Passes For Wit in Winchester

The following is from the joke column of the Winchester Press:—"They say they are boasting down in Chesterville about their big cabbage heads. They always had a monopoly of them down there."

Reported Missing From American Forces

Several days ago Mr. and Mrs Heber Hooks were advised from Washington that their son a private in the American Army in France had been reported missing since October 4th. From information at hand there is every reason to believe that an error has been made in this case and that Pte. Hooks is alive, as a letter has been received by a friend of his bearing date of October 28th, in which he stated that he was then in hospital where he had been since some time in September, although he was convalescing and expected to be out in few days. The officials at Washington have been asked for confirmation of these facts but up to the present nothing further has been forthcoming.

Does it Pay to Advertise?

Last week Fulton Bros. received proof of the far reaching effect of advertising in The Record. As it is well known they set great store on their green tea and advertise it persistently. As a result the other day the following letter was received from a subscriber in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia:—"Will you please send me 5 lbs. of green tea as advertised by you in the Chesterville Record. I enclose money order for $3.10, that is $2.50 for the tea and 60c. to cover cost of postage."

The paper with the largest circulation gives the most opportunities to reap benfits from advertising in it. The Record has the largest circulation of any Dundas paper.

The Big Ayrshire Sale

Last week the first consignment sale of the Ayrshire Breeders' Club to be held in Chesterville provided some extraordinary values for the bargain hunters, and at the same time proved disappointing to the owners of the stock offered as prices were not at all in line with the distinguished breeding of the animals. Auctioneer Thos. Irving was at his best and worked as hard as auctioneer ever worked to make the sale a success but could not enthuse the comparatively small crowd present, which because of its numbers figured that the competition would be little and that stuff could be bought at prices leaving a big margin to count as profit. The disappointing nature of the sale is easily accounted for when men from the district roundabout coming to town on the day first learned that a sale was contemplated. This state of affairs developed from the fact that the handling of the advertising was placed with a city paper which hogged the whole appropriation instead of co-operating with The Record. The moral is obvious. If you want good buyers for good stock advertise in The Record.

WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

The Canadian Government offers interest-bearing War-Savings Stamps

Issue of 1919—Payable Jan. 1, 1924

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL P.C. No. 2462 authorizes the issue of War-Savings Stamps for the purpose of assisting in the financing of Government expenditures.

As Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, points out, W.-S. S. will provide "an excellent investment for small savings; and a strong incentive to every-day economy."

$5.00 for $4.00

Until January 31st, 1919, War-Savings Stamps will be sold by all Money-Order Post Offices, Banks, and other authorized Agencies, for $4.00 each, and on January 1st, 1924, Canada will pay $5.00 each for them.

Registration Against Loss

A Certificate is provided for the purchaser of a W.-S. S. On the certificate are spaces to which 10 W.-S. S. may be affixed. A certificate bearing one or more W.-S. S. may be registered at any Money-Order Post Office, fully protecting the owner against loss by fire, burglary or other cause.

The Certificate also shows the Cash Surrender Value of W.-S. S. at various dates before maturity.

Percy Gallinger, Dundela

Percy Gallinger died at his home on October 19th, 1918, after an illness of influenza and pneumonia. He was the son of Elijah Gallinger of Grantley and was born at Colquhoun, June 6th, 1892, his age being 26 years, 3 months and 19 days. He was united in marriage to Miss Etta Markell of Newington, July 11th, 1911. He had been engaged at work at Dundela for the past summer, where he had made many friends. Many kind friends and neighbours came to comfort the friends in their bereavement and sorrow and hope they will take comfort in the thought that he has only gone to a happy home where he will reap a just reward. Parents and friends were very sorry there could not be a funeral service on account of the terrible disease that was raging at the time of his death. His memorial service will be preached as soon as the churches are permitted to be opened and the text will be taken from the 16th chapter of 1st Corinthians and the 54th verse "Death is swallowed up in victory."

The deceased is survived by his wife, four sisters and two brothers Mrs. AlonzaMcNairn, Mrs. Alonza Murphy, Mrs. N. Sorness of Buffalo N. Y., Minnie Gallinger, of Winnipeg, James of Alaska and Herbert of Winnipeg.—Com.

