Plaza plans reach high water mark

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - The point set by the Ministry of Natural Resources as the high water mark of the South Nation River at Chesterville will not be an obstacle to the construction of the proposed shopping plaza.

The actual location of the mark, based on the river's 100 year flood and at levels after the construction of the new dam here, caused some confusion last week for both the North Dundas Planning Board and for village council.

Council had prepared an amendment to the Offical Plan of the North Dundas Planning Area to change the land-use designation of the 2.75-acre parcel of land on the south end of the Queen St. property slated for the new plaza and presented it to the board at its meeting last Tuesday night in the Winchester Township Municipal Offices.

Neither council nor the board knew the exact location of the mark, but according to Ray Currier, water resources co-ordinator for Ontario conservation authorities, the mark was determined to be at 227.4 ft. above sea level. According to a chart prepared by the Ottawa consulting firm of J.L. Richards and Associates Ltd., this would be about 100 ft. above the bank.

The property the village is trying to have rezoned doesn't begin for another 100 ft. above that, which would put it in accordance with the area's Official Plan. The Official Plan states development can take place anywhere above the high water mark. The rest of the land, between the 2.75-acre parcel and the riverband, would remain open space, according to the village's amendment.

The amendment goes on public view Monday night in the Winchester Township offices and if there are no objections, it will be passed by the planning board and forwarded to Toronto for provincial scrutiny.

Except for the confusion regarding the high water mark, termed an unrealistic figure by Chesterville representatives Fred Coons, Harold Sharkey and councillor Bert VanKessel, there were no other serious obstacles to the zoning switch.

The matter was brought up at last Tuesday's meeting of the planning board at Maple Ridge.

Thursday Councillor VanKessel brought the matter before village council's regular meeting and reported that the high water mark was the only serious concern.

Before development of the plaza can proceed, the amendment must be accepted at a public meeting, then must meet the approval of the Ministry of Housing.

In addition, the village must pass a zoning bylaw changing the land-use designation of the site. This in turn must be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

The plaza is to be located just east of highway 43, south of Queen St. near the liquor store.

Developer for the project is Prime Sites Development Ltd., Peterborough.

Industrial park proposal made for Winchester

WINCHESTER (Staff) - A group of Winchester businessmen is planning to develop a 13.9-acre industrial park on village and Winchester Township land between Gypsy Lane and the CPR tracks on the village's south side.

Four acres of the proposed park, which would begin 1100 ft. west of St. Lawrence St., are under village jurisdiction, the other 9.9 under the township's.

First stage plans for the development call for the construction of a 15-unit industrial plaza on the village property and a 130,000 sq. ft. heated storage warehouse on the four-acre township section.

Ten of the 15 units will be approximately 2500 sq. ft., three of them, 6,000 sq. ft. and two buildings, which would front the plaza, would be 5,000 sq. ft. in area.

The 15 units would be used to house light industry, offices, wholesale and storage outlets.

One of the principals in the group, which does not wish to be indentified until the project is confirmed, explained his understanding of light industry was garages, or light manufacturing concerns. "No belching smokestacks", he stresses.

The second phase would involve building individual units on the remaining 5.9 acres of

Township backs ARDA drains extension

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - Winchester Township Council passed a resolution calling for an extension of the one-third subsidy for municipal drainage paid by the federal-provincial Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Administration, at its regular meeting last Wednesday.

The subsidy is scheduled to come up for review after March 31. At its January meeting in Toronto, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture called for the renewal of the subsidy until 1980.

Along with the ARDA portion, another third of the money for municipal drainage comes from the Ontario Minstry of Agriculture and Food with the last third raised by the farmers themselves.

Winchester Township's resolution will be forwarded to local MP Ed Lumley as well as to ARDA. No specific period for the extension was mentioned in the resolution.

"There wouldn't be any ditching if we didn't get that," said Reeve Delbert Link of the ARDA subsidy.

In other business, council approved tile drainage loans of $11,200 for both C. VanDelst and G. Drannen, $7,300 for F. Lynch and $15,000 for St. Lawrence Gardens.

Road subisdy allocations from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for 1978, amounting to $57,800 for construction and $133,000 for maintenance were announced.

Council agreed to pay contractor Art Brennan $50,000, reducing the holdback on the Petit Castor drain from $92,379 to $42,379.

The holdback is a percentage of the contracted price held for 37 days following completion of a project. Clerk-treasurer Glenn MacGregor explained council decided to reduce this sum because of the conditions the contractor had encountered during construction.

Streets get attention

(Staff) - Four stretches of road in the village are scheduled for repair in 1978. Village council approved a total $14,500 for repaving of College St. between Mary and South Streets ($2,000), Queen St. from King to Albert ($6,500), Armstrong Place ($3,500) and Water St.

New water pump

(Staff) - A new pump for the village water system is scheduled to be installed at pumphouse number one on Queen St. west of highway 43, Feb. 15, it was announced at village council Thursday. Cost of the pump is $7,000.

Storm closes 401

(Staff) - Yesterday's (Tuesday's) snow storm closed three sections of highway 401 in our readership area. According to the Ontario Provincial Police, closed were: the westbound lane at highway 31, the eastbound lane between Cardinal and Iroquois, and the eastbound lane from Upper Canada Road to a point just east of Ingleside.

Women's Crisis Centre

(Staff) - Starting Mar. 1, a women's general distress centre will be operating in Cornwall. The Centre will service the entire United Counties. Women outside Cornwall can call the centre collect at 938-9070. The centre's purpose is to assists women in any crisis situation, including rape, suicide or pregnancy. Funded by a Canada works grant, the centre will also serve as a referal agency for social services.

Plows barred from bridge

(Staff) - Winchester Township council has barred township snow plows from the Castor River bridge east of Ormond between the 11th and 12th concessions and has decided to put a sign warning drivers of vehicles over five tons to proceed at their own risk. The bridge was classified unsafe by the engineering firm of R.M. Kostuch and Associates in November and its replacement was recommended subject to provincial financial assistance. Two weeks ago the Payne River bridge in Finch township, which had likewise been slated for replacement, collapsed under the weight of a grader in the township's service. The bridge has not yet been replaced because provincial funds haven't been available.

Nuclear danger averted in crash

IROQUOIS (Staff) - Two trucks carrying 14 tons of radioactive Uranium Hexafloride, commonly known as UF-6, were involved in a multi-vehicle accident on highway 401, one mile east of here yesterday morning (Tuesday).

According to a spokesman from Eldorado Nuclear Ltd., shippers of the uranium, there is no danger of leakage.

Bill Tranmer, manager of Eldorado's Port Hope plant, told The Record one of the cylinders containing the uranium remained on the truck and another fell on the road but remained intact.

Mr. Tranmer said he had spoken earlier with Eldorado personnel who were at the scene of the accident.

He said the accident was being investigated by the Atomic Energy Commission as well as by Eldorado.

Mr. Tranmer said accidents of this kind have occured previously in Europe and the United States, but to his knowledge there has never been any leakage.

He said the cylinders are made of steel plates 5/8 of an inch thick and are tested by the Atomic Energy Commission by

Village residents back employees for higher salaries

(Staff) - Recreation director Rick St. Dennis and town foreman Richard Sharkey received some moral support from village residents in their bid for higher salary increases Thursday.

Al Kennedy, Riverside Dr., made the representation before council last Thursday on behalf of 12 village residents who felt the two village employees deserved a better deal.

"They've done a good job as far as I've noticed and I want that taken into consideration," Mr. Kennedy said.

He declared he would like to see the two employees get reasonable increases.

Councillor Garnet Droppo replied that council's hands were tied.

"We'd like to give them all a darn good increase, but we're between the devil and the blue sea," he said.

Nevertheless, both Mr. St. Dennis and Mr. Sharkey received raises higher than originally proposed.

Mr. St. Dennis' salary was raised from $11,880 to $12,300 a year, an increase of 3.5 per cent. The original proposal called for a one per cent hike. Mr. Sharkey's salary was raised from $12,000 and $12,500 a year, an increase of 4.5 per cent. Mr. Sharkey had initially been slotted for a 2.5 per cent increase.

"I'm very concerned because when you look into it Rick (St. Dennis) put in 60 hours a week," Mr. Kennedy said Monday, explaining this works out to $3.80 an hour for a person with three years of post-secondary education.

"I can understand if a fellow isn't doing a good job... but this fellow seems to be working pretty darn hard and I'd like to see him stay in the town," he said.

Farmers, whose lands adjoin the proposed Hoople Creek Wildlife Management Area, voice their concerns about the Ontario government's master plan for a wildlife conservation area along the St. Lawrence waterfront, between Morrisburg and Cornwall, to The Record, at the home of Morris Shaver. Left to right, Bart Whitton, William Rutley and Morris Shaver.

Wildlife area under fire

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Insensitive bureaucracy, coupled with crop damage from wild fowl, possible flooding and potential loss of livestock from negligent hunters are the principal complaints against the Ontario government's master plan for a wildlife conservation area from a group of farmers here.

Morris Shaver, William Rutley and Bart Whitton, whose lands are adjacent to the proposed Hoople Creek Wildlife Management Area of the master plan, fell the ministry of Natural Resources doesn't even know they exist.

"My impression is that when the ministry came in, they thought the land was idle," says Mr. Whitton.

Mr. Whitton, who has owned the land for 17 years, says the ministry didn't even know that fact. They looked at old maps and assumed the land was owned by Ontario Hydro.

"They didn't check with me," he adds.

The land had been Hydro property during the seaway construction. After completion it had been sold to farmers.

The root of the farmer's complaint against the ministry is that they were never formally approached on this matter even though they have been asking to present their case for almost a year.

"What really bugs me is you'd think they'd have the decency to come and talk to us," says Mr. Rutley.

"Makes you wonder how much planning and research goes into it," adds Mr. Whitton.

Hoople Creek, three miles east of here, is part of the proposed 20,000 acre conservation area running from Morrisburg to Cornwall. Plans call for the creation of a wild habitat for ducks and geese, specially designated points for hunters and construction of a dam.

The farmers feel the proposed dam may raise the water level on Hoople Creek, flooding their fields in addition to backing up drains which run through their fields.

Chief concern is that crops will be damaged by the ducks and geese.

Mr. Shaver says he has already lost four to five acres because of the fowl.

Another concern is negligent hunters may shoot cattle grazing near the conservation area. Lands on which the cattle graze border directly on the wildlife area.

The farmers point out they have nothing against hunters in general but are concerned with the small minority who are careless.

They say proposals to include a hunting area in the Hoople Creek region have not been formally confirmed, only suggested, but they would like a chance to state their case before any such plan is put into effect.

Three local men finished in the money at the indoor tractor pull at the Canada Farm Show in Toronto last Thursday. Stacked against tough competition in the largest indoor pull in North America, the three all finished in the top ten in the 1500 lb. modified class of the mini-tractor pull. In fifth place was John Van Der Veen, in eighth was Rhod MacGregor and in 10th, Peter Brugmans. Lumley urges students to register for program

OTTAWA (Special) - Ed Lumley, MP for Stormont-Dundas last week expressed the hope that students in the riding will make maximum use of the Young Canada Works Program announced earlier in the year.

Students interested in summer employment under this program should initiate development of their own project.

They would then approach an established organization to sponsor them, since the program will emphasize sponsorship of projects by recognized and established organizations, he said.

"This program will provide an opportunity for students to develop and administer summer programs on their own," said Mr. Lumley, "providing them with a discipline not normally afforded to students in their academic surrounding."

"This program offers students an excellent opportunity for summer employment," said Mr. Lumley, "and under present economic conditions it may be difficult for students to successfully find other work in the area for this summer." The MP strongly encourages all students and organizations interested in Young Canada Works to apply.

