Does Your Car RATTLE?

Possibly the doors have become loosened and need adjusting. If so, run your car out to the Supertest Service Station and let us equip it with a set of "door silencers." They are not expensive and will keep your doors from rattling.

Maybe your brake rods are noisy. This can be remedied by letting us install a set of "anti-brake-rod rattlers." They certainly hold the rods firm and tight with no chance for any noise.

For Your Brakes!

If you have Hydraulic Brakes on your car, you may now have them recharged with Brake Fluid at this station. Come in and get our prices

We also carry in stock, in addition to Firestone Tires and Tubes, Supertest Gasoline and Oils, many accessories such as Tire Repair Kits, Radiator Caps for mending leaks, the famous Tumbler's Auto Cleaner and Polishes, Spark-Plugs, Windshield Trico Wiper Blades, etc.

Old Home Week For August, 1934

A meeting representing the Municipal Council, the Women's Institute, the 100 Club and the several churches of the town, was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday evening of last week. The meeting was called by Reeve Ross, and he asked that Mr. N. W. Beach act as chairman, Mr. Beach declining. Mr. Ross was asked to act, and Mr. Beach was unanimously elected Secretary. It was then explained by Reeve Ross that he had during the past summer been asked many times why Winchester did not hold an "Old Boys' Re-Union." Mr. Ross thought that such a re-union might be staged for the latter part of October, but the feeling of the meeting while unanimously endorsing the proposition, considered it too late to attempt such an undertaking this fall, and on resolution of Mr. Wm. Dickson, and Mr. T. A. Scott, it was decided to hold a Re-Union of the old time Winchesterites in August of 1934. For the purpose of forming committees and making necessary plans, the Reeve was asked to call a public meeting for Monday night, 28th, of Aug., to more fully discuss the subject and elect the several committees necessary to carry on the project. A special committee was elected to meet on Monday last to draft a program for Monday night, and that work has been done. It is hoped there will be a good turn-out on Monday night next, and that every citizen will enter heartily into the idea of showing old-timers that Winchester can put on a program and give an entertainment that will make their hearts glad.

LATE FRANK JOHNSTON

There passed away at his home in Mountain Township this morning at 9 a.m., a highly respected resident of that district in the person of Mr. Frank Johnston, in his 68th year. The deceased had not enjoyed the best of health for the past year, and during the last three weeks he has been confined to his bed. His wife predeceased him on July 6th, just seven weeks ago.

He leaves to mourn, two daughters, Hilda and Gertrude, at home; two sons, Lester, of Avonlea, Sask.; and Carman, of Cass Bridge.

The funeral service will be held on Saturday at his late residence at 1.30 p.m. Interment will be made at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

A Family Re-Union At Maple Ridge

More than seventy descendants of the late John Helmer and the former Catharine Baker, U. E. Loyalists, were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick I. Helmer, of Maple Ridge, on Monday evening, when a Reunion of the family was held.

The Reunion was held in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Slaughter (nee Susie Helmer) and their daughter, Nina, of Hudson, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Lucinda Meyers, from Waddington, N.Y., also of the third generation, was present, and the farm on which the event took place is part of the tract of land which was granted to John Helmer and his family for their loyalty to the Crown.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. F. Earle Helmer, of Maple Ridge, and Mrs. John Helmer, of Chesterville, and were ushered to the drawing room where they were welcomed by the host and hostess and introduced to the guests of honour.

Following an evening spent in games Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter and Nina were surrounded by their relatives, and after an address given by F. Erle Helmer, a sterling silver flower basket, candle sticks, and a book with the names of those present, were presented by the Misses Marion Helmer, Lois Merkley and Master Gordon F. Helmer. Mrs. Slaughter replied, thanking all for their kindness.

Luncheon was served by Mesdames Karl Helmer, John Helmer, Clarence Helmer, F. Erle Helmer, assisted by the Misses Madge and Marjorie Allison, Cora Helmer, Beatrice Fulton, Francis Merkley, anl Mrs. Mabel Casselman, Messrs. Ralph, Stanton, Reginald and Ernest Helmer.

