Special Ontario Hospitals Report

If you were an average patient in an average public general hospital in Ontario last vear, the employees of the hospital spent a total of 12.4 hours every day working directly on your behalf. Salaries and wages for these employees represented 65c out of every $1.00 it cost the hospital to serve you. The drugs and medical and surgical supplies used in your treatment cost 8c of each dollar, food was 6c and the remaining 21c covered everything else (linen, laundry, light, heat, depreciation, interest, etc.). Only 4c of your dollar was required for administration of the hospital, apart from salaries and wages. These figures are revealed in the annual report which has just been issued by the Ontario Hospital Services Commission.

REASONS FOR ADMISSION

The five most prevalent reasons for admission to active treatment and convalescent hospitals were: maternal deliveries; accidents, poisonings and violence; diseased tonsils and adenoids; complications of pregnancy; female diseases. In 1960, accidents, poisoning and violence supplanted diseases of the tonsils and adenoids as a second major reason for seeking admission to hospital. During the year 155,157 babies were born in the province's hospitals.

A total of 948,374 adults and children were under care during 1960 in all hospitals of the province (public, private, Federal, and nursing homes temporarily approved by the Commission to provide care for the chronically ill). This was an increase of 4.2 per cent. over 1959. These patients used 11,555,922 days of care—5.8 per cent. more than in the previous year. The number of admissions to all hospitals and approved nursing homes in Ontario in 1960 was 151 per thousand of population as compared with 148 the year before, and the days of care per thousand of population increased from 1,835 in 1959 to 1,898 in 1960. The average stay for active treatment patients in public hospitals rose from 9.9 days in 1959 to 10 days in 1960. Patients who died or were discharged from public hospitals for the chronically ill during the year had an average stay of 369.7 days. Case fatality rates were considerably higher in hospitals for the chronically ill, the average for all conditions being 47 per 100 patients as compared with 3 per 100 cases in active treatment hospitals.

ANTICIPATE INCREASE

The total net allowable cost of operating all hospitals and other facilities paid by the Commission amounted to $188,532,725, an increase of $30,868,102, 19.6 per cent., over the comparative figure for the previous year. An increase in cost had been anticipated by the Commission because of:

(a) Greater utilization of facilities by patients.

(b) An increase in population and in the number of hospital beds available.

(c) General increase in salaries and wages of hospital employees, and

Hospitals submit annual budgets to the Commission and a great deal of time and effort is expended by the Commission's Rate Board to ensure that a reasonable assessment of operating costs is made and allowed to the hospital. The maintenance of a high level of patient care, however, is the guiding factor at all times.

The total net Standard ward operating costs for the province's public hospitals, as allowed under the Federal - Provincial Agreement, were 187.5 million dollars of which 92.1% ($172.8 million) were paid by the Commission and a total of 3.8% was covered by Workmen's Compensation Board, the Federal Government and municipalities, leaving 4.1% the responsibility of non-residents, uninsured residents, and other residents whose care was not the financial responsibility of the Commission. The average net allowable cost per patient day in public hospitals in 1960 was $19.40 for active treatment hospitals, $9.82 and $8.84 respectively for hospitals for convalescents and hospitals for the chronically ill.

37,835 BEDS

Including all hospitals (public, private, federal, and nursing homes temporarily approved to provide care for the chronically ill), Ontario had a rated capacity of 37,835 hospital beds at the close of the year. Over 30,000 of these were for active treatment patients. By the end of the year, 2,586 patient and 309 staff beds were completed, 4,065 more were under construction, another 956 had been approved but were not yet started ,and plans for 4,366 were in the development stage. As part of the 1960 renovation programme, 94 beds in two tuberculosis sanatoria were converted to active treatment and chronic care use. Since the inception of the Plan, seven sanatoria involving 711 beds have been either totally or partially converted to public hospital purposes. Capital grants approved by the Provincial Government during the year for construction purposes (including renovation) amounted to $15,431,770, an increase of 38.9% over 1959.

Badge Of Remembrance

The poppy is your Badge of Remembrance and like most of Winchester citizens Dalton Kenney, centre, made his purchase of the red emblem from two of the Cub pack last Saturday. Making the sale here at the Post Office corner are Bob Saunders and John Fader. Archie Rice, chairman of the poppy campaign, said the sale went very well. It will continue this week. Revenue will help needy veterans and families in the area.—Press Staff Photo.

Legion Church Parade Cenotaph Service Sunday

Winchester and district residents will pay a solemn tribute to their war dead at special Remembrance Day Services in front of the Cenotaph this Sunday at noon.

The annual Remembrance Service will follow the traditional Church Parade of Winchester Legion Branch 108. Taking part in the parade will be members of the Branch, veterans and members of the Armed forces, the Cub and Scout packs, and Winchester High School Band. The parade will form at the Legion Hall at 10.30 a.m. and proceed to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church for annual divine service. Following the church service the parade will march to to the Cenotaph to attend the Remembrance Service which is open to the public.

Archie Rice, chairman of the Legion's annual Poppy campaign, said the sale was going "very well." However, he said that poppies would be sold again this Saturday and that all business places were urged to buy wreaths for their display windows. Proceeds from the sale of poppies go toward help for needy veterans and their families, and much of the money is used right in this district.

Families and organizations wishing to purchase memorial wreaths should get in touch with Mr. Rice without delay. All persons are urged to attend the Cenotaph service on Sunday.

The annual Divine Service had been scheduled for the Wesleyan Methodist Church. Because of renovations at this church the service was changed to St. Paul's and Rev. Willis Mack, pastor of the Wesleyan Church, said that members of his congregation would worship at the Presbyterian Church this Sunday only.

Auxiliary Installs New Showcase In Lobby

Forty-nine members representing 11 units answered roll call at the November meeting of the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, held in the Board Room of the Hospital. Newly elected Mrs. J. D. Campbell opened the meeting with the Auxiliary prayer. The minutes of the October annual meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer's report was given, showing a balance of $770.45 receipts received for October, with disbursements of $116.98.

The Director of Nursing, Miss Legris, Reg. N., gave her monthly report showing 291 admissions and 283 discharges for October, 1961. In the out-patients' department there were 150 out-patients and 32 in-patients.

Mrs. C. Baldwin, who had been elected delegate to the Provincial Auxiliary Convention in Toronto last month, gave a very interesting and informative account of the meeting. The president gave a detailed report on the Regional Conference that she had attended at Carleton Place.

It was decided to move the Library to new quarters, and the books will now be kept on the shelves in the Nurses' lounge. The new showcase is now installed in the hospital waiting room and will be in operation this week. Articles for this showcase were displayed after the meeting.

The Melvin and Annable unit offered to look after the push-cart for the month of December. It was suggested that members attending the next Auxiliary meeting bring suitable magazines for this cart.

Miss Legris stated that coffee and light refreshments would be served at all future meetings.

The president adjourned the meeting, after which the Harmony Unit held a successful bake sale, and the ladies enjoyed coffee and refreshments served by the hospital staff.

Jacques Poullet Sells 500 Acre Dairy Farm

An important property transaction took place recently in the sale of the 500-acre dairy farm owned by Jacques Poullet of South Mountain to Ernest Plante, co-owner of Plante Dairy, Ottawa.

