Briefly

NDTC meets

MOUNTAIN -- The North Dundas Transition Committee is meeting tonight, Wednesday September 17, at Mountain Hall in Mountain. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m., and is open to the public, although part of it is expected to be closed.

Village passes on OMB hearing

CHESTERVILLE -- The Village of Chesterville has decided not to have official representation at an Ontario Municipal Board hearing into an appeal of a decision of the village's Committee of Adjustment. Chesterville residents Gerald and Heather Parent in May appealed a decision of the committee regarding the position of a porch on the neighboring property of Steven Horvath. Council decided last Wednesday that while some members of council may attend the hearing as interested parties, the village will not seek official status at the hearing, for which the OMB has yet to set a date.

CHIP cooking class

CORNWALL -- The Coronary Health Improvement Project (CHIP) is holding a cooking school Sunday, September 21 at the SDA Church on Pitt Street in Cornwall from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. The theme for the event is "foods in a hurry," featuring main courses, creative lunches and salads. The event also features door prizes, handouts, an educational presentation and a CHIP meal. The cost is $10, and everyone is welcome. For more information or to make a reservation, call the CHIPline at (613) 936-8843.

Provincial PCs hold founding meeting

MONKLAND -- The Progressive Conservative Riding Association for Stormont- Dundas is holding a founding meeting Saturday, September 20 at the Sand Road Sugar Camp on Hwy. 138 north of Monkland. To be eligible to vote, a person must have been a member of the predecessor riding at least seven days before the founding meeting, attend the founding meeting and live within the boundaries of the new riding. Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. and the meeting begins at 10 a.m. Provincial ridings are being restructured for the next provincial election. The new Stormont-Dundas riding will include the city of Cornwall and Township of Charlottenburgh.

Sign vandalized

MAPLE RIDGE -- Provincial police are investigating an act of vandalism at North Dundas District High School. Sometime overnight September 9-10, a large display sign on the front lawn of the school promoting community events was tipped over, causing damage to its plexiglass cover. The other side of the sign was also damaged, police said.

More pot seized

WILLIAMSBURG TWP. -- Police have conducted an early harvest on yet another marijuana crop in eastern Ontario, this time a 169-plant cultivation site in Williamsburg Township. The plants were taken for disposal by police. The seizure is the latest of several that have taken place this summer in Dundas County fields.

Operation Impact

WINCHESTER -- October 4 will be a particularly bad day to drive dangerously or carelessly in eastern Ontario. Local OPP are joining police services across Canada in a 24-hour campaign targeting high-risk drivers, called Operation Impact. The program is designed to reduce traffic deaths and injuries through education and enforcement.

Counties won't let Chesterville off the hook

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CORNWALL – What may have been Chesterville's last hope for independence has failed.

United Counties council Monday solidly rejected a plea from the village that it be spared from amalgamation with Winchester Village and Winchester and Mountain townships.

Chesterville council September 5 sent an empassioned letter to its 19 colleague councils in SD&G, asking respectfully to be exempted from the amalgamation process, which is scheduled to be implemented January 1. The letter cited examples of municipalities in eastern Ontario, like Athens and Westport, that have been granted exemption from local amalgamation proposals.

But the village's request was quashed by a vote of 36-12 at Monday's session of United Counties Council. The vote was recorded, but specific details were not available Tuesday.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook said Tuesday he was not surprised with the result, but disappointed. While early response to the village seemed positive, the result of the counties vote "was not unexpected, based on the information I was getting over the weekend. Most of them seemed to be of the opinion we had gone too far and it was too late to turn back."

But the request may not be the village's last shot at being spared from an amalgamation scenario it has opposed since day one. Cook said he has some thoughts on other options, but said they will have to be discussed with village council.

"There are still probably some areas we could look at," he said. "Hope is fading, but there's still hope."

Cook said it seemed municipalities that supported the village were more inclined to indicate support directly to council than those which did not.

Cool canine

Winchester's Holly Orton and her cool canine friend Chester were ready for a pleasant walk on a sunny morning at Maple Ridge Sunday. Holly and Chester were among 89 participants in the annual Terry Fox Run, which raised $6,865 for cancer research, the most in the 16-year history of the local event. Please see page 15.

Ag-biotech industry possible crushing plant spinoff

By Tom VanDusen
Special to The Record

A company which makes ingredients for cosmetics and pharmaceuticals is seriously considering establishing a factory at Winchester to take advantage of the convenient source of oil from the new soybean crushing plant, The Record has learned.

Several discussions have been held between the new company, as yet unidentified, and officials of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Economic Development Corporation (EDC) which was responsible for hammering together the $2 million crushing plant package.

The processor is investigating the feasibility of the vacant Drewery automobile dealership, located across the street from the crushing plant site, as a location for its factory.

Should the factory go ahead, it could produce 30-50 local jobs, adding to as many as 10 permanent positions expected to be created at the soybean plant.

In confirming the news, Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau, chair of the EDC, said he was pleased the crushing plant was already leading to potential spin-offs.

"The agricultural economy is booming and that's our strength in North Dundas and across SD&G. You've got to build on your strengths."

EDC general manager James dePader called interest expressed by the company "preliminary". He pointed out that several similar companies have made inquiries about the crushing plant and how they might be able to tap into its services and raw products.

The keen interest stems from the fact the Winchester facility will be a cold press plant, rather than a solvent extracting plant, which preserves the chemistry of the processed oil.

"This will be only the third cold press plant of commercial size in Ontario. There are 117 life science companies located in the Ottawa area which produce identity-preserved commodities. Solvent extraction alters the chemistry."

Williamsburg prepares to celebrate Harvest Fest

Rich Thorpe
Record Staff

WILLIAMSBURG— It's a celebration of country living and heritage.

That's how organizers are describing three days of special events scheduled for Williamsburg from Friday, Sept. 26 to Sunday, Sept. 28.

They'll be celebrating Williamsburg's Sixth Annual Fall Harvest Festival and commemorating the 175th anniversary of Williamsburg Township.

A whole host of free family-oriented activities have been planned including a Friday night bingo, a parade on Saturday afternoon, and a park dedication and musical jamboree on Sunday.

"There's something for everyone of all ages," said Williamsburg Community Association secretary Arlene Darrach. "All the events are free with the exception of meals."

Friday's activities are highlighted by a bingo under the big top at Harvestfest's heated tent located on the tennis court. Doors open at 5 p.m. and the games start at 7 p.m.

Approximately $4,000 in prize money is available to be won including a jackpot of $2,000. The bingo is sponsored in association with Williamsburg Legion Branch 538.

Chesterville clerk nets top ND post

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE – The new clerk-administrator for North Dundas will be a local person after all. The North Dundas Transition Committee is unanimously recommending to its four member councils that Chesterville Clerk Howard Smith be hired as the new municipality's top employee.

Smith has told the NDTC he accepts, and will likely begin his North Dundas duties immediately, which include assisting the transition committee in designing the rest of the staff structure.

The NDTC's recommendation to hire Smith came after a second round of interviews Thursday night. The first round was held earlier this summer, when three existing staff members were interviewed. None of them was chosen, and the committee decided to search outside the area, a move that created some controversy.

While some non-local candidates were considered, Smith had re-applied and was interviewed a second time. And he got the good news through a phone call from NDTC chairman Larry Gray Thursday night.

"I was pleasantly surprised. It was one of the few times I was at a loss for words," Smith said Monday.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook, a member of the NDTC clerk hiring committee, said Friday that Smith "got his skills and ability across last night."

And as someone who has worked closely with Smith for eight years, Cook said he was pleased for him. "It's a move in the right direction for him."

Chesterville council met quickly Friday afternoon to authorize the hiring of staff help in the village office, in order to release Smith to his North Dundas responsibilities as soon as possible.

Smith has been Chesterville's clerk since December, 1989. He says he is honored to have been selected,and is looking forward to the challenges of his new role.