Others present were. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hill, of Marvelville; Mrs. William Hill, Kenmore; Mrs. Ebenezer Merkley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merkley, Mr. and Mrs. John Helmer and Lockie, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Helmer and Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Jorn Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Fulton, of Chesterville; Mr. and Mrs. Enos Merkley and Nita, of Nation Valley; Mrs. L. N. Helmer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGuire, and Mrs. Frank Dubervill of Ottawa; Mr. Karl Helmer, Mr and Mrs. Herbert Helmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Helmer, Winchester; Clarence, Frank and William Helmer, Harlan and Colburn, of Maple Ridge; Mr. D. G. Hutt, Chesterville; Mrs. S. Hyndman, of Winchester, and Mrs. Ross Redmond, of Davenport, Iowa.

GET BEHIND IT

Every citizen should get behind the Old Home Reunion Movement and be present at the town hall on Monday night. Let us show the old timers what Winchester can do in the way of entertainment.

Young Men Appear Before Magistrate

A number of young men, and others, were before Police Magistrate McCormick, on Wednesday morning, charged with neglect to pay either their poll or dog tax. The majority of those appearing pleaded guilty and were given a certain length of time to pay up, and thus avoid costs and more severe penalty. Some cases were doubtful, according to evidence, and were either dismissed or held over. Mr. J. D. Stewart, the Collector, is prosecuting, and, acting under instructions from the Council, and is urgent to have all arrears for dog and poll tax cleaned up, as some date back as far as 1928.

AUTO TAKES DITCH AND TORONTO PARTY INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scott, accompanied by their daughter and Mrs. Scott's father, were the unfortunate victims of the pernicious habit of too many who have charge of gravel roads, and expect motorists to either keep on one side of it, straddle it, or take other chances. The party were from Richmond Hill, Ont., near Toronto, and were on their way to Ottawa. Mrs. Scott was driving at the time and Mr. Scott says that he knows they were not exceeding the speed limit. In trying to straddle the ridge of gravel, Mrs. Scott was unable to follow the line and at the same time keep her reason, but in trying to get over the ridge she lost control and the car bounded into the ditch and overturned. The accident happened about six miles west of Winchester on what is known as the Pet Swamp road, and County Highway No. 6. Fortunately help was not long in arriving, and Dr. McLaughlin, who was passing at the time, was able to give timely assistance. The little girl was cut some by the glass, but none of the party were seriously injured, and they were brought to Winchester and made comfortable at Hotel Winchester. The car was somewhat damaged and is undergoing repairs at Melvin's Garage. In conversation with the Press, Mr. Scott said that everything happened so quickly that he can hardly realize how it happened. Had they been going at a fast rate of speed, the consequences might have been far worse.

GRENVILLE REGIMENT PUT A MAN ON THE BISLEY TEAM

"C" Company of the Grenville Regiment had nine men in the D. R. A this year in Ottawa, and shooting in competition against the picked shots of Canada, they made a name for themselves that will be long remembered in Military District No. 3.

The City of Ottawa Trophy, which is the largest cup given by the D. R. A., was won by them shooting against six teams of old Bisley men from all parts of Canada.

The Victorit Rifles Cup, donated for the 4 highest tyros was also won by them with a good margin of points.

A team of four men came second in the Gowoski Match which is a service condition match fired with open sights and no slings.

Of the nine men comprising the team, 5 of them made the second stage of the Governor General's Match, while a great many older shots, including Des. Burke, fell by the wayside. Those making the final stage were Major A. M. Watchom, Pte. R. C. Hamilton, Pte. F. A. Sim, Pte. W. H. Edsell, Q.M.S. J. H. Keyes.

Pte. R. G. Hamilton has the honor of being the first man of any local regiment to make the Bisley team which he did this year, being the only man in Ottawa and district to win a place on the team. Col. Patterson, Q. C., of the regiment, visited his men at the ranges on Saturday and received the City of Ottawa Trophy.

Our local man, Q.M.S. J. H. Keyes did fine shooting all through the meet and only missed making the Bisley team by 18 points. In the final stage of the Governor General's Match, Q M.S. Keyes put on 18 consecutive bull's eye at 300 yards and was leading man up until the final shoot of 15 shots at 900 yards.

Next year the Company hopes to do better and again have a representtive make the trip to Bisley. Lieut. B. McKercher, C.O., of "C" Company is to be greatly congratulated on the achievements of his company.

AN EXPLANATION

The Winchester Press appears in four page form this week, and will appear in four page form next week. This is our way of "relaxing." Most weekly newspapers miss an issue during the summer to allow the staff to relax, stretch themselves as it were, find a breathing spell, and not feel 100 per cent tension all the while. Besides the editor has his annual dose of "Hay Fever," and finds it necessary to lay off, or lay down, for a few days. We will endeavour to give our readers the gist of the local news, but our four pages hardly give us room. Even as it is, however, we are able to compare favourably as a four page paper with any other weekly paper in the United Counties with their small eight pages.

