District Weddings Of Local Interest

POWELL—HODGE

The United Church, Smiths Falls, was the scene of a quiet, but pretty wedding of much local interest, on Wednesday, August 16th, when the minister, Rev. A. D. Cornett, O.B.E., united in marriage William Robert Powell, of Winchester, and Norma Lorraine Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hodge, Smiths Falls.

The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue sheer, embroidered in all-over design, small navy hat, with shoes and gloves in matching color, and bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Attending the couple were, Miss Virgie Halliday, of Smiths Falls, as bridesmaid, who wore a gown of navy printed sheer with matching accessories and white shoulder knot of roses, and Eric Hodge, brother of the bride, as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which, Mr. and Mrs. Powell left on a motor trip. They will reside in Winchester.

SUFFEL—COOK

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Emma Cook, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Cook, of Shanly, to George Clifford Suffel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Suffel, of Inkerman, was solemnized in Shanly United Church on Tuesday, Aug. 15th. Rev. W. E. Long officiated.

The church was attractively decorated with bankings of Summer blooms and ferns, and the wedding music was played by Miss Winnifred Reilly, of Shanly.

The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Johnson of Kemptville, as bridesmaid, and Allan VanAllen, of Mountain, was best man. Miss Lorenna Cook, youngest sister of the bride, was flower girl.

The bride was gowned in an attractive model of turquoise blue shadow sheer chiffon, and wore a picture hat of the same shade, white sandals and gloves. Her shower bouquet was of Sweetheart roses, blue cornflower and baby's breath.

The flower girl wore a dress of pink organdy and carried a basket of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Mrs. Cook, step-mother of the bride, had an ensemble of printed navy sheer and matching accessories.

Mrs. Suffel, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in a printed brown sheer with matching accessories.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony which was attended by 30 immediate relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Suffel later left for a motor trip to New York, the bride travelling in a navy printed sheer ensemble with white accessories. On their return they will reside at Inkerman.

Chesterville Boy Given Fighting Chance For Life

Doctors at Ottawa General Hospital are struggling to save the life of Jean Pierre Lafrance, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lafrance, R. R. No. 3, Chesterville, who is suffering from tetanus poisoning as the result of stepping on a rusty nail at his farm home a week ago last Thursday

Little was thought of the boy's wound at the time, but last Friday, as he was helping his grandfather threshing in the barn, he was taken ill, and was unable to eat his supper. The family noticed a peculiar rigidness about his facial muscles, and calling medical aid, it was discovered he was suffering from lockjaw.

He was rushed to hospital by his father, where antitetanus serum was administered, together with other treatment. Dr. Horace Viau gives him a 50-50 chance for recovery.

Bacon Fair To Be Held At Kemptville

At a recent meeting of the joint executives of the Kemptville Agricultural Society and the newly organized Eastern Ontario Yorkshire Breeders' Association, it was decided to hold a Bacon Hog Fair on the Kemptville Fair Grounds during the week of October 2.

It was decided to offer $200.00 in prize money to be divided among the two main sections, viz., Breeding Classes and Market Classes. In addition to the above sections a portion of the prize money will be devoted to a judging competition, contestants being required to place a class of market hogs according to their carcass value.

There will be three classes for Boars and 4 classes for Sows in the breeding class section; while the market classes will consist of a group of 5 market hogs and a pair, both to be scored and judged as carcasses.

As an added feature, the executive decided to offer a few special prizes for live market hogs, as they felt it created more interest among both contestants and spectators to see the hogs placed on the hoof as well as on the rail.

The Fair is being sponsored by the Production Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture and the Provincial Live Stock Branch as well as the Kemptville Agricultural Society and the Eastern Ontario Yorkshire Breeders' Association.

The object of the Fair is to encourage the breeding of high-class swine in the district, and to stimulate the marketing of hogs on the basis of rail grade and rail weight.

The date will be announced shortly and prize lists may be obtained by communicating with either Milton Watterson, Kemptville, or A. L. Runions, Kemptville Agricultural School, Kemptville.

The committee are also considering the advisability of conducting an auction sale of purebred breeding stock, and providing a sufficient number of animals can be secured, a sale will be held in conjunction with the Fair.

Pre-Nuptials For Miss Jean VanBridger

Mrs. J. A. L. Ellacott and Mrs. Bower Potter were joint hostesses at a delightfully arranged kitchen shower, tendered Miss Jean VanBridger, at Mrs. Potter's home, on Tuesday afternoon, and attended by over 50 friends of the bride-to-be.

As the guest of honour entered the drawing room, escorted by Mrs. Potter, Lohengrin's Wedding March was played softly by Miss Mabel O'Neill. Upon taking a seat, she was presented with a corsage of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern by Miss Evelyn Murdock, after which an appropriate address was read by Mrs. Potter.

The gifts, which were contained in a basket, trimmed in pale yellow, were carried into the room by Miss Barbara Fennell and Miss Betty O'Neill.

Miss VanBridger replied to the address and expressed her appreciation for the beautiful gifts.

Candy was served by the hostesses, assisted by the Misses Myrtle Kean, Doris Barnard, Mabel and Erma O'Neill.

After singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," all present registered in a beautiful brides book, designed by Mrs. W. F. Workman.

Feted By Teachers.

The address to the bride-to-be was read by Miss Jean McKendry, while the basket, laden with gifts, was carried in by little Anne and Tommy VanBridger.

Miss VanBridger made a fitting reply, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The bride's book, containing the names of all those present, was designed by Miss Jean McKendry.

All the teachers present, including Miss VanBridger, had been students of Miss Rebecca Stenhouse, who was present at this event.

Winchester Goes Into The Movies. Film To Be Made Tuesday Next By Noted English Film Company

Thanks to the entterprise of the Reeve and Council, Winchester is to be included in a series of Motion Pictures now being made for showing overseas. Winchester has been chosen as a typical Canadian village and the films taken of its interests and activities will be included in the Motion Picture which, when finished, will be entitled "Country Life in Canada." This is the second series of Canadian film made by the English company, a previous one taken in 1936 showing the large cities of the Dominion.

Tuesday next is the day chosen for making the film of our town and everyone is invited to help and co-operate by being in the streets during the afternoon and so making the picture a success. During the afternoon special arrangements are being made for filming the school children, and a full day's work will be climaxed by a grand parade through the town, headed by the Reeve and Council and other executives of organizations in which everyone is asked to join.