Applications must be in by Feb. 17 and projects may operate between May 1 and Sept. 8, providing a minimum of three jobs for six consecutive weeks. Maximum project duration is 18 weeks. Maximum federal contributions for a single project will be $25,000.

Application forms and information are available at the Cornwall Manpower Centre. Contact Tony Tropper at 933-4260.

dropping them a distance of 50 feet to the ground.

Mr. Tranmer explained UF-6 was a very pure form of refined uranium used for making fuel for nuclear plants.

Asked about the contaminating potential of UF-6, he said it was a form of uranium which had a "low specific activity" rating.

He said the uranium was being shipped to Montreal from where it was to be transported to Spain.

Take Those Extra Seconds

When the mercury's flirting with sub-zero temperatures, it's only natural to want to get in out of the cold as fast as possible. For some drivers, the temptation is great to scrape only a minimum of viewing space on the windshield and save a few seconds of personal exposure to the elements. That can be a costly mistake, the Ontario Safety League points out. The more you can see, the greater the chance of your avoiding an accident.

Short is Beautiful

According to the Ontario Safety League, the beauty of a blanket of fresh snow is best appreciated by people with short driveways.

township property on a contract basis, which means terms could be arranged with any interested parties according to their desired specifications.

Before the project can be realized an ammendment to the Official Plan of the North Dundas Planning Area has to be approved and zoning bylaws passed by Winchester Township and Village.

Ammendments to the Official Plan must then be approved by the Ministry of Housing and zoning bylaws must meet with approval from the Ontario Municipal Board.

A public meeting to discuss the ammendment to the plan has been scheduled for 7:30pm, Mar. 1, at Winchester Township office.

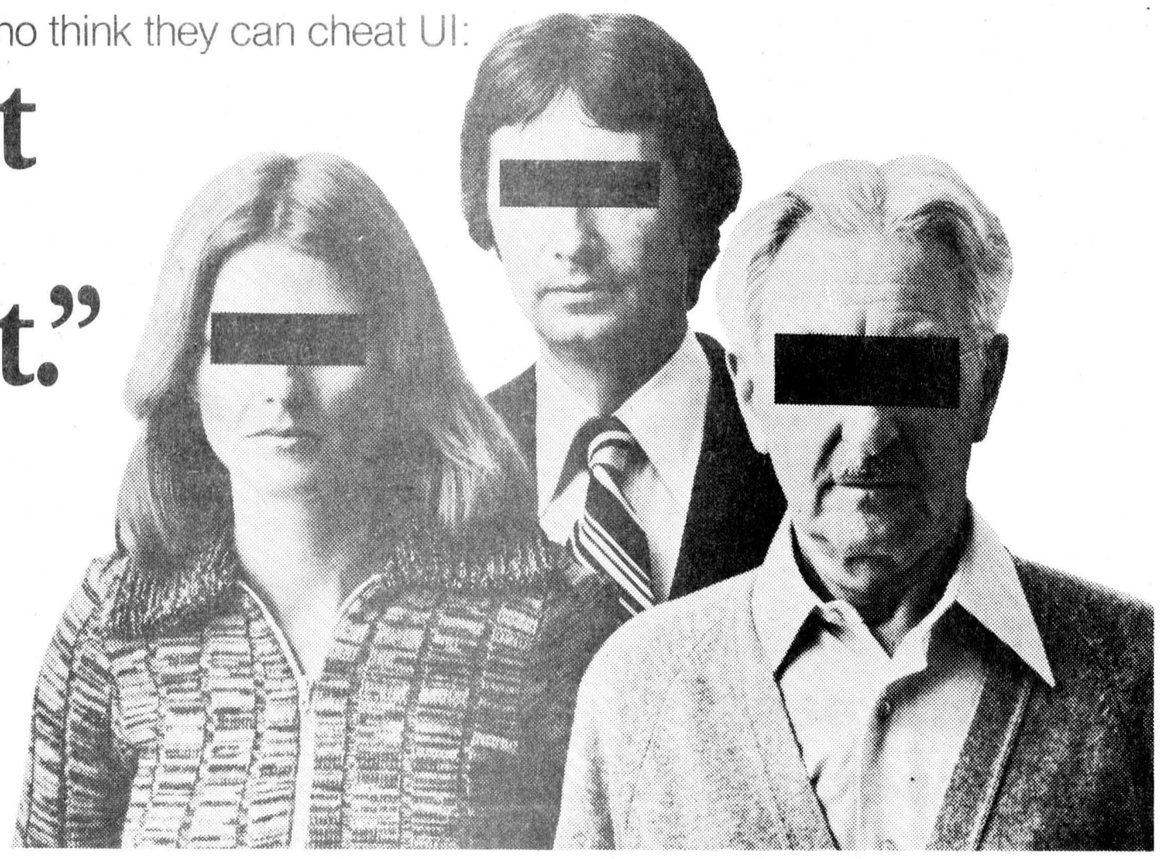
A message about those who think they can cheat UI:

"We're not really dishonest."



Unfortunately that's not true.
It seems that some people like you think there's nothing wrong with ripping off Canada's Unemployment Insurance program.

"All we did was fail to report a little extra income while getting UI."

With that sort of behaviour you could be charged with a criminal offence. Isn't it just like shoplifting or theft?

Cheating on Unemployment Insurance is stealing from your neighbours, friends, fellow employees, employers, and the Government of Canada, all at the same time. And not being available for work when you're getting UI is abuse, pure and simple.

"How did you ever find out?"

Unemployment Insurance has almost 500 full-time trained claims investigators on staff. And, like any modern organization, we're using new data-handling techniques to their best advantage. We match up Records of Employment with claim records.

The claims investigator may be alerted by an agent at the Unemployment Insurance office, or by our central fact-finding computer system.

If there's evidence of abuse or fraud, the investigators will make a recommendation for action to either the UI agent or legal counsel.

"Well, what are you going to do with us?"

Depending on the seriousness of your offence, you may have to pay an administrative penalty. Or, you could be charged in a court of law under the Unemployment Insurance Act or the Criminal Code of Canada. Conviction means a criminal record. And benefits wrongly obtained must be paid back in full.

In any case, it's not very pleasant. We're not in business to prosecute people. Avoid this by dealing with us as fairly as we try to deal with you.

The people of Canada should not be cheated by an irresponsible few.

For your sake, please play it straight with us.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

I don't believe that anyone can devour more food in less time than an adolescent boy. Last Friday, I witnessed 14 fellows in the throes of 14 "Mac Attacks" and, believe me, it was an awesome sight.

The arrival of food signalled the immediate cessation of chatting and the instantaneous beginning of chewing. Joking and jostling were forgotten as hamburgers, french fries, sundaes and shakes disappeared down greedy gullets before I could even finish unfolding my napkin. While I was tucking into my first serving, most of them were busy demolishing their third.

Had I not been the mother of one of the mouths, I would have sworn that none of them had eaten since the previous Tuesday. Lately, however, I have become accustomed to such manic munching, so I was able to accept the fact that they were just normally hungry because they had had plenty of exercise and nothing to eat for a couple of hours except for chips, chocolate bars and chuckwagons.

I know boys can work up an appetite just turning on the television set or rolling over in bed, and the Rothwell rowdies had just played four hockey games in the annual public school tournament.

If they had lost, they would have eaten to console themselves, but they won so they ate to celebrate becoming the 1978 SD&G County Board of Education Stormont Senior Elementary School Champions. Had there been an eating contest in progress that day, they could have come home as double champs. They fill their mouths with food equally as well as they fill the net with pucks!

BITS & PIECES

- There were a lot of fun-loving folks who were full of beans last Sunday. Ingleside Recreation Committee's Family Fun Day was a great success and thanks should go to Carol Carbino, Jim Barrie, Dwayne Sharkey and Earl Jeacle for organizing the events of the day.

- Carol had a great kitchen crew (Wanda Sharkey, Mavis Woods, Ann D'Cruz and Joyce Barrie) who helped her feed the famished funsters. Dawna Bamford was a stand out on the garbage detail.

- Have a heart folks, when the Jaycettes come calling in the next couple of weeks. They will be collecting for the Heart Fund.

- Attention card players! The Cub and Beaver Group Committee is sponsoring a euchre party at 8pm Feb. 15 at St. Peter's Anglican Church.
Church.

- Entries in the Winter Carnival Poster Contest must be in my hands by Fri., Feb. 10.

- I heard of someone inquiring as to whether "newcomers" were welcome to join the Lost Villages Historical Society. THEY SURE ARE! Next meeting is Mon., Feb. 13 at 8pm in the school library.

This is the weekend of the Stormont Countymen's Old-Timers Tournament, so I will probably spend more time in Finch than in my home here, "Inside Ingleside."

IN MEMORIAM

BECKSTEAD — In loving memory of Allan McMillan "Mack" called away Feb. 12, 1966

Time rolls on and we are reminded
Of a day our hearts were crushed,
When God took you, Oh, so quickly
And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, death claimed you,
In the prime of manhood days;
But we hope some day to meet you
And be with you always.

Private memberships possibility for SVTC

MORRISBURG (Staff) - Seaway Valley Tourist Council is investigating the status of private memberships in the organization.

Council members expressed the desire at their Jan. 31 meeting that it was essential they increase the amount of money available for regional tourist promotion.

Prescott councillor Robert Scott said neighboring areas have tourist councils which receive extra revenues of more than $8,000 annually through private membership fees which supplement the grants received from the communities.

"Those dollars make a difference in the quality and quantity of tourist promotion they can do," a director explained.

A survey, conducted in Eastern Ontario by a Canada Works project, reveals nearly 40 per cent of the business community favor paid memberships to promote tourism and would be willing to join the council as an associate member.

A Committee has been appointed to plan for the 1978 annual meeting and banquet tentatively scheduled for mid-April at the Cornwall Civic Complex. Members hope to be able to enlist newly-appointed Minister of Industry and Tourism, John Rhodes, as guest speaker.

Ten thousand copies of a revised Seaway Valley Brochure are being printed and distribution will begin immediately to several hundred information centres in Canada and the United States.

Samis will work to 'hop along with Cassidy'

TORONTO (Staff) - The second-ballot election Sunday of Ottawa Centre MLA Mike Cassidy as leader of the Ontario New Democratic Party was both a surprise and a disappointment to George Samis, although the Cornwall MLA was quick to point out he would accept the decision of the party convention and work with his new leader.

Mr. Samis had backed the pre-convention favorite, Hamilton-Wentworth MLA Ian Deans, who trailed Mr. Cassidy on the first ballot and then lost by 71 votes on the second.

In a telephone interview from his Toronto office Monday, Mr. Samis said Mr. Cassidy would face an immediate challenge to his abilities as leader when the party holds a two-day caucus next week.

Mr. Samis said Mr. Cassidy will have to find a replacement for Mr. Deans as party House Leader and will be faced with major shadow cabinet portfolio shifts brought about by his selection as leader.

Mr. Samis said Mr. Cassidy had a tendency to be high handed and to make decisions without consulting the rest of the party. These habits will have to cease if he hoped to unite the caucus behind him, especialy since most NDP MLAs had backed the other two leadership candidates. Mr. Cassidy had the backing of only three of the party's members of the Legislature at the beginning of the convention.

The lack of support from his own caucus means the new leader will have to do considerable fence mending but "Mike has the brains and sophistication to realize this," Mr. Samis said.

The Ottawa member's "style and temperament" will have to change and he will have to learn to "consult with the rest of the members on every major issue" rather than "imposing his will", Mr. Samis said.

On economic issues, Mr. Samis says the new leader is the party's most articulate spokesman and the former student of the London School of Economics and financial journalist has the greatest understanding of the issues affecting the province's economy, Mr. Samis said.

