New telephone number for OPP

The Ontario Provincial Police now have a new 1-88-310-1122 phone number for police service. The new, single, toll free 1-888 number allows a person requiring OPP service to have simplified access to the OPP from anywhere in the province.

For anyone using a telephone device for the deaf (TDD/TTY) the number is 1-888-210-1133. Calls will be automatically routed to the appropriate OPP Telecommunications Centre.

For safety reasons, the OPP are ensuring that the existing phone and TDD/TTY numbers across the province remain active until the end of 1998. This is to address any occasion where someone under stressful circumstances might dial one of the previous 1-800 numbers.

No other police service numbers will change. All other numbers will remain active.

Officer appointed for strike vote

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

CORNWALL— The Education Relations Commission has appointed a person to act as Returning Officer in the vote scheduled for English Catholic elementary teachers November 29th.

If an agreement is reached beforehand between the teachers and the Board, the vote will be for ratification. But if talks are unsuccessful, a strike vote will take place. Teachers will be voting throughout the schools during recess and at noon hour.

The English Catholic Teachers Association and the SD & G Separate Board were to resume talks here Tuesday, following permission from the mediator appointed by the Educations Relations Commission.

"We were given the okay to negotiate, as long as we keep the mediator informed," said Ray Barnes, negotiator for the local unit. Mediator Denise Wilson could not come to the meetings set for November 25, 26 and 27, since she was occupied with other mediation situations.

The elementary teachers had rejected the Board's last offer by a vote of 98.8 per cent and the two parties met briefly on November 19. "There was a lot of discussion but the Board's position was basically unchanged," Barnes said.

The teachers had made it clear items such as benefits and preparation time would not be taken away or altered. They strongly endorsed full restoration of increments for experience purposes which younger teachers were deprived of during the Social Contract.

And Ron Eamer, chief negotiator held to the Board's position that "a final offer is a final offer." The Board's last offer has been described as a "concessions" contract, in which teachers could choose from prep time, benefits and lunch supervision to achieve $400,000 in savings the first year.

Last Tuesday evening, approximately 150 teachers held a quiet flashlight demonstration in front of the Separate Board office during the Board's regular meeting. Teachers from the SD & G Separate Board were joined by teachers from the Public Board, the Lanark, Leeds and Grenville affiliate of OECTA, and the Cornwall Labor Council.

The SD & G English Catholic elementary teachers have been without a contract since January 1993. There are currently 240 fulltime equivalent teachers involved.

Public meeting to be held on amalgamation Dec. 5

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—The Village of Morrisburg will hold a public meeting on restructuring on Thursday evening, December 5 at 7.30 p.m.

"We felt the public should know what's going on, even though they don't have any say in the matter," said reeve Gord McGregor.

Council will delay passing a resolution for or against the proposal, and delay filling out a form outlining details about the new amalgamated municipality, until after the public meeting.

McGregor added the public will be given an opportunity to show support or opposition to the amalgamation proposal as outlined by the SD & G United Counties.

"And if people don't want amalgamation, we'll draft a resolution that the people are opposed to it. If people are upset, they can voice their frustrations against the provincial government which is doing it," he continued.

"At least people will have a chance to understand and they will realize it's not us that's doing this. We'd like to remain with the status quo, but it's coming like it or not," McGregor said.

According to the Counties proposal, the 20 municipalities could be restructured into six municipalities, while retaining a two-tier system of government. The Village of Morrisburg, Village of Iroquois, Williamsburg, and Matilda Townships would become one township.

The Ministry of Municipal Affairs has repeatedly stated that municipalities will not be allowed to retain the status quo as an option. The province has asked municipalities to have their draft restructuring proposals by the end of the year. If municipalities are not ready with their proposals, the province will have a commissioner do it for them.

Asked his opinion of the accountants phase 11 study, based on 1995 figures and an equalized assessment, McGregor said figures of today may be different than figures over the long term.

The report estimates $215,000 in amalgamation costs in the first year, $450,000 in annual savings, and in the net asset method of equalization, an estimated -7.56 per cent on the amalgamated mill rate for Morrisburg during the first year.

"I don't see how there will not be an impact in view of the government and recommendations of the Who Does What committee. If they take the lion's share of education as indicated, and not give grants to municipalities, how would this lower taxes and still provide service to municipalities? There's a lot on the plate now," McGregor said.

Deputy reeve Dirk Testerink said he has had five or six inquiries about the possibility of a public meeting. "This is the biggest issue the Village Council could make, whether to dissolve itself. I'm not sure it will be for the better, but I guess time will tell."

For restructuring to go through, at least 11 of the 20 municipalities representing a majority of electors in SD & G must approve. The approvals are sent to County Council for another vote, with at least 28 of the 55 votes in favor.

By the November 18 meeting of County Council, a majority of municipalities had agreed, including Williamsburg Township. However, Morrisburg, Iroquois, and Matilda Township have not yet responded.

In South Glengarry, Lancaster Township and Lancaster Village, and Charlottenburgh Township have agreed. Four municipalities in North Glengarry have not replied.

In North Dundas, Mountain Township and Winchester Township have agreed, while Winchester Village and Chesterville Village have not responded. However, Chesterville has held a public meeting, and reeve Jim Cook is reported as negative to the proposal.

The Village of Iroquois was to consider a resolution to amalgamate with the three municipalities in South Dundas on Tuesday evening. There are no plans for a public meeting at this point until more information is available.

From letters it receives from the municipalities, the executive committee of Counties Council will form a draft restructuring proposal to present the province.

Education cuts protested today

LAURIE DAY
Leader Staff

CORNWALL—A province wide vigil to protest the controversial cutbacks and changes to education will take place November 27th, at the offices of MPP John Cleary in Cornwall, and at MPP Noble Villeneuve, Moose Creek, at 10 a.m.

"Parents know these changes are happening too fast with too little planning," said Deborah van der Heyden, local spokesperson for People for Education."

"Parents know they have not been consulted, and they know most of the changes in education are being made just to cut $1 billion that the government needs to fund its tax cut. And parents know that these cuts are affecting the classrooms of their children."

