Painful rheumatism is quickly relieved by the use of Gallagher's Kidney Remedy. A purely Herbal Medicine sold by B. F. Smith, Winchester.

Perhaps the most amazing figures that have been adduced in the present campaign is the statment that tne expenditure on liquor in Ontario is $60,0.0,000, and that on gasolene only $40 000 000. That the liquor consumed in the Province should cost half as much more as the gasolene needed for the motor cars that throng our streets and highways is almost unbelievable.

Hospital Drive Fund

Already nearly $35,000 of $50,000 asked has been subscribed toward the Cornwall General Hospital Fund. The local Women's Institute on Tuesday, subscribed $100.

Was A Good Play

In the Town Hall on Tuesday Evening, a play entitled 'Nancy Anna Brown's Folks" was presented by the Brinston Dramatic Club, to a large and appreciat ive audience. The different parts were well taken and won merited applause. Music wss furnished by a splendid orchestra and several other musical numbers contributed. The folks from Brinston sustained their reputation for putting on a good play.

Whose Sons Were They?

On their way to root for Queens in the Queen's-McGill football game at Montreal recently, five students of the Kingston University stopped long enough in Cornwall to make a little "whoopee" on Pitt street. Their festivities were interrupted by the arrival of the police and fines of $10 and costs, imposed upon three of the boys dampened their spirits considerably. The charge was drunk and disorderly. Would this have happened under the O. T. A.?

Badly Scalded

A very unfortunate accident happened on Monday morning to Mrs. William Lennox, Main St. West, resulting her being badly scalded on the side, her shoulder, and part of her face. It appears that Mrs. Lennox was endeavoring to move a tub of scalding water from one part of the kitchen to another, when she stumbled, and in falling her shoulder went into the tub. Mrs. Lennox is suffering much from the scalds, but Dr. McLaughlin, who was called in attendance, says the burns are not deep and that they will heal rapidly.

CORRESPONDENCE

Rumor Denied

To the Editor of The Winchester Press:

We, the Employees of The M. F. Beach Co. Ltd., wish to emphatically deny the rumor that has been circulated that we would not support the Prohibition Candidate, Mr. N. W. Beach, our Manager, in the coming election. This rumor was evidently circulated for political purposes:

Jessie Preston, J G. Latimer, R. Workman, A. Turner, H. Workman, L. Bouchard, J. H. Faith, O F. Thomas, Geo. A. Robinson, Milton Servage, A. E. Gray, J. H Larue, A. G. Suffel, W. J Coulthart, Wm. Scott, G. Raistrick, E. Beach, C. Rice, Martha Knowland, W. A. Servage, Matthew Reid, John O'Neil, C. P. Sharpe.

The above list includes all the employees of The M. F. Beach Co. Ltd.

Correspondence

To the Editor ot the Press,

Sir:—Some persons, not having a good cause to advocate, are poisoning the minds of our citizens concerning the Dundas Prohibition Candidate in this election. For instance, that he, Norman W. Beach, when Reeve of Winchester Village, through his personal action was the cause of an industry not coming to Winchester, to wit, a well known Milk Company. As the solicitor for the said Company who was retained to take up with the Village Council and the Hydro Department the terms that would be granted the Company to induce it to come to Winchester in preference to other places, in view, and as a citizen who desires to be fair to all the Candidates in the Election campaign now on, permit me to state most emphatically that Mr. Beach did not prevent the industry from locating in Winchester. Mr. Beach at the time stated he heartily approved of the village doing everything possible to induce the Company to locate here, but personally would like to see Mr. Ault and Mr. Churchill protected if such could be arranged, that full particulars of what the Company proposed to do should be furnished so that the Council would be in a position to fully consider the matter. A statement of what the Company specifically desired should be forthcoming, and that the Council would meet at any time and immediately to hear the Company's representatives, and further the matter. The Hydro Department informed me it could not quote rates for the Company until the needs of the Company were known and so soon as same were furnished a quotation would be gladly given. The Company was communicated with and no reply received for a long time. The Reeve, Mr. Beach, personally interviewed me several times regarding the progress made and caused a letter to be written the Company assuring it of the favourable consideration of the Council and asking why the delay. The Company finally replied that its needs had for the present been met and no action as to location of a manufacturing plant would be taken for the preseht.

The Electors of Dundas should not permit themselves to be imposed upon by unscrupulous partizans, who, evidently lacking a good cause, try to besmirch the record and character of Mr. Beach, than whom we all know there are few, if any, in our County who have given of their time, labor and means more than Mr. Beach in the realms of Church and State. And the slanderers know it but some people stop at nothing, nor put first things first. Let all honorable citizens refuse to listen to these scandal mongers, and more, let us rebuke them and try to help them to support the Cause and Man in this Election that stand first and always for abolition of the liquor traffic, its manufacture, importation and sale, in Dundas, Ontario and Canada. Vote for Beach and against our partnership with the Brewers and Distillers in converting our children into potential drunkards, our homes into bar rooms, our highways into death traps. Let Dundas be true to herself and even if alone with Right will set a true course and a righteous example.