Beginning with the first week in September, the Press will appear in its usual size.

FINE RESULTS

The results of the Upper School Examinations in the local High School are such that the citizens as well as the staff and students of the school may feel justly proud. In many of the subjects considered generally to be very difficult, the students of Winchester School made remarkable records. English Composition brought forth 100 per cent. efficiency. Twenty-two wrote the examination, all being successful. The results in the languages are worthy of special comment. Thirty-three wrote Latin with the result that thirty passed the examination and but three failed to make the grade. French was still better with thirty-nine writing and two failures.

In mathematics, seventeen tried Trigonometry and sixteen succeeded in making a pass. Algebra followed closely with 10 passes and one failure. Geometry was also well up in the list with nine passes to three failures

We repeat, the citizens of the town may take pride in such a record by the students and staff of our school. The teachers deserve great credit for their efforts, while the pupils are to be commended on their ability to concentrate and thoroughly grasp the subjects that are being taught. We sincerely trust that such may long continue.

TRUCK FILLED WITH CALVES GO INTO DITCH NEAR OTTAWA

What might have proved a very serious accident happened on Monday when Mr. Jake Ross' truck, driven by Mr. Harold Levere, and loaded with five calves of the Dundas County Calf Club, and intended for the Exhibition at Ottawa, was ditched a few miles east of Ottawa. The accident, according to the story told the Press by Mr. Harold Levere, was caused by a car cutting in ahead of the truck, and to avoid smashing into the car, he had to pull to the side and the truck was ditched. Fortunately, he was not driving at a high rate of speed. In the truck were also five boys, who were the exhibitors of the calves. They were Chas. Davidson, Winchester; two Shaver boys and a boy named Farrell, from Finch; and Dwight Dawley, of Winchester. Fortunately, none of the occupants were injured, and the exhibition calves came through as though nothing had happened. The truck was somewhat damaged, but not to any extent. The provincial police were soon on the scene, and the case will likely be adjusted in the Ottawa police court.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MR. IRA ANNABLE

There passed peacefully away on Tuesday, August 15th, at his late residence near Winchester, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of this district in the person of Mr. Ira Annable, in his 90th year.

The late Mr. Annable was the son of the late Joshua Annable and Margaret Brownell and was born on the the farm now owned by Mr. Thomas Ralph, which was the original homestead. He was the last of a pioneer family of eight children.

He spent his entire life in this district and from early manhood was a most successful farmer and cattle buyer. To the late Mr. Annable goes the distinction of being the first person to ship cattle over the Canadian Pacific Railway from this district.

In politics, the deceased was a staunch supporter of the Conservative party and took a keen interest in all affairs of government. In religion, he was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and attended regularly until his health failed a few years ago.

For a number of years the late Mr. Annable had not enjoyed the best of health, being patiently and kindly cared for by his wife and family, until a few days prior to his passing, when he suffered from a weak spell from which he failed to rally. His passing was learned with regret by a large circle of friends.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon last, in the United Church. Owing to the ilness of Rev. John McKay, the service was conducted by Rev. J. H. Miller, of Huntingdon, Que., a former pastor of the deceased. He was assisted by Rev. W. D. Turner, of the Presbyterian Church and Rev. Mr. Wornell, of Spencerville United.

Special hymns were sung, being those in which the late Mr. Annable had often joined following family prayers. During the service, Mr. Fred Johnston rendered very touchingly "I'm Going Home." The texts chosen by the minister were Psalms 16:15 "Precious in the sight of the Lord, is the death of His saints," and 2nd Timothy 4:7 "I have fought a good fight; finished my course; I have kept the faith."

Left to mourn are, his widow; five children, one son, Lawrence, four daughters, Mrs. John Moffat, Mrs. E. R. Steele, of Winchester, Mrs. A. McInnis and Mrs. C. G. Simon, of Spencerville; also nine grandchildren. Interment was made in the family plot at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

BAD STORM

A severe electrical storm, accompanied by violent winds, struck the Mountain district about 9 a.m. on Friday last. The lightning was very intense and caused considerable damage when a heavy bolt struck the barns of Wm. J. Worman, west of Mountain. They immediately burst into flames and before anything could be done to save them, had burned to the ground.

