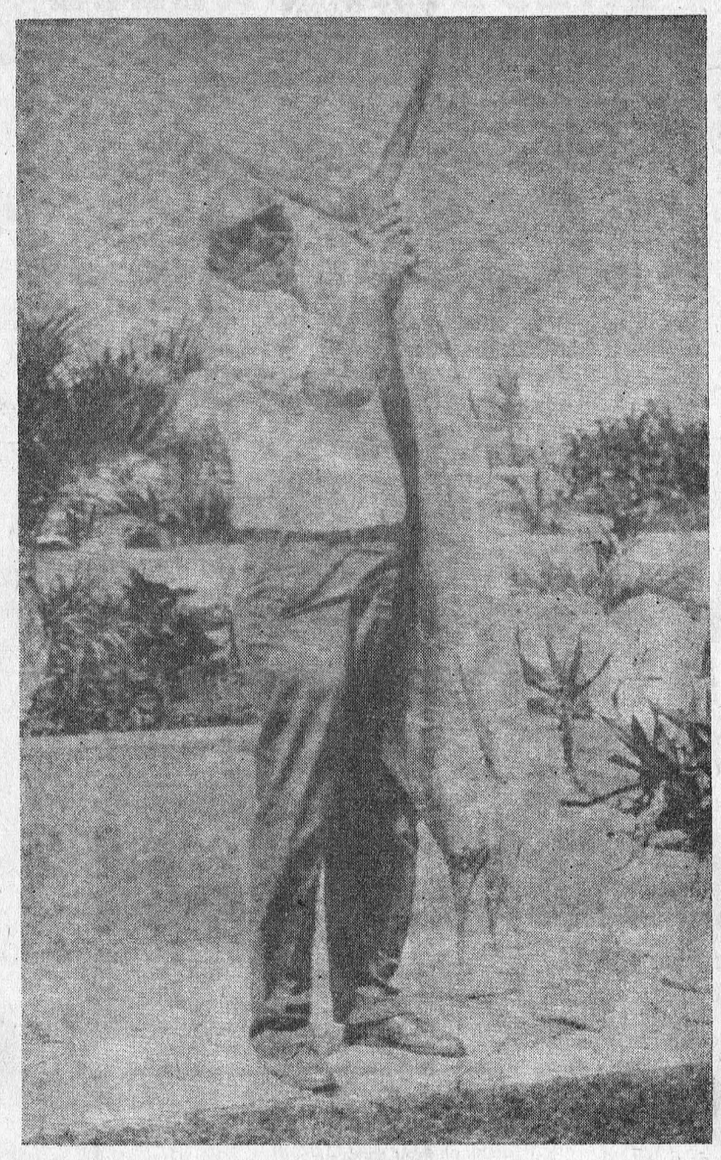
This One Didn't Get Away From Len



Back in the good old B.S. (before Seaway) days, Len Keck was the typical small-town undertaker, unable to enjoy as much fishing as he would like. However, the big change in Morrisburg changed all that. Len declined to re-open his business in the "new" town and instead, he serves as a replacement for other men in the profession, as they take off for fishing and other favourite pursuits. But once a year, Len takes off for the sunny south and gets in his licks there. Our photo shows the happy fisherman with his catch, a 35-lb. sailfish taken on the 13th of March, off Riviera Beach, Florida. It took Len over half an hour to land this one, which he had smoked and frozen to bring back to Canada. We tasted it,— it was delicious.

Mets Open Here Friday, May 9th

On Friday, May 9th, the Morrisburg Mets will open a new season of lacrosse at the Community Centre, where they will be opposed by the Cornwall Celtics.

Mets are operating in a league this year with teams entered from Alexandria, Ottawa and Cornwall, (the latter having just one entry this year. The league promises to be a very strong one this year with no "weak sisters" involved, as has been the case in previous seasons.

The local team will open the season with some new faces. Missing will be five of their stellar performers from last year, who are now out, due to the age limit for junior players. Missing from the lineup will be the familiar figures of Joe Billings, Jack Notman, Erwin Meyer, Steve Casselman and Jim Cameron. However, the keen interest displayed in minor lacrosse during the past few years is now beginning to show concrete results and the Mets are confident that their graduates from the minor ranks, plus some new recruits, will produce a strong contender to retain the league championship they won last year.

The Mets will also enter the Junior B Playdowns held in Toronto where an Ontario champion will be decided to compete in the Summer Games at Halifax late in August.

Practices will begin in the Community Centre at 10:00 o'clock on this Saturday morning, and any boy who would like to try out for the club will be welcomed.

Last season, the Mets persistence payed off, when they culminated a five-year history by contesting the Canadian Championship in Winnipeg. It is our understanding that the team whic hwon that title Elora, has now been moved up to Junior A ranks, and will no longer be competition for the Mets.

Final Tribute to Edgar Whitteker

Many friends throughout a wide area learned with regret of the death of William Edgar Whitteker, well known retired farmer of Williamsburg, who died of a heart attack at the Glen Nevis Nursing Home following a lengthy illness.