Horticultural Society Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Chesterville Horticultural Society was held on Friday evening in the town hall. As usual on such occassions in Chesterville very few responded to the notice of the meeting. The president, W. H. Casselman occupied the chair, and a very interesting report of the past year's operations was read by the secretary, Miss Moad, as follows:—

"During the year 1918 we had a membership of 73. Total receipts amounted to $74.65 and expenditure to $71.65, leaving a cash balance on hand of $3.00.

We held three public meetings, one of which was addressed by Mr. Nunnick of Ottawa and one by the Rev. A. H. Scott D. D., of Perth.

An excursion was arranged to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, joining with the other Horticultural societies of the county. On account of bad roads as many as otherwise would have gone could not go, but a very enjoyable time was spent by about forty of the members.

The society planted twenty-four shrubs, twenty-four perennials, four vines and several small evergreens at Masons' and Odd fellows' hall.

A plot of ground was prepared at the High School and the Ladies of the Executive planted some twenty-five or thirty kinds of seeds of trees, shrubs and perennials. A good showing of plants has resulted but all the seeds are not yet up.

The prize donated by the president for the best garden was awarded Mr. Moad.

There were distributed to members. 54 rose bushes, 12 vines, 15 peonies, 150 asparagus roots, 50 packages of seeds, 40 shrubs, 16 perennials and 450 bulbs".

The officers were all re-elected.

President—Mr. W. H. Casselman,
Sect.-Trea.—Miss Helen Moad,
1st. Vice—Mrs. Saucier,
2nd. Vice—Mrs. C. W. Casselman,
Directors—Mrs. J. Hughes, Rev. C. Mullin, Mrs. S. Robinson, Miss Harrison, Mr. C. W. Casselman, Mrs. F. Sanders.

Delegate to Provincial Meeting—Miss Moad.

Five Sons in Active Servicse

Certainly J. P. Mattice of Osnabruck has done his duty through his family to his King and Country, having given five sons to be soldiers, all of whom have seen active service at the front. Two of the boys have been on the casuality list, but barring accidents, are all expected home again in due time. This record cannot be beaten in the United Counties, and it is doubtful if a similar instance can be found in Canada. Well done Osnabruck.—Freeholder.

Shot Two White Deer

Two white deer, some times called albinos, were this year shot by Mr. Ed. Scott of Renfew, who formed one of a party hunting at the "Plum Trees," a point on the Madawaska about midway between the Deschenes and Coltons. They were male fawns, and on Saturday evening were on exhibition in a window of the Fraser&Smart pharmacy. In nearly every hunting season a white deer is shot somewhere in Ontario, but very rarely do two of them fall before the rifle of one hunter in one season. Nimrods regard them as a freak of nature.—Mercury.

"Welcome Home" Bud, the war is over.
Now take it easy for a while;
Rest contented in the sunshine,
Of a grateful nation's smile.

You did splendidly and nobly,
You have served your country well,
You have fought and you have suffered
In that roaring battle hell.

Youthful veteran of battle,
Rugged hero of the strife
Mingle with your grateful fellows
In the peaceful walks of life.

Soldier lad enjoy the blessings
Of the peace you made secure,
Where a thankful land awaits you,
To a welcome that is sure.

Come back home and claim the glory
And the honor that is yours,
Khaki clad and youthful Buddy,
Soldier of the war of wars.

You have done your bit, dear Buddy,
You have battled to the end.
Come back home to "Gods own country"
Back to mother, home and friends.

Bought Standing Timber In Williamsburg

The Russell Leader says:—Messrs. George Stearns and Alex MacKeracher have purchased a cut of timber from Mr. Jas. J. McMillan of Williamsburg. This is said to be one ofthe most valuable cuts in Eastern Ontario, of Virgin Pine and Basswood. It is estimated that there is about 800,000 feet, board measure, of first class merchantable timber on it. They are starting operations at once by installing a portable saw mill. They have two years to remove the timber. Several prospective purchasers are already in view for the lumber.

Nov. 22nd, 1918.

Mrs. W. B. Lawson
Sec'y. Treas. Canadian
Red Cross Branch,
Chesterville, Ont.

Dear Mrs. Lawson:—

I have pleasure in handing you herewith a receipt for $1,000, received this morning as a contribution from your Branch to the General Funds of the Society.

May I take this opportunity, on behalf of the Executive of saying how much we appreciate the good work done by your Branch. Now that hostilities have ceased many may be of the opinion that the work of the Red Cross is over but such is not the case. It will be more than one year before all the sick and wounded men are returned from Overseas, and so long as there are any there we propose to see that everything possible is done for them. It is also intended to do everything possible to alleviate the suffering of the men returned. In addition to this our Society has undertaken to assist in looking after the refugee women and children of France and other allied countries. We have also sent out a Commissioner with the Siberian Expedition, so that you can see that those of us who have been fortunate to remain home during all the perilous times have plenty yet to do.

