Councillor Bill Dillabough, also a candidate for reeve, described his work with the Community Centre Board and wants to continue his work on council. His main concern is to attract new industary. These include Cornwall, Winchester, Chesterville, Avonmore, etc. A building program will commence in Cornwall in the near future. He thanked the people for their support.

In her remarks, Mrs. Findlay promised to devote time, effort, and enthusiasm to the Board. With an extensive background in the educational field in both rural and urban areas, she hopes to serve the area well if elected.

During the question period which followed, R. F. Welton, of St. Lawrence Street, questioned Council members regarding the recent change in the zoning by-law on Lakeshore Drive. D. C. Findlay of Lakeshore Drive also raised supplementary questions regarding this by-law change, which was passed by Council on November 4th.

NHL Franchise for Morrisburg?

A report, recently issued by the NHL Board of Directors expresses a high degree of interest in an extremely powerful Morrisburg Hockey Club. The report says,— "due to the quality and success of this Morrisburg team accompanied by exciting and competitive displays of advanced hockey abilities, we are obliged to consider this team as a possible expansion franchise for the near future.

The Team commonly referred to as the "Old Men" are the Morrisburg Old Timers. There statistics for the present season are quite impressive. They are undefeated and have scored 56 goals while their opponents have managed a mere 22 against. Teams which have been frustrated by the Old Timers include the Morrisburg Juniors, the Morrisburg Rattlers, Ault Cremery, Winchester All Stars, Iroquois Old Timers, and the exceptional R.C.M.P. Team.

The "Old Timers" are a very well balanced and disciplined team. They are well coached and comprise approximately 25 players of equal hockey ability. Some players worthy of honorable mention for their valuable contribution to the Teams success this season include: Rowdy "Doug" Gillard; Mitch "The Frog" Cassell; Orval "Loverboy" Delage; Fred "Showers" LaForge; Earl "The Pearl" Brown, and a host of other worthy 'Old Timers'.

An exclusive interview was obtained this morning wit hthe Old Timers manager, namely Murry "The Mover". He stated very clearly that the team has no intention of playing in the NHL which, by the way, is the abbreviation of a new Seaway League meaning "Neurotic Hockey League". Nevertheless, the Old Timers will continue to entertain hockey enthusiasts in Morrisburg and are very proud to represent our community. Let's get out there and support our Team, they deserve it.

FINAL TRIBUTE FOR FRANCIS D. CASSELMAN

The death occurred at Winchester Hospital on November 13th, after a lingering illness, of Francis Douglas Casselman, a well-known resident of Williamsburg Township and later of Morrisburg

Mr. Casselman was born on April 16, 1918, a son of Eva M. and the late Frank Casselman, of Williamsburg A carpenter by trade, he had worked as long as health permitted

In 1973, at the United Church in Prescott, he married Olive Brown of Prescott, who survives. He is also survived by his mother and a stepdaughter, Marjorie, of Prescott; two brothers, Wellington and Errington, both of Williamsburg; three sisters, Viola, Mrs. Vincent Casselman of Williamsburg, Arabella, Mrs. George Richmire of Williamsburg, and Jean, Mrs. Donald Roles of Morrisburg Two brothers predeceased him.

The funeral was held at St. Pauls Lutheran Church, of which he was a member, on Friday Nov 15th at 2 p m., with Rev. John Boehmer in charge of the service. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Messrs Chas Crober, Wm. Reddick, Graham VanAllen, Keith Kirkwood, Wade Roles and Donald Barkley.

Womens Institute Meet Held on November 4

The Morrisburg Women's Institute met November 14th with the president, Mrs. Olive Neild in the chair. There was the usual procedure, roll call, minutes and a business session.

The president gave a concise, interesting account of the Eastern District Convention she had attended at Ottawa on November 12th and 13th. One of the highlights of it was the talk by Madame Leger, which followed the banquet on November 12th.

The meeting was turned over to the evening's convenor, Mrs. Gordon Mulholland. She called on Mrs. York to give a short paper based on the motto: "Women Must Work and Study Together to Raise our Homes to the Highest Level".

Mrs. Velma Casselman read the poem entitled "In Flander's Fields".

Mrs. Brooks Hanes was then called upon to show her slides of a recent bus tour she had taken to the Maritimes lasting 16 days. Before proceeding, she showed a map outlining the route they had taken.

One of the first they visited was Port Royal which is the oldest English settlement north of Louisiana.

A very lovely spot was Bar Harbour which Mrs. Hanes said was once famous for its millionaires. The country around there was beautiful with its mountains, rivers and lakes.

At Bangor, Maine, they stopped off to see the monument of Paul Bunyan. It is 31 feet high and is made of reinforced fibreglass.