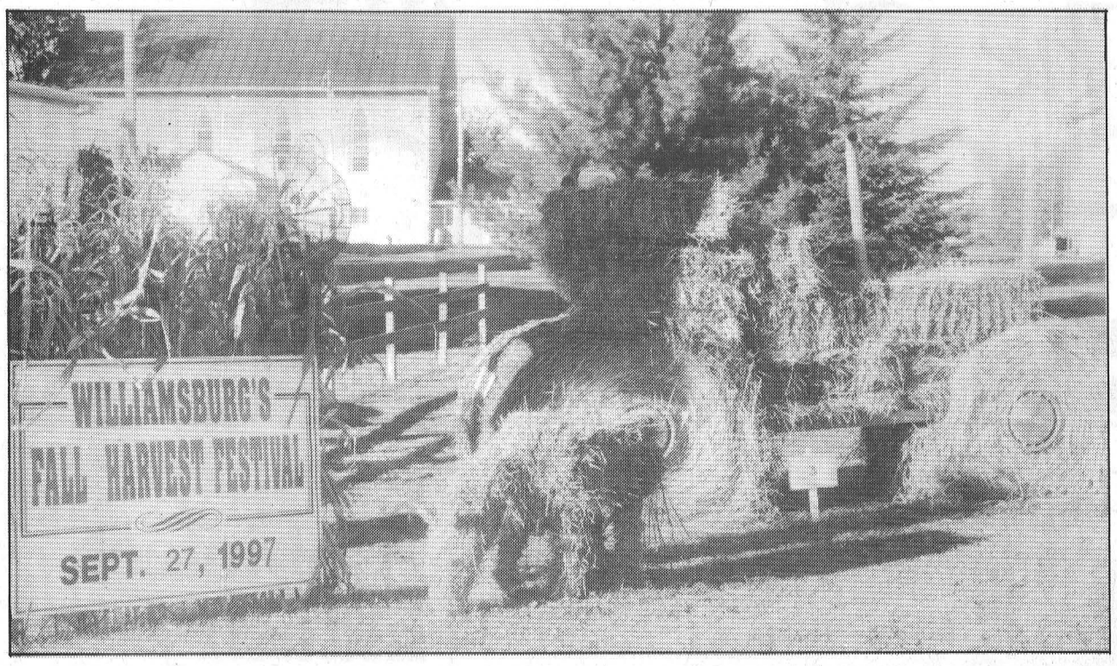
Chesterville clerk Howard Smith has been recommended as the clerk for the new municipality of North Dundas. Smith got the nod after a second round of interviews Thursday. He is expected to begin his new duties immediately.



A weekend's worth of free family fun has been planned for Williamsburg. This year, organizers are adding an extra day to Williamsburg's Fall Harvest Festival to celebrate the 175th anniversary of Williamsburg Township. The fun begins on Friday, Sept. 26 and concludes on Sunday, Sept. 28 with the dedication of the Williamsburg Ball Park in honor of Johnny Whitteker.

Harvest

There are a number of contests and children's activities planned for Saturday. A petting zoo and pony rides will be held at the park from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Races will also be held from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

One of Saturday's highlights will be the parade, which leaves from the Williamsburg Christian Reformed Church at noon.

A beard growing contest is one of the new events planned for Saturday.

"It seems to be popular," Darrach said. "It is being held in conjunction with the anniversary celebrations. The last time the contest was held was in 1967."

Residents will have the chance to test their knowledge of Williamsburg Township history as well.

"We're having a little bit of a historic quiz," she said. "People will have to identify pictures and see how much they know about the township."

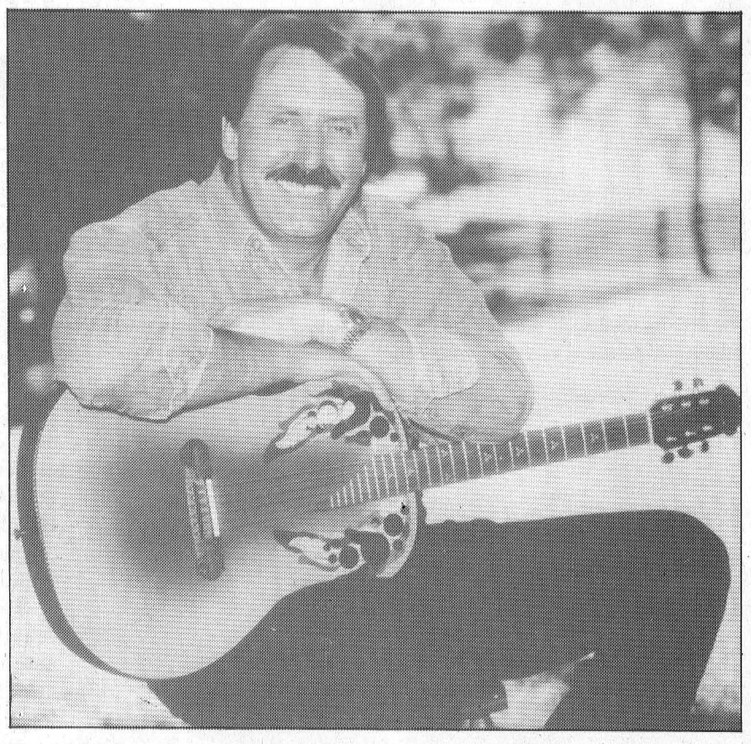
There will also be a display of antique vehicles and equipment and a beef barbecue buffet.

The day's activities wind up with a dance at 8 p.m. under the tent featuring Jeff Callery.

The spotlight shines on Williamsburg Township on Sunday with a number of special events.

At 3 p.m. the ball park will be renamed in honor of Williamsburg Township Reeve Johnny Whitteker.

Whitteker is the dean of municipal politicians in eastern Ontario having served for 42 years on Williamsburg Township council.



Popular entertainer Wayne Rostad will be in Williamsburg on Sunday, Sept. 28 to celebrate the 175th anniversary of Williamsburg Township.

Acting as master of ceremonies for the dedication will be well-known CBC TV personality and Ottawa Valley recording artist and performer Wayne Rostad.

Rostad will entertain as part of the musical jamboree scheduled for Sunday afternoon. The show runs from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the ball park and features Bordertowne, Roma McMillan, the Seaway Valley Singers, and Marleen Fawcett.

Fireworks will follow at dusk.

The winners of the scarecrow and bale decorating contests were announced on Friday, Sept. 12.

Debbie Dishaw won the best dressed scarecrow, while Larry Toonders placed second.

Tyler Darrach and Marty Link won the best decorated bale contest.

The best decorated house contest will be judged on Friday, Sept. 26 beginning at 3:30 p.m. Registrations will be accepted up until Wednesday, Sept. 24.

Clerk hired

Smith, who lives in Winchester Township, was an industrial development officer for the City of Cornwall's Economic Development department for eight years before becoming the village clerk. Before that, he was an industrial engineer at Chesterville's Nestle factory.

Smith has a BA in Economics from Queen's University and holds Association of Municipal Clerk Treasurers accreditation.

As clerk for North Dundas, Smith sees himself as a "point man" for the transition committee in leading to the design of a new municipality.

And he says it's going to be challenging to find ways of delivering the same level of service in the face of anticipated downloading from the province. He noted policing alone will cost North Dundas more than $1 million.

But Smith pledges to do his best for the entire North Dundas municipality.

"I have a general idea of how I'd like to see things put together, and that will be done in tandem with what the transition committee wants."

Request

The village received nods of support last week from Morrisburg, Iroquois, Alexandria, Maxville and Finch.

Proposed North Dundas partner Mountain Township turned down the request, as did the village of Winchester, which responded through a faxed letter.

Winchester's letter states they felt they were not given enough information about the request, and asks whether Chesterville has completed a referendum "to ensure that the majority of the general public are in favor of Chesterville remaining independent."

In discussing the letter at council last Wednesday, Cook noted with some amusement that no referendum was ever held to ensure a majority of residents were in favor of amalgamation in the first place.