Yours for Fair Play and our Homeland.
W. J. Cass.

Another False Rumour

Editor of Press:

I am informed that some parties have circulated the report that I am out working for the Liberal Candidate in this election. I wish to make it public, that while I have always been a Liberal, in this as well as in the last election, I am out for Prohibition and the Prohibition Candidate.

J. L. Mill.

Vote As You Pray

Editor of Winchester Press:

Dear Sir:—The above headline over a communication in your valued paper last week attracted my attention, and started a line of thoughts I could not resist communicating.

In the present contest in Dundas, so far, we have three candidates, a Prohibitionist, a Liberal and a supporter of the Conservative (Ferguson) Government.

The three candidates are all, I believe, members, holding official positions, of the United Church of Canada. Being church members, they no doubt pray, morning and evening, as all church members should.

How, I would like to know, how each addresses his Maker, as he kneels before the Throne of Grace. I can understand the Prohibition Candidate's prayer, which no doubt is to ask God to remove the curse of strong drink from our province, and to give him grace and zeal to help accomplish that end.

The Liberal Candidate might shut his eyes to the question of "rooting out the curse" and ask God's blessing on his candidature to help a political leader who says he is in favor of any temperance measure that public opinion favors, whether it be for good or for evil. I say he might do this, but believing in God as I do, believing in the church as I do, believing in the power of prayer as I do, I just wonder how God would regard such a request coming from one of his professed followers.

Now as to the Conservative (Ferguson) Candidate. I do not wish to judge unkindly, Mr. Editor, nor do I cast any reflection on the sincerity of the Conservative Candidate. But, Mr. Editor, I just wonder if he can on his knees address his request to Almighty God in these terms.? "Oh God, I am the Candidate of the party whose leader has placed on the statute books a law legalizing the selling of liquor. Liquor I know, has sent many a man to an untimely grave, has ruined many a home, has blasted many a promising career, has been the cause of many crimes, even to murder. This evil, I know, Oh Lord, is increasing in our province under the present law. But they tell me that to vote for prohibition only increases the evil of bootlegging, so I am asked, for my parties sake, to pledge myself to stand by the leader who has legalized the sale of this awful curse. I am, myself, as you know, oh Lord, a temperance man, and if my political leader brings in a measure to prohibit the sale of liquor, I will gladly support him. But if my political leader intends to carry on this system of liquor sale, continues to place temptation in the way of the young men and young women of our province, I am bound by my pledge to my political party to support him. May I ask, Oh Lord, Thy Divine blessing on my acts, ever though they are contrary to Thy teachings."

Now Mr. Editor, as I said, I do not wish to appear irreverant, but as a professing christian, as one of the followers of the Lord Jesus Christ, who died to save men, not to destroy them, and not a follower of any Political Dictator, I am sincerely concerned about the effect of this election on many voters. It is the father and mother, who kneel in prayer with their children, who have to ask God's blessing on the vote they will cast on the 30th of this month. It is on that vote they will have to answer before the Maker All I ask is for every christian man and woman to "vote as they pray."

Trusting I have not trespassed on your space I snbscribe myself,

Prohibitionist.

Mr Fader was born in Matilda township 78 years and ten months ago, and for about the last 45 years lived on a farm at Marvelville. There he belonged to the Orange lodge and the United church. In the latter he was quite active, and in addition to being an elder was assistant Sunday school supperintendent. Ever since boyhood he was connected with the Sunday school.

New Car Badly Smashed

Mr. Gilbert Gilroy of South Mountain did not enjoy his new 1930 Model Chevrolet Sedan which he recently purchased from Melvins. He was coming east on Highway No 2, somewhere west of Kingston on Saturday last, when, in trying to pass another car he was crowded and ran smash into a big truck, throwing it into the ditch, and his beautiful new car litterly smashed to pieces. Neither he or his companions were seriously injured. Melvin's wrecking car went up and got the smashed car and brought it home, but it does not look as though much could be done to restore it to its former usefulness.

Municipal Matters

A regular meeting of the Municipal Council was held on Monday night all the members being present. A number of accounts submitted were examined, and orders passed for their payment. Mr. Duncan of the Public School Board and Mr. Weir of the High School Board addressed the Council and asked that the road between the two school properties be graded and surfaced, if possible this fall. The road was in a deplorable state, and was used for in the hauling of wood and coal to the school. The Council promised to give the matter their consideration. Rev. Mr. Waddell asked the Council for the use of the town hall on Thursday evening of each week for the use of the Trail Ranger boys. The request was granted. Mr. Burn, representive of the Ontario Board of Health, was present and addressed the Council. He stated that he with the assistance of two young men of the Health Dept. intended making a complete sanitary survey of the village. Every home and every celler would be visited, and their sanitary conditions noted. The location of every septic tank and its relation to the well for drinking water would be noted, and a sample of the water of every well taken and tested as to its fitness for domestic use. This work is now in progress under the direction of Mr. Burn, but it will be several months before a complete report will be made to the local Board of Health.