We look with confidence to your Branch to continue in the good work.

Sincerely yours,
Noel Marshall
Chairman Executive Committee

Further Contributions Acknowledged

Live Well but Study Economy

Most of the leaders of this generatton in all lines of endeavour were raised on the farms in Canada where the mode of living was economical, sound and healthy. If Canada is to forge ahead, it will be by her people adopting the method ot living and the simple healthful food of the last generation. This should be no hardship. People would save money and better health would be theirs to fit them for the reconstruction and upbuilding of Canadian industries of all kinds. Thrift and industry will quickly liquidate Canada's war debts.

Given Two Minutes to Produce Flag

An interesting incident is related in connection with the arrival of surrendered German U-boats. It was dark when they reached their moorings in the Stour river. Lieut. Commander Gaines, who had pioleted one of the submarines in, called his signal man below for a moment.

I n coming on deck he noticed that the British ensign which had been hoisted on the boat had disappeared. The British commander gave the German commander two minutes in wnich to produce it.

Well within that time the ensign made its appearance from out of a bag belong ing to the Germans.

Perfectlo Simple

The sergeant-major had the reputation of never being at a loss for an answer. A young officer made a bet with another officer that he would, in less than twenty-four hours, ask sergeant-major a question that would baffle him. The sergeant-major accompanied the young officer on his rounds, in the course of which the cookhouse was inspected. Pointing to a large copper of water just commencing to boil, the officer said: "Why does the water only boil round the edges of the copper and not in the centre?"

"The water around the edge, sir," replied the veteran, "is for the men on guard; they have their breakfast half an hour before the remainder of the company."

Mrs. Caroline Casselman, Winchester Springs

The angel of death visited our village on Sunday Nov. 11th, claiming one of our oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Mrs. Caroline Casselman, aged 82, widow of the late Mr. Hite Hollister who predeceased her 9 years ago. For over six months she had taken her bed and a few days before her death had a stroke, death claiming her on Sunday night. The funeral took place on Tuesday at one o'clock from the residence of her daughter Mrs. Michael Casselman where she had resided for about three years. Rev. Meredith took charge of the service. The text was taken from First Cori. 15th chap. and 54th verse, of which he spoke comforting and sympathizing words. Hymns 321, 334 and 346 were used and the voluntary sung entitled "Going down the valley", after which the remains were taken to Williamsburg cemetery. She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters namely— Mrs. M. Casselman, Winchester Springs. Mrs Jack McDonald, Ogdensburg; Mrs Nathanial Robertson, Watertown, N. Y.; two sons—Henry, San Francisco; Milo, Inkerman; two sisters—Mrs. John McIntosh, Williamsburg; Mrs. James Mallen, Morrisburg; three brothers—Mr. Nathan Casselman, Matilda; Mr. S. Casselman of the same place and Milo of Hainsville.

The deceased was well known and had a large circle of friends. In her younger days she was of a cheerful disposition a good wife and mother. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved ones.

Willie was being measured for his first made-to order suit of clothes.

"Do you want the shoulders padded, my little man?" enquired the tailor.

"No," said Willie significantly; "pad the pants."

Need of Personal Thrift

The war has ended, but the conditions and needs of war-time have by no means ended or altered. In some respects endeavours pressed upon the people during the war should be intensified after it. Personal economy is one of the chief of these. The "flush period" caused by the expenditure of hundreds of millions on munitions, army supplies, and food-stuffs for Europe is ending. The requirements for military purposes will steadily dwindle. The Victory Loan will take care of demobilization and furnish credits for exports of food to Britain, but the economic trend is now undoubtedly toward reaction and deflation. Fat days are inevitablably followed by lean, and though we in Canada will probably escape serious ill-effects from the war waste, yet national thrift is now needed more than ever, to keep up our reserves. The Thrift Stamp campaign being supervised by Sir Herbert Ames was intended as a war savings effort, but it is even more important as a peace savings encouragement. Far from being abondoned because hostilities have ceased, it ought to be a more consequential influence in the economic life of Canada. To many who may have despised savings of nickels, dimes and quarters before, the Thrift Stamps should, under new circumstances, have a new appeal—for it may be this small change collected into Bonds through the Stamps will ultimately form a precious asset in the family reserves. When commodity prices have been so high that two, three or four dollars go about as far as the proverbial thirty cents, the incentive to saving of small amounts is much lessened. Valued in terms of commodities, the small sums seemed hardly worth saving. But the gradual restoration of the purchasing power of the dollar will make the silver pieces seem of more importance. The Thrift Stamps should have a popular appeal to the wage-earners who have found the cost of living outstripping their income, and who have despairingly wondered whence their opportunity to save would come. Many a fortune has been begun by the saving of odd change usually thrown away indifferently and the Thrift Stamps and Bonds should start many a new savings fund, later on to accumulate into full-blown competency.

