North Dundas food bank launched

by Michelle Valiquet
Press News Editor

WINCHESTER — Tough economic times and the increasingly heavy demand being placed on area churches by needy families are the driving forces behind the creation of a North Dundas food bank.

A group of 31 concerned people met last Tuesday in Winchester's St. Paul's Presbyterian Church to discuss the possiblity of forming a food bank to service needy families in Mountain and Winchester Townships.

Over the summer, clergy at six area churches were being approached by local families for food, says Anglican minister, Rev. George Bruce.

"Normally we have small amounts of money to help transients to the area with food, but when we were being approached by more and more local people, we decided something had to be done to meet the needs of the community," he explains.

DONATIONS ACCEPTED

Although a location has yet to be settled, donations to the newly formed food bank will be accepted at Winchester Video and all local churches, says Barbara Savory, chairman for the organizing group. Other area businesses will be contacted to see if they too will accept canned goods and non-perishables.

A second meeting, to finalize details and solicit more volunteers to run the program is planned for St. Paul's on Jan. 7, at 8pm. Everyone is welcome to attend says Savory. The group hopes to be operational by mid-January.

"There's no question there is a need for the food bank," agrees Dr. William Walker of Winchester's United Church. "Many individuals are in need due to the climate of the recession and we were certainly getting more and more calls for food in the last six months. It was beyond our resources and the resources of other churches to meet the needs alone."

In setting up the North Dundas food bank, organizers will be looking towards the already established South Dundas Christmas Exchange which provides baskets of food for the needy in the community.

Rev. Allan Tysick, one of the leaders of the South Dundas group, says he has been contacted by the North Dundas food bank to supply practical information about running a food bank such as, what to include in the baskets, record keeping and questions to ask recipients.

Increase small comfort for welfare recipient

Liz Edwards
Press Staff Reporter

CHESTERVILLE — Life will not be much easier despite a recently announced increase in Ontario's two social assistance programs says at least one area welfare recipient.

"It's never enough, it's not even close," says Ann, not her real name, whose monthly assistance cheque supports herself and her three children.

On Dec. 5, the government announced a two per cent increase in the basic allowance — covering food and personal needs, for General Welfare Assistance (GWA) and Family Benefits Allowance (FBA) starting in January.

As well the province will increase the two plans' maximum shelter allowance next year by six per cent, with the first three per cent increase in January and the second in July.

Printing switch greens up Press

JOHNSTOWN — What's black and white and green all over?

The Christmas Greetings section that accompanies this week's Winchester Press.

Green? That's right. For environmentally friendly.

The 40-page greetings section was one of the first editions to come rolling off the newly-installed press at Windmill Web here and marks the beginning of a new era for The Press.

The six-unit Goss Community press, capable of printing 24 broadsheet (what you are now reading) or 48 tabloid sized pages, is jointly owned by The Press, Chesterville Record, and Prescott Journal and went into full production Tuesday.

The new company replaces the patchwork of press services that St. Lawrence Printing Company Limited and 2wo-Mor Publications Inc. had been purchasing across Eastern Ontario and brings all member papers of the Morris Group under one roof.

As of Monday, all papers in the Morris Group, which also include the Russell Villager, Manotick Messenger and Barrhaven Independent, will be printed on Windmill Web's new press.

Owners John and Robin Morris of Prescott took the decision to install their own press this summer, purchasing the six-unit web in Gouverneur, NY, and shipping it to Tilbury, Ont., where it was completely reconditioned.

It was installed in the former Seaway Nissan building, on Highway 2 east of Prescott, last month.

A press operator and assistant operator have been hired to run the 57-foot-long, 56,500-pound machine. A third employee will soon be added.

"The Press is probably Winchester's largest locally-owned employer and the new press helps us control our costs. And if we can get a better handle on our costs in these recessionary times, we are in a better position to protect jobs," Press vice-president Robin Morris said.

Council still at lower end of pay scale

by Michelle Valiquet
Press News Editor

WINCHESTER — Village council voted itself a raise recently and gave municipal staff a five per cent increase across the board.

Effective Jan. 1, 1992 the reeve will get $3,500 for an honorarium, the deputy-reeve $2,100 and councillors $1,800. They will also receive $80 per meeting attended.

Reeve Bruce Kerr indicated the approved increases were an attempt by council to bring rates more in line with the rest of the region's small rural municipalities.

"We have a lot of items on council's agenda in the next year and we are asking people to give up there time to do it," says Kerr. "You have to change things a little at a time and show some fiscal restraint."

"It brings the token amounts council receives in line with the rest of the world," said Councillor John Klein-Swormink referring to the council's pay increases.

In 1991, village councillors' honorarium rested at $1,000, with deputy reeve $1,000 and reeve $3,000. The meeting per diem was $80.

In surrounding municipalities, council salaries vary substantually with Osgoode Township at the top of the scale and Winchester Township at the lower end.

Osgoode Township's mayor is paid $36,750 annually plus an additional amount for attending Regional Municipality of Ottawa-Carleton Council meetings in 1991. Councillors are paid $15,225.

Williamsburg Township's reeve received a $5,600 honorarium in 1991, while the deputy reeve gets $3,900, councillors $2,800. All council members receive $85 per regular or special meeting. In 1990, council received $2,000 less for their efforts and only $80 per meeting.

Mountain Township pays its council members $3,465 annually, with the reeve receiving an additional $500 honorarium.

Winchester Township rates slightly lower than in the village. In 1991, the reeve received $2,500, deputy reeve $1,000 and councillors $400. All council members receive $79 per meeting.

Osgoode, Mountain, Winchester and Williamsburg Townships have yet to decide on their 1992 rates.

New program tries to reach students before they drop out

Elizabeth Moreau
Special to the Press

INGLESIDE— As drop-out rates in area schools continue to fall, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry school boards are trying to ensure that pattern continues with a program that helps kids understand the importance of staying in school.

Six schools in the SD&G public and separate school boards and two schools in Akwesasne are currently teaching the federally-funded START program, which tries to build students' self-esteem and target kids who are more likely to drop out.

Elizabeth McGaughey Nurse, who works with the Industry Education Council in Cornwall, has been co-ordinating the project for Grade 7 and Grade 8 students at Ingleside's Rothwell Osnabruck School since September.

Nurse says kids with financial or emotional problems at home and kids who aren't motivated or interested in their courses are more likely to drop out of school.

And while the START program is targeting those students, Nurse says it's trying to do that without singling them out.

"We try to involve all the students and touch the ones who are at risk," Nurse says.

In 1986, the drop-out rate for the SD&G Public School Board was more than 12 per cent. The board recently announced that 9.2 per cent of students left during the 1990-91 school year.

One highlight of the START project is a self- esteem program, which focuses on decision-making, setting goals, and assertiveness.

Two-headed Santa

Santa Claus stopped in South Mountain over the weekend after participating in the community's snow-struck parade. When he arrived at the IOOF hall hundreds of area parents and children crowded inside to see him. This little girl seemed a little shy at meeting the jolly old man. Maybe she was put off by a decoration on the wall that appeared to give Santa two heads.

Food bank

"We'll be helping them to set up and working in conjunction with them," says Tysick, adding the formation of a North Dundas group would ease pressure on the already overtaxed South Dundas food resources.

"We serve a lot of Winchester Springs, Winchester and Chesterville area families," says Tysick, whose Christmas exchange has applicants for 210 baskets this year.

"We're hoping the new food bank will ease the burden somewhat. I hope area residents support the effort because the need is there."

Welfare

But with a provincial inflation rate of 3.3 per cent for goods and services, Ann, a Chesterville area resident, says recipients like herself will have to cut back on already tight budgets to make ends meet.

"If you look at things like utilities they will go up way more than two or three per cent," she says. "It (the increase) is not going to do that much."

Ann and her children are four of 2,182 people in SD&G (not including Cornwall) who currently depend on welfare due to unemployment, ill health or emergency situations. The number increased by almost 1,000 people from Nov. 1990.

The FBA now supports 1,760 recipients and dependents in Charlottenburg Township, Dundas County and Stormont County, not including Cornwall. The allowance generally assists people who require long-term support because they are disabled, single parents or 60 years of age and over.

As a single parent with three children under 12, Ann will receive in January $796 in basic allowance and a maximum of $740 a month for shelter.

The amount an individual actually receives for shelter depends on costs of accommodation, including expenses such as rent, mortgages and utilities, says Susan Lefebvre, administrator of SD&G Social Services.

Although Ontario landlords can only raise rents by six per cent by next year, some recipients could experience some financial difficulty if their rents are raised before July, when the second half of the shelter increase comes into effect, according to Ann.

"A lot can happen between January and July," she says.

Lefebvre says recipients should be able to fulfill basic needs on what they receive but says the allowance leaves room for little else.

Ann agrees but adds it's very tough.

"It can be done but there's no luxuries. When birthdays come, it's really rough," she says.

She manages by keeping a very strict budget. As well, winter and back-to-school clothing allowances help out. Next year, Ann will receive $104 per child for winter wear and $68 for each school-age child under 12 years. Recipients with school children over 12 will be entitled to $126 per child.

Ann says she hopes her situation will only be temporary and she will be able to return to work when her youngest child, now an infant, is older. But she says the job will have to pay enough to support her family.

"Not all welfare recipients are a dead-end. Some of us are tying to figure out what we're going to do in the future. We still have pride," she says.

START

Nurse says kids with low self-esteem often have trouble learning and relating with their peers.

"(Their success) is reflected in their marks, but it starts with their attitude," Nurse says.

"We try to re-mold the way they look at their subjects and the way they look at each other."

The program used videos, worksheets, and techniques like role-playing. One video, called "Math—who needs it?," shows kids how many careers and life skills require high school math.

In January, Nurse will take the program to a school in Dundas County.

Printing

Along with the economic implications of installing the new press, the owners took into consideration its environmental impact and feel their new operation is, if not on the cutting edge, at least among the leaders in environmentally-conscious industrial production.

The printing plant creates virtually no waste that cannot be re-used or recycled and a conscious effort was made to use as many environmentally- friendly products as possible.

Inks are vegetable oil-based and the 1,000-pound rolls of newsprint that sit under each of the press's six units contain recycled fibre.

Recyling bins sit on the plant's floor for the immediate deposit of press spoils and these are picked up by a local recycling company.