Prince Edward Island is famous for its lobsters, so Mrs. Hanes showed a few slides of where some of them are caught. One slide showed a huge pile of them being cooked. An interesting thing about lobsters is that they swim backwards

Near Amherst, N.S the group, obtained cards to join what is called the "Order of Good Cheer" This had been started by Champlain in 1606 and is the oldest social club in existence.

Mrs. Hanes saw so much beautifuls scenery and so many interesting places that space won't permit to describe the various slides depicting them but I will endeavour to tell about a few.

The group visited Grand Pre, the home of Evangeline. There is a splendid park there which became a national one in 1957. The flowers were beautiful and in the background is an old church called Covenanter's Church. It has a museum containing many relics, a most unusual one being a machine used for making shingles.— Some of the original willows still grow in the park.

One place about which most of us have heard is the "House of the Seven Gables" mentioned in L.M. Montgomery's novel entitled "Anne of Green Gables".

And of course most of us have heard of Peggy's Cove which is especially familiar to artists. The slides of it showed the huge boulders, also the lighthouse located there.

Very few people visiting the Maritimes miss the drive along the Cabot Trail, which is 184 miles long. Mrs. Hanes' slides gave us a spendid idea of its ruggedness and the beautiful scenery sourrounding it.

Of course the group visited the old city of Halifax which is said to have one of the finest harbours in the world. The view of the city showing the citadel was splendid. There were slides of the grounds also the interior of it. One slide showed a statute of a man named Angus McAskell who was over 7 feet tall and weighed 400 lbs. He had travelled in a circus for a time with Tom Thumb

Another slide showed a relic of the terrible explosion caused by a collision of two ships in the harbour in 1917. About 2000 people lost their lives as a result.

One of the most interesting places visited wast he museum of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell located near Baddock. This had been officially opened in 1956. The shape of the museum is based on the pethedron as a lot of Dr. Bell's experiments were along that shape. One room contained a splendid telephone exhibit. Across the valley from the museum is the house where Dr. Bell resided.

Two nights were spent at Charlottetown. The most outstanding building visited there is known as Providence House. It was here that Canada was really born.

Mrs. Hanes showed a slide of the room where it all began in 1864 and it still contains the original furniture.

Another interesting place visited is located near Kensington, known as Woodleigh Replicas.— There they saw replicas of many of England's most famous or interesting buildings such as the Tower of London, Glamis Castle, St. Paul's Cathedral, Shakespeare's birth place and Ann Hathaway's cottage. There was also a replica of the Crown Jewels.

On the return trip the City of Quebec was visited and slides were shown of some of the interesting sights or places seen there.

At the conclusion, Mrs. Hanes displayed some of the items collected on ther trip. One was a replica of a lobster trap. She also had a beautifully framed certificate showing her membership in the "Order of Good Cheer".

Mrs. York and the president, both thanked Mrs. Hanes for a most interesting and informative evening.

A social time followed during which the hostesses served a tasty lunch.

The 2nd FORTY

Immature Son

Dear Margaret Brookield:

I have a 21-year-old son, Andy (not his name), by a previous marriage who dropped out of college two years ago. He earns pin money playing with a rock band on weekends, and spends the rest of his time socializing with frends. My husband claims I might "make a man" of Andy if I refused to support him. But I say many young men go through a carefree stage before settling down and becoming responsible adults. Isn't that true? F. L.

Dear F.L.:

In earlier generations, young men of 21 were often married and supporting a family while young people today seem to be going through prolonged adolescence, often not assuming adult roles until their late twenties. The reasons for this are many and range from American affluence to the emphasis on hgher education, which keeps young people in school long after they are grown up.

Your son, who seems to have neither goals nor responsibilities, may be transformed into a mature adult in a few years, if you and your husband try to resolve your problems about parental guidance by seeking professional counseling. The therapist may recommend help for your son, too.

Wife's Pension

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

Will you settle an argument? I am a well-paid career woman and have paid maximum social security taxes for many years. My husband says when we retire I can collect benefits on my earnings but I read an article that convinced me I will be entitled to receive only half my husband's benefits. Who's right? R.J.

Dear R.J.:

A working wife who is eligible to receive social security retirement benefits, either as a worker or a wife, always receives only one benefit. But it is always the highest of the two. The article you read probably concerned a working wife whose average benefits were so low that her benefit as a wife (one-half of her husband's retirement benefit) was higher.

Only your local social security office can answer specific questions about your benefits. But the following may be helpful: if a husband and wife, both 65 and wage earners, retired this year and both qualified for maximum benefits as workers, he would receive $304.90 per month, but her benefit would be $316.30 (the woman worker receives a higher benefit). Their benefits would total more than $621.

