Dr. Wilbert Keon speaks on Health Care in Canada

Renowned heart surgeon Dr. Wilbert Keon will address the topic of "Health Care in Canada" at a dinner meeting of the Morrisburg and District Canadian Club at 7 p.m. next Wednesday, October 27 at North Dundas District High School. Over the last 30 years, Dr. Keon has developed the Heart Institute into a world class research and teaching center in addition to its role as provider of exceptional clinical care. Keon was a pioneer of the now accepted, treatment of emergency revascularization in acute heart attacks, and played a key role in the development of parallel hearts and cardiac transplantation and was the first Canadian surgeon to implant a total artificial heart as a bridge to transplantation. Dr. Keon has been an outspoken advocate of health system reform and has made important contributions to this debate. Turkey is on the menu and tickets at $16 may be purchased from Doug Grenkie's office at 543-2922, or Clara Edwardson at 774-2407, or any Canadian Club member.

Volley for Cancer presents cheque

The fifth annual Volley for Cancer is history and was the best one yet. This Friday, October 22nd at 7 p.m. at the McIntosh Inn, Volley for Cancer will present to the Canadian Cancer Society, the proceeds from the August 21st event. It is also an opportunity to say thank you to all those who helped make this the best tournament ever. The speeches will be short and the social time long. The public is cordially invited for this exciting evening. Also available at this meeting will be the financial statement to date, a brochure defining all the firms and persons responsible for this year's success and certificates of appreciation for those firms and person. All those attending are in for a big surprise when they see the size of the cheque for the Cancer Society.

CWL promotes "WRAP" campaign

The Catholic Women's League of Morrisburg and Iroquois will promote the 10th annual "WRAP" Campaign (White Ribbon against Pornography) during the week of October 24th to 31st. By wearing white ribbons or displaying white bows you are expressing concern about the proliferation of pornography and its negative impact on men, children and women and the communities we live and work in. Wearing the ribbon is not a solution but a way to draw attention to this issue. Obscenity laws are grounded in community standards so this will be a way of expressing these standards through this year's "WRAP" campaign.

Mayor asks for moratorium

Historic train slated forTrenton

by Catherine Thompson
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—An historic landmark for decades, the train at Upper Canada Village will be gone if an agreement between the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, and the Prince Edward County Railway Preservation Society is carried out.

"The train and two cars will go to Trenton," said South Dundas mayor Johnny Whitteker at last Thursday's council meeting. " A commitment has been made to Trenton who can have the train by moving it there."

Whitteker had discussed the train with Glen Cunningham, a former supervisor of maintenance and restoration at Upper Canada Village) and commissioner Les Cruickshank, and visited the site. "We hope to set up a commitee and ask for a year moratorium, and hope we can get millennium funding to restore the train."

Cruickshank was to take the suggestion for discussion to the Commission's meeting in Kingston.

"I hope they (SLPC) see fit to save the train and have a student dressed as a conductor," said Whitteker, adding tourists could walk through the train and station, and learn about the "old Mocassin heritage."

"It should be saved where it is," said Whitteker.

Although the boardwalk needs repair, the station is still in good condition. "The Morris code, the old things and push carts are still there," said Whitteker.

"We'd have to have the St. Lawrence Parks Commission in to look after the maintenance," he continued. Whitteker suggested a sharing arrangement by which South Dundas Township would take over maintenance of Upper Canada Road, if the Commission would look after the train.

Whitteker noted it could qualify as a County Road, but he didn't wish to stretch the point, as the Township already has roads coming back in their care.

He said the Township wouldn't wish transfer of ownership of the road, and Martel said if a trade is considered, "You need a long guarantee."

"A lot of people are concerned if the train is taken out and goes to Trenton. It could be the thin edge of the wedge. What else could go?" said Whitteker.

"If they get government funding, why can't we? " asked Coun. Rowdy Gillard mentioning the possibility of obtaining a grant for another museum property, or a grant to fix up the train as (part of) a provincial park.

CNR originally donated the equipment which consists of a 1910 Class Mogul locomotive built in Kingston (used in Hamilton), a 1901 passenger coach built in Montreal and a 1920 refrigeration/baggage car constructed in Chicago and used in Niagara.

CN brought the coach and locomotive in 1957 and the baggage car in 1965, and the collection sits in Crysler Park on a small section of track from the Grand Trunk Railway Line.

The historic Aultsvile Station was brought to the site to save it from being flooded by the St. Lawrence Seaway Project in the 1950's.

In November 1994, Morrisburg reeve Gord McGregor and members of the Chamber of Commerce launched a campaign to save the train at its present location but did not succeed in raising enough support. Later Council favoured a plan to move the train in front of the old Morrisburg High School, but that plan also fell through for lack of support.

In 1988, a consultant's report to the St. Lawrence Parks Commission outlined several hundred thousand in work to restor the train and over a million for the whole site including train restoration, and a shelter to provide protection for the train.

Three years ago, the Commission called for proposals from different communities to see if any were interested in the train.

"Given the finances of the Commission, they felt it was beyond their capabilities to repair and look after the train," said Commissioner Mary Devine.

Three years ago, a request for proposals went out, and several organizations responded, including the Smiths Falls museum, and the Prince Edward County Railway Preservation Society.

Over three years, the railway volunteers continued to be interested, and "the Commission felt most comfortable in having the train go there," said Devine.

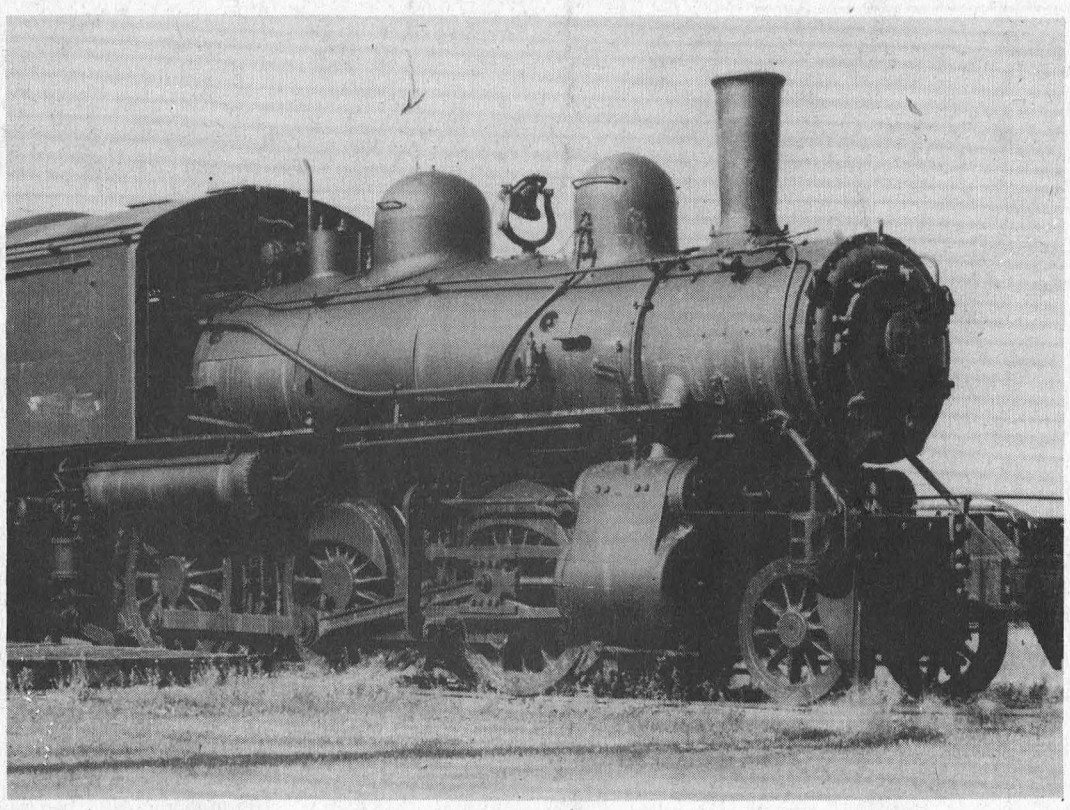
"They were successful in getting the town and economic development to come up with a a proposal. It is supposed to be located with a building in the important part of town. They wish to restore it and return it as an operating train. That is what most appealed to commissioners," she continued.