The printing industry has long been a major recycler, shipping out aluminum press plates, page negatives and chemical fix for recycling and silver reclamation, but Windmill Web takes this one step further by eliminating some of these materials through the use of its new Pyrofax press plating system.

The Pyrofax, manufactured by Ingenuity Incorporated of Amarillo, Texas, does away with conventional page negatives and the chemical developers, stop baths and fixers needed to produce them. Its technology also eliminates the need for chemical plate devlopers.

In essence, the Pyrofax is a giant photocopier, using an intermediate sheet of electrostatically- charged and re-usable mylar film to transfer an image to a re-usable rubber "transmat".

The transmat is then placed in a large heater and the photocopier toner from its image is liquefied and transferred to a metal plate from which a newspaper page is printed.

The plates are recycled by a Montreal firm and each transmat can produce about 2,000 newspaper pages before being replaced.

The only waste the machine produces is about a cupful of photocopier toner a week and the only chemistry it employs is a drop of Sunlight dish detergent which coagulates the toner in the unit's water filtration system.

The Pyrofax contains a recycling unit for its mylar film but even this "Film Miser" unit can extend the film's life for only so long. After it can no longer be electrostatically charged it must be replaced, but even then its usefulness does not end since it can be used for vapor barriers.

Windmilll Web takes its name from nearby Windmill Point, site of the bloody 1838 invasion of Canada by the Patriot Hunters Lodges of northern New York. The tragic Battle of the Windmill was one of the final chapters in the abortive Mackenzie-Papineau Rebellions of 1837.

Accident mars Christmas parade

Elizabeth Moreau
Special to the Press

CHESTERVILLE — A North Dundas District High School band member is recovering from a concussion after falling from a float in the Chesterville Santa Claus parade on Saturday.

Sarah Smith, 15, returned to her Inkerman home Monday morning after spending Saturday and Sunday nights in Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

NDDHS music teacher Greg Prest said the band won't enter a float in future Christmas parades.

"It just made it so obvious how easily something like this could happen," he said in an interview Monday.

Prest said Smith had recently recovered from a bout with the flu, and suffered a bit of motion sickness before she fell off the float.

Cst. Mary Cook of Winchester OPP said Smith, a French horn player, doesn't remember falling.

Band members were seated on chairs on top of a flatbed trailer, about three feet from the ground. There was no guard rail on the float.

The parade was nearing its end, and the float was travelling between Queen and Joseph Streets when Smith fell off her chair and on to the ground.

Prest, who was on the float facing the band, said Smith "did not try to break her fall. She just went off (the float) like a rag doll."

She was still holding her French horn when she hit the ground, he said.

Prest said none of the other band members experienced any motion sickness, and were shocked after Smith's injury.

"But I was very happy to see the way the band rallied around her," Prest said. "They were very concerned."

Lorna Smith, Sarah's mother, said Monday Sarah will spend the rest of the week at home from school. She received stitches for a cut on her ear, but is feeling better.

Utilities rise 6 per cent

WINCHESTER — It's going to cost more to turn on the taps and flush the toilets in Winchester Village.

The village council unanimously approved a six per cent raise in sewer and water rates, effective Jan. 1, 1992 at its Mon., Dec. 16 meeting.

Residential users will pay $150 for sewer service, up from the 1991 rate of $141. Regular commercial users will pay $220 for sewer service, up from the 1991 rate of $207.

Residential users will pay $132 for water service, with commercial users paying $165. Metered services will pay $1.033 per 1,000 gallons.

Users are charged sewer and water rates on their regular hydro billing.

Warning

The South Nation River Conservation Authority wants to remind residents that water levels upstream of the Chesterville Dam were lowered three feet as of Mon., Dec. 16. This will make existing ice conditions very unsafe.

Area band in Christmas lineup

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Country music group South Mountain will help bring some Christmas cheer to the area via the airwaves this weekend.

Fans can listen to an interview with two members of the traditional country music group — named after the nearby village of South Mountain — on CKBY-FM Country 105's Christmas in the Valley. The radio show, hosted by singer and CBC celebrity Wayne Rostad, is an annual program featuring local musicians.

The program will be broadcast for five nights at 7:05pm starting Friday, but the band's guitarist Steve Piticco and bassist Todd Nolan can be heard on Sunday. All five sections of the radio show will be repeated on Christmas Day starting at noon.

The band and its version of the song "Old Toy Trains" is also included in CKBY's Christmas in the Valley, Volume Six album —a compilation of the previous five "Valley" records.

The albums have been the radio station's annual project since 1986 to raise money for the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario and the Royal Ottawa Hospital. So far, approximately $290,000 has been raised.

Piticco says he discovered the band was chosen for the newest album when he was reading a Canadian country music magazine.

South Mountain was picked for the album and the show because it is one of the best bands in Canada, says Ted Daigle, a host for CKBY. The band received four awards at last year's Canadian Country Music Awards in Hamilton.

Nolan has also appeared as a soloist on one of the early Christmas in the Valley albums, said Daigle.

"Todd's been a big favorite since day one," he says.

The band also includes Piticco's wife vocalist Laurie Laporte-Piticco, Don Reed on fiddle and Bill Carruthers on drums. Piticco and his wife are the only South Mountain residents in the band.

South Mountain will also appear in the re- broadcast of CJOH-TV's version of Christmas in the Valley on Saturday December 21 at 7pm. The show will also feature performers such as Colleen Peterson, Barry Brown, Terry Carisse, Ted Daigle, Hugh Scott, Terry Tufts and Chris McCann.

The program, hosted by news anchor Max Keeping, was originally aired last year and was brought back because of its popularity, says CJOH publicist Rosemary Fitzpatrick.

Cigarette heist

WINCHESTER — Approximately $3,250 worth of cigarettes was stolen from two area businesses recently.

Someone smashed the window of Top Valu gas bar on Hwy. 31 near Winchester around 5am Tues., Dec. 10, taking 250 loose packages of cigarettes valued at $1,250, reports Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine.

The Seaway Valley Pharmacy in Chesterville was broken into during the night of Dec. 10 and 11. The front window was smashed and 52 cigarette cartons worth $2,000 were taken, says Irvine.

Residental break-in WINCHESTER — A Winchester resident returned home from a vacation to find she had lost her stereo system to a thief.

The home of Mary Dawes of 581 Albert St. was broken into some time during the months of November and December when she was on a six-week vacation. Her stereo was valued at approximately $2,100.

Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine says residents leaving on vacation should inform local police detachments so they keep a closer watch for intruders.

Snow accidents

MORRISBURG — Morrisburg OPP report nine minor accidents in the past week, mostly due to bad weather conditions on area roads.

OPP Sgt. Ralph Thompson urges motorists to slow down during winter months.

Family support plan

Nobody likes to increase the burden of government involvement in our already overburdened lives, but in the case of Ontario's recently announced Family Support Plan, the end more than justifies the means.

When a problem as massive as Ontario's defaulting support payers — who create widespread economic hardship for families that depend on those unreceived funds — occurs, then government has the right and the need to step in.

More than 80,000 children in the province are owed in excess of $400 million. Every year 75 per cent of family support payments ordered by the courts goes unpaid.

And every year more and more women and children are being forced to turn to social assistance to make ends meet.

Approximately 75 per cent of separated and divorced women who do not receive payments live in poverty. When payments are made in full, the figure drops dramatically to 58 per cent.

The scenario of mothers and children lining up at food banks, while their delinquent ex-spouses drive around in expensive cars and live a life untouched by poverty and despair, is repeated constantly across the province in varying degrees every day.

The human cost of allowing this situation to continue is too high to not initiate some kind of government action.

Why should taxpayers shoulder the burden of paying for an ex-spouse's decision to default on his support payments.

And why should the economic well-being of separated or divorced spouses and their children depend on the whims of those former partners who hold the purse strings.

With the tough new legislation introduced, which allows for automatically deducted support payments whenever possible from the income of support payers, the government is shifting the burden off of the social assistance roles and back to where it rightly belongs — the defaulters.

Although economic hardship or job loss may be a reason for non-payment of support in some cases, research shows that most of these parents have sufficient disposable income to meet their obligations, but are unwilling to pay.

Better to have an automatic wage deduction plan, which has already gained wide acceptace across Austrailia and the United States, then to turn defaulters' families into "beggars" who must ask, implore, appeal, beseech, conjole, entreat and plead for what is rightfully theirs.

Christmas recipe for stress-free holiday

Every year, without fail, I vow I won't do it again.

But I do.

Every year, I swear it won't happen.

But it does.

Every year, I do my best to avoid it.

But I fail miserably.

The "it" I am talking about is the total state of exhaustion I find myself sinking into, after the mad dash of preparing for Christmas.

I suppose it is really my own fault.

No one holds a gun to my head and says act like an obsessed fool for the month before Christmas.

I just go right ahead and do it.

No one says sit up half the night sending out Christmas cards to every friend, relative, co- worker, school chum, paperboy and mailman I ever had occasion to meet.

No one tells me to fill my freezer with seasonal baking and half a dozen fruit cakes that would do Betty Crocker proud, (and which take me until next Christmas to get through).

No one forces me to haunt the stores until I find the "perfect" gift for everyone on my list, including my third cousin twice removed.

No one will die if I don't have all my lights strung up and my wreaths adorning their respective spots.

No one expects me to have mastered the complete repertoire of Christmas carols, for seasonal sing- a-longs as the appointed day nears.

No one insists I accept every invitation, attend every party and drink to everyone's health.

No one suggests that as my visiting guests, they are entitled to be entertained every single moment of their stay, stretching me to the utmost of my creative capabilities.

No one hints I must defy snow, sleet, freezing rain and gale force winds to make my holiday rounds, dropping gifts and good cheer in my wake.

No one voices the opinion that I definitely bubble with enthusiasm, Christmas spirit and other accompanying characteristics of glad tidings, even when I begin to feel as though my smile muscles are going into spasms.

No one sends me out to party, when a wicked cold and/or flu, brought on by my weakened, overstressed constitution, lays me low.

No one will disown me if my Christmas tinsel is not artistically draped, my lights all blinking in unison, and my colored ornaments evenly distributed over my flawlessly shaped blue spruce tree.

Yet somehow, I tie myself up in knots trying to do just those very things.

After a blur of midnight mass, family togetherness and unwrapping presents, I usually end up in a zombie-like state of tiredness by mid-afternoon on Christmas day. I snore my way through turkey and dressing, barely keeping my eyelids open over my plum pudding.

