Dundas gymnastics meet

Gymnasts balance safety and skill

Winchester Press Sports '97

MAPLE RIDGE — Dundas County's elementary gymnasts strutted their stuff here last Wednesday during the 1997 Gymnastics Meet.

Six teams representing Inkerman, Nationview, Elma, Morrisburg, Winchester and Morewood Public Schools took part in a rotation involving five disciplines including balance beam, tumbling, long box, floor exercises and cross box. The parallel bars and uneven bars events were removed from this year's program due to safety concerns.

"The meet was a success. It was very safe because of the parent volunteers (about 10) who assisted with safety," explained meet convenor Larry Berry.

Berry noted because of the assistance provided by parents and co-convenor Frank Hummell students had the opportunity to participate in the sport again. He said the survival of the gymnastics meet will be addressed by the sports committee in June but is optimistic the competition will return.

Berry was quick to point out the contribution made by 18 students from the host school, North Dundas District High School, who developed leadership skills by acting as judges and helping with safety.

"We would like to thank the students and staff at NDDHS, the volunteers and the teachers of the six participating schools for a job well done."

The student judges for the 1997 meet were Brent Sheldrick (co-ordinator), Angie Castle, Natasha McRoberts, Amber Hogaboam, Cara Berends, Stephanie Loughlin, Sonja Carruthers, Crystal Huizinga, Sarah Leyenaar, Rachel Casselman, Steve Hardy, Todd Sloane, Jen Castle, Jen Borlee, Mike Flowers, Mike Hodge and Peter Fisher.

Leach leading AAA Mustangs

WINCHESTER — Travis Leach, of Winchester, is extending his minor hockey season.

Leach, centre, has joined the Mid-Way "AAA" Minor Atom Mustangs for the summer season. Most recently the Mustangs travelled to Repentigny, Quebec to compete in the Minor Hockey World Championship.

The Mustangs put together a perfect 4-0 record to reach the semi-final where they dropped a 6-1 decision to the Boston Icemen.

They opened with a 3-2 victory over the Ottawa Capitals on April 24. Leach drew an assist on his squad's second goal. The following day Leach set up the Mustangs' first goal as they went on to blank the New England Eagles 7-0. The Mustangs went on to slam the Monarchs de Sorel 10-4 and the St. Laurent Stars 6-1 to qualify for the semi-final round.

Morrisburg girls go to provincials

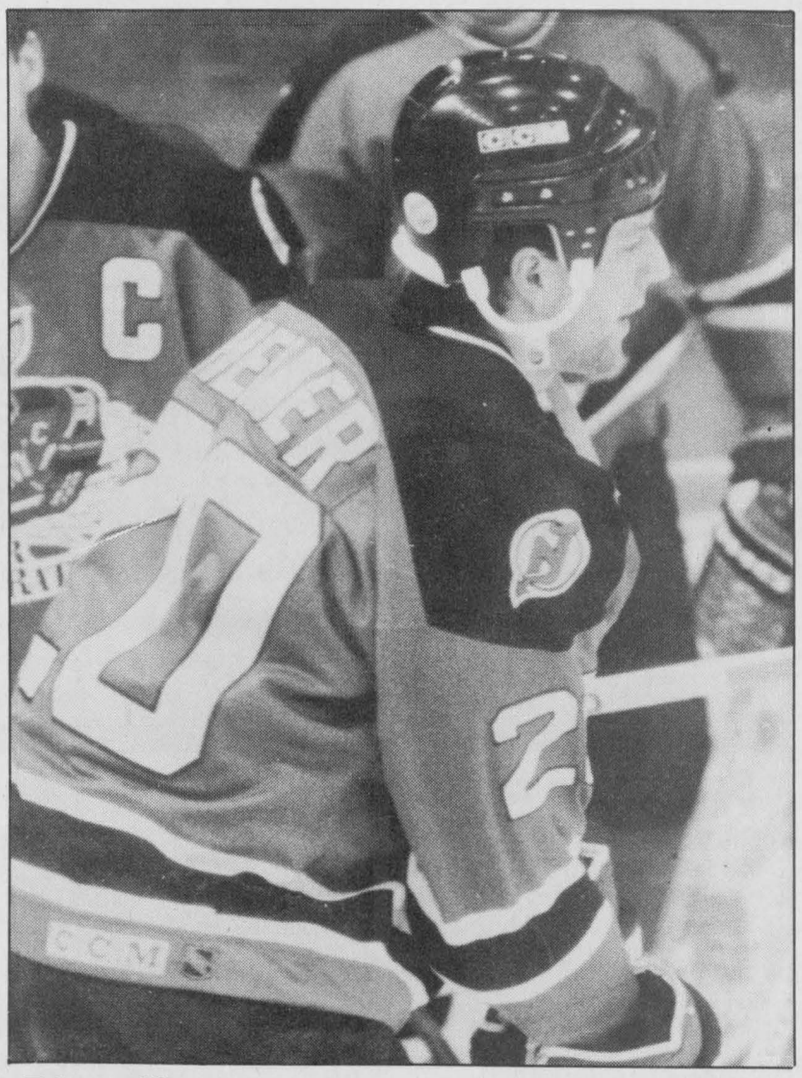
MORRISBURG — Carrissa Casselman and Kayla Irven, former members of the Morrisburg Minor Hockey Association, recently competed in the 1996-97 Provincial Atom "BB" Championships in Mississauga.