Born on July 30th, 1892, Mr. Whitteker was a son of the late Roland Whitteker and his wife, the former Eupha Merkley, of Williamsburg. He was educated in this area and took up the occupation of farming, which he carried on successfully for many years. On June 11th 1913, he was united in marriage at Morrisburg, to Miss Frankie Froats of Williamsburg, who survives.

During his lifetime, Mr. Whitteker took an active interest in current events, and in all the affairs of his township. He served with distinction on several township councils in various capacities. A highly regarded intelligent man, he will be missed by a wide circle of friends.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Carl, of Montreal; two daughters: Hilda, at home and Eva (Mrs. Lloyd Marcellus) at Ingleside Also surviving are three brothers: Arthur and Harold of Williamsburg and Walter of Chesterville. A brother, John, predeceased him in 1951, and a sister, Carrie, (Mrs. James Hanson) in 1928.

He was a member of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg.

Funeral service was held Saturday, April 19th, in the IOOF Hall at 2 p.m. with his minister, Rev. W. J. Goos, officiating. Interment was in the new Union Cemetery at Williamsburg.

Pall bearers were: Ross Whitteker, Graham Froats, Ward Whitteker, Dale Beckstead, Paul Whitteker and Ivan Whitteker.

REEVE McINNIS IS GUEST SPEAKER AT F.O.A. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Federation was held recently in the Winchester Town hall. Carlton McInnis, Morrisburg, introduced by Dogu Irvine, gave a very interesting talk on the pleasant topic of wills and death taxes. The speaker stated that there are still a number of citizens under the impression that if a will is drawn up it brought on a quicker death. He recommended that a will be drawn up and reviewed every three or four years to keep in line with, not only changing family conditions, but changing legislation concerning gift, inheritance and death taxes. Mr. McInnis also stated that there was a trend for some of the larger farm units to become incorporated. The speaker was thanked by Martin Schneckenburger.

The President, Arthur Milne, welcomed the gathering and gave a short report on the year's work. The Financial statement showed receipts of $2316.00 and expenditures of 2224.00 which included $1800.00 remitted to the Ontario Federation. The small ballance does not leave much to spend on local projects, which strongly points out that any farm group has to be properly financed to be effective.

Miss Diana Baker, Morrisburg, presented a very enjoyable musical program which was extremely enjoyed by the audience.

Hugh Blaine led a discussion on the necessity of one general, well-financed, farm organization to be financed by a check-off system on farm products sold. One tenth of one per cent was mentioned or $20. on a $20,000.00 farm intake. This would give the Organization approx. $1,300,000.00 per year. Hugh stated that the much-talked-of vote on a one farm organization should be taken in early summer and urged all farmers not only to vote for the scheme but to see that their neighbours understood what the vote meant and then to make sure they voted. Agriculture has lost its political power since only 5 per cent of Ontario's voters are farmers and a strong organization representing all farmers is needed to bring farm problems to the attention of governments.

Doug Keys, stated that the growing of corn was still on the upswing as he understood that the seed houses have reported a 25 per cent increase in the sale of seed corn. He also reported that approx. 800 acres had been tile drained in the county in 1968 and that it was expected that this would be increased by a hundred acres in 1969. Doug also supported the discussion on the one general farm organization.

Orval Guy spoke very strongly in support of the one general, well

Cheesemaking Circa 1867 At Upper Canada Village

For centuries, cheese-making all over the world was a home industry, some being sufficiently large to supply not only family needs, but outside sales as well. So it was in Canada until the early 1860s when the first cheese factory was opened in Ontario, introducing a new era and concept in the dairy industry.

Large numbers of cheese factories were built, many as co-operatives, and while numerous problems had to be worked out, cheese-making left the farm forever.

For many years this new industry flourished, serving not only local demand but also becoming a prime export to foreign markets. In later years, technology and further process centralization by-passed these factories, one by one, until today only a relatively few survive.

One cheese factory that will with stand time and technology is located in Upper Canada Village where visitors can see cheddar cheese made exactly as it was one hundred years ago. It is patterned after one in Glengarry County in 1867, and here the visitor may not only see the full process, step by step, but also hear the cheese-maker explain each operation.

The technique in making cheese is as old as it is new. Each day during the operating season at Upper Canada Village, Wednesday and Sunday excepted, 2960 lbs of milk are poured into a wood-fired metal vat. Vegetable colouring and rennet are added.

The milk to cheese process takes about six hours, after which the cheese curd is placed in metal hoops, pressed and left for twenty-four hours. When the hoops are removed, the cheese is transefrred to the curing room, temeprature 58 to 60 degrees, for a minimum of eight weeks. The curing period will vary according to the requirement for mild, medium or old cheese.

2960 lbs. of milk will process into about 300 lbs. of cheese; however at The Upper Canada Village Factory, each run is made into about 100 lbs. of cheese and 200 lbs. of curd. The curd is sold in one-half pound packages and old cheddar cheese in wedges of various sizes.

In the not too distant future, the small, manually operated cheese factories may join the steam engine and a lengthening list of "Remember When" items of yesteryear, but like the horse and buggy, their contribution during the formative years will have permanent recognition in our history.