My overtaxed system usually has me heading to bed about 7:30pm that evening and sleeping the next 17 hours away.

But I am resolved to tone "it" down this year.

And, maybe you'll join me in my endeavor?

Could your Christmas frenzy do with a small dose of tranquility?

Seventh Column

by Joe Rowan

Since our 20 grandchildren range in age from a 30-year-old mother of two all the way down to the tender age of four months, it is understandable that we still enjoy that beautiful opportunity of having trustful little eyes gaze quizzically into ours and ask that same age-old question: "Grandpa, is there really a Santa Claus?" And just as we did when our sons and daughters were that age, we dig out the now-tattered clipping of an answer that appeared in the New York Sun nearly a century ago. Editorial writer Francis Pharcellus Church was requested to answer a letter from a tiny girl. "Dear Editor," it read, "I am eight years old and some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so', please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?" And it was signed Virginia O'Hanlon. The Church answer has since gained immortality and is revered and loved by each succeeding generation. Here it is:

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little.

In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias.

There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign there is no Santa Claus.

The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart.

Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.
No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Relatives, friends and neighbors braved a recent Saturday's storm to gather at the Lions Den (Metcalfe) and honor everyone's good friend Wallace Hall. All knew it was the 'old sodbuster's' birthday, but his agility belied the exact number of years. Someone hinted it might, perhaps, maybe be that 'three-score and 10' plateau. Flashing his familiar grin he was quick to suggest: Try four-score and 10". That's right, Wallace is 90... but not that kind of '90' most of us fear. And if you don't believe us when we tell you how active the 'farm boy' is, then attend the next Old Time Fiddlers' dance... and watch the Edwards' answer to Fred Astair in action. Many happy returns friend; Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, — and keep those dancing shoes well polished.

As Christmas approaches, however, let us not forget the real significance of the glorious feast. In this age when even our great leaders are floundering and searching for solutions to ever-growing problems, it is wise to remember that it was in the name of Jesus that the first Roman Catholic settlements were planted in New France and Protestant settlements in New England. And it was in the name of Jesus that saddlebag Baptist and Presbyterian preachers began to ride the expanding frontier building a sound foundation for the life we now enjoy. This week, as we celebrate the anniversary of His humble birth nearly 2,000 years ago, perhaps it is time to seek His guidance once again.

OUT MY WINDOW

Nunavut - Inuit Christmas comes early

by Tony Welland

Seldom have I felt such a sense of elation from a news story as I did this week. But my feelings must pale beside those of the Inuit of the Eastern Arctic. The Canadian government has finally reached a land agreement with them, a 'modern treaty'.

"Now the oldest man in Baker Lake will talk. In the old days the oldest person used to be the boss of the Inuit. I don't want my children to have too small a land. Ever since there have been Inuit on this land, it has been passed on, from generation to generation - even to those who are not yet born.

"I want my grandchildren to have a land. The oil the white people want is not the only oil around. There is oil on their lands. They are only trying to trick the Inuit. They will pretend to work and then they will stay here. They will pretend to be few at first ... and then suddenly there will be a large number of them. The future can be foreseen. They will pretend to be few, and pretend to be good, but then at the end they will suddenly come in large numbers and take away the land."

So warned Kanayuk in 1974 when I spoke to him. He is not here today, but he would be proud. He would be very proud of Inuit who seem once again to have found a way to survive. His grandchildren will have a land.

In the early 1970s, I was one of the principal researchers and authors of the Inuit Land Use and Occupancy Study, work done as the basis for the Inuit aboriginal claim to their land. They submitted the claim in 1976, and are just now reaching resolution after fifteen years of tough negotiation. But Inuit are tough people, persistent, persuasive, and patient.

I talked to almost every hunter in the area west of Hudson Bay, an area the size of Ontario. I mapped and recorded their thoughts and feelings about hunting areas, animals, the land and the future. Let me use words from the mouths of the elders who are now dead to help you understand why I feel so happy for them.

"All our lives we have been planning for the next year. Now people have to start thinking more about years ahead as we did in the past. If our young people work together I think they can have a great future up here." (Taparti) "The way of the Inuit is to teach each other. All the Inuit share their knowledge and land with each other and do not keep it to themselves. A lot of them are not my relatives, but I will leave the land to them as if they were my own relatives." (Kanayuk)

The Inuit will give up about 80% of their traditional land. But they will gain ownership of almost 20% of their favorite land, as well as getting some cash, and a new Territory called Nunavut, Our Land. This Territory will have a government elected from a population in which the large majority are Inuit. This will effectively amount to a form of self-government, a bit more control over their own destiny.

To put some perspective on the amount of land this 'treaty' will place in Inuit ownership, consider this. They will own about 350,000 square kilometres. That's an area similar to that taken up by all five Great Lakes, plus Newfoundland! That's a chunk. Inuit will have control over this land. They will become the biggest land owners in Canada other than some governments.

There's evidence all over the Arctic of Inuit use of the land for the last 4,000 years. Stone structures, 'inuksuit', are sprinkled over the treeless tundra. There are graves, fish weirs, caribou hunting blinds, travel route markers, and ruins of ancient house foundations and tent rings. Inuit have names for all the points and bays and islands and rivers. "I want to say that my footsteps are all over the land. Everywhere there are things that have been touched by Inuit in the past." (Ussak) "Even when you go to a place you thought was empty, there is always something that tells you that people were there. Our ancestors have graves everywhere." (Ipiak)

The hunters knew the animals intimately, watched them closely, studied their habits and their habitat. They were zoologists without letters, experts. They knew the polar bear denning areas, caribou calving areas, and goose and duck nesting areas. They knew what rocks the walrus and harbour seals would haul out on, the habits of the beluga whales, the rivers the Arctic char swim in. Such matters were the basics of survival, and hunters learned their lessons well, and taught their children. They still do.

"This is the way I think. A person is born with animals. He has to eat animals. Animals and people are just like one." (Ookpik) "It seems barren, but if you travel you see animals. And you can see for miles. Seeing live animals gives the greatest joy to Inuit." (Alinaluk)

Inuit have always loved and protected their land. "Our parents used to tell us not to mess up the lakes that would be used by other people in the future. My grandmother was very fussy about garbage. She really cared about the land and water." (Atuat) "People tend to go back to the place they started from. As for me, I go to a particular spot, a spot that I was the first to find. It's a beautiful place. I just love it there. It's so very peaceful. The only thing that I can communicate with is wildlife. It brings me down to earth." (Sammartuk)

"I don't know whether this land belongs to the people of the north or to the animals. It's so beautiful out there to look at the land and the animals. Sometimes when I look out to sea in the springtime and I see the seals, it makes me sick inside. It seems to me when I go out on the land I always think about the people of the past. It makes me want to cry sometimes."

Irkootee will never know how powerful his words and feelings have been, how much they have been taken to heart by his ancestors, influenced their resolve. Perhaps now there can be some tears of joy.

Reflections:

Dr. Kinnaird still close to Russell's heart

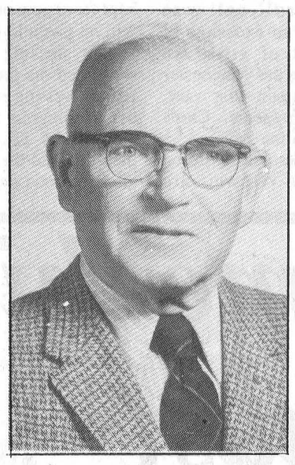
by Patty Fuller
Special to the Press

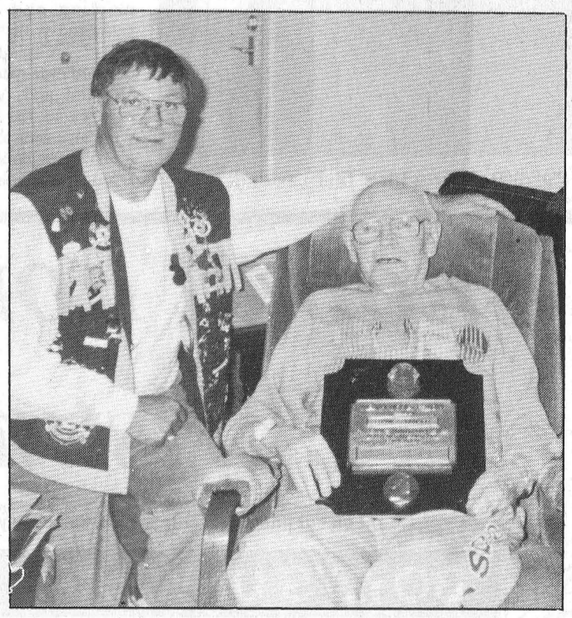
RUSSELL— Dr. Frank Kinnaird may not live in Russell Village anymore, but in an interesting sort of way his spirit still does.

Not only is the Russell Arena (the Dr. Kinnaird Community Centre) a monument to his good works, but he is also remembered fondly by many residents of the village even though he moved to Halifax ten years ago.

Conversations with those who knew and worked with him invoke images of an exceptional person, a man who was quiet, strong and who had a profound respect for all humankind.

"You can't write enough to say how wonderful he is," says Nellie Eastman, a long-time resident of Russell and patient of Dr. Kinnaird. Eastman remembers Kinnaird as a man who "always thought of himself last."





Dr. Frank Kinnaird seated at right receives the Melvin Jones Fellowship from Russell Lions member Jim Sullivan.

Dr. Kinnaird at the dedication of the Russell Community Centre in 1978.

PRAIRIE-BORN

Born in Shallbrook, Saskatchewan, Kinnaird moved to Hammond with his family when he was three years old, after the death of his father. He attended Hammond Public School, the Navan Continuation School and Nepean High School.

After graduation, he worked for two years at the Royal Bank in Vars. He then attended Queen's University Medical School, graduated as a Medical Doctor in 1933 and interned at two Ottawa hospitals.

Kinnaird then set up a practice in Hearst, Ontario. If it wasn't for a chance meeting in 1937 with Russell's Dr. McDougall in the Ottawa Civic Hospital, Kinnaird probably would never have become a part of the community.

By all accounts, McDougall "hand-picked" Frank Kinnaird to be his successor. McDougall was able to persuade Kinnaird to move his practice to Russell, as McDougall was contemplating retirement.