Taking Care of the Country Village Bad Man

(From The Mail & Empire)

Readers of Conan Doyle will probably recall the story which tells of Sherlock Holmes and his friend Watson, who were journeying to the scene of a crime in the country, and the doctor commenting upon the beauty and innocence of the view that was spread before them. The detective said, in effect, that the greatest crimes were committed in the country. The most terrible crimes in Canada have been committed in the country, often in lonely farm-houses. A proper police system would prevent them or would more certainly bring the perpetrators to justice than the system or lack of system that now prevails. Newspaper readers must be familiar with the fact that when a crime is committed that attracts general attention the investigators often report a condition of shocking immorality in the district. In other words, the sensational crime has attracted attention to a general condition that would have come under the notice of a rural patrol police and might therefore have been stamped out in time to prevent the tradgedy.

The police of Toronto would probably verify the statement that the most desperate criminals they have encountered came from the country districts. The reason is that the boy in the country or the village is not brought into contact with discipline, apart from home training, so early in life as the boy who is brought up in the city. A proper system of police protection would equalize matters. The country youth who sees the final authority in a tottering old sheriff or constable whom he can safely defy would in the city be brought in contact with a police officer as able-bodied as himself. The small-town bully, who often becomes the most dangerous of criminals, would not develop. There is probably no small community in Ontario to-day that has not some dreaded "boss", some thug whose will becomes a law for those who come in contact with him. Often he is the son of an influential father. He is beyond discipline. He would not grow up to be a "bad man" if he was under the eye of such a force as the North-West Mounted Police. Early in his career he would be quelled, and eventually would become a decent citizen. The town bully or defective who so often turns into the murderer of national notoriety would be abolished by a scientific police system.

Pay the War Debt from the Egg Basket

"Poultry and eggs alone could pay Canada's National War Debt," says Mr. Fred C. Elford, Superintendant of the Poultry Division of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa. And he produces the following figures to prove it:

"Canada's net national debt on October 31, 1918, was $1,247,000,000. We have adopted the slogan, 'One hundred hens to every farm, ten hens to every urban lot. That would mean taking 1,000,000, as the round number of Canadian farms 100,000,000 hens in the country and 10,000,000 hens in the cities, towns and villages, a total of 110,000,000. Of course everybody in the city could not keep hens, and many would not even if they could. But many people in the suburban districts of the cities, and in the smaller towns, and the country villages could keep more than ten-20,-30,-50,-75 perhaps. So take an average of ten. A good select hen will produce 200 eggs a year. But taking a low estimate of ten dozen eggs a year (120) for 110,000,000 hens and we would produce 1,100,000,000 dozen eggs a year.

"At the present time we consume in Canada 32 dozen eggs per head of population in Canada. We could increase this allowance to 50 dozen, a total of about 350,000,000 dozen. We use less than 25,-000,000 dozen of our eggs at the present time for incubation. Suppose we increase this to 50,000,000 dozen. That would total 400,000,000 dozen for Canadian consumption, a very liberal allowance. We would then have left for export 700,000,-000 dozen at an average price of say 40 cents per dozen. That would bring $280,-000,000 per year into the country from eggs alone. The interest on our debt of $1,247,000,000 at 5½ per cent will amount to $68,585,000. We would pay this interest and apply a balance of $213,415,000 to reducing the principal every year. In less than six years Canada's hens would wipe out the total monetary cost of the war to Canada, and our total net national debt.

"I do not say that Canada will do this. But I say that Canada might well aim to do it, for it is within the possibilities of what could be done without undue strain upon our present labor capacity.