Mr. Plante is recognized as one of the better cattlemen of Ottawa district and he intends to further expand the present milking herd of 55 cows to 150.

Bible Society Branch Elects New Officers

The annual meeting of the Winchester branch of the Canadian Bible Society was held last Sunday in the United Church. The secretary of the Ottawa Branch, Rev. W. S. Sutherland, was the speaker. Mr. Sutherland, in his informative address, challenged the Society and all Christians to be up and doing for the situation in the world had reached a crisis stage.

The new surge of Nationalism in many countries was affecting the work of the Society. The fact is the representative of the Bible Society, even when they are given Scripture portions free to these people, are either mistrusted or hated because their skin is white.

Then, other religions have started to extend their work, with the avowed intention of spreading their religion over all the world. The Mohammedans are surging over Africa and whole villages are turning to their so-called religion. The same is also true of Hinduism in India.

'How are we to meet this challenge?" asked Mr. Sutherland. "By placing the Printed Word of God, in the native tongue, in the hands of these people." The Bible Society is ready to fulfill its task as the Christians supply the necessary cash through donations, memorials and memorial Bibles.

The newly elected officers are: President, Stanley Rennick; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edgar Turner; assistant, Mrs. Oscar Wallace; and one representative from each of the five churches.

These officers will be installed in their offices at a special service on the morning of December 5th in the United Church. The installation service will be held in a different church each year.

Greetings From Winchester!

Official greetings from the Mayor of Winchester, England, were delivered to Reeve John Fader and his council of Winchester, Ontario, at Monday night's regular November meeting.

Bearer of the official greetings from the mother city in England was Rev. William Sutherland. Rev. and Mrs. Sutherland enjoyed an extended holiday in Great Britain this past summer an during their stay in England they visited Winchester, England and were royally entertained by Her Worship, the Mayor.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland told Council of his visit to Winchester, England, and he said that officials in that city were keenly interested in the other Winchesters in other parts of the world. He was told that Winchester, Ontario is the only town of that name in Canada and he was asked by the Mayor to convey the wishes of that city to this town.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland said that Winchester, England is located in Hampshire and in physical size it covers 3,888 acres. The population is 28,000. History of the city dates back to the days before Christ, and some of the streets, first laid out by the Romans, are still in existence. He said two of the five original Roman gates built at the entrances to the city were still there. The city was rebuilt in 870 A.D. by Alfred the Great after the city had been sacked by the Danes. He said that Winchester, England city officials were anxious to become closer friends with the people of Winchester, Ontario. It is understood that a pen pal relationship will be struck up between High School students in this town and students in Winchester, England. The city is noted for its famous cathedral and once was the capital of England.

The greetings were received by Reeve Fader and he said that a motion of Council acknowledging the message would be made and that officials of Winchester, England would be notified.

Council Trying To Remedy School Delay

Long delay in receiving approval for the construction of the $80,000 addition to Winchester Public School may be the result of a combination of misunderstanding between the parties involved. Both Public School Board and Town Council have said that the Department of Municipal Affairs has all the necessary information to grant the final approval. The Board at Toronto, on the other hand, has explained that it does not have this information and is requesting more data.

Clerk C. R. Robinson received a phone call direct from the Department this week asking him to submit information which he sent in two months ago. Following the frustrating conversation Clerk Robinson reported to Council and later conferred with some members of the School Board. Apparently, in order to speed things along, if that is possible, and to more or less cater to the wishes of the Department at Toronto, requested information will again be forwarded and approval will be urgently anticipated.

The project was approved by the Department of Education as long ago as last June and Council said the Department of Municipal Affairs is well aware of this. The Department insists that it did not know the addition was approved by the Education department. So the sorry mess may have been relieved somewhat this week and no one knows yet just why there has been such a long delay.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Monday night Council learned that the financial position of the District Memorial Hospital Extension program looked considerably brighter. Council was also told that the payment of the $50,000 for the hospital's share in the sewer project would very likely be forthcoming within the next few days. Council was faced with a request from the Ontario Water Resources Commission to make payment. Arrangements have now been made whereby the Board will be in a position to meet its obligations.

Constable Les Whitteker, in his monthly police report, said that $79.50 had been taken in fines under the Highway Traffic Act and that there were seven criminal cases during the month.

Reg Freeland, town engineer, reported to Council and asked permission to repair the small plow and to bulldoze land at the garbage disposal grounds. He also suggested that the vil-

In Case Of "Fall-Out"

Russian detonation of so many big nuclear bombs has caused considerable concern among countries like Canada where fall-out, although not yet dangerous, has greatly increased. In the event that the fall-out did become dangerous and milk supplies were damaged, the government has announced that skim milk powder would be used, particularly for youngsters. One of the country's big manufacturers of skim milk powder is Ault Milk Products Limited and, according to reports Eastern Ontario residents would have to depend on the supply available from the Ault plant. The quantity in storage has gone as high as 3,000,000 pounds. At present the plant has about 1,000,000 pounds of skim milk powder in storage. Lloyd LaPorte, plant manager, points to some of the bags of powder stored at the Winchester plant. The milk powder, by the way, is a good substitute for whole milk. Milk without the fat, skim milk powder is used by many people and business places to-day. Simply add water to the powder and it's ready for use. — Press Staff Photo.

The Great Impersonation

That season's here again. The season when men impersonate deer or other legitimate quarry of the hunter. The impersonation must be good because there are many cases where even his own friends have failed to distinguish between a member of the human race and one of the Cervidae family of four footed creatures. Anyway, "I thought it was a deer" is what the trigger-happy hunter usually gives as his reason for felling a friend.

Sometimes the blame is laid on the clothing worn by the late hunter. He may have worn a brownish-tan outfit with a bright red cap — just the colours of the autumn foliage. When he moved, he resembled leaves and the body of some large animal—just about the height of a deer.

Well, don't they call it "buck fever" when the excitement of the moment sort of counteracts control?

Since colour blindness is about ten times as common among males as females, and male hunters are in the majority, something should be done to make hunter's clothing less like Nature's protective colouring. The prevailing tan of the foliage on bushes and on the ground is in complete harmony with that worn by most hunters. Red in jackets or cap is still a featured colour in the woods fashions, together with some browns. Autumn leaves display yellows and greens, affording the hunter a background from which his fellow hunters cannot pick him out.

Bright blue or black and white horizontal stripes, or checks of at least three or four inches square, stand out from any natural background. (Vertical stripes are too much like the surrounding design of trunks and tall bushes). Any small patches of white could be mistaken for the white-tailed deer trademark. Don't wear any colours that are the same as the ground or growth colours.

If you are accustomed to wear glasses, don't leave them at home when you go out for the deer, especially if they are for distance viewing. Don't shoot unless you are positive that the target you aim for is not a human or a domestic animal. Some farmers have adopted signs which they hang over the bodies of their cattle because hunters have killed or wounded valuable stock. If you aren't quite sure of the difference between cows and deer, just study some pictures until you are.

Then there's another danger — the celebration at the end of the day. This should be confined to the time when firearms are stacked and ammunition put into a safe place, so that there won't be much danger of Jonesy thinking Smitty's head would look lovely mounted on the wall of the rumpus room or bomb shelter.

