Amalgamation not in the books

CORNWALL - Further amalgamation between the City of Cornwall and the six county municipalities is clearly not an avenue anyone wants to drive down at this time.

At a meeting in Cornwall last Wednesday, attended by the six municipalities and Cornwall representatives, it was clear there was not much support for further amalgamation.

"From the way people were talking, I'd say about 95 per cent were not in favor of amalgamation," says South Dundas Reeve, Johnny Whitteker. "They did seem to think though that more communication is needed between the county and township levels of government."

"I think the lower level has to be more active at the county level," he added, suggesting, "Meeting agendas could be sent to local council for their perusal. They could also send minutes of the meetings back to the councils."

To improve the communication throughout SD&G a joint liaison committee, which has been the one body transmitting information between councils, will now be expanded to include a member from each municipality.

Information can then be relayed back to the respective council. South Dundas is already represented on this committee by councillor Cam Martell.

Whitteker clearly maintains that further amalgamation won't save money, and he points to fire protection costs as one example.

"On the average a Cornwall firefighter would make about $50,000," he says. "Ours get paid $12 an hour, while they are on a fire."

Whitteker says there are about 60 firefighters in South Dundas, and if you multiply that by the six municipalities you have close to 400. "Multiply that by $50,000 a year," he says.

Not much savings would be realized in administration, because, "they said they would have satellite offices," he added.

The liaison committee is a good step towards better communications between all the players.

The meeting, dubbed a Visions Meeting, was the first time all of the councils had come together around one table.

Summer Went to Fast

Katie Casselman, front, and Sheena Elliott don't appear to be ready to head back to school, a fact they both confirmed at the arena Friday. Both girls are 10 years old and students at Morrisburg Public School. "The summer went too fast," says Katie who did find time to attend Rideau Hill Camp. The girls confirmed that Jack Barkley is the new principal at Morrisburg. "He's very nice," said Sheena. Plans for the winter include public skating and going to the Junior B Lions hockey games. # Catholic teachers vote strike

KEMPTVILLE—Although member of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association (OECTA), within the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario, have voted in favor of strike action, teachers were in their classrooms and school opened as scheduled Tuesday, September 5.

According to a press release from the Board, the local OECTA informed the Board it would be imposing the following sanctions as of September 1.

- the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario will be "pink listed" by OECTA (this impacts on the hiring of new teachers).
- teachers will withdraw their participation in all extra-curricular activities, staff meetings outside of school hours, Board committees outside of and during the school day, and in-service sessions outside of school days.

The Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario anticipated the school year would open with minimum disruption, and remains optimistic that a settlement will be reached soon.

OECTA assured the Board that teachers are committed to delivering the curriculum to students as mandated by the Ministry of Education, and also continue to be committed to the negotiation of a new collective agreement as soon as possible.

Teachers remain committed

"We would like to have settled the agreement prior to the start of the school year," said Board Chair Nancy Kirby, "But some of the issues are based on provincial funding directives over which we have no control. I do remain confident we will come to an agreement in the near future."

According to an OECTA news release, the teachers voted Wednesday August 30, to support their negotiations committee, by a resounding 84 per cent strike vote.

"The Board will unilaterally increase teacher workload on the first day of school for elementary and secondary schools," said OECTA President, Peter Peckham. "We are prepared to teach every single minute demanded by the Ministry of Education. The school board wants even more from us to help finance a deficit of its own making. The Board has forced this vote on us and is responsible for deteriorating learning conditions."

Peckham also emphasized the teachers will teach every student, every required minute, as long as the Board keeps the schools open.

Negotiations are continuing between the Board and OECTA, in an attempt to resolve the situation.

M.F.D. wins fire prevention award

MORRISBURG - A all-out fire prevention initiative run by the Morrisburg Fire Department in 1999, benefitted not just the local community in fire prevention education, but also the local volunteer department.

For the first time since its inception in 1969, the Morrisburg Department won the S.D&G. fire prevention program which is run on a point system.

"All fire departments who are part of it, put together a portfolio on the things they have done for fire prevention," explains John Lortie who is a member of the local department's prevention committee. "It includes everything we did for public education, the booths we manned, poster contests, and visiting schools."

The members of the Morrisburg Department decided to tackle fire prevention in January of 1999, and got it rolling with an in-house committee chaired by Marc St. Pierre. The committee also included one officer, Lortie, 10-year firefighter Dale Kelly and rookie Scott Robinson.

"Needless to say, we were all rookies when it came to fire prevention," wrote St. Pierre in the report. "Along with the new committee, new enthusiasm came with it, and we were determined on getting the fire prevention message out to the public any way possible."

The Morrisburg department is made up 16 fire fighters, all of whom were involved in the various projects.

"We do different things throughout the year," explains Scott Robinson. "The big thing is Fire Prevention Week in October, when we visit all the schools."

"It's been a lot of years since we have had this much commitment to fire prevention," adds Lortie. "We have come a long way."

"One very successful item was the placemat program provided to local restaurants," says Lortie. "They included a word find puzzle and the names of our firefighters. The feedback we got from that was very good."

Other successful projects were the Battery Campaign (batteries and smoke alarm information provided to 1,800 households), information booths at the Open House and the South Dundas Home and Trade Show, attendance at local schools during Fire Prevention Week, a Fire Prevention poster contest, arrangement for the presentation of the "Older and Wiser" program for the elderly, a child car seat clinic, participation in five area parades, and safety inspections at various locations in Morrisburg.

"As you can see, we were very busy," says Lortie.

According to Lortie, the Morrisburg Fire Department had 13 calls in the month of August, which he indicates is a high number.

Along with their regular duties, and the ongoing fire prevention programs, members of the department are anxious to return to the fire hall which is undergoing extensive renovations, to provide housing for the local OPP detachment.

"It's going to be great," says Dale Kelly of the building. "We won't have to have four trucks in two bays anymore."

As well, once they settle back into the building, the fire department has a new computer system that will be put in place.

"It's our own system" says Lortie. "We've put in the civic numbers, and added the owners' names and addresses."

Lortie explains that when the fire department gets a call, they are given the civic number and the name of the road. "Sometimes we get a call, and we don't have a clue where it is until we get there," he says.