The Future of the Live Stock Industry

The arrival of peace has created new conditions in the export of meat produce and some uncertainty in the minds of Canadian farmers as to future markets. Information in the hands of the Honourable T.A. Crerar, Minister of Agriculture, convinces him that the export market will continue to absorb at firm prices, as compared with the prices for all other agricultural products, every pound of beef, bacon and other animal products that Canada can supply. In discussing the situation the Honourable Mr Crerar said: "In view of the great scarcity of cattle and live stock of all kinds in Europe, and because of the great demand for live stock and live stock products of all kinds sure to continue for some years at least, I am going to ask the farmers and live stock men of Canada to maintain their breeding operations on a war time scale, to properly finish all feeding stock, and to conserve all good breeding females, and to still further improve their herds and flocks by using even greater care in the selection of a sire"

A party of "Waacs" were being shown over a repair factory at one of the bases in France. "This," said the obliging soldier, as they entered a shed, "is the engine boiler". One fair charmer, with a quizzical smile, asked: "And why do they boil the engines"? And her guide softly replied: "To make the engine tender".

Canadian Prisoners in Fair Condition

London, December 1.—Generally the condition of Canadians repatriated is better than was expected. The men mostly look fairly well fed, the chief defect being the lack of boots, so that many of them are footsore. Altogether about 300 Canadians have been brought out of Germany, being men who were marshalled and forwarded by the German authorities. There must be more who are not in regular prison Camps, but are working behind the lines. Directly the news of the armistice came the German troops told the prisoner-laborers to 'clear off." Some made for Holland and Belguim and being without money and lacking clothing and boots, may have died by the wayside. We shall probably never know the fate of many of these poor fellows. It is learned that the attitude of the German civilians towards the Canadians has been good, the people feeding them on their journeys. In some cases, where food was stored ready for the retreating Huns. It was given to our men. The British authorities sent wireless messages advising the prisoners to stay in camp until proper arrangements had been made for their transportation, but when a man had been behind barbed wire for three years, he was only too glad to get away. Repatriated Canadians, on their arrival in England, are being sent to Ripon, where a Canadian officer looks after them.

Don't Appreciate Danger

All medical authorities say that nine out of ten of the serious relapses following influenza are occasioned by the inability of doctors and nurses to make the patients understand that it is very dangerous for them to go around the house before they are strong enough to resist the secondary effect of the disease. The patients who do this feel well and think they know more than the doctors, who are aware that death is near to the unrested patient who exercises much. The results are often fatal. If you have had influenza stay in bed as long as you feel you should and then stay three days longer and ask the doctor what he thinks.

After Patsy Hogan had left Dublin for the country, and rented a cottage with a a small backyard, he returned to town and purchased a monkey. Not a word of his scheme would be disclosed to his old cronies. But afterwards he explained, "Twas like this: I chained the monkey to a shtick in the yard and the coal thrains were pass' all day, and on iv'ry thrain there was a stoker. In one week I had two tons of coal in me cellar, and the monkey was never wanst hit!"

Strong Men

The Nation needs strong men and the right time to begin to build up strong manhood is during the growing period of childhood. Many mothers remember, with keen satisfaction, the days when was one of the determining factors in building up the strength of their children. Scott's is a source of nourishment and strength that ought never be overlooked by the mother of today who is anxious about her fast-growing boy or girl.

GERMANY WILL BE MADE TO PAY

David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, in a speech said the Victory of Entente allies had been due to the ceaseless valor of their men and that it would be a lesson to anybody who in the future, thought that they, as the Prussian war lords hoped, "could overlook this little island in their reckoning."

"We are now approaching the Peace Conference", the Premier continued. "The price of victory is not vengenance nor retribution. It is prevention. First of all, what about those people whom we have received without question for years to our shores; to whom we gave equal rights with our own sons and daughters, and who abused that hospitality to betray the land, to plot against security, to spy upon it and to gain such information as enabled the Prussian war lords to inflict not punishment but damage and injury upon the land that had received them as guests? Never again!"

Mr. Lloyd George said the interests of security and fair play demanded that it should be made perfectly clear that the people who acted in this way merited punishment for the damage they had inflicted

The second question was the question of indemnities, the Premier added. In every court of justice throughout the world the party which lost has had to bear the cost of the litigation. When Germany defeated France she established the principal, and there was no doubt that the principal was the right one. Germany must pay the cost of the war up to the limit of her capacity.