Contacted Monday, St. Lawrence Parks Commissioner Mike Paradis said the train restoration project is a joint effort of the Prince Edward County Railway Preservation Society and the Trenval Business Development Corporation located in Trenton. The partners plan to restore and bring back to full operating condition the cars, to locate the train and lay the tracks on a short run between Trenton and Carrying Place, where it will run a couple of miles and come back .

"In all fairness, the Commission went through the proposal process to provide stewardship. The Commission identified a willingness to provide their collection to that organization. We're awaiting some information on details and a final decision," Paradis said.

Cunningham is concerned not only about the loss of the train, but feels the Village has strayed far from what it originally was and from its mandate.

He suggests "an advisory board consisting of historical minded people with their roots well entrenched as members of United Empire Loyalists. People with roots of Scotch and Irish settlement of 1830 to 1840, people from genealogy association, people from Lost Villages (Historical Society) to closely monitor any changes."



Landmark will be gone

The train at Crysler Park near Upper Canada Village will be leaving the area to go to Trenton, as part of an agreement between the St. Lawrence Parks Commission and the Prince Edward County Railway Preservation Society. Mayor Johnny Whitteker is hoping to form a committee with others interested to save the train at its current location.

"I hope the SLPC see fit to save the train" Whitteker

Information picket at Fort Henry

by Catherine Thompson
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Upper Canada Village and Fort Henry staff are planning an information picket at 9.30 a.m. today at Fort Henry, during an in-camera meeting of commissioners of the Parks of the St. Lawrence.

"We're slamming Cam Jackson and the Ministry of Tourism. This is an education picket about cuts in the transfer payment," said Al Place, secretary-treasurer of Local 404, for employees at Upper Canada Village, Crysler Marina, the Golf Course, and the parks from Glengarry west to Riverside Cedar.

In a news release, Place stated; "Seasonal staff are up in arms over sudden cuts at Upper Canada Village. The Village closes on Thanksgiving Monday every year and approximately 45 interpretive staff usually spend the remainder of October getting the grounds, buildings and artifacts ready for winter."

"However, on September 21 this year they were informed that their contracts had been cut and that, instead of spending October 12-30 doing the work, they would be given until October 15. Domestic interpreters who were normally given a few days to prepare houses were told to lock the doors on October 11 and not come back until next year. Staff are understandably upset about the loss of work time in a seasonal job, but are even more upset about the lack of care of a very special site."

Place blames the transfer payment cuts this year as "a contributing factor." At $4,132,600 this year's transfer payment was $100,000 lower than the budgetted figure of $4,232,600. "After we became a net transfer agency, they reduced the transfer faster than the SLPC's business development could recover," he continued.

Other factors include a shortfall in expected revenues at various sites, including Upper Canada Village, and the Golf Course, although campsites exceeded their targets.

Additional factors are decisions by the Commission such as a "hiring spree of full-time civil servants and unrealistic budget projections followed by spending in advance of receipts", Place said.

"Our picket line message is the Ministry of Tourism should provide the Commission with funding to top up the reserve account. We need major funding for services and infrastructure upgrades and more money in the annual transfer payment to develop the education program, live in camps, collection management and presentation. More money is also needed for new projects at the Village such as riverfront development and Fort Henry," Place said.

Although there was a meeting between staff and the Commission on Tuesday, October 12, Place said the meeting did "little to dispel fears. Seventy-five employees gathered at the McIntosh Country Inn to present their concerns about the future direction of the Village itself, should these cuts be implemented."

General Manager Mike Paradis said the employees concerns would be taken into consideration and addressed in the budget submissions to the Ministry. However, the actual budget for next year will not be known until March or April 2000.

However, Place said the GM's statement was "seen as an attempt to avoid the issue. Maintenance must take place immediately and immediate answers are needed."

Tulips for MPS

At left Morrisburg Public KG students Brooke McCooeye and Graydon Bayliss, helped beautify the school by planting Millennium Tulip bulbs in the garden. The bulbs were purchased from the Upper Canada Playhouse in a fundraising effort for the Playhouse in partnership with the Tulip Festival in Ottawa.

OPP celebrate 90th birthday

by Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

LONG SAULT—Last Wednesday there was a party going on, in fact it was a 90th birthday party complete with balloons and cake.

Wednesday, October 13 marked the 90th anniversary of the Ontario Provincial Police force and officers at the SD&G detachment here enjoyed some cake and a small get together.

"It's kind of difficult having a birthday on the thirteenth of October," said SD&G Inspector Mike Hopkins, indicating the officers can't be spared from duty.

It was 90 years ago, on October 13, 1909 that a provincial Order-in-Council decreed the establishment of the "Ontario Provincial Police Force", a permanent force of salaried police constables.

The OPP's roots can be traced back to 1875 when John Wilson Murray, the province's first full time paid criminal detective began his 31 year career.

A small staff of government detectives worked for the Attorney General's office until 1909.

The OPP's first chief, Superintendent Joseph E. Rogers, commanded six inspectors and 38 constables. Many of these officers worked in one-person detachments, with no radio communication or motor vehicle transportation.

In the early 20s, the successive appointments of two military men to the position of commissioner helped transform the organization.

Badge numbers, military style uniforms, insignia and protocols all helped define the character of the new and expanding force.

In 1930, motorcycle personnel from the Department of Public Highways joined the OPP motorcycle patrol to police Ontario's increasingly busy highways.

In 1941, the OPP made a major purchase of marked cruisers, the beginning of an indelible link of cruiser and patrol officer.

The introduction of a radio system in 1947 heralded a new era in communication. In the late 1950s the OPP began using underwater breathing equipment for the first time, and snow vehicles in the north.

In 1974, the first women OPP officers were hired for active duty, and in 1977 a major advancement was made through the introduction of the first laser for forensic identification.

Today, more than 6,000 employees, including more than 5,000 uniform members, provide policing services out of six regions and 93 detachments across the province.

Local protection

According to Inspector Hopkins, the SD&G detachment has 89 constables, nine sergeants, one staff sergeant, one inspector, and a civilian support staff of 12.6 people.

"The 89 officers are spread out over the various detachments," he explained. "At each of the five detachments there is a team leader."

At Morrisburg the Team Leader is Sergeant Brent Mattice, who came to the local detachment in 1989 under Sgt. Ralph Thompson. Const. Matt Eamer is the Court Officer, and there are 13 uniform officers.

Although the OPP had policed Dundas County for many years, it wasn't until 1967 that they assumed duties for the Village of Morrisburg. This followed a decision by town council not to continue with its own town police force.

On October 20, 1967 the local detachment moved to their new station on Highway 31. For several years prior to this they had rented premises in the Morrisburg Hydro Building, which was located west of today's Legion.

In 1967 the detachment staff included one commanding officer Sgt. Harry Boyd, and three corporals, Mert Green, Ivan Doney and Bill Eady.

As well there were 20 constables including Frank Albert, Roy Guse, Fred Langlotz and Lee McCaslin, all of whom are now retired in the area.

A good career choice

"Officers are generally content with their careers," says Inspector Hopkins. "Most of the officers here have called this home for many years."