Quiet Wedding at Dixon's Corners

A small, but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Anne's Catholic Church, Dixon's Corners, on Saturday, April 12th, when Henrica J. Verhoeven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Verhoeven, of R.R. 1, Williamsburg, became the bride of David Rice, of Ottawa, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rice of Laurier Drive, Morrisburg. Rev. L. Cummings officiated at the midday ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a floor length satin sheath with scalloped lace overlay; her floor-length veil was held in place by a petalled flower headpiece, and she carried a crescent of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Verhoeven, who chose a pink satin floor length dress with net overlay. Her short net veil was held by a pink satin bow and she carried white flowers with pink streamers.

The groom was attended by his brother, Danny Rice, of Morrisburg

For the reception for about 30 guests, held at the bride's home, her mother was receiving guests in a mint green coat and dress ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the groom chose a 3-piece double knit turquoise suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For her wedding trip to Western Ontario, the bride was wearing a two-piece brown and white dress, with matching jacket and beige accessories.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Rice will take up residence in Ottawa.

Mrs. Fraser Heads Women's Institute

Mrs. Thomas Fraser was re-elected president of Morrisburg Women's Institute at the annual meeting held in the auditorium of the Public School. Mrs. Grant Beckstead conducted installation of officers which also included: Mrs. Kenneth Beckstead, past president; Mrs. Cephus Smyth, vice president Mrs. Albert Utman, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Cephus Smyth, District Director; Mrs. Malcolm Robertson, Mrs. Lorne Kinkaid and Mrs. Grant Beckstead, branch directors; Mrs. Hugh Gillmor, curator; Mrs. Henry Clark, card convenor; Mrs. Hugh Shennette, pianist; Mrs. Ray Coligan, press; Mrs. Walter Bowman and Mrs. Kenneth Beckstead, nominating committee; Mrs. Beckstead and Mrs. Ross Casselman, auditors and Mrs. Ross Casselman, public relations office

Convenors of standing committees presented interesting and comprehensive reports of the activities of the past year.

April 23 was chosen as the date to hold the annual birthday party at Glen-Stor-Dun and it was decided that Riverside Heights Women's Institute be invited to join the local group in making the occasion a success.

Roll call was answered by payment of dues.

Mrs. Clifford Sypes, program convenor presented a reading the motto: "Too many square meals make too many round people".

Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Cephus Smyth and Mrs. Utman were appointed as delegates to attend the District Annual meeting at Morewood later in the month.

Little Theatre Presentation Wins Praise

The Junior Workshop of Morrisburg's Little Theatre group presented a professional performance Friday and Saturday at the Civic Centre under direction of Lee Jeffrey. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs featured Kathryn Thom as Snow White, Jo-Ann Cameron as the prince with Peggy Steer portraying the Queen, Cheryl Aikman, the lady-in-waiting and Mary McLean, the hunter. Dwarfs, animals, flowers and birds and grass were realistically enacted by supporting members of the cast.

Stage settings featured the queen's private chamber in the castle, the dwarfs' cottage and the forest. The work was extremely conducted by stage hands Derek Dickinson, Brian Jeffrey, Jackie Booth, Shirley Skully, Lillian Coles and Diane Perault.

The story of Snow White saw a surprise ending whom the prince was led to the lady's bier by the bluebird. She was awakened from her sleep while dwarfs and creatures of the forest gathered to rejoice and the wicked queen was deprived of her magic powers.

Dwarfs were portrayed by Terry Cassell — Dopey, Jo-Ann Beavers, Sleepy, Kim Rosenquist, Happy, Patricia Steer, Grump. Marilyn Mc Lean, Sneezy, Roxanne McLean, Doc. Sherry Pinkus, Bashful.

Animals were: Gilbert Miner, skunk. Nancy McLean, Bunny, Beverly Hill, chipmunk. Doris McKinnon, doe. Polly Lee, turtle, Marie Cayer, Tammy Casselman, Karen Shearing were the grass.

Stephanie Miner, Sandra Howard, Lynn Greer and Karen Aikman were tiger lily, violet, rose and daisy with Susan Beavers, Phyllis McKinnon and Cindy Cuglar the bluebird, the cardinal and the canary.

Jackie Booth was the story teller when members of the cast danced and acted their parts with dialogue.

Excerpts from "Giselle" saw dancers tell of the ancient legend which says that one night a year, the "Willis" (ghosts of betrayed brides) arise from their graves and any any man found wandering in the vicinity is doomed to dance till he dies.

The ballet Giselle is a story of a village maiden who falls in love with a prince. The prince's fiance tells Giselle who her lover really is and that such a marriage could never be. Giselle seeing the hopelessness of her situation takes her life. In the spirit world Giselle's light still burns strong when the prince, in his sorrow visits her grave and is caught by the Willis. Giselle begs for his life and by keeping him within the shadow of the cross on her grave, until sunrise, saves his life.

Cast members were: Dana Baker Giselle; Penny Dillabough, Father; Janet Patterson, Nola Webb, Lorie Perrault. Pat Cayer, Ann Marie Smith, Laurie Cruickshank, Willis.