Don't celebrate the success or failure of someone in the party to the extent that next morning your fingers or eyes aren't up to par. After all, the deer's head would make the better trophy, mounted.

Remembrance Day

This Saturday, November 11, is Remembrance Day. It is not a holiday in Winchester, nor should it be. This is not a time to break away from the regular routine but a time to pay a solemn tribute to a lot of Canadians who died in the fight for preservation of freedom and peace.

In Winchester and district a service of remembrance will be held at the Cenotaph on Sunday at noon. As we gather at the Cenotaph to participate in this service and to observe the minute of silence in memory of our fallen comrades, we should each offer a silent prayer that those whose memory we carry in our hearts and who have answered that last roll call have not died in vain. Particularly is this true this year when war clouds hang low across the nations of freedom, when the entire world community is threatened with the fear of a nuclear war.

As we pay tribute each of us should rededicate our lives to the principles of freedom and democracy and pray, too, that we will be given the strength and guidance to preserve peace across the world.

Closely associated with the Remembrance Day service is the sale of the Poppy. The purchase and wearing of the poppy not only commemorates the blood-red poppies of Flanders but through their manufacture by veterans, hundreds of disabled service men and women are provided with gainful occupation which helps them to carry on and maintain their place as respected citizens. From the sale of the poppies the Royal Canadian Legion derives much of the funds which are used to assist disabled veterans and needy families throughout Canada.

The Winchester Legion is typical of the many branches across Canada. It is doing a worthwhile job in this community and your support in buying poppies and in attending the Remembrance Day service is very important.

The following poem, entitled Remembrance Day, by Phyllis M. Adams of Fitch Bay, Quebec, seems to tell the story of this particular time of year better than other words which are written here:

Another year has now rolled by,
But not another Day!
November the Eleventh
Is still Remembrance Day!

Be sure to wear a Poppy
To prove sincere regard
For those who died for freedom
For their country; no reward.

But honour, love and duty
Given freely, so that we Might dwell in peace, security,
And be forever free!

Theirs not to know our hazards
Of another enemy!
But the Poppy e'er reminds us
How they died, to make us free!

By way of illustrating the numerous different pronunciations of "ough" a Professor of English at a leading university has come up with the following: Though the tough cough and hiccough plough us through . . . Now who was that who said English wasn't the most difficult of all languages to learn?

WANTED — MORE EMPLOYERS

Unemployment continues to be the number one problem in Canada. There is only one solution to it: more employers —more stores, farms, corporations, factories, mines, oil fields and the rest, able to employ men and women to do the work of the world.

All sorts of schemes are devised to try to help the unemployed. They are not and cannot be satisfactory. Men want to earn their way. Besides, no country can prosper by subsidizing enforced idleness year after year.

Unemployment has a cause. Those who would like to hire men and women for useful occupations cannot afford to do so. Housewives would like to have domestic help; farmers nearly all need or could use a hired hand to good purpose; manufacturers, the largest employers of all, would be reaching out hungrily for more manpower if they could sell their products at present prices.

The problem bothers all political parties. Yet none will face up to the cause—because to enable employers to engage more help, tax rates would have to be reasonable. Political parties have all committed themselves to such heavy social welfare spending that they are afraid to suggest lower tax rates. Most politicians are so afraid to offend labor union leaders that they will not speak the truth about wages getting out of line with productivity.

I think the present government sees the problem and knows what the solution is. They have to face the voters, though, and they fear that the measures they should take are economically sound but politically unpopular.

In short, what is now required is statesmanship of a high order. Politicians should do what they know to be right. They should have faith that there are enough sensible Canadians who will, in due course, endorse such action. Employers must be given a chance to grow. Today, the government takes about half of all corporate profits of major enterprises. This means there isn't enough money generated to ensure growth or encourage investment.

If tax rates were reduced, unemployment would soon cease to be our number one problem.

Sugar and Spice

By Bill Smiley

By the time this appears in print, the battle over the observance of Remembrance Day, November 11, will be over, in most centres. It's an annual fracas, which generates a good deal of heat, and, on occasion, some bitterness.

* * * *

On one side is the Legion, one of whose aims is to keep alive the memory that a goodly number of fathers and sons, uncles and brothers, had their lives torn from them, prematurely and painfully, in the two world wars that have disgraced the twentieth century. The Legion urges that the day be declared a full holiday in every community, and that it be fittingly observed.

* * * *

Ranged on the other side are the merchants and manufacturers, some of whom resent the loss of profit or production that is involved. Lots of them are veterans themselves. They claim, and with some justice, that it's not a day of remembrance any more, but merely a holiday. They wonder aloud why they should pay wages to a fellow who will simply take the opportuniity to go hunting or sit in the pub all day.

* * * *

And right in the middle is the Canadian Government. In deference to the big pressure from the Legion, the government closes its own offices on November 11. But in deference to the even bigger potential howl from industry, the Government does not declare the day a national holiday, and makes little attempt to encourage it as such.

* * * *

What about that ubiquitous creature, the man in the street? Where does he stand? I'm not sure, but I have a pretty good idea that he feels about this question just as he does about most others: he couldn't care less.

* * * *

Of course, if it were put to a national vote, he'd vote for the holiday. I hate to admit it, but I'm afraid that fellow would vote for a paid holiday if someone suggested one in memory of Henry the Eighth, John A. MacDonald or Good King Wenceslas.

* * * *

I have an idea for November 11. Let's make it a full holiday. And let's make it a real day of national mourning and remembrance. Let's turn off all hydro. Let's make any kind of heat or light against the law for 24 hours. Let's close all places of entertainment. Let's forbid travel. Then, in the cold and dark and the boredom, we'd suffer perhaps one one-hundredth of what the fellows in the trenches went through, back in that big war that ended 43 years ago.

* * * *

Perhaps the reason the Government plays it cagey is because it is obvious that in 20 years there won't be many World War I veterans left, and in 30 years they'll be virtually extinct. I find that a depressing thought in more ways than one.

* * * *

Personally, I hate to miss the annual parade to the Cenotaph. At our school, we have an impressive remembrance ceremony.

* * * *

We always formed up at the Legion Hall, with a great bustling among the color party and the parade-master. The Scouts and Guides would tag on the end to swell our meagre ranks. To the inevitable strains of Colonel Bogey, we swung smartly down the main street. Stern and straight we marched, looking neither to left nor right, except to nod at friends or grin at our kids or wave to our wives.

* * * *

When we halted at the Cenotaph there would be a big crowd — maybe 40 or 50 —gathered there. Everybody would be looking pretty serious. It was always cold. The Mayor read the names of the fallen, and the wind would snatch them up and throw bits of them into the crowd.

* * * *

A representative from each of the town's organizations placed a wreath, with varying degrees of self-consciousness. Then came the call for individual wreaths. You blamed the wind for making your eyes water as one or two women, lone, swollen with memory of lost son or husband, went awkwardly forward.

* * * *

At the flagpole, his post of honor, stood the Old Legionaire. He had fought in the first one, and he had lost his son in the second one. And when he lowered the flag and bowed his head, and the colours dipped, and the Last Post shivered in the cold, and the town bell tolled in the silence that followed, there was a big, painful lump in your throat.

* * * *

And then, with the jaunty hoot of Reveille, the dying was ended and life began again. The shouted command, the lively march tune of the band, brought the wanted release from sadness, and we swung off merrily enough.