Van der Heyden said that parents are concerned about the proposed elimination of the OAC year, and feels it would be 'catastrophical.'

As a parent of four children, she hopes the protest will let the government know about their concerns, and what it is taking away from the children.

"What more can this government take from education, particularly when they campaigned on a promise that their cuts will not affect the classroom?"

She says there are a lot of unanswered questions, and parents are criticizing the government for increasing class sizes, cutting music programs, junior kindergarten programs in other cities, and reducing special education and library funding.

If people cannot attend the protest, they are asked to write their MPPs or Education Minister John Snobelen regarding their concerns.

In Cornwall, Cleary's office is at 404 Montreal Road, and Villeneuve's office is on Main St. in Moose Creek.

Parents will be carrying placards with the names of their schools and the number of children at those institutes. They will also be carrying letters from their schools expressing their dismay at the cuts which have already occurred and at the government's plan to continue to cut.

Christmas Carol

Scrooge will be played by well-known local actor CHARLIE MARSDEN. The cast numbers over 40 people, ranging in age from 6 to 62. Also participating in this production are the well-known SEAWAY VALLEY SINGERS, directed by Michael Goodwin.

Backstage there are almost as many people working on props, costumes, and set as there are on stage. Each of the three departments has five to 10 people working very hard to make this a spectacular production.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL will run from December 13, 14, 20, 21 at 8 p.m. and December 22, at 2 p.m. Advance ticket sales are brisk, and the public is advised book early by calling the Upper Canada Playhouse Box Office at 543-3713.

Time is running out for upgrading

MORRISBURG—The end of November is approaching, and the deadline for improvements to the exterior of the dilapidated property at 42 Park Street. Council had reached an agreement with property owner John Allison to do the work by November 30, to comply with the Property Standards bylaw.

"If not completed, then Council will discuss what action is to be taken," clerk Cheryl Tynski said.

At a September council meeting, building inspector and by-law officer Art Carkner recommended the building be demolished. But Allison agreed to upgrade the house as required, and hired a contractor to do the work.

As well as exterior work on the roof and windows, some work remains to be done on the interior, and porches, with completion expected in the spring.

Contacted Monday, John Allison said he had no comment on the matter.

Local councillors concerned

Problems with new riding boundary

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

WILLIAMSBURG—While issues of municipal restructuring occupy municipal councillors, another restructuring issue concerns local politicians.

The realignment of provincial to federal riding boundaries may be easier to implement than the amalgamation of municipalties. But according to Williamsburg Township resident and former councillor Trevor Tolley, this will be a drastic change, and not for the better.

On November 8, Tolley and Wyman Barton, Winchester Township deputy reeve met an all party committee of the Ontario Legislature in Ottawa to express concerns over provincial riding realignment.

As announced in the Common Sense Revolution, the province intends to change the boundaries of the provincial ridings to be the same as those of federal ridings. The move is intended to save money by cutting 30 provincial representatives.

But Tolley said there is not the same need to keep the Legislature the same size as the House of Commons, that the size of the provincial legislature is very manageable, in view of Ontario's large size. "This and the best size for effective representation should be paramount criteria in considering any change," he stated.

He was concerned that the change would create a new "dissonance between the municipal and provincial areas of governmental representation."

The existing United Counties are almost identical with the provincial riding of SD & G, except for Charlottenburg Township, which is in the Cornwall provincial riding, and East Grenville, which is not in the United Counties. However, the United Counties do not include the City of Cornwall, but the City of Cornwall is part of the federal riding of Stormont/Dundas.

"This might not seem devastating: but the present municipal separation reflects important differences, and also protects the rural area," Tolley said.

Cornwall's economic basis originates from being a center for utilizing wood from the surrounding region, and wood-based products are still its main industry.

"Cornwall, additionally, is in no way a center for the agricultural activities of the surrounding counties. There is hence no community of economic interest between Cornwall and the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, which are largely agricultural." he continued. The largest urban area in SD & G is the Village of Alexandria with a population of 3,300.

"The present arrangement of boundaries ensures that the special interests of these rural areas are well and clearly represented at Queen's Park," Tolley continued.

However, the proposed new riding would contain the present Cornwall provincial riding, as well as three townships from Stormont County and all of Dundas County.

"The population of the present Cornwall riding is slightly larger than the population of the entire riding of SD G and East Grenville. The present Cornwall riding would remain intact and its population would be far greater than the population of the remainder of the new riding."

"The voting power would be in Cornwall, and it would seem inevitable that the representative would come from the City of Cornwall. This has always been the case for the present federal riding of Stormont/Dundas. In view of the fact that the concerns and interests of the City of Cornwall are so divorced from those of what would be the remainder of the new riding, the representation of the rural interests would be dramatically diminished," Tolley said.

He noted a motion by Noble Villeneuve, the member for Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville in November 1992, was passed by the Ontario Legislature. It asks the next commission on redistribution of Ontario electoral districts, to consider the creation of three classes of constituencies, urban, urban-rural, and rural, "to limit the geographic area of rural ridings and to a lesser degree that of urban-rural ridings, as well as the number of organized municipalities a member must represent."

On behalf of the provincial Progressive Conservative riding association, speaking for people in northeast Glengarry County who do not want to leave SD & G, Wyman Barton objected to the separation of northeast Glengarry County from the new riding. A number of residents in Kenyon and Lochiel Townships and the Lancaster area are very upset that their communities will be in Prescott Russell in the new realignment.

"We asked for their consideration to retain Glengarry. On account of its historic basis as part of SD & G, to keep SD & G together," Barton said.

However, the PC Association was unconcerned about the inclusion of the City of Cornwall in the new riding. "As the Premier has announced, we have to cut representatives by 30 members. We recognize that in order to make savings, we have to lead by example," Barton said.

The legislation to change boundaries is to go back to the Legislature for a third reading. A committee holds hearings every 10 years on redistribution of Ontario electoral districts.

Canadians becoming more creative

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—While current times are characterized by instability and the disappearance of traditions, there are a lot of good things happening in Canada today.

"People are getting more inventive in Canada today, more creative," Professor Niki Rebin told last Tuesday's meeting of the Canadian Club.

