"Grandmother of England" Dies Peacefully In Sleep

Dowager Queen Mary, Queen through a half century of change, died peacefully in her sleep Tuesday night, March 24.

A report, entirely unofficial, circulated that her last wish was that the coronation of her granddaughter, Queen Elizabeth II, should go on as scheduled, in June.

There will be a period of mourning befitting a royal figure revered by millions of British subjects, but the great pageant which people are coming thousands of miles to see may not be affected.

The 85-year-old Queen grandmother, whose life spanned a momentous period of history, will have a state funeral. She will be buried in Windsir Castle beside her husband, and the son she outlived, George VI.

Queen Mary, often called the "Grandmother of England," was the widow of King George V, who died in 1936. Her long life spanned the period from the imperial 19th Century days of Queen Queen Victoria, through two world wars, to the tense times of the atom bomb and the cold war.

The end came peacefully.

Queen Mary's oldest son, the Duke of Windsor, who once sat on the throne as Edward VIII, had rushed from Florida, when his mother was first stricken. He was the first member of the Royal Family to arrive at his mother's residence, Marlborough House, after her death.

The Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Scarborough, will announce the length of the court mourning as soon as the Queen decides the question.

Only then will it be known whether Queen Mary's death will delay the scheduled June 2 Coronation.

Queen Mary saw Britain through the grief and triumph of two world wars. She had great personal sorrows, too, but she had the personal triumph of seeing her husband and their heirs hold the throne for more than 40 years. She lived to see her husband, then two sons, and then a beloved granddaughter assume the throne.

She was born May 26, 1867, in Kensington Palace, and christened Victoria Mary Augusta Louisa Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes. Her father was Francis, Duke of Teck, and her mother Princess Mary Adelaide, the Duchess of Teck, a granddaughter of King George III.

Victoria still reigned when the Princess Mary, as she was known, became engaged to a cousin thrice removed, Prince Edward. He died of influenza in 1891, soon after their wedding date was fixed.

In 1893 she married his brother, George, Queen Victoria's grandson. Victoria died in 1901, and Mary's father-in-law, Edward VII, was king until his death in 1910.

George took the throne as George V, and Mary served as his Queen through a quarter century that brought Britain through the First World War. George V died January 20, 1936.

David, Prince of Wales, became king as Edward VIII, but never received the crown. Opposed by government leaders in his plans to marry a divorced woman, Edward abdicated in December, 1936. He became the Duke of Windsor and the husband of the divorcee, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, of Baltimore, Md. (Queen Mary never received her).

She saw her next son, Albert or "Bertie", becoming King George VI, and the Second World War descended upon Britain and the blitz upon London. Queen Mary lived at the village of Badminton, in Gloucestershire. She busied herself with plans for the entertainment and care of troops. She promoted the "Dig for Victory" programme designed to help besieged Britain withstand the food shortages and the Germans. Her son, the Duke of eKnt, was killed in an airplane accident, while on active duty in 1942.

When King George VI died last year, after a lung operation, 25-year-old Princess Elizabeth became the ruling Queen. She was in Africa at the time, and flew back to London. Queen Mary did not wait for Elizabeth to come to her. She went to Clarence House, the home of Elizabeth, curtsied to the new Queen.

Almost 85 at the time, Queen Mary thus paid her respects to the first queen to reign in England since Victoria. The dynasty had come a full circle.

STORMONT MPP URGES LAW SCHOOL EQUALITY

Sharp criticism of the Law Society of Upper Canada was voiced at Toronto in the Ontario legislature.

The society, which governs the legal profession in the province, was described as a "closed shop" and a "priestly cult" during discussion of education budget estimates for the year.

Peter Manley (L—Stormont) called on the administration to give the University of Toronto equal status with Osgoode Hall, until recently the only law school in the province.

Under the present system, students at the university must take the last two years of the Osgoode course after completing their three-year university course.

University students, therefore, attend law school for five years, one more than students who go straight to Osgoode after obtaining their bachelor of arts degree.