As an example, he cites a recent call to Caravan Camp. "We were given the civic number on County Road 2. We didn't know where it was, and actually drove by the entry, because we didn't see the number."

"Once our system goes in, the location will also include the name," he says. "It's just additional information for us."

An Ounce of Prevention

Computer Store to open this Saturday

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - Come this Saturday when Micro-Pro II opens its door, residents of South Dundas will no longer have to travel outside the area for their computer needs.

The new store located in the Pinkus east-end plaza is owned and will be operated by Randy Thompson of Cornwall who is affiliated with Micro-Pro in Cornwall; hence, the name Micro-Pro II.

"This is a first for me," says Thompson. "I've always wanted to work for myself."

"This is the second Micro-Pro stores in hopefully, what will be many more to come."

Micro-Pro II will be a retail outlet, and will offer computer service and networking support.

"Eventually, I plan to offer private tutoring and services like that," he adds. "It'll be one-on-one tutoring, because sometimes people run into trouble when they attend a class and there is only one teacher for 15 students."

As far as the retail end of it, Thompson will be selling computers and anything that has to do with them. "From small cards, right up to the big systems," he says. "Basically, I'll be selling IBM clones. They won't be brand names. They are just too expensive. The object of the store is to sell at reasonable prices."

As well, Thompson will carry programs, some games, software, hardware, accessories, printers, scanners, digital cameras and networking supplies.

As for locating in town, Thompson says he took a look and, "saw a need. My closest competition is Cornwall, Brockville and Winchester."

"We actually have a lot of clients from this area at the main store in Cornwall."

He also says that the fiber optics being hung in Morrisburg, certainly didn't hurt when he made his decision.

"We will service all of our own systems, and can pretty well service somebody elses, as well," he adds.

Randy has completed a three and one half year micro computer technologist program at St. Lawrence College. He has an additional 15 years experience in computer maintenance, upgrading and sales, and has been helping out at Micro-Pro for the last four years.

Plans are to have the store open six days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday to Friday, and until noon on Saturdays.

Randy has used local contractors for the redecorating inside the new store, and has created a homey country look. He has been busy this week bringing in the stock to be ready for Saturday's opening.

At this time he has no plans for additional staff, but points out he has help and support from Micro-Pro in Cornwall.

He has two teenagers, and says his 15-year-old is his game expert. "Any new game, he tries out and lets me know."

"I will, however, be looking at the high school for co-op students," he says. "I firmly believe in this."

Randy also believes in becoming part of the community, and he looks forward to "booting up", this Saturday morning. He invites everyone to stop in, and look around.

"I turned my hobby into my trade, and my trade is now my hobby," he says.

Ready for New Venture

Randy Thompson may look very relaxed, but he is in fact very busy getting ready for the opening of his new store, Micro-Pro II, in the Pinkus Plaza this Saturday. McNairn Photo

Save the Train Committee running on the right track

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - Thanks to Cornwall artist, Ron Fortier the Save the Train Committee is looking down the track at a much better financial picture.

Fortier recently donated a print entitled 'Locomotive 1008 at Aultsville Station' which was raffled, and won by South Dundas Councillor Rowdy Gillard.

But it doesn't stop there. In conjunction with Mike Logan, owner of Logan's Gallery in Cornwall, the original oil has gone to print, and for every print sold $100 will go to the Save the Train Committee.

"I want to see the train saved too," says Fortier. "We would like to think the committee will make money, and they'll have a cash flow to pay for the material."

"To best serve the group we though we needed something more than just the print," explained Logan. "As a result we decided a medallion that will say 'Save the Train' would be a special promotion for the train itself."

The medallion is currently being made, and will be mounted on the print. The special piece should be ready for sale in about a month. It will be available at the Logan Gallery in Cornwall, as well as in at least one location in South Dundas.

Logan explained it will also be sold across the country to train buffs. "We'll literally send them across the country, to train buffs and train organizations," he says.

"If we could sell 100 in the first month that would give them a big boost," he adds. "Our immediate goal is $10,000. That would help them out."

There will be a major launching when the print and accompanying medallion are ready.

In the meantime, the Save the Train committee will be selling tickets on a second print generously donated by Fortier. This one is of the SS Rapids Prince.

"I really enjoy historical things," says Fortier who starting seriously painting in 1986. "I fished here, by the train when I was a little kid. I like mechanical things and I like painting them."

Work on the train is progressing.

"The passenger car has been stripped, sanded and a coat of primer has been put on," says Kirsten Gardner, who has been working with the committee. "Work is now ongoing on the baggage car, which involves the removal of the siding."

Gardner says the original B.C. fir siding on the baggage car, is being replaced by B.C. fir, which has been donated and is currently at the sawmill.

Also the previous platform around the station, and along the train was rotted and has been removed.

Work has also started on the engine. The red paint that can now be seen is actually a rust coat.

Committee coordinator, Glen Cunningham says the engine will be patched with fibre glass. "It'll then be sandblasted and repainted," he says.

"We've moved along quite quickly," says Garner, who says there has been great response from tourists who stop by while the work is in progress. "They are very curious and very interested."

Cunningham adds, that while the work is moving right along, he had hoped for a few more volunteers. Anyone interested in helping out, can give him a call.

Big harvest for Barkley's Apple Orchard

MORRISBURG - Winning a $1,000 cash prize, has made the start to the apple season, just a bit juicier for local grower Bill Barkley, of Barkley's Apple Orchard north of Morrisburg.

Barkley won the award through the Environmental Farm Plan Award Contest for a fruit drying unit, he and friend Ross Wilson built for less than $200 in materials.

"I didn't build it for a prize," says Barkley. "I knew there would be a market because I needed it. If I need something, then there are other people who need it."

Barkley came up with the design and went to Wilson in Winchester Springs, who is a cabinetmaker.

"The whole idea was to make it simple," he says.

The energy efficient dryer unit has a three-bushel capacity, that utilizes waste heat from the cold room compressor to produce dried fruit. It allows Bill to participate in the lucrative dried fruit market without additional input cost for energy.

It produces a good value added product for Barkley's Orchard.

The Award Contest is a component of the EFP initiative of the Ontario Farm Environmental Coalition (Ontario Federation of AGriculture, Christian Farmer Federation of Ontario, AGCare and the Ontario Farm Animal Council).

