Winchester water source worries Russell

Liz Edwards
Press staff

RUSSELL — No one seems quite sure how much water lies underground northeast of Winchester.

But Russell Township council, whose 12,000 residents have used the aquifer in the area as their water source for about 10 years, wants to make sure there's enough for all. Last week, the council officially filed a concern to the Ministry of Environment and Energy about Winchester's plans to use the source as a solution to its water problems.

"We're not trying to prevent, or get in the way of Winchester's plans, we just want to make sure the ministry knows we are very concerned about the future of the aquifer," says Tom Van Dusen the head of the council's communications committee.

"The only real concern is overuse that might eventually lead to shortages for us. We've been on that aquifer for at least a decade, we have sort of first rights on the water supply."

Winchester Village, which has been plagued by a water shortage for decades, has tested a proposed well site on a six-acre plot in Winchester Township on what is known as the Morewood Esker aquifer formation. If all goes well, it could be the source of its water for the next 30 years. The village must be able to draw 325 gallons per minutes to meet its needs, Russell Township already draws approximately 700 gallons a minute from the ground source.

Last fall, engineers hired by the village, tested whether the village's well site had detrimental effects on the water level of wells surrounding the site. Although the final analysis wasn't announced, the team had not fielded any complaints from neighbors. But the aquifer is large, stretching as far away as the Ottawa River according to some sources, says Craig Cullen, the township's waterworks superintendent.

Recently Winchester council has asked for input from other municipalities and interested parties about its project, sparking the response from Russell Township.

"Before our municipality had never seen any reports of anything to do with the wellhead, it's hard for us to comment on something we've never seen," says Cullen.

"They're giving us the opportunity now to at least send in our comments."

According to Cullen, the township has spent time and money studying the aquifer,

High rainfall, sudden thaw floods roads

BRINSTON — Water levels rose dramatically on the South Nation River west of Brinston Monday, covering sections of the Branch and Snowbird Roads.

Matilda Township Roads Superintendent Bob Kuske said the flooding came fast.

"It came up pretty quick. It started at eight o'clock in the morning and was up by four."

Warning signs were put up and Matilda road crews have been monitoring the water level. Bill Horner, clerk-treasurer for Matilda Township, said there was not enough water to warrant any road closure. The flooding covered a field but no homes were affected.

Cameron McGowan, a water resources engineer for the South Nation River Conservation Authority, blamed the flooding on an unseasonably high rainfall.

"We measured 60 mm of rain on top of melting snow. That's unusual for this time of year but the roads closed were those which are normally closed in the spring," said McGowan from his Berwick office.

According to McGowan the water level had peaked by Monday night and was receding Tuesday.

Crime rising in United Counties

by Greg Hewitt

LONG SAULT — Thefts, assaults and robberies are still on the rise thanks to a still struggling economy. And cocaine is emerging the drug of choice in SD&G.

Those are the findings of Ontario Provincial Police district information co-ordinator Sgt. Al Crocker on the release of year-end crime statistics for 1994.

The total number of Criminal Code occurrences reported in SD&G in 1994 was up 9.5 per cent over 1993. The statistics include increases of 8.8 per cent in break and enters, 25 per cent in theft under $1,000 and 32 per cent in theft over $1,000. Assaults rose 13 per cent.

There were eight reported homicides in SD&G in 1994, including a tragic car accident in the Alexandria area that claimed four lives. Another driver, a young offender, was charged with second-degree murder in connection with the deaths.

"I think it was predictable, certainly, for assaults and thefts and I would think we're going to see similar statistics for '95," Crocker said of the figures, noting that the economy has not turned around enough to have an affect on crime.

"When the economy is bad, you have a tendency to see assaults high and you see thefts high," he said, adding that robbery is a key factor in the number of assaults.

The number of criminal occurrences was up 17 per cent in the Winchester detachment area, which includes the northern half of Dundas County. Winchester OPP responded to 516 occurrences in 1994, up from 441 in 1993.

The Winchester detachment figures include two robberies in 1994, compared to none in 1993.

OPP in Winchester last year responded to five drug offences, three of which involved cocaine and two involving cannabis or marijuana-based drugs. Only one drug occurrence was investigated by Winchester OPP in 1993.

There were 31 reported vehicle thefts in the Winchester detachment area last year, five more than in 1993.

Long Sault OPP, who patrol Stormont County, faced 1,153 criminal occurrences in 1994, a jump of 7.3 per cent over 1993, when there were 1075.

The Long Sault figures include a jump in car thefts, from 53 in 1993 to 63, three drug occurrences, none of which involved

Highway 31 travellers under citizen scrutiny

OSGOODE - Don't speed or pass illegally on Hwy. 31 between Greely and Vernon or you will be targeted.

A new unsafe driving reporting campaign planned by the Osgoode Road Safety Committee is ready to get under way, according to organizer Amy Roy of Osgoode Township.

Roy, whose efforts to promote safe driving along Hwy. 31 have led to the formation of a citizen's committee, said reporting forms should be printed and distributed within the month.

The forms have the logo of the OPP printed on the front. Drivers who see unsafe driving acts can fill out the forms with the make, color and license number of the car and drop it off at various locations along the highway.

Derks still irked over dump figures

Greg Hewitt

MAPLE RIDGE — Former Chesterville councillor Martin Derks is still unsatisfied with the Boyne Road landfill site's bookkeeping after a meeting with Winchester Township to explore his complaints.

Derks said, in fact, that he has even more questions after meeting with clerk Nancy Krisjanis January 5.

The township, though, still stands by its bookkeeping and its figures, and is inviting Derks to meet with its auditor to explore the complaints.

Derks raised the issue at a Chesterville council meeting December 14, when he said he had serious concerns about some of the figures in a 1993 statement of expenditures and revenue that was given to council November 23.

He compared the document to the township's audited statement and cited a number of discrepancies and complained it was difficult to tell what money belonged to which municipality, and where other funds had wound up.

"I'm still sticking by my charge of incompetent bookkeeping and if anyone wants to challenge me on that, I'm ready for it," he told the Record Friday.

The Boyne Road site is co-owned by Chesterville, Winchester and Winchester Township, which as the host municipality, handles its administration for a fee amounting to 10 per cent.

Derks said he was also surprised that so few people called him to show support or discuss the matter after a story of his complaints appeared in the Record's January 4 issue. He said four Winchester Township residents contacted him, and two Winchester Township councillors also called him to discuss the matter.

But nobody from either Chesterville or Winchester, the two municipalities that stand to lose if his claims are correct, showed him support.

Derks has been promised a meeting with Winchester Township's auditor, possibly before the end of the month, to further explore his concerns.

His meeting with Krisjanis came after Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau, in response to the concerns, invited Derks to view the Township's books.

Derks also denied comments by Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau that he was sore because he lost an Ontario Municipal Board challenge to the township's development charges, noting he complained about the landfill figures before the OMB's decision on the matter was known.

Cousineau said Tuesday the township still stands by its bookkeeping. He said while some aspects of it might be hard to follow, "It all adds up, it's all in the book."

He said Derks is welcome to meet with the township's auditor to discuss his concerns when the auditor is there for the 1994 year-end report. No date has been set.

monitoring it and designating space in the municipality's official plan for wellhead protection. Now council has hired hydrogeologists to prepare a written response to Winchester's plan in accordance with the provincial environmental process.

Councillors say the township and the village should work an integrated management plan of the aquifer to ensure both the quality and the quaint of the water.

"This isn't a confrontational thing, this is a co-operative thing," says Van Dusen, adding they have forwarded their concern to the village.

However, Reeve Larry Gray says he was unaware the township had contacted the ministry and suggests they or anyone else interested in the project attend the village's open house this Thursday at the municipal building. Two presentation times have been scheduled, one from 3 pm to 5:30 pm, the other from 7 pm to 9:30 pm.

Crime

cocaine and a jump in robberies from three in 1993 to 11 last year.

Morrisburg OPP, who cover the southern half of Dundas County, experienced only a .5 per cent increase in occurrences in 1994, rising to 572 from 569 in 1993.

Drug seizures dropped in 1994 for Morrisburg OPP, from 16 to 11. Only cannabis was involved. Vehicle thefts in the Morrisburg detachment area more than doubled, from 15 in 1993 to 37 last year.

Two OPP detachments in SD&G, though, experienced a decrease in criminal occurrences. Lancaster OPP investigated 505 last year compared to 622 in 1993, an 18.8 per cent drop. And Maxville OPP investigated 317 last year, 10 fewer than in 1993 for a three per cent drop.

There was no noticeable change in the number of offensive weapons complaints in SD&G.

Crocker noted that the increases in thefts and robberies reflected not only the trend across the district, which includes OPP detachments in all of Eastern Ontario, but indeed across the province.

Drugs offences rose 46 per cent across the district, and the amount of drugs seized rose 227 per cent over 1993. Cocaine was clearly the drug of choice.

Crocker frankly predicts the upward trend in thefts and robberies will continue through 1995, and predicts youth violence will become a serious problem in the near future, based on a more violent society and on what is happening at American schools.

Society seems to be somewhat more violent at this stage. I think what we're going to see is more (violence) at schools. Look at the U.S. — there's no doubt these things reproduce themselves in Canada a few years later," Crocker said.

OPP do not keep separate statistics on youth crime, but Crocker said it's something that would benefit police and may start soon.

According to OPP province-wide statistics, the number of traffic fatalities was down over 1993, but the murder rate in Ontario has risen.

OPP in 1994 investigated 537 fatal accidents that claimed a total of 634 people. The figures mark a 17-per-cent-drop over 1993.

OPP credit advances in vehicle safety, such as daytime running lights, side impact beams and air bags with the reduced number of fatalities.

Highway 31

Those reports would then be passed onto local police. Roy said the program, similar to one in Cornwall, is titled Target 31.

"The OPP will basically be running it," she said. "It's like one that's run in Cornwall called Operation Lookout. They look for drunk drivers. We'll be looking for dangerous drivers," she said.

To cut down on speeding along the roadway, Roy, Robert Brown and other safety committee members want to purchase speeding warning signs. Whatever money the fundraising event in Vernon collects, Roy said the township will match it.