Although this inventiveness is inspired by necessity during difficult economic times, it is a also a positive sign of Canadians' resilience. Rebin pointed to the new Complementary Medicine Institute, founded by Dr. Tzuchi in British Columbia as a creative partial solution for some of the problems in an expensive Medicare system.

Here people are treated with a variety of techniques, including chiropractic, aromatherapy and massage. And they are finding that some of the healing techniques which have been used in China and India for thousands of years are very effective.

Another creative individual realized children were not getting important poetry lessons in school, and founded the "Poetry Institute of Canada," sending flyers to schools across Canada, and asking children to write poems to contribute to the anthology.

Realizing that teddy bears bring a sense of warmth and security to those who hold them, another creative person hit on the brilliant idea of sending teddy bears to hospitals and institutions.

"Every one of us has a creative idea in our head that can make a difference, " Rebin told the appreciative crowd.

In a relatively brief speech on "Today's Trends are Shaping Canada's Tomorrow," Rebin touched on many topics affecting Canadian life, spicing each with personal anecdotes and lively humor.

The daughter of diplomat parents, Rebin is a native of Saskatchewan, and raised as a rugged individualist, scholar and world traveller.

An outstanding researcher, she has attained three degrees with distinction, and is a professor of psychology and communications at three Canadian campi. She is currently completing a PHD in Psychology on the topic, "How to Get in Control of your Life," and counsels individuals and corporations on today's trends and patterns of behaviour.

Duelling fiddlers draw double standing ovation

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Violinists Edward Minevich and Frank Leahy drew a double standing ovation from Saturday's audience at Upper Canada Playhouse.

The listeners enthusiastic applause was not reserved for the end, but punctuated the performance along with toe tapping, foot tapping and singalong as they felt inspired.

From jazz to classical chamber, country, ballroom and folk, the pair showed their expertise in a wide variety of music. Spectators delighted in the antics of "the duelling fiddlers" as each tried to vie with, and outperform the other.

The beginning was highlighted when Minehy and Leahy rivalled in serenading a lady in the audience. In the finale, each admitted the excellence of each other's music and his medium.

The audience also learned the difference between a fiddle and a violin is much more than $14 plus an hour, "it's in the way you bend the bows."

A resident of Waterloo, Frank Leahy is known as a Canadian champion of fiddle music. Minevich emigrated from Russia 20 years ago, and has played in chamber groups, and symphony orchestras in Victoria, B.C. Regina, Saskatchewan, Calgary, Alberta, Thunder Bay in Ontario and New Brunswick.

As well as classical, Minevich loves jazz, and light music like the Bosanova. While the two have known each other for many years, they started playing music together three years ago.

"We played jazz together and enjoyed it, and put different styles together. We find it very interesting to put styles together, and to play to an audience who doesn't normally come to symphony halls," Minevich said.

The pair is in the midst of preparing a second show called "Road to Carnegie" to go on tour by March. They were accompanied by Toronto drummer Al Cross, bass guitarist Willy Jarvis, and pianist Alan Laing of Stratford.

Bending the Bowes was the first performance of the Winter Series. The Arrogant Worms , a group of three young musicians with clever arrangements, fun and spirited lyrics, and a variety of music including Celtic country, Reggae, and gospel are scheduled for Marcl 1.

Prepare for winter driving

Especially in winter, driving on Canada's highways and side roads can be hazardous. Most of us dread the thought of getting stuck during a storm or having the vehicle break down on an icy stretch with no help in sight. However, drivers can help reduce the danger they and their passengers could find themselves in by planning ahead.

SAFE GUARD partner, Emergency Preparedness Canada, offers the following suggestions on what to do before you start a winter road trip and what to do if you find yourself stranded in the cold.

Plan for emergencies. Consider membership in the Canadian Automobile association or other emergency road service. If you do a lot of winter driving off the main roads, you might also consider having a cellular phone in your vehicle to call for help. To help avoid breakdowns, always make sure your car is in good mechanical condition, and that you have ample gasoline for the trip. Also make sure that your snow tires or all-season radials are properly inflated and not too-badly worn.

Heed weather warnings. Listen to the local weather forecast before you set out on the road. If you hear warnings of severe winter weather conditions such as blizzards, heavy snow, freezing rain or high winds, venture out in your vehicle only if necessary.

If you must be on the road, keep listening for weather warnings on the car radio, so you can adjust your route and other travel plans, if need be. If conditions get worse, don't press on. If the going gets tough, turn back or seek refuge. Try to keep to main roads. Let someone know your expected time of arrival and your route.

Dress for the weather and carry extra winter clothing with you in case your car breaks down or you get stuck. Always have a hat, warm coat, boots, socks and mittens. Without a hat, you can lose up to 60 per cent of your body heat.

Carry an emergency kit. Keep a flashlight, first-aid kit and sleeping bag, or warm blanket (or a space saving light weight "space" blanket with you in the car and consider carrying the following items in the trunk, even if you do mostly city driving: shovel, sand-salt mixture (or kitty litter which is lighter), tow chain, warning light or flares, warm clothing like footwear and mitts, emergency food (cookies, candy bar, etc.), booster cables, ice scraper and brush, waterproof matches and a 'survival' candle in a deep can (to warm hands or use as an emergency light), fuel-line de-icer, winter windshield fluid, traction mats (carpet or cardboard) and a fire extinguisher.

Get your car tuned up and checked out. Winter weather presents the greatest challenge to vehicles and their engines, so prepare for winter driving with a tune-up. The following systems should also be fully checked: battery and charging system, ignition system (wires and distributor cap), lights (make sure headlights are properly aimed), brakes, tires (all four tires should have the same treat pattern for even traction), heating and cooling system (rad and hoses, anti-freeze, thermostat, heater, defrost, water pump), winter windshield wipers and fluid.

If you do get stuck or if your car breaks down, don't panic. Avoid over exertion and exposure to the cold. Try to dig yourself our only if you are in a safe area and if the effort will not be too arduous. Otherwise, stay in your car, especially at night or during a storm so you will have shelter. Don't risk exhaustion or getting lost or frozen by setting out on foot to get help.