* * * *

And after the service, the warmth of the Legion Hall, with good friends, good fellowship, good refreshments and good stories by the hour. Ah, I'm sorry I won't be there this year. I'll miss every bit of it. Except the bit where I catch a phenomenal blast from my wife for arriving home 12 hours after the parade.

The Seventh Column

Some of the unsung heroes in any town are the industrious group of young fellows commonly known as "the paper boys." Although this newspaper does not have paper boys for delivery the writer, like many other people, depends greatly on the hard work and promptness of the paper boy in delivering his "daily" newspaper each afternoon. And most of the time the paper arrives regularly. Matter of fact one could almost tell the time with the arrival of the paper each afternoon about 5.15. Sure, there are times when the young lad has run into some of the boys or maybe he has been sidetracked and the paper arrives a few minutes late. But rain or shine, warm or cold, these paper boys, in our estimation, are doing a fine job. The pay is not big, but adequate, and at least the job is learning these young fellows a little bit about responsibility. So, Hats Off to the paper boys this week.

Your Badge of Remembrance at this time of year is the Poppy. There are no excuses for not buying one — and just because you have kept last year's little red emblem is no reason for not buying another one this year. The revenue is used wisely in support of a lot of men and women who fought for this country years ago. And another way you can remember is to take a few minutes off this Sunday and at least attend the Remembrance service at the Cenotaph. The memories of the last war, although 16 years old now, must remain vivid with all of us, particularly at this time of year. If you are mindful of the sacrifice paid, you won't need to be urged to attend this special service on Sunday.

We have just finished reading a little booklet entitled "So You're Going On TV." Reason for the reading lies in the fact that we are making a guest appearance — no, not The Perry Como Show — on Valley Weekly, a regular Sunday afternoon feature on CJOH TV, Channel 13, Ottawa. Now, providing we wear the right colour of shirt, tie and suit, and providing we don't stare at the monitor more than five minutes at a time, and providing the cameras don't break down, the TV antennae stands the shock of such a signal, and the picture tube doesn't blow with frustration, we'll be seeing you or you'll be seeing us on television this Sunday. Well, the kids are excited anyway.

Plaudits for the weather. It's been many years since the Fall season was blessed with so much sunshine, so little frost and, generally, so many nice days. The week-end was a fine example. Temperature must have risen to about 70 degrees and as we puttered around the cottage we noticed more than a couple of anglers wetting what could be the last line for this year. Seems great that we can still fish and golf at this time of year and turn on the TV set and watch football and hockey. It's a strange season, but all of us are enjoying it, hoping it lasts "just a little bit longer."

If the town is a little quieter this week and if the population seems to have diminished somewhat, don't worry. The annual trek to the northlands by the ardent deer hunter has started. Let's hope they all get a deer and, better still, let's hope they all get back safely.

One of the advertisements in this issue of The Press reminds us that there are only 38 shopping days left till Christmas. Gad, what a thought! And with so little time left we are rather surprised that arrangements have not been made, as yet, for the annual Santa Claus visit and Christmas decorations. Certainly hope that Winchester business places will again get together in this fine promotion. It's really worthwhile. And let's face it, anything we can do to promote the town is important.

No, we aren't going out on a limb and calling a Grey Cup winner yet, but we will bet that either Ottawa or Toronto will meet Hamilton for the Big Four title.

And for all those keen competitors who have been itching to throw a few stones at the Curling rink — the time has come. Winchester Curling Club opens for the season this Saturday night and there's an open invitation to everyone interested in joining the fun to be on hand. Looks like another good season for the Curling Club which has been rolling along in fine fashion in recent years.

Joke of the Week

Editor, Winchester Press,
Dear Sir:

Enclosed find Money Order to pay for my subscription to The Press. I enjoy reading the paper every week and think Bill Smiley's column is worth the subscription price.

Have been interested in the school question in Winchester as I attended the High School there.

Last night we were at the Official Opening of the million dollar Emery Collegiate, near here, north of Weston in Metropolitan Toronto. The swimming pool alone cost $150,000. This school is said to be the most modern in Ontario.

We live on three acres here at Emery, part of 200 acres my husband's great grandfather took in 1804 as a Crown grant of land, coming as a U. E. Loyalist. Later, 100 acres changed hands for a team of horses. Seven generations of sons have lived on this land, but we cannot hold it much longer.

Twelve hundred acres of industrial development is just north of us — farmers selling their land for over $2,000 an acre. We think Toronto will extend to Lake Simcoe with the development going on.

Please check my street number as it is very thickly populated around here and I do not wish to miss a copy of The Press.

Yours truly,

MRS. DAVID L. DEVINS.

WHERE DID ALGOMA GET ITS NAME?

The Algoma District in Northern Ontario gets its name from a word that was coined by the American ethnologist and explorer, Henry Rowe Schoolcraft. Schoolcraft advocated the word as the name for Lake Superior in recognition of the Ojibwa claim to it as the Algonkin sea. The Al comes from Algonkin and the goma is a variant of gum-ee or go-m-ee, meaning waters. The Ojibwa Indians, a branch of the Algonkin nation, were the first inhabitants of Algoma.

United Nations Report

By Jean Casselman, M. P.

In so many different ways there has been a breath-taking piece of history writing itself at the 16th Session of the United Nations.

In spite of all efforts at disarmament so admirably led and cleverly promoted by Canada, the USSR continues nuclear tests. By undertaking the 50 megaton test the USSR deliberately overrode world opinion as expressed in the United Nations overwhelming vote against further nuclear testing on October 28th. It seems that Russia cares nothing for world opinion. Still, this opinion is forming fast and may be more effective against them than the Communists realize or expect.

Meanwhile more quietly but nonetheless importantly new nations join the Parliament of the World here in New York. With the entrance of Outer Mongolia and Mauritania there are 104 members, more than twice the original membership of the United Nations.

Although membership in the United Nations is to be open to all peace-loving states which accept the obligations contained in the Charter, these last two entered in a complicated balancing of power. China was persuaded to abstain from using her vote against Outer Mongolia in the hope that Mauritania's African friends would not go against her and support Red China in the struggle for Chinese representation.

If the arrival at the UN of these last two nations has somewhat bewildered the idealists, for the 100th nation, Sierra Leone, there was a clear, unadulterated welcome.

Sierra Leone is a little state in North West Africa between Liberia and Guinea. These neighbouring states co-sponsored Sierra Leone's application for membership, as did members of the Commonwealth.

In his speech of welcome to the new nation Lord Home, the United Kingdom Foreign Minister, referred to the long history of this land known to the Carthaginians 500 years before Christ. He continued with a short synopsis of the intriguing contribution of this country to the problems of displaced persons, long before this terminology was used in discussing re-adjustments to strife which has always afflicted mankind.

Lord Home stated: "But it is really the name of the capital, Freetown, which tells us more than anything else about Sierra Leone. Because Freetown was just that: a place where the slaves were brought back to start life afresh and be free. And when they came back and they gathered together under a cotton tree, I believe, one hundred and seventy-five years ago, they started the first tentative experiments in self-government and democracy. So, Sierra Leone comes to us as a country which not only welcomed people back home who had been slaves, but brought into their country, too, and welded them together with the people from inland; and so they have an experience in harmonizing the interests of different peoples within a single community."