He is also the NDP's most able adversary of Darcy McKeough, Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs.

"To stand up to Darcy, quite frankly you have to know what you're talking about and I think Mike's the man who can do it," Mr. Samis said.

The election of a fellow Eastern Ontario member means the problems of this end of the province will receive more attention, Mr. Samis said.

This is the first time in many years we've a leader from this area and it will help to have somebody leading a party who understands the issues," he said.

Council endorses resolution on education costs and quality

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - Winchester Township council realizes it may just be "blowing in the wind", but nevertheless decided to have its feelings on the increasing cost and declining quality of education known last Wednesday.

At the regular meeting, council endorsed a resolution sponsored by Grey County in the Georgian Bay area appealing to the provincial government to "consider restructing the present system of local boards to make the Ontario education system more responsive to the people".

Council felt endorsing such a resolution wouldn't make much difference in the education system, but it wouldn't hurt either.

"I don't think it will do anything, but we might as well endorse it," said Deputy Reeve Gerry Holmes.

"I don't think you'll change it back (to the old system), but it wouldn't hurt to vote for it," echoed Reeve Delbert Link.

Councillor Jim Sullivan suggested if all municipalities endorsed the resolution provincial policy makers might get the message.

Grey County's resolution complains the cost of education has increased to the point where over half the municipal levy goes for education.

Another complaint it airs is that the present system is top heavy in administrative and consultative personnel whose salary rates do not reflect local levels.

The resolution also pointed out the quality of education is now under review by a select committee of the provincial government and if tax recommendations included in the Blair Committee's report are implemented municipalities would find their costs increasing.

Another grievance cited was that local boards are not responsive to community opinion in regards to cost and quality of education.

Employee charges sexism

Village employee victim of austerity says council

(Staff) - Former arena canteen operator Jean Servage claims sexism is the reason for her layoff, but village council insists it is an austerity measure designed to cut operating costs at the arena.

Two weeks ago council awarded a contract to operate the canteen concessions to William E. Dagg, proprietor of Cy's Produce, for a yearly charge of $5,040 to the village.

Mrs. Servage's yearly salary was $8,648.64.

In an appeal before council Thursday, Mrs. Servage repeatedly argued she was being laid off because she was a woman.

Led by Reeve Jim Brannen, council stressed her layoff was intended to save operating costs.

"The reason we went this way is the fact that the canteen isn't making any money," said the reeve.

Mrs. Servage said the reason the canteen was losing money was that her entire salary was taken out of the canteen budget while many of her duties involved work outside the canteen.

Clerk-treasurer Lloyd Graham pointed out any duties Mrs. Servage performed outside the canteen were taken out of other expenses, not the canteen budget.

Mrs. Servage also insisted she was owed 74 hours of overtime.

Reeve Brannen told her the terms of her employment called for overtime to be included in her time off.

Mrs. Servage is to be paid until Feb. 24 although her last day at the arena was to be last Wednesday.

She said she had been working at the arena the day of the meeting (Thursday).

Reeve Brannen told her she was not supposed to work there and if she did he'd get a court order to keep her off village property.

Neil Williams new president, Dundas Cattlemen

WINCHESTER (Staff - Neil Williams, RR1 Winchester, was chosen president of the Dundas Cattlemen's Association at its annual meeting, banquet and dance in the Lions Hall here Saturday evening.

Joining him on the executive are first vice-president Bill Craig, RR2 Chesterville, second vice Ron Wilson, RR1 Morrisburg and provincial director Bill Armstrong, RR2 Mountain. Township directors are: Mountain - Max McRobbie, Neil Williams, Bill Armstrong; Matilda - Bram Mudde, Jeff Neil, Bill Horner; Williamsburg - Martin Schneckenburger, Bill Craig, Ron Wilson, and Winchester - Stan VandenBosch, Dan Harkin and Harold Lanin.

Guest speaker for the evening was Graham Hooper, head of the animal sciences section of Kemptville College of Agriculture Technology.

Mr. Hooper spoke on research carried out by KCAT into the buying, feeding and selling of beef cattle from this area.

He told the 125 present that steers were purchased locally and from Western Canada, divided into lots and fed at the college. Some were then sold locally and others at the Toronto Stockyards.

Mr. Hooper said those bought and sold locally fared well in comparison with the western beef. Complete results of the experiment will be published later, he said.

The trial was carried partly in responses from Dundas cattlemen who had asked that research of this nature be carried out in Eastern Ontario.

Routine business for council

WILLIAMSBURG (Staff) - Routine matters dominated Williamsburg Township Council at its regular meeting Saturday.

An $18,400 budget was approved for the township's fire department for 1978.

Clerk-treasurer Keith Schell was authorized to call tenders for the purchase of a step-van vehicle.

An application for construction of the Wilson drain, east of highway 31 in the third concession, was accepted. The engineering firm is to be decided by the South Nation Conservation Authority.

The municipality agreed to adopt the minimum maintenance and occupancy standards of the province of Ontario.

A bylaw was passed establishing the amount paid by the municipality for the operation of a motor vehicle at 18 cents a mile.

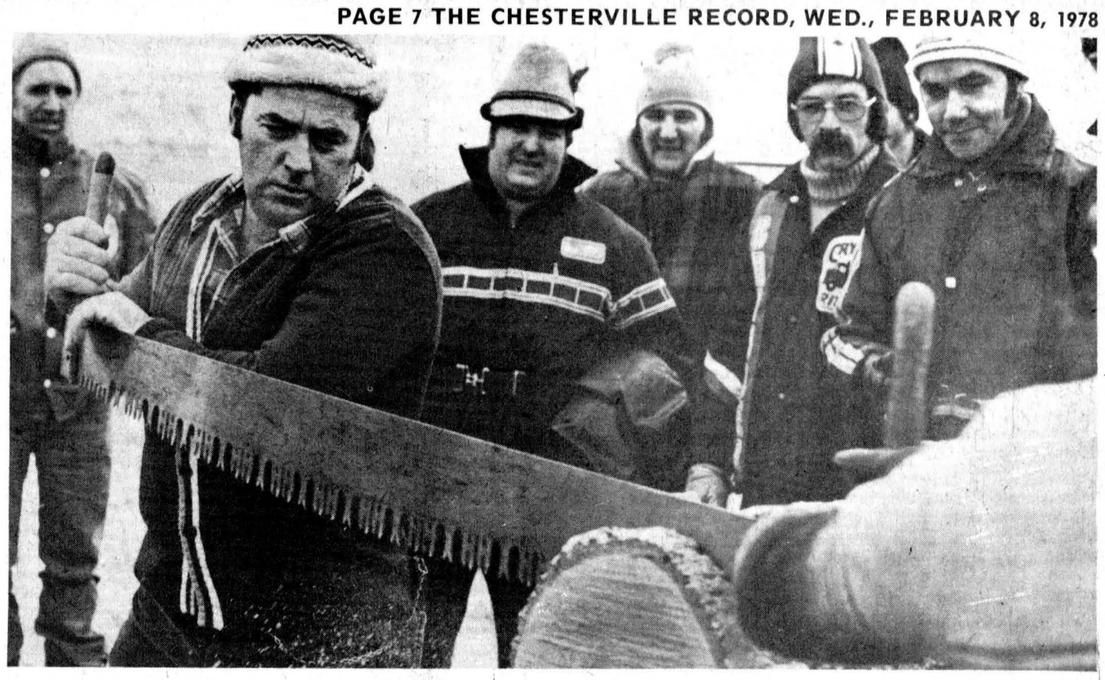
CRYSLER Winter Carnival



CRYSLER (Staff) - Sixteen-year-old Lyne Provost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Provost, Crysler, and sponsored by the Community Centre Association, Volunteer Fire Department, Arena Committee and Oldtimers Hockey League, was crowned queen of the annual Crysler Winter Carnival Friday night.

The queen and three duchesses, Sylvie Lamoureux, Patsy McMahon and Joanne Yelle, opened the weekend fun of carnival festivities Thursday night with a talent show. 1977 Carnival Queen Denise Legault declared the carnival officially open.

Music by Sweet River got the carnival weekend on the right note Friday night and Bavarian music, supplied by Helmut Reichinger, kept the action rolling Saturday evening.

The Crysler Fire Department got Sunday's fun off to an early start with a pancake breakfast prior to a mothers and tots hockey game, tug-o-war and log-sawing competitions.

Crysler Garage was the victor over Earl-Rolland Sales in the men's tug-o-war and the women's tug-o-war competition was won by Marielle's Beauty Salon over Mientje's Beauty Salon.

Serge Brisson and Dick Richard won the men's log sawing competition with a time of 1:57.75. The women's competition was captured by Yvette Genier and Sandra Benoit with a time of 26 seconds.

The chain-saw cutting championship was captured by Gerry Patenaude in 39.5 seconds.

Francis Bazinet, Crysler, was the winner to $500 cash in the carnival draw held Sunday night. Second prize and $300 went to Mrs. Paul Leduc, Crysler.

Gerard Sabourin, Moose Creek, won $100 and Normand Legault, Berwick and Kevin Rainey, Avonmore, each won $50.

The photos

The annual Crysler Winter Carnival was a dancing, sawing, flipping good success as the weatherman delivered cold but withstandable temperatures this past weekend. In the top photo, Alphonse Lafrance, carnival chairman, didn't mind the cold Sunday as he shed his gloves and coat to participate in the log-sawing competition. To the right, 1977 Carnival Queen Denise Legault and duchess Sylvie Lamoureux smile with glee upon hearing Lyne Provost, front, was the new queen. On the bottom right, Serge Brisson lets the chain do the action in the chain-saw log-cutting competition. On the bottom left, Hubert Benoit, left, and Rheal Boisclair display their expertise over the gridle by flipping pancakes suitable for a queen to eat.

Tagwi students grill Whelan on farming issues

AVONMORE (Staff) - Federal Minister of Agriculture Eugene Whelan found himself in the 'hot seat' here last week. It wasn't the opposition, nor was it the press corps who put him there. It was 13 students from Tagwi Secondary School.

Brucellosis, the extension of the dairy year, and the effect of US pork exports on the Canadian market were among the many questions posed to Mr. Whelan during that segment of CBOT TV's Country Reports, televised at 1:30 and 7:30pm, Friday.

The program was pre-recorded last Tuesday afternoon.

Organizer of the meeting, Tagwi's head boy Steve Mesman, said the project generated a lot of interest among students and went over quite well.

Mr. Mesman, a grade 12 student, said the questions were prepared beforehand, according to the students' own choice.

He said all the students were from a farming background and most of them were considering a career in agriculture.

Mr. Mesman said he hoped other programs, similar to this one, could be arranged in the future.

He said Mr. Whelan "seemed to know what he was talking about, although, like all politicians, he seemed to beat around the bush quite a bit."

Nevertheless, said Mr. Mesman, "he answered quite well and we were satisfied with the answers he gave us."

Much of the problem with brucellosis is due to poor administration by farmers, Mr. Whelan replied to a question asked by grade 12 student Guilaine Thauvette.

The minister said farmers expect government to deal with all the problems, but 90 per cent of the responsibility in dealing with brucellosis is the farmer.

He said farmers may buy a cow without knowing whether it is affected, and this one cow may spread the disease to the rest of the herd.

He said the current level of brucellosis is the lowest rate in Canada's history and the compensation is the best in the world, but the government is still going to put in controls that are "going to be rough."

In answer to grade 13 student Michael Kearns' question on the extension of the dairy year, Mr. Whelan replied the proposal was intended to distribute milk marketing sharing quota in proper fashion.