"If we raise money to raise the signs, (Mayor) Lloyd (Cranston) indicated that the township would meet us halfway and kick in the other half."

Cranston said that was the township's policy, and he planned to stick by it.

"We have a policy to do this if the group has a good cause," he said. "We'll match it 50-50. If they have the money for half the signs, we'll fund the other half."

Both Cranston and Coun. Doug Thompson were on hand for the third road safety committee meeting, the first time municipal politicians have attended.

Discussion of the forms, fundraising plans, and photo radar were three of the issues discussed at the committee's latest meeting Jan. 11 at the township hall.

Roy said that she's angry with the provincial government's claims that only four-lane highways are targeted for photo radar vans. In fact, she said there were signs up warning of photo radar along Hwy. 7 and Hwy. 45, both two-lane roads in southern Ontario.

Her group has asked both the OPP and the Ministry of Transportation for photo radar on Hwy. 31.

"I wonder why they get it and we don't," she said.

"Someone is obviously lying if they have it and we don't."

Although details aren't yet final, the fundraising dance and dinner is scheduled for Feb. 18 at the Vernon Recreation Centre. Tickets are $6.50 for adults, $4 for students. Comedian Denis Gringon will attend, there will be a spaghetti dinner and dancing all evening.

Break and entry

WINCHESTER — Early in the morning of Jan. 14 Winchester OPP responded to an alarm at The Country Kitchen Dining Lounge on Hwy. 31. A glass door had been smashed. A cash register and a small amount of cash were taken.

Post office re-opens doors

WINCHESTER — Service is being restored for those who want easy access to their daily mail.

As the result of complaints from local customers, Canada Post has aborted plans to keep the local office's lobby locked between 5:45 pm and 8am on weekdays and after 12 noon on Saturdays. Last month the corporation decided to keep the doors open only while employees were there because of repeated vandalism. However, customers who work out of town were upset, saying they would only be able to collect mail on the weekend.

Instead Canada Post will be installing a lock and key system for residents who collect their mail from private boxes inside the lobby. In the meantime they won't lock the building.

However, spokesperson Michelle Simard warns the corporation may have to change its decision if there are any more incidents.

Police blotter

Car stolen

WINCHESTER — A 1984 Dodge Aries was stolen from a parking lot on Caleb Street on the evening of Jan. 14. The car was later recovered in the Newington area.

Attempted truck theft

WINCHESTER — OPP were called Jan. 11 to investigate the attempted theft of a 1995 GMC truck at Drewery Pontiac on St. Lawrence Street. The steering column and one of the windows on the truck were damaged in the attempt.

Hwy. 31 collision

WINCHESTER — An accident involving two vehicles occurred around 10 am, Jan. 10, at the junction of Hwy. 31 and Hwy. 43.

A 1988 Pontiac driven by Elizabeth Ouderkirk was heading west on Hwy. 43 when it collided with a 1993 GEO, driven by Kelly Sullivan of RR#2 Mountain, which was northbound on Hwy. 31. Ouderkirk was charged with failure to yield to traffic on a through highway.

Increase in RIDE charges

LONG SAULT — Results of the local OPP district's holiday RIDE program show an increase in charges for impaired driving.

Of the 35,540 vehicles checked between Nov. 27 and Dec. 31 of last year, 304 had driver's whose blood alcohol level exceeded the legal limit. That is 27 more impaired charges than were laid the previous year, though more vehicles, 45,352, were checked in that RIDE sweep.

Winter fun coming to Vernon

VERNON — It may not seem like winter but it's time to celebrate the season in Vernon.

Spearheaded by residents Jeff and Sue Porteous, the annual Winter Carnival will run from Jan. 26 to 29 and they would like to invite everyone to come and enjoy the weekend with them.

Assuming the weather will be more seasonal by then, a snow/ice sculpture contest is planned to add to the carnival atmosphere. For further information — rules, regulations, etc., call Joyce Young at 821-3161.

The first official carnival event is a kick-off dart tournament planned for Thursday, Jan. 26 with a 7 pm start. Like all other carnival activities it will take place at the Vernon Recreation Centre.

The 13 and under set have a chance to kick up their heels on Friday evening when they take over the recreation centre for the youth sock sop.

Saturday will be a day full of carnival fun as things get under way with the 'all-you-can-eat' pancake breakfast from 8 am until noon. There is no reason to leave hungry and it will only cost you $3.

From 1 pm to 4 pm on Saturday afternoon there is a euchre tournament and card party planned for the adults for a $2 admission fee. It may even have you in a gambling mood and ready to carry on through the Monte Carlo night/auction with an 8 pm start on Saturday evening.

The Monte Carlo night is an age of majority event which in past years was very well attended. There is a $3 cover charge at the door but plan to be there early, say organizers.

Sunday, Jan. 29 is carnival wind-up day. This year the outdoor skating rink has been moved to the Recreation Centre grounds and, weather permitting, will be available for family skating and fun all day.

From noon until 4 pm on Sunday there is a Nintendo/Sega tournament scheduled for the kids. There is a $1 entry fee and prizes have been lined up for the video game wizards. Entries are still being accepted at the Vernon Variety store. For more information call the store at 821-2163.

The 1995 Vernon Winter Carnival wraps up with a Sunday evening pot-luck supper at the Vernon Recreation Centre.

Hawks auction next Wednesday

WINCHESTER—Committee chairman Leroy Empey says all the first annual Winchester Junior "B" Hawks Hockey Club auction needs now is people.

"We have done a super job to this point. All we need is about 150 people to come out next Wednesday night (Jan. 25) and it will be a successful event," he reported Tuesday morning.

Empey says the local business community has been very supportive in donating items for auction.

"Everyone has been great. We now have three weekend trips, two fishing charters, a utility trailer, building materials and two law firms (Ault and Ault as well as Dave Barnhart) have each donated $500 in services. And Ault Foods has donated the cheese for the wine and cheese party."

Empey says over 70 items have been confirmed to date and expects 100 by the time the gavel falls next Wednesday evening at 8:00 pm.

Winchester Auto Auction will have two auctioneers on duty.

The evening will begin in the Winchester and District Arena Hall at 7:00 pm with a complementary wine and cheese party.

For more information call Joel Steele at the CountryBoy Shop (774-3341), Leroy Empey at Mel Johnston Chev-Olds (258-3403) or Bob Porteous (774-2113).

Evelyn Wells died at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Nov. 26. She was 80.

She was born March 20, 1914 in the Melvin Settlement to the late John A. Erratt and the late Christena Dickson. A graduate of Winchester High School, Evelyn later attended Kemptville Agricultural College and married Graham Wells, who survives her.

Over the years, she participated in farming on the family farm with her husband, and she belonged to numerous organizations including the Dundas Farm Safety Council, the Women's Institute, the United Church Women and the Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge Women's Auxiliary in Cornwall. She was also a lifetime member of the Morrisburg Arts and Crafts Association and the Morrisburg Horticultural Society where her flowers took top honors for many years including the Simser Cup and the Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce Trophy.

As well as her husband, Evelyn is survived by three children Mervyn (Lyn) of Ottawa, Sharon (Jim) of Brighton, Carson (Sue) of Nepean, her brother Morely Erratt (Grace) of Cardinal, and her sister Blanche Fulton (James) of Hulbert as well as five grandchildren Bruce, Colin and Fiona Urquhart and Jonathan and Carrie Wells.

Evelyn was predeceased by her brother Gerald Erratt (Doris) of Riverside Heights.

A funeral service was held at the Williamsburg United Church on Nov. 29 with Rev. F.E.A. Macpherson officiating.

Pallbearers included Ted Herriman, Roy Hart, Ed Thompson, Bev Young, Jimmy Crowder and Gordon Garlough. Interment followed at the New Union Cemetery in Williamsburg.

Oddfellows give

Local Oddfellows lodges gave a total of $1,500 to the family of Allen Brooks, 13, of South Mountain. Allen, who suffers from a congenital heart defect stays at the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario. The money goes to help cover the extra costs incurred by the family, travelling and staying in Ottawa. Pictured in the front row are Marilyn Brooks, Jeffrey Brooks, Ron Derraugh of the South Mountain Lodge No. 428, and Rachel Brooks. In the back row are Clarence Mussell of the Osgoode Lodge No. 445, Donald Shaver, also of the Osgoode lodge, Martin Brooks, and Victor Hughes, Grenville Lodge No. 279 in Kemptville.

Group wants OMB to step in

by Melissa Batchilder

MAPLE RIDGE — Steps are being made in Winchester Township to protect existing bingos and prevent the possibility of new ones beginning.

Five local residents have put forward a request to the Minister of Municipal Affairs to recommend to the Ontario Municipal Board that an amendment to the township's official plan be overturned.

In a letter to township clerk Nancy Krisjanis, the component of residents stated it would like to register an appeal against the redesignation of a parcel of land east of the municipal office on the north side of Highway 43.

A copy of the same letter has also been sent to the minister in hopes he will act on the component's behalf in applying to the OMB to hear the case. However, township Reeve Claude Cousineau said that a letter had been received from the minister asking the component to clarify what it wants the ministry to do.

Those making up the component are Dwayne Holmes, Albert Schaafsma, John Cinnamon, Bill Roffey and James O'Gorman.

The letter questions the fact of the redesignation of the land from agriculture to commercial, despite a section in the official plan which states, "good agricultural land will be protected and the agricultural basis of the township will be preserved as much as possible."

Although the component agrees the land in question is not suitable for agricultural use, the surrounding lands are presently farmed extensively. "Many of the proposed uses of the property are far from compatible with the agricultural use and these conflict with the Food Land Guidelines clearly related to council in a letter from the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, dated July 13, 1994."

As well, the group believes there is an ample supply of land zoned commercial available and "at no time in the proponent's (Edsel Byers) application it has been considered.

The letter also states, "existing commercial property is adjacent to villages where the impact on agricultural uses will be minimal and community water and sewage service should eventually be available."

The official plan states council must require the developer to provide appropriate justification that there is a demand for the development.

However, the component says in the letter, "the proponent has not provided any justification for this change other than improving the tax base."

The letter also cites the procedure followed to pass the amendment was not fair, as "it did not allow for the opportunity of those who had previously expressed their opposition a chance for rebuttal or for posing questions."