Kinnaird arrived in Russell in 1937 and lived in McKeracker's Boarding House until he could take over "the doctor's house." The boarding house was located at 10 Bank St. and many single people, such as bank tellers and school teachers, took up residence there. Kinnaird was to become only the second doctor in Russell Village since 1890.

Kinnaird served as the director of the Ontario Society of Crippled Children and is a past president of the Russell Lions Club. However, people who knew him say he preferred to keep a low profile in most organizations.

Last month he was named a Melvin Jones Fellow by Lions Clubs International Foundation, in recognition of his commitment to serving the world community.

Named for the founder of Lions Clubs International, Melvin Jones, the fellowship is the foundation's highest honor.

I is conferred on persons who demonstrate practical application of its motto: "We Serve."

Kinnaird is a member of the Russell Lions Club, District A4 and received a plaque and lapel pin acknowledging his humanitarian service.

One of Kinnaird's biggest contributions to the Russell community was his involvement in minor hockey.

ENCOURAGED TALENT

Larry Robinson, the hockey "marvel" from Marvelville, stated at an appreciation ceremony for Kinnaird in 1978 that much of his success in minor hockey was due to "the interest and encouragement" of Dr. Kinnaird.

Kinnaird not only helped coach players, but also went on trips with them and tended to their injuries. He even bought equipment for players who couldn't afford it.

Mildred Carscadden "kept the books" for Dr. Kinnaird from 1967 until he retired. She remembers him as a very quiet man, who "didn't like any fuss at all." She says he is "a very caring, reserved and private person" who loves flowers and who spent hours in his gardens in Russell.

His nurse for most of his career in the village was Christine "Teen" Campbell, whom Carscadden describes as "a very devoted person."

Although the idea seems remarkable in today's world, Kinnaird often made house calls. "If he was available, he was there," says Eastman. In his early years in Russell, Kinnaird had to journey to outlying farms with a horse and cutter because the roads weren't ploughed in the winter.

Bob Campbell, Christine's husband, often acted as driver for the doctor and they most likely spent many a long, cold mile driving through the back roads of the township together.

WORLD WAR II

Dr. Kinnaird not only affected the lives of Russell residents, but also those of soldiers overseas. He served in the medical corps in London during World War II as an anesthesiologist. While he was away, Dr. Byers from Metcalfe saw patients in Russell twice a week.

One of Dr. Kinnaird's most amusing medical "cases" occurred when a woman phoned to tell him that her flock of geese had drank water with lye in it, and she was afraid they would die. Kinnaird prescribed some medication, and the entire flock lived through the ordeal.

At the unveiling of the Doctor Kinnaird Community Centre in 1978 Kinnaird seemed almost embarrassed by the accolades bestowed upon him.

"I know I don't deserve such an overwhelming gesture of appreciation, but I do humbly accept it, and deeply appreciate such kindness."

Metcalfe WI enjoys turkey and trimmings

METCALFE — The annual Metcalfe Women's Institute Christmas dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Geo Van Berlo.

Ed Scharf gave the blessing as everyone sat down to a delicious turkey dinner. Some of our members and husbands were unable to attend due to illness and were sadly missed.

After dinner we held a short meeting and roll call was answered with "an exchange of gifts". Instead of gifts, we donated money to the Winchester Hospital and, again this year, oranges to the patients. Cards were also sent to the sick.

Fourteen books were ordered from the Area WI who are publishing a "Book of Poems".

President Jean Reaney is to look into where we can store our old minute books. At one time we kept them in the town hall but since renovation we had to remove them.

Irene Wallace won the hostess gift.

A wreath that is purchased every year for the November 11 ceremony at Town Hall will be kept from now on and a donation will be given to the Legion.

Our meeting adjourned and we joined the men and we had a few interesting readings and lots of carol singing. A good time was enjoyed by all. The president then thanked the Van Berlos and all for a good evening.

Shortt shuts out Kemptville Royals

KEMPTVILLE—Tyler Shortt turned in a flawless effort here Saturday backing the North Dundas Demons in their 5-0 UCMHL Senior Novice win over the host Royals.

North Dundas cracked open the scoreless contest with a pair of last-minute goals in the opening period.

Pat Hamel netted what would prove to be the winning goal when he scored from Will McLean :58 before the buzzer.

McLean then quickly made it 2-0 scoring at the :01 mark.

The Demons opened up a 4-0 lead in the second period on goals by Jon Chambers and Scott Drummond. Chambers hit from Tyler Hoy at the 7:54 mark and Scott Drummond connected on a relay provided by Matt McBean at 1:24.

Chambers' second goal came with 1:04 left on the clock and made it a 5-0 final.

The Demons weren't as successful on the exhibition trail dropping a 5-2 decision to the Char-Lan Rebels in Williamstown on Friday.

Jon Chambers scored both goals for North Dundas.

Jets edge Knights in overtime

OTTAWA—A key overtime goal by Mike Leger, who blasted a shot home from the point at 1:15 of overtime, snapped a mini-losing string the Metcalfe Jets had been suffering through.

The Jets nipped the Ottawa West Golden Knights 3-2 and helped erase the memories of an 8-7 loss to the Beavers in Clarence Creek last Wednesday.

Ottawa West led the game 1-0 after a period in spite of the Jets out-shooting them 14-2. A powerplay goal opened up a 2-0 lead for the Knights at 15:49 of the second period but the Jets got on the board before the period was over.

Stephane Barjolin cut the Jets' deficit to 2-1 scoring from Myles West at 5:08.

Chuck Benoit tied it up 2-2 scoring after Barjolin had won the draw and fed him the puck at 11:21 of the third period.

Mike Leger then snapped in the winner at 1:15 of OT. Jets out-gunned the Knights 47-16. Scott Laflamme posted the win.

The night before in Clarence Creek the Beavers nipped the Jets 8-7. The Beavers led that match 3-1 after one period and 7-3 after two. Marc Gelineau opened up an 8-3 lead scoring for the Beavers at 17:04 of the final frame and that marker proved to be the winner as the Jets stormed back with four unanswered goals.

Myles West scored three times and set up a fourth goal for Metcalfe. Mike Renaud, Chris Wynn, Stephane Barjolin and Moe Pelletier banged in one each.

Metcalfe will host second-ranked Vanier this Friday (Dec. 20) and the second-place Renfrew Timberwolves of the Valley Division on Sunday (Dec. 22).

Jets coach Kevin Reynolds says his club is looking forward to the challenge of this coming weekend and games against two tough hockey clubs.

"We've been struggling a bit lately but the boys seem to play their best against their toughest opposition," he said.

"Perhaps I'll move Chris Wynn to forward for a few shifts to shake things up a bit. Chris loves to be physical and maybe that's just what we need to get us fired up about winning again," Reynolds added.

Powerful Pee Wee duo registers another shutout

CHESTERVILLE—The B&B combination of Darryl Beck and Darryl Burns was red hot here last Thursday night.

The duo combined on a perfect game as the North Dundas Ault Foods Demons skated to a 5-0 UCMHL Pee Wee "B" victory over the visiting Brockville Braves.

The last time around the Braves knocked the Demons off right on Chesterville ice. But on this occasion North Dundas was out to avenge their first loss of the season.

Beck got the start and handled all four shots he faced. Burns came on in relief and stopped the three drives sent his way.

Chris Hum blocked 21 of the 26 shots the Demons fired at him.

North Dundas took a 3-0 lead in the first frame. Tylor Copeland opened the game up scoring what would prove to be the winning goal at 8:14 of period one. Stephen Henderson and Chris Mann picked up assists on the play.

Craig Holmes upped the difference to 2-0 when he connected on a a pass sent him by Ryan Filion and Mathew Foley at 5:15.

Copeland's unassisted marker 2:05 before the end of the period made it 3-0.

Mike Casselman clicked on an unassisted play and enlarged the lead to 4-0 with 9:49 left in the sandwich session.

Stephen Henderson made it a 5-0 final when he snapped in a Tylor Copeland rebound at the 9:40 mark of the final frame.

TOURNEY SPLIT

North Dundas split a pair of games at Saturday's Pee Wee "B" tournament in Alexandria.

Matthew Foley gave the Demons a 1-0 win over Cumberland when he cashed in a pass from Craig Holmes and Ryan Filion with just 1:28 left in the game.

Darryl Burns got the start in the Dundas net.

The host Alexandria squad then sent North Dundas packing beating them 5-3 in the semi-final round.

The game was even (2-2) after a period and still tied 2-2 after two.

A three-goal third gave Alexandria the win.

Matthew Foley and Mike Casselman netted the Demons' first period goals scoring on powerplays started by Ryan Filion and Andy Carkner at 4:51 and Ryan Swedfeger and Ryan Holmes at the 0:23 mark.

Ryan Swedfeger's unassisted goal scored with 2:05 left in the game proved to the Demons' third and final tally.

Midget Demons snap losing streak

WINCHESTER—It finally happened.

The North Dundas Midget Demons snapped an eight game winless drought beating the Smiths Falls Bears 7-3 here last Sunday.

Teamwork and a desire to win paid off as the Demons collected their first two points of the season in the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League.

It took only 1:35 for Colin Cotnam to score the Demons' go-ahead goal with assistance from Chris McFarlane and Troy McNaughton.

Just 1:24 later, Phillip Brisebois picked up a pass from Brendon Bumbaco, scoring shorthanded to give the Demons a 2-0 lead.

The Bears pulled within a goal of the hosts at 10:27. But the Demons came right back, scoring two quick goals before the first period ended.

Bumbaco found the net at the 11:37 mark after picking up a feed from Brisebois. Darrell Bloom also drew an assist on the powerplay goal.

With just five seconds left, Jason Ouellette lifted North Dundas to a 4-1 lead with pass assistance from Pete Decooman.

Aron Sherrer added to the Demons' lead by drilling the puck past the Bears' goaltender just 33 seconds into the second period. Cotnam and Grant Williams picked up assists.

Smiths Falls struck back late in the period, scoring twice on the Demons' netminder Denis Desormeaux. Goals at 10:27 and again at 12:57 cut the Bears' deficit to 5-3.

During the final period Desormeaux kept the Demons' cage clean while their offence went on to score another two goals.

At 2:40, Bumbaco finished off a play that was started by Brisebois.

Tim Freeland iced the Demons win by scoring unassisted just seconds before the game ended.

Warriors 4 - Demons 1

Last Thursday, the Brockville Warriors handed the North Dundas Midget Demons their eighth loss of the season, posting a 4-1 victory.