The Canadian Dairy Commission has proposed ending the dairy year in the fall so that farmers could complete their quota in summer when supplies are greater rather than using it up in the summer and fall and running in winter when demand is high.

Grade 12 student Carolyn Dervin asked about the flooding of the Canadian pork market by US exports.

Mr. Whelan admitted there was too much US pork on the Canadian market and Canada should not have to spend $222-million outside the country for an "inferior product."

Mr. Whelan did point out, however, that domestic manufacture of pork is not sifficient to satisfy Canadian demand.

Other students involved in the exchange were grade 12 students Laurie Degan, Sherry Coleman, Diana VanderWeilan, Alaine Legault, and grade 13 students Nora Clancy, Sheila Beaudette, Perry Reiner, Gary Jans and Brian Oulette.

Weather, dogs again threaten deer population

CORNWALL (Special) - During the summer and fall months, very few dogs can come close to catching a deer. But such is not the case during February and March, according to Ron Sprigings, conservation officer with the ministry of Natural Resources, Cornwall office.

Most deer have used up their fat reserves and are now surviving on a maintenance diet only. Any substained movement, even for 15 minutes, can cause deer to tire and collapse from exhaustion, Mr. Sprigings says.

Compounded with their weakened condition, snow depth restricts free movement, causing the deer to flounder briskit-deep in snow, making them easy prey for any dog, he says.

Most dogs, because deer are chased by sight rather than scent, are not of a breed usually associated with hunting and can be any breed, from a German shepherd to a cocker spaniel and any mixture in between.

Mr. Sprigings reports over the past few years, through increased publicity and enforecement, the public has cooperated by restricting their pets' movements, thus eliminating some of the problem.

"We would like this cooperation to continue to ensure our deer herds are not harrassed or wantonly killed. Once again, we are stressing that dog owners restrain their animals' activity," Mr. Sprigings says.

Those owners who refuse to look after their dogs will face a maximum fine of $1,000 and the loss of their family pet if it is found running deer, he warns.

During the sunny, less harsh months of late winter, many people participate in snowshoeing and cross-country skiing. For those people who wish to excercise their dogs at the same time, we suggest they keep their dogs on a leash to control them from wandering into the deer yards, he says.

J.R. Morin, Cornwall district manager, reports this winter's heavy snow hasn't had an adverse effect on the area's deer population. He said ministry officers flew over the area last week to check on deer yards and found snow depth in the yards was not sufficient to create problems.

"That's not to say we couldn't have problems before the winter is over," he told The Record Monday.

Ministry personnel are bracing for the January and March daytime thaw which creates a thin crust of ice on snow. The ice is too thin to support the weight of the deer, balanced on its sharp hooves, but will support a dog.

Dogs use this to their advantage when running deer as the larger animals plunge through the crust and have their progress impeded while dogs can skim over its surface, Mr. Morin said.

"Also, we would like to inform snowmobilers to stay clear of known deer yards as the noise from their machines tends to frighten deer, causing them to run, become exhausted and increasing the possiblility of pneumonia," Mr. Sprigings says.

Seven girls compete for carnival crown

Rhonda Tierney

INGLESIDE (Staff) - With Osnabruck Township's Winter Carnival still more than two weeks away, interest in the annual event is already running high.

Seven girls are competing for the carnival queen crown in a contest that has taken on a different flavor this year.

In past years, the girls competed in an amateur talent contest on the carnival's opening night and with points amassed in other categories, the winner was crowned opening night and reigned throughout the rest of the three-day event.

This year's winner will be chosen much more simply. The girl selling the most tickets on the carnival committee's $100 cash draw will be declared queen. The crowning will take place during the Carnival Capers Variety Night at Osnabruck District High School beginning at 8pm Thurs., Feb. 23.

There will be over 125 participants in the variety night. Featured among the performers will be Ingleside recording artist Don Cochrane. Wayne Waldroff of CJSS Radio will emcee the evening.

Theme of this year's carnival is "togetherness" and this is expressed in the carnival symbol and motto "LION", an acronym standing for the township communities of Lunenburg, Ingleside, Osnabruck Centre and Newington.

Seven contestants for the carnival tiara are:

Connie Beaudette, 15-year-old daughter of Alan and Elizabeth Beaudette, 32 Main St., Newington, a grade 10 student at Osnabruck District High School. She is sponsored by Newington Recreation Association.

Donna Lynn Wells, 15, daughter of Linden and Donna Wells, St. Lawrence St. Ingleside, Miss Wells is a grade 9 student at ODHS and is sponsored by Ingleside Fire Department Auxiliary.

Sharon Dingwall, daughter of Donald and Eleanor Dingwall, RR2 Lunenburg. Miss Dingwall, 16, is a grade 11 student at ODHS and is sponsored by Upper Canada Jaycettes.

Joyleen Groves, 15-year-old daughter of John and Betty Groves, RR2 Ingleside, and a grade 10 student at ODHS. Miss Groves is being sponsored by Denis and Pierrette Lefebvre.

Linda Harper, 16-year-old daughter of Walter and Janice Harper, Osnabruck Centre, and a grade 11 student at ODHS. Miss Harper is being sponsored by Osnabruck Centre Recreation Association.

Shelley Atchison, 19-year-old daughter of Anne Atchison, RR3 Ingleside, and an employee of the Villa Restaurant, Ingleside. Miss Atchison is sponsored by Upper Canada Jaycees.

Rhonda Tierney, 17-year-old daughter of Ernie and Jane Tierney of the Treasure Island Inn, Ingleside. Miss Tierney is a grade 11 student at General Vanier Secondary School and is sponsored by Ross Walker, Roger Crites, David Brown, Dick Moke and Carson Elliott.

ENERSAVE:

Jobs, energy savings federal program's aim

OTTAWA (Special) - Ed Lumley, Stormont-Dundas MP, has announced a $125,000 two-part program to stimulate energy conservation in this area.

One part will be to provide re-insulation assistance for the disadvantaged, with assistance to senior citizens, the disabled, and low income families to upgrade insulation in their homes by performing the actual labor.

Project participants will assist these specific householders in assessing needs in their homes, applying for financial assistance from the Canadian Home Insulation Program or provincial loan programs in order to purchase insulation materials and helping with the installation of insulation, weatherstriping and caulking.

The project will also offer to test the efficiency of the furnace and to provide advice in other aspects of conservation around the home, Mr. Lumley said.

The program's other aspect will be to establish a Community Conservation Centre. The centre will assist in the planning and development of local energy conservation projects. Efforts will be concentrated on increasing public awareness of energy conservation by supplying information and promoting community dialogue on the subject.

The centre is designed to provide public information and to assist in the planning and implementation of local energy conservation projects by service clubs, industries, citizen organizations and other similar groups.

These projects are a part of the new Federal Labor Intensive Program (FLIP) announced Oct. 20, 1977. Under the name of ENERACTION, with a total value of $150-million, the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources is helping to create jobs as well as helping to stimulate conservation activity at the local level.

Project leaders and workers on this project will be recruited in the area during January and early February, with approximately 18 persons being required. Anyone wishing employment in this program should register at the local Canada Manpower Centre and enquire about the possibility of a job with the project. The program will continue until Sept. 30.

Once these projects are established, residents will be informed of how to apply for the service through the local media and existing community service organizations.

St. Luke's Church holds annual meeting

FINCH (Special) - The annual meeting of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, Finch proceded by pot luck dinner was held recently. The work of Rev. and Mrs. VanderWal, in close co-operation with officers and members of the several organizations within the congregation resulted in a fine series of reports being presented at the meeting.

Rev. VanderWal became Minister of the Church in May 1977.

Mr. VanderWal, acting in his capacity as chairman of the meeting, gave a resume of what had been accomplished during the past eight months of his ministry here, and expressed hope for further success in the coming year ahead.

Mrs. Hector Gilles presided in her role as congregational secretary.

Reports were presented as follows: Kirk Session - R. Keith MacMillan, Board of Trustees, Hugh MacDougall, Board of Managers, Clayton Shaver, WMS, Mrs. John Waldroff, Sunday School, Mrs. Obsorne Shaver, Ladies Aid Society, Mrs. Robert MacIntyre, Auditors Report of Church Finances, Mr. Wm. D. Wiseman.

The financial statement showed the year ending with a good balance in the treasurer's books.

During 1977, the congregation was the recipient of two beautiful stained glass windows now being installed in the alcove of the sanctuary. They were presented by the late Mrs. Ada Zeron, in memory of her late husband, Mr. Cecil Zeron and her late parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shaver.

Appointed to the Board of Managers for a three-year term were: Mrs. D.K. MacLean, Mrs. Lorne Presley, Mrs. Barry Brownlee, secretary, Mrs. Hector Gillies treasurer. Mr. Wm. Sanderson was appointed to the Board of Trustees replacing Mr. Hugh S. Shaver, who died last year.

The congregation accepted as its missionary budget the sum of $1400, an amount somewhat less than that recommended by the Presbytery of Glengarry.

The Every Home Plan for the Presbyterian Record was approved. E.A. Naidow continues as Record Secretary as he has for some years past.

Our statistical report records four baptisms, four marriages and seven deaths in our congregation in 1977. We are pleased that all our societies have surpassed their committments which is so gratifying to our minister and his wife.

E.A. Naidow expressed the thanks and appreciation to Rev. VanderWal for his leadership and to Mrs. VanderWal for her help and guidance as choir leader.

Mrs. Barry Brownlee is our Cradle Roll Secretary.

Avonmore sen. citizens enjoy Japan talk, slides

AVONMORE (Special) - With 33 members present at the Avonmore Diamond Club, the Senior Citizens spent a very pleasant evening thanks to two Ottawa guests.

Frank and Mary Curry related their experiences with an informative commentary and showed slides of Kyoto, Japan, and surrounding territory.

The Curry's had resided in Japan for a year and a half.

After enjoying their slides and narration, the Senior Citizens hosted the couple to a luncheon.

The reguiar meeting was then held. A Thank You Card was read from Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hewston. Several new members paid their membership that evening. One of the Senior members donated a quilt top to the club.

Mrs. Ford Warner and Mrs. E. Filion thanked their co-workers for the past help they received in the year 1977.

A euchre will be held in the Senior Citizens room on February 17th at 8:00pm. Proceeds to be donated to the Heart Foundation.

Ann Landers Newsletter welcome season's greeting

Dear Ann Landers: I realize this letter may be "out of season" but I don't want to wait until next November, so please bear with me and print it.

I am an ultra-busy teacher and mother of four young children - also a confirmed "Christmas Card Clod." May I submit a Christmas Greeting Report Card in the hope that those who don't measure up to acceptable standards might recognize themsleves and hopefully do better in 1978?

Key to letter grades: A — excellent, B — Above average, C — Average, D — Below average, F — Failure. I am grading the card-senders according to effort and content.

	Effort	Content
Card with only a commercially printed signature	D-	F
Card with only handwritten signature	D	D-
Card only with handwritten note inside	C	C-
Card and personal letter that is lengthy, descriptive and dramatic	A+	C
Card and personal letter that is warm and meaningful	A+	A+
Card and duplicated letter with a humorous personal note	A	A+
Duplicated letter that is warm and meaningful	B	A
Card to only those who sent one to you	F	F

Your anti-newsletter prejudices are pretty narrow. You forget that not everyone gets a load of mail every day like you do, Ann. Us plain folks enjoy hearing about the children of our friends, their trips and promotions, even though it may sound a little braggy. It's our only way of keeping up with distant relatives and friends who have moved away. So please soften your criticism. Remember you don't speak for everybody.

— Reader Of The Mesabi Daily News

(I'll bet you never heard of it!)

Dear Reader: Indeed I have heard of it. You are in the heart of the Iron Range country around Hibbing and Chisolm, Minn.