On the other hand, if a 65-year-old worker who retired this year and qualified for maximum benefits had a working wife of the same age whose average earnings entitled her to a benefit of less than $152.50, she would receive the wife's benefit. Their combined benefit would be only $457.40.

"Language Of The Heart"

Denver — Guess who's coming to dinner at the Fiore house?

On any given night it could be a visitor from Thailand...or Lebanon, sharing potluck with a family who has opened its home and heart to thousands of foreign guests over the past 27 years.

It all started toward the end of World War II. "Until then we hadn't given much thought to the outside world," recalls Genevieve Fiore, "but the war came into our home and took our loved ones to the fighting front. Then I began thinking what can one person do to promote international understanding and peace?"

Her concern, shared by husband John and other like-minded Denverites, led to the founding of a Colorado division of the United Nations Association of the U.S.A., and an International Hospitality Center to make foreigners feel welcome in the "mile high" city. Mrs. Fiore has just retired from her executive duties, "so now I can devote more time to giving speeches and entertaining guests again."

"Language of the Heart"

Genevieve Fiore, raised on farms in Wyoming and Colorado, is no sophisticated urbanite. By dint of high school courses she can speak Italian and some Spanish, "and I sort of understand French." But it's her homey hospitality and "understanding the language of the heart" that wins so many friends. "I've learned over the years that all peoples have the same hopes and dreams and aspirations. And that some people are pretty wonderful and some are rascals."

When company comes, everyone in the Fiore family pitches in. Two sons, 38 and 20, live at home; a daughter, 31, teaches and now has a place of her own. "Roxanna used to end up washing the dishes," says her mother. "But she was rewarded for it. Three years ago she toured Europe and the Middle East and she was welcomed by our friends wherever she went."

Today more than six hundred Denver families participate in the hospitality programs. But the current economic situation is causing some problems. "It's rough on our younger families to feed an extra mouth," says Mrs. Fiore, "so we suggest they invite visitors just for dessert and coffee. Also, we're turning to older couples for cooperation. Often their children have left home, and they're happy to have the company."

Entertainment Guidelines

Families welcome foreigners who may be students, military men, doctors or domestic workers—" you just name them and we've got them!" laughs Mrs. Fiore. A booklet offers guidelines for host families, helping to ease social blunders. Avoid discussing politics and religion, it advises, unless the visitor brings it up. Then, "answer honestly and be above board."

Diet taboos are also listed. "For example," explains the veteran hostess, "Hindus don't eat beef and Moslems don't eat pork. You 're safest sticking with poultry, vegetables and rice and always cooking with vegetable oils. American dishes are usually popular with visitors and, Mrs. Fiore adds "everybody loves my pasta!"

Not every would-be host is as well-motivated as Mrs. Fiore would like. "I remember one young woman who requested a foreign visitor. The application form asked what are your preferences? She answered 'men'. And how many would you like? She sad 'one!"

But for those truly interested in opening their homes to foreigners, Mrs. Fiore says the holidays are a wondrful time to start. If your community doesn't list an International Chamber of Commerce she suggests calling the Convention and Visitors Bureau, armed forces bases in the area, high schools and universities, or even hospitals who usually have foreign personnel.

Community is Saddened by Sudden Death of Erle McInnis

This community was shocked and saddened by the sudden passing of Donald Erle McInnis D.F.C. who had served in the R.C.A.F. for five years, as a pilot with Air Canada for almost thirty years, and was planning to retire in Morrisburg next year.

Son of Charles W. McInnis and Mrs. McInnis (the former Ethel McIntosh of Williamsburg), Erle was known by a host of friends. He had made over one thousand air-trips and delivered safely over one million passengers.

Erle attended the local schools in Matilda, Iroquois High School, and Queen's University. He served on the School Board in Brampton where he made his home and was a member of St. Paul's United Church there, and of the Masonic Order.

In 1944, he married Elizabeth R. Johnston of Dixon's, who with two sons, Alan of Tottenham and Robert of Waterloo, and two daughters, Katherine Brett of London and Margie at home, have been bereaved of a very kind husband and father. Also grieved by his passing are his parents of Morrisburg, his brothers, Landon living on the family homestead, Carleton of Morrisburg, and two sisters, Ruth McConnell, Winchester, and Thelma Metcalfe of Baie d'Urfe.

The funeral service was held at Fairbairn's Funeral Home on Thursday, November 14, with Rev C. Massey and Rev. Brian Gee officiating.

The pallbearers were: Captain Tom Reid, Jack Fisher, James Beatty, Gorden Hess, Mac Smyth, and Dwight Lannin. Interment was at Point Iroquois Cemetery.

The many floral tributes and sympathy cards manifested the esteem in which the McInnis family is held in the Brampton, Matilda, Iroquois and Morrisburg communities.