The same bolt struck a page wire fence and running along it, killed three cows in a neighbouring field. Only slight damage was done to crops in the district, while the heavy rains were a decided benefit.

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of three-quarter interest in an Arizona ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died while on business in Mexico. With her ailing husband and small child she goes to Arizona to take possession, thinking the climate may prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the ranch, "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, old rancher and rural mail carrier, agrees to take them to "Dead Lantern" gate.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Listen!" commanded the girl suddenly. Her face was white, tense with dread, and her lip quivered. "Oh, Kenneth!" she cried hysterically. "There's not a sound—not a sound—it's too much, I tell you! It's deathly—nothing moves, not a living thing! It's too b-big!"

Old Charley put down his sandwich and stepping on the starter, kicked open the muffler. Ancient Lena broke into an unsteady roar. To give color to his action the old man got out of the car, threw back the hood, and stood staring skeptically within.

In the back seat the husband and wife were locked in each other's arms. Little David watched them with solemn eyes, not quite sure of his proper course. "It'll be all right, dear," the man's voice came to her in a strained whisper above the grateful noise of the car. "We'll just have to stick it out—you'll get used to it—all—" Again the thing in his chest began to flutter madly.

To Old Charley's mild surprise the young woman sat beside him for the rest of the afternoon. Her manner had changed. Silently, she looked about her. There was no pleasurable interest in her face as her eye studied each detail of her surroundings—it was as though she felt it incumbent upon her to understand this strange country. After half an hour she began to ask questions:

"Will we see any cowboys to-day?"

"We passed one an hour back."

"That man on the horse? He didn't look like a cowboy. Oh. But don't they wear those—those fur rug things on their legs and high-heel boots and big hats and revolvers—forty-fives?"

"Hair chaps are all right on a fashion plate cowboy, or in a cold country. That man was wearin' the useful kind—plain cowhide. He was probably wearin' ridin' boots—high heels. But nobody packs a gun nowadays 'cepting hi-jackers and peace officers. Oh, it's kinda usual to carry a gun in your car for coyotes and such, but I ain't seen a cowpuncher with a holster on for fifteen or twenty years."

"Why, according to you, this wild country must be as safe as a town with a good police force."

"Lots safer. We got rattlesnakes and a few other things, but in town you've got high school kids scootin' around in stripped Fords."

For the first time in many hours the girl laughed. She relaxed in the seat, and pulling her tight-fitting hat from her head, let the dry wind do as it pleased with her short amber hair. "We've been awfully rude," she smiled, "we should have introduced ourselves—my husband's name is Kenneth Warren; I'm Ruth."

The old man nodded. "I figured maybe you might be. I think my son, Will, wrote you about—Mr. Grey."

"Oh!" The girl's face went sober. "I see, of course. Mr. Will Thane's letter came from Los Angeles and I didn't think of there being a connection when I learned your name this morning. Did—did you know my brother?"

"Yes, pretty well. He and Will used to ride the country together quite a bit whenever Will came out. Will was here when the news was brought about your brother Harry.

"Please tell me what you know about Harry's death," asked the girl quietly.

Old Charley shook his head. "There ain't much I can tell you. I expect Will wrote about all anybody knows. Your brother went down into Mexico last fall. After the fall cattle sellin', it was. He and his pardner, Jep Snavely, had been figurin' or lookin' over some stock down that way—so Harry went. Snavely heard from him a time or two and learned Harry was goin' further into the interior. After that Snavely didn't hear from him. For a couple of months he didn't think nothin' about it because mail's mighty uncertain in some parts of Mexico. Then he commenced gettin' worried—he even come over to my place and asked me what should be done. Well, just about then a Mexican came into Palo Verde and told about findin' Harry. Close to two hundred miles below the line, it was. The Mexican knew the body was American and he brought some letters—one of them was from you. He described the clothes and so from the story the Mexican brought back and the letters and other personal things, everybody knew it was Harry. Snavely was notified and he seen the Mexican and told all he knew about it, which is about what I told you."

"Was there anything to show what caused Harry's death?"

"Nothin' exact. The Mexican said it looked like he'd been thrown from his horse and dragged—but it's hard to tell."

"Was—Harry buried?"

"Yes, the Mexican did that and he marked the grave. He told them at the next rancho he come to about where to find the grave and all."

The girl's eyes filled. "That was kind," she murmured.