About your "report card": I believe you were a bit hard on those who sent a card with a handwritten note inside. They deserved better than a C and C-.

As for my stand against the braggy newsletters, I still think they are gauche, boring and insensitive. Many readers sent me their newsletters and asked, "What do you think of OURS?" Well — I told 'em. An award for tact I'll never win, but I'm honest.

Dear Ann: May we have your opinion of people who send Christmas cards with pictures of the family and include the pets and name them as if they were one of the kids? We received five this year. In fact, one card was just a picture of the schnauser and it said, "Barney Wishes You A Happy Holiday Season." I laughed. My husband said it was an insult to get a card from a dog. What do you say? — Just A Yahoo

Dear Just: Some of the cats and dogs on the cards are cuter than the kids. Don't knock it.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex -- Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you told a reader that two blue-eyed parents could have a brown-eyed child. You are wrong.

To have a brown-eyed child at least one of the parents must be brown-eyed because the gene for the expression of the brown eye color is dominant.

If your statement is true it must be noted that all my books on biology, zoology and genetics dealing with inheritance are incorrect. I offer the following references to substantiate my position: (1) Wodsedalch, J.E., "General Zoology"; (2) Ville, C.A., "Biology," Fourth Edition, Saunders; (3) Marsland, D., "Priniciples of Modern Biology," Holt, Rinehart and Winston. What's your authority?

— A Trud Researcher Who Wishes To Remain Anonymous

Dear Anonymous Friend: If you want to call yourself a true researcher, you'd better get some new books. The first book you mention was published in 1963, the second in 1962 and the third in 1964.

I received many letters from other researchers and authorities who also need new books.

In earlier days of genetics it was believed that eye color was determined by a single pair of genes. We now know this is incorrect and that eye color is transmitted by at least three genes. In the vast majority of cases, two blue-eyed parents will produce a blue-eyed child, but it has now been established that two blue-eyed parents can produce a brown-eyed child.

My authority is a Nobel Laureate who asked that his name not be used in the column. The last time I mentioned this scientist's name he received hundreds of letters from people he hadn't heard from in 25 years. His secretary quit and it took him two months to answer the mail. He says he has no desire to go through that again.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please print my letter so all those nutty wives of repairmen will see it? Someone should put the minds of those crazy ladies at ease.

If one more wife tells me that when her husband went to fix the TV or the stove or the refrigerator, the lady of the house was wearing almost nothing and tried to seduce her man, I'll scream.

Why are you dames so bloomin' insecure? What makes you think every American housewife is on the make? One of you loonies suggested that some women actually break things so they can call a man to get it fixed. Then they practically hit the guy over the head and drag him into the bedroom.

Such an accusation is an insult to the American housewife and I hope you will make a public issue of it, Ann. Believe me, it's more important than how the toilet paper hangs. — Everything In My House Works, Fine, Thank You

Dear Everything: Here's your letter. If the wife of a repairman wishes to write a rebuttal, I'll give her equal time.

The key is harmony

Jane Etherington, 14, student at Central Public School in Cornwall, and composer of the theme song for the upcoming Ontario Education Week, plays her composition, entitled "Ontario's Education". The song stresses harmony and understanding. Looking on is separate school board trustee Yollande Charron. "Speak to me of yourself", "Parle-moi de toi" is the theme for Education Week, as featured on the official logo designed by 10-year old Brad Conley, a grade 5 student at Chesterville Public School. Canada's multicultural mosaic is to be stressed during Education Week. Words to the song appear in three languages, English, French and Mohawk.

WINCHESTER DAIRY CAPITAL WINTER CARNIVAL

Embrun Carnival breaks all records

EMBRUN (Staff) - Embrun's Hotel du Village placed no lower than third in five events to capture the organization championship trophy at the annual Embrun Winter Carnival.

The hoteliers won Thursday's orange in a nylon stocking surprise race and finished the competition with 23 points, one more than the Embrun Recreation Association. The Embrun Fire Department placed third with 20 points as the Knights of Columbus had 19, Richelieu Club 13 and Filles d'Isabelle six.

The firefighters won both legs of the bed race while the ERA team captured first place in the sled and tire races on the ice earlier in the week.

Andre (Joe) Belisle won the ice sculpturing contest and was presented with a trophy and $58 while Gilles Blanchard and Hector Millaire and their families teamed up to claim second place. They received a trophy and $40.

Luc Lamoureux, Embrun, the hardiest eater Sunday morning, downed 27 pancakes in 10 minutes to win that contest sponsored by the Filles d'Isabelle.

Bob Sabourin won Saturday and Sunday's leg of the annual Arctic Sled Dog Races with a combined time of 47:27. Harold Cheslock covered the six-and-one-half mile in a combined time of 49:12 and Harold Krictsch was third with a clocking of 49:47. Mr. Sabourin won $100 and the O'Keefe Award while Mr. Cheslock was presented with a watch from Kavoukian and Mr. Krictsch won $75.

In hockey action Thursday night, the Embrun Recreation Association battled the Embrun teachers to a 3-3 draw.

Tuesday night, both hockey teams from Gregoire Auto won their annual challenge matches. Paul Parisien scored three, Florent Dube two and Pierre Carriere one as Gregoire White beat Les Sportif 6-4.

Francois Brisson and Francois Bourdeau each potted a pair for the losers.

In the second game, Gregoire Red got single goals from Raymond Gregoire, Francois Gregoire, Michel Seguin and Bill Taggart in posting a 4-1 decision over the Embrun Oldtimers. The Oldtimers got their lone goal from Emile Bouchard.

The Embrun Junior 72s Hockey Club draw for a trip for two to the Bahamas was won by Diane Burelle, St. Albert.

Organizers of the annual 10-day carnival were more than pleased with the attendance at all of the various events as they reported it was the biggest and best in comparison to past years.

one for the record

For quite some time now, people across the province have been complaining about the increasing costs and decreasing quality of education. This grass roots protest movement has most recently been manifested in a resolution passed by the council of Grey County in the Georgian Bay area.

This resolution, endorsed last week by Winchester Township, calls upon the provincial government to consider restructing the present system in order to make it more receptive to local opinion. Among the reasons it cites are increasing costs, decreasing quality and a top heavy bureaucratic structure.

These complaints are quite familiar, but solutions aren't that easy. Nevertheless a good hard look at our present structure is necessary.

Education costs have skyrocketed since the mid-sixties. Fueled by the ambition of a young, agressive education minister, the government of Ontario in the mid and late sixties embarked on a program of unlimited expansion, as befitted a province of its stature.

"Give us a place to stand, and a place to grow, - and call this place - Ontario".

Capital expenditures mounted as new schools were built. Architectural wonders many of them were. Ontario was becoming a world showcase for education.

"A place to stand - a place to grow - Ontar-ari-ari-o."

Alas, the bubble burst. Demographic trends which hadn't seemed so important in the sixties suddenly acquired an air of urgency in the seventies. The baby boom was over. Enrollments were declining. Teachers worried about job security. Administrators worried about grants. Students worried about where they would find jobs when they graduated. Schools closed. The bubble burst for everybody except one person - the education minister. He became premier of the province.

"And Davis will make it grow - grow Ontario".

Ah, the morning after. What do we do now? Where do we trim the costs? Increase the pupil-teacher ratio? Close schools? Trim the bureaucracy?

The third option appears the most reasonable, unfortunately it is also the most difficult to implement. Bureaucracies tend to be self-perpetuating. Something like amoebas, microscopic animals which reproduce by splitting and growing anew.

It is quite certain that if one examined the administrative structures in detail, one would find many cases of duplication of services and other unnecessary costs. Having a team of consultants making constant studies of the cost problems is somewhat like paying an accountant $100 an hour to go over your books, only to have him tell you your problem is you're paying too many accountants $100 an hour to go over you books.

Admittedly, administrators and civil servants are often the favorite targets. With all due respect, it should be noted that there are some very fine and able administrators, ones without whose services many school boards would be hard pressed.

But administrators make inviting targets, if for no other reason than many of them shut themselves off from the community at large to prepare their grandiose schemes, secure in the knowledge that once you're in the public service - you're in for life.

What is missing is that grass roots touch. This is precisely what the sponsors of the Grey Country are referring to when they call for more local input.

Much of the current dissatisfaction with the educational system is concerned with the real or imagined decline of quality. "Get back to the three R's." "Students today are illiterate".

Such is not the case. Students today are not illiterate - they're inarticulate. There is a big difference.

Being illiterate means being unable to read or write. Being inarticulate means being unable to express one's self in a comprehensive manner.

Getting back to the "three R's" as they were practised a decade ago is not going to solve this problem. High school students in the late sixties (myself included) rebelled against the rigid structure of a system which de-emphasized individual expression and stressed the almost mindless memorization of seemingly irrelevant facts, regurgitated via those sado-masochistic excercises known as final exams.

True, in many subjects of an exact nature, such as mathematics or natural science, there can be no substitute for exams at the high school level. But what about literature or history? Would the student be better served by learning that Confederation took place in 1867 and the principals involved were John A. MacDonald, Georges Etienne Cartier, George Brown, D'Arcy McGee and Joseph Tilley, or examining the social, economic, linguistic and regional conflicts that arose even before the British North America Act was signed?

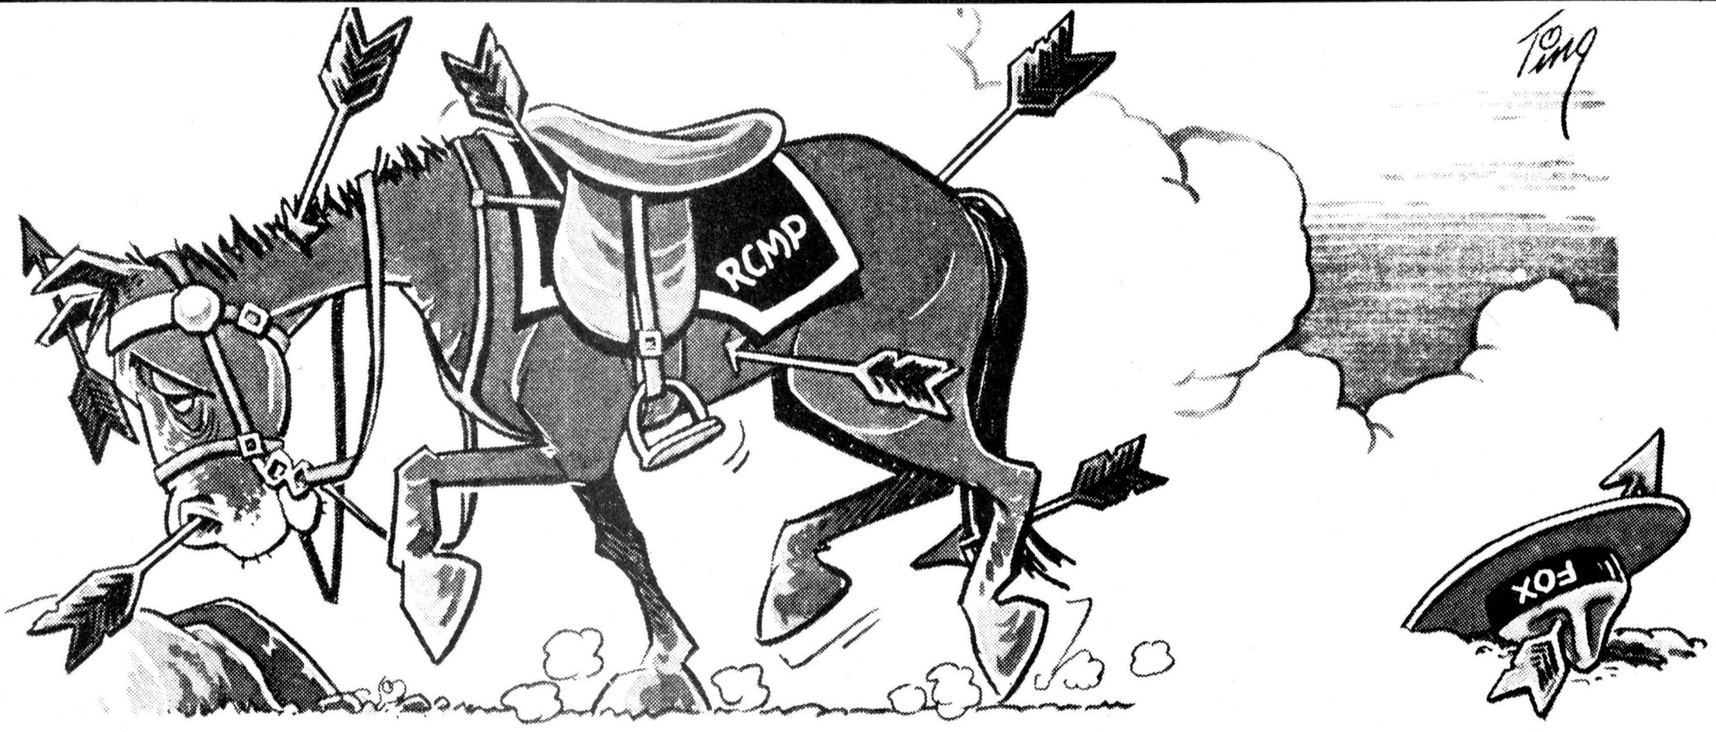
When educatonal policy makers in the late sixties were faced with mounting student protests, supported by provincial reports such as the Hall-Dennis document, they went to the other extreme. Gone were exams. Gone were compulsory subjects. In their place, "do your own thing" programs were created. This is something like letting a bunch of men who've spent six months at sea, loose in a Turkish sultan's harem.

