Christmas

Christmas is so fun.
I think it's number one.
Stockings hanging by the fire.
My mother is a buyer.
She buys and buys and buys.
She buys toys.
To please her boys.

Christmas birds

On a cold winter day
The bluejays fly
Flapping their wings
With Christmas in their cry.
As the cardinals fly
In the clear blue sky,
It's a sign that Christmas
Is near by.
As chickadees go pecking
In the evergreen tree
Christmas is coming
For you and for me.

A Canadian twelve days of Christmas

On the twelfth day of Christmas
my true love sent to me:
Eleven bluejays singing,
Ten foxes sleeping,
Nine snowshoes clopping,
Eight salmon a-flopping,
Seven wolves a-howling,
Six sled dogs a-pulling,
Five beaver dams,
Four growling bears,
Three Canada geese,
Two charging moose
And a mallard by a pine tree.

Santa's little elves

I hope Santa's little elves
Are working on my new shelves
Santa was flying over a rooftop when my present took a great big flop
And landed with a great plop
And had broken from the drop
Now I think this poem better end
Before it drives you round the bend

Christmas

There are two meanings for Christmas,
one we all know,
Is when Santa Claus comes all covered in snow.
He's dressed in red and white,
with black at his toe.
He piles up your presents in a neat row.

The second one is quite different,
you see,
it was when Christ was born,
as a holy baby.
It took lots of preparing,
with angels and such.
We remember at Christmas,
we love him very much.

At the Christmas parade

One day I went to a parade. It took a long time to set it up. My brother was in it, his name is Jason. He is one of the floats. He is beavers. He wasn't home too much. My name is Julie. I'm in Grade 2. My mother says that I have to wear my glases but I don't.

Well on to the story. Today it is a week before Christmas. I can't wait. My brother said if he's on the side I am he will try and throw lots of candy at me.

My brother and I get along. My mom and dad are proud of us. Today is the day of the Christmas parade, I woke up early my brother was already gone.

I had a shower, I got into my cothes and then my snow suit. We left early to get good seats. At the end Santa Claus came, it was the best part. My brother didn't get some candy so I shared with him. Well the week went by and now it is Christmas Eve. I told my mom I could not sleep but I had to go to bed.

My mom said no later than 9:00. We went to Mass first then we looked at houses on the way back. My brother had to sleep upstairs with me, my mom and dad because he used to go upstairs when no one was there. Good night.

Santa's problem

It was 10:30 pm and Santa suddenly heard a window open. Mrs. Claus woke up too. They turned the bedroom light on. Suddenly they heard something that sounded like toys dropping.

They called the security elves. The robber was caught and tied to a chair. Santa came out and identified the robber. It was The Grinch! He finally learned his lesson. Don't mess with Santa.

PROUD TO BE YOUR NEIGHBOUR

From Andy, Louise and staff

The year Santa pulled a muscle in his back

It all happened last year when we all heard a big thump outside. I'll start the story now.

It was Christmas Eve and we all went to bed, as usual. Suddenly I heard a huge thump. I threw on my coat and went outside.

It was Santa Claus. I was jumping for joy. Then he told me he pulled a muscle! Santa wanted me to deliver the presents!

I had no idea what I had to do. I didn't even know how to drive!

So I took charge and went all around the world eating cookies and giving presents to little kids and big kids.

Dear Santa

What can I give this year for gifts?

I can give the gift of responsibility by doing my homework without anybody asking me.

I can give the gift of peace by not fighting with my brothers.

I can give the gift of comfort by comforting my brother when he's crying.

Christmas cookies by the dozen

Santa flew over the sky with a stuffed belly.
He wiggled over the houses like a piece of jelly.
He slipped down the chimney so swift and magically,
Eating the Christmas cookies by the dozen so hungrily.
And as he finished his cookies he gulped down the milk,
Then poof back up the chimney he went like a piece of silk.
Then back in his sleigh to finish his job.
He returned home to see his Christmas cookies being eaten by an elf named Bob!

Oh Santa

Oh Santa! Oh Santa! I've waited all year.
The day of Christmas is finally here,
I hope you are coming, I've been a good boy,
If you don't mind me asking, can I have my toys?
I have a lot of things to do,
I think that you would get the clue
I'll try to go on a shopping spree,
To get a toy for you and me.

Santa's best

Once upon a midnight clear
Santa was driving his reindeer.
He was going around house to house
Being as quiet as a mouse.

Santa didn't stir their sleep,
And he also didn't say a peep.
He delivered presents house to house,
Being as quiet as a mouse.

He rode away in the sleigh
Laughing to himself all the way.
Ho! Ho! Ho!

Christmas

Most people think of Christmas as opening presents and eating Christmas dinner. But it isn't. It's about sharing, being with family and friends and loving for others.

On Christmas Day Jesus Christ was born. That makes Christmas special. He was brought by angels.

I like having fun. I like waking up early to be with family, being in parades, skating and looking at ice sculptures.

The Broken Candy Machine

Once upon a time in toyland the elves were busily working. They worked all day. They worked all night. The candy cane machine broke.

The elves tried to fix it but they couldn't fix it.

Suddenly Santa came. "What's going on?" he asked.

"The candy cane machine is broken."

Santa used his magic. Then the candy cane machine started to work again.

Santa won the lottery

One Christmas Eve Santa had a call from the lottery corporation. Santa picked up the phone and said hello. The lottery corporation said you have won the $50,00,00,00 and 895¢. Come and pick it up tonight and Merry Christmas. Santa was so happy he jumped up and down. He even screamed whoopee! Every elf heard it. Santa went to Toronto and picked up the money. He forgot about Christmas. He went back to the North Pole. When he got back to the North Pole he remembered about Christmas. To make up Santa put millions of presents on the roads. The kids and parents were very happy.

A Christmas poem

Joseph and Mary were to be counted,
So off to Bethlehem, a donkey she mounted.
The journey was not so very fast,
But they got there eventually and at last.
They went to an inn,
where the owner began to say,
"There is no room here now, neither the next day."
Then he replied, "There's a shed outside, with lots of soft clean hay."
On that night I guess He was born,
'Cause sure enough there was a baby next morn.
Jesus was born for us that very day,
for He died for us, our sins to pay.

Mom, I am a present!

Karen, I am going to buy some presents at the shopping mall. I will see you in an hour. Bye.

Presents! Presents!! Presents!!! I wish I could give a present to Jesus. I know! I'll wrap up myself for Christmas. I'll tie me with a big red bow. That's what I'm giving to Jesus, it's a present he'll like I know.

(1 hour later.)

There, I am in a box that is wrapped up with wrapping paper and I have a huge red bow in my hair. (Mom comes in.) Mom, I am giving myself to Jesus.

Karen, that is a perfect gift.

(God gave his great gift so why not give yourself?)

On Christmas Eve

On Christmas Eve I went to bed and I heard a noise and I woke up and went down stairs and it was Santa.
He was trying to get down the chimney and he was red as the couch and he said "ouch"!