BELL LINES

by Larry Holtby, your telephone

As I sat down to plan my column this month, I couldn't help but think of an incident last yeear that had at least one Bell Canada tester wondering about his sanity. On two different occasions, two different repairmen sent him the same report about telephone difficulties near Chippewa, Ontario. Both reports stated, "drop wire chewed by llama". While one might be inclined to write the whole thing off as a publicity stunt to boost the Niagara peninsula as Canada's banana belt, the reports turned out to be legitimate. Llamas are kept at the Marine Wonderland and Game Farm at Chippewa and one of them decided to test his teeth on our drop wires.

While this was the first time we've had to contend with llamas, we have had problems keeping our cable out of the way of squirrels, lightning and bad weather. We've been burying more and more of it; it looks better and also protects the cable from the natural hazards I've mentioned. However it also seans that cable could be buried on your property and could be damaged if you're planning to excavate — whether to plant trees or shrubs, put up a fence, build a patio or a barbecue pit. One healthy thrust of a shovel, it its directly above our cable and telephone service in hundreds of homes and businesses could be disrupted.

So if you're planning any major digging, could you give us a call at 4104 first. We can quickly tell you if there is cable buried on your property. If there is, we'll come over and show you where, free of charge. That way, you can avoid disrupting telephone service both for yourself and your neighbourhood.

Here are a few tips for long distance callers. Jot down the important points you want to cover before you place your call and keep a scratch pad and pencil handy in case you want to write something down during your conversation. Check your telephone directory for Area Codes and Long Distance Rates. Don't forget that rates get lower as the hour gets later.

If you leave a babysitter in charge when you go out, don't forget to leave her a number where you can be reached. She should know where emergency numbers such as Fire, Police and Doctor are located too. Your phone book provides you with a special space for these numbers —— right on the inside front cover.. If you haven't already filled in these numbers, why not do it now. Your babysitter may never have to use them, but you'll feel more secure knowing she has them handy.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Weekly Report

SPRING CLEANING

By: Barry Warwick,
Management Forester.

Spring is here once again, and what little snow is left, is quickly disappearing, leaving behind a drab landscape covered with debris which has accumulated in the snow during the winter. Our lawns and gardens are covered with branches and twigs which fell during several ice storms, as well as scraps of paper,, dead grass and leaves.

It will be during the next few weeks when we will spend a good portion of our time around the home cleaning and preparing the landscape for nature's spring flowers and fresh green foliage.

This spring cleaning is an annual event with a large number of people, but to some of us, as we look across our fields to where a large woodlot, but what can we actually do? During this year brush, weeds and grass will invariably invade the area which was once a woodlot. Should we let our cattle in to trample the brush, the tops of the once standing trees and to feed on the grass Should we attempt to burn the area in hopes that fire will consume the brush and tree tops. Definitely not! Nature, in most instances has its own way of handling these situations and if protection is given to the woodlot, eventually a good portion of it will return to forest.

There are a few things that can be done to assist the woodlot in re turning to its original state. Protection is a necessity. Protection from both livestock and fire. In many instances our next forest is already established in the form of young seedlings, there from previous years, which were waiting for the extra light they required to grow and had not received while the original forest was there. Our new forest is also present in the form of seeds and stumps which will sprout when the soil is warmed by the sun. All this new life if it is grazed or bruned, will be destroyed, greatly increasing the period which is required for the new generation of trees to become established.

The tops of the trees which were felled will, if in contact with the ground, rapidly disappear, returning humus and nutrients to the soil, while they remain the tops provide a degree of protection to the new growth. The brush and grass will, over a period of years, succumb to the new forest and once again disappear from sight.

A quick assessment during the summer will indicate the areas where assistance is necessary. This may possibly involve the planting of nursery stock in open areas. These areas being where the new seedlings had been destroyed by the logging operations carried out in the winter. A careful selection of the species to be planted should be made and the number of seedlings required should be estimated so that they can be ordered during the coming winter and planted next spring.

If you are undecided on what should be done, contacting the Department of Lands and Forests will initiate a visit by one of their staff and a brief plan may be written, outlining a programme which if carried out, will assist the forest once again in bringing us beauty as well as financial returns.

How much home are you missing through outdated wiring?

When this house was built it was hard to imagine all the wonderful ways in which electricity would be serving us today. That's why the wiring in so many older homes just isn't adequate for today's needs.

There are many signs. Fuses blowing. Lights dimming. Appliances performing sluggishly. Cluttered extension cords. Not enough outlets.

So, if you're planning to modernize your home, think first of the wiring. Have a qualified electrical contractor check it. You'll be surprised at how easily and inexpensively it can be updated. The Hydro Finance Plan makes it easy to get started right away. Just ask your Hydro.

nhba The Name of the Game is Electrical Living.

Given an inch of a glowing cigarette or burning matchstick dropped carelessly, fire will take a square mile (and more) of forest. Given a few cubic inches of old oil and rags in a corner, fire will take a whole acre of factory.

Given an inch or so . . . of frayed extension cord, or curtains too close to a stove, or a fireplace screen too narrow . . . fire will take your home and the lives which are in it.

Year after year, fire takes an average of 600 lives in Canada. Five times as many Canadians are disfigured or injured, and property worth more than $150 million is destroyed by fire.

By any of these criteria, the cost of fire-causing carelessness is great. But the most terrible toll is in young lives. A third of those who die by fire are children.