The program is federally funded by Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada's CanAdapt program, delivered in Ontario by the Agricultural Adaptation Council. The program is delivered by the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association, with technical assistance contributed by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs.

Bill's 'Three Bushel Fruit Dryer' is the twenty-third project to receive the $1,000 prize in recent years.

In addition to apples, the Barkley Orchard offers strawberries in the early summer, and sells homemade strawberry jam, honey resulting from the bees kept to benefit both the apple and strawberry crops, maple syrup imported from Quebec, and cider vinegar.

Barkley's Apple Orchard produces about 1,000 bushels of apples annually.

Bill has been pleasantly surprised by the reception his dried fruit has received.

"People who know about the product are glad to get it," he says. The cost of $4 for a 200 gram sealed bag of dried fruit is about double the price Bill charges for the same amount of apples.

The dryer can also be used for other fruit, herbs and vegetables.

Bill and Ross fabricated the dryer from half-inch plywood. A portion of the heat from the cold room compressor is channeled through a chamber to evenly flow the 70 degree Fahrenheit air over a series of shelves supporting the peeled and sliced apples.

"The egg-crate design of the shelves allows the warm air to easily flow around the fruit for an even dry-down, and they are easy to clean," says Ross.

The unit took about two days to build, and operator safety is reflected in the design. Caution was taken not to restrict the flow of warm air generated by the compressor.

"We aim to remove about 80 per cent of the moisture in the fruit to give the desired textures," explains Bill. "Low heat and air flow are critical for success."

Bill estimates three bushels of fruit will require about 12-15 hours of drying time, and it takes one and one half to two hours to peel, slice and wash the apples.

The cold room compressor typically starts up in August, and operates as long as there are apples in storage. Bill plans to prepare about 20 bushels of dried fruit this year.

Bill Barkley

"We'll start with some of the early apples, so we can get on the market quickly," he says. "We're confident we'll sell everything we produce. We have found this to be a profitable way of utilizing everything we grow."

Bill expects to begin picking this Friday, starting with the Lobo variety. He then moves to the Cortland, McIntosh and Spartan.

He says the rainy summer didn't affect the apples, which like a lot of moisture. "It was wet for the strawberries at the end of the season," he says, adding "The apples are good, nice and big."

The apple season begins this Friday with the picking of the Lobo variety. The Cortland, McIntosh and Spartan follow.

Bill has been producing apples for 20 years on the 200 year old Barkley farm, which is an organic operation. He says farm markets are getting bigger, and organic operations are becoming popular.

"People want to buy on the farm because they know where the products are coming from," he says. As for organic operations, he says there are more every year. "They grew by 400 per cent last year."

In organic operations, there are some chemicals that can be used, but they lean towards proper crop rotation, and require a knowledge of plants, including weeds, and what nutrients they provide to the soil.

"You have to know your bugs and weeds," says Bill "You have to hit the problem with something natural at the right time."

"When you look at an organic farm you see more weeds," he says, explaining, "If you left a field empty, the weeds that come up are the weeds the soil needs."

Bill counts on purple vetch, which is a weed that grows naturally, to fertilize his trees.

"It works, because the trees are putting on about three feet of growth each year," he says. The only drawback, is in a dry season when the weeds compete with the trees for moisture.

And what of his $1,000 windfall? After giving Wilson his $500 share, Bill put the remainder in seed purchase.

Energy in short supply

MORRISBURG -Energy was in short supply, when the Union Gas Relay Team made a brief stop in Morrisburg last Thursday. And it wasn't because of a problem at Union Gas.

The extremely high temperature last week really showed its affects on the team that left Cornwall and arrived in Morrisburg close to an hour later than expected.

"The heat is knocking the pants off them," said one spokesman who indicated the team was about 25 strong, and included a couple of motorcycles, and five bikes. The youngest participant was six years old.

Randy Helmer, Utility Service Manager for Union Gas said, "this is nothing, we do this for a living."

The fifth annual relay began in Cobourg last Monday. It has raised $57,000 for the United Way since its debut in 1996, and organizers were hoping to bring that total to $70,000 this year.

The final leg of the run started out at Cornwall Thursday, and included a people's parade and breakfast. A number of United Way officials, and representatives of some of the 19 member agencies were on hand to give the team a good send off.

While in Morrisburg, relay team members canvassed the shopping plaza. Their next stop was Iroquois for lunch, and they were to reach Prescott, their final destination, by about 4:30.

Money collected in each community along the route from Cobourg to Cornwall goes to that community's United Way agency.

Untrained Baby sitters put thousands of children at risk

Recent findings from the DirectProtect Personal Safety Index reveal that 65 per cent of Canadians say they are very concerned about child safety. In spite of this concern, 59 per cent of parents with children under five and 60 per cent of those with children aged six to 11 say not all of the baby sitters they use have taken a babysitting course.

"These findings are a serious concern because they indicate children could be put at risk," says Paul Moran, DirectProtect safety spokesperson. "Adolescents often earn extra money by babysitting; yet without the proper training to deal with problems that may arise, injury and even death may occur since emergencies can happen at any time."

Parents can limit the risk of unsafe care by insisting all baby sitters they hire complete a babysitting course that teaches proper childcare and basic first aid. Courses are offered by a variety of credible sources, including Canadian Red Cross, Canadian Safety Council, St. John Ambulance Canada, School Boards, Childcare centre, city recreation departments, community safety councils, student employment centres and community lighthouse programs.

"Excellent babysitting courses are available", says Moran. "As part of DirectProtect's commitment to generating safety awareness among Canadians, we urge parents to hire only those baby sitters with the appropriate training."

The DirectProtect continuing safety education campaign is based on 2,110 telephone interviews conducted among a random sample of adult Canadians during 2000. A sample of this size produces national results that can be considered accurate to within +/- 2.2 percentage points or better, 95% of the time. COMPAS inc., an independent, Canadian public opinion/market survey research firm, conducted the research.

DirectProtect is a direct insurance service offered by HB Group Insurance Management Ltd. HB Group Insurance is part of the Co-operators Group, a group of Canadian companies focusing on insurance and financial security products and services.

