in the fall and down in the spring and just as untiringly the supply drops in the fall and increases in the spring. The dairyman given good cows, the proper proportion bred to freshen in the fall, and conditions suitable for good general management in the matter of sanitation and thorough and regular milkers, it is then up to the feeder to keep the milk supply up to the maximum.

The dairy cow is a manufacturing machine and requires suitable raw material from which to manufacture milk. She can make excellent use of much rough feed if supplied in coujuuction with concentrates in the proper amounts. Among the most popular or widely used winter roughages are hay, straw, ensilage and roots and for the dairy cows legume hays are much more valuable than grass hays. For milk production good alfalfa hay has no equal but, if this is unobtainable, good clover or mixed hay is satisfactory. Damaged hay can be made more palatable by cutting and mixing with silage or pulped roots. The same holds true regarding straw. To provide the necessary succulence in a ration for dairy cows roots, or silage, or both, are invaluable. Not only are these feeds succulent but they are bulky and comparatively cheap. Generally it is good business to give a milking cow all these feeds she will consume.

This does not hold true regarding concentrates. A popular practice is to feed the cows one pound of grain for every three to four pounds of milk they produce. This is a good general rule to follow. What the grain mixture should be will depend upon prices of the different feeds at that time, bran, oats, barley, oil meal, shorts, soybean meal, brewers grains and cotton seed meal are the commonly used concentrates. Bran 4 parts; ground oats 2 parts; ground barley 2 parts; oil cake meal 1 part; makes an excellent grain mixture for a commercial dairy herd. It should be kept in mind that a freshly calved cow abundantly and carefully fed will usually produce the cheapest milk. At this time a pound of grain is equivalent to several pounds given later after the cow has decreased in her milk flow.

Besides the roughage and concentrates heavy producing cows should have plenty of clean water, and salt, and many successful feeders at the present time provide bone meal, lime, charcoal and other minerals.

Doug. and Mary in Canada

(1) Mary Pickford enjoying the view from a window in the Chateau, Lake Louise.
(2) Mary and Doug. posing for the camera on arrival at Windsor Station, Montreal. As a souvenir of [illegible] holds a C.P.R. porter's cap.

"I HAVE had a wonderful trip, over the Rockies, I think they are equally as beautiful as the Alps and as for Lake Louise, it was almost too wondrously beautiful to be real. I want to stage a fairy tale there." So said Mary Pickford, the famous moving picture actress, on arrival in Montreal after a trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway from Vancouver.

Mary was accompanied by her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. John Fairbanks. The party stopped off at Lake Louise, Alberta.

After spending the morning viewing the beautiful scenery at Lake Louise and climbing the Saddle Back mountain, the party left by motor for Banff, where Doug was especially keen to have a swim in the Banff Springs bathing pool. A few minutes stop was made at Johnston Canyon. The party then proceeded directly on to Montreal, stopping only an hour in Winnipeg.

Both Doug. and Mary expressed themselves as delighted with Canada and "elated" every moment spent in the Canadian Rockies.

"We have always wanted to take this trip through the Canadian Rockies," said Mary, "and it is more beautiful than our expectations. We were perfectly fascinated, too, with Victoria.

"In Vancouver," said John Fairbanks, brother of Doug., "we had a tremendous reception. Doug. had to carry Mary, while my own wife was swept away from me like a chip on the stream. I have been with Mary and Doug., and Charlie Chaplin through many Liberty Loan drives, but we never had a reception like this.

Mrs. Pickford said that it was always her custom in such a rush to hide until the danger was over, so she fled to safety behind a door knowing that as soon as Mary got settled she would send for her.

When questioned as to Canada being a field for the moving picture industry Douglas Fairbanks stated that the mountains would make a marvellous background, but the essential thing was the story. "I would love to make a Canadian picture if I could get the right kind of a story," he said.