Some of these children die because they are left alone, some die because they play with matches. There are other reasons too—but virtually all the deaths are preventable. Children die in fires through the ignorance or the carelessness of their parents or other adults.

Don't give fire an inch - you've got far too much to lose!

An Unholy Mess in Education . . .

AN EDITORIAL IN THE GLENGARRY NEWS

Right across the province anguished cries are arising from municipal and educational officials concerned with the threat of escalating school tax rates. If area councils are not joining in the chorus of protests it may be that our elected are not reading the newspapers and regional school board members are not talking for publication.

There is no doubt but that the regional school board concept was rushed through by Premier Robarts without sufficient prior study of its impact, especially on the municipal taxpayer.

Some rural municipalities see the threat of a 100-mill increase in education costs, based on the grant regulations issued by the Department of Education. Across the province, the average increase could be 50 to 60 mills and Queen's Park is being besieged by irate municipal councils and regional school boards that will have to bear the brunt of public outrage.

At Toronto, it seems, chaos reigns in the Department of Education where some means is being frantically sought for easing out of the mess. Word has gone out to all regional boards to halt preparation of their budgets until a solution is found.

The politicians and the master planners of regional boards will undoubtedly come up with some device calculated to ease the impact of school taxes this year. Unhappily though, there will be no lasting benefit for the Ontario taxpayer. He will have to meet these irresponsibly high costs of education in some guise, some time.

This is our money that is being spewed out for $30,000 administrators, for overstaffed regional boards that are encouraged to overspend by the Department of Education.

Perhaps you have missed the reports from other centres where there is an awareness of how heavy education costs will hit.

Out of Woodstock comes word that urban areas in Oxford County will pay perhaps 20 mills more for education and some rural townships will have as much as 50 to 60 mills added to their tax bills. Tavistock is a village of 1300 souls with some 500 owning their own homes, over 60 years of age, and on fixed incomes. Their reeve sees them paying from $150 to $200 extra taxes because of added costs of regional education.

A report from Pembroke indicates that the Separate School tax rate in Radcliffe Township would have to be increased by 108 mills to meet the requirements of Renfrew RC Separate School Board's budget. This is an estimate of the regional administrator and the township clerk foresees a mass shift of taxes to public schools as a result.

"Another fiasco" is the way the vice-chairman of the Lanark County Board of Education describes the situation looming in that county and across the province. His regional board must finance on money borrowed from the banks and he estimates interest charges of $30,000 this year.

Our United Counties Board has become enmeshed in the language debate and perhaps that is the reason it has not been crying the financial havoc we hear from other boards across the province. There have been no estimates of what the increases will be locally, but we have reason to shudder if only judging by the salary scales the boards are dishing out for administrative staffs. When one reads of a copying machine being acquired at a thousand dollars, of plans for junior high schools, kindergartens for every centre in the counties, area administrative offices and all the other plans for munificent outlays, including computer programming, one must get the feeling the day of reckoning will be when the taxpayer gets his bill.

Premier Robarts and the "brains" of the Department of Education may find more grant money or some way of spreading the increased costs to future budgets. No matter their face-saving solutions the bills will some day come home to roost on Ontario's already overburdened taxpayers.

Thinking people foresaw the threat of uncontrolled spending by these regional boards of education. The fault is less with the trustees, purely pawns of the Department of Education, than with the Robarts Government which rammed this regional concept down our throats.

Please, Mr. Robarts, not regional government, too. We can't afford it.

LOCAL and GENERAL

Misses Suzanne and Betty Gordier, daughters of Mrs. Hubert Gordier, and the late Mr. Gordier, of Ottawa, were among the thousands who took part in the "March for Millions" in the capital city last Saturday. Suzanne, 16, completed the entire 40 miles of the walk, while Betty, who is 11, did some 25½ miles of "picking 'em up and laying 'em down". The girls are granddaughters of Mrs. Ida Gordier of Morrisburg.

financed, farm organization. He said that if it didn't materialize that the Federation and the Farmer's Union might as well fold up as neither was sufficiently well financed or had the support of all farmers.

Mike Elliott, former fieldman for the Federation, now in charge of organizing the five Eastern Ontario Counties for the vote on the new proposed set-up, reported that the counties were starting to set up a structure so that every farmer would be called on to discuss the vote and that he expected all present to assist.

As it is expected that before the Summer is over the new organization will be in effect, a motion was passed asking the present executive to continue in office to assist in the change over.

The meeting closed with a lunch provided by the Annable-Melvin Ladies Hospital Auxiliary unit.

PRETTY SPRING WEDDING AT IROQOIS CHURCH

Miss Barbara Ann Johnston and George Albert Watson exchanged wedding vows in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Iroquois, on Saturday, April 19th at an eleven-o'clock morning ceremony, performed by Rev. R.V.A. Rogers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Johnston of Dixons Corners and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Watson of Winchester.

Mrs. Ruby Bell, aunt of the bride, organist, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Bert Hopkins, cousin of the bride. Mr. Clarence Watson assisted his brother as best man; Sidney Johnston and Robert Watson were ushers. The bridal attendants were Miss Mar-Lindie Watson, Mrs. Sandra Johnston and Miss Nan Perry.