What is needed is emphasis on the written research paper at the high school level. This not only provides the student an opportunity to express him or herself, but at the same time provides a disciplined framework in which to polish up linguistic skills - an opportunity to become articulate as well as literate.

When Winchester Township Councillors endorsed Grey County's resolution, one got the impression they felt they were voices crying in the wilderness. The feeling was - it won't do anything, but it won't hurt to endorse it.

Solos can become choruses, choruses, choirs, - and from there, who knows? We are fortunate in that we live in a democracry where we do have the right to make our feelings known and our voices heard. We elect officials who, theoretically, put our wishes into practice.

What is the solution to the present state of your educational system? You are. You've got your voice, you've got your vote. Use them both.



Words of praise for firemen's help

The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to our volunteer firemen. Just this week, I had occasion to witness first hand the competence of two members of the brigade.

A nerve-wracking experience was made more bearable through the efforts of Arie Ossterman and Dale Marcellus. A hot fireplace in my home caused basement timbers to smoulder and, had more oxygen been available, a major fire would surely have resulted.

When I discovered the problem, I immediately snuffed out the fireplace and attempted to extinguish the smouldering wood. In order to be positive all was well, I decided to call the fire department.

So that all the rigs wouldn't be sent out unnecessarily, I phoned Arie at home and asked if he could come and check. Within minutes he arrived with Dale and the two set to work getting to the root of the problem.

Two hours later, after dousing all live embers, they declared the situation under control. When I apologized for ruining their evening they said not to worry; they had been called out for a lot less and would much rather catch a fire in the initial stages than see lives lost or another house destroyed.

The experience brought home the fact that the community is blessed with dedicated volunteers who are sometimes taken for granted. It was also forecefully brought to my attention smoke detectors can be valuable equipment in any home. I plan to acquire two as soon as possible.

Yours sincerely

the editor's notebook

The election of a new leader is always a watershed for political party, but perhaps none more so than Sunday's selection of Ottawa Centre MLA Mike Cassidy as the head of the New Democratic Party. His surprise electon over favorite Ian Deans has great significance not only for the party but for Eastern Ontario as well. Mr. Cassidy is a combative and tenacious politican and can be expected to bring the problems of Eastern Ontario into sharp focus in the Ontario Legislature. By breaking the central and western Ontario stranglehold on party leadership he has brought the eastern section of the province into prominence for the first time since the days of G. Howard Ferguson.

The party's choice of Mr. Cassidy over Mr. Deans, the favorite of big labor, demonstrated the inherent strength of its grass roots and means that not only Mr. Cassidy, but also the unions, are going to have to do some fence mending.

As for his platform, based as it was on economic issues, that bodes as ill for the federal government as it represents a major change for the New Democrats. After spending most of the decade devoting itself to social issues such as mercury and lead poisoning and minority rights the party's leadership grew out of touch with its basic membership, more concerned with the state of the province's economy which as grown from bad to worse since the salad days of the sixties. By choosing a candidate with a sound economic background and who emphasized their concerns, the party membership charted a new course for the NDP. Perhaps the membership of the federal Liberal party is itching for the same sort of change in direction. It could very well reflect the NDP's yearning for a return to economic balance through economic means rather than via the frenzied dance of generalities that the National Unity debate has become.

However, Mr. Cassidy's emphasis on getting the province's economy back on its feet again doesn't necessarily mean he will go about it in the right way. The party still backs the $4 an hour minimum wage and the new leader said he would be proud to champion the idea across the province. How he thinks the province can be brought out of its present malaise by adding fuel to the inflationary blaze will prove as difficult a riddle as it was in June, 1977 when the $4 an hour issue was one of the main reasons for the NDP's drop from second to third place.

Canadian products are already overpriced as our productivity continues to decline. A jump of $1.35 an hour would make our goods that much more expensive and since the money would not be paid for increased production, our provincial productivity would decline by an equal amount. Higher unemployment would result as employers who are willing to hire persons at $2.65 an hour would be unwilling to do so at $4. Fewer jobs would be created, student employment would decline and job opportunities for the young and unskilled would dry up.

Perhaps Mr. Cassidy's diagnosis of the problem is correct. His method of curing it is not. With the $4 dollar demand he seems determined to kill the patient in order to make the operation a success. - robin morris -

Titanic disaster's local connection

(S aff) - A story by Carol Kennedy in MacLean's magazine on Steve Prentice, thought to be the last surviving crew member of the Titanic which sank off Newfoundland April 14, 1912 carrying 1600 of the 2200 aboard down with her, has a link with Chesterville. Three of the victims on the ill-starred liner's maiden voyage were village residents and members of the family still live here. The MacLean's article features a photograph of Mr. Prentice holding his pocket watch, which stopped at 2:20am when he leapt from the sinking ship into the icy North Atlantic. H. Keith Graham, former Record publisher and village reeve, nephew of Hudson Jesse Allison, who drowned during the disaster, was given his uncle's gold pocket watch after the Chesterville investment broker and gentleman farmer was taken from the sea and brought to Halifax where his body was claimed by relatives. Mr. Graham was born before the Titanic disaster and was named after his uncle (the H. stands for Hudson) so when the grisly artifact was found it was given to him. Mr. Allison remained in the water for almost two weeks after the sinking and his watch was completely encrusted by salt, rusting the works so that they would never tell time again. Only the hour hand remains and is frozen at the number three. Part of the stem of the minute hand remains and suggests that the watch stopped at 2:40am, shortly after he must have plunged inot the ocean along with his wife and four-year-old daughter. Only their 11-month-old son, Hudson Trevor Allison, was saved.

(Staff) - They were late arriving at London's Waterloo Station where their train was to leave shortly for Southampton, carrying hundreds of passengers to their rendezvous with the Titanic, largest passenger ship in the world and the jewel in the diadem of the White Star Line, then vying with Cunard for primacy of the lucrative North Atlantic run.

As the train began moving out of the station, the father pushed his 11-month-old son in through the window to the first class compartment and then jumped aboard to join his wife and daughter.

For Chesterville's Hudson Jesse Allison, his young wife, Bess, and four-year-old daughter, Lorraine, it was the beginning of a trip that would end in death in the icy Atlantic waters off Newfoundland. For their son, 11-month-old Hudson Trevor Allison it seemed to mark a charmed life that would, however, end tragically barely 17 years later in the midwestern United States.

H.J. Allison was a member of one of the most prominent families in Chesterville in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. In his early thirties himself, he was a successful investment broker and was head of his own firm, Johnston, Allison and McConnell, in Montreal. As well, the family operated a successful stock farm at Chesterville. Their home still stands on the south side of the village is now owned by Stan VandenBosch.

Mr. Allison was a regular traveller to the United Kingdom, often plying the North Atlantic on trips connected with his investment firm and to buy purebred horses and Holsteins to stock the Chesterville farm. The family travelled with him and this time their return home was to be on the Titanic, the unsinkable ship that was to establish White Star as undisputed leader in the highly competitive passenger trade.

Laid down in 1908 and completed in February, 1912, the Titanic was a floating Edwardian pleasure palace. Not only was she, at 45,000 tons, the largest ship a float, outweighing even the largest dreadnoughts by 5,000 tons, she was also the most opulant.

Her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York was one of the highpoints of the 1912 social season and her passenger list read like a who's who of North American and British society. Cabin rentals for the initial voyage went for as high as $4,350 and an army of attendants was aboard to look after the needs of her famous passengers, which included Col. John Jacob, the Astors, Benjamin Guggenheims and White Star chairman J. Bruce Ismay. This was the company into which the young Chesterville broker and his family were introduced when they boarded the leviathan at her slip in Southampton on England's south coast.

The Titanic was built to accommodate 2,500 passengers but there were only 2,200, including crew, aboard for her maiden voyage.

One of the prime considerations during the heyday of the large liner was the speed with which ships could make the UK to New York run. Cunard's Mauretania and Lusitania were the fastest liners afloat but Captain Edward Smith seemed determined to break their passage records. The Titanic was designed for 21 knots, but she could actually attain much higher speeds when pushed to the limit.

At 11:40 on the night of April 14, four days out of Southampton and about 600 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland, she was racing flat out at 25 knots when she suddenly came to a halt. The Titanic had hit an iceberg but at first there was little reason for concern. After all she had been billed as unsinkable, she had a double steel hull and 15 bulkheads if the unthinkable happened and she actually began shipping water.

Then she began to list. Gradually at first, but then more rapidly. The halt to the ship's progress at first seemed to gentle that some passengers couldn't be persuaded that anything serious had happened.

What they didn't know was that a submerged spur on the iceberg had ripped a 300-ft. gash through her double hull almost from stem to stern on her starboard side. The Titanic immediatley began taking on water and the bulkheads proved useless in trying to keep her afloat. It was just a matter of time before she would go down and as she listed more to port, her lifeboats were swung out to save what few passengers could be saved. The Titanic's designers had been so sure of her unsinkability that the ship was carrying only 20 lifeboats, fewer than half those required for the 2,207 aboard. Had she been carrying a full human cargo the tragedy would have been of an even greater magnitude.

As it was, the problem of not enough lifeboats was compounded by the fact that some could not be lowered because of the degree of the ship's list. The ship's company also had trouble convincing some passengers that they should get into the lifeboats since many thought the trouble was only temporary and the ship would soon be on its way again.

But the trouble wasn't temporary. Two and a half hours after striking the iceberg, the Titanic's bow slipped below the waves and as the sea began rushing through her, the giant stern was forced straight out of the water. With a shudder she was gone, taking 1600 of the 2200 aboard with her.

Included among those lost were Hudson and Bess Allison and their four-year-old daughter. Among the survivors, although probably never known by his parents, was Hudson T. Allison, safe in a lifeboat with his nurse.