The representative from China mentioned what a tower of intellectual strength Sierra Leone had been to the other African nations.

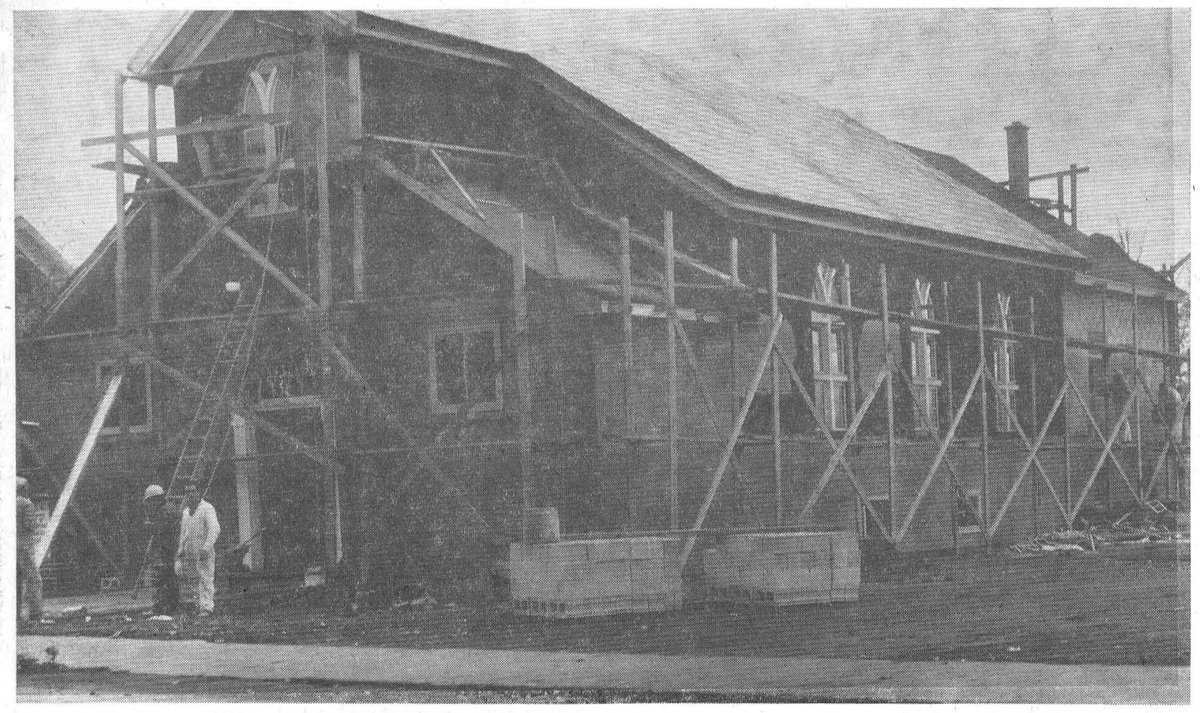
In keeping with her long tradition of education and development, this state entered the United Nations with the utmost dignity. Her able and respected Prime Minister, Sir Hilton Margai, in marked contrast to the bitterness of some new nations, expressed his thanks to the United Kingdom who made their transition from a colonial dependency to an equal member of the Commonwealth such an orderly, peaceful and friendly process. He stated, "We have no territorial ambitions, and we seek no position of leadership. We ask only that, as we respect the sovereign rights of all countries, our own sovereignty will be similarly respected. With this assurance we offer our co-operation, first to our neighbours in Africa and then to all other countries in every effort to restore and maintain human dignity everywhere, to establish firm foundations for peace, and to improve the physical, social and spiritual well-being of all mankind.

"Finally, it is because we had confidence in the aims and objectives of the Charter of the United Nations that we sought membership in it. This confidence, now that we are members, inspires us to look beyond the mists which appear to dim the road immediately ahead. Although the future seems dark, let us not let go of each other's hands, and let us collectively put our hands in the hand of God who alone can bless our efforts by leading us through our present difficulties to lasting peace and goodwill."

Fine and splendid sentiments, with which all agree, can come from any part of the world.

The ten delegates from Sierra Leone entered their seats dressed in togas of white, blue, green, some plain, some patterned in flowers or in gold. Each wore very individual headgear, turbans, a high large net pink one and richly decorated pill boxes with gold tassles.

The greatness of the United Nations is the proof that differences of fashion, colour of skin, historical background can be encompassed naturally by people looking to the future with hopes for peace and tolerance between all human beings.



WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH

Building Program Nears Completion

Stone, mortar and paint are being applied to Winchester Wesleyan Methodist Church in great quantities this week as a part of the church expansion program. Expected to be ready for dedication services about December 1st, the building program at the church will allow for extra seating accommodation. More important, it will afford the church with a new nursery looking over the main auditorium plus a pastor's study, choir room and choir loft. Downstairs the crowded Sunday Sunday rooms will be greatly enlarged to accommodate the growing numbers. The over-all church building is also receiving a face-lifting in the way of a complete stucco job. The renovations and extension are expected to greatly beautify the church building. Building managers are Earl Gallagher, Allan Hutchinson and Rev. Willis Mack, and funds are being made available through a special church building fund within the membership. The actual extension measures 22 x 36 feet. Building contractor is Erwin Duncan; wiring, Archie Sheldrick; heating, G. E. Elliott, and stucco, LaPorte Brothers of Ottawa.—Press Staff Photo.

Vernon Church Meetings

W.M.S. Meeting

Mrs. Stewart Fisher was programme convener for the November meeting of Vernon Presbyterian W. M. S., and she presented an excellent paper with the theme, "The Call of the Church." She was assisted in presenting her material by Mrs. H. M. Lee, Mrs. Bruce Dow, Mrs. Alex Campbell and Mrs. A. Stewart. The paper discussed the origin and task of the c' rch, "I am the Church," "My rch," and "Why Go to Church?" This was followed by a true and false Bible Quiz.

Mrs. Ed. Lanoue conducted the devotional period, which centred around "Dorcas," the woman whom Peter raised from the dead, and whose name is used to this day by many sewing groups. Her name was synonymous with works of charity and good-will. Roll call was answered by twenty-six ladies with a scripture verse beginning with the letter "O."

The president, Mrs. Paul Mills, called for reports from various officers, and thanked Mrs. Harold Cowan and her group for overseeing the refreshments for the Thank Offering Service. News letters from the mission fields in Formosa and India (Bhil Field) were made available for all to read. It was decided to send for the programme for the new year on the subject "British Guiana and National Missions."

The meeting closed with the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation."

Ladies' Aid

The November meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society was held at the home of Mrs. Neil Lee. The president, Mrs. Ian Crerar, was in the chair. Arrangements were made regarding the flower committee, and cleaning the church for the month. Final plans were made for the anniversary turkey supper to be held on Friday, November 10th, in the church hall. A nominating committee for both the W. M. S. and Ladies' Aid was appointed, and will consist of Mrs. H. M. Lee, Mrs. H. Cowan and Mrs. J. K. Campbell. Mrs. Bruce Dow displayed the Christmas cards which are for sale. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. A. Stoodley and Mrs. Alex Campbell served lunch, and Mrs. Crerar thanked the hostess, lunch committee and programme convener.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. S. Dalgleish.