Babysitting Tips for Parents

Show the babysitter where the first aid kit and fire extinguisher are located. Make sure the babysitter knows how to use the fire extinguisher. Explain your families fire escape procedure. Give numbers including emergency numbers, and numbers to reach you. Explain important medical information to the babysitter, such as allergies to medications. Explain bedtime procedures, and tell the babysitter what time you can be expected home, and that you will call if that time changes.

The Leader's Blast from the Past

Compiled from The Leader's files by Bonnie McNairn

1990

The September 5 issue reported Nobel Villeneuve, S.D.G. and East Grenville MPP Tory incumbent appeared confident of returning to Queen's Park for a third term. He claimed his campaign had gone well in spite of the ill timing of the September 6, election. The candidates were Villeneuve, Liberal candidate Denis Sabourin, Confederation of Regions party candidate Bernie Lauzon, and New Democratic Party hopeful Helena McCuaig.

A group representing Ottawa entrepreneur Maurice Bourbonnais, obtained approval in principle for a project to revive the ferry boat service between Morrisburg and Waddington. A proposal was made to Morrisburg and Williamsburg reeves, the Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce and the South Dundas Economic Commission. Bourbonnais had been successfully operating a ferry between Cumberland, Ontario and Masson, Quebec for over 20 years.

Morrisburg Public School was to see a number of changes, one of the greatest being the absence of the Grade 7 and 8's. Morrisburg was now a school with classes from Junior Kindergarten to Grade 6. As a result, the total enrollment decreased from last year's 321 to 315 in 1990. There were five portable classrooms in use.

Marty Little of Winchester won a 1990 Sunbird at the Cedar Glen Men's Open in Williamsburg. Little aced the 14th hole.

The year 1990, marked the 25th anniversary of the opening of the Upper Canada Golf Course, and to celebrate, the Upper Canada Open Golf Tournament was returning. A field of 144 golfers were competing.

John and Barb Bern were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

The Morrisburg Clearout Centre, located in the former Stedman's Store, was having a grand opening sale.

It appeared that most systems were a go for the first phase of developing 20 of the 78 proposed lots in the Ault Island Plan.

1980

Pictured on the front page of the September 3, issue was Jacques Cousteau's famed ship, the Calypso, as it prepared to enter the Seaway Locks at Iroquois. Cousteau's team was in the St. Lawrence River capturing land, sea and air segments of film for a documentary to be aired in Europe. A spokesman for the team, said they had found herds of white whales, several 100-foot whales and several ancient sunken ships in the mouth of the St. Lawrence.

Iroquois insurance agent, Roger Coulter was surprised by a $10,000 cheque presented to him by the Prudential Insurance Company. Coulter's windfall was the result of a suggestion he made to improve one of the company's systems in 1978. A management study revealed the idea would save the Canadian and American divisions roughly $1 million annually, and as a result rewarded the man who came up with the idea.

Morrisburg Public School Principal, Alan Bain reported enrollment was up from 268 students in 1979 to 270 this year. A St. Mary's, Sister Leonard reported an increase from 123 to 127 students. At the secondary level, Seaway High Principal C.C. Hart reported 708 students compared to 734 a year earlier.

Seen 'n heard Around The Town

This week we travel to the west end of town where we hear a local lady let her curiosity get the better of her. Seems Wendy Hodgson was working in her garden recently when a youngster playing around on his four wheeler caught her attention. Deciding she would like to try driving the popular vehicle, she asked and received permission. Everything was going well, when somehow she hit the gas instead of the breaks, while approaching a flower bed. According to husband Hartley, she flew over the handlebars and landed on top of a beautiful sedum. "Luckily she wasn't hurt, but you should see the sedum," says Hartley.

•••

While on the subject of flying objects, we have to report on a UFO sighting in the Johnstown area. Seems Joe Doyle, the former head pro at Upper Canada Golf Course who is now at the Brockville Country Club, spent an evening recently chasing down a UFO. And he even had his camera with him to record it. Unfortunately the drive from Prescott, ended up at Angelo's restaurant on the 401. It was from the restaurant roof that a flashing light was catching the clouds in just such a way, that Joe was sure it was a UFO. Whoops!

On Friday night at the Morrisburg Golf course, golfers got in a little night light golf. The weather cooperated, and while the scores might not have been as good as those produced without the aid of a flashlight, a good time was had by all.

A reminder that September 10, is the deadline for entries to the Create a Birdhouse competition put on by the Friends of the Sanctuary. Entries may be dropped off on the 10th at the Interpretive Center at the Sanctuary or Home Hardware stores in Ingleside, Cornwall, Winchester or Morrisburg. Winners will be announced and ribbons presented at Waterfowl Day, planned for the sanctuary on Sunday, September 24.

•••

The men's open scheduled for the Upper Canada Golf course this Saturday, has gone the way of the mixed two-ball and has been cancelled due to lack of entries. It is the second consecutive year, the men's event has been cancelled.

1970

The September 4, issue reported a 22-year-old former member of the Canadian Forces, and a former resident of Iroquois had been charged with non capital murder in connection with the death on May 31st, of Mrs. Ruby Cora Hamilton, 85-year-old Iroquois woman, whose body was discovered in her home by a neighbor. Investigation revealed the elderly lady had been savagely beaten and raped. The arrest climaxed a long arduous investigation. The murder of the well known and loved Iroquois lady had touched off a wave of fear in the community, with few residents venturing out after dark, and secure locks being placed on doors and windows.

Baskets of white snapdragons decorated the Lakeshore Drive United Church, for the marriage of Katherine Rose Rice to Robert Wayne Gurnhill. Rev. T.H. Boyd officiated.

Jack McCracken of Morrisburg was the winner of the Parker Trophy at the annual Valley League Golf tournament. The hosting Summer Heights Club won the tournament.

Some elementary students in Stampville, Iroquois, Morrisburg and Riverside Heights school were to travel to Seaway District High School once each week for special classes including shop work, Home Economics and Art.

Construction of Nationview Public School was well underway, and the temporary housing of students was being provided at Hallville Public School, and in the old Mountain District High School building.

1960

It was reported in the September 8, issue that at a special meeting of the Board of Education a resolution was passed instructing the architect, H.W. Roberts, of Westport, to prepare working plans for a new public school In Morrisburg.