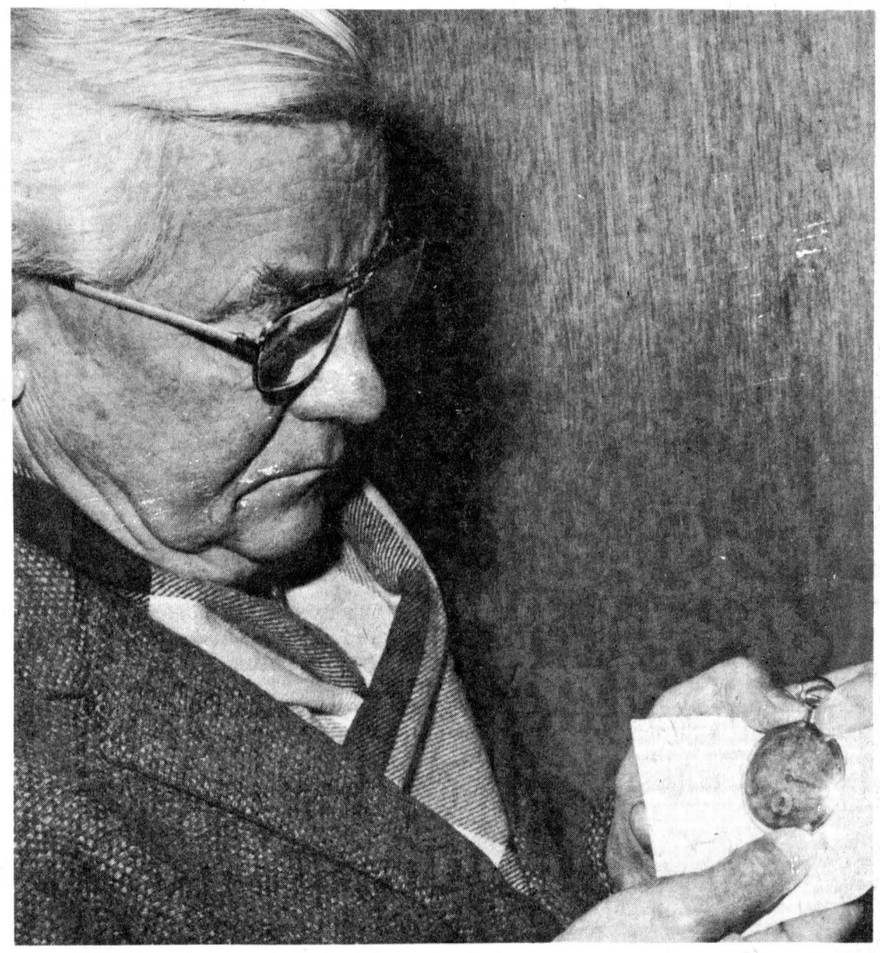
The Allison family contacted some of the other survivors and in correspondence with a woman from New York City, whose husband was a prominent Broadway producer, it was learned that Hudson, Bess and Lorraine were last seen searching frantically for the young child and its nurse. They weren't seen after that.

The Cunard liner Carpathia was the first on the scene and began picking up survivors, who were taken to New York where Hudson T. and his nurse were met by his grandmother Daniels and uncle George Allison and taken to Montreal by his uncle George.

His father was found along with 300 of the other less fortunate passengers by a Canadian marine services salvage vessel and his body brought back to Halifax April 30. Bess and Lorraine were never found.

An ecumenical service was held in his memory in Trinity Methodist Church (now Trinity United) and his remains laid to rest at Maple Ridge Cemetery under the central spire along the north side of highway 43. The names of his wife and daughter were included on the massive tombstone.

Hudson T. continued living with his uncle George in Montreal and in 1929, then just 18, he travelled to North Dakota to visit his maternal grandmother. On his way home he contracted ptomaine poisoning and was dead in five days, ending a life that had seemed doomed the moment it was passed from one pair of hands to another through a train window in Southampton and which was miraculously plucked from danger in the greatest maritime disaster of the century.



H. Keith Graham, Victoria St., Chesterville, with the watch taken from the body of his uncle, Hudson Jesse Allison, following the Titanic disaster in April, 1912. The hour hand is stopped at three, the minute hand is broken off but appears to have stopped at the number 10, indicating the watch ceased working in the frigid waters of the North Atlantic off Newfoundland at 2:50 in the morning of April 15. Hudson and his wife, Bess, and daughter, Lorraine, were all drowned. Their 11-month-old son, Hudson T., was saved. Three nephews remain in this area, Keith and Allison Graham of Chesterville, and Trevor Allison of Morrisburg.

Firefighters want $1-an-hour increase

(Staff) - Chesterville's volunteer firefighters requested a $1-an-hour across the board increase for their services at last Thursday's village council meeting.

According to the proposed increases the firefighters would receive $9 an hour for the first hour and $7 for each subsequent hour for fires in town, and $12 and $8.50 an hour for fires out of town. Present rates are $8, $6, $11 and $7.50 respectively.

They also asked for $5 per practice up to a maximum of 12 practices a year, $15 per instructional course per unit, and $15,000 maximum compensation coverage.

Chief Mike Fyke requested a seven per cent increase from $76 to $81.25 per month while Deputy Chief Jack Lannin asked for a 25 per cent increase from $200 to $250 per year.

Council gave verbal assent to the firefighters' demands Thursday, but will not give them formal approval until its next meeting.

(Staff) - Glen Mackler and Curtis McMillan each fired a pair of goals here Sunday night as the Chesterville Midget A Flyers downed Stittsville 5-1 in the opening game of their best-of-three ODMHA Midget C playdown series.

Mackler scored the game's opening goal with 1:16 left in the first period and he drew an assist on McMillan's first goal with just four seconds remaining in the frame.

Early in the second stanza, McMillan teamed up with Mackler and Mark Moran to run the margin to three goals.

Later in the period, Rudy Grisel sent Chesterville up 4-0 and Mackler concluded Chesterville's scoring late in the period.

Stittsville broke the shutout early in the final frame with Bronsand beating Eddie Witteveen.

Chesterville was assessed four of the game's ten minor penalties.

Game two of the series is to be played in Stittsville tonight (Wednesday).

In other action during the week, the Flyers downed Winchester 7-2 last Wednesday and tied the Red Wings 4-4 here Friday to clinch first place in their division of the Carleton Dundas Minor Hockey League.

Last Wednesday, Pat Kelly, Rudy Grisel and McMillan each scored twice as they led 2-1 and 4-1 at the period breaks. Mark Moran got the other Chesterville goal.

Bruce Graves and Peter Marriner counted the Winchester markers.

Chesterville scored single goals in each of the first two frames. Rod Morrison's salvaged the tie for Chesterville with a powerplay goal with 2:27 left in the game.

Pat Kelly scored twice for the Flyer and Rudy Grisel notched the other goal.

Which way did it go?

Alexandria goaltender John MacDonell was caught with his head down on this play but he fortunately escaped unscathed as the puck skimmed narrowly past the post during last Tuesday night's Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League 6-0 loss to Chesterville. The Jets beat MacDonell with two first period shots and they added three more second frame markers before MacDonell was replaced by James McCulloch. Chesterville's win all but solidified their hold on fourth place in the league standings as the Glens continue their struggle with the Avonmore Aces to escape the bottom position before the schedules ends. - staff photo -

Almost everyday a person comes up with just a super brilliant idea or plan of attack on a project and a majority of the time it ends up exploding in your face with one small deterring factor popping out of nowhere.

A few weeks ago we were browzing over some scoresheets from games in the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League and suddenly it struck home - it appears the number of penalties have increased compared to last year and how does the EOJCHL penalty statistics compare to those of the four entries in the St. Lawrence division of the Ottawa District Junior B Hockey League.

By comparing last year's final stats from the Junior C puck league to figures obtained recently from league president Larry Stevens, we see an increase across the board.

The average number of minutes in penalties per game has increased to 60.2 from 49.4, five-minute majors to 76 from 34, misconducts to 52 from 30, gross misconducts to four from zero and number of games suspended to 54 from 19. So far this season, the league's eight entries have had five match penalties called - the same number as last year.

Those figures look astonishing and we automatically think such things as: gee, the boys are really fighting in that league this year or the referees are calling the play a lot closer.

The next step to our equipment was to take a closer in depth look. And, we see the six teams (Finch Twsp., Chesterville, Char-Lan, Avonmore, Osnabruck Township and Maxville) who played in the EOJCHL last year are no rougher or dirtier this year than last.

The increase in total penalty minutes and average penalty minutes per game results with the addition of Embrun and Alexandria in the league. Those two clubs are not overly dirty on the ice but their presence alone sparks the slight increase.

By comparing the individual team penalty figures, we see Char-Lan has increased 5.6 and Osnabruck Township 3.5 minutes in penalties per game.

Avonmore decreased 7.5, Chesterville 5.4 and Finch and Maxville by 4.6 minutes each.

The original purpose of the experiment was to show the difference between the Junior B and Junior C league but it exploded when we discovered the average number of minutes in penalties called in Jr. B games this year is 50.4.

That is lower than the EOJCHL, but only slightly.

Another interesting point we discovered by examining the charts (below) is the least penalized team in the Junior B circuit leads the standings and the most penalized team is in last place. In the EOJCHL standings last year, the most penalized team (Maxville) won the pennant and so on down the line.

But, if we look at this year's penalty figures for the EOJCHL the same theory does not hold water.

We now realize the left-hand side of the EOJCHL charts below are in good condition and the right side is where the concern is.

In almost the same number of games so this year, the eight EOJHCL teams have received more than double the number of majors and suspensions compared to last year. The number of game misconducts and 10-minute misconducts have also risen drastically and President Stevens is perterbed upon being faced with these figures.

Two late goal defeats drop Lions to second

MORRISBURG (Staff) - The Winchester Hawks are back on top of the St. Lawrence division of the Ottawa District Junior B Hockey League and they owe thanks to the Spencerville Bruins and Prescott Saints.

The Hawks nipped Cardinal 6-5 at home Friday night but it was the work by the Bruins Saturday night and the Saints Sunday afternoon that powered Winchester back into the lead.

Late rallies and injuries took their toll on the Lions as they bowed 4-3 to Spencerville and 5-4 to Prescott.

Winchester will head into this weekend's action with a two point lead over Morrisburg but the Lions have one game in hand.

Three regulars sat out Sunday's game in Morrisburg with winger Kevin Mackler being lost with a shoulder injury during the contest. Billy Morrow, Jeff Cassell and Bryan Rutley did not dress.

Saturday night, Steve Summers' goal at 18:46 of the final period snapped a 3-3 tie and lifted Spencerville to their 17th win of the season.

K. Durant, J. Jensen and Greg Morris scored earlier for the Bruins as Dean Boyd notched a pair and Mackler one for the Lions. The Lions led 2-1 after one period and the score was tied 3-3 going into the final stanza.

Sunday afternoon, Kevin Gallagher lifted Prescott to a 5-4 victory over the Lions, scoring with 17 seconds left in the game.

Morrisburg led 3-2 after one period on goals by Boyd, Mackler and Robbie Reynolds. The second frame was scoreless and Reynolds increased the lead to 4-2 early in the final frame.

Lynn Norton, Rick MacMillan, Joe McFarlane and Bryan Dalley counted the other Prescott goals.

Cardinal's Doug Byers jumped back into the lead in the division's individual scoring race with a ten point weekend.

He fired three goals and earned assists on goals by Chris Baker and Randy Patrick Friday night as the Broncos bowed to Winchester.