Winchester's response to Chesterville also asks how the village could survive on its own with little or no provincial funding, and states "We would also like to bring to your attention the fact that the provincial order does not contain any provisions for exclusion from the amalgamation process."

Chesterville was one of a handful of municipalities that in February this year voted against the United Counties amalgamation proposal, a proposal that splits the north and south halves of each of the three counties to reduce the number of municipalities from 20 to six.

Plant

From the front

Cousineau also confirmed that construction will start "within days" on the 30,000-tonne crushing plant after a delay due to a $200,000 financing shortage caused by the temporary withdrawal of one investor.

The EDC decided to pick up the shortfall and get the project rolling by turning over, with ministerial approval, $200,000 from a $2 million federal development fund that it administers.

Cousineau said the new plant is still expected to be in full operation this fall.

New curriculum introduced Friday

CORNWALL -- More than 120 of the SD&G Public School Board's teachers, administrators, school council members and staff will be introduced to the new Ontario curriculum at a special training session Friday. The session will focus on language and mathematics documents released last June. Staff will learn about Ministry of Education expectations and match them to current curriculum initiatives. Participants in the session will share their findings with fellow staff through school-based workshops on September 26.

Winchester elevator triples capacity

Four new silos to take storage to 900,000 bushels

By Tom VanDusen
Special to The Record

Winchester Grain Elevators will undertake a massive expansion to accommodate a constantly growing grain drying and storage business, The Record has learned.

Work at the Winchester Village site will begin any day, general manager Ian Fetterly confirmed last week. When completed and ready to receive later this fall, four new concrete silos will have been added to 15 already in place, tripling capacity to about 900,000 bushels.

While Fetterly said he couldn't divulge the cost of the project, speculation in local agri-business circles is that it'll top $1 million.

The major undertaking injects yet another investment into the booming Dundas County agricultural economy, most of it centered at Winchester.

A $2 million soybean crushing plant will be built across the street from the elevators and an ag-biotech business is considering opening a factory in the vacant Drewery automobile dealership right next door.

In business since 1966, Winchester Elevators handles soybeans, corn and barley, with its main sales outlet at CASCO in Cardinal. It also transports some grain to Quebec City and Montreal for shipment overseas.

The general manager said the project isn't directly connected to the imminent arrival the soybean crushing plant. However, he added, if the plant requires storage space, it'll have equal access to any other customer.

Fetterly said the need for expansion became clear several years ago when the company began experiencing difficulty keeping up with demand. Expansion became possible after a parcel of land adjacent to the elevators was acquired from Berry Feeds.

Part of the booming business, he said, stems from the fact more and more farmers are moving from dairy into cash crops. While dairying is more secure, cash cropping offers more lifestyle flexibility and prices for most crops have been fairly steady in recent times.

"We were pretty well forced to expand to stay in business. As much business as you want is there if you accommodate the farmers."

A fitting tribute

Those of us who are old enough will remember how a brave young man in 1980 set out on a remarkable journey across Canada, to raise finds for the fight against the disease that claimed his leg.

We all remember how Terry Fox's Marathon of Hope gained momentum until it was sadly cut short when his cancer spread, and eventually claimed his life.

But what happened at Maple Ridge Sunday was a fitting tribute to his memory, and to the cause that affected him so closely.

Eighty-nine people from this area collected pledges in the community and enjoyed a brisk walk, jog or cycle on a beautiful late-summer morning. And they raised an impressive $6,865 for cancer research.

While those figures are heartwarming, it's perhaps not surprising that people support cancer research so well. After all, there are few families, if any, that have not been touched by cancer in some way.

Terry Fox's courage and resolve has inspired a nation, indeed the entire world, to keep the tradition of his journey alive through annual events such as the one held at Maple Ridge Sunday.

And in the 16 years that Terry Fox Runs have been held in the area, close to $70,000 has been raised. That's a lot of money, and it's a significant contribution to the fight against cancer.

Cancer is a terrible disease, there's no question. But it's encouraging to know that medical technology has given us treatments, that care is available for patients, and that research continues every into unlocking the mysteries of the disease.

We can always hope for a cure, and all those who organized, participated in and made pledges of support can take pride in the knowledge they're playing an important role.

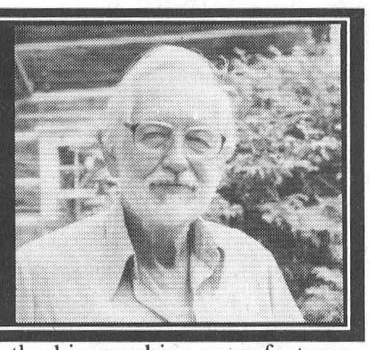
Cross Roads

By Clarence Cross



Today I am surprised to see so many fields of corn through the countryside. My father, like most farmers with 100 acres of land, grew only about 10 acres of corn. It was cut in September, blown into the silo as ensilage for the cows during the winter. We had no shelled corn.

The pioneers grew quite a bit of corn (called Indian corn), which they let mature in the field. The ears, which were broken off and dried, led to the happy occasion of a husking-bee. Young men and women would gather in the evening for this event. (I won't call it work.) When a fellow found a red ear (that is, with red kernels) he had the privilege of kissing any girl in the circle, if he could catch her, which he rarely failed to do.

In my youthful days, there were several varieties of seed corn available from dealers. What you wanted was a kind with a generous stalk and lots of ears. This gave moist roughage, which helped to keep the cows regular, and good nutrition from the kernels. We borrowed a special corn planter from the Smith brothers, which sowed two rows about three feet apart, and at the same time marked the next row with an outrigger arm. Most farmers, like Arthur Ball's father, Abram, used a grain drill, on which they plugged up some of the holes in the seed box.

Soon after the corn sprouted and the rows were clearly marked, we rooted out the weeds between the rows with a cultivator, either walking one drawn by one horse, or a two-row riding one drawn by a team, which you steered with foot-pedals. This cultivating was repeated as needed, until the corn was hip-high. Of course, this didn't get rid of the weeds in the rows, and this was where we boys came in, with our hoes. It wasn't a bad job, and you learned how to keep your hoe sharp.

For the harvest, we had a corn-binder, drawn by three horses, which cut the corn and bound it with twine. The sheaves would be taller than a man, and a good armful. The kernels were plump and juicy. Occasionally there would be a worm in the ear, or the whole ear would be full of black smut. Some farmers, like Abram Ball, who didn't have a silo, would stook the sheaves in the field, and as needed during the winter, would put a chain around a stook and draw it to the barn.

There were two kinds of silos, both built of wood. Ours was made of tongue-and-groove vertical staves, held together by iron hoops. The other kind was the scantling silo. At the saw mill you bought two-by-four scantling, which you cut to about a six-foot length. With these, you built a round skeleton frame, of diameter 12 or 14 feet, doubled scantling at the bottom and single spaced above. This was lined with vertical planks as the frame went up, to a height of 25 feet or so. You can still see the odd one of these around the country, but none of the stave and iron hoop ones, as far as I know. Most silos had no roof. There would be a chute built along the side next to the barn, with doors opening into it from the silo at intervals. There were also a few silos built inside the barn.

Now we are all set for the silo-filling. For this you needed a special outfit, made by one of the big machine manufacturers. My father had one built by International Harvester, driven by a 10-20 tractor. He filled the silos of seven or eight neighbors, who changed work to provide the necessary help. For hauling they had special corn wagons, long and low-slung, with the stringers beneath instead of on top of the axles. There would be perhaps four men in the field, several teams and wagons depending on the hauling distance, a spike-pitcher to help the driver unload the sheaves, a man to feed the sheaves into the cutter and blowers, and one or two men in the silo. There was enough variety of work to fit all ages and abilities: an older man could drive a wagon; a youngster could tramp the ensilage in the silo. Father kept the machinery and the whole operation in good running order, sharpened the spare set of knives on his emery wheel at home, and was a general trouble-shooter. And of course he was responsible for all the planning, moving and setting up.