The Church Road correspondent reported school reopened with Miss Marian McMartin of West Williamsburg in charge. Threshing was progressing rapidly as the weather had been very favorable for it. It had been a wonderful year for growth and James O'Shaughnessy had pop corn that had grown to a height of 13 feet, and was well loaded with ears.

"Try Jesus, He Never Fails"

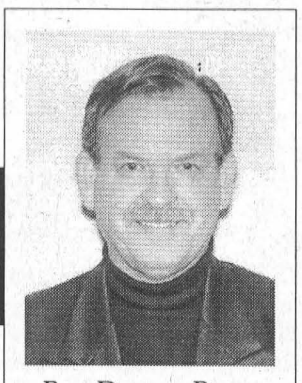
From A Biblical Perspective



Rev. Duncan Perry

I expect that you have all seen the commercial that suggest, "try it you'll like it". It is a popular concept today. We see this kind of thinking in many kinds of advertising. All the way from automobiles to hamburgers. We even try it with our children when we are trying to get them to sample new food. What we often find is some people are willing to take a chance, while others absolutely refuse.

The same is true to a certain degree when it comes to spiritual things. People today are very interested in the supernatural. This is evident in the TV shows that deal with such things. However, not all that is supernatural is good. There are spiritual influences that are good and spiritual influences that are evil, and caution needs to be taken when exposing oneself to the supernatural.

The Psalmist tells us, taste and see that the Lord is good. In that phrase, David is telling us to try God, you'll like him. I realize that I may sound a bit trifling when I say that and that is exactly what I don't want to do. What I am suggesting is that God is one who will never let us down. Friends may fail us, people whom we look up to may fail us, hero's may fail us, but God never fails.

In John's Gospel, chapter 1, we have the account of one of the first people bringing someone else to Jesus. Philip had met Jesus and that encounter changed his life. Luke 5:11 tells us that these first disciples left all to follow Jesus. Now back to John 1. After Philip had met Jesus, the first thing he did was to go find his brother Nathaniel. Philip wanted Nathaniel to experience what he had experienced. However, Nathaniel was a bit skeptical. He wondered how Jesus could be all that Philip was claiming since Jesus was from Nazareth and Nathaniel had doubts whether anything good could come out of Nazareth. Philip's response was "come and see". Philip was really saying to Nathaniel "Try Him you'll like Him." We know from verse 49 that Nathaniel beçame a follower of Jesus.

Here is the point I want to make today. God is good. He loves people. In fact, He loves you and me so much that He gave His Son to die and to bear the penalty for sin that was ours. I know in the world today there are many voices inviting us to try the different wares that they are pushing. Why, there is even a variety of spiritual experiences that are being offered to a world that is caught up in the supernatural. May I say to you today, be careful. All that glitters is not gold, nor is every spiritual experience a positive experience.

If you want to experience the supernatural, I highly recommend Jesus. He is faithful, He is true, He loves you and He will never fail you. He is the only one who gave His life for you and me and He is the only one who deserves our allegiance. Why not put your trust in Him today? Give Him your life and follow Him.

New principal at Morrisburg Public

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - "I'm very excited to be here, in what I think is a great community school," says Jack Barkley, who takes over the principal's reigns at Morrisburg Public School from Brooke Lightizer who retired last spring.

"I know the community and I know the people in the community," he says. "I know the contacts in town, and I want to involve the community and the local businesses in the school."

Jack says the flip side to all that, is he still knows the people when he is working out a disciplinary problem.

Jack was born in the area and went to local schools. "I went to SS16 Orchardside, which is three miles east of Dunbar," he says. "There were 15 of us in the whole school, and two of us in Grade 8."

He went to high school at North Dundas, and attended Laurentian University, graduating in 1974, or "about 50 pounds ago", with his Bachelor of Physed Degree. He went to Teacher's College at McArthur in Kingston, and came back to the area in 1975, for his first position at Long Sault Public.

After eight years at Long Sault, he went to Maple Ridge for one year and then on to Nationview at South Mountain where he remained for 12 years. He has been principal at Memorial Park School in Cornwall, for the last two years. He is now starting his 26th year in education.

"I started as a teacher at Nationview, moved up to vice-principal and to principal," he says. "They just kept making mistakes I guess, and kept moving me up.

At Nationview, he had 450 students, and at Memorial Park 250. He expects to have 309 children this year about the same as last.

"When I found out Brooke was retiring, I asked if I could come here," he says explaining that because his wife, Anne, teaches at Morrisburg, he thought he might be turned down.

"People tell me my style of administration is much like that of Dick Turner's, (principal at Iroquois Public), and that is a real compliment, because I have great respect for Dick," he says. "You've heard of the four R's, well Dick works by the three F's, firm, fun and fair, and that would sum me up."

"Brooke did a great job at this school, and I don't see big changes," he adds. "The resources are great."

One big difference is the lack of Grade 7 and 8 students. "I've always had grades 1 - 8, and I've always looked to the senior kids to help out."

He says he will continue to involve the students, particularly the grade 5's and 6's who he hopes to see helping out in the playground, in the library and with the younger classes.

"We have a zipper club, but hey, we can't all do our zippers right away the first day," he says, explaining that involving students, helps to build self esteem.

Jack Barkley

There are 14 teachers at Morrisburg Public School, including some newcomers. John Pollock will teach Grade 4-5, and Elizabeth Van-Gurp and Helen Goupil are new educational assistants, who join Wendy MacGregor who becomes full-time. Also, back on staff is Ian Wilson who started last year at Morrisburg and moved to North Dundas. Lana Howes replaces Nancy Beavers who is on maternity leave, and Susan Wells becomes a half time French teacher.

Barkley says he will be looking at a green project. "I want to look at naturalizing the school yard," he says. He is happy with the fiber optics being installed in Morrisburg, seeing it as a tool to allow the school to keep up with technology. All of the classrooms are equipped with computers.

Jack has always taught at the grade 7 and 8 level. "The little guys scare me to death," he says. "I'd rather have 180, Grade 7 and 8's, than 26 little kindergarten kids. I like all kids or I wouldn't be in education, but I've just never been around the little ones much."