Casselman, of Williamsburg, played five years with the Lions while Irven had two years of experience with the MMHA. Both are now members of the Cornwall Atom Typhoons who competed against the top teams in Ontario in Mississauga April 17 and 18.

Although the Typhoons were competitive they dropped three close decisions and were eliminated. In their opening contest the Typhoons were beaten 3-1 by Barrie. Kitchener then edged Cornwall 3-2, scoring the winning goal with 3.8 seconds on the clock. Etobicoke then nipped the Eastern Ontario squad 2-1 and knock them out of contention.

Irven plays center for the Typhoons and finished second in team scoring with 29 points. Casselman played defence and finished her season as the team's top scoring blueliner with nine. The Cornwall coaches felt the players performed very well considering they are first-year Atoms.

The girls would like to thank their sponsors for all of their support. Irven's sponsors were Cook's Corner and Upper Canada Motor Sales in Morrisburg while Casselman's sponsors were W.J. Johnston Surveying in Winchester and Mike Dean's Super Food Store in Chesterville.



Big effort

Winchester's Bryan Helmer has put together a couple of impressive seasons as a member of the AHL's Albany River Rats. The defenceman led the Rats blueline troops in scoring again this year and was tied at plus 22 for the team's best plus - minus numbers.

Helmer, Rats on Calder Cup trail

ALBANY N.Y. — Winchester native Bryan Helmer and the Albany River Rats are in the hunt for another American Hockey League championship. Should Helmer and the Rats grab their second Calder Cup in three years it could be his last in a red and black jersey.

Helmer, who will turn 25 in July, is in the third year of his three-year contract with the NHL's New Jersey Devils top farm team. And he says he isn't getting any younger.

Professional hockey is a young man's game and Helmer, a defenceman, figures he has paid his dues working in the minors. When the contract is up he would like to go to an organization that would give him a shot at playing in the National Hockey League. With the New Jersey organization Helmer, an undrafted prospect, has waited patiently behind a long line of blueline prospects for a shot at the "show". The chance has never come. The Devils are deep in defensive talent and the former (Tier II) member of the Wellington Dukes has always been low on their depth chart.

"Hopefully my agent is working on something. I would like to go somewhere and get a shot of playing (NHL). If I don't make it at least I know I had the chance," Helmer told the Press.

But his future has been slid onto the back burner for the time being. Helmer is now working with the River Rats as they battle their way through a tough field of AHL opponents in an effort to earn their second Calder Cup in three years. They capture the AHL's holy grail in 1994-95 but weren't even close in '95-'96.