Education Minister Dunlop said the government could do nothing about the situation.

Local W. I. Meets In Refurbished Library For March Meeting

Approximately 40 members attended the monthly meeting of the Women's Institute, held in the Library on Wednesday evening. Final plans were made for the food sale to be held in the Library on Saturday, March 28, beginning at 3 o'clock. The treasurer was asked to give the Institute's usual donation to the Easter Seal Campaign for crippled children and to the current Red Cross Campaign. Members also consented to sponsor the annual canvass for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. This canvass is usually carried out in the early fall.

Announcement was made of the short course, "Brighten Your Home With Colour," to be given in the Morewood United Church from 1.30 to 4.00 p.m., on Wednesday, April 8. Members from the Chesterville Branch are encouraged to attend. Interested members are requested to inform the convener of their group and,as far as possible, transportation will be provided.

Everyone was pleased to see that the new floor covering and new plastic curtains had given the Institute room a new look. Thanks are due to the committee, Mrs. Geo. Merkley, Mrs. Graham Smith and Mrs. Keith Graham, as well as to contractor Cummings for a job well done.

A nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Dalton Docksteader, Mrs. B. W. Campbell and Mrs. Geo. Merkley, was appointed to bring in a slate of officers to the annual meeting in April.

Mrs. Dalton Docksteader was convener of the meeting and opened the programme with a lively sing-song. The convener then talked briefly on the subject of resolutions, quoting from the handbook on several occasions to show the proper method of drawing up and signing a resolution. This was followed by a reading of the resolution on the restriction of the use of vegetable oils in the manufacture of synthetic dairy products which had been passed at the Agricultural meeting last November. If this resolution is passed at the District Annual, the Area Convention and the provincial body, it will have the backing of a large group of rural women, whose opinion in such force should have an influence upon the lawmakers at Queen's Park.

A musical treat during the evening was the singing of vocal solos by Mrs. Strub, accompanied by Mrs. A. Graham at the piano. Mrs. Strub sang in French "My Garden of Roses" a melody by Haydn Wood, and "Passionnement", a waltz from the music of Messager.

Quips on ladies' new spring bonnets and also many useful household hints were much enjoyed as read by the members.

Mrs. Geo. Barkley was the prize-winner of Mrs. Thompson's contest on "Birds."

Mrs. Ross thanked Mrs. Strub and the convener and her committee for a very interesting programme. After singing the National Anthem, lunch was served. Those assisting the convener were Mrs. Cam Thompson, Miss Jean Casselman, Mrs. C. W. Casselman, Mrs. W. Hughson, Mrs. T. D. Ross, Mrs. H. Hamilton, Mrs. P. G. Hewitt and Mrs. P. DeRooey.

The many floral tributes attested to the esteem in which Mr. Hummel was held.

Surviving are four sons and one daughter, Geo., of Williamsburg, Willie, Ogdensburg, James, Chesterville, Clayton, New York; Mrs. Cora Tupper, Montreal. A sister, Mrs. Ida Servage, Chesterville, also survives.

The remains were placed in the vault at Maple Ridge to await burial at a later date.

BARREL RUN FOR APRIL 1 WEDNESDAY NEXT

Chesterville Legion has set the date for the Barrel Run down the Nation River. It will be started on Wednesday, April 1. Ticket sales are reopened to cover the added period.

With unusual spring conditions prevailing, water levels this year on the river were 'way below normal. It was not until the last few days of heavy rain that the flow had reached anything like flood levels. Now with the banks running full, and the ground waterlogged, there is every chance the barrel will make a record run next Wednesday.

Guesses, with an eye on the $300 first prize, are ranging anywhere from 56 hours to 40 minutes. There will be aproximately six miles of winding watercourse for the floating barrel to cover. Many hazards will be there to hold up its progression, although the rules will allow it holdups of only five minutes duration.

Someone is going to cash in on the jackpot when the Legion Barrel floats under the village bridge next Wednesday. Tickets are available from members of the Legion.