"With the older kids you have to gain their respect, and I appreciate that in them," he says. "You have to be fair to them, and once you have their respect, you can see the lights come on."

He adds his thanks to the staff. "Especially our school secretary, Peggy Leroy, who keeps the school running. Each school is different, and the staff here has been great at helping me out."

He is eager to get started and had his first staff meeting last Thursday. "There will probably be some fine tuning required, but there always is."

As the school year begins don't forget these simple bus-safety tips!

1. Stay quiet at all times, so the bus driver can hear traffic.
2. Always keep your hands, etc. inside the bus.
3. Remain in your seat and keep the aisle clear at all times.
4. Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before climbing on or off.
5. Check carefully for traffic when crossing the street near a bus.
6. Obey your driver at all times.

These tips will help make this school year a safe learning experience . . . for everyone!

Lions training camp attracts 40 hopefuls

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - The Morrisburg Junior B Lions kicked off the season with a weekend training camp that attracted close to 40 hopefuls.

"We are still up and down with Junior A teams," says head coach Barry DeGray. "But we had a little more talent at camp this year, than last."

"We have some good talent out of Quebec," he says. "Right now, for sure, we have four players."

DeGray says finding billets for the players is now a major concern for team management. Some of last year's families who billeted players are once again on board, while some have decided to take a break.

"It's a big commitment for people," says DeGray. "Last year's kids were great, and we had no problems. Some people have decided to take a break."

Anyone interested in billeting a player can contact Ron Casselman.

DeGray will be building this year's team around his returning players who include Steph Champagne, Carson Runions, Greg Millard, Jamie Barkley, Ryan Warr, and Jeromy Alguire.

He hopes to acquire the return of Paul Dedekker who played on a one year deal last year with South Grenville, who currently hold his rights.

As well, he is waiting on word from Chris Cadieux who is at school, and Wayne Garlöugh who is at tryouts with the Ottawa Junior Senators.

"Everybody is gone on our goaltending unit, but it looks like we have our number one goalie now," he says.

Working his way into the number one spot is Mathieu Whelan out of Quebec, who two years ago played with Mathieu Blanchard who was number one last year for the Lions, and is now with the Cornwall Colts.

In total the Lions had six goaltenders in camp.

DeGray says 30 invite letters were sent out, and about 23 players responded. "We had a lot of walk ons," he says. "We are still waiting on the Cornwall Colts and the Brockville Braves, to make their cuts.

DeGray says the arena, with the new roof and the various improvement is great.

"The ice is super," he says. "It's so bright and there are no dark spots."

"We've had nothing but positive feed back from the parents and the players."

"Now Morrisburg has an arena to play in," he says. "I'm very excited about the year."

Although he is not ready to release the name, he says the Lions have a Corporate Sponsor for the season. As well, plans are being made in conjunction with the McIntosh Inn and the Morrisburg Lions club for post-game meetings that will give fans the opportunity to meet the players.

The Lions held practices Monday and Tuesday night, and have an exhibition game scheduled on home ice against Westport this Thursday at 8 p.m.

"It'll be the first game in the new barn" says DeGray.

Cedar Glen Open Champion

The Cedar Glen Open was held over the long weekend and Darryl Burns came out on top after a one hole playoff against Brad Mayhew. Burns fired an 80 to get into the playoff and had to defeat Mayhew in the darkness. Pictured here is Dennis Casselman on the left presenting the trophy to Darryl Burns on the right.

Shuffleboard decision based on faulty information

Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG - Shuffleboard organizer, Jim Reid, says a story in last week's issue of The Leader didn't give the whole picture for his group.

The group that meets at the Matilda Hall twice per week, throughout the year is struggling with membership numbers.

Previously the group used the Morrisburg arena at no charge. "Keith (Robinson) talked us into going there (Matilda Hall) last August," says Reid. "And so we had to reestablish the club by picking up new members."

Council based their decision not to lower the rent, on figures presented by South Dundas Facilities Coordinator Keith Robinson.

"I don't know where Keith got the $10 reduction figure," says Reid, who indicates he would be happy with a reasonable decrease, while the club continues to build.

Reid also says there are more than just rental costs to be considered. He estimates sundry costs at about $200 per year which includes quarterly washing, a waxing cost of $74 for Nella Seal and $90 for replacing of plastic beads from California, which are used on the courts.

"We did not lose members even after a 20 per cent increase in fees when Matilda play started," he writes in a press release, which goes on to state, "However, players objected to the distance involved in all sorts of weather. "Four excellent players departed to the new Cornwall club, two of whom won the Ontario Seniors Gold Medal in August."

Reid points out that only 12 players remain of the Morrisburg Club, which he managed for nine years.

"Gradually, we are getting new members," he continues. "The transition from a summer club to a year round club has been extremely difficult."

Point number six in the release explains that for the six months from February to August of this year, membership dropped to an average 22. Fees totalled $1,330 to pay for $1,343 in rent.

To this you have to add the sundry costs.

"Our survey shows 15-17 will play in September," he writes.

"We need a break on rental costs for two years, during which time we could acquire new members," he says in the release.

Reid started the club 10 years ago in Morrisburg, "with the blessing of mayor and council, with free arena rent and financial support for scoreboards, sticks pucks, etc."

Reid's expertise was established over a 15 year period in Florida where he managed teams, and won the Florida State Seniors Gold Medal.

Reid says he has contacted missing players, and has struggled with this problem for months.

"I am contemplating resignation," he writes. "If there is a future let us present our situation and supporting facts. The investment exceeds $15,000."

"If the writer fails, the club fails and South Dundas Council loses."

The club began afternoon play yesterday (Tuesday), and action is every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon starting at 1:30 p.m.

"It lasts for about two hours and is great fun," says Reid. "There are lots of laughs."

Anyone wishing to get out of the house for some exercise and fun can call Jim at 543-2760 or show up at Matilda Hall. Cost is $10 per month.