Winchester Township reeve Claude Cousineau says he assumes the component sent its letter to the minister in hope that he would refer it to the OMB. In that case, adds Cousineau, the cost would be nullified.

"I think the minister will consider it frivolous at best as some of the concerns are non-issues."

In addition to the appeal, representatives from local service organizations have formed an organization "to protect the rights of local bingo operators," says Chesterville Ladies' Auxiliary president Sharon Casselman.

The Dundas Bingo Association was formed January 5 in light of ongoing controversy surrounding bingos in Winchester Township.

Casselman said the association is in place to protect local bingos and to prevent the possibility of new bingos opening.

Take first steps toward exercise

WINCHESTER — There are steps that can be taken to better health.

And the Eastern Ontario Health Unit is looking for people who know where to take them. The unit is organizing a walking group for Dundas County and needs members for its committee to share their knowledge about routes in the area.

The group will develop a log book, route maps and other material to put in an information kit that will be distributed at a registration fair in May for a county-wide walking club. Lee Ann Lalonde, who is organizing the program for the unit, says she wants Dundas residents to join because they will be familiar with the best routes to take, especially if they walk themselves. They will also work on ways to promote the exercise.

"The benefits of walking are quite remarkable and anyone regardless of age or skill can enjoy, says Lalonde, who walks herself in addition to running.

"Regular exercise, such as walking can help reduce body fat and stress. Walking is also very heart smart. Plus, it's a great way for people to rediscover their own communities."

Membership to the club will be free and people are invited to have a health indicator test to determine their fitness level. Some people may not want to join in group activities but the club will provide them with information about walking. Special events will be listed so people can participate if they wish. They may also want to make their own arrangements with other walkers they meet.

As well the log book and the route map will also give members some idea of their progress.

"They can record how far they've walked and how long it's taken them. Some people walk every day but they don't know how far they're going," says Lalonde.

Anyone interested in joining the committee can contact Lalonde at the unit office in Winchester at 774-2739 or the Cornwall office at 1-800-267-7120.

Prest upbeat about course

WINCHESTER — Teacher Greg Prest has the impression the Winchester area might be keeping some of its musical talent in mothballs.

Or that there's even some untapped potential.

Whatever the case, he and North Dundas District High School are providing the opportunity to bring it out with a new six-week adult instrumental music course.

For $45 per person, the school will supply instruments and instruction every Monday or Wednesday for those who have never played anything or for those who may have played before but aren't exactly at public performance level.

Eventually Prest would like to turn the group into a community band.

"There's people who may have done some playing way back in high school or whatever and never touched their instruments again. We want to try to lure them back," he says.

"A lot of those people would never come out to join a band because they would feel so intimidated. When you haven't played it in 20 years, you're not going to play for anybody."

Registration nights for the course are Mon., Jan. 23 and Wed., Jan. 25 from 7 pm to 9 pm at the school. Anyone interested in the course can also contact Prest at 448-2328 or 774-0517.

While many people may associate music lessons with hours of practice, Prest says it doesn't take long before the group can actually play songs together.

EDITORIAL

Reasons to butt out

The constant complaint around rural villages is there's never anything for teenagers. Generally that could apply to editorials as well.

It's debatable whether teenagers actually read editorials. With the exception of a few, there's likely not many and if you ask why they might say the topics don't concern them or they can't relate to the issues.

But this week, and more specifically today, there is an issue that concerns them. Today is Weedless Wednesday, when smokers are encouraged to butt out as part of Ontario health units' non-smoking week promotions.

Now people of all ages smoke and statistics even show their numbers are declining. But they also show teenagers are the fastest growing segment of this population (an estimated 422,000 teens across the country). Moreover female smokers between ages 15 to 19 now outnumber male.

This is why, if you're a teen, it's your concern. Usually if you can make it through this part of your life without picking up the habit, you won't smoke later.

But you have to make that decision yourself.

You can start anytime you want and anyone knows you can't force a smoker to quit. No amount of parental nagging or government legislation will really make a difference if you really want to do it.

But make sure it's want you want. Like any decision you make, you'll have to weigh the pros and cons. And they'll have to be things you consider important.

The biggest con, health experts will inform you, is death — smoking can kill, smoking causes cancer. But you already know that and if you didn't you can read it for yourself on the front of any cigarette package.

It's a long way off for most teens so you don't think about it. But nearly everyone knows someone with cancer and everyone knows someone who's struggling to quit smoking. It could be you one day.

Sure it can be fun, hanging out with your friends, ticking off the non-smokers. But if you look around you'll see it's getting harder to treat it as such. There's almost nowhere you can light up without becoming a social pariah. Public buildings don't want you lighting up inside, including your own school.

And since October, you can't even smoke on the school grounds. If you're 18, you're old enough to leave the grounds where you can wile away your lunch hour having a smoke along the roadside. Barring the mild break in the weather, it must be getting pretty cold out there — kind of like spending your break in a refrigerated truck. Factor in the time you spend getting out there and back, it may hardly seem worth it.

If you're not old enough to leave the grounds, you'll spend the day craving a butt which will likely leave you cranky and much less endearing to your friends.

Esthetically smoking has its initial appeal. You seem to look older, and you can work it as a rebellious sort of artform if you make an effort. But let's face it, you'll reek like an ashtray. Combine it with any odor-masking fragrance and you could be close to explosive. Besides, you don't look very mature if you have to try to convince someone older than you to buy them for you.

Speaking of buying them, cigarettes are an economic drain even with the recent price cut. Those lucky enough to have an after school job earn about $6.40 an hour — not quite the price of two packs of cigarettes including tax. You may not smoke two packs a day (about $50 a week) but even a few packs a week will take a bite out of your part-time income.

Finally, your parents will not be able to stop you but they will harp on you, almost continually. Do you really need that?

They're things to consider. Refusing to start or kicking the habit isn't easy but neither are a lot of the things you have to do.

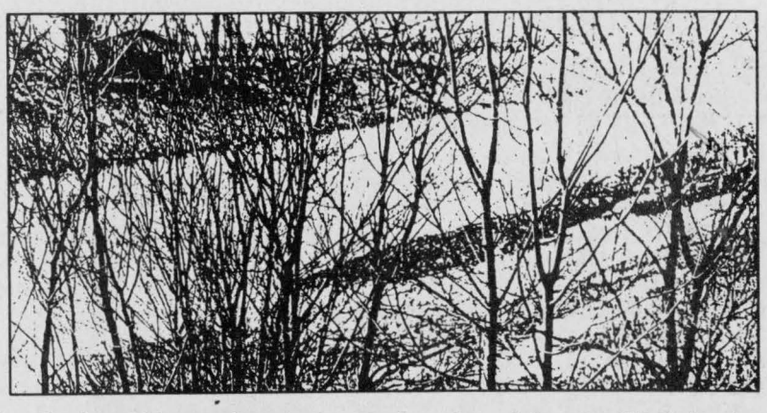
January thaw



A few days ago the pond was a lake, winter's ice flooded deeply under record rain and melted snow. The red canoe lying nearby considered going for a paddle. Ten lost pucks emerged as the snowbanks sank a foot. We skaters eyed the glassy surface with anticipation; as soon as the real winter came back, pond hockey would be the best.

But no. There was so much water that the entire ice surface rose and floated like a moon-shaped iceberg, split wide and long and pushed up in the centre like the grotesque surface of an exposed brain. You would think there was an ecological disaster out there. Would a thousand skaters standing in the centre weigh it down enough? Hockey will be a game on the top of a gigantic souffle.

The sump pump has been working. Good thing. Roof gutters have gurgled and drained the sky into the downspouts which have poured under the snow. Unsuspecting children get soaked to the knees.

OUT MY WINDOW
by Tony Welland

In the forest the hiding places of birds and animals have been exposed. The ground below the partridge perch is stained barnyard brown. Grey-black owl pellets with mouse ankle bones poking from them, lie in untidy piles. A muskrat tunnel has been renovated by the muddied dog, now banished to her damp doghouse. Yellowed trails lead to rabbit warrens under boulders, and to squirrel holes in maple trunks. The tracks of the fox sink so deep in slush that his belly makes snow angels. I smelled a skunk.

Under the feeders it looks like feed bags have been dumped. There's so much waste piled high that all my visitors must clean it up before I will ever consider giving them more. They have a big job. Knowing they have an endless supply - I'm an easy mark - they couldn't care less about waste. Now they all have to eat from the soggy ground.

In the oldtimers dressing room the other night we talked about the economy.

"How high will the interest rates go?" "Did you know that they soared to 22% in Sweden a couple of years ago, when they hit the wall?" "What happened to the social programs in New Zealand?" "I'm going to Florida in the March Break if the dollar doesn't sink to 50 cents." "Let's hope the February budget at least makes it clear which way our country's going; we can't stand for any more indecision." "Will it be higher taxes, as usual, or government spending restraint as they promised?" "Would you invest in the Canadian economy?" "Fascism grew from the Depression of the '30's."

Talk turned to Quebec. Have we all become so impatient? Is the separatist strategy of divide and conquer working?

In a minor hockey game the other day, a child on the opposing team lay flat on his back on their bench; the Fire Department was called to bring a stretcher. We waited and waited, the game suspended in tension. The entire third period wasted away, unplayed, and our team lost 3-2.

Could I, as coach, have thought more about whether we could finish the game than I did about the injured child?

In Somalia, a vulgar, violent, racist teenaged street-gang mentality festered and exploded in the Canadian soldiers we have always felt so proud of.

The blue jays are screaming at me. They won't tolerate soggy seeds.