"I expect Will told you it wouldn't hardly be possible to have the body brought over the line?"

"Why in the world is the ranch called the Dead Lantern?"

"Yes. And I'd rather have things the way they are—I'm the only one who cares, anyway," she finished bitterly.

Old Charley changed the subject. "Are you folks plannin' on stayin' a spell?"

"Yes—I suppose so." She answered slowly, with a nervous glance at the gaunt range of mountains they would soon be entering. "Aren't we nearly there?"

"It's quite a piece yet—we've only come about forty-five miles. We cross this range and then we're in the San Jorge Valley. The valley's a long one—runs 'way down into Mexico. The Dead Lantern's about forty miles down the valley and up against the mountains on the west side. My place is along there too—lies between the south Dead Lantern fence and the Mexican line—kinda over an elbow in the mountain range."

"Well, you see, the brand is the outline of a lantern an' folks got to calling it the Dead Lantern—I reckon because there wasn't no light in it. A man makes a brand and puts it on his cattle, and then folks get to calling it whatever it looks like to them. By and by, some name sticks and from then on everybody calls the ranch that." The old man paused. "I expect this'll be your first trip out this way?" he asked.

"I may as well tell you," said Ruth, "my husband hasn't been doing well in business for some time—his health, you understand. Harry knew how things were and—well, he's always been my big brother. My husband and I were very young when we married and he kept his eye on us. He felt that we had no one to fall back on but him—my father and stepmother weren't—" she paused. "When Harry came West and bought his part of the cattle ranch, he willed it to me. He wasn't married, you see, and he wanted us to have something to fall back on if anything happened to him. Now that he's gone, we've come out here to the ranch. We also think the climate will benefit Mr. Warren."

Old Charley was silent for a moment. "Well, well," he said at last, "so you're part owner of the Dead Lantern." The car covered a hundred yards of road. "Don't suppose you've met Jep Snavely yet?"

"No. I hardly know anything about him. Harry used to mention him in his letters. Are you a friend of his?"

The old man pursed his lips. "I'm a neighbor. In fact, a real close neighbor to the Dead Lantern. It's only about six miles over the mountains from the Dead Lantern house to my house."

"Ah—what sort of man is Mr. Snavely?"

"He's about fifty—a good deal slimmer than me"—the old man smiled—"He's an old cattleman; but he ain't been in this country more'n twelve years or so. Originally from Texas, so Harry said. But he knows cattle and ranchin'."

"I'm glad to hear that," laughed the girl; "it will be rather necessary to have some one around who knows what to do on a ranch."

"Well, yes—I expect it will."

Nearly two hours after they had passed through the range of low mountains and had turned southward, a wire fence came down from the mountains on the western side of the valley.

"That's the Dead Lantern fence," said Old Charley noncommittally. "There's twenty thousand acres of the Dead Lantern, feed enough to run two thousand head, the land's all fenced, and there's heaps of browse up in the hills."

How big is twenty thousand acres?"

"Sizable. The skyline of those mountains is the western bound'ry; to the south where that ridge runs out into the valley is the southern line. My place is 'round on the other side of that ridge—'bout twenty miles by road. But there's a trail over the ridge from the Dead Lantern home ranch to my place, that makes it about six miles.

"And all that land from here to the mountain tops belongs to the Dead Lantern?"

"Yes. And there's a heap more of it you can't see tucked away in them cañons. If you followed the line fence on horseback it would take you about four days to ride 'round the ranch."

"No wonder it can hold two thousand cows! What do cattle sell for apiece—I mean how much a head?"

"Forty to fifty dollars lately."

She made a quick calculation. "My heavens! Could we get a hundred thousand dollars for the cattle?"

Old Charley smiled. "It's not quite as simple as all that," Old Charley remarked gravely as he turned from the road and stopped by the Dead Lantern mail box. Just beyond the mail box was the gate; a newish sign, crudely lettered in black paint, was nailed on the middle bar. ANYBODY COMING ON THIS RANCH IS LIABLE TO GET SHOT.

When the old man heard the girl gasp he knew that she had seen the sign, and with averted eyes he began to rummage in the government mail sack.

The girl watched her husband's face as he read; their eyes met blankly, then turned to the old man.

"What in the world does that mean?" asked Warren.