"But I must use one word of warning" said Mr. Loyd George. "We have to consider the question of Germany's capacity. Whatever happens Germany is not to be allowed to pay her indemnity by dumping cheap goods upon us. That is the only limit to the principal that we are laying down. She must not be allowed to pay for her wanton damage and devastation by dumping cheap goods and wrecking our industries.

"There is a third and last point. Is no one to be made responsible for the war? Somebody has been responsible for a war that has taken the lives of millions of the best young men of Enrope. Is not anyone to be made responsible for that? If not, all I can say is that if that is the case there is one justice for the poor wretched criminal and another for kings and Emperors."

Mr. Lloyd George declared that there were two offences against the laws of the nations that had been committed.

"One" he said, "is the crime against humanity in the deliberate plottling of the great war. The other is the outrage upon international law. It is a crime, a brutal crime, to devastate the lands of another. Whoever did that ought to be responsible for it.

"The submarine warfare did not mean only the sinking of ships, but it was a crime against humanity in that it sank thousands of harmless merchantmen. In the whole history of warfare between nations that had never been sanctioned. It is rank piracy and the pirates must receive the punishment.

"I mean to see that the men who did not treat our prisoners with humanity are to be made responsible. I want this country to go to court with a clean conscience, and she will do so. There is not a stain on her record. We will not be afraid to appear before any tribunal.

"Now these are the things which we have to investigate. We mean that the investigation shall be an impartial one, a perfectly fair one. We also mean that it shall be a stern one, and that it shall go on to the final reckoning.

"We have got so to act now that men in the future who feel tempted to follow the example of the rulers who plunged the world into this war, will know what is awaiting them at the end of it. We shall have to see that this terrible war, which has inflicted so much destruction on the world; which has arrested the course of civilization and in many ways put it back; which has left marks on the minds, upon the physique and hearts of myriads in many lands that this generation will not see obliterated—we must see by the action we take now, just, fearless and relentless, that it is a crime that shall never again be repeated in the history of the world."

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives". Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

Urges Consumers to Save Hard Coal

A review of the coal situation, coupled with a soberly worded warning that Ontario will be face to face with a serious shortage before Spring, is issued by the Provincial Fuel Controller, R. Home Smith.

At the outset the Controller warns the people that the actual shortage will be considerably more than the 20 per cent cut in the supply made by the United States Fuel Administration. "It must be remembered," he states, "that the tonnage received last year was far below our needs, and that hardship was experienced in a number of localities? Therefore the statement that the present year's allotment is over 20 per cent less than the amount consumed last year does not go far enough, for there is good reason to believe that the shortage will be 30 per cent. of an adequate supply." The Controller further points out that it is doubtful if the Province will receive even its 80 per cent allotment, since the infiuenza epidemic iu two weeks cut the coal production by 1,500,000 tons.

"It is necessary that this statement should be emphasized," he says, "for unfortunately there is a general public opinion that the cessation of hostilities has brought about a change in conditions favorable to the production of more anthracite coal."

After reviewing the powers of the Federal, Provincial and local controllers, Mr. Home Smith announces that the domestic user of anthracite must be supplied first.

Another Battle Won for Dairymen

FOR months we have been experimenting—investigating—testing—fighting, to find a way to make the Empire Milking Machine, already the unquestioned leader, still more efficient for the dairy farmer.

THE BATTLE IS WON.

We have given the milking machine a new heart—the pulsator is the heart of the milking machine—and the result of our experiment, the new Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, is the most wonderful development since the invention of the Empire—the competent milking machine.

To be successful a milking machine must have a perfectly acting pulsator to cause the alternating action of suction and massage on the teats (to imitate the calf's "suck and squeeze") to occur with absolute regularity; and to make the change from suction to massage and back again instantaneous.

The Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, the pulsator without a piston, does that and more. It really is Super-Simple—so simple that it can be taken apart and put together again in less than two minutes. It has but five moving parts; nothing to wear out or "get out of gear." It cannot lose vacuum, so its action is perfect.

It places the Empire Milking Machine immeasurably in advance of all competition. Your cows should be milked by an Empire Milking Machine with the new Super-Simple Pulsator. It will milk them more rapidly than ever—it will solve your labor problem—it will increase milk production at a decreased cost; it will transform milking from drudgery into a pleasant chore.

Our factory is overtaxed by the increased demand for Empire Milking Machines, so go to your dealer at once, see the new Super-Simple Pulsator and tell him to order your Empire outfit without delay; or write for Catalog.