Keep some fresh air in the vehicle by opening the window a crack. Run the motor sparingly so you won't wear down the battery. Beware of exhaust fumes and ensure the exhaust pipe is not blocked by snow. Remember, you can't smell potentially fatal carbon monoxide.

You can run the car engine about 10 minutes every half hour if the exhaust system is working well. Set out warning lights or flares. Put on the dome light if it gets dark. Overuse of headlights will run down the battery.

Keep warm. Put on extra clothing. Don't fall asleep. Keep from freezing by clapping your hands and stomping your feet. keep watch for traffic or searchers.

Do not drink alcohol as it inhibits clear thinking and lowers the body temperature after an initial warming effect.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles by Laurie Day

Recreation committee chairman, Richard Waldroff, admitted that people attending the meeting to support or oppose a proposed $2.8 million recreation facility for Osnabruck Township were displeased with the project. About 85 people showed up at Röthwell-Osnabruck School to attend a special meeting for the final review of the master plan, and the presentation of the feasibility study. It was obvious from the comments made, that the price tag was too heavy. "How can we afford $2.8 million when we can't look after what we have now," said one person present.

The Morrisburg and District Co-operative preschool situated at the old high school here, received a grant of $2,900 from the Ministry of Community and Social Services. Some of the toys purchased with the grant included: an indoor gym, stereo with turntable and cassette deck, a sandbox, some furnishings for house play, puzzles, games, books, Fisher Price toys, a paint easel and Lego sets.

Seaway High School curlers Tim Rosenquist, Gord Johnston, Chris Lane and Daryl Morrell, advanced to regional play in the Pepsi Junior Men's Challenge following play at Gananoque over the weekend. The previous year, the foursome was ranked second in the province.

Headlines in the Friday, December 10th issue of The Leader read: Pretty Wedding at St. Mary's Church. Margaret Elaine McInnis and Samuel Albert Laurin were united in marriage on Saturday, November 27th, at a 3 p.m. ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Morrisburg. The marriage was officiated by Father F. O'Connor. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Ruby Bell and guests were ushered in by Robert C. McInnis, brother of the bride, and Chuck Lawlor, friend of the groom. Russell Cameron was best man, and Valerie McInnis was the maid of honor.

Morrisburg voters went to the polls in good numbers and when the voting was finished, two brand new members of the municipal council were named, as well as one new member of the local Hydro Commission. Reeve Bill Dillabough, and deputy reeve Carleton McInnis, were previously acclamated. In the contest for the three council seats, incumbent, Al Belan-ger was joined by Dr. Gerry Rosenquist and Harland Veinotte. Left behind were Ed Jones, Fred Hill and Roy Brister.

Morrisburg Junior Lions took a firmer hold on first place with two wins over the weekend, moving six points ahead of second-place Winchester. The Lions had four tough games coming up later in the week week Winchester, Cardinal and Kemptville.

Construction was scheduled to begin immediately on a new 60-bed nursing home for Dundas County in Winchester. The announcement was made by John Alguire of Ingleside, who was granted a licence earlier by the province of Ontario. It was estimated that the construction of the home would take about six-and-a-half months to complete.

The Leader reported that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Fraser, a well-known and respected couple in Morrisburg, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary with an open house held at their home on Lakeshore Drive.

Work had begun on the filing in of the Cardinal canal, a project which was to cost $468,000. A new causeway, to replace the present bridge, was to be built and the canal west of the causeway was to be filled in. The remaining portion of the canal and the bank was to be transferred to the town of Cardinal and $30,000 was to be paid to the town for future maintenance.

"Most exciting" was Marie Louise Funke's attitude toward her latest venture at Carleton University, Ottawa, where she held the post of assistant Professor of Art-History under David M.L. Farr, Dean of the Faculty of Arts. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Funke, well-known Morrisburg residents who came to Canada in 1948, Miss Funke was born in Duseldorf. She spoke French, German and English fluently and studied at Queen's University in Kingston.

Mrs. David Seeley, the former Sara Hess and a resident of Morrisburg, celebrated her 95th birthday on November 15th.

Headlines in the November 23rd issue of The Leader read: Reeve and Council acclaimed. There was to be no election in Morrisburg as the reeve and present council had been elected by acclamation at the nomi-

Seen And heard Around the town

Angels are now flying around the local banks. Well, besides the staff that is. Jack Notman, and the Morrisburg Lions Club have put up the annual Christmas Angel Trees, and now it's up to us to help give a kid a Christmas. The public is invited to select an angel which has a child's age and sex inscribed on it. Then, provide a new gift that child and attach the original angel identification tag to that gift. Make sure though, you don't wrap the gift. The Lions Club members wish for these angles to be gone very soon, and the gifts returned by December 13th. Please help make a child in our area happy on Christmas morning, who might otherwise go unnoticed. Make it a family Christmas project and lets show how youngsters the true meaning of Christmas.

The second annual Santa Claus Parade will be taking place Saturday, December 7th, at 10:30 a.m. Then that same afternoon, from 4-6 p.m., a Christmas party will be held at the Operating Engineers Training Institute east of Morrisburg. As an added bonus, if you shop in Morrisburg, you could win up to $4,500 in prizes and gift certificates. By filling out ballots with your purchases at any Morrisburg store, you could win $1,000 for first prize in gift certificates, $500 for second and third, and 20 prizes of $100 each in gift certificates will also be available PLUS two vacation package prizes. For more information, contact the Business Improvement Association, Morrisburg, or Earl Baker at 543-4556.

The Morrisburg Lions Club will be holding their annual Seniors' Christmas Party on December 10th at the Morrisburg Civic Centre at 7 p.m. Entertainment, (live...as opposed to not-so-alive), refreshments and lunch will be provided. There is also transportation available from Williamsburg leaving at 6:15 p.m., and from Morrisburg leaving at 6:30 p.m. To arrange a ride, call 535-2460, 543-2568 or 543-3908. The Lions Club is expecting a large crowd again, for this very popular event.