"Nobody thinks it means anything," answered Old Charley reassuringly. "Just Jep Snavely's way—he's a little ac-centric." He pointed to a faint cloud of dust far up the two wheel paths which led from beyond the gate toward the distant mountains. "I'll be going along now—I reckon it would be best for you folks to meet your new pardner alone, anyways." He looked into Warren's eyes. "And if something should come up sudden-like that you'd want to get to town in a hurry just ride over the mountain to my place. This old car ain't much, but she still rolls."

While they were piling the baggage by the mail box, both the girl and her husband glanced frequently at the sign.

They watched Old Charley until the car disappeared over a hill a few

When the wagon stopped at the gate, an Indian boy of ten slid cautiously to the ground and, with his wide eyes fixed on the three by the mail box, sidled to the gate and opened it. This done, he speedily rejoined the family in the wagon. Kenneth Warren went forward. "Can you tell me," he addressed the two-hundred-pound Indian on the wagon seat, "where Mr. Snavely is? Are you his man?"

The Indian looked at his two-hundred-and-fifty-pound squaw, glanced back among his numerous progeny, and then turned his black eyes on Warren. "No sabe." The horses started forward.

"Mama, letter for the man!" David, the letter from the box outstretched, started toward the retreating wagon.

"No, David, not to that man. Mama will tell you when the man comes to whom you are to give the letter." An instant later she whirled about to her husband, the letter in her hand. "Kenneth! This letter—it's the one I wrote over two weeks ago to Snavely—he doesn't know we're coming!"

LENNOX-MURDOCH

The Pleasant Valley United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, August 12th, at three o'clock, when Lilah Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lennox, became the bride of Harry Ray Murdoch, of South Mountain, son of Mrs. Valeria and the late Mr. Robert Murdoch. Rev. H. G. Tuttle, of Heckston, performed the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with gladioli, phlox, bridal roses and ferns.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, rendered very fittingly by Mrs. D. C. Gilmer.

The bride wore a pale blue crepe georgette gown with shoes, hat and gloves to match. The maid of honour, Miss Dorothy Colbourne, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., cousin of the bride, wore a pale pink gown of Chiffon. Each carried a bouquet of pale pink sweet peas. Mr. Roy Lennox acted as groomsman. Two little flower girls, Lorna and Glenna Murdoch, nieces of the groom, were dressed in blue and white organdy, and carried bouquets pink and white phlox. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Richard Thompson, of Iroquois, sang very sweetly, "Sing me to Sleep." The guests numbering about seventy-five, were capably seated by two young ushers—Master David Corker and Master Donald Brown.

After the reception, the happy young couple, amid showers of rice and good wishes, left on a motor trip travelling through Oswego, Rochester and Niagara, and returning by way of Hamilton and Toronto. The bride's going away dress was of blue crepe, with white swagger coat and accessories to match. On their return they will reside at South Mountain.

Electricity!

No tale of wonders and enchantments has ever been written that excelled the actual reality which is today at mankind's fingertips in the wonders and magic of electricity. Step by step the intelligence of man leads him on through the ages of civilization until to-day our most common utility is in fact far beyond the mere comprehension of even the dreams of our forefathers. The Hydro System brings all of this to the citizens of Winchester. There is no new development or equipment in the fields that is not available to the life and business of local citizens. The drudgery can be taken out of housework if you let electric energy be the slave.

Possibly your home needs re-wiring or the present wiring a little overhauling. If so let us know about it. We are here to see that you get the best possible results from Hydro Light and Power.

The August meeting of the Women's Institute was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Gray. The Institute was entertaining the Grandmothers of the community. The president, Mrs. Chas. Ferguson, opened the meeting with the Institute Ode, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was answered by "Things our Grandmothers missed." The secretary, Miss Grace Burnie, then read the minutes of the last meeting. Several items of correspondence were read, one being an acknowledgment of a wedding gift the Institute had given one of its members, Mrs. Clifford Holmes. Mrs. Alice Grue, the oldest grandmother, who celebrates her 81st birthday on Aug. 21st, was presented with a year's subscription to a monthly magazine as a gift from the Institute. She replied in a few well chosen words. Mrs. John Dinwoodie another grandmother, gave a splendid paper on "Patriotism," which was followed by an interesting paper on "Methods of Living of the Early Settlers," by Mrs. Thos. Irving, also a grandmother. Special music was furnished by grandmothers, with Mrs. T. Irving at the piano. Current events were given by Miss Stella Sloan. A short talk on Nursing was given by Mrs. R. Cumming. A dainty handkerchief was then pinned on each grandmother as a souvenir from the Institute, and a special gift of a box of face powder to Mrs. Alice Grue, the oldest grandmother, and a bottle of perfume to Mrs. Andrew Gray the youngest grandmother. On behalf of the grandmothers, Mrs. John Dinwoodie thanked the Institute for their kindness in entertaining them which was seconded by Mrs. Thos. Irving. Lunch was served by the Institute members, followed by the singing of the National Anthem,