Between 200-300 officers are hired in the province each year. "Once they try policing they don't leave," he says. "Most leave only when they retire."

"Thirty years ago we were in a period of growth, and there was rapid recruitment. These officers are now retiring."

To become an officer is a very competitive process, "you have to market yourself, all of your life skills, and everything is taken into consideration. It's a job for life."

"Most new officers don't have experience with people," says Hopkins, and "dealing with people is our job. To learn these skills takes a number of years."

"We are like a parent, taking care of all of our children. We do it for the benefit of all of society."

Inspector Hopkins likened the force to the firemen. "Their role is to save people and things."

"We do the same thing, but are not always perceived in the same way. When we have to interact with people they aren't always in the best mood," he explained about the various situations police officers find themselves in.

And just because a person is being ticketed or had a bit too much celebration, Hopkins stresses this is not saying the person is a bad person. But it is the job of the OPP to protect these people, and all those around them.

Happy Anniversary

Sergeant Brent Mattice and Constable Carole Pirnat cut the cake for celebrations last Wednesday afternoon at the Ontario Provincial Police Station in Long Sault. OPP throughout the province were celebrating the force's 90th anniversary. McNairn photo

Excellent kick off to series

MORRISBURG—Irving Berlin. . Always first performed in 1989, was for many people in the audience at Upper Canada Playhouse Friday a trip back memory lane.

For the younger members of the audience the performance must have been an awakening to a genrre of tender ballads almost lost in today's culture.

Jayne Lewis and Victor Young showed they are true performers with a flawless presentation. Their style, however was even better.

The contact with the audience was close, informative and humourous. As a married couple, they sang. to each other with meaning and tenderness much appreciated by the audience.

In the setting of thePlayhouse, their cabaret style really hit the mark. Diane Leah, the accompanist is certainly an accomplished pianist. She also has her own humour which lightened the show.

Two possible locations

OPP move sparks debate about hall

by Catherine Thompson
Leader staff

WILLIAMSBURG—The issue of a possible relocation of the OPP to the Morrisburg Civic Centre sparked debate about the pros and cons of keeping the municipal hall at last Thursday's meeting.

But no matter what Council decides, there is more homework to do before they can choose a site, if indeed a change is made.

At Thursday's meeting, Inspector Mike Hopkins with the S.D. & G. Detachment informed Council of conditions to be dealt with.

The OPP are currently located in a building leased from Les Cruickshank off County Road 31. The building is 2,730 square feet and includes a two bay garage, holding area, constables office, breathalyser room, property room, video statement/interview room, court office room, sergeant detachment leader office and several other areas.

The immediate future of the courts at the Civic Building was recently assured with the signing of a five year lease through the Ontario Realty Corporation for the Ministry of the Attorney General.

Council is currently studying its buildings with a view to maintain some and close others. They have discussed the idea the police might be better housed in the same building where the courts are. As the political body to whom the OPP reports, Council decides where the OPP should be located. And since any change must be approved by the Police Services Board, Council approached both with the suggestion.

Hopkins explained there would be some advantages to the Civic address, one being increased "walk-in traffic".

Sergeant Brent Mattice observed; "It would be ideal for us to be in proximity with the court on Tuesdays as it is difficult to go back to the office."

However, the OPP is "not discontent" with the present site, which serves the provincial interest with access to Highway 401, Hopkins noted.

If the OPP relocates to Morrisburg, the civic address is still close to the highway and the waterways.

The lease with Cruickshank expires September 2000, and negotiations start within a few months. If the OPP move out, they must give notice to the landlord, and submit a plan to Council detailing their needs in terms of space needed and rooms required.

The site must be according to a formula allowing a certain number of square feet per constable and approved by the Police Services Board. Rooms and technology transfers must be in place before the move is made.

Mayor Johnny Whitteker raised the point "we have to find out if the people are willing to give up their hall."

"In the transition (to amalgamation) process, some said the municipal hall should be there for ever and a day," Coun. Cam Martel said.

"The reason we're going forward to the unknown is we have to look at efficiencies in buildings. It's the way we do business to keep everything in line," he continued.

Martel described the hall as "quite active prior to amalgamation. Since then, the hall has not been used much as a public meeting place. We have to look at tax dollars."

"It's a difficult decision to maintain the present building in its present form. People do not expect to put out tax money and not see it used on a regular basis, not when there are other halls," he added.

The kitchen in the Civic Building is used for cooking and delivering Meals on Wheels to the community, and the auditorium has about 25 to 26 bookings a year. The building is expensive to maintain, with between $30 to $40,000 in operating costs annually.

"A lot of volunteer groups use it and don't have to pay. At another hall, they'll probably have to pay. Does a municipality need a municipal hall is the question to be asked?" Whitteker observed.

Coun. Rowdy Gillard noted "people who live there know that building is not in the best of shape and needs a lot of work".

Concerning the issue of Meals on Wheels, administrator Mike Waddell said "This isn't part of the discussion."

"I thought we could coexist with Meals on Wheels. I don't see a problem with it," Mattice stated.

However, the Fire Hall is another issue to deal with, and some observed the garage is too large.

However, Mattice said the additional room would allow the police to house boats and vehicles.

But there is still the Fire Department to accommodate. Whitteker suggested adding a bay to the west for the Fire Department, and having the bay to the east for the OPP.

Coun. Audrey Rooney noted 11 months is a short time frame "for us to discuss "three key factors, what to do with the fire department, to find them a building and to upgrade" the Civic building.

"We're pushing decision. I'd feel more comfortable if we didn't have a gun at our heads."

Martel then observed, "For me to take a building and go about piecemealing it, at this point, I can't support it. It may not the best 10 to 20 years from now."

"Remove the idea you have a gun to your heads," said Hopkins. "A building is a building for us, and this idea was ordered by Council."

Once the OPP sign a lease, there are escape clauses that allow leases to be severed with proper notification. The OPP could continue at their current location for a period allowing more time while awaiting direction from Council.

"It's in your ball park. We serve at your behest," Hopkins said.

Winter's for the Birds at UCMBS

Friends of the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary are sponsoring a Folk Art Snowman workshop on November 7 at 1 p.m. at the Sanctuary's Visitors Interpretive Centre. Betty and Lynda of Country Friends Woodcraft are presenting the workshop which features the cutest snowman holding a wreath and birdhouse with a sign saying "Winter's for the Birds." There are many pieces in the project, but beginner's painting techniques are used. Cost of $25 includes all supplies needed for completion.

Compost Site Hours change

Effective October 16, the Morrisburg compost site will open each Saturday, from 1 to 4 p.m. to receive compost materials. There will be no more Tuesday and Thursday evening site openings due to the early darkness now and when standard time comes in at the end of the month. The site will close when there are no more leaves to dispose of or until the snow closes it down.

The five kilometer walk will take place from Nativity Hall in Cornwall at 1 p.m. and is supported by the small grass roots organization, "Men Walking Against Male Violence". Participating rural schools include North Dundas and Tagwi while city schools include Ecole Secondaire La Citadelle, St. Joseph's Secondary, Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School and L'Heritage in Cornwall.

Over the past two weeks, walks in five additional communities will maintain a visible street presence, with hundreds of high school students and community members carrying placards and banners to protest sexism and violence against women and children. These walks are the culmination of months of work organizing with schools, unions, churches and community groups to publicly challenge male violence. The Walk is now in its ninth year of organizing.

Prior to the walks themselves, the project across Southern and Eastern Ontario this fall will involved educational assemblies in close to forty high schools. During the past school year, the Walk Against Male Violence worked with 102 Public and Catholic high schools making 114 educational presentations involving more than 50,000 students. The walks are conducted as walkathons with 70 per cent of the gross proceeds directly donated to local women's shelters and crisis centres and the remainder going to cover the costs of organizing the walks.