YOUNG FARMERS OF AREA IN JUDGING COMPETITION

It has been some time since Dundas County entered a team to the Ontario Livestock and Management Tour. Part of the tour is an Inter-County Livestock Judging Competition. This year John Douma, and Frank Cassellman (both of Chesterville), and Doug Blaine of Mountain composed Dundas County's delegation to the tour and judging competition. — They returned home this past weekend, after a long week away in Central and Western Ontario. It may have been some time since young farmers from this area competed in a judging competition at the Royal, but the delegation this year, showed that they hadn't forgotten what it was all about.

After all the results were in, Dundas finished:

Tops in Dairy Judging in the Province,

Third Overall Team In All Livestock Classes,

Frank Casselman—Third Highest Livestock Judge on an individual basis.

All the results are not in to my office as of this time, but as you can see, we are justified in giving a loud "Well Done" and our hearty congratulations to all members of the group. We hope that we can look forward to another team of young men heading off to the tour next year. I do believe that all of the men who went this year will agree that it is a very worth while experience. — Each year the tour is related to a topic that is of significant importance to the livestock industry, that it merits a week of touring and discussion. This year's topic was 'Can we afford to feed $4/Bu. Corn to Livestock? The week also included discussion on livestock husbandry and f a r m agreements.

Sermon Title:
"LOTS FOR SALE"

TO ALL RESIDENTS OF MORRISBURG:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

With four years of experience as a member of municipal council, I decided to become a candidate for the reeveship when it became apparent that that position would become vacant.

If you give me your confidence, I believe I can make a positive contribution to the well being of our village, not just with words but with actions. I have been fortunate enough to enjoy a modest success in my own business, and I believe that I can be of assistance in conducting the business of our municipality. I would aim to be a progressive reeve, a man of action, and one of my top priorities, if elected, will be to determine what assistance is available, financial and otherwise, for the industrial expansion we need so badly in our village. Another first with me is to ensure that all our senior citizens have an opportunity to live in a comfortable atmosphere, within their budget.

If these are the things you want too for our village, give me your hand and your vote, and together, let us go after them. The opportunity is there. All we have to do is make the most of it!

ON DECEMBER 2nd, VOTE
BILL DILLABOUGH
FOR REEVE OF MORRISBURG

NOTICE

To All the Electors in the Village of Morrisburg:—

I am running in the December 2 Election for the position of Hydro Commissioner.

Having 30 years experience in the electrical field, I feel I am in an excellent position to serve you as your representative. I would appreciate your vote on December 2nd. Thank you.

Sincerely,

GERALD HELLARD

PRAYER FOR OLDER PEOPLE

Father, Thou knowest I am growing older. Keep me from becoming talkative and possessed with the idea that I must express myself on every subject. Release me from the craving to straighten out everyone's affairs. Keep my mind free from the recital of endless detail. Seal my lips when I am inclined to tell of my aches and pains. Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally I may be wrong. Make me thoughtful but not moody, helpful but not bossy.

With my vast store of wisdom and experience, it seems a pity not to use it all, but Thou knowest, Lord, that I want to keep my friends until the end.

Amen

To the Citizens of MORRISBURG:

You have given me the opportunity of serving you as Councillor for six years. I hope I have served you well. Having been nominated for Reeve, I now ask for your support on December 2nd.

If you elect me as your Reeve, I will serve you to the best of my ability. With your help we can meet the challenges of the future and look forward to expansion in industrial, residential and recreational developments in the Village of Morrisburg.

CAMPAIGN TARGET FOR CHRISTMAS SEALS IS SET

At the management meeting of the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association held at the New Parkway Hotel on November 12, the Christmas Seal Campaign Target was set at $25,000. To date there has been a favourable response in returns.

While it's a common belief that more Canadians smoke than do not smoke, surveys indicate that 56.4 percent of persons over 15 years of age do not smoke. The Christmas Seals are used to carry out non-smoking programs. There is a long way to go, warns the Association.

At the November management meeting, tentative plans were made for a National Education Week on Non-Smoking, to be held January 11-17. The Association feels that prevention of Respiratory Diseases is a valuable service to the community.

Present at the meeting was Mr. Archibald Les McDonald, Program Consultant for the Ontario Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. Mr. McDonald expressed the feeling that the Eastern Counties Association was doing well in its efforts to be an active service to the community.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS WILL BE TURNED ON IN ONTARIO

Federal Energy Minister Donald Macdonald and Premier William Davis of Ontario have given the go-ahead for traditional Christmas Lighting this season.

In response to a brief from the Christmas Decoration Division of the Canadian Toy Manufacturers Association, Mr. Macdonald confirmed that: "there is no reason to single out Christmas lights as a special target for nergy conservation efforts during the coming heating season".