Brockville held a 4-0 lead before North Dundas finally hit the scoreboard in the third period.

Pete Decooman scored the Demons' lone goal at the 5:39 mark after connecting on a feed from Troy McNaughton. Martin Pancirov also drew an assist on the play.

Midgets finally win

It's been a long time coming but the North Dundas Demons finally claimed a UCMHL Midget "B" victory. Grant Williams and the Demons had to upset the Smiths Falls Bears to claim their first two points. Press Photo—Van Bridger

Tweens lose in 'A' final

METCALFE—The host team finished second in the qualifying portion of the Metcalfe and District Tween Ringette Tournament here Saturday and won a semi-final contest but couldn't make it into the winner's circle.

Cyrville bombarded Metcalfe 10-2 in the "A" Division championship match here Saturday to become the event winner.

Melissa Heeley had a goal and an assist, Mandie Archer a goal and Melodie Scrivener two assists in that last game but it wasn't enough against the champs who scored four first-half and six second- half goals enroute to their victory. Elaine Bears scored seven goals and assisted on an eighth for the winners.

Cyrville hammered Almonte 10-2 and Cumberland 8-2 and finished the round-robin portion of the event with four points. That record earned them a bye into the championship game.

Metcalfe pounded Orleans 9-4 in their opener and tied Almonte 5-5 in game two and finished second to Cyrville with three points.

Metcalfe and Cumberland then played an elimination match to earn the right to tangle with Cyrville for the silverware. Metcalfe took that match 7-5 only to lose 10-2 in the final match.

Almonte then eliminated Orleans 7-6 in a consolation semi-final and went on to defeat Cumberland 6-3 in the "B" Division playoff match.

Mandy Archer scored five times leading Metcalfe to their opening 9-4 win over Orleans. Melissa Heeley added two goals and two assists. Sophie Nizman also scored a pair and drew one assist. Melody Scrivener (3), Angela Merrett and Michelle Martin picked up the assists.

Metcalfe led 4-1 at the half.

Archer was the top shooter in game two coming up with three goals and one assist in a 5-5 tie with Almonte. Her third goal gave Metcalfe the tie with :56 seconds left on the clock.

Melissa Heeley added a pair and picked up an assist. Angela Merrett (2) and Melody Scrivener collected assists.

Metcalfe led the match 3-1 at the half.

Goalie Kristen Hartman came up with another big effort in the semi-final game Metcalfe won 7-5 over Cumberland.

Green team nips White

CHESTERVILLE—Green held on to a 5-2 first-half lead to nip White 6-5 during last Wednesday's Chesterville Men's Town Hockey League twin bill.

Mark Smith was Green's only skater to get the puck past White's goaltender in the second half, but it was enough to secure a Green victory. Rodney Casselman set up the game-winning play.

The Green team skated to a comfortable 5-2 lead after the first 30 minutes of play.

Green's first-period scorers were Smith, Tony Fraser, Pat Kelly, Dan Dubois and Ken Carscadden.

John Guy and Barry McShane each potted a goal for White during the first period.

But White started picking away at their opponents' lead in the second half. Ray Sherrer began the club's comeback bid by scoring on a pass from Sandy Johnson.

Sherrer's goal was followed up by markers from Johnson and Guy, but it was the goal by Smith that gave the Green their victory.

MAROON 5 - BLUE 4

Brothers Ken and Kevin Byers each scored twice and assisted for another to lead Maroon to a 5-4 win over Blue last Wednesday in the other half of the CTHL twin bill.

Maroon went ahead 2-1 in the opening half, thanks to a goal each supplied by Ken and Kevin Byers.

Lonnie MacIntosh was the only player to score against Maroon's netminder Ben Henry during the first 30 minutes of play.

Both teams racked up three goals in the final half, allowing the Maroon team to post a one-goal victory.

Steve Douglas, Kevin Byers and Ken Byers each scored once for Maroon.

Blue's Jeff Moore, MacIntosh and Dolton Henry scored in the losing cause.

Tasty seasonal treats

Christmas baking is an activity the whole family can become involved with, as the South Mountain family of Nancy Torrance . Her son Andrew cuts out pastry for Pinwheel Cookies.

'Tis the season for Christmas baking

Nothing sets the tone of the holiday season like the smell of Christmas baking filling hearth and home with cosy cheer and spicy aromas.

Children of all ages delight in helping to bake up many tasty treats to be eaten by family and friends who drop by for a visit.

It's often the time to try out a different recipe or two. Here are a few scrumptious treats offered for those bakers who want to try something new.

Chocolate Rum Balls

2 cups finely crushed chocolate wafers
1/2 cup sifted icing sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup dessicated coconut
1/2 cup red and green cherries, chopped
1/4 cup light corn syrup
3 tblsps. rum
1/4 cup sifted icing sugar

Combine all ingredients (except last 1/4 cup of icing sugar). Roll into small balls and roll each one in icing sugar to coat. Store in a cool place. Makes 2-3 dozen.

Raspberry Coconut Drops

Raspberry jam swirls on top of a coconut almond cookie. Get a jump on your holiday baking with a supply of these in your freezer.

1/2 cup (125 ml) shortening
1/2 cup (125 ml) lightly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup (75 ml) granulated sugar
1 egg
1/4 (50 ml) water
3/4 tsp. (3 ml) almond extract
1 2/3 cups (400 ml) all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. (2 ml) baking soda
1/4 tsp. (1 ml) salt
1 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup (125 ml) raspberry jam

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F (200 degrees C). Cream shortening, sugars, egg, water and extract together on medium speed of electric mixer until light and fluffy.

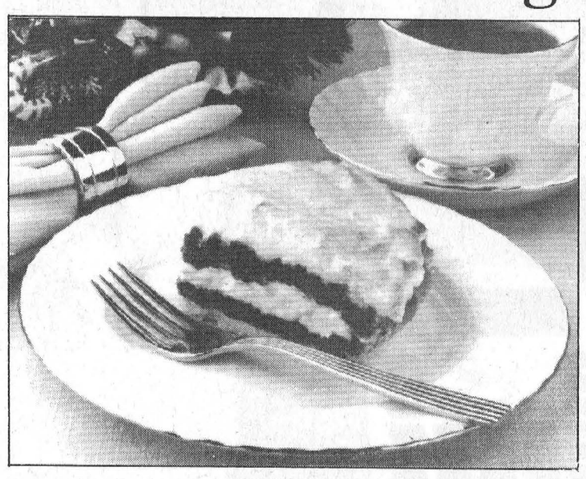
Combine flour, baking soda and salt. Blend into creamed mixture with coconut. Mix well. Drop dough by tablespoonsful onto greased baking sheet. Make small cavity in each cookie with floured finger. Place about 1/4 tsp. (1 ml) jam in cavity. Top with 1/2 tsp. (2 ml) dough.

Bake at 400 degrees F (200 degrees C) for 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Made with shortening — one serving (3 cookies) contains 4.5 grams saturated fat; made with butter — one serving (3 cookies) contains 7.9 grams saturated fat.

Baked Mincemeat Alaska Pie

(NC) — After a long day of Christmas shopping, the last thing anyone feels like doing is baking. The solution is Baked Mincemeat Alaska Pie. It can be made two weeks ahead of time and kept frozen.



This delicious pie will dress up any table and is guaranteed to leave a lasting impression with your guests.

Tenderflake Perfect Pastry for a 9-inch (23 cm) single crust pie, using the 'six easy steps' recipe printed on the Tenderflake Pure Lard package
1 1/2 cups (375 ml) Maple Leaf mincemeat
1/2 cup (125 ml) NutriWhip, whipped
3 egg whites
6 tblsps. (75 ml) icing sugar

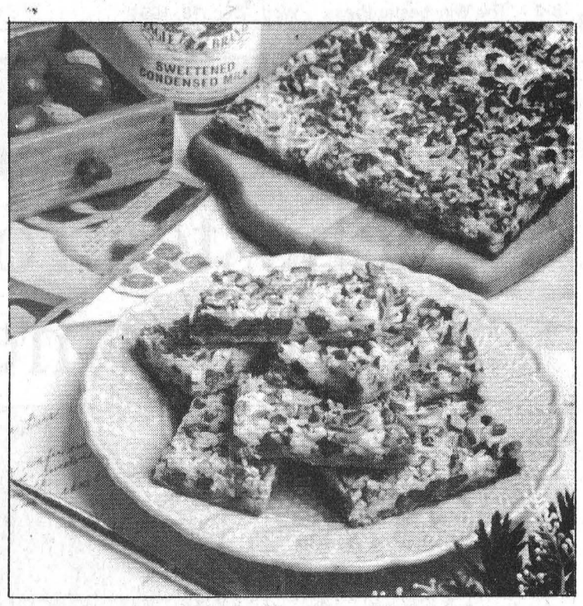
Roll out pastry and fit into a 9-inch (23 cm) pie plate. Trim pastry to allow an overhang of 1/2 inch (1 cm). Fold underneath and flute. Prick sides and bottom well with a fork and bake at 425 degrees F (220 degrees C) 15 minutes or until golden. Cool.

Spread half of the mincemeat over bottom of pie shell. Top with whipped NutriWhip. Carefully spread remaining mincemeat over NutriWhip layer.

Cover and freeze for several hours or overnight.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in icing sugar a little at a time and continue beating until stiff, shiny peaks form.

Spread meringue over mincemeat, covering it completely. Place pie under broiler briefly until meringue is golden. Cover and freeze until serving time. Makes 6 servings.



New variations of magic cookie bars

Rekindle the spirit of Christmas past with a popular recipe that your mother and grandmother likely made — Magic Cookie Bars.

For many years these mouthwatering squares have been a popular seasonal tradition. Although no one really knows for sure when this treat was invented, it's safe to say that this easy-to-make recipe has been passed down for generations.

These classic squares have many variations and are the perfect addition to a festive cookie tray. Start with a traditional graham crumb crust or try crushed vanilla or chocolate wafer crumbs as the base. Cover with sweetened condensed milk and whatever toppings you have in your cupboard.

Chocolate, butterscotch or peanut butter chips make a sweet treat for young and old alike; or try raisins, dried apricots, candied cherries and miniature marshmallows as a colorful alternative. Sprinkle with coconut and chopped nuts such as walnuts, pecans, almonds or unsalted peanuts.