Albany eliminated the Adirondack Red Wings three games to one in their Northern Conference quarter-final best of five series. They beat the Detroit Red Wings top farm team 4-1 last Thursday (April 24) to clinch the series. They are now about to challenge the Rochester Americans in the semi-final round.

Helmer played the Red Wings series while suffering from a stomach ailment. "I had a stomach virus and lost 10 pounds but I'm eating real food now and should be ready for Rochester. The doctor said I shouldn't play but our captain Geordie Kinnear was hurt so I played. It's playoff time you know."

It's been a gruelling campaign for Helmer who says the Rats struggled early and played with just 13 or 14 guys. There were games he played defence and did double duty as a forward. "Around Christmas we didn't have many guys but by the end of January and into February we started to turn things around. Then we went on a swing into the Maritimes and won all six games. Ever since then things have been going good. Right now we have a full team, 22 players, and want to play."

Helmer says the Rochester series should be a good one. The Amerks roster is a veteran one and includes former NHL all star Charlie Huddy.

"The Americans are the defending champs and have a lot of older guys. They aren't as big as the Red Wings but it should be a well-fought battle."

The Rats and Americans tangle tonight (Wed., April 30) and Friday (May 3).

On a personal level Helmer has enjoyed another impressive season. He tied with Pat Elias (now playing with the New Jersey Devils) for the best plus - minus mark at plus 22. He was also his team's top scoring defenceman with 39 points, a total which placed him sixth on the Rats team scoring list.

Last winter Helmer was the River Rats top scoring defender with 44 points.

"I hope the numbers do me some good. But we also have to go a long way in the playoffs so people will notice."

CUP CONTENDERS

Two years ago Helmer and the Albany River Rats won the Calder Cup. Last year they put together the AHL's best regular season record but were eliminated in the first round by the Cornwall Aces. This year Albany, Adirondack and Rochester finished in a three-way tie for first at 90 points. The Rats drew third due to their regular season series against the other two clubs.

So the Red Wings are out of the way and the Americans lay ahead. The farther he and the River Rats go the more exposure Bryan Helmer will get and maybe someone will take an interest in his talent and give him his "shot".

"If I get the chance (to play in the NHL) it will be up to me. I'll know if I can play or not."

Rec rambles

by Winchester Recreational Facilities Manager Matt Krisjanis

Now we're cooking. That was an A-1 weekend and I hope that we all enjoyed it to the fullest.

The Arena Sale seemed to have a lot of people coming and going, and friends meeting friends over bargains.

I noticed that all of the local fire departments were very busy over the weekend fighting grass fires. I know that we all want to clean up and make things neat and tidy, but care should be taken. A fire is easy to start and hard to control. Valuable property and lives cannot be replaced.

On Sat., May 3 the church youth group will be holding a car wash at the arena between 10 am and 2 pm, so if you have a set of dirty wheels, this is the place to get your vehicle clean.

The summer schedule for the rink surface is almost full and here are some of the programs taking place: Tuesday nights — girls' roller hockey (ages 13 to 17) from 7 pm to 8 pm; shinny roller hockey from 8:30 pm to 10 pm; Wednesday nights — ladies' roller hockey league; Thursday nights — men's roller hockey league.

If you have a recreational program that might interest the masses, please contact me at the arena and we will see if we can make it happen.

I will not have a column next week (don't be sad) because I will be going to the University of Guelph to take another course in recreation to improve my edumacation.

My thought for the week: "It's your attitude not your aptitude which determines your altitude in life."

Carkner faces new opposition at Big East Junior tournament

BROCKVILLE — Matt Carkner faced the top Tier II players from Quebec and the Maritimes over the weekend and stood up to the test.