SAFE DRIVING WEEK IS FIRST WEEK IN DECEMBER

"Safe Driving Week, Canada's longest running and best known safety campaign, will again be observed from December 1st - 7th 1974.

According to Canada Safety Council Executive ,Director Philip J. Farmer, the 1974 campaign will for the first time, feature input from a major advertising agency, Vickers and Benson Limited in Toronto, who created the theme poster carrying the message: — "Drive like you'd like everyone else to drive."

December was originally selected for safe driving week because it was the worst month for traffic fatalities and injuries.

"This is one reason why we feel these campaigns are effective" says Mr. Farmer "since now more than half the months of the year have worse records than December. The message does get through at least for a time."

The Council spokesman added that the poster is a key feature of the campaign, becoming an integral part of a place mat design used in many restaurants and cafeterias, as well as being widely displayed on counters, bulletin boards and in store windows.

The message is also translated into French for distribution in Quebec, Northern Ontaro and other areas where substantial French is spoken. Council translator Jude Ds Chenes came up with a number of close equivalents before it was decided to settle on "Au volant: Comportez-vous comme vous voudriez que les autres se comportent."

Philip Farmer added "The Council is most apprciative of the help received from Bryan Vaughan at Vickers and Benson, and we also value the advice received from Mr. Robert Oliver, President of the Canadian Advertising Advisory Board."

Report From Queen's Park: BY HON. DON IRVINE

In this column, I would like to present a few thoughts on some significant developments which have been made in the area of agriculture.

One project which has attracted considerable attention from all parts of the province is the land leasing programme. In areas where the Ontario government has acquired sizeable portions of land which are not immediately required for development, the land will be made available to qualifying farmers on a lease basis.

I would like at this time to clear up some misunderstandings surrounding this project. The land is not available to agrcultural college graduates only. The project is designed for any farmer who has the necessary qualifications.

The land leasing programme is an undertaking of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food in co-operation with the other ministries of the Ontario Government By leasing from the province, farmers will be able to put money toward equipment which they will be able to take with them, and can also save for their own farms The programme offers many advantages to farmers faced with the heavy financial commitments of establishing a farm .

As the world's population continues to expand, the demands for greater food supply also increase. Since the Second World War, farmers have turned to a greater use of fertilizers and mechanization in order to boost agricultural output. Since 1945, the use of nitrogen in U.S. corn production has increased from 7 lbs./acre to 112 lbs/acre in 1970. The situation here in Ontario is precisely the same. This demand for nitrogen-based fertilizers has resulted in increas ed costs and declining availability.

Most nitrogen fertilizers are bi-products of natural gas. Because we are faced with the prospect of natural gas shortages in the future, new methods must be found to use fertilizer more efficiently.

The Ontario Agricultural Institute of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers a soil testing service to all farmers. If a farmer sends in specific soil samples of fields which have been consistently fertilized over the years, the research scientists can discover the type and amount of fertilizer necessary to produce high quality crops. By means of this service, all types of fertilizers can be distributed to benefit not only our agricultural industry but also other parts of the world.

Last April, the Land Speculation Tax was introduced in the Ontario Legislature. The Tax was not designed to raise revenue, but rather to discourage speculative activity which was responsible for artificially driving up the price of land but adding nothing to its value.

At the time of the introduction of the Land Speculation Tax, the government made it quite clear that some unforseen problems would inevitably arise which would require correction. Since that time there have been continuous amend ments and refinements to the Tax to ensure that any inequities in application would be resolved.

An example of refinement in the Tax was seen in the exemption provided for homeowners renting out one or more rooms. This exemption is retroactive to April 9th. The Tax still applies, however, to self-contained apartments in a building even if the owner lives there, and rooms in build ings which are not occupied by their owner.

Further changes in the Tax are outlined in the Act to amend the Land Speculation Tax Act, 1974 which is currently been considered in the Legislature.

Investment property reduction has been extended to include farm property. In this way, any farm which has been in a family for 10 years or more prior to its sale is completely exempt from the tax if it is then sold outside the family. If a farm has been operational for less than 10 years, then the farmer can rduce any potential tax by a straight 10 per cent cumulatively. Additional reductions are provided for based on maintenance costs incurred on a farm.

I am confident that the changes which have been outlined in this new Act to amend the Land Speculation Tax Act, 1974 will eliminate any misunderstanding or confusion felt by farmers about the effect of the tax on them.