One day was usually long enough to fill a silo, but often there would be a refill after the ensilage had settled. Trouble arose if the pipes clogged, or if a small stone embedded in a sheaf damaged the knives. This was usually an accident, but once in a long while, it was the result of a grudge by one of the men, or perhaps he was hot and tired, and wanted a break. He wouldn't realize that this could have caused a dangerous accident.

After some years, father bought a new machine made by Gehl and sold, I believe, by Tom Faulkner at Morewood. It was the first of its make in this area, and was a big success with my father. Silo-filling outfits, like all farm machinery, were being constantly improved. I recall stories of an early type called the Blizzard, which had a bad reputation for safety, and more than one man lost a hand, or part of an arm, while feeding the corn into the rollers. Some early models used a carrier rather than a blower to get the chopped corn into the silo.

There were, of course, quite a number of custom silo-filling outfits in the area, some owned by Stanley Sullivan, Arthur Baker, Will Cassidy and Sheldon Ball. And some farmers had their own outfit so that they, with perhaps one or two neighbors would fill their silo a bit at a time.

Before closing, I must mention the important role of the farm women who fed this gang of men their noon meal. Usually one or two neighbor women came to help with this special event. Extra tables were set up and chairs brought in. There was considerable rivalry among the women to see who could put on the biggest and tastiest spread. After the potatoes, meat and gravy, vegetables and pickles, came a great variety of pies and cakes, all washed down with tea and cold drinks. We teenage boys used to see how many different kinds we could sample. It was a good time for us, but we regretted missing out on a lot by having to go to school.

And then there was the fun: the cut-up corn cobs were ideal for throwing. I remember tossing them from the top of the silo at Billy McElroy, who surprised me by throwing them back, as if he had a gun for an arm. Do kids have fun during the corn harvest today?

Warden warns of downloading

INGLESIDE – Jim Bancroft is steering the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry through one of the most challenging phases in its history.

And that fact was not lost on Bancroft Saturday night as the Osnabruck Township reeve hosted family, friends and colleagues at the annual Warden's Banquet, held at the Lancer Centre in Ingleside.

"The year 1997 will, in the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, be remembered for a number of significant occurrences, some of which will influence and impact on our future municipal structure," Bancroft said in his address.

Amalgamation will mean major changes, at the municipal and county level. Twenty municipalities will become six as of January 1, 1998, and the new county council will have 12 seats, not 37.

While Bancroft acknowledged the counties is still waiting for information from the province necessary to design the new counties council, he noted a positive – "That our restructuring was conducted and made to occur by local initiative and determination without the involvement of a provincially-appointed commissioner, and hopefully, this has resulted in the kind of restructuring that will be workable and appropriate for our local circumstances."

But in the meantime, preliminary numbers are startling. Bancroft admitted concern that provincial downloading will make the new scenario a challenge. Bancroft said based on current data, downloading will result in a counties-wide property tax increase of $18.9 million, which equates to an average property tax increase of 89 per cent or higher - while the property tax base cannot sustain a further burden of that magnitude. In other words, Bancroft said, the province must assist municipalities in supporting downloaded services.

"That message has been delivered, and we can only hope that it is being heard as an ardent plea for mercy on behalf of all property taxpayers in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry."

While the impact of amalgamation and downloading was the key focus of Bancroft's address, the banquet was also a time for giving thanks, and having fun.

Bancroft called his wardenship "an enlightening and rewarding experience" that will provide him with lasting memories "of what I believe will be the highlight of my municipal political career."

Bancroft acknowledged the support of the people of Osnabruck Township and the support of his counties council colleagues and United Counties staff.

He also thanked Osnabruck's municipal staff, especially clerk Betty de Haan, who has been selected to become clerk of the new South Stormont municipality.

Bancroft's wardenship in effect came prematurely. He took the reins in June after warden Leslie O'Shaughnessy resigned the post after an unsuccessful bid as a PC candidate in June's federal election.

In that way, there were two SD&G wardens in 1997. And O'Shaughnessy's half-term was duly acknowledged Saturday night. He thanked those who supported him as warden, and noted the dedication of his successor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Support available for Addison's

To the editor:

Addison's disease is a rare endocrine or hormonal disorder that affects about one in 100,000 people. It occurs in all age groups and affects males and females equally.

Addison's disease occurs when the body's adrenal glands do not produce enough of the hormone cortisol, a hormone vital to life.

There is a support group. The Canadian Addison's Society was formed in Perth in September, 1994. At present, we have 150 contacts across Canada, a local branch in Brantford and plans to form an eastern Ontario group soon, as numbers are growing there. This is partially due to endocrinologists telling their patients about our group.

We are planning a meeting on Saturday, September 27 in Trenton at the Wesleyan Church on Dixon Drive at 2 p.m. The speaker, Dr. Twumbarina, an endocrinologist and internist, will answer questions about the disease, written and submitted beforehand.

For more information, contact G. Fraser at (613) 394-4644.

Merkley hopes to share Alaskan adventure

Rich Thorpe
Record Staff

Chesterville resident Rodney Merkley, right, spent the summer as a volunteer with the Student Conservation Association in the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge in Alaska. In addition to patrolling a part of the 2-million acre park, Merkley along with fellow volunteers Kate Crowell (left) of Buffalo, New York and Penny Bauder, of Kalamazoo, Michigan had the opportunity to experience the uniqueness of Alaska first-hand in several canoeing and hiking excursions.

CHESTERVILLE — Rodney Merkley wants to share his Alaskan adventure with the public.

The 21-year-old graduate of the University of Guelph has just returned to Chesterville after spending four months in the Kenai Peninsula of Alaska.

Merkley plans to offer information seminars on his experiences to schools and area groups over the next few months.

The Chesterville native had the opportunity to volunteer with The Student Conservation Association at the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge, which is located about two hours south of Anchorage.

"I've always liked the outdoors," Merkley said. "It was a dream come true to have a two-million- acre playground."

Thanks to the encouragement of one of his professors, Merkley was able to fulfill one of his lifelong ambitions.

"I wanted to get up north this summer," he said. "I was exploring opportunities in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon as well as Alaska. It just happened to work out to be Alaska."

The Student Conservation Association pays the travel expenses of participants and provides housing and meal money.

"It's a great organization," he said. "There motto is add a season to your life. It was unlike anything you would be able to experience around here."

The refuge, located on the Kenai Peninsula is a microcosm of Alaska's habitat, Merkley said.

"The refuge is huge," he said. "There were so many places we got to go to that the paid staff wouldn't get to patrol."

The refuge featured 50 miles of maintained hiking trails plus dozens of lakes and rivers allowing Merkley the chance to experience "my favorite part of the summer," canoeing.

Despite being in the far north, Merkley said the temperatures were actually quite pleasant.

"The temperature ranged between 20 and 24 degrees," he said. "I had brought my woolies with me, but most of the time I spent wearing my shorts and sandals. That myth of Alaska was broken for me."

For about two months of his stay, the sun never set.

"I didn't see the stars for about two months," he said. "By the end of my stay, the sun was setting about 10:30 p.m. You start losing about seven minutes of daylight. Fall lasts about a week. The leaves change color and then the snow starts to fly."

He also enjoyed the chance to go on extensive hikes during his free time.

"We went on two great hikes on our days off," he said. "One was 40 miles long and the other was a 26-mile hike. I'd never been on a big hike like that. It was wonderful to spend a summer outdoors."

He plans to share his experiences with area elementary and secondary school students.

"I'd like to visit some schools and give slide presentations," he said. The focus of his presentations can be very flexible, Merkley said.

"I can speak to students in kindergarten through to high school," he said. "I can speak to environmental and outdoor education classes. The Student Conservation Association has a very strong conservation and environmental ethic. They are a very sound environmental group."

Although his northern adventure is now at an end, Merkley is planning another excursion in the late winter and early spring to Guyana.