Mr. Johnston gave his daughter in marriage. For her wedding, the bride wore a floor length white lace gown and carried a cascade of yellow roses. Miss Perry, maid of honour, was attired in a yellow lace over white silk taffeta gown; the bridesmaids wore mauve lace over white silk taffeta gowns.

The mother of the bride chose a mauve and white crimplene ensemble with white accessories; the groom's mother selected a rose and white brocade dress with matching coat and white accessories.

Guests from Montreal, Oshawa, Toronto, Ottawa, Brockville, Osgoode, Vernon, Winchester, Williamsburg, Kingston and Iroquois an area attended the wedding reception, following the ceremony, in the church hall.

On their return from a wedding trip to Western Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Watson will reside in Dixon's Corners.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Barbara Ann Johnston was guest of honour at showers, held in her behalf, on three separate occasions. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Brouse, Miss Nan Perry, Mrs. Lee Shaver, Mrs. Karl Bell and Mrs. Floyd Gilmour.

"Youth in Revolt" is Theme of Conference

"Youth in Revolt" was the theme of the annual conference of the deanery of Stormont held Sunday at Allan Hall, Morrisburg.

R.C. Short, principal of St. Lawrence College, Cornwall was one of the two guest speakers. He said, "There is no doubt that student power is a legitimate force in our modern society". He spoke of students rights and freedoms noting that "Freedom, without exception, is attenedd by an equal measure of responsibility". The speaker stated that "with over one half of Canada's population under 25 years of age, student rights must include being allowed to question values, to expect competent educational facilities and guidance while sharing power commensurate with ability".

"Freedom" Mr. Short said, "is attended by responsibility. Silent protest against activist minorities is not enough. If students are sincere about identifying their rights and freedoms, they will also observe the rights and freedoms of faculty, administration and the tax payer".

The speaker expressed concern over the "taxpayer protest". He said "Since $1500 per student per year comes from public funds with additional subsidies for many, the taxpayer has a right to be considered. He is the decisive source of finance in education.

"The older generation acknowledges that the world is not perfect", Mr. Short told the conference. "Young people", he said, "tend to be idealistic. This is a good thing because the elevation of the sights of the younger generation has always made a contribution to the improvement of society.

Rev. Kent Doe of Trinity Church, Cornwall addressed the gathering on "Youth". He said, "There is an understandable prevalence among young people today to rebel against the old idea that Children should be seen and not heard. Shock techniques are employed by may".

"The majority", he said, "are not revolutionaries, they are sheep and this "sheepiness" must change to "shepherdness". The speaker stressed the importance of parents and teachers "identifying, listening and working with to-day's vital youth who feels that they want their light to shine". He concluded by saying: "The sin to-day is that we hear not".

Following the remarks of each speaker the meeting formed discussion groups and studied questions arising from thoughts presented by the speakers. These questions were then discussed by the gathering as a whole.

Alfred Shorten, Morrisburg conducted the conference and it was felt that valuable insight into youth problems was gained by leaders and delegates.

A banquet supper was served in St. James Anglican Hall prior to the early evening session. The conference concluded with participation in a Folk Mass held in St. James Church. Guitarists and singers were Debby Poff, Del Carry of Holy Trinity Cornwall and Neil Bellefeuille of Long Sault with Rev Kent Doe on the drums.

Delegates and observers attended from Iroquois, Vankleek Hill, Winchester, Morrisburg, Long Sault, Good Shepherd parish and Holy Trinity Parish, both of Cornwall and from Hawkesbury.

Report from the Ontario Legislature

By Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

While the Easter Recess may have been a rest and a change for our Provincial Legislators, it did not improve their attitudes towards the business of the House and the Province. The few days of this first week after Easter produced some of the worst efforts of Members on both sides of the House. The Minister of Social and Family Services, whose Estimates are barely moving through the Committee of the Whole House, has been undergoing a very searching and even personal attack from both Opposition Parties. Indeed one noisy night, the House had a marathon sitting on these Estimates — from two o'clock in the afternoon until 2:40 a.m. the following morning with practically no real progress. If this mood continues to possess the Members, the Ontario House might well equal the sorry spectacles of some few years ago which Members of the House of Commons presented to the Canadian public.

The House concluded its consideration of the present constitutional problems of our nations with the Member from Sudbury expounding at interminable length many views which could only commend themselves to himself. However, all Party speakers were in agreement that the problems were most serious and all seemed also in agreement that Ontario must take, and in some respects had taken, the lead in proposing possible solutions.

A steady stream of new legislation reached the House each day indicating not only that the Ministers had been busy during the Recess but also that there is still a great deal of new work awaiting the Assembly.

In answer to a question from the Liberal Party Leader, Prime Minister Roberts seemed to indicate that next Fall would see the by-election occasioned by the death of the Conservative Member for Middlesex South. When this contest does come, it will be an indication of the success or failure in the eyes of the people of the many changes in the education, government and welfare areas of our Provincial life which have been initiated by the present administration.

O.P.P. REPORT

Ontario Provincial Police in Dundas County last week patrolled 13,278 miles, during 1,002 working hrs. During this time there were 38 charges laid under the Highway Traffic Act, along with 61 warnings being issued.