By working with local women's groups, school, labour councils, churches and interested individuals, walkers hope not only to heighten awareness of male violence but also of the courageous and largely unheralded work that women do every day to stop it.

"The cycle of violence obviously includes physical assault, but there's also sexist jokes and putdowns, pornography, economic inequality, psychological and emotional abuse, and our refusal to speak up and do something about our behaviour and our lives," says walk coordinator Ken Hancock.

"We're adding our voices to those of women who for centuries have and to this day continue courageously to resist male violence in the home, in schools in churches in the paid workplaces, in the hospitals and in the shelters and crisis centres. We walk at a time when two women a week are killed in their homes in Canada by men they know and the most common cause of injury to women around the world is assault at the hands of men in their lives," Hancock notes.

Assemblies have been held in the six participating high schools over the past week. Students have presented art work, drama presentations, poetry on the issue of male violence. Seventy per cent of the proceeds raised in this area will go to the Peer Support Program of S.D. &. G. For more information and pledge forms contact Naomi's Family Resource Center at 613-774-2838.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles

The October 18, 1989 issue of The Leader reported council and the BIA made plans to pursue Phase 11 of the plaza project together. Phase 11 dealt with the street scaping of the plaza, and featured trees, shrubs, planters, street lights and benches.

The Township of Williamsburg took a big step forward when council gave the go ahead for the purchase of a complete computer package for the township office. Despite council's approval, reeve Johnny Whitteker indicated his reluctance on going ahead with the expenditure. "I'm really not sold on a computer yet," said Whitteker. "I don't want to hold this office back, but I'm not in a position to say, yes we need a computer or no we don't." "It all depends on how long we can continue manually," said Clerk Mike Waddell claiming the office was always a month behind because bank statements didn't come in, in time for meetings. He estimated it took 250 man-hours to do the township's final tax bill.

Regular season play in the newly formed Rideau-St.Lawrence Kings AA Hockey Association was underway in five categories.

Members of the Morrisburg Golf Club had completed reconstruction of the fifth green under the direction of Sid Whiteveen, superintendent of Lock March. A year earlier the sixth green had been reconstructed, and plans for next fall were to change the second green, which had not been wintering well.

Pictured on the front page of the October 17, 1979 issue were Fred and Leona Pinkus receiving congratulations from Morrisburg Reeve Bill Dillabough. The new Pinkus Plaza was completed, and several businesses were beginning to move in, including Jennifer Lynn's ladies wear store. Along with Dr. George Slow's dentist office and Stedman's, a submarine restaurant and arcade were preparing to greet the public.

The Morrisburg Public School senior girls' cheerleading squad scored its second consecutive championship at the annual competition held in Iroquois. Members of the team were Lisa Fowler, Susan Loce, Shelley Riddell, Pam Gowanlock, Debbie Elliott, Lisa Crowder, Karen Gowanlock and Heather Cruickshank.

The Morrisburg Minor Hockey Association was existing only under a signature presented to the Ottawa and District Minor Hockey Association. Morrisburg recreation director, Mary Rasenburg, had signed the association's registration form in the hope someone would step forward to head the organization. She signed only to get the ball rolling, and if no one came forward by November 15, her name would be withdrawn and the association would no longer exist. For several years the organization had experienced problems regarding the naming of an executive. Even last year, a number of meetings were held before Jim Jordan stepped in to pilot the ship. Jordan had prior commitments this year, and was unable to return. One hundred and thirty youngsters were registered in the program.

Members of the Hulbert United Church congregation decided to rebuild their church, which had been gutted by fire in September. Cost of the project was estimated at $70,000.

At the annual Lions Club Applefest, Gord McGregor remained the reigning pie eating champion, after defeating Dr. Gerry Rosenquist.

The October 17, 1969 issue reported corn-on-the-cob was being served every day at 2:30 p.m. at the Wildlife sanctuary east of Morrisburg.

At the Dominion, a five pound bag of McIntosh apples was 59 cents, and cross rib roasts were 79 cents a pound.

The October 16, 1959 issue of The Leader reported the local adult polio clinic had been very successful with about 800 people being inoculated. Dr. Louden was in charge in the afternoon, and Drs. Lambert and Robertson in the evening.

Construction of the district's newest television station, CJSS TV, was proceeding on schedule.

The South Dundas District High School Board informed village council a thorough study had been made on the suggestion of a community centre being built on school lands, and it was decided all school lands were required for school purposes. It was believed high school attendance would rise to 500-600, and it would be unwise to reduce the school's 14 acres as in future the school site would be inadequate.

Seen 'n heard Around The Town

Last week we were told of a lady in town who almost entered into a doubtful contract for some work around her home. You might ask yourself how people get into these situations, but it happens quite easily. In this case the lady welcomes visitors, after all what's the harm, right? She's alone and someone came along suggesting she needed some work done, which she did. They got to talking casually about this, that, and the other thing and then wham... came the hard sell. By this time she was intimidated, and unable to say no. Luckily her son-in-law showed up in time to prevent her from signing on the dotted line. The work would have cost her double what a local contractor would have charged, claims the son-in-law. And the wording in the contract is very tricky.

"We recommend people deal with local contractors, and especially caution people about dealing with those who contact you," says OPP Constable Al Lummiss. "Be sure to get more than one estimate for a job, and check on when the work will be completed. Stay away from an open ended contract, always question the construction time."

Still on the subject of golf, even though the season is quickly winding down, another hole-in-one has been reported. After more than 30 years of playing golf, and watching his wife sink no less than four holes-in-one, Brian McNairn is finally on the come back trail. Playing at Upper Canada Tuesday with, get this, Hocus, Zonc, and Eugene, he nabbed his first ace on the par-three 13th hole which was playing at about 120 yards. Using his pitching wedge, he says the ball hit once, about two feet in front of the hole, and rolled in. His witnesses' names are Doug Simpson, Steve Thompson and Eugene Montroy. His only comment was "Yahoo".

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor—Realizing the huge volunteer effort there is in South Dundas, I thought I would share the following information from Statistics Canada which gives a glimpse at the state of this country's volunteerism.

- Volunteerism is up 40% in Canada since 1987
- Almost 7.5 million Canadians volunteer. Of that total, a core 2.2 million do 80% of the volunteer work.
- About one in three Canadian adults volunteer.
- Sixty-five per cent of volunteers have regular jobs
- Volunteers give up 1.1 billion hours of their time every year, an average of 149 hours each
- The total number of volunteer hours works out to 578,000 full-time job equivalents.
- The economic value, if translated into paid work, comes to $16.3 billion.
- Eighty-eight per cent of volunteers donate money to charity, $239 each on average.
- Female volunteers outnumber males by 54% to 46% margin.
- Early exposure to volunteering promotes the practice. Four out of 10 children, whose parents volunteer, will also volunteer.
- Teens and young adults, ages 15-24, are the most likely groups to volunteer today.

In regards to the last statistic I would like to comment, that many, many times I have heard people say it is the same people doing the same things all the time.

This may seem true in some cases, but maybe it is up to the long time volunteers to share their space, and give guidance to those who will hopefully follow.

By being receptive to new ideas and encouraging young adults and parents to become part of the volunteer base in our communities we will ensure our organizations thrive in the future.

Anne Marie Waddell

Dear Editor—Considerable attention has been given by the media to the horrible tragedy that occurred last month near Windsor, when several lives were lost, and many others marred by serious injuries and heavy property damage. Surely there is widespread concern that action must be taken to prevent such carnage in future.

Most of the views expressed call for additional road construction, such as paving of shoulders, and provision of median barriers, but very little seems to have been said about proper observance of Traffic Laws, and more cautious operation of vehicles.