KEMPTVILLE MAN HURT

Clarence McGovern, of Kemptville, had both hands badly cut when the automobile he was driving sideswiped a telephone pole in front of the home of D. M. Bayne, Asa Street, Saturday, and then swerved against a stone fence and plowed across a lawn before it could be stopped. The careening car dug up the lawn at the home of J. A. Dobson, and narrowly missed doing further property damage. Mr. McGovern was treated for cut hands at the office of Dr. G. D. Gordon. The machine was badly damaged.

WILLIAM H. McMILLAN

The funeral of the late William H. McMillan, one of the most widely known residents of Finch district, was held on Saturday afternoon last, from the residence of his son, Smith McMillan, to the Chalmers United church in Finch. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. N. Maxwell.

The late Mr. McMillan was born in Dunbar, 76 years ago, and passed away on Thursday last at the home of his son, after a lingering illness.

He leaves to mourn, his wife, formerly Margaret Beckstead; one daughter, Mrs. Daniel Pollock, of Berwick; and five sons, Orlin of Lloydminister, Sask.; Ross of Avonmore, Hugh, Ford and Smith of Finch; also two brothers, Howard of Chesterville, and Hose of California; and three sisters, Mrs. John Johnston, Mrs. M. Barclay, both of Dunbar, and Mrs. George Corhlorn, of Iroquois.

DECORATION DAY SERVICE AT DUNDELA

Many from the surrounding community attended the Decoration Service held at the Dundela Cemetery on Sunday. The programme, which was held out-of-doors, proved to be very interesting. It was opened by the use of Hymn 47, "O God Our Help In Ages Past," followed by Psalm 145, read by Rev. Mr. Burman. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Eastcott, a former pastor of Dundela, followed. The Winchester Orchestra then played "Nearer My God To Thee." The chairman's remarks were then given by Rev. Mr. Burman.

The Shanley Quartette rendered an anthem, which was followed by the Quartette of Dundela and Rowena singing "No Disappointment in Heaven." Mr. Thos. Johnston, reeve of the township, gave a few interesting remarks, followed by Mr. John Marcellus of Iroquis, whose remarks were of much interest to the older members present. The Shanly Choir then rendered another anthem, which was followed by a short speech from Mr. Herman Hamilton, of Iroquois. The guest speaker, Mr. George Challies, Provincial Secretary, was then introduced, and addressed the people. This was followed by a solo by Mrs. Levey, U. S. A., "Come Unto Him, All Ye That Labour." Mr. I. Hilliard, of Toronto, gave a short address next, which was much enjoyed. A quartette from Shanly sang "Hide Me, O My Saviour," after which Mr. Eastcott was called upon to speak. Contributions were then offered. The service was closed by the singing of Hymn 372, "Faith Of Our Fathers." Many of the graves were beautifully decorated in loving memory of those who had gone on before.

THE NEIGHBOUR

Time was when I was very small,
And ill in bed I lay,
A kindly neighbour used to call
Who lived across the way.
Into my room, it seemed to me,
She tripped on fairy feet
And whispered, so so cheerily:
"Here's something good to eat."

So strangely is the mind impressed,
That neighbour seemed to me,
Of all good folks the very best
That I should ever see.
For cookies from her pantry shelf,
A dish of raspberry jam,
Or broth which she had made herself
All grateful still I am.

Why should I think of her to-day?
Well, that I scarcely know,
But one like her went 'cross the way
With tray in hand, and so
I watched her hasten to a door
And guessed perhaps that she
Was taking jam and cookies for
Some child resembling me.

Beneath the linen, spotless white,
I knew was something sweet
To tempt a sick child's appetite.
And driving down the street
Thought I in life there's much that's good,
Despite the wrong man tells;
In every little neighbourhood
Some kindly woman dwells.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

Schools open next Friday.

The dryest summer in years is the general verdict in this section, and as the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson would say, Dundas was always a dry county.