In the past week the Ontario Provincial Police from Morrisburg and Winchester Detachments investigated 2 thefts, 1 Break and Enter and 27 miscellaneous complaints. Two persons were charged as a result of these investigations. There were also 12 infractions of the Liquor Control Act resulting in 12 persons being charged, and one arrest for public intoxication.

On our area highways there were 5 property damage accidents and 2 personal injury accidents, which resulted in two persons receiving minor injuries.

Provincial Judges Court was active last week with officers spending 19 hours in court and registering 49 convictions.

Morrisburg School Patrol Member of the week: Wendy McGregor.

PLAYING SAFE

There are always some people who think that accidents can't happen to them and don't bother too much about safety precautions. Accidents do happen to all sorts of people, including at times the innocent bystander.

When you play hockey there is always a chance you will get hurt. But if you use common sense you won't get hurt — if you play only when you are in good condition, if you play with boys about your own size and weight, and if you year protective hockey gear.

When you play baseball there is always a chance that someone will follow the bat carelessly or that someone will hit you with a ball. But again, if you take sensible precautions and follow the rules of the game, the chances of injury are greatly lessened.

When you go swimming, you can feel reasonably safe if you take a few sensible precautions. Don't take chances by swimming alone — be sure a good swimmer is nearby in case of trouble. Choose a place to swim where the water is safe and clean and, preferably, supervised by lifeguards.

If more people were safety minded, your neighbourhood would be a safer place to live in.

TAX TIPS

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

This income tax column has been prepared by the Ottawa District Office, Department of National Rev enue, Taxation. The questions used are common ones, and the answers usually straightforward. However, unusual circumstances sometimes alter the answer. If your question isn't answered here, or in the Income Tax Guide, phone 992-5051, in Ottawa, or write National Revenue, Taxation, Ottawa 4, for free advice by K. L. Reid, District Director, Ottawa Taxation Office.

Q. Why are there two numbers on my income tax for?

A. The number which is printed in the form with your name and address is a special account number which is made up from letters from your surname, your date of birth and other identifying factors. If your name is Smith this number positively identifies you among the 50,000 Smiths in Canada. It also enables the computer to match your return with that of last year and thus speed up processing. The other number shown on the income tax form is the social insurance number which is used to record payment into the Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance matters. In any correspondence with the Department it is important to use the account number of social insurance number to avoid any unnecessary delay in locating your file.

Q. My wife is working and earned over $1,250 in 1968. I know I can't claim the married exemption of $1,000 on her behalf but can I claim this $1,000 on behalf of our child instead?

A. No. The $1,000 exemption for support of a child may only be claimed by a person who is not married, or if married, is separated from and not supporting his wife.

Q. If I claim the children as exemptions on my return, can my wife claim the medical expenses paid on their behalf on her return?

A. Ordinarily, the answer is no. However, where the bills for the child's medical expenses were received prior to 1968, there are some circumstances when it would be possible to do this. Your District Taxation Office would be glad to give you further information.

Q. I am in a farming partnership and some of the depreciable assets are owned individually and some jointly. What is the best way to show our capital cost allowance claim?

A. The profits of the partnership should be allocated to the partners before a claim is made for capital cost allowance. You should list the assets owned by the partnership on one schedule and the assets owned by you individually on a separate schedule. You may claim your share of the capital cost allowance on partnership assets and full allowance on your own assets.

Q. My daughter is seventeen and attends school. She is receiving a Youth Allowance of $10 a month. Do I claim $300 or $550 for her?

A. You can claim an exemption of $550 for her. Youth Allowances are different from Family Allowances in that they don't affect the exemption you can claim for your child.

WILD GEESE AND A WILD GOOSE CHASE

Wild geese and a wild - goose chase were the order of the day at Morrisburg OPP office on Tuesday.

At 6 p.m. the previous day, in the wake of a huge tanker moving up river, a report was received that a man could be seen clinging to one of the buoys. Thinking that it might have been someone washed overboard the police and Ralph Black launched a motor boat and hastened to the scene only to discover that it was a workman from the American side busy with repairs.

As for the wild geese, the sky east of the village was alive with V-shaped wedges of the geese heading north from the sanctuary at Upper Canada Village.

Queen's Park Comment - -

There has been quite a hassle recently at Queen's Park over the fee increase the province's doctors voted themselves last April 1st. The Government has brought in a bill to raise OMSIP payments to meet the new fee schedule: you can bet before long there'll be another boost in the OMSIP premiums.

The Government at first failed to give notice of their bill, so it was withdrawn over Easter. Last week, when it came back, our party tried to move an unusual motion to block the bill: the speaker ruled us out of order. Before long, the bill will be up for debate.

Our point is that the Government should insist on the doctor's rolling back their fee increase. They should not be permitted to unilaterally alter the financial basis of their participation in the public health insurance program. That should only be done after consultation, and in a manner responsible to the Legislature.

The Government should design a formula which would ensure some public control over the rise of doctors' fees in Ontario. It should be possible to establish an over-all ceiling percentage increase within which the medical profession would have to work.

Its purpose would be to keep payments under the insurance program in line with changes in the cost of living and with wage levels.

Doctors would be free to make specific fee changes, so long as the total impact did not exceed the percentage laid down in the formula.