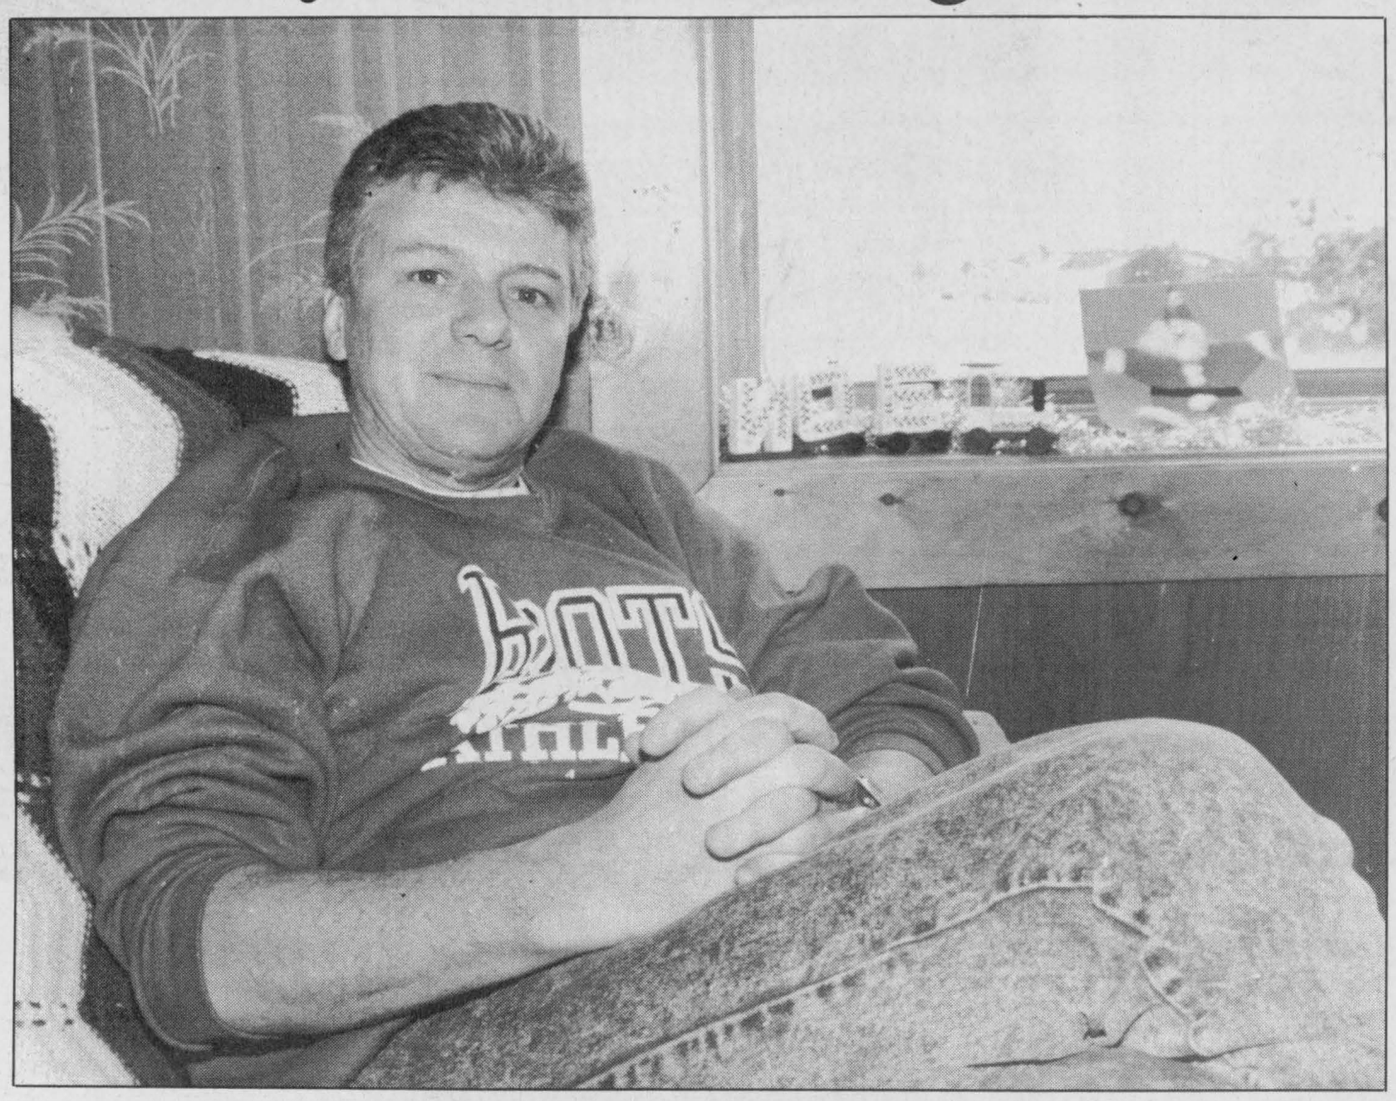
Terrorist for a day: Green brings drama to RCMP

Liz Edwards
Press Staff



WINCHESTER — Terry Green has done some horrible things.

Leaning back comfortably on the couch in his farmhouse home north of Winchester he's pretty calm about it, joking that sometimes he's a little nervous RCMP officers will recognize him if they ever see him in Ottawa.

He pauses as he lists off his deeds. They sound pretty nasty. There's the time he overtook a synagogue, and once he and another guy holed themselves up in an embassy. He's hijacked an O.C. Transpo bus. Taking hostages in a kindergarten class may also pave his pathway to hell.

But he can afford to be glib when he's only a part-time terrorist, supported and paid by the RCMP. It's not that teaching drama for 18 years at North Dundas District High School has driven him to the edge, at least not to that extreme. The Mounties are using his acting ability to hone their own skills in dealing with terrorists.

Usually once or twice a year Green is contacted by the department. Officers set him up with a situation, the background, the location and he plays the role, testing their response system to the limit. It's almost as real as it can get. The Mounties react as if it is a real situation.

"The scariest part is the takedown at the end. You surrender and you leave your weapons. The SWAT guys come around, they've got these rifles and they yell at you," says Green.

"They're scary, they always scare me."

The RCMP don't get the chance to deal with terrorists often, Canada being a relatively peaceful country. One notable exception was in 1989 when a Montreal man hijacked a bus and drove it up to Parliament Hill in Ottawa. It was after that incident, the Mounties decided they needed better preparation, says Green.

From past experience they knew they would need the help of actors like Green for the situations to be really effective. The RCMP had tried making their own inexpensive training films but the scripts didn't work and officers weren't as comfortable as actors.

So the department went to a video company who decided to use professional actors, one of whom was Green, as well as officers. Then they decided the scripts weren't working.

"Once we started, we very quickly bogged down in the script. We asked them what they wanted out of the scene and decided to improvise," explains Green, who was part of the Ottawa Improv League.

It worked.

"After that the officers who were working in the video relaxed and they began to improvise as well," says Green.

Actor wanted

Terry Green, drama teacher at North Dundas District High School, has another role as a terrorist in RCMP simulations. About once a year for the last several years, Green has used his acting ability to help train the officers in emergency situations. To the left is one of his students preparing for a local emergency training simulation.

Evidently they were satisfied enough with his film work to request a live performance and Green, along with another actor, became terrorists for a day.

The RCMP set up the simulation in a house at the edge of the department's property near Hwy. 417 and the Vanier Parkway. The situation was the take over of an embassy by Green and his partner. To make it as authentic as possible, they were given a complete character and background — a fictitious country, fake passports, weapons...they even were told how they entered the country. A referee monitored the simulation to keep it safe, but it was sometimes easy to forget it wasn't real, says Green.

"It was really frightening. When it first started nothing happened, it started at eight in the morning and nothing happened until about 9:30 am when the first officers wandered on the scene," he explains.

"At one point we were running around the house and every window you looked out there was someone hiding behind a tree with a rifle aimed at you."

The aim of the exercise was to learn, and the RCMP did. Angry with the negotiations, Green and his partner told the referee they would probably kill the hostages if they were really in that situation. So, fictitiously, there was bloodshed.

"Then we had extended meetings afterward where we talked with everyone about what we saw, what we saw through the windows and especially how we felt about the negotiators." says Green.

The RCMP decided what they needed was more practice. Now Green has done about six simulations. As well he and his students did a simulation for emergency services in the Winchester area, testing their response to a large-scale factory accident.

Sometimes the reality the scenes create can be a bit overwhelming. Like the time Green took over an O.C. Transpo bus for the RCMP in the middle of the Glebe, a downtown residential area in Ottawa.

The Ottawa Police were also called and informed that someone with a gun had taken over the bus. Unlike the RCMP, the city police were not aware the situation was only a practice until they reached the area. A bit precarious for him, reflects Green. Four square blocks had been barricaded off for the simulation by the Mounties but he was a little worried it might not be enough.

"You're always wondering, what if someone gets in through a driveway or comes through a backyard," he says.

"That was the one when we were encouraged at times, if it was necessary, to fire shots. You've got a gun that's making a lot of noise but it's full of blanks. I always worried that someone out there at sometime wouldn't realize this. It gets very tense."

However, there's always a respite. The running joke is they surrender by 4 pm because the RCMP doesn't want to pay overtime. Though they agree on a finishing time, sometimes the terrorists will add a little spin, coming out a bit earlier to see if the officers can handle it.

It's getting more challenging to act convincingly each time Green does a situation. An eight-hour acting stint is exhausting and he's starting to recognize the routine. He knows how the RCMP will react in certain situations — a foresight most terrorists don't have. Still, there are times where he can still really get inside the role surprising even himself.

In the kindergarten class takeover, Green was inspired, making himself the father of a child killed by a letter bomb.

"I don't know where this story came from. He (the negotiator) just got me talking. I had a very thick accent and was saying I was a soldier, that this was not a criminal act, this was an act of war," Green recalls.

"I told him, you don't understand and it led into this story. I was in tears, I had myself crying."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Media support

The Editor:
We would like to take this opportunity to thank our local newspapers for the coverage and support that they have shown minor hockey and in particular Bantam C '94-95 "Where You Want to Be on Bantam C".

I have been involved with NDMHA for the past five years and every year your newspaper has continued to highlight the achievements of our local sports and by doing so has instilled in our athletes a pride in themselves and their sports.

It took a great team effort to win the Bantam C Tournament and both the Record and the Press and their staff are a part of our team.

Thank you once again for your continued support as we look forward to even greater things in 1995.

More on bingo

The Editor:
Reassurances have been given that a Class A bingo hall will not be allowed in Winchester Township.