The 16-year-old Morewood resident and the Brockville Braves took on the Western Capitals from Summerside, P.E.I., the College Francais de Longueuil Quebec Knights as well as the Central Junior Hockey League champion Kanata Valley Lasers in the Fred Page Cup. The Page Cup, also known as the Big East Tournament, hosted by the Braves, decided the eastern Canada representative for the national Tier II Jr. "A" hockey championship. It will be hosted by Summerside P.E.I. This week (May 3-11).

The Kanata Valley Lasers emerged the Page Cup champions by virtue of a 6-4 victory over College Francais de Longueuil, Que which they posted Monday night. Kanata will now represent eastern Canada in the Royal Bank Cup (national championship).

Kanata qualified for the tournament by beating the Smiths Falls Bears in the CJHL final. They then posted a 3-0 record in the round-robin, drew a semi-final bye and moved into Monday night's final.

For Carkner the opportunity to compete against some of the top Tier II talent in eastern Canada was, "a great experience. It sure was exciting to play in it (Big East)."

After he took part in the Brockville Braves training camp the 6' 3" defenceman returned home and signed on with the Winchester Jr. "B" Hawks.

"Playing with Winchester sure helped me out. They gave me lots of ice and that improved my speed and confidence," he explained.

Carkner's improved play didn't go unnoticed and he was quickly recalled by the Braves following the Hawks elimination from the playoffs. Back in Brockville he drew a regular shift on the blueline, finished the regular season and played a big role in the Braves playoff drive.

Matt Carkner

Carkner didn't seem fazed by stepping up a level. "Junior 'A' is a lot faster but it isn't as rough as Junior 'B'... thank god."

Brockville opened the Big East bombing Longueuil 12-1 with Carkner picking up a goal. They then needed double overtime to defeat the Summerside Capitals 5-4. The arch-rival Kanata Lasers then knocked off the Braves 4-1 in the final round robin game.

Brockville was then forced into a rematch with the improved Longueuil Knights in the Sunday semi-final. They couldn't equal their opening 12-1 win and were eliminated 6-5 in overtime. Georges-Etienne Cote snapped a 5-5 tie scoring 4:48 into the extra period, to gain a berth in the final game against Kanata.

The Braves enjoyed a 2-0 lead, fell back in the second session but sent the game into overtime with a late goal. However, they couldn't hold Quebec reps down.

"We let them (Longueuil) back into it in the second period. But I thought we were going to it when we scored that late goal but it didn't work out," Carkner explained.

"It was a good experience. They (Braves) gave me lots of ice time and the competition was good."

Carkner has been scouted by several OHL teams for most of the winter and says a of couple clubs are still showing interest but says all he can do is just wait for the June 7th draft. "I'm just going to hope for the best."

Monday night Carkner watched the championship match before returning home to Morewood and classes at North Dundas District High School, where he will now take up another sport, track and field. A sport (javelin and discus) he enjoys almost as much as hockey.

"I told them at TISS I wasn't going to do track in Brockville I was going back to NDDHS and I will see them on the track."

Sponsors thanked

The North Dundas Pee Wee Level II Demons thanked the team's sponsors at a gathering Saturday afternoon, presenting team year books and framed photos to Barry Holmes of Winchester Br. 108 Legion, which provided the team's away sweaters, and Guildcrest Homes, which provided the home jerseys. High and dry