Rumor has it Kenneth Chung is going to have a great vacation away from home in December. Kenneth is representing the Morrisburg Figure Skating Club, and will be participating in the Divisionals at Baie Comeaux. Lenora Martin, who is a member of the club executive, says the divisions will be held at Baie Comeaux (which is a 12-hour bus ride from Morrisburg) because their original rink in Quebec was too low. She said that because of the low ceilings in the arena, the risk to the skaters being tossed in the air and getting bonked on the head was too great...thus the trip up north to polar bear country was inevitable.

Santa will be making a pit stop at Rooney Feeds in Iroquois on Saturday from 8-12 noon. This is a special Pet Day with Santa, and ol' St. Nick says that he welcomes all kinds of pets, but is shying away from those boa constrictors. "Ho ho ho, I don't think I'll survive another visit like that one last week here at the North Pole," he said from his cell phone at the toy shop Tuesday morning, as he prepared for his many approaching appearances in and around the village. There will be treats for good little puppies and kittens...and ducks...and rabbits...well, you get the drift. So bring your pet and take a snap shot with Santa at Rooney Feeds.

Seaway This Week

By Sarah-Jane Whittaker

Congratulations are in order to Seaway's Healthy Lifestyles Committee: Shannon Boyd, Adam Millard, Heidi Tibben, Lindsay Waddell, School Health Nurse Candace Smith, OPP Constable Lummiss, Substance Abuse Prevention Worker Serge Perrault, Miss Diane Schultz, Mrs. Sandy Decker, Mr. Irv Francis, Mrs. Leslie Birtch, Miss Sarah Lewis, Vice-Principal Clair Winchester, and Mr. Scott Corden.

In recognition of their innovative work concerning health issues such as drug and alcohol use, Seaway District High School was chosen the official launch site for Ontario's Drug Awareness Week of November 18-22, with the theme, "You've got the Power". The purpose of this week is to make students aware of the choices, consequences and responsibilities that surround drug and alcohol use.

Seaway was host to may special events during the week. On Monday, our school held an assembly to kickstart the week. Dancers performed choreography to the week's theme song, "You've got the Power". Canadian high jump champion Leslie Estwick, spoke to the student body about some of the difficulties she faced during her school career.

Tuesday featured the presentation of a video to the students about drugs, alcohol and impaired driving. OSAID sponsored a Mock Cocktail contest. Congratulations to Miss Kristine Flaherty and Mr. Scott Corden for submitting the winning entry. The RCMP presented an information booth on Thursday featuring a drug kit and Breathalizer, and provided pamphlets for interested students.

On Friday, a device that simulates a vehicle collision, known as the seat-belt convincer, was available for use and a multi-media presentation was held to end the week.

Thanks to the Healthy Lifestyles Committee for their ongoing dedication to making Seaway drug-free. Their work has resulted in this excellent achievement and exception opportunity.

Sandra Van Allen (left) says she not quite sure which one of her grandchildren will get the bicycle she won from Jug City this week. The $300 Clipper 18 speed mountain bike was the prize from Old Grandad's potato chips promotion at the new convenience store. She thinks though, that it may be a gift that gets passed down in the family. Winning the barbecue were Ted and Cora Teupah of Morrisburg. Ted says he thought Doug Cassell (owner of the store) was joking when he called him to say he'd won the prize.

nation meeting. Also elected by acclamation was Ed Jones as Hydro commissioner. Council members returning were Reeve George Beavers and councillors Harry B. Duvall, J. Arthur Edgerton, A. Wallace Guay and Malcolm D. Wilson.

Nominated for the position of Reeve in Williamsburg were Graham Wells and Donald Kyle. For deputy reeve, Mason Robinson, Graham Wells and Berniece Froats were nominated, and councillors nominated were Ross Hess, Mason Robinson, Johnny Whitteker and Harold Marcellus.

The November 27th issue of The Leader reported E. Matthew Beckstead, Edgar Whitteker, E.A. VanAllen and Oscar Beckstead had been nominated for the position of Reeve in Williamsburg. Seeking the position of deputy reeve were Charles M. Whitteker, Ross Hess, Edgar Whitteker, E. Matthew Beckstead and Oscar Couglar. For councillors, there were John E. Barkley, Ross Hess, Fred McMillan, Ezra McMillan, Frank Darling and Oscar Couglar.

At Morrisburg, Arthur Flynn and Edward Foster were after the reeveship, and those nominated for councillors were John Harback, James E. Charistensen, Peter Zeron, William Larmour, Nelson Morton, Fred Broder, Irwin Hilliard, Benjamen Carr, Jane Dillen, Alex Shannette, Chas. C. Stubbs, Ralph Fetterly, George M. Gorrell, O.W. Duprau, George Meikle, John F. Casselman and Arthur Flynn.

At Barkley's Meat Market, red onions were 25 cents a 15-pound bag, and tender roast beef was 10 cents a pound.

Madam Ann, the famous reader, was to be at the St. Lawrence Hall the last weekend in November. The charge for a teacup reading was 25 cents.

Printed in the November 26th issue of The Leader was a notice from A.C. Hilliard which read: Bootleggers in Morrisburg, yes. If it gets your boy you have the law to help you get him. If liquor stores get your boy you have no help. That is what the liquor store is for - to sell liquor to our boys. Think seriously before you go into the liquor business. It may be your son or daughter who will go down. It was election time again and Ontario voters were looking to the issue of Ontario Temperance supported by the Liberal party. Liberal-Conservative candidate John McCormick wrote, "There is a demand for liquor in the Province which was evident by the enormous legal sale of $5,225,000 through doctors' prescriptions and $30 million worth supplied to our people by Bootleggers. Who should control this sale, the government or the bootleggers?" The people were to answer this question with their vote on December 1st.

R.H. Bradfield and Co. was advertising beautiful 96-piece dinner sets for $19.45. One of the new popular Royal Blue Band decorations, the pieces were made of the finest white shape heavy glaze, with deep blue border band, a heavy matt gold edge and gold hair line, and half matt gold handles.

Ex Tiger Cat wraps up drug awareness week

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—Last Friday ex-Hamilton Tiger Cat Greg Gary gave a strong plug for positive activities replacing drug and alcohol abuse.