I personally travelled that piece of road a few days prior to the accident, and found it in good condition, and safe and pleasant to drive.

Traffic was heavy, which is probably normal, but even a third lane would probably not have made a noticeable difference. Had there been a third lane at the time of the accident, no doubt the number of vehicles involved would have been increased by about 50 per cent.

I was, at the time mentioned, nearing the end of a seven week, 12,000 km. trip, and felt a certain elation at being back in Canada again, but I did not let that elation lure me away from my usual habit of driving on or very near to the posted speed limit.

That limit had been somewhat higher in some States I had passed through, and it is easy to become adjusted to travelling at a higher speed. However, a steady stream of vehicles passed me, at speeds that I estimate were usually at least 25 km. over the limit.

Had a fog bank, or any other condition, reduced visibility suddenly, the same sort of tragedy could well have resulted.

There have, in the recent past, been suggestions the current speed limits should be increased, as traffic tends to travel above them in most areas. I hope such changes will not be instituted, but rather enforcement of existing laws could be stepped up, and a concerted effort be made to control the traffic flow to safer speeds.

We are told additional police personnel will be assigned to the London-Windsor area, but will that not reduce law enforcement in other areas of the province?

No doubt many drivers with me on the highway that morning were also still some distance from home. Would their speeds be any different when they were further down the road?

We are all aware of the demands made on our tax dollars, and perhaps it is not realistic to suggest more police constables be hired. However, there is a widespread view held that 20 km. over the limit will be overlooked.

This seems totally wrong to me, and I submit that, if this is the usual practice, and I suspect it is, it should be firmly and forcefully changed, and that speeding infractions of any amount, should not be tolerated.

We have seen police cruisers carrying a motto "To serve and protect". If laws passed for our protection are not being enforced, we are not being well served or protected.

I have noticed, in this recent case, and in most other cases of which I have had some knowledge, that , of those vehicles leaving the roadway on Highway 401, by far the majority enter the median.

I conclude this is usually because they were in the act of passing a vehicle, when the second driver, also decided to pass, and pulling out, forced the first driver to steer to the left, often with disastrous consequences.

In many cases the driver causing the problem, may be blissfully unaware of the hazard created.

I therefore, suggest the Government should seriously consider the following actions:

1. Immediately instruct OPP officers to enforce existing speed limits with very few, if any, exceptions.
2. Undertake an advertising campaign to make the public aware of this apparent policy change.
3. Include in such advertising, or in a separate campaign, an appeal to drivers to use extreme caution when pulling out to pass, and not to rely entirely on side mirrors, which almost always leave a "blind spot".

I hope my observations and suggestions will be of interest to other travelers of our roadways, to police officers, and to our elected officials.

Sincerely,
W.G. Keyes

"God's Beautiful Creation"

This past week I had the wonderful opportunity to spend some time driving through the countryside. My Wife and I were on vacation and we were blessed to have some time to appreciate God's beautiful creation. One of the nicest places I have ever seen, especially at this time of the year, is the Upper Ottawa Valley. From Pembroke, we drove along highway 60 to Huntsville. There is a town a few miles east of Barry's Bay called Wilno, Wilno is situated on high ground and this allows you to be able to see for miles. Thursday past, as we drove through the area, the sun was shining brightly and the colours that could be seen for miles were breathtaking, to say the least. Both of us commented several times on God's handiwork.

You know, the more you think about it, all of what God made is beautiful. Consider the lakes, streams, the fish in them, the animals and birds, all are beautiful and unique. Even man, whom God made in His own likeness, displays God's creative beauty. We may have somewhat the same basic characteristics but we are each of us unique. Someone once told me, in jest I suspect, that when God made me, He threw away the mold. I'm sure He did, in fact when He made each of us He threw away the mold. Our DNA testifies to the validity of this.

I'm told that no two snowflakes are exactly the same, and you know, as I admired the beautiful colour of the maple trees this past week, I did not see any two of them alike. Each of us as well are beautiful, yet different. Genesis 1:31 says, "when God saw all He had made, it was pleasing to Him, He declared it to be very good." The unfortunate reality though, is that which God made became marred by sin. Genesis chapter 3 tells us the story, Sin corrupted the wonderful creation which God made. The good news is that God knew all about what would happen and He had a plan. John 3:16 tells us, "God so loved what He had created that He gave His one and only son, that who ever believes on Him would not perish but have everlasting life." You know that precious truth is presented to us in living colour this time of the year. As we look at the beauty of the countryside we are reminded that the beauty can only be seen because the leaves are dying. When we think about Christ dying, there too we see beauty, the beauty of God's love for His creation and the beauty of life for all who believe.

From A Biblical Perspective

Rev. Duncan Perry

God's word tells us, "the soul that sins must die," but when we put our trust in Jesus who died in our place we who were under the penalty of death is made alive in Jesus. Because He died for us, we don't have to die for our sin and because He lives, He overcame death and the grave, we shall live also. God's beautiful creation has served to remind me of His great love for me. May I encourage you to admire His handiwork and marvel at His love for you as well. If I can be of any help to you I can be reached at 543-2681 reached at 543-2681.

Prospects brighten, but still problems

by Catherine Thompson

MORRISBURG—Upper Canada Playhouse had a great season this year, artistic producer Michael Bianchin informed the audience at the opening of the Winter Series on Friday.

The Playhouse is on a three year plan to renovate the building and bring the deficit down, and is already planning the next season.

"The quality and standard of the work is what I wanted in the first year here," he said.

"Things have gone well, but I use the word cautiously," he told the Leader later. "We know we're on the right path. We had $24,000 more in single ticket sales, that means seats for 2,000 more people this year than last."

"And if it's good this year, it has to come back two fold next season. We made the right decisions," he continued.

However the theater still has problems which include an inherited deficit, posted at $180,000 last year, and there are many problems with the building.

"The deficit is manageable," Bianchin said. "Over four to five years, you can whittle it away, but to produce and at the same time deal with the building is very difficult."

This year the Playhouse had to buy dimmer packs and install new wires for the lighting, and the women's washrooms were upgraded. To have suitable lighting, lights were rented from Queen's University.

Bianchin said these improvements used up the $24,000 increase in revenue and the sound and lighting systems still need $20,000 in upgrades. The men's washrooms, handicapped access and emergency exits still need to be upgraded.

"To bring everything up to operating at the appropriate level and make it a suitable public venue, we need $150,000 over two years," he continued.

"We had some help in knocking off a bit of the deficit from the municipality which helped us with back taxes," said Bianchin. As well as looking after $7,200 in taxes, the Township gave a grant of $5,000 for this year's operating season.

"The municipality, Lions Club, individuals in the private and public sector have been very helpful," he said. Also beneficial are partnerships with tourism through Upper Canada Village and the McIntosh Country Inn. A group tour of 170 has already booked a date for next August.

"The Playhouse is headed in the right direction," he added. "We've had top designers and great performers. If we can keep setting the high standard and continue to work at a high standard, I think it will be successful. It's all in the quality of the work."

The picture is different now than it was in March, "when it seemed like we could make it work. Now I know we can make it work."

One encouraging sign Bianchin has is comments from patrons that play selection is "not only entertaining but intelligent".

"We're making it a point to be regional in our response to what the audience is looking for. Our audiences is not just local, but some are from Ottawa, Brockville, Cornwall, Quebec and the United States."

Generous donations

Craig Packaging helps out

by Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

IROQUOIS—Martin Habraken, Manufacturing Manager at Craig Packaging spread around a lot of good will here last Thursday.

On behalf of Craig Packaging and its employees Habraken handed out two cheques with a total value of $7,500 to local charity organizations.