On Saturday Night of this week, also, night scenes of the crowds in the street will be made, so look out for the cameraman when you come to town Saturday.

In order that all may see themselves in the movies, it has been arranged that the full film shall be screened at the Town Hall the following Saturday Night.

And so, folks, come and get in on the movies and then see yourself as large as life on the movie screen.

The film of Winchester is being produced free of all cost to the town, and after one public showing a copy will be presented to the town, free of all obligation.

Highlights Of News On Present European Crisis

Another crisis has arisen in Europe, with events moving swiftly within the past 48 hours. A new Non-Aggression Pact signed by Germany and Russia has thrown the rest of Europe into a turmoil and if war is to be averted, it will, no doubt, mean that further sacrifices will have to be made to Hitler, according to latest reports. The highlights of the situation as it stood last night and early this morning are unfolded in the following brief press despatches:

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Hitler reported informing Chamberlain he insists on having Danzig and full settlement with Poland through a German protectorate over Poland if by peace or a Polish partition if by war; British ambassador flies to Fuehrer; decisive turn in German-Polish issue seen impending.

London, Aug. 23.—British ambassador to Berlin instructed to tell Hitler Britain will "resist to uttermost" resort to force against Poland which latter resists; Britain, France ready for quick change to war footing as Parliament meets tomorrow.

Paris, Aug. 22.—France called hundreds of thousands of reservists to the colors to match Germany's forces today and asked Moscow to explain its proposed non-aggression agreement with Germany.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—All avenues of travel out of Germany were jammed today with French and British citizens and other foreigners fleeing for fear of war.

No seats in airplanes could be obtained after early morning trains ran throughout the day with corridors filled.

British and French citizens were advised by their local diplomatic officials to leave Germany. The French step followed upon a direct order transmitted from Paris to the French Ambassador, Robert Cordondre.

Washington, Aug. 22—Ways of getting thousands of Americans out of Europe and of protecting United States neutrality in the event of war were discussed today at a meeting of representatives of five government departments.

A score of high officials representing the state, war, navy, treasury and justice departments attended the session presided over by Sumner Wells, acting secretary of state.

London, Aug. 23.—The King will leave Scotland for London by train tonight, Buckingham Palace announced today.

His Majesty kept in close touch with the news today by telephone to London.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Adolf Hitler is scheduled to speak at Tannenberg Sunday at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. E.D.T.), the propaganda ministry announced today.

The celebration will be held to observe Germany's great war victory over the Russians in the battle of Tannenberg 25 years ago

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—The cabinet council has been called for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, when Premier Mackenzie King and his colleagues will discuss the European developments and possible consequences for Canada.

Williamsburg Store Looted By Thieves

Thieves who broke into the store of Ross Wingard, Williamsburg, late Friday night or early Saturday morning, went away well armed. After gaining entrance by smashing a plate glass window in the front of the store, the burglars selected several rifles from the display window, and picked up cigarettes, confections, paint and other goods to the value of about $50. They evidently overlooked the cash drawer which contained about $15, as the money was found intact.

The robbery, first in Williamsburg in many years, was discovered early Saturday by Robert Whittaker, who notified the store proprietor Provincial police are investigating.

While passing through a field on his farm on Friday afternoon last, Sterling Scobie, residing about a mile north of Kars, was attacked by a bull and received numerous bodily bruises

The animal broke a heavy chain on his nose ring, and tossed Mr. Scobie over its back, landing him eleven feet away. He was saved from further injury by his hired man who drove the infuriated animal away with a pitchfork. Mr. Scobie later received medical attention from Dr. Thomas J. Scobie, of Ottawa.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Donald Johnston, who departed this life Aug. 28th, 1931.
Memory's hand is reaching back
Eight years ago today,
When one we loved so dearly,
So suddenly passed away.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green
And never pass away.

PROFESSION, NOT A TRADE

The American Medical Association was recently a defendant in a suit instituted by the U. S. Government, the indictment charging a conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman-Anti-Trust Act. The Federal Court in the District of Columbia has now ruled that the American Medical Association did not and could not violate the act and the press has been loud in praise of the decision. A typical opinion is that of the Cleveland Plain Dealer which says:

"The Federal Court decision in the District of Columbia holding that practice of medicine is not a trade but a profession is in accord with common sense. From the termination of that distant era when the only surgeons were barbers and when the treatment for every ailment was to bleed the patient—from a vein rather than the pocketbook—the layman has recognized that fact. The American Medical Association takes the issue to the courts and the decision that the Sherman Anti-Trust Act does not apply to the practice of medicine results.

"It is a victory for the medical profession. The prosecution contended that organizations and physicians had agreed to forbid group health doctors to practice in Washington hospitals, had refused consultations with them and had threatened them with expulsion from medical societies.

"Group health and hospital insurance has been attacked on the grounds that it is an entering wedge for state or socialized medicine. Some have criticized public health agencies on the same basis. It is difficult to follow their course of reasoning. People will continue to select their physicians in the future as they have in the past. Summoning a doctor, except in cases of great emergency, never has been and probably never will be comparable to calling the police or fire department when there is a burglar or a blaze in the house. Th personal relation that always has existed between ethical physician and patient should continue."

WHY PASS JUDGMENT?

Idle gossip is about the worst work that the human mind can be asked to undertake, says George Matthew Adams, the well-known writer. Especially if that gossip concerns some individual, about whose background and daily thoughts, there is not one iota of knowledge. As though you were discussing an undiscovered country.

The uncaring do so many things open to gossip that their conduct can be easily overlooked as unimportant—but if a man or woman once becomes prominent and useful, then it is that the gossip mongers get busy, as though it were their duty (having nothing else on their mind) to find some flaw of character on which to leap. How easy it is, then, for those who do not know, to unjustly misjudge.

We find it very difficult, even to understand ourselves. How unintelligent, then, for others to think that they understand us better, and so place ourselves as superior judges of our thoughts and actions.

There is nothing constructive about passing judgment upon some one else, or in idle gossip about him or her.

The atmosphere becomes clear and clean, and there is an elevated tone to everything spoken, when, in a gathering place, people begin to say good things about an absent one, or about one in high public affairs.

If I were the publisher of a newspaper I would not allow a column in my newspaper that talked scandal, or idle gossip. Interesting talk about real people, yes. But there would be no key-hole reporters on my staff. I could get along without readers only attracted to the troubles and misfortunes of others, or their mistakes.

It is bad enough to pass judgment upon one you know without extending that to those whom you have never met, or known. Friends do not misjudge, or gossip.

THE MAJESTIC TROTTER

There was a time when the appearance of a well-groomed, high-stepping trotting horse, hitched to a rubber-tired buggy, did not attract much attention. But in these days when the auto has been substituted for Old Dobbin, as a means of travel, the presence of a smart horse-drawn vehicle on the highway, or on our village streets, commands attention. We all admire the performance of a well-trained thoroughbred at the Fall Fairs, but it's just a little bit different to see one of these aristocratic steeds prancing up the street, with its head high in the air, its braided tail floating in the breeze and its feet being thrown to and fro so gracefully. It is an interesting sight and is all the more appreciated today because it has become so rare. The new models of cars may eclipse the trotting horse for speed and travel; the trucks and tractors may replace it for all kinds of work; but never will the automotive units take its place as a show attraction, or in the sport of racing.

MORE TOWNSHIP SCHOOL BOARDS

Applications have been appoved for the establishment of a total number of 39 township school areas during the calendar year, and one union separate school board involving three former separate schools, according to an announcement from the Ontario Department of Education.

On June 27th the Department reported the approval for the establishment of 21 township school areas, but townships had until Dominion Day to pass the necessary by-law in connection with the setting up of these areas. During the last few days in June, just as school closed, it was evident that school sections by the dozens were considering amalgamation of three, four, five or more sections with the object of establishing township school areas.

During the past year there has been a tremendous increase in the number of school sections applying for union with each other with the idea of scrapping three-trustee school boards and setting up township school areas. The Department is very pleased with the reception which has been given the amalgamation movement, which it has mooted for many years as a means of reducing expense and securing greater efficiency in administration.

For years, the proposal to establish such boards was strenuously opposed by rural people. It is apparent, however, that they have begun to appreciate the advantages which have followed such centralization of school control wherever it has been introduced and are no longer hostile to the idea.

HEALTH BEHAVIOUR IN SCHOOL

In Ontario's new program for elementary schools, health has been given a foremost place. Hon. Dr. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education for Ontario in the last issue of "Health" pointed out that in the new program the goal of health education will be health behaviour—"Not what the child knows about health but what he does about it."

In the past, health has been merely a subject for pupils to study so as to be able to answer questions. Often a pupil would pass a test with flying colors but there would be no improvement in his or her health. The new plan is to inspire pupils to do something about their own health.

There will be regular checking of health habits to see that knowledge and practice go hand in hand, along with a carefully planned course of exercises in physical training. The new program also implies daily, as well as annual or semi-annual examination of pupils individually. By this means, diseases in their early stages will be detected, as well as deficiencies in height, weight, hearing and sight.

In making provision for greater attention to health, Ontario's educational authorities have revised values placed on different studies. For example, arithmetic has long been given first place; now it will be in a possible fifth place of importance. "It has been all too common," says the Minister of Education "to find the fresh morning hours and at least thirty per cent. of the day's working hours, as well as the bulk of home work, devoted to this study."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Most people are firmly convinced that if their children have talent it is inherited. If they have any meanness they pick it up from the neighbors' children, says the Morrisburg Leader.

According to the Department of Agriculture, there are four million hogs in Canada, not counting the motorists who drive up the centre of the highways every time we want room to get by.—Prescott Journal.

Men regard suffering as an evil thing, which the world might well be rid of. This idea is typical of a good deal of modern sentimentalism, which ignores the history of suffering and its part in human achievement.

Physical courage, which despises all danger, will make a man brave in one way; and Moral Courage, which despises all opinion, will make a man brave in another. The former would seem most necessary for the camp, the latter for council; but to constitute a great man, both are necessary.

It seems reasonable to hope that better times are ahead, and in the not too distant future. Western crops are more promising this year than they have been since 1928, a year of record production. Given a good crop in the west and a market for the grain, better financial conditions are a reasonable prospect for the rest of Canada.

Under the caption of "Fifty Years Ago in Almonte," a weekly feature of the Almonte Gazette, we read the following article, and it is just about as true today as it was a half century ago:

"The editor works 365 1-4 days per year to get out the weekly issue of a paper; that's labor. Once in a while somebody pays him a year's subscription, that's capital. And once in a while some son-of-a-gun of a dead-beat takes the paper for a year or two and vanishes without paying for it; that's anarchy. But later on justice will overtake the last named creature for there is a place where he will get his deserts; that's ——."

Really practical men live in a world of ideals. They realize that it is not practical to conduct a business successfully unless that business is kept alive and growing by a constant out-reaching after ideals yet unattained. They are sharply on the look-out for persons whom they can employ to bring new and better ideals into the business. They know that the moment the study and search for ideals ceases, the business will begin to stagnate and die. So it is in every well- ordered, soundly practical life. It is not practical to attempt to live without ideals. For let us never forget that, as a popular essayist has written, "our ideals are God's realities."

The Beautiful Blue Danube River

The "beautiful blue" Danube, destined for increasing importance as part of a new 2,400-mile waterway across Europe, was brought into the news again by the recent meeting between the Foreign Ministers of Rumania and Yugoslavia, on a barge in the stream.

This mighty highway of commerce from Southern Germany across the Balkans to the Black Sea also forms parts of three international boundaries, between Slovakia and Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania, and the latter country and Bulgaria, a bulletin of the National Geographic Magazine recalls. Germany is constructing a canal which will connect the upper Danube and the Main River in Bavaria, which in turn flows into the Rhine.

Completion of the new waterway, scheduled for 1945, will make possible the shipment of goods by water, without transfer, all the way across Europe, from the North Sea at the mouth of the Rhine to the Black Sea at the mouth of the Danube," the bulletin continues.

"Rising in Germany's Black Forest, only about 100 miles from the sources of two other well known European rivers, the Rhine and the Rhone, the Danube flows east and southeast into former Austria, past Vienna.

"Touching briefly on the Slovakia-Hungary border, the Danube then moves sluggishly across the plains of Hungary. Next it flows through Northeastern Yugoslavia and cuts through the Transylvanian Alps at the famous Iron Gate, on the Yugoslav-Rumanian frontier, where the river boils and rushes among dangerous rocks. After forming the Bulgarian-Rumanian boundary for some 235 miles, it flows north into Rumania to Braila, head of navigation for sea-going vessels and then meanders through a marshy delta, by several branches into the Black Sea.

"Whoever wrote the title for Johann Straus's famous waltz would have been more accurate if he had called the Danube brown instead of blue. It carries something like 100,000,000 tons of silt per year down to its mouth.

"Trader, troops and travellers have traversed its muddy waters for centuries. Roman soldiers pushed far up its course to establish outposts of empire. Crusaders on their way to the East sailed down the Danube. Turkish invaders of Europe followed it upstream. Still to be seen on rocky crags along the river are ruins of castles from which 'robber barons' levied tribute on passing cargoes.

"In a castle at Durnstein, in former Austria, tradition says, Richard the Lion Heart of England, was imprisoned on his way home from the Crusades and there was found by his faithful minstrel, Blondel.

"Today barge fleets of many nations ply the Danube behind bustling tugs, along with passenger steamers, rafts and the patrol boats of several 'river navies.' During the World War, after the central powers had defeated Serbia (now Yugoslavia) and Rumania, the Danube swarmed with boats carrying supplies to Austria-Hungary and Germany.

"After the World War, under the Treaty of Versailles, navigation on the Danube from the Black Sea up to Braila was placed under control of a European commission consisting of delegates from France, Great Britain, Italy and Rumania, who continue to exercise partial jurisdiction. Before the war, from 1856, the commission also had administered the same region of the river, with Austria-Hungary, Germany, Russia and Turkey also represented upon its membership.

"The remainder of the river, from Braila up to Ulm, Germany, in 1919 came under the administration of an international commission composed of representatives of nations through which the Danube flowed or which bordered upon it, and of countries represented on the European commission."

WASTEFUL DISTRIBUTION OF GOVERNMENT LITERATURE

(Tweed News)

Our Federal Government maintains the largest printing plant in Canada. Some eight million pieces of literature are turned out each year for the various government departments. We have often pondered on the question as to how much of this material reaches the proper hands and how much of it is read. Any newspaper office during the course of a year, is the recipient of hundreds of publicity pamphlets from the departments of agriculture, finance, public works, and in fact, every branch of the federal administration. Most of this material is useless and is immediately destined for the wastepaper basket. There are statistics on this and figures on that and any publisher could quite easily clutter every column of his paper with this mass of material if he cared to, as a medium for government publicity, but should he decide to use his paper he would probably have few subscribers at the end of the year. We are inclined to agree with Canadian Printer and Publisher that the bulk of the literature, much of which contains instructive and valuable information, is wastefully distributed. Eighty-five of each hundred pieces are distributed free, while another ten remain on governmental shelves. The remaining five are sold at a price, in most cases, far below the actual cost of production. Therefore, it would appear that the time of the writers, the printers and the postal employees, is wasted in a great many cases. A change in distribution methods or a curtailment of the printing would seem to be in order.

A WORD TO CYCLISTS

(Ottawa Journal)

Bicycle riders, new and otherwise, boys and men, need to realize that they are units in the traffic problem with responsibilities recognized under the Highway Traffic Act; that recklessness can be displayed with a bicycle as with a motor car or a ten-ton truck, that care, caution and common sense are as essential to the rider of one as the driver of another.

Bicyclists ought to be trained in a few simple rules: to ride in a straight line, to signal left turns, to keep close to the curb, not to carry a passenger, and above all, not to take any chances. If a bicycle collides with a motor car it is invariably the bicyclist who gets the worst of it.

Youngsters in the pride of their first machines ought to be instructed in safe riding, told to obey traffic signals, to use moderate speed. They should be told that a good rider is a safe rider, that a competent rider rarely if ever finds himself in an accident, and that anything worth doing at all is worth doing well.

HOSPITAL EXPERIMENT FAILS

(Collingwood Enterprise-Bulletin)

Not all are in accord with those who would close out training schools for nurses in the majority of hospitals outside the larger centres. Neither is there full agreement with the thought that hospitals generally can be operated more economically with staffs of all graduates than with combinations of graduates and nurses-in-training. Encouraged to some extent, it is believed, by departmental officiery, the propaganda for elimination of the schools and the installation of graduate staffs is quietly, yet persistently broadcast. But it sometimes meets with a jolt. In Pembroke, for example, the experiment has been on trial with apparently disastrous financial results. There, the loss of the training school has proved serious, its elimination being reflected in an annual increase of $3,500 in the operating expenses of the hospital. This, the Board feels, is more than the institution can stand, hence an effort to have the school restored.

Faced with new demands and regulations necessitating additional expensive equipment, there are surely sufficient problems, without others being added by moves which, experience shows, cannot but be detrimental to the success of the hospitals in carrying on their great work on behalf of suffering humanity. In their stead sympathy and co-operation on the part of the public is the great need. Both must be forthcoming, otherwise that which the future holds for the institutions scattered over the province is decidedly uncertain.

The experience of the hospital in Pembroke is worth noting by others, including those who are advocating the elimination of the training schools out in the province and the centering of them in the few larger hospitals.

KEEP THEM SEPARATE

(Carleton Place Canadian)

Report says that it is proposed to legislate at the next session of Ontario Legislature to limit school board expenditures and afford municipal councils certain vetoing power in regard thereto, says the Collingwood Enterprise-Bulletin. Under existing circumstances this undoubtedly would result in many clashes between the two bodies. Both are elective, hence both have their respective mandates. That being so wherein lies any good reason for one to be given a sort of senatorial position over the other. Already tied in many particulars, it is very doubtful if those doing the great work of ensuring education for the young people should be more fettered. Education costs are high, it is true, but as a general thing those constituting the boards of trustees are just as capable, just as interested, and just as careful in the administration of public affairs as is any body of councillors. Instead of curbing the school boards they might well be left free from dictation by any supposedly yet mistakenly superior group of fellow citizens. Were they placed in any secondary place, friction would be bound to follow. Doing its best to facilitate the educationists the Provincial Department of Education might well stand on guard and hold off any suggestion of interference.

Archery competitions are one of the oldest sports known, while motorcycle and motorboat races are necessarily among the newest—yet there is a sports programme to begin shortly so comprehensive that it includes almost everything from archery to motorboat races. The Canadian National Exhibition has for years been a potent factor in the development of Canadian sport and this year its card is better than ever.

THE POET'S CORNER

TELL HIM NOW

If with pleasure you are viewing,
Any work that man is doing—
If you like him, if you love him, tell him now!
Don't withhold your approbation
Till the parson makes oration
And he lies with snowy lilies on his brow.

For no matter how you shout it:
He won't really care about it,
He won't know how many tear drops you have shed;
If you think some praise is due him,
Now's the time to slip it to him
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

More than fame and more than money,
Is the comment kind and sunny
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend!
For it gives to life a savour
And it makes you stronger, braver,
and it gives you heart and spirit to the end.

If he earns your praise, bestow it;
If you like him, let him know it
Let the words of true encouragement be said;
Do not wait till life is over
And he's underneath the clover.
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

—Author Unknown.

CAMPING

Close to the heart of nature,
To mother earth's kind breast,
The weary and worn are turning
Seeking a place of rest;
The whispering wind in the tree-tops
The splashing waves on the shore,
Bring balm to the weary spirit
To hearts that are heavy and sore.

How soothing the sound of the waters
As they dash on the rocky strand!
And sweet the restful silence
That broods o'er the summer land;
Here, cares of the world are forgotten—
The city's turmoil and strife—
And close to the heart of nature
Is felt the throbbing of life.

—Helen B. Anderson.

DEATHLESS

When the ships have sailed the ocean,
And the seas have ceased turmoil,
When the rocks by their erosion
Have been changed to mellow soil:

When steeple bells shall ring no more,
Nor requiem mass be said
When all the craftsmen's work is o'er
And my bones the grass has fed:

When the decades that are flying,
And the ages run their race,
There is that is never dying
Nor the grave its resting place:
The life of man shall never fail—
Tho' obscured by mystery's plan,
As God abides beyond the vale
So dwells the immortal man.

When this world's music cease to be
Nor applause, nor the encore,
The entities, both you and me
Belong to the evermore.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

White Shoes.

To remove stubborn spots on white leather shoes, rub lightly with a very fine grade of sandpaper.

Before Using Paint

Before opening a can of paint, turn it upside down and leave it in this position for a while. This will aid in mixing it thoroughly.

Insect Stings.

The pain of a sting by a wasp or bee is sometimes quickly relieved by rubbing a piece of raw onion over the affected part.

Prevent Rust.

All steel articles can be perfectly preserved from rust by putting a lump of fresh burnt lime in the drawer or case in which they are kept.

Eye Wash.

A boracic acid solution is good for washing out inflamed eyes. One-half teaspoon of soda dissolved in a glass of tepid water may also be used as an eyewash.

Sun Treatment

Mattresses, pillows, cushions, and blankets will last longer and be far more sanitary if they are placed outside in the sun one day each week. The fresh, sweet odor is very pleasant upon going to bed.

Stationary Yardstick.

A stationary yardstick is a great convenience in the sewing room. Screw an ordinary yardstick firmly to the wall near the machine, and it will then always be at hand and easy for measuring material.

To Clean Tile Floors

Tile floors can be thoroughly cleaned by dissolving 1-4 lb. of shaved yellow soap and 1-4 lb. of washing soda in a gallon of hot water, and applying to the floor with a stiff brush. Rinse with clear water and wipe with soft cloths.

To Dry a Sweater.

The most efficient method of drying a sweater after washing it is to make a hammock of a piece of mosquito netting or other thin material; hang this hammock out in the sun and lay the sweater on it. Be sure that the hammock is drawn out flat so the sweater is not doubled up. If a sweater is treated in this way, it will not get out of shape.

METCALFE

In honour of Miss Georgena Cherry, a miscellaneous shower was given on Tuesday evening, Aug. 15th, at the home of her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Sully, Metcalfe, with over one hundred friends and neighbours present.

A very appropriate address was given by her pastor, Rev. Mr. McNaught, of Russell, telling of her work in the church as a Sunday School teacher and Fellowship Convenor, and immediate Past President of the Young People of the Church of Russell.

Rev. Mr. Bunt, of Metcalfe, also made a very suitable speech.

Miss Cherry was escorted to a chair situated under a beautiful white bell which was hung with many white satin streamers decorated with tiny flowers and fern. The room was also decorated with pink and white streamers and candles and many cut flowers, which made a very artistic setting for the bride-elect to open her many and very beautiful gifts. The bride-to-be was assisted by Miss Audrey Bunt and Mrs. Lynn Morrow, both of Metcalfe.

Miss Cherry responded very appropriately and the friends sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

During the evening appropriate music was played by Miss Violet Sully. A quartette of the following, Mr. Russell Boyd, Mr. Albert Scrivens, Mr. Carman Blair and Rev. Mr. Bunt rendered several numbers which were greatly appreciated. Also a great number of the company of friends joined in a very enjoyable singsong.

MOUNT HALL W. I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mount Hall Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Milne on the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 15th.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Miss E. Cheney, with Mrs. J. Milne as secretary. The Ode and Creed opened the meeting and the roll call was answered by a sugestion as to "How we can improve our Meetings." The minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved and the financial statement showed a favourable balance. It was decided to submit an entry at the South Mountain Fair and plans were also discussed about the September meeting, and it was finally decided to hold the Grandmothers' Night at the home of Miss E. Wallace as originally planned, and to entertain Mrs. Laura Rose Stephen at an open meeting on Sept. 26th. Mrs. McGinnis, the District President, is expected to be a guest at the regular meeting next month.

After the business meeting was adjourned, the social committee took charge of the proceedings and games were played out on the lawn where about twenty girls were gathered as guests of the Institute.

While the games were in progress, Mrs. J. Render and Mrs. F. Milne had a busy time judging the fourteen cakes entered by the girls in the cake baking contest. The prizes were finally awarded to Miss Aileen Cheney and Miss Doris Shaver, and presented to them by Mrs. J. Render.

At the conclusion of a very enjoyable afternoon lunch was served by the hostess on the shady lawn and the prize cakes were much appreciated by every one when they formed the most important item of a delicious lunch.

Jack Horner's Choice

Now that fresh plums are obtainable (as well as home canned), why not feature an unusual plum dessert in your home? Let your little Jack Horner stick in his thumb and pull out a plum — figuratively speaking, of course!

WEED OF THE WEEK

COMMON ST. JOHN'S WORT

The Common St. John's Wort is a perennial weed which is rapidly becoming established throughout Ontario on roadsides, old meadows and pastures, states John D. MacLeod, weed expert, Ontario Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

The weed is propagated by means of seed and slender, creeping, underground rootstalks. The stems are clustered, with wood at the base, and one to two feet high; leaves, without stems, are opposite; flowers, yellow in loose clusters, the petals having black dots on the margin.

No difficulty is experienced with St. John's Wort on land which is thoroughly cultivated and which is kept under a short rotation of crops. Break any badly infested pasture fields and cultivate thoroughly. Do not reseed to any crop until this weed has been eradicated, advises Mr. MacLeod.

Prevent seed production by spudding scattered plants or mowing or spraying. Experience has proven that this weed will spread rapidly and smother out all other vegetation. Insist on having adjoining property and roadsides cleaned up. Spraying with chemicals has proven effective. Weed inpectors will give no information on the proper use of chemicals.

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks by Barbara Lynn

EYES RIGHT?

The contrast between dull, listless eyes that glisten with life and sparkle, often marks the difference between a drab, uninteresting personality and a woman with glamour. Didn't the poet call the eyes "the window of the soul?"

Cleansing the eyes is the key to all interesting eyes. Use an eyewash or a little boracic lotion regularly, and you'll be surprised how your eyes will become strengthened and refreshed.

Rest them now and then, whatever you are doing. This relaxes the eye muscles and relieves strain. A really excellent method of resting the eyes is to lie down for a time, with pads of cotton-wool soaked in warm witch hazel spread across the eyes.

Now for a little exercise that you can carry out at odd moments: Hang your head back and downwards. This is best done whilst reclining. What about those insidious little wrinkles that form around the eyes? When massaging cream into your skin, avoid stretching the skin around the eyes. Pat lightly with a nourishing cream or warm olive oil.

You can enhance the glamour of your eyes by using eye shadow for nights and special occasions. Let your eye-shadow match your colouring, and apply it delicately, darkest at the lashes and paling almost into nothing at the brows. In the daytime, smear a little vaseline on the upper lid and the eyelashes.

Modern Etiquette

1.—May a woman invite a guest to a bridge party, when she has never been in this guest's home?

2.—Where should a girl sit when she lunches or dines in a restaurant with a man?

3.—What should the father of the bride do after he gives her away.

4.—Isn't it impudent for a person in company to be unusually forward, always wanting to "hold the centre of the floor?"

5.—Is it necessary to thank a doorman when he opens the door for you?

6.—What would be the correct phrase to use when introducing two women?

Answers

1.—Yes; this is frequently done. One or the other must make the first move. 2.—She usually takes the seat that faces the door, and is supposed to sit opposite the man if the table is a small narrow one. 3.—He takes his place next to his wife, at the end of the first pew on the left of the church. 4.—Yes; it is not only impudent but a display of ignorance. Grenville tells us: "Unbecoming forwardness oftener proceeds from ignorance than impudence." 5.—No. This is merely a routine service that he performs hundreds of times a day, and he does not expect to be thanked each time. 6.—"Miss Allen (the elder), may I introduce Miss Adams (the younger)?"

Rides His Cow To Market Regularly

Back on the road for the first time since motherhood recently was Sunbeam, the cow that begins where horses leave off.

For in addition to having taken her master and his family hundreds of miles on her broad back, Sunbeam has given them seven gallons of "grade A" milk a day, as well.

Her owner, Mr. Joseph Webb, burly 36-year-old Debenham, Suffolk, farmer, claims Sunbeam is the only "riding cow" in the vicinity of London, Eng.

He rides her to market at Aspall five miles from his farm. He rides her shopping through Debenham's streets. His two sons, William, aged nine, and John, aged seven, take it in turns to ride her to school when their father is not using her.

"I have been riding her regularly for three years and she loves it," Mr. Webb told a reporter. "People won't believe the villagers here when they are told about it. Visitors come for miles to see her.

"Sunbeam is not a bit scared of traffic, and although she refuses to gallop she is more docile than any horse. There is no fear of her bolting.

"I haven't a single horse on my farm. I do not need one when I have Sunbeam."

Delicacies for Labor Day

By BETTY BARCLAY

Labor Day may mean your last picnic of the season. It may be a "parade" day in your home. It may be "company" day. No matter how you celebrate it, you will be interested in the following recipes for unusual dishes that may be quickly prepared — some of them in the cool of the morning before the excitement of the day begins:

Club Fruit Plate
(Serves 1)

In large section of a grill plate, place a banana, split lengthwise and dipped in orange juice to prevent discoloration. Top banana with 4 orange slices.

In smaller sections of plate, place 3 large cooked prunes, stuffed with cottage cheese, moistened with orange juice, several walnut halves and 3 or 4 dates.

Golden Pineapple Dressing

¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 egg yolks
⅞ cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup whipping cream

Combine sugar and cornstarch, add slightly beaten egg yolks. Stir in fruit juices and butter. Cook until thick and smooth over boiling water, stirring constantly. Remove at once, add salt and cool. When thoroughly chilled, fold into stiffly beaten cream. This dressing is delicious served with fruit salad combinations.

Yield: Approximately 1¼ pints dressing.

Fluffy Chocolate Pudding

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup water
2 egg whites

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water 5 minutes until mixture thickens. Remove from fire and add water. Let cool about 5 minutes. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pile in sherbet glasses. Chill. Serves 6.

Pear Tapioca

4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
2 cups canned pear juice and water
6 halves canned pears, cut in halves
4 maraschino cherries, cut in eighths
¼ cup maraschino cherry juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, ginger, and pear juice and water in saucepan and mix well. Bring mixture quickly to a full boil over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. (Mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Add pears, cherries, cherry juice, and lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally — mixture thickens at it cools. Chill. Serve with cream, if desired. Serves 8.

Here's an ideal thirst quencher for the Labor Day party. Everyone can enjoy extra cups without losing sleep later because the decaffeinated coffee has ninety-seven percent of the caffein removed.

Iced Coffee
(Percolator Method)

Use 1½ heaping tablespoons ground decaffeinated coffee for each cup (½ pint) of water. Pour cold water into pot of percolator. Set percolator basket in pot and put coffee in it. Cover. Let percolate slowly and gently 10 to 15 minutes. (To obtain full strength of decaffeinated coffee, percolate 15 to 20 minutes.) Pour coffee over cracked ice.

Iced coffee may be made by any other method, i.e., steeped, drip, or boiled, using the same proportions of coffee and water. Extra-strength coffee is necessary on account of the melting ice. Always use freshly made coffee. Iced coffee made from left-over cold coffee is most unsatisfactory.

Recall Inventor Of Stethoscope

In its regular feature "Brief Biographies of Eminent Men," the quarterly publication of the Health League of Canada gives this sketch of Ren Laennec:

A great Frenchman began his career when Laennec was born at Quimper in Lower Brittany in 1781. The natives of Brittany are close kin to that other Celtic race the Welsh in England.

Laennec began life under distressing circumstances for, when he was under five years of age, his mother died of consumption, the lung affection now universally known as pulmonary tuberculosis. This fact is of importance for the same disease seriously handicapped and finally terminated his life at 45 years of age. The child, with his brothers and sisters, was brought up by an uncle who was a cure, that is a priest. Then he went to another uncle, a medical man. He received a good classical education and his medical evironment no doubt determined his choice of profession. At 19 he went to Paris to complete his medical education. There he came under the influence of Napoleon's great physician, Corsivart. The latter, recognizing the bright mind of Laennec, encouraged and talked with his pupil.

Laennec's greatest achievement was the invention of the stethoscope. In making this discovery he turned to good account his knowledge. "I had observed," he said "that one can hear with great distinctiveness the scratch of a pin at one end of a piece of wood on applying one's ear to the other." Applying this suggestion he rolled a quire of paper into a kind of cylinder and applied one end of it to the region of the heart and the other to his ear. By this means he was surprised that he could hear the heart sounds much more clerly than he had been able to do by the immediate application of his ear to the chest. From this simple beginning came the perfection of the stethoscope, one of the most useful instruments of every modern doctor. In 1822, Laennec was appointed to the chair of medicine in the College of France, and in the following year he succeeded his revered teacher, Corsivart as full professor of medicine. He worked too hard. His general health broke down; he went home with a dry cough. The circumstances of his babyhood, the close association with a consumptive mother, his close application to hospital and literary work, cut short a great career prematurely and he died in 1826.

Laennec is the patron saint of workers in tuberculosis not only in France, but wherever his history is known. He was a very great man.

Medical Care Of The Farm Poor

Public opinion is fast reaching a stage where the principle of health insurance is ready for acceptance. In all provinces, consideration is being given to various methods of ensuring medical care, for low-income groups in particular. The problem is one that is being attacked not only by public-spirited laymen but also by the medical profession.

In the United States, state medical associations have co-operated with the Farms Security Administration. Plans have been developed through which more than 112,000 low income farm families in 23 states are being helped to obtain medical care at a cost which they can afford.

The health program has been part of a project to rehabilitate 700,000 such families. The Administration found that good health was a better credit risk than a family in bad health.

The medical care plans are simple. They are based on the borrower's ability to pay for medical services, as determined by his farm plan; on free choice of participating physicians and on the setting aside of funds, in the hands of a trustee, at the beginning of the operating period.

The amount paid for participation varies in different localities. The usual payment is between $15 and $30 a year per family. When necessary the Farm Security Administration will increase the size of its loan to enable a borrower family to participate. The details vary, but under the plan in most general use, a part of the pooled funds held by the trustee is allocated for hospitalization and emergency needs, including surgical care, at the beginning of each period. The remaining fund is then divided into equal monthly allotments for the period covered.

These facts were recently considered by the Medical Society of Nova Scotia, which showed its interest in the movement for health insurance by inviting an address by Dr. R. C. Williams, Chief Medical Officer of the Farm Security Administration. The plan, he said, encouraged a sane acceptance of preventive medicine. Most families felt the security worth the investment, while the physicians were pleased to receive at least a substantial part of the cost of medical care.

Wife (to family doctor): My husband is troubled with a buzzing noise in his ears, doctor.

Wife: He can't get away.

Fifty Years A Maid, Now Owns Fine Estate

For fifty years Miss Eliza Moren was a servant. And on a recent night she looked around the spacious country house in Writtle, Essex, where she used to be the maid, and smiled, "It's all rather wonderful." She is now the owner of the estate.

Miss Moren is sixty-four. When she was 13 1-2 she went to work for Dr. A. B. Barrow, in Wimpole street, London, England, for a few shillings a week.

Dr. Barrow never married. He depended on Miss Moren to run his house for him.

And when he died last May, aged ninety-one, he left her the interest on $100,000 for life, in addition to a life assurance policy.

"When the war was over Dr. Barrow gave me some gilt-edged securities in goldfields, which have increased in value a great deal," said Miss Moren to a reporter.

"They helped me to buy the estate. I paid $19,555 for it.

"Dr. Barrow was always very good to those who worked well and faithfully for him, and never failed to show his gratitude. He was a wonderful employer. I've been a servant all my life, and a very happy one. This house has always been home to me, and I could not resist buying it. I shall just live here alone, quietly puttering about the garden."

Anxious Mother: What does the average college man do with his week-end?

Dean of Men: Well, madam, sometimes I think he merely hangs his hat on it.

BRIDE AND GROOM HONORED

A reception was held recenlty at Winchester Springs in the hall there for Mr. and Mrs. Geraid Rice. Dancing was enjoyed and at 11 o'clock the bride and groom were called to the front and a bouquet of flowers was presented to the bride and an address was read by Mrs. Joe Steele. Mrs. Harry Potter, Mrs. Dwaine McIntosh, Morley, Jay and Archie Bailey presented the couple with two occasional chairs and a butterfly end table.

Mr. Rice made a very fitting reply and thanked everyone on behalf of his wife. Afterwards a very dainty lunch was served and the guests signed their names in the bride's book. The music was furnished by Miss Winnie Ball and Glen McIntosh.

TUNNEL TO WEALTH

Back in 1904, William Schmidt staked out a gold claim on Black Mountain, near Randsburg, Calif. His claim was so far from a road that he could not transport the gold ore and have any profit left, so he began digging a tunnel through solid granite, but he continued intermittently and recently finished the job, a tunnel of 2,000 feet long. Although 66 years old, Schmidt will begin his gold mining in earnest now, using the tunnel to move his gold ore to the highway.

Plenty of Rain Here.

So far August has been a rainy month, and the showers during the last two week-ends have not been appreciated by those who go picnicing on Sunday. Likewise, the local merchants have suffered from loss of business, due to the heavy rains on Saturday evenings during the past two weeks. Farmers, also, report that the excess rain is interfering with harvesting. June and July were extremely dry months and we were all praying for rain. It came at last and, by the look of things, it's making up for lost time.

MacIntosh—Hay.

The marriage took place quietly on Tuesday, August 15th, in Knox Presbyterian Manse, Calgary, of Hattie, daughter of Mrs. William Hay, and the late Mr. Hay, of Winchester, Ont., to Mr. Frederick MacIntosh, of Munson, Alberta, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John MacIntosh, of Martintown, Ont. Rev. T. A. Rodger officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was smartly attired in a navy tailleur with which she wore a navy Breton sailor.

Mr. William Brunton, of Calgary, formerly of Marvelville, Ont., and Miss Mary Warren, of Calgary, witnessed the ceremony, and later dined with the bride and groom at the York hotel. Mr. and Mrs. MacIntosh will reside on the former's farm, near Munson.—Calgary Herald.

Test Your Brakes.

A simple brake test, known as the "milk bottle test," is advocated for motorists in the current bulletin issued by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations. Motorists are told to put a pint of water in a quart bottle, cap it and set it on the floor of the car. The car to be tested should be driven for a short distance at a speed of about 20 miles an hour, then the brake applied. If the bottle remains upright, it is evidence that the brakes need fixing; but if the bottle upsets and the car stops within 30 feet, the brakes are reasonably satisfactory. The mechanical expert of Toronto's Central Police Garage endorses the idea. He says: "From tests I have made at different stopping distances, the method has proved to be correct."

Had Good Yield of Oats.

Mr. J. W. Webb of Winchester Springs, is well satisfied with his crops this year, and why shouldn't he be when a field, containing 9 1-4 acres of Alaska Oats, yielded him 66 bushels to the acre. When he completed the threshing of this particular field, he had 273 bags of grain, averaging 76 lbs. each. Mr. Webb states that his other crops will also create a record yield. The oats, he said, would have probably yielded slightly more than 66 bushels to the acre, but some of it was lodging, due to the heavy rain storms, and some was wasted in cutting. He said he procured the seed from the Fennell Feed Company, and prepared his soil, which was summer fallowed last year, by treating it with a prepared fertilizer, using 50 lbs. to the acre. He is well satisfied with the results.

Names Omitted.

In the obituary notice of the late Mrs. Mary Cassidy Bigford, which was printed in last week's Press, the following names should have been included in the list of survivors: Two brothers, Henry Cassidy of Winchester, and Frank Cassidy, of Beaver Falls, N. Y.

Was Unconscious For Three Weeks.

Kenneth Pidgeon, 13-year-old Mille Roches lad, was discharged from Hotel Dieu Hospital a few days ago, nearly four weeks after he was seriously injured in an automobile-bicycle accident. The boy was unconscious for three weeks after the accident, but his condition began to improve rapidly about a week ago.

Local Youth Gets Heavy Sentence.

A local young man, who was arrested at Kingston a couple of weeks ago with a stolen car in his possession, the property of a Deseronto resident, was sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary recently. The youth pleaded guilty to the charge. He had previously served time for a similar offense in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph.

District Men Appointed.

Dr. Ansel M. J. Tanney, of Montreal, originally of Iroquois, has been appointed demonstrator in urology in the Faculty of Medicine at McGill Unviersity. Dr. John C. Armour, formerly of Perth, has been promoted from lecturer to assistant professor of surgery and Dr. F. A. H. Wilkinson, formerly of Prescott, from demonstrator to lecturer in anaesthesia.

Signs of An Election.

When Messrs. Hy. Bessin and J. W. Ault start wagering bets on the outcome of the next Federal election, it is a sure sign that an election is in the offing. We understand that these two shrewd political observers have made a gentleman's bet on how the different parties will line up after the next Federal election. Whether either will come close in their guess, we cannot say, but it's a sure sign the boys are looking for an election this Fall.

Married at Williamsburg.

The marriage of Miss Lulu Dewland, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dewland, Williamsburg, to Mr. Harry E. Brown, of Dunnville, Ont., took place at the home of the bride's parents on Monday.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Dewland was tendered a miscellaneous shower in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Williamsburg. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Geo. W. Strader, Stanley Thorpe, Clifford Braniff, Mahlon Barkley and Miss Phyllis Deeks. Miss Dewland was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Suffers Heavy Fire Loss.

The outbuildings of Edward Dodderidge, near Brinston, were completely destroyed on Friday morning, when straw in the barn caught fire from an overheated boxing on the threshing mill. The flames, which spread rapidly, soon reached the barn and outbuildings connecting which were totally destroyed, along with about 75 tons of hay.

The threshing mill and all of Mr. Dodderidge's farm machinery were saved. The farm house, situated quite close, caught fire but was saved by the efforts of neighbors who quickly gathered. The loss is estimated at $5,000 partly covered by insurance.

Has High Standing.

In looking over the Upper School Results, which are published elsewhere in this edition of the Press, we have observed that Don. Rowat, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rowat, succeeded in getting First Class Honours in ten subjects and a Second Class Certificate in another. This is an achievement that any student may well be proud of, and we hasten to extend our congratulations to Don. Writing off eleven Upper School subjects in one year and making a pass on all of them would be nice going, but to get 10 firsts and one second on them required a whole lot of study, or else the student possess an over-amount of intelligence. From what we know of Don, we think the latter applies.

Rev. G. O. Davies Wins Prize.

Rev. G. O. Davies, of Morrisburg, former Anglican minister here, pulls a mean oar, according to the results of a row-boat race held near Broder Island last week. Mr. Davies won third prize in the contest, N. Clark winning the classic with H. Eamon placing second. The event was one of the several aquatic sports, which were featured at the Morrisburg community picnic. Others who won prizes in the events and who are familiar to Winchester people are: John McCormick, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCormick; Audrey Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fraser. Audrey came second in a 75-yards dash and third in a swimming race. Jack Davies and Olwen Davies, son and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. O. Davies, also won prizes in several events.

Distributed Bills by Plane.

On Saturday afternoon last, an aeroplane flew over Winchester, dropping bills containing an advt. for an event to be held by a Morrisburg Service Club. This may be a modern way of distributing advertising literature, but it's not a very effective one, as only about two out of every fifty bills were picked up—the rest landing on roof-tops or in out-of-the-way places. Had the bills been sent through the mails, they would have reached a lot more people. Better still, a small advt. inserted in the local Press, the Chesterville Record, Morrisburg Leader, Iroquois Post, Prescott Journal, Kemptville Advance and Cornwall Freeholder, would have advertised the event 100 per cent., and the cost would not have been unreasonable either—and, after all, that's a newspaper's business.