For a delectable accompaniment to hot chocolate or cappuccino, create mocha-flavored magic bars by simply adding some instant coffee and chocolate syrup to the recipe. If peppermint or orange flavoring strikes your fancy, try combinating a few drops of extract with the ingredients.

A popular tradition of days gone by, these homemade squares are also perfect for today's bazaars, cookie swaps or hostess gifts. So if it's time to try your hand at a little magic, why not bake up a batch of these old-fashioned bars this holiday season.

Pour Eagle Brand evenly over crumbs. Sprinkle with chips, then coconut and nuts; press down firmly. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool well before cutting into bars. Festive pinwheel cookies Capture the fun and magic of Christmas in these delightful Festive Pinwheel Cookies.

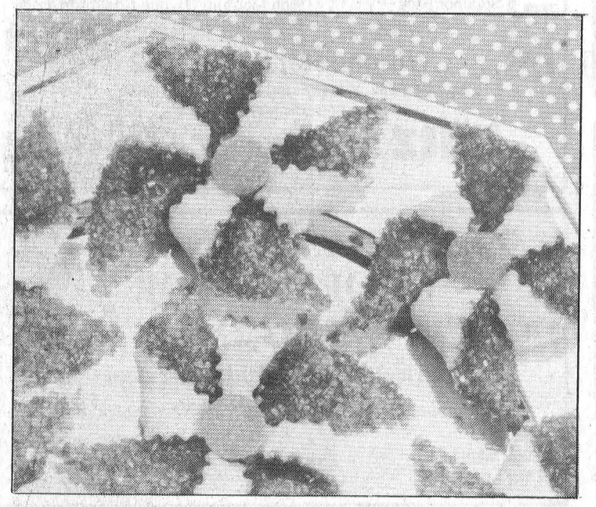
The simple addition of colored sugar sprinkles turn these charming cookies into whimsical holiday cutouts, perfect for eating, gift-giving or even decorating the Christmas tree. Cream cheese and butter form the base of these delicately flavored cookies that taste as good as they look. Dairy Bureau Home Economists have used a pastry crimper to cut out the zig zag edges but a straight-edged knife works just as well. These cookies are a real treat and sure to be popular with the whole family.

1 pkg. (250 g) cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup (175 ml) butter, softened
1 egg, separated
2 cups (500 ml) all-purpose flour
1 tblsp. (15 ml) baking powder
1 cup (250 ml) colored sugar sprinkles
18 gumdrops, cut in half



In large mixer bowl beat cream cheese, butter and egg yolk until light. Stir in flour and baking powder until stiff dough forms. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour. Lightly beat egg white; set aside. On floured surface roll half the dough at a time into 15x9-inch (38x23 cm) rectangle.

Cut dough into 3-inch (8 cm) squares. Brush each square with egg white and place, egg-side down, into sugar sprinkles. Lift out, shake to remove excess and place sugar-side up on ungreased baking sheets. With a knife cut dough diagonally from each corner to within 1/2 inch (12 mm) from centre. Fold alternating points of square to centre to form pinwheel, overlapping and pinching gently to seal in centre.

Press gumdrop half in centre of cookie. Bake in 350-degree F oven (180 degrees C) 9 to 12 minutes or until set. Cool on pan five minutes; remove to wire racks; cool completely. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

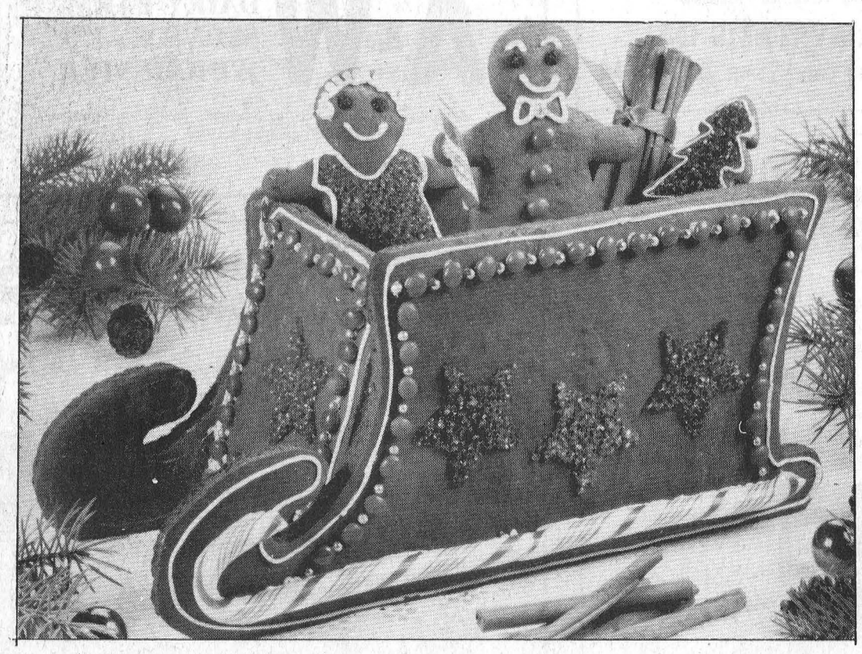
A traditional favorite for the festive season



Gingerbread Sleigh

1/2 cup (125 ml) shortening
1/2 cup (125 ml) sugar
1 cup (250 ml) molasses
1 egg, beaten
3 1/2 cups (875 ml) all-purpose flour
1 tsp. (5 ml) baking soda
1 1/2 tsps. (7 ml) ground cinnamon
1 1/2 tsps. (7 ml) ground ginger
1/4 tsp. (1 ml) salt

Decorations:
2 candy canes
Royal icing

Cake Mate silver balls, red and green sprinkles and cinnamon decors

Two batches of this recipe are required to make this sleigh — Do not double recipe

Heat shortening, sugar and molasses until shortening is melted, stirring constantly. Cool; add egg and mix well. Sift flour, measure and sift again with soda, spices and salt. Stir into molasses mixture. Chill well.

Roll gingerbread dough out on flat surface until 1/2-inch (5 cm) thick and cut into five pieces: two sides, 9x6 inches (22.5x15 cm); one front and one back, 4x4 inches (10c10 cm); one bottom, 5x4 inches (12.5x10 cm). Carefully place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F (180 degrees C) for 10 minutes. Carefully remove and cool on rack.

Lay a candy cane lengthwise along the bottom of each of the two side pieces, with the curl facing the top. Cut the side pieces into the shape of a sleigh; the area with the candy canes will be the runners. Use Royal Icing to attach sleigh bottom, front and back to sides. Decorate with candy canes, silver balls, colored sprinkles and cinnamon decors, adding to gingerbread with thin coat of Royal Icing.

Winchester Township couple named Farmer of the Year

Winchester Township farmers Dawn and Alvin Runnalls received the Dundas Federation of Agriculture's Farmer of the Year Award from DFA vice-president John Mellan.

WINCHESTER — A Winchester Township couple was named 1991 Farmer of the Year by the Dundas Federation of Agriculture last week.

Alvin and Dawn Runnalls, who have been operating their 150-acre dairy farm east of Winchester for almost 19 years, say they are honored to be the first couple chosen as Farmer of the Year.

"One of the nicest things is to be recognized by the people you work with every day. It was a wonderful surprise...There are a lot of deserving farmers out there," said Dawn Runnalls, who added she hopes the trend toward recognizing couples for the award continues.

Presenting the plaque at the Dundas Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting last Thursday, Dundas Federation of Agriculture vice-president John Mellan said Dawn and Alvin's commitment to agriculture and their involvment in farm and rural community organizations make them very deserving Farmer of the Year candidates.

The couple are co-operators for the Ontario Farm Management Analysis project and have been instructors at numerous Farm Management Courses.

Alvin, who is currently president of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture, represents the views of county farmers at both regional and provincial events.

He has led the Dundas East 4-H Dairy Club for the past eight years and is a member of the Dundas Soil and Crop Association.

Dawn is president and newsletter editor for the local chapter of Women for the Survival of Agriculture. In this role she was intrumental in organizing a successful Media Day Event held this past September.

She is also a member of the Steering Committee for the Ontario and Canadian Farm Women's Network and is involved with the agriculture in the classroom program.

In October Dawn helped organize the Farm Fair in Cornwall and in the past year has taken on the task of writing a column for Ontario Farmer.

And the Runnalls' involvement in other community activities is also extensive.

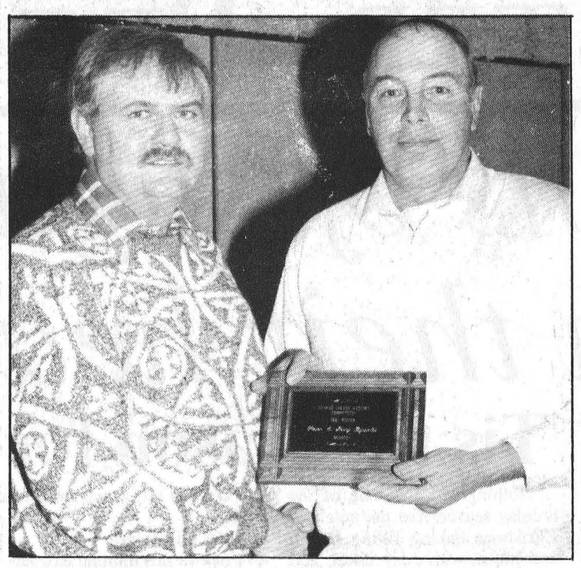
Both Dawn and Alvin are readers at St. Matthias Anglican Church in Winchester and Alvin is a People's Warden for the parish. He is also a member of the Seaway Valley Runners Association and has participated in the National Capital Marathon. Alvin is a member of the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital Board of Directors as well.

The Runnalls attribute some of their farm's success to help from daughters Rachel, 23 and Gretchen, 21.

While Rachel is currently on the west coast, Gretchen helps out with the feeding of the farm's 20 Holstein milk cows and 65-head of young stock. The family's dairy herd is registered under the prefix Runnalong.

Both grown on the farm, high moisture corn and haylage are the basis for the herd's ration. Protein supplement and bypass protein are purchased.

Before moving to the Winchester area 18 years ago, the Runnalls farmed for five years in Grenville County.



Forage Masters

Peter Byvelds (left) accepts the Dundas Forage Master Award on behalf of brother Gerry and himself, from Dundas Soil and Crop Association president Norm Tinkler during the association's annual meeting last week. The Byvelds' entry in the Dundas county forage competition went on to compete at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto in November.