Gary, the busy coordinator of the Drug Awareness Partnership was invited to help Seaway High School wrap up activities during Drug Awareness Week. Serge Perrault, with the Eastern Ontario Health Unit specifically asked Gary to help "bring in a power play" or multi-media event.

The Ontario Drug Awareness Partnership represents all major provincial addiction organizations and individuals involved in promoting health. Serge Perrault, who is on the Seaway Lifestyles committee and ODAP had recommended Seaway High because of the terrific activities conducted by the Lifestyles Committee last year, and the way in which they worked and involved the community.

The school was subsequently chosen as the launch site for Drug Awareness Week activities for all Ontario high schools.

Once at the school, Gary had to agree that good things were happening here. "Seaway High is probably doing some of the best work I've heard about in the province as far as making sure kids get information," he said.

"I haven't been to a high school where I've seen this kind of commitment to the work yet. SDHS is on the cutting edge when it comes to working with youth, and providing activities for drug awareness week."

Gary shared some thoughts and experiences with the students, including the sad experience in his youth of a friend who had died of a crack cocaine overdose. This experience and his good fortune in having some "incredible adult role models who took the time to talk to me had a powerful influence."

Raised in Los Angelos, Gary had played for the Los Angelos Rams, and successfully studied for a B.A. in Psychology from California State University in Fullerton. After he stopped playing football for the Hamilton Tiger Cats in 1987, Gary worked for "Sylapps" a maximum security system for young people in Oakville.

"Almost every kid who came in there, had some issues around drug and alcohol usage. And I didn't think it was a coincidence."

Gary added he didn't enjoy the environment he was in, and this experience convinced him he wanted to be on the front end of health promotion and prevention "before kids actually end up at Sylapps." He went on to obtain a diploma in Addiction Research at McMaster University, and eventually was employed by the Ontario Drug Awareness Partnership.

There are several alternatives to drug use, Gary said. "The biggest one is to feel good about yourself. That probably comes from reaching goals, setting goals, and being physically active, and having a good home life. Probably the school environment plays a big role in whether or not the kids will be exposed to drugs and alcohol usage."

"Primarily, kids need to feel capable and have some control over their environment, and that they are able to make choices," he continued.

In Toronto, activities included a Youth Drug Awareness Night at the Skydome, to which 200 youth were invited and a locker-room chat between the Toronto Raptors and some 50 young people. There was a launch at a housing community in Toronto, and a dry dance planned in Huron County.

After sharing his message, Gary distributed prizes for the poster contest. First-placed winner was Grade 11 student Sheri Adamson, who walked off with $50 in prize money from Ontario Students Against Impaired Driving (OSAID), and a bag of goodies from Ontario Drug Awareness Prevention (pins, pencils and hacky sacks).

Second-placed Grade 10 student Linda Birch won a medium pizza, while third placed winner Michael DeJong won ODAP prizes.

In two morning assemblies, the junior and senior students viewed a multi-media presentation featuring current music with musical groups OASIS, Gin Blossoms and singers Alanis Morrisette, Jan Arden and movie clips from within the last year.

Lent by the OPP during Friday's lunch hour and afternoon classes, the seat belt convincer was fully booked.

"Students were amazed at the impact at eight km an hour, and imagined the difference between that and an impact at 40, 50 or 80 km. Others got a kick out of watching," Adolescent Care worker Diane Schultz said.

The week of activities included an information booth and display with a breathalyzer shown by OPP Constable Al Lumiss, in whose workings the students were very interested. There was also a display by the Eastern Ontario Health Unit, with pamphlets on drugs, drinking and awareness of associated problems.

"There was a lot of interest in activities this year," Schultz said. "It was very positive for the kids and some staff members who said it was one of the best they had seen. Pardon the pun, but it ended on a 'real high.'"

T.R. Leger graduation

LAURIE DAY
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—T.R. Leger Alternative School honored its 168 graduates at a special cap and gown ceremony at the Cornwall St. Lawrence College Friday evening.

For Morrisburg's Bonnie Whitteker, who had been out of high school for 28 years, the night was something very special.

"They made us feel very special," she said after receiving her Ontario Secondary School Diploma. "It was a wonderful ceremony. We wore caps and gowns, and were given roses."

Whitteker had been studying at Morrisburg's T.R. Leger campus for the past six months, and gained the 10 credits she needed for her diploma. She studied general subjects such as math, science and English.

"The staff there is wonderful, and the (fellow) students make you feel comfortable. I would definitely recommend it for people who need their Gr. 12," she said.

Whitteker left high school before obtaining her Grade 12 after finding out she was pregnant.

"There was no school like TR Leger back then," she said. "And I had to quit school."

After losing her job at Winchester Cheese in July, Whitteker enrolled at TR Leger.

"They told us that no one would even look at (our resume) without having Grade 12," she said. "So that's when I went to the alternative school."

And after just six short months, she had obtained her diploma.

As for another job, she says she hopeful.

"It's tough to get a job. I've had my resume out there from Brockville to Cornwall."

As for her experience at TR Leger, Whitteker recommends it to anyone needing his or her OSSD.

"I was amazed at what the school has to offer. It's a great opportunity, and well worth the effort."

Among the 168 graduates from the school, 24 adults were from Morrisburg and Iroquois areas.

If you would like more information on the TR Leger, school of alternative learning, contact the Morrisburg campus at 543-2375.

Toronto Maple Leafs visit Morrisburg Dec. 7

LAURIE DAY
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—The Toronto NHL "Orion" Maple Leafs will soon be in Morrisburg for a charity match against the local Lions' Club, on December 7, at 7 p.m..

"Tickets are going really well," said Dale Lewis, organizer of the event.

"There will be lots of things going on that evening for kids of all ages (parents too)," he said.

Just for buying a ticket, you will have the opportunity to win door prizes during the evening. You will also be allowed entry to the Civic Centre after the game for a small get-together with the team members.

"But they have to have their ticket stubs in order to be allowed in for free at the Civic Centre," said Lewis.

If not, a nominal fee will be charged.