A short phone call to Consumer and Commercial Affairs, Entertainment Standards Branch, was very enlightening. Pages and pages of regulations, etc. arrived by fax and mail. By far the most enlightening was the last page of the fax transmission entitled "classes of gaming suppliers". I offer for the readers' consideration the following:

Class A bingo hall is one that conducts four or more bingo events in any seven day period. Licence fee is $10,000; Class B bingo hall is one that, owned and operated by a charity, conducts four or more bingo events in any seven day period. Licence fee is $2,000; Class C bingo hall conducts no more than three bingo events in any seven day period. Licence fee is $500.

The amendment to the Winchester Township official plan as prepared by Mr. Buchanan reads that a Class A bingo hall will not be allowed on the Byers site. How thoughtful of the Byers' planner to direct attention to a Class A bingo hall. What about Class B and Class C halls.

Considering the area's population and our proximity to large bingo facilities at Cornwall and Ottawa, it would appear a Class C hall is planned.

According to Section A of the information provided by Consumer and Commercial Affairs Class A and Class B halls must satisfy certain stringent regulations. The information also states, "the onus to demonstrate that a new bingo hall will be beneficial to the community (local or regional) rests with the applicant". When approval criteria is met a licence is issued to the applicant by the ministry.

Section B of the information provided by Consumer and Commercial Affairs reads as follows: "A Class C bingo hall is limited to operating no more than three bingo events per week. The process for approving a Class C bingo hall is therefore simplified. The applicant must obtain the municipal council's approval to open the new hall. The municipal council may request that the applicant meet some or all of the requirements established for the opening of a Class A or Class B bingo hall".

I have summarized the previous information. For those readers who may wish more detailed information, it is available through Lydia Boni, Consumer and Commercial Relations, 1099 Bay St., Toronto. Collect calls to this department can be made at 416-326-8989.

Bingo halls as previously discussed operate on a 60/40 profit split between the hall owner and user organization.

The bingo operators of Dundas County have rejected the Byers proposal and have made it abundantly clear they prefer to operate out of their own premises.

This seems like good business when 100 per cent of the profits remain with them to carry out their work within the community.

Blocking best

Hawks veteran Dale Wilson was at his acrobatic best here Saturday night holding the Athens Aeros to three goals. Winchester defeated the Aeros 7-3 and nipped Westport 5-4 in a shootout over the weekend. Wilson posted both victories.

Wilson off bench, Hawks veteran stops Rideaus, Aeros

WINCHESTER—Hawks overage goalie Dale Wilson needed the work, according to coach Doug Lavallee. So the the veteran puck stopper got the start in both weekend encounters and passed the test with flying colors.

Friday night in Westport Wilson stymied the Rideaus, especially in overtime, as the Hawks posted an exciting 5-4 shootout victory.

Saturday night here in Winchester Wilson was front and centre again backing the Hawks in a 7-3 win over a very big, physical Athens Aeros club.

The weekend sweep over their Rideau Division opponents improved Winchester's St. Lawrence Jr. "B" Division record to 18-12-2 and extended their winning streak to six games.

"Dale (Wilson) needed the work. He hadn't played in over a week so I gave him both starts," the coach explained.

Lavallee said from the beginning of the season he would split the goaltending chores evenly with the hottest man at the end of the season carrying the mail in the playoffs.

He is extremely happy with rookie Derek Mahoney (10-5-1, 983 minutes and 73 goals against), "For a rookie Mahoney has really come through for us. He is good under pressure."

"If Wilson continues to play like he did on the weekend then our goaltending is as good as any in the league," Lavallee added.

"He (Wilson) made saves that he had no business making in Westport. Point-blank shots from the slot, especially in overtime, to keep us in the game. And he was impressive in the shootout allowing just one goal."

With the back-to-back wins (game won in shootout appears as a tie on the goalies record) Wilson now sports a 7-8-1 record and has allowed 71 goals in 949 minutes of work.

THIS WEEK

This Friday night (Jan. 20) the Hawks will play host to the Kemptville 73s as they look to make it seven wins in a row.

Saturday night (Jan. 21) coach Lavallee, Dereck Holmes, Derek Mahoney, Pat Collins, Eric Savard and Mike McCabe (alternate) will play for the St. Lawrence squad in the annual Rideau-St. Lawrence All Star game in Kemptville (7:30 pm start).

Sunday afternoon (Jan. 22) the Hawks are in Morrisburg to meet the Lions at 2:30 pm.

HAWKS 5 - RIDEAUS 4

Coach Lavallee called Friday's shootout victory over the Rideaus a real character builder.

Bad weather and terrible road conditions made it a difficult trip to Westport, where a late arrival left little time for a pre-game skate.

"Often when you get to a game late you are never really in it. We had a bit of a slow start but came on and got it to overtime," the coach reported.

Westport (14-13-5) led 2-1 after a period and 4-2 after 40 minutes.

The Holmes brothers, Dereck at 1:18 and Warren at 10:01 scored in the third period to push the game into overtime.

Devils sharp-shooter Cote ignites 60-point explosion

MAPLE RIDGE—Jared Cote threw up four rainbows from three-point land and led the North Dundas Senior Devils to their third consecutive SD&G Boys High School Basketball League victory here last Wednesday.

Cote got the signal to go for the long ball from coach Randy Steeds and made good on the offer as the Devils improved their record to 3-2-0 with an impressive 60-34 victory over the St. Joe's Panthers.

"Jared had an exceptional day. He had been shooting so well in practice I gave him the green light from the outside and he was on," Steeds explained.

North Dundas was up 13-5 after the opening period and 31-7 at the half.

After holding the Panthers to two points in the second quarter their "D" buckled a bit in the final two periods.

"I was happy with the effort. We are a blue-collar team. We play good strong defence but aren't as skilled on offence. Everybody has to contribute. I try and put everybody on the floor and if they give an honest effort in their 3:00 shift they are back out again. If not they are on the bench."

As for their second-half fade Steeds says his squad lost a little concentration but it is expected against a weaker team, difficult to remained focused.

"They couldn't handle our press, which is getting better every game, in the first half. We just lost a little intensity in the second."

North Dundas led 31-7 at the half, 43-19 after three quarters and 60-34 at the buzzer.

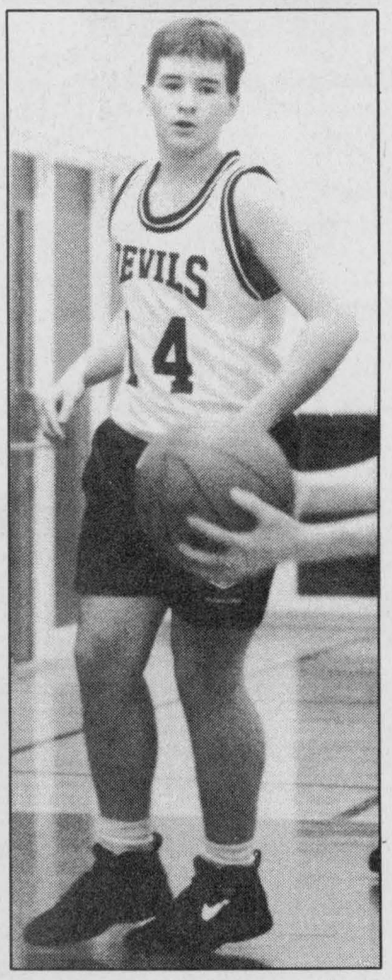
Cote sparked the win with a 19-point effort which included a dozen (four field goals) from the three-point zone.

Sean Hachey dunked a dozen, including a pair of threes.

Matt VanGilst was number three with 11. Aaron Lannin (6), Kevin Ray (4), Jason McSheffery (3), Chris Wilson (3) and Matt Robinson (2) rounded out the attack.

The coach also had words of praise for graduating forward Matt VanGilst, "Matt means a lot to our team, leads by example. His hustle sets the tone for our team."

Rusty Vandiepeningen topped the Panthers point production with 14. He and Corey Nelson each dropped in a three.



Evan Porteous

MIDGETS LOSE

The NDDHS Midget Devils tasted defeat for the first time in two outings as they dropped a 30-19 decision to the Panthers the same afternoon.

With the setback their record went to 1-3-1.

An extremely slow start cost the Devils in this encounter.

They were down 8-6 after a quarter and 20-8 at the half. It was 24-17 after three but a two-point fourth quarter wasn't enough to close the gap any further.

Rob "Rat" Desormeaux led the offence with five points, including a three pointer. Mike Flowers hooped four while Matt Carkner, Duncan Christie, Todd Sloan, Peter Fisher and Darwin Thompson drained a deuce each.

Eleven of the 14 Panthers listed on the score sheet collected points. Jason Crawford was top shooter with six points.

JUNIOR DEVILS

Junior mentor Jevon Groves was hoping his squad could shake their habit of starting slowly as they prepared to take on the 3-1-0 Panthers.

After trailing their opposition by wide margins early in the game the Junior Devils had lost all four starts.