Accepting a cheque for $5,000 was Diana Pethick, Chair of the Board of Directors for the Dundas County Foodbank, and Nick Lee, the Foodbank's vice-chair and treasurer.

The Foodbank has been in dire need of donations of both food and money the last few months, as "This has been a particularly worrying summer because of the double complication of a reduction in the grant received from a major sponsor, and because of the increased demand at the Foodbank for assistance," said Pethick.

"We are absolutely thrilled with the generosity of Craig Packaging. This donation of funds will go a very long way in alleviating the immediate problem."

Habraken handed out a second cheque for $2,500 to Judi Baril, Executive Director for United Way of Leeds and Grenville.

According to Baril, in the last three years there has been an increase in individuals from this area using her organization's services.

"We have started building relations with clients in the Iroquois and Morrisburg area," she said noting that often members of a rural community are more comfortable aligning themselves with organizations in smaller communities than with those in the cities.

Habraken was extremely pleased to be able to make the donations on behalf of Craig Packaging, which employs 60 workers in the production of corrugate boxes.

"Actually these donations are on behalf of the employees," he said. "If they do good for us, then the company does good."

Reform president looks to election

CORNWALL — At its annual general meeting held here on October 14 the Stormont Dundas Constituency Association of the Reform Party of Canada elected a new Board of Directors and executive.

Outgoing president Charles Dillabough who has held the position for three successive terms noted that "the time has come to hand the reins over to someone new. This will allow for more attention by myself to the potential upcoming election."

Ken Moran, who has held the position of vice president for two successive terms, becomes the new president. Dillabough said; "Rotations of roles is a wise decision so that board members can expand their knowledge of the organization."

The new Board of Directors for 199/2000 is as follows—Ken Moran-president-Cornwall; Charles Dillabough-vice president-Chesterville; Annette Turner-treasurer South Mountain; Janice Moran-secretary-Cornwall; Eliane Beresford-board member-Winchester; Morris Beresford-board member-Winchester; Dirk DeMos-board member-St. Andrews West; Joyce Dingwall-board member-Finch; Norman Ford-board member Cornwall; Nick Gruich-board member Chesterville; Bob Howald-board member-Morrisburg; George Lloyd-board member-Cornwall; Ian McLeod-board member-Ingleside; Keith Thompson-board member-Moose Creek.

Incoming president Ken Moran said that he was pleased with the new Board and looked forward to working with them over the coming year. "The new Board of Directors is composed of both experienced people who were on the Board last year and new people with fresh ideas. This is a very enthusiastic and energized team we have in place, and I am greatly looking forward to working with them to build the presence of the Reform Party here in Stormont-dundas over the next year. The Board members come from all regions of the riding, and as such will be in touch with people's concerns."

North Dundas prepares for airplane crash

WINCHESTER—Local firemen, police officers and paramedics will join others in a static exercise to focus on coordinating resources at the site of a major emergency.

Area emergency response personnel together with the members of the North Dundas Emergency Planning Committee will take part in an emergency preparedness exercise on Thursday, October 21st at the Nor-Dun Seniors Support Centre. This exercise will review the Canadian concept of emergency site management. The participants will use an exercise scenario based on the crash of a commercial airliner in the township.

They will identify the response agencies that are likely to be on site for such emergencies and be introduced to a site management organization to ensure that response efforts in a major disaster are effective and efficient at the site.

This is the second emergency preparedness exercise conducted in the Township of North Dundas this year. Another exercise to continue building on the lessons of this latest exercise is planned for January 2000. These exercises are financially supported by the federal government's Joint Emergency Preparedness Program. This program is administered in Ontario by Emergency Measures Ontario, Ministry of the Solicitor General nd Correctional services.

Bill Shearing, the township'[s emergency measures planner said: "Major emergencies are a strain on the limited resources available in a township like North Dundas. This problem can be offset by education and training before they happen. "

Shearing has planned the exercise with assistance from the township's emergency planning committee.

This exercise is one more segment of the Township of North Dundas' ongoing emergency planning process aimed at safeguarding citizens and their property.

South Dundas Council briefs. . . . . .

Lagoon plan shelved

Council is setting aside a plan to modify the Williamsburg Lagoons to accommodate septage from Twin Peaks, because it's too costly.

Rick Eamon, vice president of M.S. Thompson & Associates Rosemount Group, presented the estimated cost of capital improvements including design and supervision at $18,000. Also the Ministry of Environment charges a fee of $3,800 to provide technical review and approval for an amendment to the Certificate of Approval.

The total annual operating cost to remove solids deposited in the lagoon is estimated at $4,076, and Eamon recommended a tipping fee of $43 per 1,000 Imperial Gallon. The fee was determined by assuming a 10 year debenture at eight per cent for capital cost and annual cost of removal of solids from the lagoon bottom.

However, Whitteker put a damper on the project by saying: "It's too costly for the short term. It's too costly to utilize for dumping septic to it and it will shorten the life of the lagoon if we get a subdivision."

The contractor may be getting a bigger truck and not use the lagoon to empty it, may go to Cardinal or another location after he finishes at Iroquois sewage treatment plant.

"The road is not built for a big truck," Whitteker added.

Special Circumstances Fund

South Dundas has received a cheque for $145,000 from the province under the Special Circumstances Fund, to look after additional costs of realigning local services to meet new responsibilities during transition. When the cheques were first handed out in April this year, South Dundas was noticeably absent from the recipients, and subsequently applied for funding.

"It went in the press when we didn't get it," said Clerk Bill Horner.

"We didn't push the issue too hard, because we didn't wish to hurt our chances," said Whitteker.

Help for Artificial Reefs

A project proposing artificial reefs off the Morrisburg waterfront may get help from an unexpected source.

At a recent Council meeting, Youth Services (HDRC) grant participant Eddie Cadieux presented the idea of installing artificial fish reefs to reduce erosion, increase biodiversity and enhance the appearance of the shoreline.

After reading about the project in a local newspaper, Blue Circle Aggregate in Gloucester offered to donate aggregate for the reefs and to assist with transportation.

"This changes the discussion quite a bit," said administrator Mike Waddell. Council had previously okayed the plans, and the administrator was to look into funding. Cadieus reported the Ministry of Natural Resources and Coast Guard had also seen the proposal and had no problems with it.

"Cornwall did it and it protects the shore line from erosion and for future growth," said Martel.

The discussion will now go through economic development for the possibility of applying for Millennium Funding.

Council bullish on bear hunt

The Township concurred with the Township of Baldwin's motion lobbying for reinstatement of the spring bear hunt in Northern Ontario. The Township of Baldwin claims the closure was "due to a political whim or power play for election purposes and not based on sound or truthful facts". It is also asking funds for a new group of concerned citizens under the banner of Canadian Outdoor Heritage Alliance, which aims to "protect and preserve the heritage rights of Canadians to hunt, fish and trap in an ethical manner", especially since this is "important to the survival of communities and individuals in northern and remote communities in Ontario".

Although the resolution asked for financial support for the COHA, Council approved only the first part of the motion, not the financial request.

"This Texas MacDonald (acting reeve of Baldwin) represents these people from that neighbourhood who feels they should have it, it behooves me not go against their wishes," Martel said.

Coun. Bev Sabourin and Coun. Audrey Rooney did not support the motion. "I can't see killing the female bears with the young ones. The little ones will starve," Sabourin said.

Agri-food needs funding

Council has supported a resolution of the municipality of Chatham-Kent, requesting the federal and provincial governments "to respond immediately t the inequities and undue hardship placed upon the farm community."