He's been accepted to participate in Youth Challenge International's mission to Guyana.

In order to participate, Merkley needs to raise money for his travel and living expenses.

He hopes to solicit support from area service groups and is interested in sharing his Alaskan experiences.

"It's going to be a different experience going to Guyana," he said. "It's going to be a different lifestyle. I'm interested in learning about international development and the problems faced by Third World countries."

Merkley's strong sense of responsibility to assist the less fortunate is one of the motivating factors in his decision to become involved with Youth Challenge International.

"I feel as a Canadian that I feel somewhat accountable to share my God-given gifts with those less fortunate. I need to use the gifts that have been given to me wisely."

Merkley has three speaking engagements lined up for the next few weeks. He'll be at Trinity United Church in Chesterville on Sunday, Sept. 28 at 7:30 p.m. He will speak at Winchester Public School on Tuesday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. On Wednesday, Oct. 1 he'll be at the Heritage Centre in Chesterville for an event sponsored by the Chesterville and District Historical Society. To book a speaking engagement, contact Merkley at 448-3237.

Mrs. Folkard was dear mother of Donald (Shirley) of Vankleek Hill and Doris Folkard of Winchester. She will be fondly remembered by three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She is predeceased by her husband, Arthur J. Folkard, and brothers Gordon and Milton Wyatt.

Funeral services were held September 12 at Daniels Funeral Home in Winchester and were officiated by Rev. Heather Jones. Interment was at Springhill Cemetery, Vernon.

Pallbearers were Jeff Folkard, Michael Folkard, Harold MacMillan and Dale McMillan.

Legion News Branch 434

The legion is still looking for a family member or relative of a service member, who gave their life in the First World War or Second World War, also to take part in the cenotaph unveiling ceremony on September 28 at 2 p.m. Phone 448-3105 for more information.

The cenotaph itself is starting to take shape. The foundation was put in the ground a couple of weeks ago and last week the new base was put into place. The centre section of the top will be moved from in front of the village office, cleaned and polished, then put into place. Next week the two wings, with the names engraved on them, will be put into place along with the flagpole. In next week's paper it will give all the details for the unveiling ceremony.

Over the past few months there have been a lot of changes in the legion especially the executives of the legion and ladies' auxiliary. Some changes that are of great importance are: poppy chairman, Ken Holland 448-3468; hall rental, Mac Feeley 448-3523, Vern Williamson 448-3105; membership, Gord Machardie 448-1050; sec./treasurer, Bernie Curran 448-2099; hospital equipment, Ginnie Morrison 448-3481, Eva Desjardins 448-9087.

Due to the fact that you do not have a legion uniform does not mean that you cannot take part in the cenotaph unveiling and Remembrance Day parades. The main object is to show respect to those who gave their lives so that we can live in peace.

Notes from St. Mary's

Welcome to a new year of books, friends and teachers. The halls of St. Mary's have reverberated with excitement these past few days, and now everything's settling in.

The school looks beautifully polished. Don't miss your chance to see it on September 25, at our open house.

There is also an even more conducive reason than usual – we're having a silent auction of gifts as a fundraiser for the new playground equipment presently being shopped for - what fun for the kids, too.

St. Mary's School is collecting pop cans from students, parents and anyone else as a fundraising supplement.

Join your children in their celebration of Mass at St. Mary's Church on Friday, September 25 at 9 a.m.

Crimes in Roxborough

ROXBOROUGH TOWNSHIP -- OPP are seeking the public's assistance in solving trecent incidents in Roxborough Township.

On Friday, Sept. 12 at approximately 8:30 p.m. four males wearing masks gained entry into a Roxborough Township residence located along Highway 138.

The intruders confronted the elderly male resident demanding money. During the confrontation, the victim was sprayed with what appeared to be a repellent of some sort. There were two elderly females in the residence at the same time. One was thrown to the ground during an altercation. She received minor injuries.

The first suspect is described as being heavy set, about six feet tall and between 185-200 pounds. He was wearing long pants and a grayish mask and spoke English.

The other three suspects are described as being generally the same size. All were wearing masks.

On Sunday, Sept. 14 a residence on Sandringham Road in Roxborough Township was entered sometime between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Entry was gained by prying open a door on the east side of the house. Stolen were a electronics and tools.

Anyone with information regarding the three incidents is asked to contact the Upper Canada Detachment of the OPP at (613) 534-2223.

Thank You

We would like to thank some very helpful people for their help over the past year.

Roy & Marlene - For everything from looking after Brianna from the first day, to taking numerous pictures. For storing some of our things, to just being there when everything seemed to be falling apart. Oh, yah, all those meals, and your porch when we didn't have one.

Gary, Tanya, and Haley - We know that it must have not been easy to have three people take over your house for all those weeks. It took a lot of patience and love.

Charlie Graham - Your heart was in the right place. We do understand why you wanted the town council to agree. We realize that you really did want to help.

Our Neighbours - The Gassers, The Berkvens, and The Meldrums - Thank you for signing the letter for the town, again we know that your heart was in the right place. It also must not have been easy to have to live with all that havoc on your street.

The Gassers - We can only imagine the heartache that you have been going through with trying to sell your house. Again we are so sorry.

Karen & Lorne Neville - You opened your house up to us without a question.

Jack and Susan - For the many hours of looking after Brianna and your help

Our Co-Workers & Friends - You listened to our problems and heartaches, wiped our tears and lended a hand.

Dad and Lynn - For your toll free number (1-800-DAD) and love.

Mom, Russ and Trina - For your support and love.

The Chesterville Record - For keeping everyone up to date.

Novatech - You have been very friendly and helpful, always treating our house like it was your own.

Peter VanKessel - For more heartache and sleepless nights.

Town Council - For making things as hard as you possibly could and for wiping your hands clean.

Roy Mills - For your help with our fight at City Hall. We might not have won but we sure did look good and, we turned some heads.

Ted, Andy, Jeff, Jack, Roy, Karen, Lorne, Marlene, Bert & Betty - The quick move went smoothly.

Bert & Betty - For caring for Rocco.

And to everyone even the ones that we forgot who was there for us, we really did appreciate it and will always be grateful. Thank goodness our nightmare is over.

Ein prosit!

A true taste of German tradition unfolded under the big top Saturday night in Avonmore as the community held its annual Oktoberfest celebration. Above, Roxborough Agricultural Society president Cathy McRae serves Avonmore's Joe Kulpa with a brewed beverage. And right, the Montreal band Edelweiss was once again on hand to provide authentic German music for the event. Avonmore's Oktoberfest also featured authentic German foods such as Oktoberfest sausage, sauerkraut, potato salad and oodles of German desserts, made by Inge Loos. German beers and wines made the evening complete.

Transition teams preparing next stage of DHC mergers

CORNWALL — A transition team is expected to be appointed within the next month to oversee the restructuring of the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario.

The District Health Council of Eastern Ontario held a special meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 9 in Cornwall to discuss the implementation of restructuring.

Beginning January 1, 1998, the number of District Health Councils in Ontario will be reduced from the present number of 33 to 16.

The District Health Council of Eastern Ontario, which services SD&G, the counties of Prescott and Russell and the City of Cornwall will be merging with Renfrew County and the City of Ottawa.

A transition team made up of representatives from each of the three present DHCs will be working with a team from the Ministry of Health to oversee implementation of the restructuring process.

A work plan outlining the various planning and administrative tasks has been developed.

"The basic principles and values that DHCs have agreed to when the process began last fall will guide our work," said Lorne Lawson, chair of the DHC of Eastern Ontario. "We will ensure there is a strong local voice for the five counties of Eastern Ontario and that the smaller rural populations are not dominated by larger urban centres. Representation on the new council must reflect our communities' geographic, socio-demographic, linguistic and cultural make-up."

A chair will be appointed and the transition team will begin to make recommendations to the Ministry of Health by next month. These will include representation on the new council, office site location and staffing. Lawson expressed the council's concern that staff be given fair treatment and noted that the Ministry has supported this.