Santa Claus will make two guest appearances. Actually there will be two separate jolly elves, as one will be handing out goodies to the kids prior to the game up until about 7:30 p.m., then the other will take to the ice between periods to strut his stuff.

"One Santa can't skate," laughed Lewis. "So we called in backup."

Lewis is also hoping that guests won't forget that non-perishable food item, to give to the Christmas Exchange, and or the House of Lazarus.

As well, one lucky Morrisburg person will have a chance to take a shot on the hot goaltender for the Leafs.

"I don't want to say right now who that person is," said Lewis. "But I'll let you know next week."

Available this week, is a bio on all the team players who will make an appearance for the Leafs.

Last week, a team roster appeared in The Leader, but a few changes have been made to that line-up recently.

Peter McDuffe (#1) is a 10-year pro, nine with the NHL St. Louis, Kansas City, New York Rangers, and Detroit. He also spent one year with the WHA in Indianapolis.

Bob Lorimer (#4), has three Stanley Cups, was an all-star defenceman, who played 10 NHL seasons with the New York Islanders, Colorado and New Jersey.

Dick Redmond (#5), averaged better than 10 goals a season as a defenceman over a 13-year NHL career. He played for six NHL teams, however is is best remembered for his great years in Chicago.

Norm Ullman (#7) is a 20-year NHL player with Detroit and Toronto. He is also a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame.

Jack Valiquette (#8) played six years NHL with Toronto and Colorado. He had over 200 goals during his career.

Andy Bathgate (#9) is a former captain of the Rangers. He was a winner of the NHL MVP award, League Scoring Champion, Stanley Cup winner, and four-time all-star and member of the Hockey Hall of Fame.

Keith McCreary (#10), is a 16-year veteran with Montreal, Pittsburgh, and Atlanta. He is also a former captain of both the Penguins and the Flames.

Walt McKechnie (#12) was a member of Team Canada in 1972. He played 16 NHL seasons with six teams, and scored over 600 points.

Bob Attwell (#14) scored the overtime goal to win the Memorial Cup with the Peterborough Petes in 1980. He played in the NHL with Colorado and eight years in Europe.

Glen Sharpley (#16) has six NHL seasons with Chicago and Minnesota. His career was cut short with injury.

Bill Derlago (#18) is a veteran forward of nine years with Toronto, Boston, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Quebec.

In total there was 23 clubs participating in the event. The MFCS was very pleased with the response and effort from the skaters, local businesses, volunteers and the CFSA.

The Gordon Brister Memorial Trophy was awarded on Sunday as well. Gordon Brister was a member of the executive of the Morrisburg Figure Skating Club.

In 1990, he chaired the organizing committee for the inaugural Morrisburg Invitational Competition.

Gordon Brister strongly believed that participating was more important than winning. In his memory the trophy is awarded to the club having the most skater participation at the competition.

This year the winner of the trophy was March-Kanata who had 19 skaters participating.

A special thanks goes out to the sponsors of this years competition, Ault Foods Ltd., Bank of Montreal-Morrisburg, Berry's Pet Foods, Biba, Coopers Sports & Trophies, CS Brooks/Caldwell, GFS Incorporated, Kraft Foods Ltd., Lever-Pond's Inc., Odonto Corporation Ltd., Ontario Provincial Police, Royal Bank-Iroquois, Scotia Bank-Morrisburg, S & F Food Town, Skater's Choice, Subway-Morrisburg, The Village Green, Tim Horton Donuts-Ingleside, Whitteker's Meat Market and all the volunteers.

Junior Silver Lady

Novice Blues

On Saturday, the Morrisburg Novice Blues were off to Athens where the unbelievable goal tending of the Athens #2 goalie kept Morrisburg wondering how they were going to score.

That was until Matt Schwerdtfeger solved the problem and was unassisted at 5:54 for the only goal in the first period.

In the second, Morrisburg opened their lead with three more goals coming from Kevin Phifer, Jordan Tryon and Todd Irven. Assists went to Andrew Peters, Andrew Cassell, Schwerdtfeger and Irven.

Athens kept coming in the third but Matt Van Moorsel turned everything away, as he replaced TJ McManus in the crease to earn the shutout bid. McManus is out of action with a broken foot.

Schwerdtfeger scored along with Irven, and assists came from Peters and Phifer for the 6-0 win.

White Lions undefeated against S.Grenville

November 13th home game score was 3-2. Anthony Levere started the team off at 4:50 into the first period, assisted by Evan Bedzra. Four minutes later, unassisted, Levere scored again. The third marker was fired in by Matthew MacDonald who eased one past the Prescott goalie in the third period. He was assisted by Levere.

In the away game on November 18th, defenceman Chris Sachs scored from the slot at 2:47 into the first period assisted by Tyler Norgaard. Second period at 3:57 it was Bedzra aided by Matthew Hamilton who blasted one by the Rangers' goalie.

With 2:29 left in the third, it was Cory Lanthier with the goal, helped out by Norgaard as they slipped one in making the final score 3-1.

An exciting shutout game was played on November 23rd.

Anthony Levere was hot, scoring four of five goals. He was assisted by Matthew Julien and Norgaard. Bedzra assisted by Brad Francis, scored 39 seconds into the third period for the 5-0 win.

Great teamwork and strong defensive strategy contributed to the team's success.

Morrisburg scored midway through the first and then was held scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Early in the first, Kemptville's Dan Coleman, put one by Troy Sayeau and they did not let up until half-way through the third.

Morrisburg replied at 8:35 in the first period when Nick Dixon netted one on the 73's goalie, assisted by Mike Heffron.

There were 38 minutes in penalties assessed during the game. Twenty minutes to Morrisburg and eighteen minutes to Kemptville.

In the second game of the weekend the Lions came up one short, in a 6-5 loss to the Alexandria Glens.

The Glens opened the scoring in the first period, when Miguel Delisle scored just under two minutes into the game.

Morrisburg then got the go-ahead goal when Mark Brennan put one by the Glens' netminder, assisted by Nick Dixon.

The Lions kept the pressure on and added some insurance to their lead with Corey McAllister's second goal of the game assisted by Nick Dixon and Mark Brennan.