Bill Mullin only managed two assists in the game. Brad Sullivan scored twice for the Hawks as single goals went to Bob Videto, Steve McIntosh, John Flanigan and Mike Labadie.

Move into first place

Barkley, Smith pace Atoms to 4-3 victory

(Special) - Chesterville Atom Flyers finally moved into sole possession of first place in the CDMHL's atom division with a key 4-3 win over the always-tough Russell Warriors. Friday night it was the young Flyers' eighth league victory in a row.

The showdown between the co-leaders took place at Chesterville Arena. Russell and Chesterville have been battling each other all season for the elusive top spot.

Sean O'Connor opened the scoring as he tucked it away in a goal-mouth scramble to give Flyers a short-lived 1-0 lead. Russell roared back with a pair to earn a 2-1 lead.

Kirk Barkley tied it up for Chesterville on a breakaway set up by Kent Smith. Russell's Thompson gave Warriors a 3-2 lead going into the third period.

Barkley and Smith led their mates in the third period, each scoring once to give Flyers a rewarding 4-3 victory over coach Dan Storring's club.

Chesterville travelled to Alexandria's Palais des Sports Sunday to take part in the Annual Alexandria Atom Tournament.

Their first game was against Brownsburg, P.Q., whose team was bolstered with three "AA" atom players from Lachute. After a scoreless first period, which saw tight checking, Jerrold Boulanger and Kirk Barkley scored second-period goals, while Brownsburg's Jocelyn Joly narrowed the score to 2-1.

Early in the third Damian Laflamme made it 3-1 and Barkley added his second as Flyers appeared to have the game sewn up at 4-1.

Joly, however, didn't quit and added two more to narrow the score to 4-3. Flyers hung on for the victory as goalies Grant Groves and Troy Donaldson came up with key saves to preserve the win.

In the second game, Chesterville met Bill Lee's Iroquois gang, who had previously beaten the Flyers five times in tournament and exhibition play. This was no exception. Iroquois came out flat and Chesterville came out flatter, resulting in a 4-0 Iroquois win.

Osnabruck District HS winter carnival next week

By Debbie Dewey

INGLESIDE (Special) - This week, February 6-10, is Promotional Week for the Osnabruck District High School Winter Carnival, which starts February 13. Each day of the carnival will have a different theme. Monday will be Sweatflog Day; Tuesday, Valentine's Day will be the day to wear red, hearts and sunglasses; Wednesday will be Slave Day (girls are the slaves this year) and Inside-Out and Backwards Day; Thursday will be Hat, Scarf and Shoe Day; and Friday will be Dress-Up Day.

The Carnival Queen and her two Princesses will be chosen this Friday, and they will be crowned on the following Monday.

Carnival buttons are still on sale in the Students' Council Room for $1 each. These will provide free entry into most of the contests. The price of a drink and chips will be reduced at the dance as well as on the last day of the carnival. Refreshments will be free at the concert for those wearing carnival buttons. It is planned to hold a carnival in the late spring, so keep your buttons for use at that time.

The Students' Council hopes that everyone will participate in the carnival events. Prizes are displayed in the trophy case. There is a $20 prize for the top participant, as well as prizes for the winners of the various contests (to be held on Friday morning). Spotters will be on the look-out for participants on a day-to-day basis. Anyone seen dressed according to the theme of the day will be awarded one of the prizes on display in the trophy case.

The Carnival Dance will be held this Friday, from 8-11:30pm. Admission will be $2.50 per person and $4.50 per couple. Carnival buttons provide a 50 cent discount; Student cards will not be accepted. The dance will feature the band "Frost Bite".

The first midget boys' Basketball Tournament was played at Osnabruck last Friday. Three teams participated: General Vanier, Char-Lan, and Osnabruck. The ODHS team did very well in their games. In their first game, against G.V., they led for most of the game, but fell behind at the end to lose 33-30. The situation was the same in the second game, against Char-Lan. The Lancers lost by a very close score of 23-21.

The senior and junior boys basketball teams played against St. Lawrence last Wednesday. Both teams played well, but were not able to keep pace with the Saints. The Seniors lost their game by only 12 baskets, the Juniors by a mere ten baskets.

On Tuesday, the girls' volleyball team will be playing an exhibition game against General Vanier in preparation for their third of four tournaments to be held the following day.

Atom Bs win three, 2 by shutout

(Special) - Last Wednesday Chesterville Atom B Flyers travelled to Winchester where they defeated their hosts 1-0. Keith Blair scored the Flyers' goal from Brad Connelly and Dick Geertsma while Steve Montgomery handled the goaltending duties and he had help from defenceman Bing VandenBosch who made a sprawling save when Steve was caught out of position.

Russell travelled here Saturday to play the Flyers and Chesterville won the game 1-0. Moving Rudy Witteveen from defence to forward proved to be a good move as he scored the game's only goal assisted by Dick Geerstma and Keith Blair.

The Flyers returned the visit Sunday as again they came out on top 4-2. John Moran came out of the scoring slump with two goals. Rudy Witteveen scored unassisted and Brad Connelly scored the other Flyer's goal from Keith Blair and Rudy Witteveen.

The two games with Russell were worth four points each. These three games were then worth ten points to the Flyers as they lead their league with 22 points.

Compete in Montreal this weekend

Swinging door policy nets three new players for Embrun

EMBRUN (Staff) - Friday, February 10 means very little to most people but the start of another weekend but to Embrun Panther coach-general manager Yves Rollin it is the final deadline for him to register his team with the Ottawa District Hockey Association.

Rollin told The Record Monday he has 17 players signed and he has four open cards to fill by the weekend. One is for a goaltender.

The Panthers have had a swinging door policy to their dressing room for the past couple of weeks and they added three relatively young players to the roster following Sunday night's 8-4 exhibition win over the Goulbourn Cougars.

Two former members of the Ottawa 67s of the Ontario Major Junior A Hockey Association, forward Paul Sheard and defenceman Brian Barker, along with winger Bob Bingley, a former member of the Pembroke Lumber Kings, all signed cards.

The Panthers led Goulbourn 4-1 and 6-1 at the period breaks in a tame contest when talking about penalties. Embrun had five minors and the Cougars one.

Dave Dixie and Mike Cayer each scored twice for the winners as Dave Hunt, Chris Hayes, Rick Larose and Bingley each contributed single markers.

Paul Denommee had two goals for Goulbourn and singles went to John Bonnar and Greg Fagan.

Rollin is still concerned with the play of his team because the players are still making mental mistakes because of poor opposition and not enough action.

Embrun is busy this weekend when they will participate in a tournament at Pointe aux Trembles in Montreal's east end.

The Panthers play Sorel Pyros at 12:30pm Saturday, Lacombe at 7pm Saturday and Shawinigan at 9:30am Sunday. The top team in the round-robin event will advance to the final at 7pm Sunday against the victory of the other division.

Panther vice-president Maurice Lemieux advises people who have not already purchased their ticket for the Sat. Feb. 18 internation game against Yugoslavia to do so quickly. It may save a wait in line outside the door the night of the game.

Tickets are $4 each and can be obtained from the players, Allan Levere in Chesterville, Mr. Lemieux at Embrun Plumbing Supply or Marcel Bouchard in Embrun.

Yellow ties Maroon with three-point week

(Staff) - Two of three scheduled games in the Chesterville Town Hockey League were defaulted during the past week.

As a result of one default victory and a tie, Yellow picked up three points to move into a third place with Maroon at 13 points each.

Yellow tied Blue 3-3 in the second half of last Wednesday's double-header as Red defaulted the early game to Green to slip four points back of first place.

Sunday, Black was unable to ice enough players and were forced to default to Yellow.

League action continues tonight (Wednesday) with Blue playing Red at 9pm and Green meeting Maroon at 10pm. At 8pm Sunday, Red plays Yellow.

Maroon meets Green in the early game next Wednesday and Black plays Blue in a four-point contest at 10pm.

Flyerettes bounced 8-1 by Manotick

(Staff) - Chesterville Flyerettes Saturday suffered a stunning 8-1 defeat to Manotick at the local arena.

Manotick fired a pair of goals in each of the first two periods and they held a 5-0 lead before Chesterville finally broke the shutout. Debbie Rowe counted the lone Chesterville goal with Kim Moran earning the assist.

Jenny Laird paced the winners with four goals as Cheryl Hug had a pair and singles went to Jennifer Lighhart and Cathy Doyle.

The defeat was the fifth in nine exhibition starts for the Flyerettes. They have two victories and two ties.

At 1pm Saturday, the Flyerettes host the Prescott Debutantes.

antams win Morrisburg event

(Special) - Last Tuesday, the Chesterville Bantam A Flyers travelled to Russell to play the Russell Warriors in CDMHL regular season play.

The opening period ended 2-1 in favour of Chesterville as Gary Beckstead notched both goals.

The middle stanza saw Beckstead complete his hat trick before Kenny Shay connected and Russell had one successful scoring attempt in this period.

The Flyers registered three more goals in the final frame while Russell potted two. For Chesterville Mike Beckstead had two goals and Shay one.

The final result of the contest was a 7-4 victory for the Flyers.

Chesterville travelled to Winchester Wednesday to participate in the final meeting in regular season play against the host club.

Both teams tallied twice in the opening stanza with Terry Barkley and Mike Beckstead scoring for Chesterville.

The Chesterville club took a 4-3 advantage in the second frame. Scott Richards and Gary Beckstead got the goals.

Winchester evened the count in the third period and the entertaining game ended in a 4-4 draw.

Friday, Chesterville hosted Russell. This contest was the final meeting of the two teams in regular season competition.

Only one goal was scored in the opening period when Kenny Shay connected.

In the second stanza, the Flyers scored two times and the Warriors were held scoreless. Shay hit for his second goal of the game and Chesterville's third goal was notched by Terry Barkley.

Russell got on the scoresheet in the third stanza with a single tally while Mike Beckstead capitalized for Chesterville to run the final count 4-1.

The Chesterville Bantam A Flyers travelled to Morrisburg on Saturday to participate in their annual tournament.

The local teams first game of the tournament saw them matched against Edwardsburg Township. From the opening whistle it was obvious that the Flyers were determined to have a successful day and they were soon rewarded for their efforts when Steve Jones scored and he notched his second goal before the period ended.

The Flyers did not loose their momentum in the second frame as they added three more goals to their lead. Gary Beckstead, Terry Barkley and Kenny Shay gave the local squad a 5-0 advantage.

Marque Laflamme ran the score to 6-0 and with the combination of Chris McKibben and Wayne Ball playing shotout hockey the Flyers preserved the 6-0 victory.

The Flyers second contest in the tournament was against Iroquois who had defeated the local squad earlier in the season.

Iroquois took a quick two goal advantage in the first period but the Flyers were not ready to concede the game and before the stanza ended the lead was cut to one goal with Jones scoring.

In the third period, Chesterville regained their offensive power and outgunned the opposition 3-1. Gary Beckstead and Steve Jones capitalized on solo efforts and Kenny Shay scored for a 4-3 win.

The Flyers final game at the tournament was against a strong representation from North Franklin, New York.

Both teams were successful on two scoring attempts in the opening period with Kenny Shay notching both goals.

Steve Jones got Chesterville's third goal and then Marque Laflamme capitalized. The Flyer's final goal of the second frame was scored by Gary Beckstead. With North Franklin counting two goals with the second period ending 5-4 for Chesterville.

Chris McKibbon was responsible for the Flyers maintaining their slim lead early in the final frame as he came up with many outstanding saves before Marque Laflamme put the Flyers two up and Barry Blair got the final tally.

With this 7-4 victory, the Flyers captured the A division trophy in the tournament and Gary Beckstead who played sound offensive and defensive hockey in the three games, was named the outstanding player in the tournament.