Successful Entertainment

The old fashioned Tea Meeting under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening, proved an attraction which filled the hall to overflowing, when a most enjoyable evening was spent. The programme for from being out-of-date was a brilliant one provided by consisting of vocal solos by Miss Ruth Simser, Mrs. Geo. Merkley and Mr. G. W. Brooks, a duett by Mr. Brooks and Miss Laura Simser, reading by Miss Harrison, violin solos by Miss Marion Casselman interspersed with selections by the orchestra composed of Mrs. Merkley, Miss Casselman, Mrs. Gostick and Mr. Bert McLean.

Rev. A. J Sinclair ably filled the chairman's position.

The programme was followed by an abundance of refreshments served in the well-known bountiful manner of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid.

The Red Cross

The response to the appeal made by this society in aid of the people in the fire-swept zone in Northern Ontario, was immediate and generous. It seems only necessary to let the people of this community know that their help is wanted, and supplies came rolling in from farmers and villagers alike. On Tuesday there were shipped direct to the Red Cross representatives at Cobalt six large packing cases containing clothing and bedding; much of it new, all of it warm and suitable and in good repair. Those who did the packing are loud in their praise of the supplies sent in. At a very moderate estimate the money value would be not less than $300 00, and the value in comfort, who shall estimate?

In addition to the above, a cheque for $225.00 was sent the treasurer of the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee. The committee appointed by the the government to look after the housing, feeding and clothing of fhe fire suffers for months to come.

The above sum is made up as follows;—

Village Council grant	$100.00
Voluntary Contributions	33.00
Red Cross grant	92.00

The need—the desperate need—will continue at least during the winter, and the Red Cross Society make this intimtaion of their willingness to take charge of any further contributions that is desired to make. Money paid in at either of the Banks, for this purpose will reach the needy.

Other supplies also will gladly be forwarded.

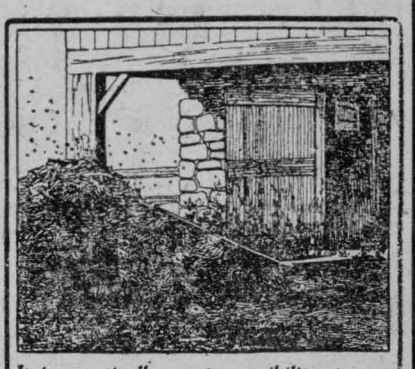
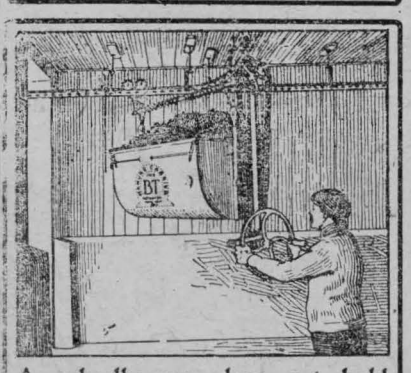
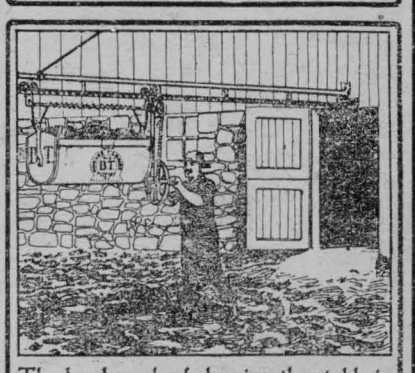
Day in and day out, the hard work of cleaning the stable has to be done. Stable cleaning with a wheelbarrow is a monotonous, hard, disagreeable chore. It is hard to wheel a heavy wheelbarrow load through a muddy yard and up a slippery plank. And the worst of it is, this hard, disagreeable chore has to be done every day.



It is practically an impossibility to get the manure far enough away from the stable. The conditions in the yard make it impossible. Manure piles right up close to the stable give off ammonia fumes that spoil paint and woodwork, rot harness and at the first opportunity breed flies.



A wheelbarrow does not hold much at a load, which means many trips before the work is done. The BT Carrier holds three times as much as a wheelbarrow. It will tackle 800 lbs. in one load.



The hard work of cleaning the stable is cut in two with a manure carrier. It runs on overhead track so it does not matter about the state of the yard. No planks to lay; no snow to shovel; no more pushing to the top of the pile with a wheelbarrow.