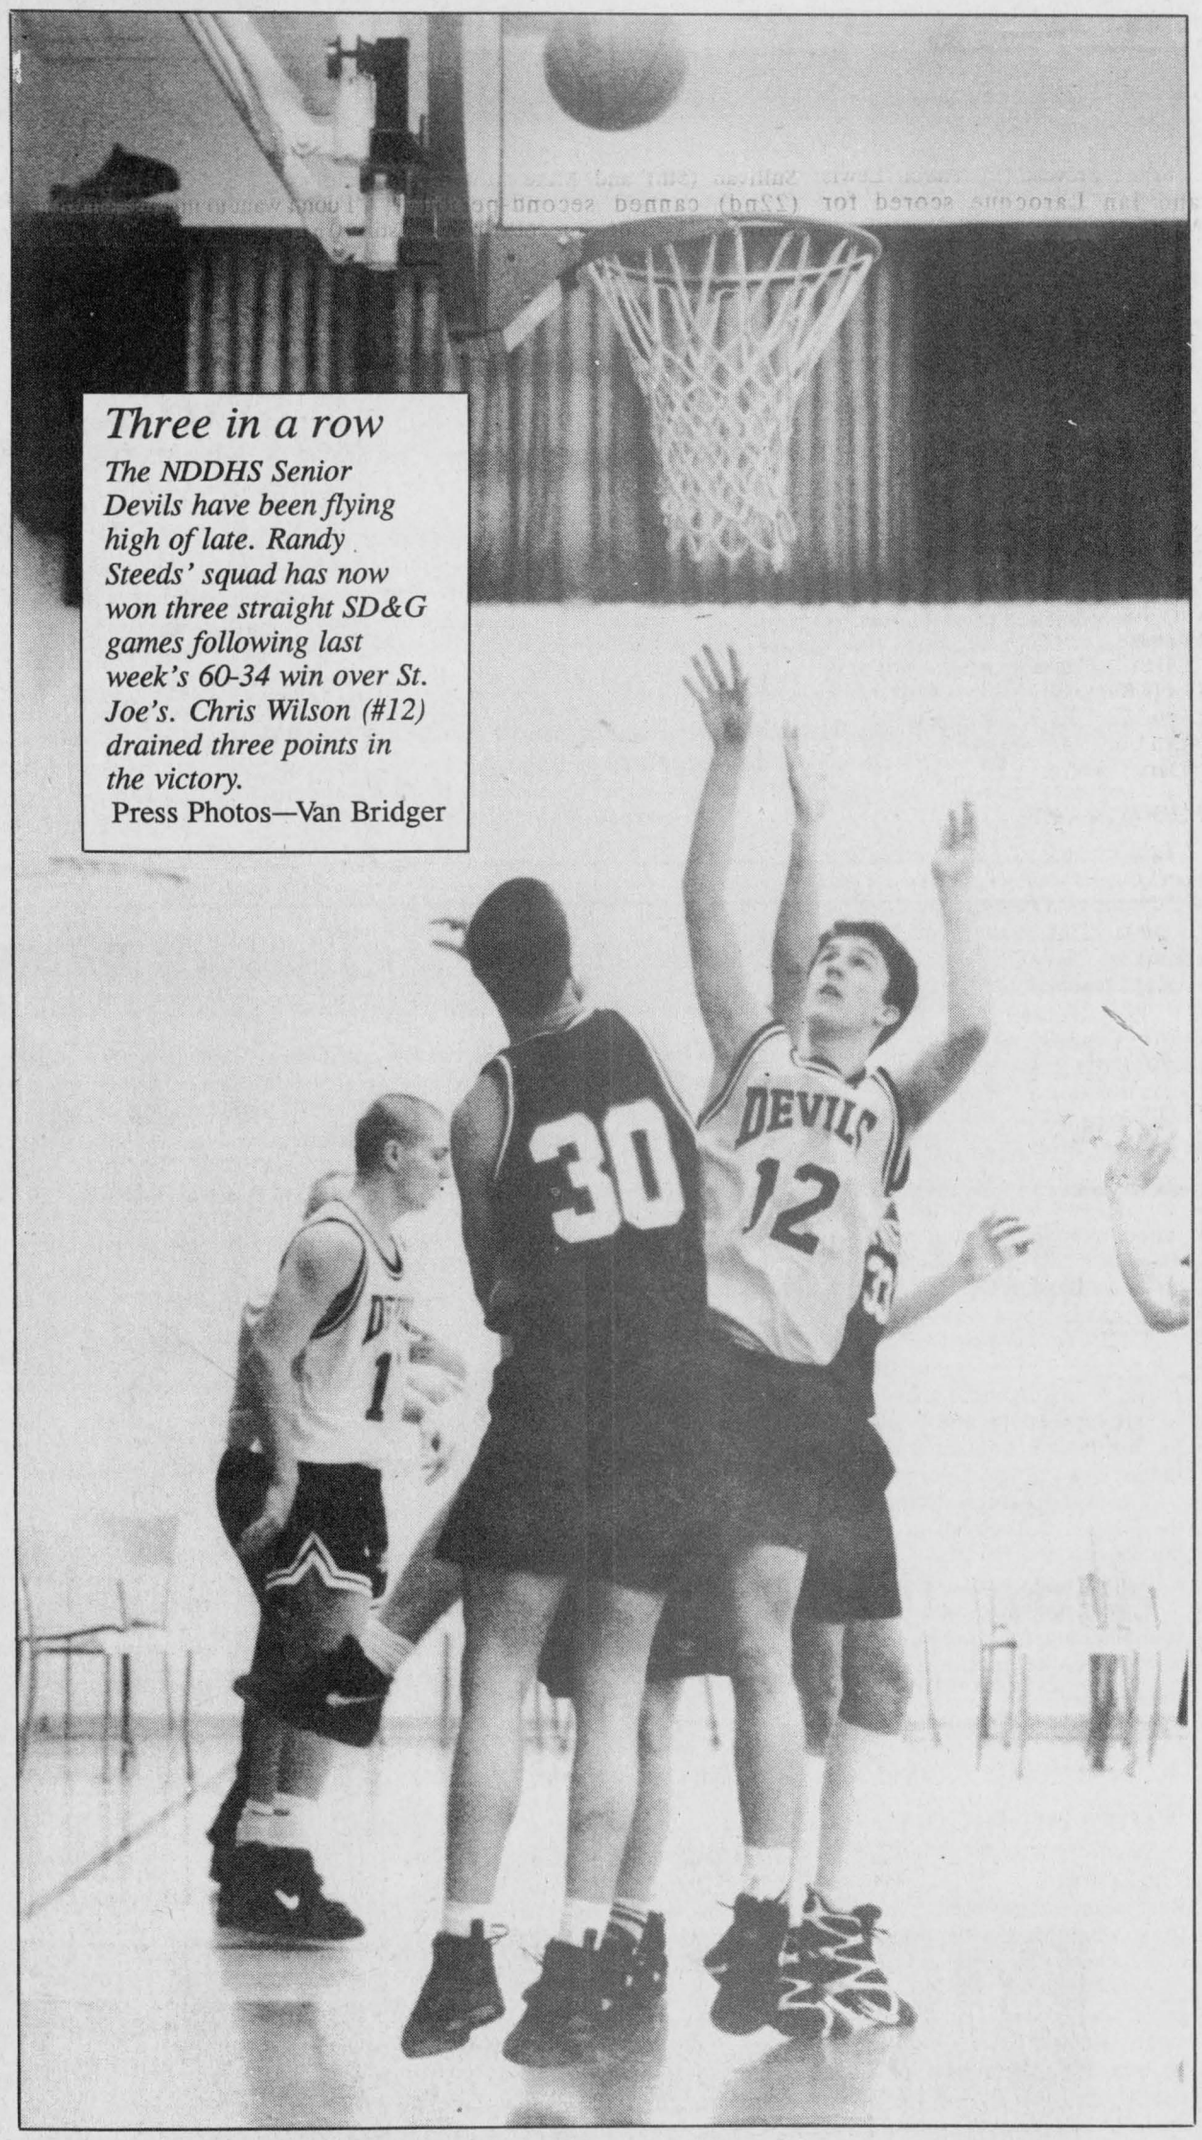
The coach got a much better start from his squad as they battled the Panthers tooth and nail throughout the first half. North Dundas trailed by just five points at both breaks as St. Joe's led 16-11 at quarter time and 28-23 at the half.

Unfortunately the result was the same as the Devils dropped a painfully close 53-47 decision.

"It was by far our best game of the season. We were down by only two points at one time. It was close. It is just too bad we couldn't pull it (win) off," commented coach Groves.

Evan Porteous led the offence with a 16 point effort. Curtis Porteous finished six back of his brother with 10. Darryl Holmes (5), Felipe Ortiz (4), Craig Smith (4), Jason Sheldrick (2), Steve Bradley (2), Shawn Francis (2) and Rob Graham (2) completed the scoring.

North Dundas will not see action again until Feb. 2 when they visit the Saints at St. Lawrence High School.



Three in a row

The NDDHS Senior Devils have been flying high of late. Randy Steeds' squad has now won three straight SD&G games following last week's 60-34 win over St. Joe's. Chris Wilson (#12) drained three points in the victory.

Pee Wees regroup to defeat Royals

KEMPTVILLE—A power play and an empty net goal capped a spirited comeback as the North Dundas Ault Foods Pee Wee "A" Demons rallied for an exciting 4-2 UCMHL victory over the Kemptville Royals here on Sunday.

The host Royals were up 2-1 after a period and it was a tie game after two sessions.

Assistant captain Mike Davidson snapped the 2-2 deadlock when he converted a power play involving captain Joey Hillis into the winning goal with 1:13 left on the clock.

Grant Norris then iced the victory when he took a feed from Steve Mattice and fired the puck into an empty net 0:31 before the final buzzer.

North Dundas opened the game when Joey Hillis and Grant Booth connected for the first goal at 8:31.

Kemptville then snapped a pair of goals into Jesse McLean's cage in the late stages of the first frame to go ahead 2-1. Jeff Matthew connected at 2:42 and Chris Moir hit the target at 1:46.

The Demons tied it up 2-2 at 9:22 of the middle session when Craig Panchuck gathered in a pass from Grant Norris and buried it in the back of the Kemptville net.

The game remained tied a two until the Demons were able to pot a pair in the final 1:13 of the match.

All-Stars pick Lavallee, four Hawks

KEMPTVILLE—Winchester Hawks' head coach Doug Lavallee and four of his players have been named to this year's edition of the St. Lawrence Division Junior "B" All Star team.

The St. Lawrence Stars will skate against the Rideau Division's dream team this Saturday (Jan. 21) here at the Kemptville Arena. Game time is set for 7:30 pm.

Lavallee will join Alexandria Glens' mentor Robert Boisvenue on the St. Lawrence bench. Leo Poirier of the Glens and the 73s' Mike Valcour are the team general managers. The trainer is Reid Hadden.

Winchester's rookie goalie Derek Mahoney, veteran defender Dereck Holmes, rookie forward Eric Savard and defenceman Pat Collins will represent the Hawks. Mike McCabe is an alternate forward.

Alexandria's Pascal Gasse, Dom Cugliette of Kemptville and alternate Luc Mulvaugh of Char-Lan complete the goaltending corps.

Jeff Ricci and Hal Thompson of Kemptville will join Hawks Dereck Holmes and Pat Collins on the blueline. Marc Menard of Alexandria and Jeff Hyndman of the Morrisburg Lions are the other defenders. Hamish Cunning of the Glens is the alternate.