Tree planting program may be cut by MNR

WINCHESTER — Despite 10 years of success, the Windbreak Program in Eastern Ontario may cease due to funding cuts.

Reporting on the Windbreak Program at the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting in Winchester last week, Eber Dobson said it is unknown whether trees will be available under the program after this spring.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has shifted its tree-growing program to the Northern Ontario region and Dobson said it is unlikely the program will continue in this area.

But although there is a lot of open space in Northern Ontario that requires new tree stands, Dobson said he feels Eastern Ontario crops could suffer without the windbreaks.

Since the program began in 1981, 400 windbreaks have survived and done reasonably well in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. Another 150 attempts at planting windbreaks failed, he said.

Dundas County has always been the SD&G leader in windbreak plantings, said Dobson.

About 21,000-22,000 trees per year are planted, with about 20 new windbreaks established each year, he said.

Dobson congratulated landowners for their work with the Windbreak Program. "Evergreens planted nine or ten years ago are now 9-10 metres in height," he said.

He also said area farmers appreciated his visits and are open to his suggestions.

Of the 400 windbreaks planted in SD&G about 260 were planted around farmsteads, while another 135 were used for crop windbreaks.

AgCan appointment

OTTAWA — Agriculture Minister Bill McKnight recently announced the appointment of Ralph Barrie as Special Advisor on supply management issues.

Former chair of the National Farm Products Marketing Council, Barrie brings extensive experience in the supply management sector and the agri-food industry in general.

"Ralph Barrie will act as a vital information- communication link between the stakeholders and this office," McKnight explained. "His background and strong relationships with all stakeholders will be instrumental in the development of a second generation supply management."

Born in Lanark County, Barrie has been actively involved in farming and farm-related organizations for more than 25 years. From 1979- 84 he was president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. In 1984, he was a member of the Special Beef Commission set up by the Ontario Minister of Agriculture to develop a marketing plan for a beef marketing agency.

Formerly a dairy farmer, Barrie operated a beef cattle farm near Perth, Ontario until recently.

Award of Merit

Porteous earns Award of Merit

WINCHESTER — Winchester Township dairy farmer Linda Porteous was named this year's Award of Merit winner by the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

Selected by the local soil and crop association, Porteous' work in bringing agriculture to Dundas County classrooms earned her the honor.

The Award of Merit honors individuals who have shown a concern for, and made a contribution to, the general welfare of agriculture within their community.

Porteous, who operates Harmony View Holsteins in partnership with husband Wilmer, worked with the staff and students of Morewood Public School to organize an Adopt a Farmer project where each class in the school "adopted" a farmer from a different commodity group. The class visited the farm, completed a project and presented their findings at an Agricultural Fair held during Education Week.

She also assisted in the formation of a Dundas Chapter of the Agriculture in the Classroom Committee of which she is president. Under her leadership the committee is planning a Dundas Farm Fair slated for next spring. At this event farm groups will host school children at an educational activity at the Winchester Community Centre.

Making agricultural awareness a priority, Porteous is coordinating the Dundas Education programs for farm families and will assist with the organization of courses as well as teaching some lessons. She is also involved in the 4-H program, and has been a leader for the past six years.

Porteous' other community involvement includes: teaching Adult Sunday School at Nationside Pentecostal Church in Chesterville and working with the church's Crusader Youth Group.

The Porteous' recently had a milking herd dispersal sale and are currently in the process of building up a new dairy herd.

They have three sons — Curt, Evan and Brent.

Individuals selected for the Award of Merit can include not only farmers, but researchers, extension workers, fieldmen, weed inspectors, agri-business leaders and dealers as well.

Conservation practises

Cliff Metcalfe (centre) presents soil conservation awards to John Spruit, Mountain Township (left) and Henry Doornwaard, Winchester Township for practising good soil conservation methods on their farms. Renny vanGilst of Williamsburg Township and Bill Cook, Matilda were absent. The awards were presented during the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting last Thursday in Winchester.

WSA focuses on rural life in the '90s

by Eda Van der Linden

WINCHESTER — Would you like to spend six days with friends, broaden your horizon and beat the winter blues?

Once again, Women for the Survival of Agriculture, WSA-Winchester, is offering a varied program, to be held every Wednesday from Jan. 15 to Feb. 26, 1992 (except Farmers Week, Jan. 20-25) at the W.B. George Centre, Kemptville College from 10am-3pm.

January 15, am: Time for registration, get acquainted with new participants and renew friendships from last year. We will meet Bernadette Clement from the Legal Clinic of Cornwall. She will tell us what a legal clinic is all about and what it can do for us. Contrary to the old saying when it comes to the law: 'What you don't know can hurt you!'

From 1-2pm — Catherine Lalonde of Ingleside with co-author Louise Burchell of Spencerville have written a book Eliza's Best Wednesday. The book shows that history can be fun. An added interest is that Catherine is a teacher at an Indian reserve. How do you teach Canadian history to Indian children?

From 2-3pm — Loretta Hamilton, special education coordinator of the SD&G School Board will speak on the topic, 'How effective is the intergration of mentally and physically challenged children in our school system?'

January 29, am: A look into the future. Two freezers and nine cold rooms at the Experimental Farm in Ottawa hold over 100,000 seed varieties. Saving the Seeds of Life is the topic of Dr. Guy Baillargeon of the Experimental Farm. How important is it to keep seeds for future generation in Canada's gene bank? Dr. Baillargeon also touches on 'cloning'.

From 1-2pm — Why is it so important for women to know all about breast cancer? One in 10 women will develop breast cancer. Are you the one who is at risk? Benita Kats of Ontario Breast Screening Program will give us a presentation regarding the risk factors and early detection. What is breast screening?

From 1-3pm — Giant turtles coming out of the sea and burying their eggs; a risky visit to a living crater; oxen pulling a plough up a steep mountain side — Eda's slides of Costa Rica.

February 5, 10-11am: A deer farmer, Alfred Vogel of Williamstown, will tell us about deer as alternative farming.

From 11-12 noon — Another farmer, Don McNeely from DB Farms, "home of the Emu", will tell how to raise the emu, the world's second largest Australian bird, as an alternative livestock.

From 1-2pm — Ciony Llungar of Family Focus, a non-profit mental health agency of Kemptville, will explain what kind of help is available. Is this in reach for all of us?

From 2-3pm — What is the Futures Program all about? Find out when Bob Powers of Kemptville explains.

February 12, 10-11am: All of us will come in contact one way or another during our lifetime with Alzheimer's disease. Linda Hansen of Leeds-Grenville Alzheimer Society will give us valuable information. How to care for family members. Is moral support important for caregivers? Most of all: What exactly is this devastating disease?

From 11-12 noon — Banking, by Linda Warner of the Royal Bank in Winchester. With so many services available, it can dazzle you.

Afternoon — Paul Meldrum — Farmer, journalist and TV personality we all know best as The Valley Farmer. His topic will be, 'getting the message across'.

February 19, am: Let us stay up-to-date with a program put together by Debbie Gilmer of the Continuing Education Department of Kemptville College, "Environmental concerns regarding home and farm environment." Also, Bill of Rights for farmers.

From 1-2pm — Sandra Kelly of Kemptville will show us how to look and feel beautiful — from facial cleaning to putting on make-up the proper way.

From 2-3pm — Deborah Donegan of Carleton Place is a color analyst. Her expertise will help us choose the right colors and the right jewelry at the right time to go with our wardrobe.

February 26, am: Requested by all for quite a few years, we are very pleased that Susan Hamilton of South Mountain has agreed to attend this last day of our course. She will teach us how to grow herbs, how to use them and their medicinal values.

PM — Janet Vanbokhorst of Osgoode is an expert on sewing and a 4-H leader. She also took the Women's Institute course on Decor Accent. It is a very interesting handcraft. She will demonstrate how to make a photo frame, decorative boxes, placemats and a photo book from a binder.

There are many more topics of interest, but no more days, therefore they will have to wait until another year.

We were always very fortunate to receive funding through the SD&G Alternative School, although this year we will not be receiving any. Therefore, to cover our expenses, we will have to charge a small fee of $30, which will include all six days. We must have at least 30 participants to allow this course to become a reality. To ensure this course you must register now. Just a phone call will do.

To register contact Alida Scheepers, 774-3356; Tony Spikkers, 489-3434; Corrie Martens, 652-2097; Dawn Runnalls, 448-3425; and Eda Van der Linden, 821-1936.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

CSSB approaches 1992 with caution

by Jeffrey Morris
Special to the Press

NEPEAN— The Carleton Separate School Board acclaimed Cumberland trustee Ann Stankovic as chairperson at the board's ianaugural meeting Tuesday night.

Stankovic, who was first elected as a trustee in 1988, will replace Kanata trustee Art Lamarche in the CSSB chair. Lamarche, though stepping down from the chair, will remain a Kanata trustee.

Stankovic has been the CSSB vice-chairperson since 1989, and she has also chaired the board's Special Education Advisory Committee and the ad hoc Search Committee to select the board's new director of education.

In her inaugural speech Tuesday, Stankovic said the CSSB is "accutely aware of the members of the community who are experiencing the effects of today's economic conditions...and that the provincial treasurer has already indicated that education and health should be prepared for cutbacks in 1992."

Stankovic added that the board "must approach the 1992 budget carefully to ensure that our tremendous education system is not being eroded."

A graduate of McMaster University in Hamilton, Stankovic has experience in education as both a volunteer and teacher at the elementary and secondary school levels. She has two children attending Divine Infant Elementary School and one at St. Matthew's High School. She began her involvement with the CSSB as a member of the Divine Infant PTA, where she was the president from 1986-88.

Nepean trustee Peter Phelan will replace Stankovic as the CSSB vice-chairperson.

Phelan was also first elected trustee in 1988, and acted as chairperson of the CSSB property committee and was a member of all five of the board's standing committees during his first term.

Phelan was employed by the CSSB for a 14-year period as a teacher, vice-principal and principal. He left education in 1974 to become a lieutenant colonel with the Department of National Defence.

Phelan was the founding president of the Carleton Unit of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association and worked at the provincial level of that association. He was a trustee with the Ottawa Roman Catholic Separate School Board from 1969-74.