WILBURN EDGERTON PASSES WEDNESDAY NIGHT

As we go to press, we learn with regret of the sudden passing of Wilburn Edgerton, a well known and respected member of this community. Mr. Edgerton suffered a heart seizure at the first of the week and his sudden death came as a shock to his many friends. He was in his seventy-eighth year.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. in Trinity United Church; interment will follow in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Rotary Club Hears Bell Representative Outline New Advances

The entire North American continent will be turned into one great telephone exchange on completion of an immense project which is now underway, Lucien Moise, Bell Telephone representative, told the Rotary Club at Chesterville.

In an address entitled "Keys To The Continent," the speaker said that, for purposes of the project—called "continent-wide toll dialing"—U.S. and Canadian telephone companies have divided the territories they serve into some 90 numbering areas, each with a separate calling code of three figures.

"When the plan is in full operation you will be able to call Montreal or Vancouver, Hollywood or Miami, just as you would call a town a few miles away."

The project will be made possible by the introduction of crossbar equipment—an entirely new method of switching telephone calls. This equipment, "one of those electric brains you hear so much about nowadays," has a "memory" which enables it to store up information—"digits which represent routes, geographical locations, exchanges, telephone numbers and so forth."

"It releases this information at the proper time when it is required to direct the routing of a long distance call. The releasing wipes the machine's memory clear and it is ready to serve again."

Introduction of the plan is being made possible by the continual development of new equipment and methods for handling long distance calls.

One of these methods, already in use on 25 per cent of long distance calls in the Bell Company's Ontario-Quebec territory, is operator toll dialing— by which the operator with whom the call is placed can dial direct without the assistance of operators along the route or in the called city.

"The operator doesn't actually dial your call. What she does is run her fingers over a group of keys rather like those of an adding machine. This is called key pulsing."

Using energized equipment, the speaker demonstrated the use of an even further development of key pulsing for sending codes and numbers between the crossbar long distance centres.

"Each number is represented by a separate pair of frequencies, which translated into sound emerge as pairs of musical tones."

"The string of sounds, by operating the necessary switches, will connect your telephone at the other side of the continent almost as quickly as one in your own town. And though the continent-wide system won't be in full operation next week or even next year, it will be within the foreseeable planned future."

Mr. Moise also demonstrated, by means of a light beam transmitter, the working of microwaves—ultra-high frequency radio waves—a relatively new medium for transmitting long distance telephone calls and television programmes, and he described the microwave radio relay system, a series of 15 towers which the Bell Telephone Company is now building between Montreal and Toronto via Ottawa.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Garden Party

A special committee, composed of the executive, the directors and one representative from each unit of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, has held two meetings to further plans for a garden party to be held on the grounds of the hospital, the tentative date to be afternoon and evening of Saturday, June 27th.

Elaborate and detailed plans for the enjoyment and entertainment of the guests are being made. The Pipe Band from the S. D. & G. Regiment is being contacted to furnish music for the occasion. A fish pond and candy booth will be on the grounds and refreshments are being served. Arrangements are being made for those interested to tour the hospital and note the splendid equipment and efficient management therein.

The Publicity Committee will be making further announcements about this gathering. Everyone is invited to keep this date in mind, and it is hoped the many friends in the district will take this opportunity to inspect the Hospital and also see the architect's plans for the further expansion which the board feels necessary so that the hospital may most satisfactorily serve this community.

High School District Hears Excellent Report From Regional Inspector

Regional Inspector Zeigler, of Ottawa, inspected the two high schools of North Dundas High School District last week. He was very pleased with the general work of the units and reported fully to members of the board at a special meeting in Winchester on Tuesday night.

Mr. Zeigler assured the board they had a staff of teachers to be proud of. The harmony and close relationship between pupils and teachers was at a very high level and in his opinion, that was one of the first objects of successful teaching.

The Inspector expressed some disatisfaction with the pupil-teacher ratios of the two schools in the District. He pointed out that Chesterville school needed more pupils to increase the ratio from 15 to 1 and Winchester needed a decrease from the ratio of 27 to 1. Members of the board are well aware of the condition and expressed their intention of continuing further study to attempt to remedy the situation.