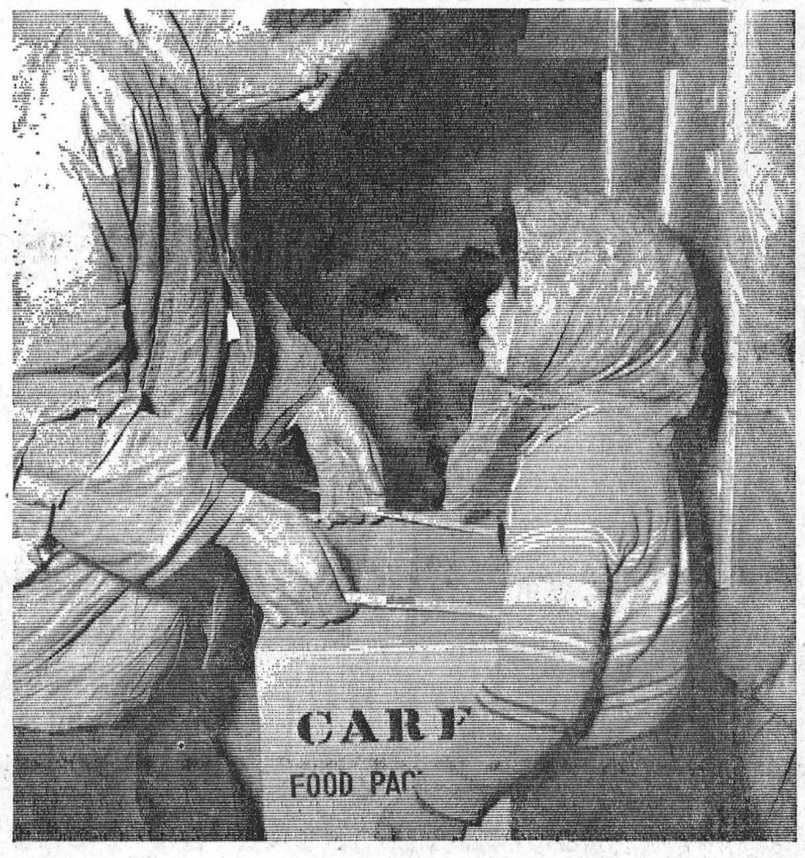
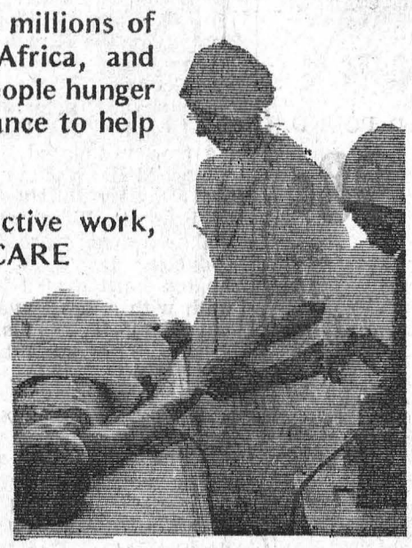
CARE is more than just a package

It's people helping people



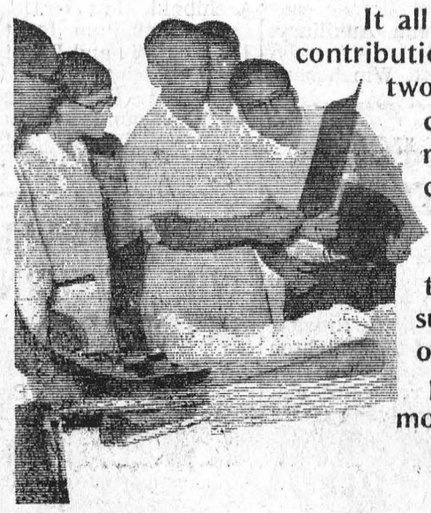
Each day CARE feeds millions of hungry families in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. But, these people hunger for more than food: the chance to help themselves.



They yearn for productive work, for education, for tools. CARE works to satisfy these hungers.

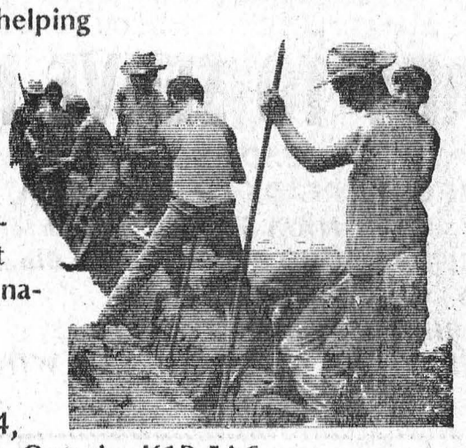
Throughout the developing world Canadian CARE teams co-operate with local people in an effort to provide better nutrition, safe water, permanent housing, less illiteracy, more and better medical services, and information about family planning.

Through CARE's partnership program local governments give what they can and the people volunteer their labour.