"A human resources redeployment plan is under development and we sincerely hope that our staff will move forward in the new system," he said.

Although restructuring is taking place, Lawson gave assurances the work of the DHC of Eastern Ontario will continue.

"DHCs will continue to plan for health services including hospital restructuring and impact planning activities," he said.

The council is currently examining its health planning priorities and it will continue on-going activities in relation to long-term care, mental health, and speech and language services for pre- school children. The council's approach to integrating French health services in health planning will also be maintained, he said.

Films and fowl the focus at UCV

MORRISBURG — Motion pictures and geese in motion highlight the attractions this month at the Parks of the St. Lawrence.

Four productions are scheduled to be filmed at Upper Canada Village during the month of September.

"Les Loyalistes" was filmed from Sept. 2-4 by Societe Radio Canada. Several segments shot at Upper Canada Village will be incorporated into a half-hour documentary on the arrival of the Loyalists. Once completed the Loyalist segment will air in France, Belgium, Switzerland and many African countries.

"Love of the Land" is the working title of a television mini-series which will air on CBS around February 1998. It is currently being shot at Upper Canada Village until Friday. The movie stars Peter Strauss and Rachael Ward in a tragic story about an Ohio farm family from the 1860s to 1905.

The Church of the Latter-Day Saints will be at the village from Monday, Sept. 22 to Sept. 25 shooting a yet to be titled film. The movie will represent early Mormon settlements and many of the extras will be members of the church from surrounding areas.

GalaFilm will be producing a four-hour-long docu- drama on the War of 1812. The film will air on TVO, the History Channel, British TV and other stations. Two groups of military reenactors will be participating in the production. Along with the filming, an encampment will be set up outside the Village from September 26-28.

The public is welcome to view the filming process as well as enjoy the sights and sounds of an 1860s living community.

Be sure to set Sunday, Sept. 28 aside for the seventh annual Waterfowl Day at the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary.

Among the many activities planned are displays by waterfowl carver Rob Foster and wildlife artist Brenda Carter.

A children's activity tent has been set up with games and activities planned.

The Mohawk community of Akwesasne will display art and perform Native songs and dances.

The daily goose feeding program at 2:30 p.m. attracts between 1,000-3,000 Canada Geese allowing the opportunity for close range viewing.

Established in 1962, the Sanctuary is a 2,400 hectare home to more than 150 bird species, such as American black duck, blue-winged teal, mallard, wood ducks and mammals such as white-tailed deer.

The sanctuary is located 14 kms east of Morrisburg on Highway 2 or six kms west of Ingleside.

For more information about any of the Parks of the St. Lawrence events, call 1-800-437-2233.

Wyman Barton announced last week that he will not seek at seat at the North Dundas council table. Barton, a retired school prinicpal, has served three consecutive terms as Winchester Township's deputy reeve and says he has many fond memories of his time in office. And he hasn't ruled out a comeback in the year 2000.

Barton announces he's taking a break from municipal politics

Health concerns play role in deputy reeve's decision

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE – Winchester Township deputy-reeve Wyman Barton is thanking the people of the township for their support during more than a dozen years as a municipal representative.

Barton announced last week that he will not seek election to the new North Dundas council, but will instead take a break from municipal politics.

Health concerns were a key factor in Barton's decision. He said doctors have been monitoring a heart condition for several years, and it was recently confirmed he will require surgery within the next six months.

"They told me I was a good candidate for surgical treatment, so I would be very foolish to refuse it," Barton said Monday.

Barton notes a coincidence in his announcement, involving Ben Franklin, the Nepean mayor with whom he went to teacher's college.

"Here he is the same age as I am, making the same announcement, for the same reason."

Barton has served three consecutive terms as deputy-reeve of Winchester Township. Before that, he served a term as a councillor, with a brief break in between the two posts.

But in moving away from municipal politics, Barton says he'll retain fond memories of the people he's met and the things he's learned about Winchester Township.

"I'm always amazed when I drive through the township at how much knowledge I've obtained."

Barton says the most satisfying aspect of his municipal duties came in waste management, an issue he worked at tirelessly. He looks back today at the recycling program and permanent hazardous waste facility with pride.

Barton will continue his involvement with the local provincial PC riding association. Barton's presidency of the association will end Saturday at a meeting near Monkland, but he looks forward to his role as past president.

And Barton is keeping the door open to municipal politics in the future, keeping an eye on the anticipated election in the year 2000.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

LUSSIER - In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Marion, who passed away September 18, 1994.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they left behind.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just in all her days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
Gerald, Trudy and Dale

IN MEMORIAM

ELLIOTT - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Eldon, who passed away September 18, 1995.
It's lonely here without you
We miss you more each day
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away.
Love always
Eva, Denis
Dennis & Emily

IN MEMORIAM

LALONDE - In memory of a dear dad and grandfather, Anatole, who passed away September 20, 1996.
His charming ways and smiling face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Dale, Jeannine, Donnie & Todd

IN MEMORIAM

PRICE - In loving memory of a dear wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, Dorothy, who passed away September 16, 1996.
You were someone we could talk to,
No one can replace
You were someone we could laugh with
Til the tears ran down our face
You were someone we could turn to
When we needed a helping hand
You were someone we could count on
To advise and understand
God saw you getting tired
When a cure was not to be
So he closed his arms around you
And whispered, "Come to me."
A golden heart stopped beating
Two busy hands at rest
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.
Our family chain was broken
And nothing is the same
But as God calls us one by one
The chain will link again.
Our hearts still ache as we whisper low
God bless you we miss you so.
Sadly missed by
Stanley Price & Family

IN MEMORIAM

DALE - In loving memory of Merv who died September 17, 1991.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts,
Of those they left behind.
We miss the funny things you'd say,
The things you used to do,
We miss your smile, we miss your laugh,
But mostly we miss you.
Grace Dale & Family

IN MEMORIAM

LALONDE - In memory of my dear husband, Anatole, who passed away September 20, 1996.
Some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand, dear,
In heaven, that happy life.
Yvette

IN MEMORIAM

LUSSIER - In loving memory of a dear daughter, Marion (nee Munro), who passed away September 18, 1994.
When family ties are broken,
And loved ones have to part,
It leaves a wound that never heals,
And also broken hearts.
A smile for all, a heart of gold,
One of the best this world could hold.
Never selfish, always kind,
These are the memories she left behind.
Lovingly remembered

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING REPEAL OF DEVELOPMENT CHARGES BY-LAW

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Roxborough will hold a Public Meeting under Section 6(7) of the Development Charges Act on the 7th day of October, 1997 at 7:30 p.m., in the Roxborough Township Hall on Tolmies Corners Road.

The purpose of the Public Meeting is to consider repealing the Township's Development Charges By-law so that there will be no development charges for new development within the Township once the Township has been re-organized into the new municipality of North Stormont.

ANY PERSON may attend the Public Meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed repeal of the Development Charges By-law.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed repeal of the Development Charges By-law is available from the Clerk's Office during normal business hours.

Dated at the Township of Roxborough this 11th day of September, 1997.

Mary J. McCuaig
Clerk-Treasurer,

In all, the 141 golfers at the tournament raised over $20,000 for WDMH.

"The Goal" replayed in Finch Thurs., Oct. 23

Paul Henderson guest speaker at Finch father and son dinner

FINCH – Where were you on September 28, 1972?

It's a question most Canadians can answer without a moment's hesitation. If you weren't in Moscow, you were glued to your TV set to watch Team Canada battle back to win the first Hockey at the Summit series against the then Soviet Union and the image of Paul Henderson's heart stopping goal with 34 seconds remaining in the final game is forever seared in the national consciousness.

Now you can have a chance to re-live that moment during the 25th anniversary year of what was probably the finest hockey series ever played when Henderson visits Finch Thurs., Oct. 23 for the community's father and son banquet in the arena hall.