Morrisburg lost an aged resident in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong Breckenridge, who died Sunday at the age of 89, and was buried Tuesday at Ogdensburg, N.Y., her birthplace, the funeral service being held in St. James Church, Morrisburg, and conducted by Rev. Sydney B. Holmes.

On his return from a month's vacation, Rev. W. D. Turner was greeted last Sunday with a large and attentive congregation in St. Paul's Church. His morning text was: "Where there is vision the people perish," and that of the evening was: "Have Faith in God." Next Sunday he will preach in the United Church.

PRIZES FOR HONEY

There was a large entry list in the honey competition at the Central Canada Exhibition. The contest was keen and the judges had considerable difficulty in awarding the prizes. G. D. Crerar, of Vernon, was the chief winner and carried off first prizes for extacted honey in glass, 10 pounds, and 100 pounds; first prize in comb honey in sections, 12 pounds, and 2nd prize in comb honey in sections, 48 pounds; first prize in buckwheat honey in glass, 10 pounds, and granulated honey in glass, 10 pounds.

Rev. G. Gauvreau, of Aylmer East, was awarded first prize for comb honey in sections, 48 pounds; 1st in granulated honey in glass, 10 pounds; and first in beeswax, 10 pounds. N. Summers, of Winchester, secured a first prize for his buckwheat honey in glass, 10 lbs.

THE LATE WM. THOMPSON

There passed away on Wednesday, August 23rd, after but a few days' illness, one of the oldest leading citizens of Winchester Springs in the person of Mr. William Thompson.

The late Mr. Thompson was born near Toronto, 80 years ago but as a young man, came and settled at the Springs, where he has lived for the past fifty-five years.

He was a prosperous farmer, and in his day, had taken a keen interest in all things that were for the benefit of those among whom he lived. He had enjoyed exceptionally good health until a few days ago, when advancing age caused his passing.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Saturday, to the United Church, Winchester Springs, of which the deceased was a member. The service will be conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Cockram, with interment taking place at Maple Ridge Ridge cemetery.

The chief mourners are, his widow; one son, Clarence, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Reynolds, of Massena, N.Y., and Mrs. Arthur Harper, of Cardinal, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Bass and Mrs. Warren, also of Cardinal.

MRS. MARY ANN McCONNELL

A telegram was received from Vancouver on Wednesday morning by Mrs. Geo. Earle, advising her of the death on Tuesday at 10 p.m. in that city of her aunt, Mrs. McConnell, who had been in failing health for some time.

Born March 1st, 1846, near Lakefield, Que., she moved with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Beattie, to the Beattie homestead near Chesterville, in 1858. She was married in 1867 to Mr. Alexander McConnell, of Morewood, who predeceased her about forty-four years ago. After their marriage they resided on a farm at Morewood. Some time after her husband's death, Mrs. McConnell moved to Chesterville, and 25 years ago she went west to reside with her son and daughter there.

Loving and kind in all her ways, the memory of her life will be a benediction to all her friends. She was a devoted wife and mother and bore her sufferings with great patience, looking forward to a glad re-union with her loved ones gone before.

Surviving are three sons and a daughter, Rev. R. C. McConnell, of Elgin, Ont.; Howard of Toronto; and Lorne and Mrs. Wm. Dixon, of Vancouver. Two brothers are also left, Mr. Dawson Beattie, of Winchester, and Mr. Robt. Beattie, of Iroquois.

Messrs. A. B. and W. J. McConnell, also Mrs. Wesley Smith, of Morewood, are nephews and a niece.

The funeral and interment will take place in Vancouver.

ACCIDENT AT IROQUOIS

A car driven by the Cooke brothers of Dundela featured in a smash-up with a Smith transport on Highway No. 2, east of Iroquois, on Friday night last. In order to avoid a collision, both vehicles took to the ditch. The transport crashed through a fence, and bowled over a large tombstone in the graveyard adjoining the highway. No one was injured.

VERNON W. I.

The Women's Institute of Vernon, enjoyed an interesting illustrated talk at their monthly meeting on "Food Values and their relation to Health," by Mr. Welsford, of Ottawa, representing the Wear-Ever Aluminum Company. Following the address, Mr. Welsford prepared a meal cooked in waterless aluminum utensils, which was later served to the members of the Institute present.

The roll call was replied to by "A Good Book to Read." Plans were then discussed concerning the meetings for the coming year, and many instructive and entertaining programs are promised the members of the organization as the committee in charge has gone to a good deal of trouble in preparing them.