It all starts with YOUR contribution to CARE. For two dollars CARE can provide nourishing food to 180 children. Five dollars provide a CARE MEDICO team with enough suturing material for 20 operations. Ten dollars provide enough cement to mold 400 construction blocks.

CARE is people helping people to help themselves. But most of all, CARE is YOU making all this possible.



CARE is a non-governmental, non-profit organization and all donations are tax deductible.

Send your dollars to:
CARE of Canada, Dept. 4,
63 Sparks Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5A6

Please cut out this coupon and return it with your donation. CARE will send you an official receipt and a report on current programs overseas.

Cheer Up Its Winter

Canada has what not every country was so lucky to get — cheerful winters.

It's no time to hibernate, as countless skiers, skaters, snowmobilers, snowshoers, ice fishermen, obogganers, winter carnival goers and just plain nature lovers will attest.

Canadians would never deny they are annually provided with more than enough cold, ice and snow to go around, but in many parts of the country these climatic elements come amply accompanied with sunshine.

Bright, happy winter days do wonders for the view — sparkling ice and snow that look like jewels, and clear skies contrasting dramatically with the pale landscape. A bonus is the zesty sense of well-being that only a bright winter day can bring.

Weather charts show that winter days often have fewer than half the hours of bright sun that summer days have. But charts don't tell the whole story. Dawn comes later, dusk sooner (in the darkest month, December, the first signs of dusk occur around 4 p.m. in southern regions of Canada) but through the morning and early afternoon the sun is often clearer and brighter than on summer days.

The winter picture literally brightens in January across the land and February and March are superb months in which to enjoy outdoor activities in Canada. The hours of sunshine increase dramatically, temperatures lift rapidly from their January lows, and precipitation diminishes or levels off in almost all areas.

(In this article, the number of hours a day of bright sunshine is calculated by dividing the monthly totals by 30, for the number of days in a month. This form of measurement does not take into account overcast or precipitous days, so in fact the number of hours of sunshine per day stated throughout the article may be tak en as a minimum average).

Some of the sunniest spots in a Canadian winter are to be found in the prairie region. Estevan, Saskatchewan, close to the United States border enjoys a sparkling four hours daily of brightest sunshine in January. This increases to six-and-a-half hours per day in the late winter month of March. (March finds its brightest spot — a glorious 180 hours of intense sunshine for the month — in the central Arctic.)

The big western cities of Edmonton and Calgary, Alberta and Winnipeg, Manitoba all enjoy generous winter sunshine — from at least three-and-a-quarter hours daily in January to an average of about four in February and over five in March. Each city receives between 50 and 60 inches of snow in a year. The renowned western mountain resorts happily bury themselves in a good deal of snow every winter: Lake Louise's annual snowfall average is 189 inches; Banff's 86 inches and Jasper's 54 inches.

Some of the heaviest snowfalls in Canada are in mountain regions of British Columbia. Though skiing areas such as Valemount, Vernon, Kamloops and Kelowna may have in the region of 30 to 60 inches dumped on them in the course of a year, Garibaldi registers an average 166.5 inches and Glacier 381.7 inches.

In the same province, the cities of Vancouver and Victoria receive almost the lowest annual snowfall in the country. Vancouver and Victoria record only about a dozen days in which there is any measurable snowfall. Annual amounts average 20.6 inches in Vancouver and 17.9 inches in Victoria (both airport measurements —there is less in downtown areas). Both cities experience a monthly five to six inches of rainfall from November through January, reflecting their relatively mild temperatures. January is the coldest winter month, with both city airports averaging 36 or 37 degrees.

The ski season in British Columbia stretches from November to June — depending upon which area of the province you are in —and the January temperatures in ski areas generally dip to lows of between 15 and 25. Temperatures in November and again in March are generally in the low to mid 30s.

Average snowfall is heavier in eastern than in western Canada.

Among cities or ski areas in the east averaging well over 100 inches of snow a year are Sault Ste. Marie and Huntsville, Ontario Magog, Sainte-Agathe-des-Monts and Quebec City, Quebec; Moncton, New Brunswick; Halifax (airport measurement), Nova Scotia; Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and St. John's Newfoundland (a sharp contrast to prairie regions which rarely receive more than 60 inches of snow in a year.)

Eastern cities or ski areas averaging in inches in the 80s or 90s include Collingwood, Thunder Bay and Ottawa, Ontario; Chelsea (in the Gatineau Hills) and Montreal, Quebec, and St. John, N. B.

Toronto airport averages about 52 inches of snow a winter, reflection of the warmer, less snowy region of southern Ontario. In fact this region's relatively temparate winters help contradict the myth that all Canadians must hide inside thick parkas and galoshes for the entire winter.