Henderson's goal has been frozen in time, his upraised arms forming a V for victory as he is embraced by linemates Phil Esposito and Yvan Cournoyer on the poster that adorned every kids' bedroom wall and commemorated on a coin issued by the Canadian mint last year.

"The Goal" will be replayed on a large-screen television and Henderson will share his story, both on the Hockey at the Summit series and on his ministry for Campus Crusade in Toronto.

He has written a book, Shoot for Glory, which shares the highlights of his hockey career – he played in the NHL from 1962 to 1980 and was a member of the Toronto Maple Leafs at the time of his series-winning goal and when the Leafs last won the Stanley Cup. He has also produced an inspirational tape, The Goal of Life, and he and his wife are involved in a special speaking engagements, conferences and marriage preparation programs.

Proceeds from the evening will go toward the new elevator in the Finch Arena.

There will be a roast beef dinner and entertainment by the C-Way Valley Barber Shop Chorale and Quartet.

Barry Brownlee will be master of ceremonies for the evening.

Tickets are $12 for adults and youth; $7 for children of elementary school age, and there is no charge for pre-schoolers. They are available through a number of organizations and stores in Finch and area.

For more information contact Rev. Ross Davis at 346-0158.

Golfers raise $20,000 for WDMH

BOUCKS HILL – One hundred and forty-one golfers raised more than $20,000 for Winchester District Memorial Hospital in Saturday's charity tournament at Cedar Glen Golf Club here.

The tournament was a first for Cedar Glen and marked a return after a year's absence for a WDMH event, which had been held previously at the Upper Canada Course, which had designated the local hospital as its charity for its prestigious Upper Canada Open.

Saturday's tournament was aimed at local golfers and was less competitive than the Upper Canada events, where top flight golfers competed for the tournament championship.

As evidence of the more light-hearted approach of Saturday's tournament was the prize won by Don Beckstead, who had the shot closest to the bedpan placed on the ninth green.

Two four-member teams tied at nine under par for the tournament championship.

The teams consisted of Bob Vanasse Sr. and Bob Vanasse Jr., Mark Vanasse and Lynne Blaine, and Kevin Duval, Debbie Strader, Steve Casselman and Alan Castleman.

Wendy Lane had the women's shot closest to the pin and the longest drive and on the men's side Lyle Schell had the longest drive and Kevin Duval was closest to the pin.

Cedar Glen's Awards Day Tournament will be held this Saturday with a 10:30 a.m. shotgun start scheduled.

The annual club awards dinner will follow the tournament.

Express still seek scoring touch as camp set to open Mon.

FINCH – The North Stormont Express will open open their training camp Monday night as they continue the building process that saw them finish third in the EOJCHL's Blaine-Leroux Division last year.

Chad Brownlee, named the league's top coach in 96-97, will be back behind the bench and he and his assistants, Brian Wensink, Brad Quaile and Dave Hanson, will be searching for the scoring touch that eluded the Express last year and which could make them a contender in the re-aligned, seven-team league.

Veterans, prospects and hopefuls will take to the ice of the Finch Arena at 7:30 Monday night and the team will be back at it Wed., Sept. 24 in preparation for the next night's opening of the exhibition schedule when the Express host the Vankleek Hill Cougars. They will play again at home Sun., Sept. 28 against the Long Sault Vipers, who will be out for revenge at the Express edged them out of third place on the final weekend of the 1996-97 regular season.

Ten and possibly 11 members of last year's team will be back with this year's edition of the Express.

Returning will be right winger Mike Reimer, forward Mike Kilroy, centres Julien Benoit, Randy McLeod and Michel Yelle, right winger Jason McDonald, winger Chris Young, defencemen Jason Yelle, Josh Graham and Ryan Swerdfeger. Goaltender Jason Bright is now trying out with the Clarence Creek Junior B team but may be back, Brownlee said.

The Express chose two members of the Embrun 72s in the league dispersal draft in late August after last year's championship team shocked the local hockey community when it announced that it would not be icing a team this year.

Brownlee said centre Dan Nichols, who had five goals and eight assists in 22 games with the 72s last year, has expressed interest in playing for North Stormont but has to sort out work commitments before making a decision on hockey.

The other draft pick, high-scoring forward Dominic Dicaire, has taken a job in Toronto.

Gone from last year's team are over-age players Dominic Bissonnette, captain Quaile and Lance Ouderkirk; goaltender Mark Wells and Josh Trainer, now with Canton ATC, Eric Lavigne, with Rockland, and Andrew Taillfer, who is attending Belleville's Loyalist College.

Sr. Warriors blank Char-Lan

WILLIAMSTOWN - The Tagwi Secondary School senior boys soccer Warriors are off to a perfect start in SD&G league action.

Tagwi blanked Char-Lan 2-0 on Monday afternoon in their season opener. Steve Dixon and Martin Stucki were the goal scorers.

In the junior contest, Char-Lan turned the tables on the visitors, recording a 3-0 win.

Tagwi's juniors opened the 1997 season last Thursday in Iroquois, playing to a 2-2 tie with Seaway District High School.

Chris Coleman accounted for both goals for Tagwi.

Tagwi returns to the soccer pitch on Thurs., Sept. 25 with Cornwall Collegiate traveling to Avonmore.

Senior Devils, CC draw 2-2, Juniors lose 6-2 in opener

CORNWALL - North Dundas Devils opened the 1997 SD&G high school senior boys soccer season with a 2-2 tie against Cornwall Collegiate on Thurs.,, Sept. 11.

Javier Sebastian and Craig Holmes scored for the Demons.

"It was a well-played game," said senior Devils coach Leslie Waddell. "A lot of our team has played summer soccer. It's just a matter of them getting to know each other. Their skills are very sharp."

The Devils return to action on Thursday afternoon at home against St. Lawrence High School Saints. On Monday, North Dundas hosts St. Joseph's Secondary School. Kick off time for both contests is 2 p.m.

In the junior encounter, North Dundas had a devil of a time against the Raiders, dropping a 6-2 decision. Scoring details were unavailable at press time.

Four-man scramble at Upper Canada course Sun., Oct. 5

Brockville Country Club's Teri DeLuis coasted to her second consecutive Upper Canada Golf Course Ladies' Open invitational championship on Tues., August 26.

DeLuis shaved 10 strokes from her 1996 winning score to lead the field of 120 women representing 24 golf clubs in the second running of the event. Upper Canada's recently crowned club champion, Kelly Simpson, was DeLuis' closest contender with an 83.

The women enjoyed wonderful weather and although superintendent Randy LeClair had the course in immaculate condition, only 10 golfers managed to play to or under their handicaps.

Also selecting gifts from a table of over 80 prizes were Cedar Glen's Bernice Whittaker with a 90 for the B flight win and Lisa Bailey from Iroquois Golf Club with a 100 in the C flight.

Low net winners were Upper Canada's Judy Taylor with a 69 in A, Ida Palmer of Iroquois with a 69 in B and Cathy Reviere of Summer Heights with a 70 in C.

Kelly Simpson won second low gross in A flight, Nicole Landriault of Summer Heights won second low gross in B with a 97 and Carole Davies of Picton claimed C flight with a 102. Second low net winners were: Louise Pineault of Whitlock Golf and Country Club in the A flight, Brenda Ramsay of Cedar Glen in B and Donna Jeacle of Upper Canada in the C flight.

This year's event was sponsored by Poirier Furniture, Pinkus Tires, Howard Johnson Inn, The St. Lawrence Parks Commission, Spalding Canada, Labatt's and Janet Podleski who donated copies of her no. 1 best selling book in North America, "The Looney Spoons Cookbook".

Be sure to mark Sun., October 5 on the calendar for the 4-man scramble event taking place at the Upper Canada Golf Course.

The Upper Canada Golf Course is located 1 1/4 hours southeast of Ottawa (11 km. east of Morrisburg, Ont.) off Highway 2, exit 758 off Highway 401.

For further details or to register, please call 1-800-437-2233.