The matter of re-painting the exterior of the town hall was discussed, and Mr. Dukelow was asked to make an estimate of the cost and report to the Reeve, who was authorized to have the work done if he thonght desirable. The question of erecting a cement pyramid post about 8 ft high, at the junction of St. Lawrence and Main Sts, with a Stop and Go light on top, and direction signs on its side, was taken up, and the matter left in the hands of the Reeve and Councilor Fetterly to deal with.

Unanimous Call

Mizpah Mission Circle

On Monday evening the Mizpah Mission Circle held a very instructive and interesting meeting in the Sunday School Rooms of the United Church. Pleasing solos were rendered by Miss Annie Walker and Master Angus Adams. A special feature of the program was a playette entitled "Tired of Missions" was presented by seventeen young ladies. Injured by Dynamite

What might have proved a very serious accident occurrad at the home of Mr John Errett, Melvin Settlement, on Sunday afternoon, when Dalton Earl, aged 12 years, son of Mr. Milton Earl, Kempville, who was visiting there, got hold of a dynamite cap, and in some way that he cannot explain, the dynamite exploded tearing away two fingers and thumb of the left hand of the unfortunate boy. The boy was out playing with Mr. Errett's children and they found the dynamite in a tin on a shelf. None of the children can explain how it was exploded. The wonder is that it did not result more disasterously. Dr. McKendry was called, and he had the lad taken to his office where the injured hand was dressed.

Inducted at Brighton

The Brighton Ensign of Oct. 4th, contains the following:

"The induction of Rev. C. G. Graham, B. A., of Toronto, with the pastoral charges of the Presbyterian churches of Colborne, Lake Port and Brighton, was held in Brighton on Thursday, September 26th, at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. Hall. Rev. Mr. Harper, B. A., of Cobourg, Interim Moderator had charge of the services and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Mark, of Campbellford. The hall was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and the choir rendered very appropriate music. After the induction ceremony, a very pleasant social half hour was spent when the ladies of Brigaton congregation served lunch to all present.

Gave Blood for Others

On Thursday last, Dr. Hoodman, Epidemiologist, Toronto, and Miss Squires, Public Health Nurse, in charge of the campaign of the Dept. of Health for this district to combat Infantile Paralysis, were here all day, and secured sufficient blood to treat eighty cases. The following gave of their blood to make the serum. George Turner, Raymond Strader, Hubert Dixon, Leonard Bilow, Lorne Hutcheson, Hugh Marquette, Herbert Watson, Arthur Porteous, Chester Merkley and Harry Wood. This is certainly a very admirable and inspiring event, to see how courageously and unselfishly those who have themselves suffered, gave of their blood to help others. The Provincial and local Boards of Health, and in fact this community are certainly indebted to the doners.

Dear Wife, he wrote her mother.—The Lord giveth and taketh away. I have lost you and my darling daughter and my loneliness, but I still can say, "Thy will be done."

I think you should know, however, how things are here. Otherwise I should not write you. But I am afraid that the daughter that was once ours might tire of the husks of sin and wish to come home repentant.

Bitterness filled my soul when I learned that she was leading a life of riotous mockery, and when I saw the picture of her smiling in wanton attire at the side of that smirking French general, I had it in my heart to curse her. I wrote in my haste. I repented my hardness of heart and bowed my head in humble shame when I read your angry reply. I had lost your love and your admiration, but that was deserved punishment for the idolatry that had grown up in my heart to-youwards; and for the mistakes I must have made in not giving our erring daughter a better care.

But now it has pleased the Lord to pour out the vials of his wrath on my gray hairs. The old mortgage on the church fell due long ago, but foreclosure had been postponed from time to time. We gave a benefit to pay it off, but everybody was too poor to respond, and it did not pay expenses.

The manager of the motion-picture house here offered to share the profits on the showing of a picture in which, as he had the impudence to tell me, my daughter played a part. But while it would have drawn money for curiosity that would not have responded to a Christian appeal, I felt that it would be a compounding with evil, and I put Satan behind me and ordered the fellow out of the house.

* * * *

The church is to be closed. What I shall do next or how take care of the little children that still cling to our home, the Lord has not yet told me in answer to my prayers. I still have faith that in His good time he will provide a way or call His servant home, and I hope you will not take this letter as a plea for pity.

My cup is full and running over, but my chief dread is that unhappiness and want may be your portion as well as mine, and that I shall fail you utterly after providing so scantily for you all your days. I can only pray that my fears are the result of loneliness and age and weariness.

And now may the Lord shield you with his ever-present mercy, or at least give us the strength to understand that in all things he knoweth best.

Your loving HUSBAND.

As the read this letter and saw back of the lines the heavy brows of her old father, saw the bald spot she had stared at from the choir loft, saw all the sweet wrong-headedness of the veteran saint, Mem's heart hurt intolerably.

Her mother sobbed: "What on earth can I write the poor darling?"