Current returns to the farmer i corn, soybean, wheat, pork an beef in Chatham-Kent are 75 mil lion dollars below the five-yea average, and the losses impac upon the economy. In addition, th courts have identified examples o market fixing that added artificia costs to farmers. Plus there is ar increasing ownership of agricultural suppliers by transnational interests.

South Dundas Council supports Chatham-Kent's request that both levels of government ensure programs to farmers to keep them competitive with other trading partners and competitors. Both levels of government are to pursue "any hint of market collusion that would create unfair costs or decrease market prices to our farmers."

Timothy Christian School News

School has begun, and is in full swing! So far this year, we have experienced a hot dog lunch, a rummage sale, soccer tournament and a lot of fun! We have started to do some heavy learning, but still enjoy ourselves.

We have time to laugh, to play, to learn, and to be serious. As we approach the end of our second month back, we are learning more and more about God's love, his creation, and more about ourselves and friends. We learn about the world and science. We hope to have many more experiences throughout the year. Kelsey Schmitz, Grade 8

Top Swingers and Sweepers

The weather was perfect for the annual Swing and Sweep tournament hosted by the Morrisburg Curling Club Saturday. Above, left to right, members of the top swingers and sweepers team were Garry and Caroline Beckstead, Laurie Davies and Brian Cochrane. The foursome shot a two-over-par 73 at the Morrisburg Golf Course for 9.5 points and topped that off with 21 curling points to win the day. The top golf team was Sean Zeran, Barry Zeran, Kelly Rombough and Lee Hollister who brought home a 69 gross score. Top curlers of the day were Chris and Nancy Barkley, and Rick and Peggy Leroy who won five of six ends, for a 14 - 2 victory. The most sportsmanship entry included Jennifer Stevenson, Peg Langley, Sue Brashaw, and Carrie Desmeres. Lions lose two in weekend Jr. B action

by Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—The Morrisburg Junior B Lions handled a pair of losses in Rideau-St, Lawrence Junior B hockey action last weekend, bringing their record to two wins in eight starts.

They started off the weekend action with a 5 - 2 loss to Kemptville Friday night, and Saturday they travelled to Alexandria where the Glens scraped out a close 4 - 3 win.

The win put the Glens in first place, tied with the Char-Lan Rebels at 12 points each.

The Glens built a quick 2 - 0 lead early in the first period on goals from Louis Brisson and Eric Leroux, but the Lions got one back at 4:51 of the frame from midget affiliate player Brad Casselman who was assisted by fellow midget players, Scott Barkley and Eric Irvine.

Following the three goals in the first five minutes of the first period, neither of the teams was able to get another counter past Mattheiu Blanchard in net for the Lions, nor Trevor Cunning seeing action for the Glens.

It wasn't until 10:32 of the second, with the Glens on the powerplay that Luc Lanthier was able to up their advantage to 3 - 1.

The Lions came out flying in the third, Greg Millard and Daniel Beland connecting in the first five minutes of play to tie the game 3 - 3.

But once again a penalty made the difference, the Glens connecting for the winner while on the powerplay with 6:26 left in the game.

Scoring the winner was Simon Menard with the assist going to Joel Poirier.

"The key rule with this club is discipline," says coach Barry DeGray. "Discipline is the major factor. They are still taking unnecessary penalties at key times."

"If we play five on five, we are there with every club," he added. "Penalties are killing us, they just can't keep flying off the handle."

"An undisciplined team will never go as far as they should or as far as they are capable of."

DeGray was pleased with the play of the affiliated players in Saturday night's game. "They played well, and scored a goal."

Details of Friday night's game were not provided to the press.

Coming up this weekend the Lions host The Char-Lan Rebels on Friday night at 8:30 p.m., and and Saturday they travel to Akwesasne for a 7:30 p.m. match.

A special highlight of Friday night's game, will be the attendance of the Seaway District High School band, which will be entertaining between periods, and during play stoppage.

Atom Kings allow opponents the edge

VANKLEEK HILL—The minor atom Kings played two games on the weekend, first hosting the Ottawa Sting Saturday in a 4 - 4 tie, and then travelling to Vankleek Hill where they claimed a 6 - 4 win against the Cobras Sunday.

The games were most interesting and entertaining for the fans, as the Kings allowed both opponents two goal leads after the first periods.

Saturday against the Sting, Sam Coyne started the second period comeback when he deflected a Brandon Elliott shot. Matt Hummel picked up the other assist.

With a little over two minutes left in the frame, Andrew Warren tied the game with help from Matt Lajoie and Lucas Mott. That was quickly followed by the go ahead goal from defenceman Steve Allan.

Heading into the third, and backed by strong goaltending, the Kings looked in control, but a minor penalty at 7:57 proved costly, the Sting connecting on the powerplay to tie the game 3 - 3.

With 2:44 left to be played Warren scored his second of the game, from a Nathan Slack pass to again put the Kings up by one but they couldn't hold on. With 1:14 left the Sting, again on the powerplay, tied the game 4 - 4.

Sunday the Eastern Ontario Cobras played to a 2 - 0 first period lead, and increased it to 3 - 0 early in the second.

It wasn't until 11:01 of the second that the Kings were able to figure out the Cobra goalie, Stewart Peters finding the hole with help from Kyle Atkins.

Less than a minute later the Cobras stuck again to reclaim their three goal lead, which seemed to bring the Kings to life.

Sam Coyne, playing on the off wing, scored two beautiful goals along the ice, to cut the Cobras to a 4 - 3 lead heading into the third.

Less than two minutes into the final, Lajoie bent the twine off a Coyne pass to tie the game 4 - 4.

Coyne then proceeded to connect for another pair, giving the Kings a 6 - 4 win and completing a five point performance on four goals and one assist.

Helping Coyne on the goals were Bobby Little and right winger Andrew Warren, who made an excellent diving back check to prevent a last minute break away.

The Kings next home game is Thursday, October 21 at 7 p.m. against Ottawa Sting.

The Kings are also hosting a tournament October, 22-23 in Prescott with the finals in Spencerville on Sunday the 24th. Game times on Friday, Oct. 22 are 9:20 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday times are 9:20 a.m. and 4 p.m. Finals start at 8 a.m. There is no admission charge.

Open thriller for Bantam House team

MORRISBURG—The Morrisburg bantam house team made their home opener here Saturday against South Grenville quite a thrill, by coming back to tie the game 5 - 5 with nine seconds left on the clock.

South Grenville jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first with goals from Curtis Vanthyning and Matt Hicks.

The Lions roared back on markers from Jamie Hess and Matt Hicks with assists going to Jamie Byvelds, Tyler Norgaard and Corey Lanthier.

South Grenville moved ahead 5 - 2 with goals from Vanthyning, Neppelder and Jamie Clarke.

Morrisburg mounted their comeback in the dying seconds of the second period with Hicks scoring on a breakaway. With help from Norgaard, Hicks struck again in the third to leave the Lions down by just one.

With the seconds ticking away, Hicks was able to slide one home during a scramble in front of the net to tie the game 5 - 5, and complete a four-goal performance and a natural hat-trick.

Andrew Chung and Nick McGill played solid between the pipes for the Lions giving the team the support they needed for the comeback.

The next Bantam House home game is Saturday, October 25 at 1 p.m. against Brockville.

by Bonnie McNairn
Leader staff

IROQUOIS—It was Nationview all the way, as they claimed the Dundas County senior girls A and B soccer championships here last Thursday.

It was the Nationview A team claiming the A championship with a 2 - 0 win over Benson.

They worked their way to the final with a 2 - 0 win over the Iroquois As, a 2-0 win over South Branch, a 3 - 0 win over the Iroquois Bs, a 2 - 0 win over the Nationview Bs, and a 1 - 0 win over Kemptville.