Express open camp

Local prospects who have a good chance of making the Junior C squad include James Rolland of Maxville, who played AA midget with Cornwall lasts year, and Berwick's J-F Gagner.

Rolland is "big and will create scoring opportunities" and Gagner was the leading scorer last year with the North Glen-Stor Midgets.

"We've got some local kids who know how to play the game," Brownlee said.

The Express are looking at increased point production from Benoit, who Brownlee says improved his point production last year and has the potential to be a 40- to 50-point scorer.

The coach said he has high hopes for Reimer, a late-season addition in 1996-97 who quickly demonstrated a deft touch around the net.

"It should be a competitive camp. We're looking at some goaltenders and we're still looking for someone with that scoring touch."

Manager Peter DeRooy and trainer Brad Hunt are also back with the team this year.

Express golf tourney Friday

BOUCKS HILL –The sixth annual North Stormont Express fundraising golf tournament will be held at the Cedar Glen course here Fri., Sept. 19 with a four-player scramble start from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m..

Cost of the round of golf and a steak dinner, to be held at the Finch Legion from 5 to 7 p.m., is $35 but players with pledges of at least $50 will not have to pay green fees. Cost of the supper alone is $15.

No change in Finch 97-98 arena rates

FINCH There is no change in ice rental rates at the Finch Arena for 1997-98, according to Finch Village clerk Madeline Brown.

Rates for the upcoming seaosn will remain at $90 plus GST an hour for hockey and $85 plus GST for broomball during prime time hours and $65 (including GST) for non prime hours.

Prime hours are after 4 p.m. on weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday.

The ice surface is being installed this week in preparation for the opening Mon., Sept. 22 of the North Stormont Express's training camp.

For information regarding the availability of ice hours contact Brown at 984-2525 or arena manager John DeBoer at 984-2024.

Vipers open camp Saturday

LONG SAULT – The Junior C Vipers will open their training camp at the Cornwall Township Arena here Saturday night.

General manager Rick Waldroff said the team will hold tryouts starting at 8 p.m.

Tryouts will resume Mon., Sept. 22 at the same time and the final night of training camp will be Thurs., Sept. 25, again at 8 p.m.

The Vipers have an exhibition game at home Sat., Sept. 27 against the Rockland Nationals and play in Finch against the North Stormont Express Sun., Sept. 28.

They open their 1997-98 EOJCHL season in Finch Thurs., Oct. 2 and their home opener will be played Sat., Oct. 4 when they host the Casselman Stars.

Fireball Enduro finishes out Cornwall's 1997 racing season

CORNWALL - Three hundred laps of Enduro racing on Sun., Sept. 7 finished the best season Ron Morin's quarter mile oval has seen in 17 years.

Sunday nights were raring with racing action during the 1997 season thanks in large to Mother Nature.

All races, from May through September, ran on their scheduled dates as there wasn't one rainout.

The "Headline Auto Parts" Fireball Enduro attracted 250 entries for four races.

Debbie Gillespie won the women's four cylinder Enduro.

Case Van Winden, who spent the year driving in the rookie street stock class, held off 91 other cars to win the men's four cylinder race.

There were 142 entries for the eight cylinder class, forcing two 100 lap features.

Mike Champaigne, from Cornwall, won the first race while Jim Peters, out of Smiths Falls, held on to win the second feature.

Fox event raises record amount

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE – Organizers of the local Terry Fox Run are beaming with joy after a record amount was raised on a beautiful late summer morning.

"It was a perfect day, both weather-wise and in terms of the support for a very worthy cause," organizer Betty Vanden Bosch said of the Rotary-sponsored event held Sunday at North Dundas District High School. "We couldn't be happier."

Eighty-nine participants walked, jogged or cycled the course, which toured Maple Ridge and Baker Road. In the end, $6,735 was raised for cancer research, plus another $130 in donated merchandise. The total is the highest in the 16-years that Terry Fox Runs have been held in the Chesterville area, in conjunction with similar events across Canada and around the world.

"It's rewarding to know we're helping in the fight against a disease that has affected so many people and their families," Vanden Bosch said, adding 16 Rotarians volunteered their time Sunday morning to register participants and staff checkpoints along the route.

Vanden Bosch said she was treated to a rousing cheer over the telephone from Toronto when she called the local total into the provincial headquarters.

New this year was an award for the top team, for businesses or groups in teams of three and combined pledge money. Top team was from Chesterville's Scotiabank, raising $584.

Chesterville-area resident Margaret Countryman, a perennial supporter of the event, was once again the top individual fundraiser, contributing a whopping $1,530 to the effort.

Also of note were four teams from NDDHS, which collected $497. "I was really touched with the school's effort," Vanden Bosch said, giving thanks to Chrissy Linton for organizing the student teams.

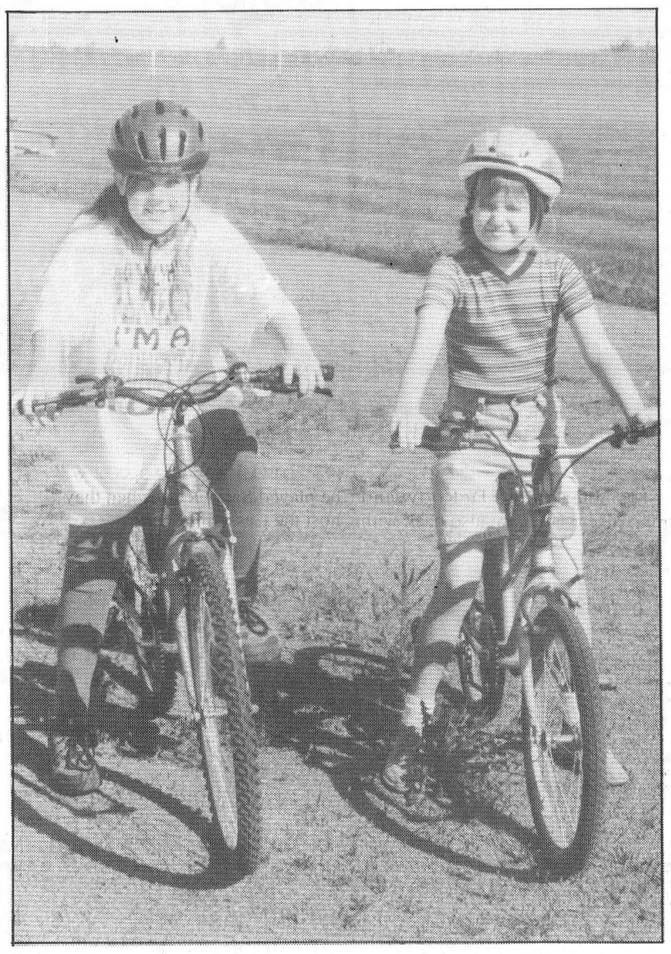
Also out in force Sunday was the Dixon family of Winchester, a family that itself has been touched by cancer and participates faithfully every year. About 20 members of the family raised $2,345.

Terry Fox Runs are held in communities across the world to raise funds for cancer, inspired by the cancer amputee whose heroic Marathon of Hope in 1980 was cut short when the disease spread in his body. Fox died shortly afterward, but the Terry Fox Run has lived on in his name, and since 1982, has raised more than $180 million for cancer research.

Locally, amounts of about $6,000 were raised in 1982 and 1983, but since then, totals have averaged between $3,000 and $5,500.

But Sunday's record amount of more than $6,865 means almost $70,000 has been raised locally for the battle against cancer.

Rotary thanks local merchants who donated the cheese, apples, ice cream, chocolate bars and drinks that kept participants and volunteers refreshed during the event.



Helping raise funds for cancer research in Sunday's Terry Fox Run were, top photo from left, Bernard, Katrin and Thea Chouinard of Morewood, and bottom photo, Elyse Lefebvre and Amoree-Lynne Courville, both of Crysler. Local residents walked, ran and biked to raise a record $6,735 under Sunday's perfect skies.