The physical condition of the two schools was adequate and the Inspector's report made note of the added improvements of the last two years. Aside from suggestions to improve the grounds of the Chesterville school, he made no other recommendations the Board has not already considered.

The mill rate of the District for the present year was reported on and the secretary-treasurer has notified the various municipal clerks of the area. It will be up slightly over the last two years, this year being 7.8 mills. The increase in 2.8 mills over 1952. With general costs rising in every department the increase was to be expected.

Along The Way

By Stylus

There are two subjects of interest these days, Neighbour, the weather and the flu. Nobody's doing anything about the weather, except to talk about it; but everybondy's doing something about the flu—either doctoring it or trying to avoid it.

For the sake of those who haven't had it yet, it may be helpful to summarize the symptoms of the flu. We find, however, that in trying to do this for you we appear very much like the weather man who says "Clear all day except in case of rain." The information which has come to us is that some people who have caught the flu have been sick to their stomachs, while others haven't. The temperature with some people was very high, even as high as 104°; others have had very little fever at all. Some victims have developed very sore throats, while others hae felt no particular inflamation in the throat. Still others have suffered ear-ache, but again this has been by no means common. So there you have it! When it's all sorted out it means that different people react differently, and it does seem that many types of flu are going; 24-hour flu, stomach flu, throat flu, ear flu—you can almost take your choice as to which you'll expose yourself to!

It is advisable, with so much infection about, to take all possible precaution. The best remedy is to stay away from the infection itself, but if this is not possible some of the lesser remedies may be used. The most widely used of the various ones that are being tried (they are legion and it would be impossible to list them all) is the daily pinch of soda. We hear tell of this remedy in almost every quarter, and it possesses the advantages of being cheap and readily accessible. We recommend it with just one word of caution. If the cook has run out of baking soda (do not, under any circumstances use substitutes like washing soda), then it may be advisable to try some other remedy. There are those who take lemon juice every morning before breakfast (I myself can't get up early), but there surely is the danger of turning the constitution sour with this practice. Another remedy is to put a drop or two of Iodine on a lump of sugar or in a pint of water, but just what it does no one seems to know. We have even heard that some go a little farther than any of these and try drowning their disease in their cups—but this both expensive and antitemperate or something!

If all precautions fail and you are unfortunate enough to catch the dread contagion you must be very careful to follow a definite line of procedure. In the first place go to bed, and take the flu with you! This is by far the best means of keeping the beastly thing to yourself. It is advisable to have a radio by the bedside, some magazines, books, fruit or anything else that will make your stay in bed both inviting and comfortable. The more inviting you make it the more likely you will stay put, and the longer you stay put the better. Some have discovered that when they didn't stay put they were soon put back, so we suggest you don't interrupt the first put at all. Of course someone will need to wait on you, and it will help to find someone attractive! They will need to take your temperature periodically, fix your pillows occasionally and run those little errands that you'd otherwise not run at all. This person will have to keep before you a continuous supply of juices (the recommended diet), which, of course, can now be purchased in a tin, thereby saving the effort of squeezing them out of the skin. This makes available some extra squeezes which may come your way and make your lot even more comfortable.

You must be careful, while in bed, to keep warm—after all that is what you are there for! You must have no visitors, but otherwise you can enjoy yourself as much as possible. The flu runs its course in from three days to two weeks. We suggest you stay put for the longer period, it's shorter in the end!

Now if all this fails, Neighbour, if the fever persists and you continue to see spots before your eyes; if you find the Happy Gang as corny as you do this column, and if Ma Perkins fails to get her man, then you are really sick! There is only one thing to do under these circumstances and that is to call the doctor. Try to get him when he hasn't sixty-four others to call on or isn't in bed with the flu himself. It isn't that he can do a great deal for you (we have just noticed a magazine article which claims that this infection will run its course no matter what), but you'll feel a lot better after he visits you and tells you that you're not so sick anyway!