Mrs. Alex Montroy Dies Suddenly

Neighbours and friends in the Inkerman Station area were saddened to hear of the sudden illness and death of a respected citizen, Mrs. Alex Montroy, at her home recently.

Born in Kemptville 55 years ago, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGovern, the deceased lived in Apple Hill, Ontario, prior to moving with her husband and family to Inkerman Station twenty years ago.

Funeral service was conducted by Father Scanlan from her late residence to St. Daniel's Roman Catholic Church, South Mountain, of which the late Mrs. Montroy was a member.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters and three sons: Mrs. Alex St. Pierre (Anna May), of Winchester; Stella, at home; Mervin, of Marionville; Robert and Eugene, at home. Five grandchildren also survive, as well as five brothers and two sisters, Bernard, Angus, Cornieli and Leo, of Kemptville, and Fred, of Calgary; Mrs. B. Montroy, of Winthrop, N. Y., and Mrs. E. Begin, of Kemptville.

Interment took place at St. Daniel's R. C. Cemetery, South Mountain. Pall-bearers were George Suffel, Russell Suffel, Steve Bell, Byron Ostrom, Jack Lewis and Gustave St. Pierre.

Many floral tributes were testimonies to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

"Bell" Offering New Service

"Home Interphone," a new communications service with such features as door-answering, hand-free talking and electronic baby-sitting, will be available here by mid-November, according to E. G. Thompson, Bell Telephone manager for Winchester.

The system was market-tested by the company during the spring and summer and results indicated a demand for the service.

"Home Interphone" works entirely through standard telephones, including the Princess sets, with separately mounted loudspeakers. Built inside each telephone in the system is a microphone unit. Door-answering, listening in on a sleeping baby, rounding up the family with the "come and get it" call can be accomplished simply by lifting the nearest telephone receiver in the house.

When a call for one person is answered by another, the person who took the call can "hold" by lifting a small button. By turning another button this person can page the person wanted over the intercom system. The one the call is intended for can then answer at the nearest telephone. The intercom calls can be answered without touching the telephone.

MILNE — FOLKARD

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Kemptville, was the scene of a pretty Fall wedding when Marva Joan Folkard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Folkard, of Kemptville, married Barry Campbell Milne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Milne, Kemptville. Rev. S. Lotfi officiated at the ceremony.

Attending the bride were Miss Connie McLeod as maid of honour, Misses Betty Fleming and Lorna Price as bridesmaids, and Miss Barbara Levere as junior bridesmaid. Best man for the groom was Ronald Milne, and the ushers were Earl Hammond, Garry Folkard and Sherwood Cavanagh.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a white floor-length gown of peau de soie with a scooped neckline, fitted bodice and lilypoint sleeves. The draped skirt extended into a chapel train, and a white pearl tiara held her bouffant tulle illusion veil in place. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and ivy.

Miss McLeod wore a gold velvet dress, and the bridesmaids wore green velvet gowns. All carried bouquets of bronze mums with barley and Bells of Ireland.

JOHNSTON — McINTOSH

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Metcalfe United Church on Saturday evening when Rev. Mr. Kingston united in marriage Francis Gwendolyn McIntosh and Kenneth Wilfred Johnston. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison McIntosh, Winchester, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Carl Johnston and the late Mr. Johnston, of Metcalfe.

The bride was smartly attired in a winter white brocade street-length dress, with fuschia feather headdress and gloves, brown fur jacket and brown accessories. Her corsage was of Pink Delight and Baccara Roses.

The mother of the bride wore a variegated blue matte jersey dress with magenta accessories and a corsage of white mums. The mother of the groom wore a sky-blue dress with dusty pink accessories and a corsage of white mums.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. MacDonald, Winchester, grandparents of the bride, and the immediate families.

Clean and Test Local Grain Suitable for Seed

Because of the quality of local grain this year, it would seem a good idea to hold any lots that look as if they would make seed and get a germination test.

It probably will be taking quite a chance using this damaged grain for seed unless it is tested.

This could be done now so that lots suitable for seed may be kept and anything that will not make seed may be used for feed throughout the winter.

Another reason for getting this testing done now is that the Government testing laboratory in Ottawa is so busy later on that it is often difficult for them to keep up with the damand and fairly long delays must be expected.

We have already made arrangements for a supply of No. 1 Seed Grain for spring, which will be available at reasonable cost, but we do suggest that anyone intending to use their own grain should have it tested.

(By Kathie Beamish)

Remembrance Day Programme

The annual Remembrance Day Service conducted by the students of the Mountain and Hallville School, and the high school at South Mountain will be held at the Mountain Memorial Park on Friday morning, November 10, beginning at 10.30 a.m. The service will be under the direction of the Head Girl, Kathie Beamish, with the music provided by a combined choir from all three schools. Rev. Douglas Fry, minister of the Presbyterian Churches of Iroquois and South Mountain, will deliver the main address.

Individuals and numerous organizations in our area are asked to join with the students in placing wreaths at the Memorial, and anyone wishing to procure a wreath is asked to contact the high school.

We wish to thank Mr. Gordon Cumming who has donated the use of his public address system; the men from Mountain who have prepared the park for the service; the Mountain Oddfellows' Lodge for the use of their lodge building, and the Winchester Legion for their assistance.

In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held in the Oddfellows' Hall at Mountain rather than at the park.

Curling

Another enjoyable season of Curling is anticipated by our student curlers through the generosity of the members of the Winchester Curling Club who are making available to us again this winter the excellent facilities of their Curling Rink. Five Pin Bowling A Popular Sport

Five pin bowling in Canada is fast becoming one of the nation's top participant sports. New alleys are being opened everwhere, and all report busy seasons.

In Winchester, Flora's Bowling Alleys, operated by Jean and Dalton Kenney, offer the five-pin enthusiasts a chance to try their skill six nights each week. From Monday to Thursday evenings inclusive the alleys are taken up with league bowling. No fewer than seven leagues are in operation each week with more than 200 bowlers taking part. Friday and Saturday nights the alleys are reserved for "Open" bowling and, according to the proprietors, both the seven and nine o'clock times available are generally busy with groups and individuals who have reserved a special time to bowl. Reservations for these two nights may be made by phoning 444 well in advance.

Winchester alleys are well maintained and have been in operation for 12 years. Local teams have also won many Eastern Ontario prizes both in men's and women's divisions. Regular league teams are made up of Winchester and district residents in a 20-mile radius of the town.

Vernon Baptist Mission Circle

The Baptist Senior Mission Circle held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. James Ferguson with sixteen ladies present. The meeting opened with a timely meditation and prayer by Mrs. Keeler.

The devotional, which was prepared by Mrs. R. A. Campbell, was read by Miss Donaldson and was based on "The Good Shepherd" as found in the gospel of John, also the story of Mary Slessor, which was prepared by Mrs. Campbell's granddaughter.

The missionary news was given by Miss Carlyle, and Mrs. Keeler gave a talk on interesting items gleaned from a foreign missionary who had been home for the summer but who has gone back to her beloved task, although afflicted with a serious eye ailment.

The minutes were read and roll call answered by verses containing the word "Peace."