Mem replied: "The answer is easy. I'm going to send him all the money I've got."

Her mother cried out against robbing one of her loves to pay another. It seemed a cruel shame to take the first bit of cake from her daughter and sell it to buy bread for her husband.

"You'll need it yourself. You may not have another job soon. You need new clothes and a rest."

"Rest and the clothes can wait."

Her mother kept a miserable silence for a long while before she could say: "Your father will never accept money that you have earned from the pictures. He'd rather die."

This gave Mem only a brief pause. She answered simply:

"Doctor Bretherick got me into this business by making up the pack of lies that brought me out here. Now he can make up a few more and save poor daddy from desperation."

She sat down at once and wrote the doctor a letter, telling him what he must know already of her father's helplessness. She inclosed a money order for two hundred and fifty dollars. She wrote a check at first, but she was afraid to have it put through the bank at Calverly lest her father hear of it. She instructed the doctor to make up another of his scenarios about a repentant member of the congregation wishing to restore some stolen funds—or anything that his imagination could invent.

Then she set the wheels in motion to secure an immediate engagement with the next to the greatest comedian on the screen, Ned Ling, a reader of important books; a debater of art theories—but above all a man afraid of nothing so much as he was afraid of love.

It was a period of dead calm and torpid seas, and so Mr. Bermond willingly arranged to "rent" her to Ling, who wanted her at once at first sight.

Meanwhile, through Claymore, Terry Dack was about to be struck off in innumerable portraits and showered upon a grateful world.

At the age of five he would commence his business career with a salary of two or three thousand dollars a year.

He made her sit down on a long couch and snuggled close to her.

One of Mem's pictures was shown soon after at a theatre in Los Angeles, and she sat in a vast throng. She saw with pride a fat woman sniffle and thought it a beautiful tribute. She saw a baldheaded man sneak a handerchief out and, pretending to blow his nose, dash his shameful tears away. And that was beautiful to her with a wonderful beauty.

The papers the next day in their criticisms gave her special mention. A marvelous thing to see one's name in print and with a bouquet tied to it.

She had but a little while to revel in this perfect award, for in a few days a letter came to her, forwarded from the studio.

Her heart plunged with terror as she read.

I seen your pictur last nite and it made me sick youre awful innasent and sweet in the pictur and you look like buter wouldnt melt in your mouth but I know beter for Im the guy who held you up wen you was with that other guy and took your wedin ring off you I dident know who you was then and I dont know who he is yet but Im wise to you and all I got to say is Ive got my ey on you and you better behave or els quit playin these innasent parts you movie peeple make me sick youre only a gang of hippocrits so bewair.

Mem felt odious to herself, with all the revolting nausea of evil revealed. There is remorse enough for a struggling soul that knows its own defeats and backslidings, but it is nothing to the remorse that follows a published fault.

This letter was more hideous than headlines in a paper. It was more dreadful than such a pilloried public shame as Hester Prynne's. It meant that somewhere there was a man in an invisible cloak of namelessness and facelessness who despised her and jeered at her sublimities of purity. Her highest ambitions were doomed to sneering mockery.

After a day in Ling's studio, he took her to "The Beggar's Opera."

She had so lost her orientation at the end of the seductive villainies, that she did not faint when Ned Ling said:

"I've laughed myself hungry. I haven't ordinarily any appetite. Let's go to my house and have a bite."

"To your house?"

"Yes. It's all right. I'm quite alone there. Just a Jap. Very secluded."

She wanted to say: "You tell me not why I should go, but why I should not. And I won't."

But it seemed a silly little-girlish, old-maidish, prunes-and-prismish thing to say so she said, "All right," and got into Ling's car.

When he said, "Home," to the driver she almost swooned, but not quite.

The Jap showed no surprise at the late arrival of his master with a lady. Evidently it was the ordinary thing. Mem longed for a mask or a fire escape or a gun. She glanced about for weapons of defense.

But Ned Ling said: "Some scrambled eggs and bacon—some wine. Would you rather have red or white?—or a little champagne? Let's have some champagne—yes? Yes, we'll have some champagne—native California—but good."

She was hungry, but he kept one of her hands prisoner and preferred to talk.

Afterward they went into the beautiful living room, a strange room for a clown; more like what she imagined a millionaire's room to be, judging from what millionaires' rooms she had seen in the movies.

He made her sit down on a long couch and snuggled close to her. She was curious rather than alarmed. He took up her hand again and studied it, talking in the rather literary manner he sometimes assumed: "Each separate finger has its own soul, don't you think? Hands are families. Queer things, fingers. Your right hand and your left hand aren't the least alike and your face is still a third person."

Before Mem quite realized how solemnly ludicrous a couple of comedians could be—if anybody had been looking—except God—and perhaps that Jap valet—Ned Ling's head was on her breast and his eyes were turned up into hers—like a baby's. He was in a new-born prattling humor. That was a secret of his success. He was a baby with all a baby's privileges of impropriety, selfishness, hatefulness, adorableness.