The St. Lawrence forwards are Chad Duguay, Chad White and Mike McAllister of Morrisburg; Brent Lauzon, Dave Campbell and Rob Curran of Char-Lan; Aaron Heath, Derek Hutt, Hal Thompson and Jeff Ricci of the Kemptville 73's; Karl Hehn, Carl Bougie and Jason Hall of the Alexandria Glens; Eric Savard of the Winchester Hawks.

RIDEAU STARS

Wilf Johnston of the Gananoque Islanders and Brent Scott of the Athens Aeros will coach the Rideau Division All Stars.

Athens' Wayne McManus and Ed Mulville of Westport are the general managers.

Daryle Potter (Gananoque) and Jim Kelsey (Brockville) are the trainers.

The Rideau goalies are South Grenville's Darnell Poulin, Troy Afflect of Westport, Mitch Bellemare of Brockville and alternate Kris Covell of the South Grenville Rangers.

The defencemen named are Dave Wilson and Garry Hennigar of the Westport Rideaus; Chad Hunter and Curtis Stevenson (alternate) of the South Grenville Rangers; Steve Vujacic and Nate Boles of the Gananoque Islanders; Pete Davis of the Athens Aeros and alternate Paul Leeder of Westport.

Forwards named to the squad include Ian Richardson - Westport, Matt Parker - Athens, Adam Cameron - Brockville, Mark Thompson - Gananoque, Brandon Allen - Brockville, Karl Herbison - Athens, Chris Glashan - Brockville, Cory Campeau - Gananoque, J.J. Bancroft - Athens, Darryl Kingston - South Grenville and Ian Larocque - South Grenville.

The alternates are Aaron Lewis - Westport, Jason Poulin - South Grenville and Pete Cunningham - Athens.

Rookie All Star

Hawks win shootout against Westport

Wilson or the Rideaus Troy Afflect in OT so the game went to the shootout, which was won 4-1 by the Hawks.

Mike McCabe, Ryan Nichol, Eric Savard and Chris Cooper (with the winner) scored in the shootout.

Jeff Scobie scored Winchester's first two goals. Dereck and Warren Holmes netted pucks in the third period.

Eric Cosgrove, Wes Glover, Craig Halpenny, Mike McCabe, Chris Cooper, Warren Holmes, Dereck Holmes and Jeff Scobie all drew assists.

Mike Prevost (2), Aaron Lewis and Ian Larocque scored for Westport.

The Rideaus outshot the the Hawks 38-31.

HAWKS 7 - ATHENS 3

Here Saturday night the Hawks led the Aeros 2-0 after a period and 4-2 after two sessions en route to a 7-3 win.

"Athens has a big, heavy hitting club. They like to hit and are the type of team that could really wear you down over a long series."

"We should have been tired after Friday's game in Westport but came out with some jump. We took the hits and the bumps and won the game," Lavallee said.

A couple of local boys, Warren Holmes (15th) and Jason Ross (4th) scored in the first period. Terry O'Sullivan (5th) and Mike McCabe (22nd) canned second-period markers. O'Sullivan (6th), Eric Savard (14th) and McCabe (23rd) netted third- period pucks.

Warren Holmes (2), O'Sullivan (2), Savard (2), Jeff Scobie, Chad Barnhart, Eric Cosgrove, Chris Cooper, Craig Halpenny, Wes Glover, Ryan Nichol and Dale Wilson all drew assists.

Pete Cunningham, Carl Herbison and Mike Gray scored for the Aeros.

Coach Lavallee says his specialty teams are really coming through of late and says if teams want to take penalties against the Hawks it will cost them dearly.

"We, as a team have a plus 15 rating. The penalty killing and power play units are clicking now. The team is playing good hockey and really skating."

"I don't want to jinx us. There are still 10 games left. But we are coming together. I just hope we haven't peaked too soon," he continued.

Moore pockets go-ahead goals for Centennials

OSGOODE—Larry "Mad Hatter" Moore netted four goals leading the Winchester Centennials to a 7-3 win over the Osgoode Old Boys here on Sunday.

Ben Beckstead potted a pair and Geoff Summers got one goal while Steve Guy tended the nets. Dave "Red Line" McClenaghan earned the "Mario" award.

SHOOTERS WIN

Last Thursday Reg Hyndman and Dan Lecours were the goal scorers in a 7-2 loss to Chesterville's Shakey Shooters. Tim "Flamingo" Moher earned the "Mario".

Reg Hyndman (2), Earl McBean (2), Paul Sheard, Dan Lecours, Geoff Summers and Pete Filion poked in the goals on Jan. 11 as the Cents out-lasted Maxville 9-8. Goalie Greg "Meat Loaf" VanDellen earned the "Mario".

McDiarmid nets four markers

WINCHESTER—Nancy McDiarmid went over the 20- goal plateau here Sunday morning scoring four times in the Sports Unlimited Reds 7-0 win over the Annable's Jewellery Blues.

With the four-goal game figured in McDiarmid now leads the scoring race with 24 points.

With the victory the Reds first-place record improved to 9-1-2. Jackie Boulanger posted the shutout and lowered her goals-against average to 1:00. In addition to McDiarmid's four goals the Reds got two from Sharon McLeod (her 10th and 11th) and one from Debbie Saunders. Nancy Horton (2), Saunders, Kathy Kerr-Moore, Tammy Bartholomew, Carolyn Weegar and Karen Koekkoek all earned assists. It was a 3-0 game at the half.

Carrie Nolan was the other shutout winner on Sunday morning as she backed the second-place Stewart Classics (7-1-4) to a 4-0 win over the Double Beauty Stylists.

Terri Hoy popped in a pair of goals (her ninth and 10th) in the first half as the Classics took a 3-0 lead into the second half. Cathy Guy and Kelly Durant snapped in the other markers. Janet Corrie, Cathy Little and Cathy Guy all picked up assists.

Deanna Corbett-White starred in the other game as she scored three times (her 15th, 16th and 17th goals) in the second half as the Andy's Food Town Maroons (7-3-2) doubled the CountryGirls 4-2.

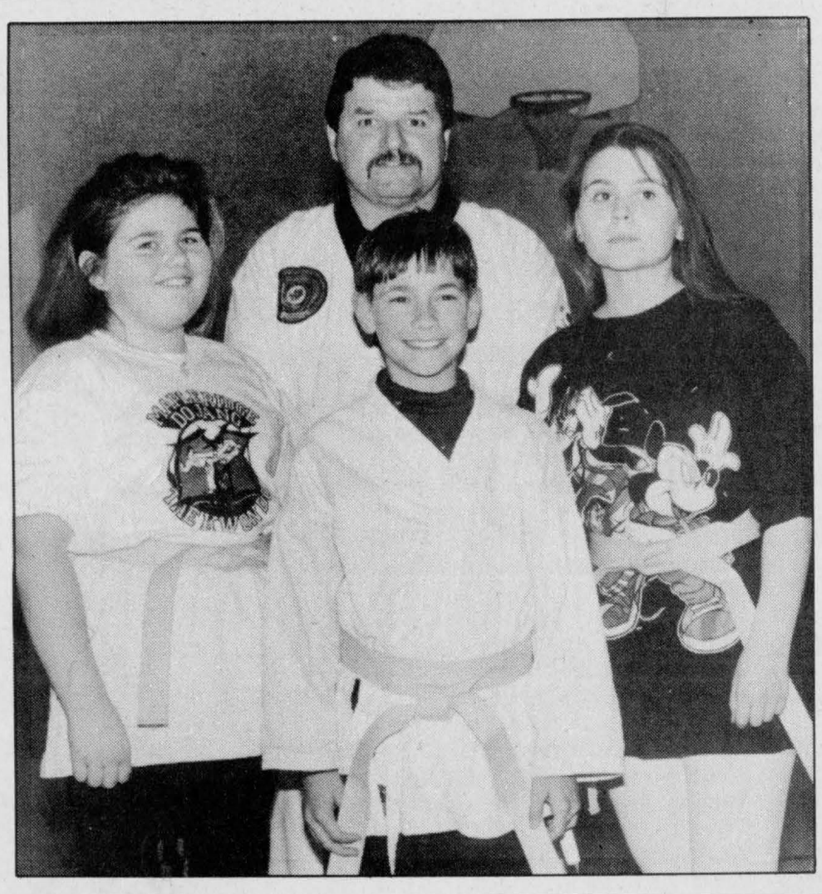
Debbie Henderson scored from Nancy Theede at 14:10 and Karen Ouderkirk clicked on a play started by Trish Burke 2:33 before the half as CountryGirls took a 2-1 lead.

Joanne Fawcett scored from Kim Simms and Amy Fraser at 12:10 of the first session to tie the game 1-1 for the Maroons. Corbett-White took over in the second half and scored at 16:25 (unassisted), 15:10 (from Monica Bongers) and at 12:15 (from Joanne Fawcett) to power the Maroons to their victory.

Peddle earns hat

WINCHESTER—Butch Oldford scored the deciding goal in the dying minutes here last Tuesday as the Harvex Huslers nipped the Morewood Old Timers 6-5.

Bob Peddle scored three times while Tom Kirkwood snapped in a pair to complete the scoring as the Huslers pushed their recent record to 4-0-1.



New belts

Five members of the Maple Ridge TaeKwon-Do Club recently passed belt promotion tests. Sarah Hunt (left) advanced to yellow, Grant Hennin advanced to yellow and Sherri Gallinger also achieved the same classifcation. Instructor Mike Lecuyer posed with his students. New sticks

Danny Pelkey (left), Chris Wheeler and Mike Beuman claimed three of the four autographed Junior "B" Hawks sticks at Saturday night's hockey game. Winchester Hawks president Bill Hogaboam made the presentation to the young winners. A fourth stick was not claimed in the NDMHA night draw. That number is 016042. Contact Hogaboam at 774-2632 if you have the lucky ticket.

Ormond rallies to tie Vikings

WINCHESTER—Paul Downey and Dan McDiarmid potted goals in the final minute of play and brought the Ormond Cloverdales back for a 2-2 tie against the Morewood Vikings here on Sunday.