MERION BLUE GRASS

Merion blue grass, an improved variety of Kentucky blue grass originally selected and developed in the eastern United States, has recently received a considerable amount of favourable publicity which has led to many enquiries concerning its value under Canadian conditions.

This variety has been tested as a lawn grass, in comparison with other varieties of Kentucky blue grass by the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, since 1947, says J. H. Boyce, and has been found to be superior to all other varieties under test in many ways. Chief among its superior characteristics have been its comparative resistance to Helminthosporium leaf spot, a disease which often weakens and sometimes destroys common blue grass—particularly in cold, wet spring or fall weather; its ability to withstand closer mowing than common sorts because of its shorter growth; its aggressiveness and ability to spread rapidly; its general quality and appearance nd its ability to resist the encroachment of weeds including crab grass. There is also some evidence that it is more heat and drought tolerant than the other varieties tested.

Because of its superior performance in the Ottawa trials, Merion blue grass has recently been licensed for sale in Canada. But seed is in very short supply and it is quite costly. The fact that it can be sown at much lower rates than are commonly used for commercial blue grass partially alleviates the high cost involved in using this expensive seed.

HORSE SENSE

A HORSE CAN'T PULL while kicking.
This fact I merely mention.
And he can't kick while pulling,
Which is my chief contention.

Let's imitate the good old horse
And lead a life that's fitting;
Just pull an honest load, and then,
There'll be no time for kicking.

Weekly Farm Report For Dundas County

Winter farm operations have come to a standstill and farmers are preparing for spring. Much difficulty has been experienced by rural folk in normal winter work such as cutting wood, due to limited snow and flooding of the land.

Cattle buyers have been active and considerable livestock has been moved across the line. Prices are low but it has served to eliminate some of the congestion on local farms. Hatcherymen report increases in the number of chicks being purchased.

Prospects for clover this year are not promising with indications of severe winter killing and smothering due to winter and ice conditions. Feed supplies are short and an early spring is all that will prevent most farmers from purchasing additiinal concentrates and roughages. At recent auction sales, dairy cattle have sold very cheaply. Purebred calves seem to be best sellers as one farmer reports selling six at $100 each, when two weeks old. Hog prices are encouraging more farmers to go back into this line.

A County folk School will be held beginning March 27 and continuing through to March 29, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Graham, South Mountain.

Any farmers wishing to show seed at the Ottawa Valley Seed Fair, which is being held at Perth, from April 8 to 10, could contact their agricultural office and they will receive assistance in making their application. For those who wsh to purchase seed grain, the auction sale of seed, which will be held on April 10 at Perth, should be of interest.

Be A Sportsman Expensive Otherwise

Unsportsmanlike, dangerous and law-evasive practices in the hunting, trapping and fishing fields are no longer dealth with lightly in Ontario courts. Certainly more maximum penalties are being levied where deliberate intent is indicated. In February according to the month's report of convictions released today by the Department of Lands and Forests, 186 violaters of Ontario's fish and game regulations paid $3,191 in fines and $719 in costs. Quite evidently the courts realize that the culprits are not only stealing from their fellow men but are upsetting every good principle of conservation and management of the Province's fish and game resources.

The Fish and Game Laws in Ontario are made with one objective in mind. Populations of fish, fur-bearing animals, and game birds and animals must be maintained to the point at which there will always be enough surviving to replenish the stock. The regulations help to make sure ofthis by setting seasons, sizes and limits of take that will allow hunters, trappers and fishermen to use what is extra. Only thus can Ontario citizens be assured of future hunting and angling pleasure and incomes from trapping and commercial fishing.

Poachers and other violators upset these calculations and endanger the future of both sport and business enterprise when they take fish and game out of season or beyond the limits allowed by the Act.

A number of such citizens had to learn these facts the hard way, according to the February list. A Deux Rivieres man, for instance, paid $173.50 for having illegal possession of furs. A second Deux Rivieres citizen sold an unsealed beaver pelt and was fined $50 and costs. A Sudbury individual, apprehended with deer meat out of season, who also obstructed an officer, paid $157.50 and a Lochalsh person who was in possession of moose meat illegally, paid $123.75. A St. Jacobs man killed a cardinal. He paid $16.50 to learn that songbirds must not be molested.

A Merlin citizen paid $102.50 for obstructing an officer and nine men paid $205 for having loaded guns in vehicles, a most dangerous practice. Three Chapleau and three Peterborough, Riverside and Windsor men found hunting in Crown Game Preserves expensive; they paid $244 in fines and costs. A Toronto man molested a deer while it was swimming. This unsportsmanlike deed cost him $56.

Of others who thought they could successfully evade Ontario's conservation laws and outsmart their fellow citizens (who co-operate more and more in providing information): 2 fished in closed water; 17 fished by other means than angling (used snags or spears); 21 hunted in prohibited hours; 8 hunted with unplugged shotguns; 69 hunted without a licence; 9 had illegal possession of furs; 10 had illegal possession of venison ($50 and costs for most of these); 3 molested deer; 4 possessed game fish in a closed season; and one each had illegal possession of gillnets; shot ruffed grouse in a closed season; shot from a car; trapped outside his own area; trapped without a licence; violated the terms of a farmer's deer licence.

A large number hunted without a township licence. It is important that inquiries be made before starting out to hunt in any organized township in case a local licence is required.

THE FIRST HOT CROSS BUNS

How delicious is the spicy fragrance of the hot cross buns warming in the oven for our breakfast on Good Friday! There is a story about this Easter delicacy that is centuries older than the first Easter Day.

About six centuries before the birth of Christ, the son of the King of Corinth was killed by people from the Greek island of Corcyra. The bereaved father planned a terrible revenge. He sent soldiers to kidnap 300 children from the best families on the island. They were thrown into the hatches of a ship bound for Sardis, where they were to be sold as slaves. A storm forced them to take shelter in the harbour of Samos.

While the crew was busy making some necessary repairs to their vessel, two kind-hearted sailors freed the little captives and told them to run for their lives to the Temple of Diana. As soon as their escape was discovered their captors dashed after them, but did not reach them before the heavy doors barred the children on the inside. As the Corinthians also worshipped Diana they did not dare to attack her temple, but they decded to starve out the young prisoners, and they would not permit the people of Samos to take them food.

At once a new festival in honour of Diana was announced, but the Corinthian sailors were not told that it was new! Long rows of children garlanded with flowers and bearing trays of cakes for the goddess went, singing, to the temple. The goddess must have been unusually hungry for, though the feast continued day after day, none of the cakes were ever brought back from her temple. Finally the Corinthians admitted themselves beaten and returned home without the young captives and shortly afterwards their kind hosts sent the children safely home.

The cakes which had kept the children alive were marked into four quarters in honour of Diana, goddess of the moon. The grateful people of Corcyra, as well as those of Samos, continued afterwards to hold this spring festival in honour of the goddess and to make for it these special cakes. These "hot cross buns" were first brought to England by Phoenicians, who came to Cornwall to trade for tin. When England became Cristian these cross-marked buns seemed particularly appropriate at Easter time, and the custom of baking them for Good Friday has never died out.

THE BIGGER DAY

By G. E. Bishop

THERE must be no little dreaming
In the visions that we see,
There must be no selfish planning
In the joys that are to be.

We have set our faces eastward
To the rising of the sun
That shall light a better nation
And there's big work to be done.

And the petty souls and narrow,
Seeking only selfish gain
Shall be vanquished by the toilers
Big enough to suffer pain.

A bandit who entered a Chicago grocery and stole $27 left behind a bicycle worth more than that to the grocer.

DEDUCTIONS (DENIED)

A railroad man demanded additional personal income tax exemptions on the ground that he was a bigamist maintaining two establishments and two wives, one at each end of the line. The Internal Revenue Board decreed that the possession of more than one wife is not a necessity, but a luxury, and therefore taxable.

* * * * *

In San Diego, the revenue collector received a tax return from a school teacher listing a cat as her dependent. She explained that this was not a common alley cat, but a highly intelligent and superior animal requiring expensive foods such as caviar. Claim disallowed.

* * * * *

The Collector of Internal Revenue in Indianapolis received a blank social security form for a domestic servant, with this notation from the man who sent it: "No taxes due now, as I married the hired girl. And I get another income tax exemption too."

* * * * *

A deputy collector in Birmingham, Ala., notified a farm woman that he would not allow her claim for income tax exemption for her mule, Bill, as a dependent. She angrily informed him that Bill was 16 years old and entirely dependent upon her, and that, furthermore, she had been listing him as a dependent on tax forms for years without having been questioned.

In Oklahoma City, the National Conference of State Taxpayers Associations issued a special stamp for Americans to stick on envelopes carrying their income tax returns. It pictured a typical taxpayer and his wife and children, all clad in barrels, standing pathetically in front of the United States Treasury building.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD SCOTT CELEBRATE 28th ANNIVERSARY

Guests for dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scott, Winchester, were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott, Melvins, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers, the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Scott's 28th wedding anniversary and Mrs. Scott's birthday. A number of friends and relatives made a surprise visit during the evening to express their congratulations.

At about 11 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Scott were asked to take a place of honour when an address was read by Miss Joan Kendrick. The couple were presented with a beautiful electric table lamp, a lovely pair of boudoir lamps and other gifts by Miss Betty Brownell and Mrs. Clifford Scott.

A table, decorated with pink and white streamers, held a 2-tiered wedding cake given by Mrs. Clifford Scott.

Although taken completely by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Scott thanked their friends for their thoughtfulness and gifts.

A dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clifford Scott and Mrs. Peter Poole, assisted by Misses Joan Kendrick and Betty Brownell.

All express the wish that Mr. and Mrs. Scott have many more years of happiness.

"Home Economics and Health" was the topic of the Berwick Women's Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. D. Pollock. The president, Mrs. John Bogart, presided, assisted by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Smith. The theme was "A thrifty housewife has a place for everything and everything in its place." The roll call was a "Bring and Buy" Sale, which netted $5.15.

McConnell, 75-year-old former publisher of the Montreal Star, as a tribute to Health Minister Martin and his department. The gift is a $70,000 therapy unit of steel weighing 7 tons, equalling millions of dollars worth of radium to be shipped overseas next summer.

The sergeant was explaining some important points to a squad of recruits on a rifle range. "This type of bullet will penetrate two feet of wood," he said. "So remember to keep your heads down."

STRONG DRINK

Once upon a time one could get drunk from the Thames water. An old chronicle, written in Charles II's time, by Sir Jonas More, said that "The Thames water, taken up about Greenich at low water, makes a very strong drink. It will of itself alone ferment wonderfully; and after its due purgations, and three times stinking —after which it continues sweet—it will be so strong that several sea commanders have told me it would burn, and has often fuddled their mariners."

IN MEMORIAM

United Counties Tighten Milk Tests

Regulations covering milk supplies to pasteurization plants have been tightened by the United Counties health unit. Producers supplying these plants must sign an agreement with the unit, it was disclosed in Cornwall on Tuesday by Dr. R. S. Peat, Counties MOH.

The agreement provides that a farmer whose milk test rating is poor will be given two chances to find the source of the trouble. Assistance will be given by the health unit. If the third test proves unsatisfactary, the agreement is revoked.

Purpose of the revised milk supervision policy is to improve the quality of milk supplied to dairies. In 1952 an analysis showed 73 per cent of all samples taken in Cornwall were grade one.

MAGGIE MUGGINS

The adventures of a little girl called Maggie Muggins, who numbers birds, animals and insects among her best friends, are dramatized in a weekly series on the CBC. The popular children's story writer, Mary Grannan, writes the stories and does many of the voices. Maggie is played by Beryl Braithwaite, and Jim Annand is Mr. McGarrity, the kindly old man next door. The "Maggie Muggins" stories have also been presented in book form, from which Jean Finch's illustration was taken. Maggie is shown talking to Mr. McGarrity—learning more about the natural wonders of the world around her.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Keeping house alone or for two can be plesant and economical. Probably more thought has to be given to purchases as well as nutritious meals. Too often the healthful value of the food is lost by cooking too much at one time and reheating it more than once—stew and potatoes, for instance. It may be convenient to braise or cook meat for 2 or 3 meals as a ste.w However, we omit most of the vegetables and add when being heated. This can be done by paboiling vegetables or partially cooking 2 or 3 kinds (potatoes, turnips and carrots) in a pressure cooker to prevent combining flavours.

However, there are many dishes that can be made ahead of time—soup, sauces, salad dressings, stewed dried fruit, custards, gelatines and such.

TAKE A TIP

1. Buy food in quantity if you have adequate storage.
2. Buy the grade of food to suit your need.
3. Buy food according to servings. For example: Count on 3 servings from ½ lb. sliced cold meat. Count on 3 servings from 1 lb. cottage cheese. Count on 2 servings from ½ lb. boneless meat, filleted fish and raw vegetables; also bananas, etc. Count on 4 servings from a 20 ounce can of fruit, vegetables or juice. Count on 6 to 7 servings from a 28 ounce can of tomatoes, sauerkraut or baked beans. Count on 24 to 28 servings from 24 ounce loaf of bread.
4. To vary cooked, sliced or canned meats serve boiled, creamed or deep fat fried.
5. To vary meat extras such as liver, heart and kidney, prepare dishes as fried, braised and stewed.
6. Minced round steak or chuck may be braised, fried, made into goulash, meat loaf, biscuit roll, pastry roll, meat pies, hamburgs or soup.
7. Desserts for one or two can often be made the day before or cooked in the top of a double boiler over one or two potatoes. Double boiler desserts such as minute tapioca, ready-to-cook custard desserts, applesauce, rhubarb, pineapple or fruit dumplings.
8. Gelatine salads or jellied fruits are dishes to make frequently and come home to have them ready to serve.
9. When greens are out of season you'll have to think about salad mixtures that may be prepared with raw vegetables which are not too perishable. A few suggestions are:
   1. Chopped celery, cabbage and apple.
   2. Grated carrots and cabbage.
   3. Torn lettuce, tomato pieces and onions.
   4. Shredded spinach, shredded beets and sliced bananas.
   5. Orange and grapefruit sections, chopped apple and pineapple wedges.
10. Always store perishables wisely: covered and in the electric refrigerator—that goes for the milk pitcher and gravy boat too.
11. You may mix batter for muffins or Yorkshire puddings and keep in the electric refrigerator for a week or more. Meantime make a few fresh muffins or Yorkshire puddings in greased heat-proof custard cups.
12. From stewed fruit (apricots, prunes, apples) make whips, compotes, baked soufflé or fruit trifle.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. R. K. asks for a tuna fish and noodle casserole that is curry flavoured.

Answer:

¾ cup dried noodles
1 quart boiling water
1 can (7½ ozs.) tuna fish

Boil noodles for 20 minutes. Drain and rinse with 3 cups cold water. Drain oil from can of tuna. Separate fish into large flakes. Arrange noodles and fish in layers in a greased casserole. Mix 1 can mushroom soup with ¼ cup water and curry powder; pour into dish. Cover with cracker crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake in hot electric oven for 15 or 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Note: For 2 servings make this recipe using ½ quantities listed. Use remainder of tuna for sandwiches next day. At another meal use remainder of mushroom soup with an equal quantity of water. Later in week use noodles in consomme.

IN MEMORIAM

KING—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Otis L. King, who passed away March 26, 1952.

It's lonesome here without you, dear
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away.
We still remember the way you looked
The way you spoke and smiled,
And all the things you said and did,
Are with us all the while.
Just how much we miss you, dear,
Only God will ever know
For the ache is still in our heart
As it was a year ago.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

KING—In fond memory of a good and dear friend, Otis L. King, who passed away March 26, 1952.