He could revert to infancy and take his audience with him, make old men and women laugh at the simple things that had tickled their childish hearts. And withal there was an amazing sophistication. He was a baby that calculated and measured, triumphed and yet wept and wanted always, the next toy. He was thinking of Mem as his next toy and she was thinking of him as her next child.

His warm head and his brown eyes, like maple sugar just as it is liquescent to syrup, and with the same gold flakes glinting—they were quaintly babyish to her in spite of his old talk.

"I want to love and be loved, but not to love too much. I'm afraid of love. It has hurt me too bitterly. Some of them haven't been true to me, and that hurt me horribly. And I haven't been true to some of them—and that hurt me still worse. I don't know which is ghastlier—to see a woman laugh at you or cry at you. Marriage is no solution. I don't see how it can help being the end of love. Love ought to be free—like art and speech. Of course art isn't free. There's the censorship. Well, marriage is like censorship. Everything you do and say and feel must be submitted to the censor. They call this a free country and have censorships and marriage!"

She smiled. He was more like a prattling baby the more cynical he grew. His heavy head made her breast ache and yearn for a baby. But he wanted only the froth of life without the body and the dregs.

"Could you love me just enough and not too much?" he pleaded.

If he had said, "Marry me tomorrow!" he might have had her then. But she had not his opinion of marriage. She had played the game without the name—endured the ecstacy and the penalty without the ceremony. She had escaped public shame by a miracle of lucky lies and accidents. The hunger remained for the rewards of marriage, the honesty of a home, the granite foundations of respectable loyalty.

So when he pleaded with her for love that cheated and played for fun and not for all, for a kiss, for caresses, she shook her head—mystically as he thought, but very sanely and calmly, in truth.

Finally she yawned in the face of his passion and said, "I'll be going home now, please."

Strawberry Hint

As soon as the strawberry plants begin to grow in the spring most of the mulch should be removed from over the plants in order to admit the necessary light and air in the leaves. Remember to leave a light covering of straw, however, to protect the berries and keep them clean, working the remainder of the mulch down between the rows, where it may form a moisture-retaining mulch and prevent weed growth to a considerable extent.

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that. It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

WHY SHOULD HE suffer from rheumatism like this?

IF he would accept the advice of thousands of men and women, he would find relief by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Rheumatism is not a surface ailment that can be banished by rubbing with liniments or oils. Watery, poison-laden blood must be built up and purified before there can be any progress toward permanent recovery.

Time and again, sufferers have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of rheumatism. "For some years," writes Thomas Martin, of Novar, Ontario, "I was so badly troubled with rheumatism I could hardly walk and suffered great pain. I had medical treatment but did not get much relief. After taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for some time the trouble disappeared and has not since shown the least sign of returning."

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which Canadians experience during February and March is extremely hard on babies and young children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them confined to the house, whose rooms may be overheated or badly ventilated. The little ones catch cold and their whole system becomes racked. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the home and an occasional dose given the baby to keep him fit, or if a cold suddenly grips him to restore him to health again and kept him in good condition till the brighter, warmer days come along again.

Baby's Own Tablets are just what the mother needs for her little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach; breaks up colds and simple fevers; banish constipation and indigestion and make the cutting of teeth easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Trees for Prairies

Each year greater interest is being shown in the planting of shelterbelts on prairie farms in Western Canada and preparations completed for the 1929 distribution by the Dominion Forest Service nursery stations at Indian Head and Sutherland, Saskatchewan, point to this as one of the busiest years in the history of the work. Approximately 8,000,000 seedlings and cuttings will be shipped out.

Canada's Fishing Industry

The existing fishing industry of Canada is the growth of the past century. In 1844 the estimated value of the catch was only $125,000. In 1927 it was forty-nine millions. The highest record was reached in 1918 with over sixty millions. These figures represent the total value of fish marketed, whether in a fresh, dried, canned or otherwise prepared state. The number of employees has mounted to 80,000, and the total capital invested to $50,00,000 in certain years.

LIMERICK CORNER

Joyous Jingles By Gifted Rhymsters

This week the contributors will supply the introduction to Limerick Corner.

Dear Sirs:—

You'll never know the thrill your letter gave to this little mouse-in-the-corner mother. "Thank you ever so much" as our polite little French neighbor says.

The Limericks were written surreptitiously on bits of wrapping paper and hidden quickly when any of the family appeared. "What's going on here"? said Himself coming in suddenly from the corner store. "Oh flights of fancy" I replied, not knowing what to say. But do you know, I didn't feel quite passe—after receiving that dollar bill, and it was star-dust on the snow I was seeing all day. Funny too that I was anointing my sore throat with Minard's Liniment when Hubby walked in with your letter. (Throat got better too).

Once more Thank You,
Mrs. J. M. O'Neill, Kent Bridge, Ont.

Dear Sirs:—

I enjoy very much the Limericks appearing weekly in this paper, namely, "The Prescott Journal" to which we have always been subscribers.