The first-place Vikings (14-0-1) held a 1-0 lead at the half on a goal by Ross Harten (assisted by Larry Shaver and Guy Marion and were up 2-0 when Marion scored on a feed from Steve Cooper at 14:21 of the second half.

Ormond (6-7-2) rallied in the final minute of play and pulled off the 2-2 tie. Paul Downey ruined Don Dashney's shutout when he scored from John Hendricks and Dan McDiarmid with 0:53 left on the clock and McDiarmid tied it with help from Downey with 0:09 showing on the clock.

In the other Winchester and District Broomball League encounters the Toyes Hill Roadrunners (7-7- 1) nipped the Mountaineers (4-10-1) 2-1, Manotick (8-6-1) blanked the Winchester Raiders (5-9-1) 6-0 and Prescott Road Knights (11-4-0) won by default over the Newington Knights (1-13-1).

Toyes Hill moved into a share of fourth place with Ormond thanks to their 2-1 win over the Mountaineers.

It was a scoreless battle into the final two minutes of play as Ted Daley (Roadrunners) and Dwight Lowe played perfectly in the nets.

Ted Bongers netted both Roadrunner goals connecting from Paul Melenhorst and Shawn Daley with 1:38 left in the game and again at 1:16 converting a pass from Derek Howell and Paul Melenhorst into a 2-0 lead. The Mountaineers got on the board 0:57 before the end of the game when John Dumoulin fired in a Maurice Chartrand relay.

Bert Ruiter scored the first three goals of the match as the Manotick Merchants blanked the Winchester Raiders 6-0. Lincoln Tym, Daryl Payne and Rick Cureston banged in the other goals. Tym (2), Spencer Tym, Daryl Payne and Cureston all earned assists. Chris McEvoy registered the shutout.

Team Green back on track

CHESTERVILLE—Chris "Willy" Williams bagged two goals and set up two others here last Wednesday leading Team Green right back into the race for the Chesterville Town Hockey League pennant.

Green collared the Red Dogs 8-1 to get back to the 500 level at 7-7-0. Meanwhile the "Dawgs" dropped into a tie for third with the White Knights. Both teams are sporting 5-6-3 records.

In the other half of the double feature the league-leading Black Aces (8-6-0) snapped a two- game losing skid by beating the White Knights 5-4 on Jeff Moore's goal.

Team Green was all over the Red Dogs in the first half piling up a 5-0 lead on goals by Gary Geertsma, Chris Williams, Ray Sherrer and a pair by Mike Gruich.

John Tessier (assisted by John Lumiss and Ken "Hound" Byers) shot a hole in Ben Henry's goose egg at 10:45 of the second frame but the goal did little to ignite a comeback.

Williams, Sherrer and Jerrold Boulanger completed the Green scoring netting goals in the first 12:00 of the second half.

Dave VanBruinessen (3), Daryl Robinson (3), Williams (2), Boulanger, Geertsma, O'Connor and Rick Nelson all helped out on the scoring plays.

ACES 5 - KNIGHTS 4

A 4-1 first-half lead just about slipped away on the Aces as they scrambled to a 5-4 win over the White Knights to hold on to first place.

Cory VanDelst scored at 8:36 and 6:46 of the first half as the Aces jumped into the lead. Jeff Moore and Pat Kelly nailed the other markers and Barry McShane replied for the Knights.

Moore scored his second of the game at 27:51 to make it 5-1 and then the battle got under way.

The Knights charged back on goals by Greg Kelly (15:52) and Aaron Sherrer who found net at 8:35 and 1:41 to make it an exciting 5-4 finish.

Craig "JB" Smith posted the win and Willy O'Connor set up four goals in the first half for the Aces. Rodney Casselman (2), Don Marcellus, Pete VanKessel and Pat Kelly drew the other assists.

Senators suit up

OSGOODE—Former area pros John Barrett, Fred Barrett and Moe Robinson will be part of the Ottawa Senators Alumni team that will skate against the Osgoode All Stars here this Saturday (Jan. 21) during the Osgoode Winter Carnival.

The Barretts and Robinson will join Gerry Armstrong, Mark Patterson, Rolly Hedges, Murray Kuntz, Eddie Hatoum, Larry Skinner, Kevin Kemp, Frank St. Marseille, Bob Charlebois, Brian Smith and Jean Payette on the Senators they take on the Stars at 2 pm here at the Osgoode Community Centre.

Suiting up for Osgoode will be Kevin Jardine, Jim Dumelie, Rick Downey, Mark Patterson, Grant Anderson, Tim Oshier, Kevin McManus, Bob Kemp, Jamie Riemer, Peter Holmes, Wayne Burke, Bob Dumelie, Randy Carter, Tim Cavan and Mike Doyle.

The Stars will be coached by Brian Johnston and Stephan Rawlings will be his assistant.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

CHALK UP TWO MORE WINS FOR HAWKS

Last Friday night the Winchester Junior 'B' Hawks battled fog and ice-covered roads to get to Westport for their scheduled game, then had to battle the west division's third-place team in their quest for victory. It was tough going on both counts with the Hawks arriving late then having to go to a shootout to achieve victory. The bus did not get back to the Winchester arena till after 2 am but the 5 to 4 win was worth the hard battle both on and off the ice. On Saturday, second-place Athens had another tough trip to Winchester, but the second-place western division team did not fare so well, as they were beaten soundly 7 to 4 by the soaring Hawks. Hawks remain firmly in second-place with 41 points while Morrisburg also gained four points to move to third with 30 while Kemptville holds down fourth place in league standings with 28, which is two points more than Char-Lan. The Hawks move back to their regular Friday night game this weekend with Kemptville coming in, then Hawks journey to Morrisburg on Sunday to complete weekend play. The team and coaching staff are very pleased to see the youngsters playing solid hockey and racking up the points in league standings. They are also being given a lift when they see the executive and local businesses getting behind them in their efforts to raise needed funding with the response to the auction planned for next Wednesday night in the upstairs hall. LeRoy Empey has informed me that well over 100 items have already been collected which include trips, service packages, celebrity memorabilia as well as many beautiful gifts and certificates for merchandise at local business establishments. Things kick off next Wednesday with a 7 pm wine and cheese party with Winchester Auto Auction personnel handling the auction, which begins at 8 pm sharp. Anyone wishing to take part should contact Joel Steele at 774-3341, Bob Porteous at 774-2113 or LeRoy Empey at Mel Johnston's Chev-Olds at 258-3403.

WINCHESTER WINTER CARNIVAL - FEB. 9 TO 12

A meeting of the planning committee for the 1995 Winchester Winter Carnival will be held this Wed., Jan. 18 at 7 pm at the arena to put the finishing touches on the programming and scheduling for this year's carnival. We do hope that all groups involved can have a representative present to confirm the details of their involvement. Carnival chair Lynne McLennaghan and her committee have already spent considerable time lining up events but it is very difficult to get final clarifications from many of the involved groups who have to get back to their committees to confirm the details involved. We have to meet a deadline of this Friday to confirm all times and dates for the necessary advertising, so you can understand the importance of having your group representative present. Organizers have lined up a good program of events for all ages with plenty of events planned to entertain both young and old. Many of the old favorites have been retained, such as the curling club's fun bonspiel as well as lots of children's activities. New this year will be the Lions' Club casino night which saw tables filled with players all evening at this year's Dairyfest. We are sorry to report that the church ladies are unable to present their church supper which many of us who enjoyed their delicious home cooking will miss greatly, however, the Recreation Committee's Sunday brunch that was thoroughly enjoyed by many will still be served from 11 am till 2 pm on Carnival Sunday. Carnival buttons will soon be appearing at all local outlets and advertisements with all times and details will also be appearing, so plan to attend our weekend of fun and frolic from Jan. 9 to 12. It's a great way to lose those winter time blues.

WHAT'S UP FOR THE WEEKEND

Hawks play Kemptville this Friday and the Dundas Junior Farmers will be using the upstairs for the annual awards night banquet and dance. Saturday night skating 8 pm to 9:30 pm.

Stars shine

WINCHESTER—Jeff Johnston and Todd Findlay were two-goal shooters here last Tuesday as the Country Kitchen Stars doubled the first-place Boyd Chrysler Rams 6-3.

It was the third consecutive and fourth win in five starts for the shooting Stars who have battled their way into a share of third place in the Winchester Town Hockey League standings.

In the other half of the twin bill the Funtastic Pools Flyers drained the CountryBoy Kings 5-1.

The Stars scrambled into a 1-0 lead at 18:18 of the opening session when Jeff Johnston snapped home a Brad Hanes relay. The Rams responded quickly and rambled into a 2-1 lead when Darrell Shelp scored from Rudy Grisel and Rick Grisel at 17:11. Rudy Grisel then put his team up 2-1 with help from Shelp and Brad Holmes at 15:29.

Two minutes later the Stars' Gary Beisheim tied it scoring unassisted at 13:27. Todd Findlay combined with Brian Fawcett and Beisheim and scored the go-ahead goal (3-2) 4:05 before the half.

Brian Fawcett (assisted by Findlay and Rene Boulanger) opened up a 4-2 lead for the Stars at 24:48 of the second half but the Rams closed the gap to 4-3 at 22:44 when George Michels beat Bruce Quaile on a play started by Shelp.

Todd Findlay's solo effort with 12:01 to go made it 5-3 and Johnston's second goal of the game and 19th of the season (set up by Dwyane Fawcett and Beisheim) scored 1:46 before the final buzzer made it a 6-3 final.

FLYERS 5 - KINGS 1

John Turney came within a goal of a perfect game as the Funtastic Pools Flyers crowned the Country-Boy Kings 5-1.

The Kings' Mark Guy ruined the shut-out bid when he drilled in a feed from Mike "Goose" Guy and Neil Kittle with 4:31 left in the opening half.

Ken Iselmoe netted two first-half goals and picked up assists on goals by Dean McIntosh and Dale Williams, who fired in a pair of second-half markers.

Williams (2) and McIntosh clicked for the other goals. Bruce Angus (2), Iselmoe (2), Dan Emon, John McNaughton, Bobby Clarke and McIntosh all picked up assists.