Succesful Tubie Weekend

Tubie weekend 2000 was one of the most successful in recent years as far as money raised for charities is concerned. The Flamingo Hockey team raised enough money through Tubie Weekend to donate $1,500 to W.D.M.H., $200 to Minor Hockey, $200 to Boy Scouts, $200 To Figure Skating, $200 Minor Ball, and $200 to the O.P.P. With the growing success of the tubie weekend these local charities will benefit in years to come. Pictured here from left to right are Donald Black (Tubie Weekend organizor), Kim MacLennan (W.D.M.H. representative), Chuck Barkley (Minor Hockey representative), and Robert Jordan (Tubie Weekend organizor).

Darryl Burns wins Cedar Glen Open

WILLIAMSBURG—The Cedar Glen Open took place on Monday, September 4, with 120 men competing for the Open championship. As darkness came upon the golf course the tournament didn't want to finish, as two one hole playoffs were required to decide the A class winner and the B class winner. The B class playoff took place just before the sun went down and the A class playoff had a little more darkness to contend with.

Darryl Burns came out on top as the overall winner in A class with an 80 which he won in the first playoff hole against Brad Mayhew.

The B class winner was Jeff Byvelds, who defeated John Casselman in a one hole playoff; with an 85. The C class winner was Greg Van Dellan with a 92.

The low net winner in A class was Morrisburg's Tony Cummins with a 71 net, in B class was Sid Bird with a 71 net and in C class Paul Lacombe carded a 79 net.

Second low gross in A class went to Brad Mayhew with an 80 and second low gross in B class was John Casselman with an 85. Doug Blaine shot a 94 for second low gross in C class.

Darrell Shelp carded a 72 for second low net in A class while Wade Roles had a net score of 72 for B class, and Glen Vassey had a 73 for second low net in C class.

Third low gross winners were in A class Mark Vanasse with an 82, in B class Francis Barkley with an 87, and Lawrence Larocque in C class with a 97.

Winners for third low net were Randy Leclair in A class with a 74, Jeff Whitteker in B class with a 73 and Pierre Poirier in C class with a 75.

"The whole day went very well, and again the roast pig was a hit as everyone enjoyed the meal", said Cathy Casselman.

Next year if the Open goes into playoffs like this year, the next project for Dennis and Cathy will be to install spotlights.

Terry Fox Run scheduled

MORRISBURG - Pledge Sheets for the annual Terry Fox Run, hosted by the Morrisburg Legion, are now available throughout the South Dundas area, and organizer Ross Hummell, is hoping for a good turnout to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the event.

Hummell has distributed pledge sheets at both banks in Morrisburg, the Bank of Montreal in Iroquois, the South Dundas township office in Williamsburg, and Seaway District High School

From an unassuming start in Newfoundland in 1980, Terry Fox slowly captured the hearts of a nation. Terry's journey may not have reached its intended destination, but his message is very much alive today.

To date close to $250 million has been raised for cancer research in Terry's name.

In Ontario last year, $6.7 million was raised, and just as exciting was that participation increased by 30 per cent.

"We have averaged about $2,200 a year over the years," says Hummell. "But we do need participants. There are a lot of survivors out there. I'm one myself."

Last year, was the eighth year for the local run, and while the numbers were down, the amount raised was up.

Hummell explains, participants can run, walk, bike, rollerblade or even just stroll along the one to 10 km route located on the paved walkway in the waterfront park.

"If there is enough interest we can offer a 10k run," he says. "But they have to let me know in advance, so a route can be set up, and volunteers arranged to man it."

Anyone interested in a 10k run, either as a participant or a volunteer, can contact Ross at 543-3304.

Terry Fox's Marathon of Hope was his personal crusade to raise money and awareness for cancer research. His goal was to put an end to the suffering that cancer causes worldwide.

The Terry Fox Foundation is asking all residents of Ontario to help celebrate Terry's legacy by participating in, or donating to, the 2000 Terry Fox Run.

The run will take place on Sunday, September 17. Participants can start out from the Morrisburg Legion from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Brockville Ontario Speedway

BROCKVILLE—A couple of drivers from New York State's North Country claimed track championships on Friday night at Brockville Ontario Speedway. Lee Gill of Lafargeville is the 358 modified Champion, while Ben Tucker of Redwood is the Sportsman title holder for the year 2000.

Gill was his usual consistent self clinching the crown with a solid second place finish in the 30-lap modified feature. Dale Planck of Homer, NY, won for the fifth time at Brockville this season in his brand spanking new Bicknell 2001 chassis. Planck started 14th and took the lead from Rich Hall of Athens just prior to a caution at the halfway point. Hall was third, in front of Jeff Sykes of Edwards, NY and Chico Dingwall of Brockville.

Tucker showed a little more flair, charging back from having his bumper ripped off in an early race incident to capture the 20-lap Sportsman main. Gil Evoy of Athens was second, just in front of Adam Moore of Elgin. The race was marred by a serious accident when Kyle Wilson of Joyceville caught the back wheel of Greg Bauder of Kingston. Wilson went airborne over the side of the Bauder car. Bauder was slightly shaken in the accident.

Randy Earle of Brockville won his 7th Pro Stock feature of the year. Earl, involved in a classic duel with Mark Therrien of Alexandria, took the lead with three laps to go. Therrien was second with Ron Morin of Cornwall rounding out the top three.

Spencerville's John Mulder, went wire to wire, to capture the 10-lap Novice event. Todd Raabe of Pembroke and Barry Baker of Portland were second and third respectively. Rhonda Fletcher of Renfrew took the special 5-lap Powder Puff event.

The next event at Brockville Ontario Speedway will feature the Modifieds, Antiques, Novice and Pro Stock in competition next Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Cornwall Motor Speedway

CORNWALL—Pat O'Brien took home the Modified checkered flag in the Jiffy Auto Service 100 at Cornwall Motor Speedway. It was the last official race of the season at the quarter-mile oval. O'Brien had to fend off younger brother, Danny and an unrelenting Joel Doiron. Second generation driver, Doiron earned the spot at the season ending championship race in Syracuse.

"My crew deserves a lot of the credit for the set up the car," said Doiron. The Jiffy race capped a solid two weeks for Doiron at Cornwall. He finished second in last week's feature.

During the race, Pat O'Brien of Kingston, took over the lead on lap 28, lapped traffic by lap 30, and he never looked back. He had to contend with brother Danny of Kingston from lap 55 on. Doiron of Alexandria started the feature fourth and flipped between third fourth and fifth for three quarters of the 100-lap race but gained third place for good by passing Dave Heaslip on lap 72. Heaslip of Smiths Falls, ended the feature in fourth.