Dear Sirs:—

One night I saw this ad about Limericks in the "Enterprise". I mentioned it to my sister and mother. We all got to work and had some great fun composing these three. We have seen some real good ones in the paper and have, I think, written these in the right style.

Miss P. Goff, Belmont, Ont.

Dear Sirs:—

I noticed your Limerick Contest in the "Teeswater News" yesterday afternoon and just for a change of words for a lullaby for the "wee man" of the house, I started to compose some Limericks. I enjoyed the six which were printed in yesterday's paper very much.

Mrs. Wm. Haldenby, Holyrood, Ont., R.R. 1.

Dear Sirs:—

Fire Protection

Three thousand farm people are killed by farm fires and one hundred and fifty million dollars worth of farm property is burned every year in the U. S. and many were in Canada. Seventy-five per cent. of this damage is due to carelessness.

"There are several ways that a farmer may protect his property." No argument is needed to support the statement that farm buildings can and should be protected from lightning by good lightning rods. Thirteen and one-half per cent. of farm fires are caused by lightning. Nearly as many are caused by defective chimneys and flues.

"Chimneys should be inspected to see that they cannot leak sparks thru the cracks where mortar may have dropped out. Every chimney should be lined with fire tile. And when reshingling, or building new, put on a fire-resistant roof. It need not cost a fortune to have your own fire-fighting apparatus with which to put out fires in their early stages. It may cost a fortune to lack that equipment. A two and one-half or three-gallon chemical tank in the barn, ready for instant use the minute a fire starts. A small application of water or chemical can stop a fire while it is still small."

Note for Kitchen

"For handling roasting pans in the oven, a pair of men's heavy mittens with leather facing in palms and on thumbs is very convenient as they are alrge enough to slip on and off readily and protect the whole hand and wrist from hot surfaces."

Trouble always finds the wise man too busy to see him.

THE ISSUE BEFORE THE ELECTORS

The Winchester Press does not want, even in the slightest way, to cast any reflection on the sincerity or honest purpose of those who differ with it on the great issue now before the electors in the Province of Ontario. That issue is, whether the people by their votes to be cast on the 30th of October endorse and want continued the Liquor Control Act, an Act that was forced on the people by Mr. Ferguson and the Liquor Interests that are back of him, or to bring in a measure of total prohibition of the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors in this provinse.

It is impossible in one, or even a dozen, issues of the Press to deal with this question as it effects the welfare, the health, the happiness, the home life, the young men and women who in a few years are to take the places in the public affairs of this province.

The curse of the liquor traffic has left its slimy track all down the ages. No one can point to a single instance where indulgence in strong drink has produced a better manhood or better womanhood. We know, and the evidence is beyond question, that liquor is associated with all that is evil. It inflames the passions, it befuddles the intelect, it raises in the human heart and mind all that is brutal, evil and bestial. It destroys manhood, it kills love, it turns a good man into a demon. We defy anyone to show when spirituous liquor has ever made a man or woman a better man or woman. It is a traffic that has caused a husband to abuse and brutaly treat wife and children. It is a traffic that has taken the money that should go to make a home, and placed it in the pockets of those who laugh at the ones who are foolish enough and stupid enough to give it to them, instead of to the wife and children they should protect and shelter.

Need we refer to the results of the liquor traffic in our province during the past two years to prove that its influence is only evil. Hundreds of lives have been sacrificed during the past two years to the liquor traffic. Statisticis proved beyond dispute that the recruits to the liquor traffic are being taken from the ranks of our young men.

The Press has taken its stand on the side of the Prohiqition party. We have taken that stand believing it is the right stand. Those who support the cause of prohibition do it because of an unselfish desire to help others to a better and more useful life. They do so because they see the terrible curse that has always followed the liquor traffic. They have nothing to gain financially, they do so knowing that they are opposing a political machine that has behind it not only much wealth, wealth that has been taken out of the pockets of the poor dupes that are led into the drink habit, but those who, for the time at least, hold political power, who use that power as a patronage weapon, who use that power to make political appointments.

But our appeal is to the fathers and mothers of our province who have growing sons and daughters. Let us ask the father and the mother who on the 30th of Oct. mark their ballot for the candidate pledged to support the liquor traffic, how they would feel if in six months, or a year hence, their son would come home intoxicated, and when asked for an explanation he would say "Didn't you vote for this liquor traffic, didn't you vote that I could get a permit to purchase liquor, didn't you say by your vote that there was no harm in this liquor traffic. Why then do you blame me for following your advice and buying a permit, and drinking the liquor you voted to legalize the sale of, the liquor you made it easy for me to get, and said it was all right for the Government to offer for sale"

Think of it fathers, think of it mothers, think of it sisters and brothers. Face the facts. Face the inevitable result of what is sure to follow a continuance of this liquor traffic.