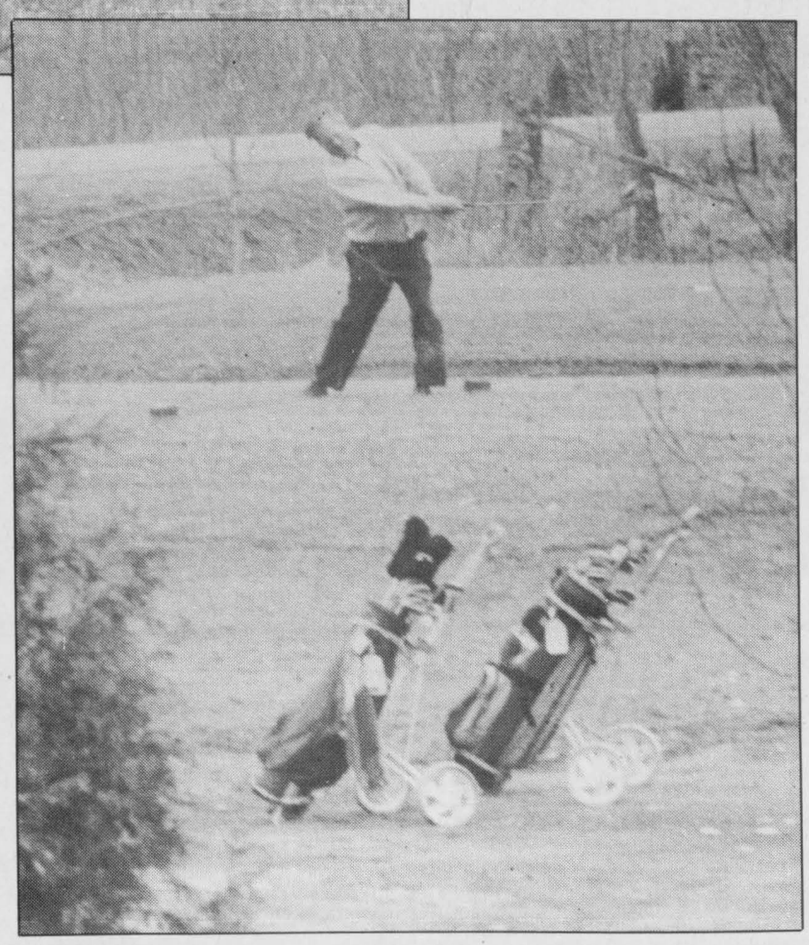
The Sandy Row Golf Club welcomed golfers last Friday (April 25). All but No. 7 hole were open for the visitors enjoyment. Sandy Row owner Maynard Coons reported approximately 50 people got in an early-season round. Press Photos — Van Bridger

Flags in early at Sandy Row



SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Drainage is the thing. Sandy Row Golf Course owner Maynard Coons says without the tile drainage his operation wouldn't be... operational.

The flags went in at the nine-hour course last Friday, April 25, and by early afternoon Coons estimated 50 golfers had toured the course.

"There is some winterkill on our greens and the fairways are pretty hard yet but at this time of year most people just want to get out and do some swinging. Nothing serious," he suggested.

Coons says Sandy Row is into its seventh season and the April 25th opening is early. "Two years ago I think we opened in April but last year it snowed on Mothers Day and it was the middle of the month before things got going."

He says only number seven hole was closed, because of wet conditions. "The drainage (tile) is working and seven will be ready before long. The rest of the course is dry, all we need is a nice warm rain to get the greens started."

The rains Coons was hoping for came Monday.

Operating a golf course Coons says is a constant struggle, mainly due to the weather. But because he has his own excavation, sand and gravel and trucking operation he has an advantage when it comes to maintainance and construction.

"I do tile drainage for other people and it was the answer for this course. I also had the equipment, the manpower and the sand right here on the farm to do the job."

Looking ahead Coons is planning to add another nine holes and eventually a mini-putt and driving range. And he can be his own contractor.

As far as competition from the area's new courses, one just west of South Mountain and the other north of Winchester Coons figures its bound to affect business to some extent but notes most people will play what they call their "own" course, visit the others and generally move around a bit.

"Some courses are more suitable for long hitters and another maybe a little more expensive. I think we are reasonably priced and are playable for the average golfer."

Two years ago the Sandy Row clubhouse was opened and this past winter the licensed dining room remained open.

"It was more or less an experiment. Some people saw the cars in the parking lot and figure business was good. But is was slow some days. I guess if we got some exposure and people come back we can say it worked out."

The Sandy Row restaurant, patio and basement are now fully licensed. Home cooked meals are available seven days a week now that the golf season is back in swing.