The major eastern cities ofOttawa, Montreal and Toronto, like most Canadian areas, experience their drabbest weather in December. They get through the remainder of winter quite happily with about three hours of bright sunshine each day in January, about four in February and five in March, Halifax, Nova Scotia has a winter brightness on a par with these, but other major Atlantic region cities — Fredericton, Moncton and St. John, New Brunswick, can claim slightly longer durations of sun at its brightest. In fact portions of New Brunswick regularly show up just slightly behind the prairie regions in total amounts of winter sunshine.

As a country with nearly 90 degrees of longitude and extending in latitude from 42 degrees in the south to within a few hundred miles of the North Pole, it is no surprise that Canada is a land of many climates.

MUSKIES BITE BETTER ON REMEMBRANCE DAY

An 11 year old Osgoode boy who believes maskinonge get hungary apround Remembrance Day spent more than a few minutes November 11 landing a 25 lb. 10 oz. "muskie" on the Rideau River near Manotick.

Roy Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Day, RR1, Osgoode, said last year he landed a 12 lb. maskinonge about this time and he "had a feeling" it would happen again.

Roy's catch measured 45 inches and weighed 35 lbs. on his parents' bathroom scales. The weight promptly dropped 10 lbs. on a butcher shop scales.

Maskinonge season ends Nov. 30 in eastern Ontario.

LOSER PAYS

Ontario hunters who request a records search by the ministry of natural resources for a licence that has been lost will now have to pay $2, instead of the usual $1 fee. The price has also risen for issuance of a duplicate licence to $2 from $1.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Those lovely dark eyes are a reminder of Mickey's one Indian grandparent. The other grandparents were white. To round off his good looks, Mickey has black hair, olive skin and a lithe, sturdy build.

Mickey has just turned eight and is a healthy, active fellow who enjoys sports and is always eager to join in games. He likes skating and skiing and hockey, but water sports are his favorites. He is an excellent swimmer and has a natural aptitude for diving.

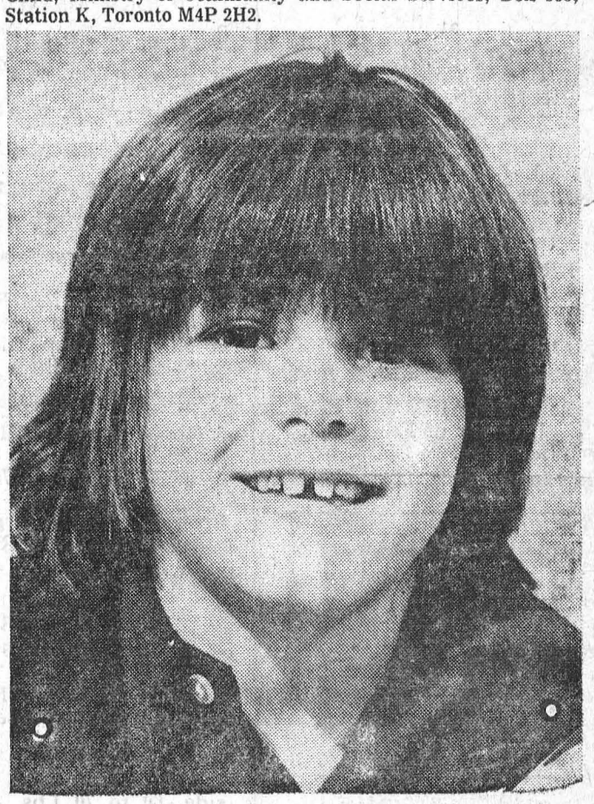
Because of unsettling experiences in his life, Mickey has had some emotional problems and has been living in a special treatment home. He has done well there and it is felt he is now ready to become part of a family.

At one time, psychological tests gave this lad a dull normal rating. Now it is considered he may be average or perhaps above.

Mickey likes music, especially singing. He is interested in carpentry. Last year he was a Beaver (a club for young boys) and now he intends to join Cubs.

Mickey needs warm understanding parents who will share activities with him. He will enjoy a brother or sister much younger or a good deal older but there should be no children close to him in age.

To inquire about adopting Mickey, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2.



Using electricity wisely isn't just a matter of avoiding waste.

Being watchful to avoid the frittering away of kilowatthours is everyone's concern, in the interest of economy and conservation of valuable energy resources.

But for some people, living in older homes with outdated wiring, restricted use of appliances is not always a matter of choice. They do not have sufficient circuits to serve normal needs without resorting to 'octopus' outlets and extension cords. The result: overloading and blowing of fuses.

These conditions also tend to diminish the performance of appliances and shortens their life.

Inadequate wiring is not only inconvenient, it can be a safety hazard. If you have any doubts about the capacity of your home's wiring have it checked by a qualified Electrical Contractor. Then, use electricity wisely... and safely.