In a word, guidelines for the doctors.

There should also be a much greater degree of accountability by the profession; through, I suggest, the Legislature's Standing Committee on Health. This is where fee increases should be justified, with the doctors being represented by the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Until we get this accountability, and until there has been produced acceptable guidelines, the recent doctors' fee hike should be rolled back. This can be done by refusing to change the present OMSIP payment rate, and by not allowing doctors to double bill their patients.

I wish we could have a little more hope that the Government would take this action. Fact is, they seem unable to cope with the powerful doctors' lobby; or else, they go along with the doctors.

There was an earlier fee increase two years ago, when we went through exactly the same process. At that time, Health Minister Dymond told the House how unhappy he was about the hike, and how he was going to set up procedures which in the future would provide "prior consultation and joint agreement" between the doctors and the Government before any action was taken.

No such agreement or consultation seems to have been employed this year. And so the Opposition is settling in for a long battle to protect the public insurance plan and to keep medical costs down.

Both the stork and the obstetrician have large bills.

It is with regret that we have to advise you that due to greatly increased costs of operation, we find it necessary at this time to revise our rates. This increase in cost of operation is largely due to the increased cost of power from Ontario Hydro. We have absorbed the increase in cost of power for quite a few years now, and now our increas in sales of electricity are not adequate to do this any longer.

All accounts rendered on and after June 1, 1969, will be billed according to the rates indicated on the left. Please note — all rates shown are net.

The average increase in a domestic bill will be 75c per month.

Commercial and Industrial customers will be combined into a new General Rate Classification which will more evenly distribute costs of supply service. Because of inequities that existed in these rates, the increase will vary with each customer.

We would also like to add, that in checking back in our records we find that an average domestic bill in 1944 has increased only about 17c pr month with the rates that we are presently using — The commercial and power bills compare quite favourably, which we feel is a pretty good record, considering the items we buy have gone up about 300% in price.

Doris Clark

Always hungry and shy

DEAR DORIS — What can I do to overcome my self-consciousness? I went to my friend's home for the week end and even though I had a lovely time, I really didn't enjoy myself like I wanted to.

You see, I would just sit at the table at mealtime like a statue and just pick at my food. I was too scared and too ashamed for them to see me eating. I was hungry and thought as each mealtime came around, "This time it will be different," and it was! It was worse than the first time.

We went to certain restaurants and when Bill would ask what we were going to have, the words "Nothing at all" came out. I craved for food but I just couldn't bring myself to give in and eat.

I am 16 years old and four-foot-eleven. I weigh only 98 pounds. I have a very poor appetite, even at home.

Really Bothered

DEAR BOTHERED — There are assorted reasons for poor eating habits. Since I take the words "ashamed", "self-conscious", "scared", as clues, I'm thinking there was some faulty early conditioning in your case.

Even a baby reacts to jangling or un-serene atmosphere by rejecting food. Later a small child may be scolded about eating until his stomach ties up in a knot. Can you think back to any untoward circumstance which put you off eating?

Sometimes just knowing the cause is enough to bring about a better state of mind and feeling. My urgent suggestion would be a consultation with your doctor, a study of Canada's food rules and a resolution to try again to give your body the nourishment it needs.

DEAR DORIS — This man I love is married but is not happy. He has a cute five-year-old daughter. He says he loves me more than anything in this world.

But he doesn't believe me when I say I love him, and the reason he gives is that I haven't told his wife about us. Doris am I supposed to tell his wife just to prove I love him? Divorce is out because of his religion. I am 19. He is 31.

Puzzled

DEAR PUZZLED — He thinks you were born yesterday — and I find myself wondering how naive you can get!

No man was ever safer. He won't tell his wife himself; couldn't get a divorce if he wanted to, which he doesn't. Knows you won't tell her; and can fool you into taking the blame for the situation.

Don't let him break your heart. Run, don't walk, into the arms of someone your own age before all the nice ones marry somebody else.

DEAR DORIS — For the past two weeks I have been dating a fellow whom I feel I like very much. The problem is that he is a Negro!

He seems to be a very respected and well educated person; as well as mannerly and friendly.

I know that this relationship could lead to love, and even marriage. I know the problems that a marriage could bring but we both seem to have the same feelings for each other.

It seems that everyone thinks a girl is indecent if she keeps company with a Negro.

Skin Deep

DEAR SKIN DEEP — Not on your life, I don't! It's what's under the skin that counts. Yet racial prejudice still dubs the Negro-dating girl as degraded, in some quarters.

Your love better be pretty strong and steady, because there'll be problems a-plenty. Your children will inherit them. Your families will come in for criticism — both families. Work relationships, social connections, even (I'm sorry to say) church ties, may come in for hampering, isolating treatment.

Love — good enough — can weather it all.

FALLING

Compared with car accidents, falls aren't considered to be the cause of very serious accidents, so they don't get the same publicity.

But in one recent year, 2,000 Ontario farm people were injured in falls. Some lives were lost, and medical bills totalled more than a quarter-million dollars.

Help to prevent dangerous falls on your farm by doing away with the hazards that cause them. Insurance protection against the expenses of farm falls and other accidents is available from:
