Best Meeting in Years -- Fair

Mac MacGregor new prexy optimistic plans for 1960

One of the best fair board annual meetings in some time was held last Saturday. Chesterville and District Agricultural Society had called the annual meeting to be held in the clerk's office of Community Hall and the room was strained for a time to hold the audience.

President Basil Dawley presided over the report period and the financial statement. A number of ladies representing the domestic exhibits division were present for the first time. It was the expressed hope they would continue the pattern of attending the annual meetings.

The financial report held several surprises. In spite of a series of disasters that for a time seemed to spell the end of the society, each crisis was met and conquored. A law suit ended in court with the society 80% negligent and the total damages were paid to the tune of well over $1,000. Then misfortune struck again when the grandstand burned and was a total loss a few weeks before the annual fair. Weather stepped in and nearly drowned the works on fair day. Out of it all, the society is only now in debt $1,100 and confidence is felt that sum can be wiped away in a couple of good years.

The ladies were assured the changes and additions they asked for in the home economics building would be taken care of. Their ideas of increasing the prize section with more specials was heartily approved.

Policing of the fair came under scrutiny of the members. It was felt some revisions could be made to good advantage.

Agricultural representative Ed Pearson made the suggestion that the 4-H Club shows now shown in two parts each year, be consolidated with a full show coming to Chesterville and South Mountain on alternate years with the Black and White show. It was suggested a committee be formed to consult with South Mountain.

Election of officers followed Leslie Dawley. after a long afternoon of planning and discussion.

The following were elected for 1960: Past president, Basil Dawley; president, M. MacGregor; 1st vice president, H. Faulkner; 2nd vice president, K. Graham; sec.-treas., S. O'Connor; directors, Eric Casselman, A. E. Smith, Angus Smith, Dr B. W. Lapp, Douglas Durant, Howard Kittle, Carl Merkley, John Maxwell, Cam Thompson, Harold Lannin, M. Baker, B. Dawley, Carl Hutchinson, Carl Smith,

CRUMBS
Graham's Loaf

We are chastened and humbled. For the past few days the house has been echoing to the sounds of ribald laughter—and mostly at our expense. The reason lies in a gruesome device called a tape recorder we have been trying on for size. The results are surprising to say the least. The voice that comes from the infernal machine after we pontificate in our own classical fashion startle, amaze and then infuriate us and the resulting choler leaves the rest of the family helpless with laughter.

There comes a time in every man's life when the sound of his own voice is just about the nicest thing he hears. And especially if the occasion arises when he has to make a small speech in public, then he amazes himself with the round, smooth and firmly packed tones as they emerge from his gently oscillating diaphragm. With no strain he charms his listeners with dulcet-voiced appeals to their finer senses, and everything is just lovely.

Then he is fool enough to get a tape recorder and immortalize himself on magnetic tape. The downfall is great and either suicide or humility follows. Those round and dulcet tones would appear to have a soporific effect equal to three kicks of "horse," and as the strange voice grates and whines from the speaker, suddenly a different person emerges that only a mother or suffering wife could learn to love and live with.

Recorders are a mixed blessing for mankind. Radio programs would be a great deal different if everything had to be live and that would not necessarily be bad. Some of the material taped for future broadcast sounds even worse than we do, if that is possible.

One nice thing about a tape recorder, though, is its ability to liven up most any gathering. The usual pattern is to plant the contraption in the farthest corner of the living room, that corner where the official competition to the "Record" gathers to spread the latest dirt, before, after and during the lunch period. Then when things settle down to a nice quiet buzz, a little later, turn her on. We can guarantee there will be a reaction, but we can't guarantee how safe your hide will be for the next few days. We would suggest you walk in the centre of the road and keep your shootin' irons loose in their holsters.

He was telling of some of his experiences as his year as president of the Canadian Good Roads Association progressed. The speaker noted that although Russia was not an official member of the international body, the International

NEW MAILING LISTS

This week we have revised our mailing lists. All subscription dates should read at least this date or in advance. We cannot stress too strongly the need for a "paid in advance" attitude on our subscribers' part. The old song and dance of high costs and government regulations determine the yearly price of this paper. One of the most important features of being able to hold the paper price down is to get paid for it in advance.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Woodsman, spare those trees

This past year the district has witnessed the complete destruction of many bushlots. The woods have disappeared like magic under the screaming snarl of chain saws as pulp cutters swath out all the trees. Nothing is left but the smallest of undergrowth.

The basic reason for the removal of the woodlots, of course, stems from the advance in paper chemistry. Science finally discovered a way to make the hard woods, formerly classed as unusable, into usable pulp. The magic of chemistry though, will do little to replace the tree cover that has formed a valuable part of the watershed of the valley.

It is a fact that this part of the countryside does not maintain a large number of woodlots, but usually where they do stand, the soil is such that only trees will grow. With their complete removal, the land will be useless for a long time. The value of the wood as it is sold to the cutter means immediate return to the land owner. The complete cutting method leaves something to be desired.

The logical follow-up to a cutting program such as the one taking place is to immediately reforest the lots with fast-growing conifers and certain hardwoods, to get the growth cover back in as short a time as possible. We hope the farmers involved have investigated the services offered by the Kemptville Reforestation group of the Department of Lands and Forests or checked with Bob Staley at Finch, of that Department. They will offer almost unlimited facilities if one is willing to co-operate.

Parliament underway again

The Third Session of the Twenty-third Parliament of Canada got underway a week ago. From now until sometime in early summer, Capitol Hill will ring with orators' resounding phrases, and a considerable amount of work will be accomplished. The government of Canada works in spite of the highfalutin' windiness of some of its members.

One of the speeches that does not come in that class is the one delivered by Grenville-Dundas's Mrs Jean Casselman at the end of the week. She made her maiden speech in the House as she seconded the speech from the throne, and an admirable effort it was.

Mrs Casselman gave her riding a just and fair publicity that it has always deserved in her well-received speech. She noted the surprising fact that nearly one half the population of Grenville-Dundas depend on industry for their livelihood, and as such are "directly affected by the industrial health of the nation."

Our member's resume of Grenville-Dundas growth in light of the St. Lawrence development should prove of interest to the rest of Canada, and we commend her especially for her special attention to the growth of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission projects. The work being done there will be of more immediate benefit than many people realize as the area becomes a magnet of attraction to a flood of space-hungry tourists and campers.

Mrs Casselman concluded her speech with some words of particular interest in this day of communistic threats. She noted the belief of communism makes the state god and the governors infallible. And she continued: "Our strength is that we do not think our form of government is perfect. It has been developing, maturing, correcting itself ever since Magna Charta, and God willing, it will continue this growth and improvement for seven times 700 years."

Mrs Blanche Forsyth

The funeral of Mrs Blanche Forsyth was held from the funeral home of McArthur Brothers and MacNeil, Cornwall. Service was conducted by Rev W. L. MacLellan, D.D. The remains were taken to Finch for burial in Finch Cemetery.

Pall bearers were John Bowman, nephew, and five grandsons, Douglas, Billy and Lyle Forsyth, Myles Nephew and Robert McGuigan.

Beautiful flowers covered the casket and many friends expressed sympathy to the bereaved family.

Attending the funeral were relatives and friends from Finch, Morrisburg, Arnprior, Newington, Alexandria and Massena.

Mrs Forsyth, who had been a patient in Cornwall General Hospital for more than a year, passed away in her 80th year.

Born in Gallingertown, she was the daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Erastus Beckstead. Her husband, the late George A. Forsyth, was for many years a hardware merchant at Finch where Mrs Forsyth lived for 51 years.

Surviving are one son, William, of Finch; two daughters, Mrs J. L. Nephew (Altha), of Finch; Mrs Kenneth McKinnon (Ola), Cornwall; a sister, Mrs George Summers (Florence) of Prescott; five grandsons, one granddaughter, and six grandchildren.

"Yes, Doctor...Wednesday will be fine!"

When it's time to have the dentist check daughter's teeth, Mrs. Smith naturally reaches for the telephone, that helpful "member-of-the-family" with the habit of getting things done.

When you look back over your day, it's sometimes surprising to realize in just how many little ways the telephone has helped you...how it adds so much convenience and comfort to everyday living.

Seeing two stubby legs sticking out of a bucket of buttermilk, McLamb investigated and found a half-drowned 30-lb. pig.

He pulled the animal out, gave it artificial respiration and revived it.

Mr John H. Twentyman, secretary of the North Andean Agency in South America, recently related how he was flying to Ecuador over Auca territory. Here Rachel Saint is living in the midst of her brother's murderers. They were able to converse over the plane radio. Translation of the Scriptures is being worked on in this area.

When Mr Twentyman visited Jivaro territory he met there a chief who had travelled six days on foot and by canoe from the borders of Peru in order to "hear more about the Word of God."

At Ayacucho, when the Quechua New Testaments, just received were put on sale, a small boy came running to the front of the church stretching up his little fist full of the right change to buy the first copy for his parents. After the service the garden was lined with readers, oblivious to all around them.

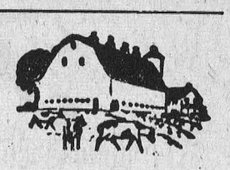
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



by Lillian Allison

The final stop on my sightseeing tour of New York City was at the R.C.A. building where we had a tour of the NBC radio and TV studios.

The building was another of the tall skyscrapers that were becoming old-hat after nine hours of craning my neck to look up at one high building after another. I've lost count of how many storeys the R.C.A. building can boast. It was beautiful inside with stores and shops on the street level, rows of elevators and a wide carpeted stairway leading to the second floor. The guide led us up the stairs and instructed us to wait until another guide would take over.

With one accord we dropped onto the foam cushioned seats along the nearest wall. I was exhausted. My feet hurt, my back ached and I felt I couldn't put one foot in front of the other one more time. I pulled off my coat, heaved a sigh and looked around.

The room was about forty feet square, fully carpeted and decorated in technicolor. It was a cheerful place indeed. From a hi-fi on the opposite side familiar music soothed our aches and pains. In frames along the walls were huge photos of very familiar faces—Perry Como, Dinah Shore, Bob Hope and many more of the NBC stars.

I felt much better by the time a young man wearing a neat, dark blue uniform appeared and introduced himself as our guide. "If you'll just follow me," he said in a pleasant voice. And in an instant I was on my feet and off to see the magic of radio and TV.

Our first stop was in front of a huge diagram with which our guide explained the working of colour TV. A switch flicked on the picture of a dancing girl in gorgeous colour. By pushing buttons he demonstrated how the cameras pick up the colours and change them into electric impulses which are transmitted from the Empire State Building, picked up by the TV aerials, changed back into colour pictures in the TV screen. It seemed so very simple.

We saw a TV control room where a man sat watching shows on monitors. Two or three shows were running but he was concentrating on one—the Dave Garroway show which was being filmed for the following morning when I watched it again on the TV set in my room.

We stopped in front of another monitor and watched a commercial go through its birth pains. A filmed commercial was actually being made in one of the studios and we watched with some amusement as the producer shouted instructions and the performers tried again and again for perfection. With a snap of the switch our guide tuned in another commercial—the one where the lady with the centre hair part tells us about her own wonderful cake mixes. She made mistakes too.

We went on to two TV sets. There the stages were arranged for two daily TV shows. (Neither of them is available here.) We sat down in the gallery seats provided for the studio audience. The stages were small and very austere. The people who were familiar with the shows were amazed.

"Are there any questions?" the guide inquired. And for fifteen minutes we sat there having a very informal discussion of TV shows and their production.

"Where does the Perry Como show originate?" was a good question. The guide explained that Perry's show comes from a big theatre uptown because he needs a large supporting audience.

"Can we get tickets?" one lady inquired. I could have answered that. I'd written two weeks earlier for a ticket and none had arrived.

"You'd have to write six or eight weeks ahead," the guide explained. Then one lady said she had written for tickets and received word that there were no more tickets available for th season. Perry sure is a popula guy.

One little studio was being painted and we missed part of the tour. Usually the guide interviews two or three of the party while the others watch on a TV monitor.

So we went on to see the less complicated world of radio.

Dunbar Presbyterian Church congregation hears reports of successful year at annual

An especially large gathering of members and adherents of Dunbar Presbyterian Church met in the church on Tuesday evening, January 12, for the annual meeting of the congregation.

Reports presented from every organization in the church indicated a most successful year both spiritually and financially.

An increase was shown in membership both of the church and Sabbath school. The Women's Missionary Society reported a larger amount raised this year than in any year previous. The church treasurers indicated that all accounts were paid and satisfactory balances remained in all departments of the church.

The Board of Managers indicated an industrious year. New cupboards were installed in the kitchen, a landing and steps were erected at the rear of the church, 40 new chairs and three new tables were purchased for the Christian Education room, and heavy duty wiring installed.

Arza Beckstead, D. A. Dillabough and Charles Beckstead were re-elected to serve another term on the Board of Managers.

With the presentation of reports, and the duscussions which followed, it was evident that the congregation has grasped the challenge of the present age to the Church. It was encouraging to sense a new interest and determination among the members to further the Kingdom of God. The budget allocation of this congregation for the Missionary endeavour of the Presbyterian Church In Canada in 1960 was accepted, and resolution made that every effort would be made to raise this amount.

The sincere thanks of the congregation was extended the minister, Rev Douglas Fry, and the office bearers of the church, who had given of their time and talent in faithful leadership. The meeting was closed with prayer and benediction by the minister.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and a refreshing lunch was served by the ladies of the church. The Dunbar Presbyterian Church, inspired by the successful year that is past, looks forward to 1960 with greater enthusiasm for the things of God.

Ontario Hydro heats lines to melt ice

Power lines sizzled between Barrie and Kitchener early Friday, January 8, as Ontario Hydro completed an experiment to melt about 600 tons of ice from high-voltage lines.

It worked perfectly.

Hydro poured in 1,300 amperes of electrict current twice the average normal load—from its Des Joachims generating station on the Ottawa River.

Heat in the line melted a pear-shaped ice coating from two to three inches thick over part of a 0-mile circuit between Barrie nd Kitchener in about 45 minutes. A similar operation was carried out successfully on a parallel circuit early Thursday.

Unfortunately the experiment, never before attempted in Ontario, was only feasible on these lines which bore the brunt of high-voltage trouble in last week's ice storm.

Hydro customers couldn't notice any change in electrical service since the lines were isolated from the system and replaced by alternate sources of supply.

But this was a unique case where the critical current required was available as well as a line which could be removed from the system. The test couldn't be repeated on low-voltage lines—the type most severely affected by ice during the storm —without interrupting service to customers.

On the other hand, engineers said, the experiment produced vital information for use in the future.

It could be attempted only after Hydro's main job was done—restoring power to some 35,000 customers who had been blacked out for six hours or more. Even then it took two days of careful calculation and preparation to put the heat on.

The eight units at Hydro's 372,000-kilowatt Des Joachims station were isolated from the Southern Ontario System. Their output was carried at 230,000 volts over 93 miles on four circuits to Minden, then compressed into two circuits for 76 miles to the Essa transformer station near Barrie. At Essa, the 1,300 amperes were fed into the single ice-laden circuit.

Wilson Mattice, 43

Wilson Mattice, of Osnabruck Centre, a veteran of World War II, died suddenly at his home, although he had been in failing health for about a year.

Born in Osnabruck Centre 43 years ago, he was a son of the late Orlo Albert Mattice and the late Jennie Gertrude Neville. Following the war he married Sucy Bol, of Amsterdam, Holland, and took up residence at Osnabruck Centre. He was an employee of Howard Smith Paper Mills, Cornwall, for some time.

He was held in the highest regard by all who knew him and his death is sincerely regretted in the community.

He is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter, Bert and Carol Mattice; two sisters, Mrs K. L. Thompson (Evelyn) Cornwall, and Mrs Dalton Begg (Gladys), of Finch.

The funeral was held from his home to Trinity United Church, Ingleside, the service being conducted by Rev S. B. Profitt. Interment was in Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Delbert Flintoff, Arthur Ware, Merton Collins, Ober Beckstead, W. J. Baxter and Fred Moss.

Attending the funeral were Miss Joyce Alguire, Mr and Mrs K. L. Thompson, Cornwall; Mr and Mrs Dalton Begg, Finch, and friends from Ottawa, Morrisburg, Massena, Monckland, Cornwall and the surrounding community.

The numerous floral offerings, the many who called at the home to express their sympathy and the largely attended funeral testified to the high esteem in which Mr Mattice was held.

Home-made street signs with big-city names are one kind of link between the people of the New North and the rest of Canada.

Banking service is another.

Canadian banks have, since the earliest days, taken part in the development of new areas, the opening of new frontiers. Today the chartered banks continue to bring banking services to pioneer settlements as the economic map of Canada is rolled back.

They have at the same time greatly increased the number of branches in established areas across Canada—new suburban communities, expanding industrial centres —keeping pace with the country's population and business growth.

To take care of all these varied needs, 1,200 new branches have been opened by the chartered banks in the past ten years.

Winchester reeve named warden of United Counties

John Fader, reeve of Winchester village, was chosen United Counties Warden for '960 in an official election at Cornwall on Monday.

His investiture also marked the opening of the 161st session of United Counties Council.

Cameron Kennedy, counties clerk, presided over the meeting until the warden had been officially placed in office.

Sponsored by Lloyd McHugh, reeve of Alexandria, and Mahlon Zeron, reeve of Matilda Township, Reeve Fader came forward to take his oath of office, read out to him by the clerk.

Following this brief ceremony, John L. MacDonald, reeve of Cornwall Township, placed the official chain of office around Mr Fader's neck. As he did this, he outlined the meaning and symbolisms of the various crests on the chain.

Speaking to council and guests, Warden Fader expressed his appreciation for being elected to the office for the coming year. He also thanked the people of Winchester for returning him to the office of reeve for his sixth consecutive term.

Provincial government members for the United Counties were also on hand for the inaugural session.

Hon. F. M. Cass, Minister of Highways, said: "I know the interests of the people in the counties are paramount in your minds as you sit here."

He congratulated Warden Fader and said the counties would be proud of him, especially the people of Dundas.

Peter Manley, MLA, Stormont, and Fernand Guindon, MLA, Glengarry, also paid high tribute to the warden and his council.

Mr Manley paid especially high tribute to Mr Cass when he said he hoped soon the people of the United Counties and the entire province would greet him as premier of Ontario.

NOT THERE

An Italian workman is homeless at Governolo, Italy, after tearing down his house brick by brick in search of rumoured "hidden treasure."

As he pulled down the last wall with a pickaxe, he found only an old scroll dated 1741, the year the house was built.

Experts said it was worthless.

Ontario cheese winner in London

Once again Ontario cheddar cheese has proven its worth in international competition.

The Dairy Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, has learned that the Farmer's Joy cheese factory, Monkland, Ont., has been awarded the Bledisloe Perpetual Challenge Trophy at the recent dairy show held in London, England.

The cheesemaker, Harold Montgomery, is well known for the quality of his work and has been a regular winner in Canadian competitions and former international competitions.

"The winning of this international competition is evidence of the high quality of Canadian cheese and the skill of our cheesemakers," says the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Agriculture. "It is particularly important with the competition taking place in the United Kingdom which provides an important market for our premium cheddar."

BLEACHING CEDAR

Bleaching of cedar to subdue the rich autumn colours of the wood and yet retain its natural beauty is receiving preference from many architects. Especially in panelling and where western cedar lumber is used as exposed ceiling decking, a white primer coat is brushed on and wiped off immediately.

After thoroughly drying, the wood is sanded with 6-0 paper and clear varnish is brushed on. Rub the last coat with 4-0 steel wool for best results. The wood should be first sanded with 2-0 paper.

Canada's accessible merchantable timber is today estimated to be in the neighbourhood of 585,-800,000,000 cubic feet.

CASSEROLE DISHES FOR SUPPER

THESE COLD DAYS you will want to serve a hearty supper and what could be more mouth watering than a steaming casserole of meat, eggs or vegetables.

Casserole of Pork Chops with Apples

Trim fat from required number of pork chops. Brown chops on both sides in a little fat and fry a few slices of onion at the same time. Place chops in a casserole. Rinse out juices in the frying pan with water or apple juice and pour over chops. Peel, core and slice tart apples, allowing one apple for each chop. Place apples over chops. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for 60 minutes.

Meat Patty Casserole

1 lb. minced beef
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 tsps. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. tomato ketchup
1 tsp. mustard
Dripping or vegetable oil
Fluffy mashed potatoes
2 cups brown gravy or tomato sauce

Mix beef and bread crumbs together. Combine salt, pepper and dry mustard. Blend into tomato ketchup; add to meat mixture and mix lightly together. Form into patties. Put meat dripping or vegetable oil in frying pan and cook patties.

Pile fluffy mashed potatoes in a greased casserole; arrange meat patties on potatoes. Pour gravy or tomato sauce over all and cook 25 minutes in 375 degree oven.

Dinner in a Casserole

1 cup raw rice
3½ cups canned tomatoes
1 large onion
1 tsp. salt
1½ lbs. ground beef
f.g. pepper
8 strips bacon

Wash rice; place in bottom of casserole. Pour tomatoes over rice. Chop onion fine and with ½ tsp. salt sprinkle over tomatoes. Season meat with remaining salt and pepper. Spread meat over onion. Top with bacon strips. Bake in a moderate oven 1¼ hours.

Spaghetti - Tomato Supper Dish

1½ cups spaghetti
4 cups canned tomatoes
1 medium-sized onion, chopped

School principals meet at Morrisburg

A joint meeting of the principals of the secondary schools and principals of the urban public schools of Dundas County was held in Morrisburg Public School on Monday evening, January 18. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss ways and means of promoting closer co-operation between the two levels of education which would bring about better integration of the program of Grades 7, 8, 9 and 10. An interesting and, at times, lively discussion took place.

It was decided at the meeting that elementary school teachers should invite the principal of the secondary school and the teachers of Grade 9, within their township, to attend their regular Township Teachers' meetings during the month of February. The recommendations put forward at these four township meetings will be collated and examined at a further meeting of the secondary and elementary school principals and form the basis of suggested procedures to bring about the desired co-operation and integration.

Those attending the meeting from the secondary schools were A. J. Bray, Iroquois; R. G. Fowler, Mountain; W. E. Franke, of Morrisburg; T. Rivard, Chesterville; J. H. Willard, Winchester. Mr Rae, of Morewood, was unavoidably absent. Those present from the elementary schools were Mrs M. R. Fawcett, South Mountain; Mrs E. B. Reid, Hallville; R. L. Coleman, Chesterville; H. Droppo, Morrisburg; J. H. Potter, Winchester; S. Waddell, Iroquois.

Convener and chairman of the meeting was M. N. Hutchinson, I.P.S., Dundas County.

J. Leslie Dixon

J. Leslie Dixon, a leader in the business and social life of Winchester for nearly half a century, died in Memorial Hospital Sunday after a lengthy illness. He was 71.

Son of the late Jacob Dixon and Maria Gates, pioneers of the Pendleton district, Mr Dixon moved to Winchester in 1915 and entered business with his father in manufacturing pumps. Later he established his own business as funeral director and operated a furniture store. He sold this business in 1948, becoming a car salesman.

He was a charter member of the Winchester 100 Club, Winchester Oddfellows Lodge, Henderson Lodge A.F. and A.M., president of the Winchester rink company for six years and had served on the school board and as a director of Winchester Agricultural Society.

He married Charlotte (Lottie) Smith in Chesterville 45 years ago. She survives along with one son, Lloyd, of Winchester; one daughter, Mrs Dwight Jones (Ruth), of Kingston; and a brother, William O. Dixon, of Chesterville.

The body rested at the Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Winchester, where a Masonic service was held at 9 p.m. Tuesday. The funeral was conducted by Rev Angus J. MacDonald in Winchester United Church at 2.30 p.m., Wednesday.

Burial was in the family plot at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

MINISTER OF HIGHWAYS—

Road Federation, she always sent along observers. It was the minister's opinion that much could be learned from Soviet methods, especially in building roads over frozen lands. Their pattern of beating muskeg swamp is something that intrigues the Department of Highways of Ontario. Our northland is liberally laced with almost impassable muskeg. Mr Cass expressed the hope that this year observers could be sent to Russia to study her road building methods.

The minister concluded his talk by noting with pride the reputation Ontario Highways engineers and technical personnel are getting throughout the North American continent. He stated there is a constant demand that department men be allowed to assist in instruction at colleges, conventions and road building forums in Canada and the U.S.A.

Richard Casselman introduced the speaker and he was thanked on behalf of the club by Howard Fulton.