The topic was given by Mrs. Maynard McDiarmid, assisted by the president, Mrs. Bowen, Miss Donaldson, Miss Jessie Campbell, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Howard, with Mrs. Keeler using the map. The topic dealt with the history of the work in Bolivia.

Two hymns were sung and the meeting closed with prayer. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour.

Some are born savers

The squirrel does things by instinct. But humans are different. They have to be taught just about everything. If you're a farmer, that means teaching your child many things, such as, crop rotation, livestock judging, successful marketing—but, first and foremost, it should mean teaching your child, early in life, to save.

Encourage him to open his own Savings Account at the "Royal", and to practice putting aside something on a regular basis. Show him that having something laid away can often make the difference between success and failure. Then (like the squirrel) he'll be prepared for the future.

Ask for a copy of our booklet "Financial Training for Your Son and Daughter". It provides a practical pattern of financial training for any parent with growing children, shows you how to encourage them to stand on their own feet in financial matters. It is free at your nearest Royal Bank branch.

Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial Sectional Rallies

At Winchester Springs

Brilliant autumn sun shining through the windows of Winchester Springs United Church made a wonderful setting for the final Fall Rally of Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial, Eastern Section.

Registration began at 9.30 and the meeting opened a half hour later. Mrs. Archie Coulthart presided at both sessions, with Mrs. Murray Dillabough as secretary and Mrs. Clarence Thompson at the piano. The program opened with a Doxology, a call to worship, and a hymn. Mrs. Steele expressed a gracious welcome to all. A brief business session followed. Minutes of 1960 Rally were read and approved, and committees appointed. Mrs. Leizert, Presbyterial president, requested that all report forms be sent in promptly. She announced that a C.G.I.T. Rally will be held in Prescott on Saturday, November 4th, from 1.30 to 5 p.m., and all will be welcome, especially young girls.

Mrs. Bower Potter, who was a delegate to the School for Church Women at Ste. Anne de Bellevue in August, gave a very interesting report of the four days spent there. She remarked that attendance at the school has greatly increased in the last two years.

During her brief talk, Mrs. K. Henderson, Presbyterial Literature Secretary, introduced a number of aids to study and worship, and also books for children.

The morning offering was accepted by Harmony ladies and dedicate by Mrs. Poole. Rev. Mr. Brookson conducted a Bible study, reading the New English Translation of Matt. 13, verses 18 to 30, with comments on these verses, and closed the session with prayer.

An opportunity was given to visit the literature table before retiring to the dining room where a most delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Chesterville Evening Auxiliary, represented by Mrs. M. E. Johnson and Mrs. C. Merkley, opened the afternoon session with the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation." They based their Scripture reading and talks and prayers on the theme "Make sure of a good foundation." Purity, gentleness, love and sincerity must be built into it. The solo, "What Shall We Give To The Master?" sung by Mrs. Bernice Barkley, carried on the theme.

Roll call, which was answered by telling the age of each Auxiliary, showed that Morrisburg, Colquhoun, Winchester, Williamsburg, Winchester Springs had each been organized seventy years or more. The offering was taken by Colquhoun ladies and dedicated by Mrs. R. Colquhoun. Mrs. H. Popplewell, reporting for the courtesy committee, gave thanks to all those who in any way contributed to the success of the day.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Morrison, President of Montreal-Ottawa Conference Branch. After bringing greetings from the Branch she spoke on the subject that had been uppermost in the minds of all the speakers —the coming merger of the Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Assoication. She said this had been eight years in planning. One main object of the new organziation is to get every woman interested in every part of the church's' work. Reading is important. The Missionary Monthly is being absorbed into the Observer. Life members will continue to be life members and the new life member fee will be $20.00.

In closing thoughts Mrs. Leizert recalled the beginning and growth of W. M. S. She said that the present must be faced and the future anticipated. The church must employ new methods. There is need for prayer for the new methods and new tasks. Look forward in faith that God will still lead us and guide us.

At Inkerman

"Churches For New Times" was the theme for the Central Sectional Rally, held in Inkerman United Church last Thursday. Mrs Jas. H. Levere, vice president of the section, presided for both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The morning worship was conducted by the South Mountain group, and the ladies of Brinston led in the opening worship in the afternoon.

Mrs. Arnold Suffel, president of Inkerman W. M. S., welcomed the ladies to the rally, stressing her pleasure at greeting so many ladies from the area to the last meeting of the Central Section before the groups unite with the W. A.'s in forming the new group, "The United Church Women."

Mrs. James Baker, of the Mountain Society, gave a full and interesting report of her four-day stay at the School for Church Women at MacDonald's College, in August.

Literature flashes were presented at both sessions by Mrs. N. Henderson, Spencerville. The morning offering was received by the ladies of Inkerman Society and dedicated by Miss Edna Swerdfeger, Vancamp. In the afternoon members from Iroquois received and dedicated the offering.

Mrs. R. Leizert, President of Dundas - Grenville Presbyterial, urged the societies to complete their annual reports as early as possible this year.

Mrs. H. VanAllen, Iroquois, addressed the ladies during the morning session on "My Souvenirs," recalling objectives and accomplishments of past years.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Morrison, president of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference Branch, was introduced by Mrs. S. B. Simms of Mountain. In her address Mrs. Morrison used as her text, "Behold, I Make All Things New." "The past inspires us, the present heartens us, and the future beckons us," Mrs. Morrison said. In paying tribute to the founders of the Woman's Missionary Society, Mrs. Morrison praised the excellent foundations laid so long ago, coupled with their great forethought for the future.

The closing thoughts for the day were given by Mrs. H. VanAllen, followed by a skit enacted by the members of Inkerman Mission Band.

Nine societies answered roll call by stating the year in which their particular society was started.

Dundas Women Teachers Meet At Stampville

The October meeting of the Women Teachers' Federation of Dundas was held in Stampville Public School last Monday evening, and opened with "O Canada," folllowed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary. The children of Stampville school sang a chorus, accompanied by Mrs. R. Bell. A report of the annual meeting was given by Mrs. Cleland and Mrs. McDonald.

Miss Lyons, Public Health Nurse, was introduced by Mrs. Violet Robertson. Miss Lyons showed slides of the Eskimos and Indians in the far north at Fort Harrison, Fort George and other northern places, and also slides taken in British Columbia.

Miss Lyons was thanked by Mrs. Marion Tousaw.

A delicious lunch was served by the Matilda Township teachers, who were thanked by Mrs. Erma Steven. The meeting closed with "God Save The Queen."

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS

School Problems Not New Here

School problems in Winchester are not new. If Board members to-day feel alone in their frustration of trying to bring about construction of new buildings and additions, a glance backward in the history of Winchester shows that what is taking place to-day reflects the situation as it stood about 50 years ago.

Jim VanBridger, young Winchester resident who has three sons attending school, is one of the many people keenly interested in the outcome of the present plight to obtain more accommodation at both schools. Leafing through the 1934 historical sketch of Winchester which was published in conjunction with the Old Home Week at that time, Jim ran across this item on Winchester schools and dropped it off at The Press Office.

Many Winchester residents still have this Historical Review and it contains a lot of interesting material and some of it, like the school information, is appropriate to-day.