Great EOSSAA showing by Seaway girls as forth seeded basketball team

The Seaway District High School's senior girls basketball team is done for another season, but not without one last ditch effort at the EOSSAA championships over the weekend.

Ranked fourth in Eastern Ontario, the Seaway girls were in every game, losing all three by just a half a dozen points.

Tracey Irven, Megan Gilmer, Shanna Dawley and Jen Morrow provided the leadership for the team, while guard Jen Banford was untouchable. Francis said that there wasn't another guard at the tournament that could come anywhere near her, but she had a bit of trouble sinking her three-pointers. She had some good looks, but they refused to go through the hoop.

In Seaway's first game of the tournament, they played against the number one ranked team, St. Mary's of Brockville, and lost by a slim four point margin. At the half, Seaway was up by six. That loss forced them to the B side of the tournament, where they met the number two ranked team, Vankleek Hill. Earlier in the season, Seaway lost by 35 points to this team, but during their EOSSAA game, they lost by only five.

MFSC Sectional participants
Members of the Morrisburg Figure Skating Club participated at the Sectionals at Ottawa recently. There, Kenneth Chung and partner Allison Murphy finished fourth in Novice Dance and will be competing at the Divisionals at Baie Comeaux from December 10-16. Allen Chung will be the alternate in the Pre Novice division, as he placed fifth at the sectionals. Brennan Martin won the Juvenile Men's division. Also participating at the Sectionals were Brian Law, Liam Martin and Kyle Gervais.

Just Another Day

Laurie Day

If you invent something to worry about, it's never half as bad as you anticipate. You get yourself all worked up over nothing. But it sure doesn't seem like nothing at the time. Then when it's over and done with, you say, "Hey, that wasn't so bad. I actually enjoyed it."

That devil wedding I was all apprehensive about Saturday, was actually one of the best times I've ever had. Except for the part when it snowed so much we couldn't find the car, or the part where we had to blow up the balloons twice because they all deflated, or the part where we had an unwanted visitor make a guest appearance at the reception—it was fantastic.

I even had a tear when Larry walked his sister down the aisle. But cracked up soon after when he refused to give her away.

Friday we both took the day off to help with decorating. By 6 p.m., I was up to my wahzoo in balloons and had O.D'ed on helium. Yes, the kids in the family (myself included) decided to play Donald Duck and we inhaled way to much of that stuff.

I figured that the balloons would be down the next morning, but we spent about four hours blowing them up and tying them down anyway.

In the entrance way to the hall where the reception was to be held, a mural was painted on the wall for the children's play group—which occupies the building five days a week—to enjoy. On the door to the upstairs floor was a wonderful painting of a flying pig.

Well, when the bride-to-be spotted this pig, she just about had heart failure and I took it upon myself to 'fix it up.'

She figured I was going to decorate the door...make it look like a Christmas present with gold foil, a big red bow and works.

But Larry, being the ever so inventive soul that he is, took out the screw driver and hammer and proceeded to pop the pins, and fire the door down the elevator shaft. "Problem solved!"

She never even noticed.

The next morning, as I just knew would happen, all the balloons that weren't taped to the archway were on the floor. I silently screamed an "I told you so" to no one in particular, and went ahead and 'fixed' them up again.

I think some of Larry's logic is rubbing off on me. I shuddered at the thought, but grabbed the tape and stuck them to the wall. Hey, it still looked they were floating. Besides I didn't have another four hours to waste blowing up 12 dozen more of them.

That afternoon, the ceremony went off without a hitch.

As luck would have it, a local OPP constable, who is also a brother-in-law of the groom, was on hand to make sure the unwanted visitor was on his best behavior—he was.

The snow storm put a bit of a damper on the party, but those who attended filled the hall to capacity.

The bride and groom got away to Ottawa for an early flight out Sunday morning to California.

Larry and I landed back at home Sunday, with enough sandwiches, cake, pickles and coleslaw to get us through the winter.

Catholic Women's League hosts speaker regarding Camp Trillium

Murray Ault, retired secondary school teach and former head of the History Department at Rideau High School in Ottawa, was the guest speaker of the Morrisburg/Iroquois Catholic Women's League last Monday.

Following mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church, Ault was introduced by Carol Richer. His topic was Camp Trillium—a camp for children with cancer, which he has been involved with since its inception, particularly with the day camp program. In August, he was appointed to the Camp Trillium Board of Directors. Mr. Ault is the parent of a cancer survivor. During the evening, he dedicated his presentation to the St. Mary's St. Cecilia's CWL.

Love and hope, especially home, is something one has to have an awful lot of when dealing with a having a child with cancer. With srong support from the Canadian Cancer Societyk, Ontario Division, Camp Trillium has given families touched by cancer, anew sense of hope and acceptance, which is vital to their continuing battle against cancer. Over 350 new cases of childhood cancer are diagnosed in Ontario each year.

The programs include winter weekend retreats, year-round youth group programs, preschool groups and matching one-to-one support programs, as well as the residential summer program for Eastern, Southwestern and Central Ontario.

For children with cancer, Camp Trillium is oftern the only place they can enjoy fun and friendships. It's also a time to forget about hospitals and treatments. Camp Trillium is open to all child cancer patients, their siblings and families. The camp does not receive any government funding, and relies on doations, sponsors and benefactors.

If you are interested in more information or sending a donation, you can write: Trillium Childhood Cancer Support Centre, 179 Sydenham Street, Suite 2, Kingston, Ontario, K7K 3M1, or phone 613-542-1113.

Cathie Lortie thanked Mr. Ault for his presentation and following a short coffee break, the regular meeting convened. Last month's minutes were read and the convenor Maggie Smith, read an article taken from the Life Section of the Toronto Star, Monday, September 16th pertaining to the 'Date Rape" drug, Rohypnol. She also expressed her concerns to those present about the importance of drug education for themselves and their families.

At the end of themeeting president Debbie Byvelds reminded everyone of the upcoming Christmas Dinner to be hald at the Morrisbg Legion at 7 p.m. on December 2. A candle light service sponsored by the CWL will be held on Decmber 8 at St. Mary's Church .

The meeting ended with a prayer led by Father Shea.