The late model champion at Cornwall for the year 2000 is Marc Therrien from Alexandria. He finished second in the 20-lap feature, to solidify his championship. Lee Ladouceur unofficially finished second in the points with Billy King in third. The feature race was won by "Bulldog" Dave Bissonette.

While Mother Nature co-operated with track officials for the Modified and Late Model races, Duke and Rookie Stocks were cancelled because of rain. That means that the Duke champion for 2000 is Stephane Lemire from Drummondville, Quebec. The rookie track champion for this year is Kees Van Winden from Morewood.

On Sunday, September 10, Cornwall Motor Speedway host the always popular Fireball Enduro. Three hundred laps of racing is scheduled for three classes, the men's and ladies 4-cylinder and the 8-cylinders. Enduro entry forms are available at the Speedway. Last year over 300 cars signed up to take part in the Fireball Enduro. Gates open at noon and racing starts at 2 p.m.

Grade 9's excited to get started

IROQUOIS - Over 100 grade 9 students felt the excitement of entering Seaway District High School Tuesday, and they were joined by two new staff members.

"No doubt the politics that will occur between the Upper Canada District School Board, the Ministry of Education and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, will be felt in our good school this fall," claims Seaway High Principal, Larry Poirier, in a letter to parents. "We know for certain school will start as usual on September 5. However, we also know that teachers will focus their time and attentions on their added academic responsibilities."

"If this means that extra-curricular activities will be curtailed, we will have to respond to that circumstance when it occurs," he adds. "I would like to reassure you that we will do all within our power to provide a quality education experience for all our young people."

Although the school year kicked off Tuesday, the Grade 9 class enjoyed the friendly confines of their new home, away from home, last Wednesday at Orientation Day.

The students were given a tour of Seaway, information about their classes, details about school life, and it was topped off with a snack of corn-on-the-cob, hot dogs, ice cream bars and pop.

"We are indebted to Mark Lewis, Heather Lauder, our peer tutor class of 2000-2001, our senior students and the teachers in attendance who worked diligently to welcome our new students," says Poirier.

The two new staff members at Seaway are Sonia Poirier, who will be teaching two core French classes in the first semester and Christie Stewart, who will be teaching two and one half English courses and a grade 10 Civics course.

Miss Poirier has her Bachelor of Education degree, cum laude, from the University of Ottawa. Her basic degree was a B.Sc. with a minor in Biochemistry. She was an Ontario Scholar at La Citadelle, and her experience includes Summer School 2000, and two teaching assignments overseas in Korea and in Taiwan.

Miss Stewart is a graduate of the University of Windsor, where she obtained her Bachelor of Arts with concentration in English Language and Literature. She also has seven History credits in her degree, and it is rumored that she is a talented actress and an outstanding vocalist.

Programming at Seaway continues to reflect the changes required by the Ontario Ministry of Education's Secondary School reform plan.

All of the grades 9 and 10 students are on this new track, which allows them to graduate in four years.

Included in these changes is the requirement that all students in grades 9 - 12, are enrolled in the Teacher Advisor Program (T.A.P.), which consists of a period of 30 minutes every five days.

"We feel that this time spent on course planning, career planning, individual student plans and time management will be valuable for all students involved," says Poirier.

The school administration, and in this case Mr. Mayer, has always had the safety of the students and staff as a priority. To this end, Seaway has had a new paging and telephone system installed, which will allow effective communication with students and teachers on a daily basis.

"We believe communication is necessary to ensure safety," says Poirier. "If an emergency arises, we feel very confident this new system will allow us to quickly communicate relevant information."

Seaway's School Council election meeting will take place September 14 at 7 p.m. in the school library. All members of the school community are welcome to attend.

"Last year's Council did extraordinary work for our school, and we are sure this year's elected group will do as well," says Poirier. "In these times, School Councils will perform critical functions in school life."

IN MEMORIAM

COUGLER–In memory of a very special father, grandfather, great-grandfather, Ralph Cougler, Sept. 2nd, 1989.
Our lives go on without you
Though nothing is quite the same,
And we try to hide our heartbreak
When someone speaks your name.
Sad are our hearts that loved you
Silent are our tears that fall,
Living our lives without you
Is the hardest part of all.
You did so many things for us
Your heart was kind and true,
And when we needed someone
We could always count on you.
Those special years may not return
When we were all together,
But with the love within our hearts
You will be with us forever.
–Lovingly remembered by Deanna, Rose, Judy and all their families 36c

McINTOSH–In memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Marjorie, who passed away Sept. 3, 1999.

Helping Hand outlet restocks

MORRISBURG - The Helping Hand used clothing outlet in the Old High School in Morrisburg, is restocked and ready for winter.

During last week's unusually warm weather, volunteer staff at the Helping Hand located on the High School's first floor, kept busy packing up the summer clothing and replacing it with cold weather apparel.

"I've just finished putting out the winter clothing," said Roseanne Montroy on Thursday. "The summer items have been put away, and all the shelves are stocked."

The Helping Hand is open every Monday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., excluding holiday Mondays. Clients can make clothing selections on these days, and donations are accepted.

Montroy says the Helping Hand has been doing well.

"Three weeks ago, I had nine new people in," she says. "In fact, we've been getting a lot of new people, who say they didn't know we were here."

The Helping Hand will have been in place one year this November. It came about following a clothing drive at the Pentecostal Church which resulted in so much clothing, it was decided a permanent spot was needed.

Montroy says she is also getting a good response in the clothing donations, from people throughout the area.

Two shifts of volunteers handle the hours, and they include Bonnie Casselman, Carole Locke, Edna Zeron, Montroy and Sandra Dubeau.

The clothing now available, includes all sizes from children to adults, and just about everything anyone could need. Racks are full of men's suits, suit jackets, pants, casual wear, ladies dresses, slacks, sweaters, blouses, and the same for children's clothing.

Clothing that doesn't move after a reasonable amount of time is shipped to the Economic Relief and Development Organization (ERDO), which in turn ships it overseas.

Montroy shipped 39 bags to ERDO in April, and expects to ship another 40 bags this fall.