Phelan was also vice-president of the parish council and temple affairs committee chairman at St. Martin de Porres Parish. He is now head usher and Eucharistic minister at the Parish.

He has four children - one a graduate of St. Pius X High School, with others attending St. Pius, St. Paul's and Frank Ryan Senior Elementary School.

The newly elected CSSB trustees were also sworn in Tuesday night.

Among those sworn in was June Flynn-Turner of Barrhaven, who placed third among the five Nepean trustees elected. Other Nepean trustees elected were Basil MacDonald, Sylvia Bredeson and Lynda Jackson.

Seniors enjoy turkey dinner

WINCHESTER — On Thursday evening, Dec. 12, approximately 90 members of Winchester Golden Years Society enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner given by the local Lions Club.

A number of door prizes donated by the Lions Club and Golden Years Society were won by members.

Isobel Lewis thanked the Lions Club members and presented them with a cheque in payment for the use of the hall.

A program was enjoyed by all, consisting of readings by Hilda Helmer, stories by Myrna Cinnamon and Hazel Irven and musical numbers.

Eva Cinnamon, Hazel and Gordon Irven and Amon Sheldrick played several numbers, followed by selections by the seniors band who played and sang. Edie Reches and Harlan Helmer presented the duet 'Star of the East'.

The evening made an enjoyable conclusion to the year, with Christmas greetings to all, and looking forward to a fresh beginning in 1992.

Mountain Township hails Santa Parade

Winter wonderland

Mountain Township residents love their annual Santa Claus parade. (Clockwise from top left) Mary's garden was snow-filled; children throw candy from a float to passers-by; young and old braved the snow and cold to enjoy the parade; and children manned the Winchester Hospital float which thanked the community for its support.

RIDE campaign

As in previous years the OPP will be increasing their Anti Impaired Driving campaign during the coming Christmas season.

A person with a blood alcohol concentration of .08 (the legal limit set by the criminal code) is four times as likely to be involved in an accident as a driver who had not been drinking. At .16 the chances are 35 times greater and at .20, 65 times greater.

It is important that the public remember that the OPP's campaign to reduce drinking and driving is a community program that hopefully will reduce accidents, injuries and fatalities and is not restricted to a few weekends in December and January.

OPP statistics over the past years show the concern you have and your support for this program.

EnviroTips

Combine your errands and other activities to reduce trips in the car — you'll save gas and money, and you'll put less pollutants into the precious air.

Cut down on waste when entertaining — avoid using paper napkins, plates, tablecloths, styrofoam cups and plastic cutlery.

Buy your baking supplies and snack foods in bulk to avoid unnecessary packaging.

Make your home smell like Christmas without using aerosol air fresheners. Simmer cloves and cinnamon in a pan of water. Better yet, try some potpourri — it's wonderful!

In the kitchen, make an effort to reuse your plastic wrap, waxed paper, foil and plastic bags. Don't forget to set aside cans, glass, newspaper and PET bottles for recycling. Remember, you can still compost in winter.

Provincial legislation takes support orders out of courts

OTTAWA— Judy Poulin's ex-husband owns a business, a house, and seven cars. And he owes her three months worth of child support.

New provincial legislation regulating the payment of family support may not help the Ottawa mother of three get her support payments any quicker, but she does hope it will help other divorced and separated women in Ontario.

Billing it as part of the effort to fight child poverty, the NDP government this month launched a province-wide advertising campaign to introduce Bill 17, the Family Support Plan Act, which will become law in March 1992.

Under the plan, support payments will be automatically deducted from wages.

The Attorney General's office says more than $470 million in support payments are owing in Ontario.

And in recent years more than $140 million in social assistance has been paid to families who did not receive support payments.

Because Poulin's ex-husband is self-employed, the new plan does not apply to her case. But she hopes that as more cases fall under the automatic deduction plan, workers will have more time to deal with more difficult cases like her own.

Currently, there are more than 90,000 support orders filed with the Support Custody Orders Program, which collects and distributes payments to support recipients.

Poulin, who started a group called SCOPE (Support and Custody Orders for Priority Enforcement) over two years ago for women like herself, says the bill is not the ideal solution but is a step in the right direction.

"The onus is still on the payer to tell (the family support office) where he's working," she said in an interview last week. "If he leaves his work and doesn't tell them, the system breaks down."

Ontario's automatic deduction plan is the first such legislation in Canada, but it has no jurisdiction if the payor moves out of the province.

The plan will apply to all new court orders made after March 1992, except under certain circumstances, and will apply to existing orders if the program director considers it "advisable and practical."

Winchester lawyer Stephen Ault says the automatic deduction plan takes support orders out of the courts and out of the hands of ex-spouses.

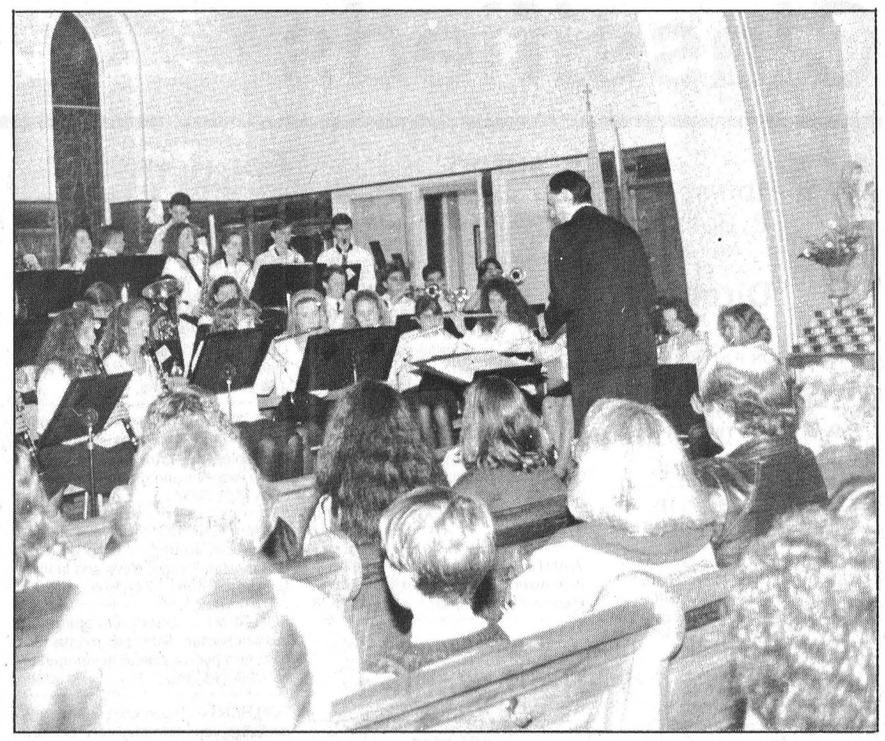
"Obviously it's great for people who are trying to collect from somebody who's working," he said. "But basically it's in the hands of a bureaucrat."

Since people who don't pay support and have a regular salary risk having their wages garnished, Ault said they are not usually the ones who miss payments.

"Are those the people who aren't paying?" he said. "It's the self-employed people you just can't get your hands on...The people that just won't pay just don't pay."

But Ault agrees with Poulin that the new plan should give case workers more time to track down and collect from people in arrears.

The family support program employs about 300 people in eight field offices across Ontario. It has a budget of about $24 million.



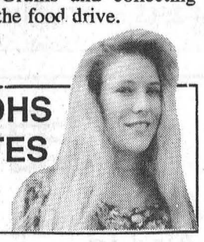
Sounds of Christmas

The North Dundas District High School band serenaded area residents with a selection of Christmas music at St. Mary's Church in Chesterville last Thursday night. The concert gave its listeners a taste of the holiday spirit.

Food donations build

No doubt, Christmas is fast approaching. The Peer Helpers have been busy selling Candy Cane O-Grams and collecting cans for the food drive.

NDDHS NOTES
by Hazel Booth



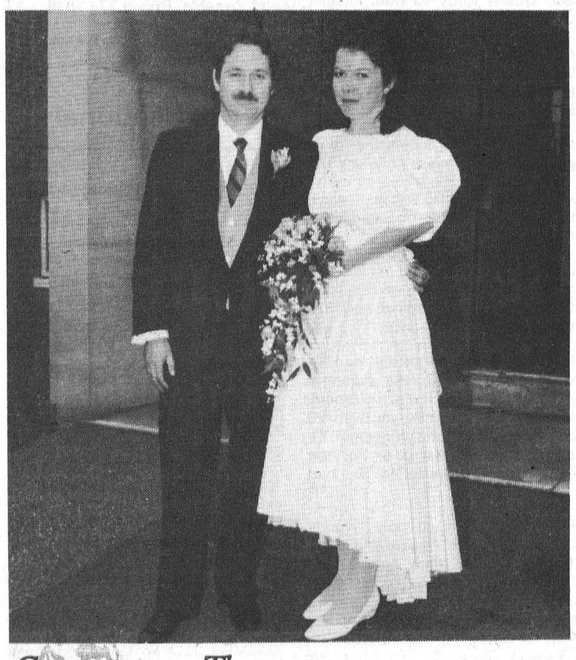
Quite a few lockers have been decorated for Christmas. Garland and wrapping paper seem to be the popular decoration, however, there are a few extraordinary lockers with lights on them.

Mrs. Gibson's Grade 12 English students are very excited about their Victorian Christmas party to be held today, Wednesday, in the drama room. Students did some research and will present the Victorian age, specifically Victorian manners, Christmas traditions and cuisine. They even learned how to waltz, fox trot and polka. It should be quite a ball.

Catie Clapp, Tamara Bond and Rodney Merkley represented our school at a leadership conference in Quebec. Described as being "a fun, learning experience," the conference provided an excellent opportunity to discuss some of the common problems in SD&G schools.

Mrs. Jane Thompson spoke to Mrs. Kelly's history class about the Depression on Friday of last week. Her stories were well received by the students who appreciated her visit. It's always great to learn from someone other than the teacher or textbook.

That about wraps up the news from North Dundas until the New Year. Have a Merry Christmas!



Cameron — Thompson

Valerie Ann, daughter of Raymond and May Thompson of Morewood, and Allan Merril Ross, son of Bernice Cameron and the late Melvin Cameron of Ottawa, were united in marriage on Oct. 21, 1991 at Kingsway United Church in Ottawa. We would like to thank everyone for their kind wishes and thoughtful gifts. A special thanks to our parents and friends.