According to the book, rooms used for higher grades in the public school became overcrowded and it was decided to erect a suitable building for the purpose of teaching high school work. The Board in 1914 consisted of J. A. Campbell, T. A. Scott, Thomas Irving, J. H. Faith, Frank Elliott, J. E. Hutt and N. W. Beach. Like to-day, there was controversy over the site. Quoting from the report of 1914: "The site on which the building was to be erected caused a controversy It appeared that the majority of the citizens were in favour of the present site, but the School Board felt that the original price for the land was too high. They offered what they considered the land was worth, but the offer was refused. They then proceeded to make a deal with the late George Quart for one of his fields bordering the highway just south of the culvert on the station road. Large quantities of stone, gravel, etc. were placed there in preparation for the laying of the foundation, but a petition, signed by 300 citizens, asking them to try and make arrangements to obtain the former site, caused them to cease activities. After considerable difficulty as to the price of the land, an agreement was reached between the Board and the original owner of the site upon which the school now stands.

"Mr. Quart was then asked what he would take and call the deal off for the site obtained by him. His price was $500 (compare this to to-day) and this amount was raised by voluntary subscriptions by those who had presented the petition to the Board.

"The new school was built at a cost of $13,200.00 (another comparison) and first teaching began with the following staff: J. M. Zurbrigg, principal; Miss R. Stenhouse, Miss Lulu Edwards and Miss Maude Rose."

According to the book there was apparently little controversy over the public school building which was constructed after the former building was destroyed by fire in 1927. The original cost of the present public school was $50,000 — $30,000 less than it will cost for a four-room addition under the present contract.

To those persons who believe that history does not repeat itself the school problems in this town prove otherwise. Chief differences to-day centre around the high costs and the availability of government grants which were not in force when the high school was built in 1914.

Latest word on both schools is still much the same. The High School question is now centred around the strong possibility of building a $2,000,000 composite school to serve the entire district.

Mountain W. I. Honours Champion Ball Teams

Mountain Women's Institute sponsored a Community Dance in North Mountain Consolidated School last Friday evening. The gala event was in honour of two champion softball teams: the Mountain Intermediate Ladies' team and the Mountain Junior Boys' team.

In recognition of their status as Intermediate Champions of the St. Lawrence Ladies' League, as well as champions of the Eastern Ontario Athletic Softball Association, each member of the girls' team was presented with individual trophies as they were introduced by Gerald Stobo, coach.

High tribute was paid to Gerald Stobo, coach, and Lyal Coughler, manager, of the Mountain Cubs, as well as Rae Imrie, coach, and Willis Riddell, manager, of the Mountain Juniors.

Special words of appreciation were also expressed to L. Deeks and G. Cooper as presidents of the two leagues, and to E. Francis and H. Ing as donors of the trophies. These men were recognized as outstanding leaders of sport organization in the Mountain and district area, giving unstintingly of their time to promote sport participation and entertainment, both at home and away.

Lyal Coughler donated a large trophy to the Dundas-Grenville Intermediate Ladies' softball champions. Mr. Coughler presented this trophy to Edna Dixon and Donna Marcell, who accepted the award on behalf of fellow team mates.

The Paladium Trophy, Earl Francis Trophy and the E. O. A. S. A. (O'Dair) Trophy were on display as well.

In conclusion, Gerald Stobo and Willis Riddell gave the highlights of this season's games and thanked the members of Mountain W. I. for the evening's entertainment.

lage purchase sand and chloride for the winter months and that a suitable site be found to store this material. At the present time there are two sites under consideration but an announcement will not be made until the December meeting.

Councillor George Elliott was appointed a delegate to attend the Inter-County Tourist meeting at Morrisburg on November 16, and Reeve Fader will attend an Unemployment Insurance Commission banquet at Cornwall.

Council said that the road in the Eadie subdivision was in excellent state and that properties could be released. Minor repairs will also be carried out on the new streets in this southwest part of the village, Council said.

Doug. Freeland was granted permission to install two underground 1,000-gallon tanks for the purpose of storing fuel oil. However, Council again emphasized that installation of all tanks, gas and oil, in the village could be granted or turned down by Council. Under the present by-law gas tanks are not allowed and Council said that one or two investigations regarding recent installation of gas tanks without permission would be made immediately. In the meantime, Council will not grant approval for the installation of gas tanks.

Department of Transport renewed the lease on the Town Hall for each Thursday until March, 1963. Accounts passed for payment were: Hydro, $4,641.10; Municipal, $4,577.13, and Water, $500.75.

Winterize Your Driving

Ontario motorists, be winter-wise. Winterize your driving as well as your car and stay alive during the dangerous months ahead.

This is the theme of a province-wide winter safe driving campaign launched November 1st, it has been announced by Ontario's Minister of Transport, Hon. H. L. Rowntree.

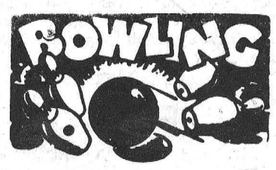
November, December and January are the most hazardous driving months of the year. Although fewer miles were travelled during this period last year, Ontario motorists were involved in more accidents.

"Mileage travelled was 13 per cent. below average but the number of accidents increased by 19 per cent," Mr. Rowntree noted. "There were no fewer than 25,845 accidents in which 295 people lost their lives and 8,659 others were temporarily or permanently disabled."

"Many factors contribute to making the November-December-January traffic toll the highest of the year. Snow-covered or icy roads, increased hours of darkness, reduced visibility, dark clothing worn at night, holiday excitement and confusion, office parties, alcoholic hospitality, all add up to danger on foot and behind the wheel," the Minister said.

The Department's intensive public information program is aimed at focussing attention on "the vital importance of knowing and applying the few simple rules of winter safe driving. These will enable anyone to survive, even under the most severe weather conditions," Mr. Rowntree added.

Automobile owners are urged to winterize their vehicles for the "cold war" during the months ahead. "With your car in good shape and properly equipped, the war is half-won," he concluded. "The rest of the battle will depend on careful attitudes and skillful driving under all road and weather conditions."



In the Fireside Group on Monday night Bob Geggie rolled scores of 273, 165 and 138 to cross 576. Jack Hatcher had 571-231, Howard Porteous 561-217.

In the Berwick League Carrie Manley rolled singles of 149, 186 and 189 for a 524 cross. Clair Robertson had 484-197, Edith Pollock 475-174. Garnet Rutley led the men with 246, 167 and 196 to cross 609. Floyd Dingwall had 570-296.

Harold Armstrong rolled three good games in the Community League on Tuesday with scores of 289, 337 and 249 for a triple of 875. Congratulations, Harold! Lorne Byers was close behind with singles of 294, 267 and 276 for a cross of 837. Ray McNeish had 644-251. Joyce Armstrong led the ladies with 174, 190 and 210 for a 574 cross. Nicole Ranger had 524-201, Myrna Wilson 520-181.

Norm. Utman was top bowler in the Country Gentlemen with a triple of 658 with 114, 248 and 296 singles. Murray Summers had 568-251, Gord. MacDonald 545-235.

We are sorry to report that several of the score sheets for the Bowling leagues were destroyed unintentionally last week and therefore we are unable to report for the Berwick Sports Club, the Happy Gang and the Community League for November 2nd. Owing to this mishap, the weekly bowling Blouse Gift will carry over until next week.