Benson had the second best record of the day with a 1 - 0 win over the Iroquois As, a pair of scoreless ties against South Branch and Kemptville, a 3 - 0 win over the Nationview Bs, and a 4 - 0 win against the Iroquois Bs.

The final regulation match of the day was between the Nationview As and Benson, so because they were the top two teams, the game became the championship final.

For the B championship it was the Iroquois B team against the Nationview Bs. That finished with a scoreless tie which forced a kick off. Nationview claimed the championship in the kick off putting three goals into the net to Iroquois' one.

Members of the Nationview A championship team were Christine Roskell, Jennifer Deuries, Leah Grant, Louise Mulder, Mindy Delle Palme, Brittany Spratt, Lisa Brogan, Megan Kittle, Kady Maksimovic, Dana Kittle, Rena Peto, Nicol Cardinal, Erin Hendriks, Lori Schuurmans, Emma Bowie, Ashley Hutt, and Vicky Robert. Bantam B's give up two goal lead

ALEXANDRIA—The Morrisburg Bantam B Lions were unable to hold on to a 4 -2 lead in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League action against Alexandria here Saturday.

Alexandria was first on the scoreboard with a short-handed goal from Pierre-Paul Decoeur, but with 4:10 left in the first frame the Lions' Richard Banford evened it with help from Scott Carswell and Tyler Strader.

Strader put the Lions one up early in the second, Carswell getting his second assist and Chris Cullen adding his help, but Kris Hehn connected while Alexandria was on the powerplay to again even it.

The Lions took charge of the second period with goals from Cole Dingwall and Rob Waddell to carry a 4 - 2 lead into the final.

Alexandria cut the lead early in the third with their second powerplay goal from Steven Owens, and with 2:22 showing on the clock Hehn, with his second of the game, tied it 4 - 4.

In exhibition action last Tuesday, the Lions were at home to Kemptville. Despite a 2 - 1 first period lead, they settled for a 4 - 3 loss.

Kemptville tied the game 2 - 2 in the second, and outscored the Lions 2 - 1 in the third for the 4 - 3 win.

Robbie Waddell, Nick Groves and Tony Barkley produced the Lions' goals.

Golf Club elects new directors

MORRISBURG—Members of the golf club here will see some familiar faces in some new places, and some new faces in some old places.

That's the result of the elections held Sunday at the annual fall meeting which attracted only 25 members.

Ralph Duvall moves to the past president position vacating the presidency which was taken over by Sean Duvall, who was formerly the club captain.

Filling the club captain position is Mike Barclay, who was formerly the treasurer.

Alice McNairn remained on the board as secretary, and Sean Boulerice is the new treasurer. Roger Dunn stayed on as vice president.

Also staying on board is Tony Cummins in the grounds position, and Claire Dunn became the ladies club captain. Formerly the past president, Roy Gummeson became the senior representative.

The only major change for the club was a clarification to the junior golfer age. Children may now become club members the day following their eighth birthday regardless of when their birthday falls.

Lions battle off Sharks

CARDINAL—The Atom House Lions opened their season here Saturday with a 3 - 0 win over the Ogdensburg Sharks.

The Lions came out flying in the first period, putting a lot of pressure on Sharks' goalie, Noah Garnsey, but he kept his team in the game with great goaltending.

With 4:47 left in the first period, the Lions finally put one past Garnsey, when Jary Hess scored assisted by Jarell Green. The Lions kept digging and in the second Craig Duvall, just coming off a three year retirement, skated by the defence and blew Morrisburg's second goal past Garnsey. Duvall was assisted by Peter Coolican and Peter Toonders.

Duvall struck again in the third period, assisted by Kurtis Corry, to give the Lions the 3 - 0 win.

Lions' goaltenders, Andrew Tupper and Jeff Eamon, combined for the shutout.

Coach Doug Cassell claimed he was very pleased with the boys' first effort, and they look good for the coming season.

Cassell's assistant coaches are Gary Hess and Rob Corry. The trainer is Dale Tupper and the manager is Jim Mills.

A number of parents have stepped forward to offer their assistance in a variety of ways. Everyone looks forward to a fun and successful season.

HALL–Irwin, October 26, 1975.
Your end came sad and sudden,
No time to say goodbye,
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.
A golden heart stopped beating,
Hard working hands at rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us
That he only takes the best.
God gave us strength to face it,
Courage to stand the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
Only God will ever know.
You're someone very special,
Someone good and true,
You will never be forgotten,
For we thought the world of you.
–Daughter, Pat Hall-Beckstead 42p

MARCELLUS–In loving memory of a dear husband, Roy, who passed away October 14, 1988, and a dear son, Gordon, who passed away May 9, 1962.
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As the years have passed on
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever dear.

Riverside Heights W.I. meet

RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS—President Annette deVette welcomed everyone and opened the October 7 meeting of the Riverside Heights Women Institute with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect.

The Motto was a good mother is like a quilt, she keeps her children warm but does not smother them. Roll Call was answered by 12 members, and the minutes were read and approved.

The financial report was given, and Doris Errett indicated she had sent several get well cards.

After correspondence was read and acknowledged, a short discussion was held on whether or not to cater to the Lions' Club once or twice a month. All voted against this as there are not enough helpers.

A report was given by Eileen Gallinger who attended a meeting at the Matilda Branch on organ transplants and the need for them.

Bev Brown brought up a concern she has after reading about sharing our Canadian water with the U.S.A. It was suggested it be mentioned at the Area Convention in Pembroke October 18. Two ladies from the branch will be attending.

Eileen Gallinger brought to our attention, a Standard Freeholder clipping which was very much like the Mary Stewart Collect.

Annette deVette thanked everyone for the success of the garage, bake and graft sale. Raffle winner of a home-made poncho was Edie Gratton.

Hiltrud Weiher announced she had delivered invitations to local high schools for students working on projects on the history of the Seaway.

After all business was taken care of, Convener Marion Moore gave a lively demonstration on the history of square dancing. It was interesting to learn Henry Ford was instrumental in the beginning of square dancing. Marion had an assortment of outfits, and explained where they had been worn. She had personalized some to match her husband's. After answering questions, she gave a short sample of square dance they use in finishing.

Everyone enjoyed her presentation, and she was thanked by a round of applause.

After Grace was said, a lovely lunch was served. Next meeting is November 4 at the George Jowat Centre. It will be a pot luck at noon. Everyone is welcome.

Anyone interested can call Annette deVette at 543-2732 or Hiltrud Weiher at 543-2200.

Note: Did you know the Women's Institute was instrumental for the flashing lights on school buses?

Williamsburg W.I. Fall Meeting

WILLIAMSBURG—The October meeting of the Williamsburg W.I. was held at the Park Lane Seniors' Support Centre.

In the absence of President Isobel Williams, former president, Bettie Locke, opened the meeting with greetings to all.

Following the singing of the Institute Ode and recitation of the Mary Stewart Collect, 10 members and two guests answered the Roll Call, "What are W.I. members leaving for posterity?"

The motto for the program was "Knowing what to do is not enough, we must do it".

Minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted, and the treasurer reported a balance of $500.75.

Members voted to give $50 to the Dundas County Hospice, a registered charitable organization funded by donations from individuals, businesses, service clubs, churches, etc. A grant from the Ministry of Health provides partial funding for In-home volunteer programs.

Ruth Algire introduced our speaker for the evening, Luella Robinson, the Provincial Director representing Sub-Division 1 of the W. I. She had chosen to attend the convention of the Associated Country Women of the World, held in Pretoria, Africa in 1997.

She told us many interesting things about life in Africa, and showed us pictures taken there. She must have really enjoyed her trip, as she spoke so enthusiastically about it.

A social period was enjoyed with lunch served by Norma Harriman and Audrey Casselman.