Political Situation in Dundas

The political situation in the County of Dundas so far as the Prohibition Candidate is concerned is most cheering. From all quarters come the tidings that the prohibitionists are rallying to the call, and are actively soliciting votes for their Candidate Mr. Beach. As a matter of fact, very little is heard of the hush, hush, canvas being made by the other two Candidates, except that that they are both very anxious and both making all kinds of promises "If" they are elected.

If is unfortunate that there seem to have crept into the contest a very low and mean form of fighting. We refer to the "Whispered" story, intended to work against the character and standing of the Prohibition Candidate. It is a mean kind of political warfare, and even though it does not in the final win votes, it creates a unpleasant feeling.

The cause of prohibition does not require to resort to anything mean or underhand to vindicate its claims. The men who stand for prohibition are clean and honorable men. They have no axes to grind, no offices to promise, no patronage to hand out. They are working for a great moral cause, and while sacrificing much, have only the consciousness of a noble work for a noble cause to reward them. Any slander circulated is bound to re-act on the one who put it in circulation.

Another kind of canvas being made is to try an cast suspicion on the sincerity of the Prohibition Candidate and his supporters. For instance, a Liberal, who is opposed to Prohibition, will say that the Conservatives are "putting it over" on the Liberals, and will vote party when the time comes. Likewise certain Conservatives are saying that the Prohibition Candidate is not getting the Liberal support, and that Prohibition Conservatives are having it "put over" them, and that they will lose their vote.

Don't be alarmed, Prohibition voter, Conservatives and Liberals and Progressives are joining together in one great moral cause. They have trusted their neighbors and friends before in business transactions and found them "Good and true." They are willing to trust their political intentions, and believe they mean just what they say.

The Presbyterian Church

The services last Sunday were conducted by a distinguished young student of the Montreal Presbyterian College, R. Currie Creelman, B. A., who is also a graduate of McGill University. The sermons which he delivered here gave every indication of his being a preacher of the first order. In the morning he spoke on the "Law of Love and of Sacrifice."

We receive the best because we put forth the best. There are things that cannot be said, but there are things that can be done. In the evening Mr. Creelman took his text from Amos, 8:2, and brought forth the difference between the Old and New Testaments. Things of the world must be known to be loved, but Divine things must be loved to be known.

The Young People's Guild will have a meeting after choir practise on Friday night the 18th for the purpose of organizing the various committees for the coming winter's work.

The sectional meeting of the Presbyterian W. M. S. will be held at St. Paul's Church on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, Oct. 24. At the evening session, the annual Thank offering of St. Paul's W. M. S. will also be held. Spendid speakers have been secured for both sessioes.

Said the Premier to the People

(1923)
Said the Premier to the people
About the O. T. A.
I surely will not change the act
Unless the people say.
Some thought that he was quite sincere,
But that was in a former year.
(1924)
Said the Premier to the people
I'm here to do your will
If you sustain the O. T. A.
I'll make it stronger still
The Premier gave them 4-4
The Beverage went quite flat
His thirsty followers wanted more
And called him to the mat.
(1026, Oct. 19)
Said the Premier to the people
From years of anxious thought
I've now resolved upon a plan
To do the thing I ought.
I'll now sell strong beer by the glass
To please the working man
For those who are the richer class
I have a future plan.
I'll sell them liquor hard and strong
But they must bring their cards along.
(1926 Oct. 28)
Said the Premier to the people
In considerable surprise
I fear a storm is brewing
Beneath the threatening skies.
Some of my troubled followers
See the bar room back again
But I can change my policy
To calm these fearful men.
(1926 Nov. 2)
Said the Premier to the people
I've decided what is right
I'll burn my manifesto,
And close the bar rooms tight,
This happy thought just struck me
In thinking over night,
Control is the solution
Better I cannot find
The people now have my pledged word,
Unless I change my mind.

Roger Babson Sees Fliver Plane

The Day of the Flivver Airplane is Not Far Off, Writes Roger W. Babson in the March Issue of "The Forum"

In giving a blueprint of the future use of airplanes, Mr. Babson assumes the development of a helicopter which will enable a plane to rise straight ly hover at a given spot, make a slow vertical descent—and possibly perform as a parachute when the power is cut off.

"This will be the master key," says Mr. Babson. "Other key inventions may be as follows: The planes or blades can be folded up as a grasshopper folds its wings. A pontoon construction will permit landing and locomotion on water or on snow. The landing wheels may be power driven, so that the machine can be operated on the road like an automobile. For example, after flying to a city, it will be possible to land outside its limits and then use the plane as an automobile. Fundamentally this is the flivver airplane which I visualize. Granting the possibility of such a design, we can foresee an industry of giant size. Moreover, it will have profound effects upon human life, equal to or even greater than the vast changes which can be traced to the automobile industry.

"Some houses will have roof garages, reached by automatic electric elevators. Once discovered, the room may be utilized for other purposes in addition to that of garage. Long rows of apartment houses have a roof area that can well be smoothed and generally re-designed to form a landing field. In our big cities there are millions of square feet of roof area that are now an economic waste. We complain about lack of room, but there is still room at the top.

"These changes, however, seem trifling in comparison with other tremendous readjustments in living contions resulting from the flivver airplane. We get a glimpse of these possibilities by observing what the automobile has accomplished. The automobile has created the suburbs. The airplnea will create the countryside. People who used to live in the city now live ten mile out in the suburbs. People who now live in the suburbs will live fifty miles out in the countryside.

"If these anticipations are realized," continues Mr. Babson, "a mammoth and varied volume of construction is on the horizon. The conquest of the skies will result in rebuilding the face of the earth. For example, poles and wires will be recognized as obstructions and they will be removed and placed underground, on the same principle on which we are spending millions to make our roads more clear and straight. Towering smoke stacks will be replaced by power-draught systems. The campaign for smoke prevention will gather new force. In the northern regions snow removal from highways will be extended. While it is true that the plane in flight is indifferent to impassable roads, nevertheless the plane on land will want to taxi about and will insist on adequate facilities. Plane drivers will join car drivers in demanding good roads the year round.

"The plane of the future must be able not only to alight on water but to travel on water. The chief passenger traffic on rivers, canals, and lakes may not be boats as we know them today, but planes—planes that are at home in the three elements, earth, air and water."

Fish for Lent

Timely advice for the preparation of fish for meals during the Lenten season is given by Ina B. Rowe in the March issue of "Pictorial Review."

Filleted fish may be cooked by any of the ordinary methods of cooking fish, fried in deep fat, pan-fried, baked, fish — fried in deep fat, pan-fried, baked, broiled, or boiled. A quick cooking at a high temperature seals in the juices and preserves the natural deliciousness of the fish. If fish is dry and tasteless it is frequently because it has been cooked too long at a low temperature.

Boiled fish is frequently tasteless food, and this is not surprising when the really fine flavor of the fish is often stewed out into the kettle. Careful cooking preserves the flavor, however, and is no more tedious than careless cooking.

Two of the best utensils for boiling fish are a medium-large kettle and a glass fruit-jar, such as is used for canning. A wide-mouthed fruit-jar is exceptionally good. Form the skinned fillets into "turbans" as follows: Cut off the thick or head end, and then slit the rest toward the tal end down the center. Roll each of these portions, beginning at the thick end, and skewer with toothpicks. Divide the head end into two parts for easy handling, and skewer together to approximately the same shape as the longer pieces. Add a thin slice of lemon, one of onion, and the usual seasoning to each piece. Place in a jar and seal perfectly tight, so that when it is dropped into a kettle of boiling watter bubbles will not escape around the jar ring.

Cook in boiling water for approximately 20 minutes, beginning to count the time after the water has begun to boil vigorously.

Old Age Pensions

Le Monde Ouvrier (Ind.): Quebec contributes towards the support of its old people to a large extent already. All the refuges and homes which now exist receive their share of assistance. What we ask for is not so much a greater sum for charity as a more equitable distribution of public money. The sums we pay for the erection of luxurious monuments of charity, for their maintenance and their staffs, might give happiness to many poor people. It is no use deceiving ourselves, if palaces of misery are an ornament to a city, if they give people who do not know the real facts the impression that we are in a state of enviable prosperity, this does not prevent them from being vampires which drain our life's blood. It is a decorative form of philanthropy, but the population gets little good out of it... Since the hospitals have become gulfs which swallow up the best part of our revenue, and no matter how generously we hurl sums into this bottomless pits, poverty still stalks amongst us, let us try to give some individual consolation to the indigent, to see if we cannot do better. . . A state should administer its own funds and not hand them over to third parties.

Former Navy Men Coming to Canada

British Fleet Orders Announcement Arrangements for Immigration

London.—It is announced in Fleet orders, that arrangements have been made in conjunction with the Navy League of Canada and the Overseas Settlement Department of the Royal Naval Benevolent Trust for the emigration to Canada of ex-naval ratings and ex-Royal Marines, with their families, subsequent to employment in Canada. The requirements include good character, a recommendation from commanding officers, and men must be forty or, in exceptional cases, 45 years of age. Pensioners can make arrangements for the payment of pensions in Canada. The scheme is restricted to married couples, with one or more children. The Navy League of Canada selects the men, arranges the passages, medical examinations, reception in Canada, guarantees work and arranges housing. The Overseas Setlement assists in the financing, partly by loan and partly by gifts towards the passage money.

King George Shows Great Improvement

Bognor—The King is so much improved, his thoughts have turned to music and he has had his prized phonograph brought from Buckingham Palace and he spends long hours now listening to it. The machine is an elaborate electrically-controlled apparatus.

"Are you willing to admit that you are dependent on your wife in your public career?" "Perfectly willing," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have no ear for music and I am compelled to depend on Mariah to nudge me so that I will be among the first to stand up when the band plays 'The Star Spangled Banner.'"

"Is your father very old?" "Just a little; his head is just beginning to push through his hair."

Littleman: "Your wife looks very nice with grey hair." Biggman: "Yes, I gave her that."

The recruit had been at the naval training station two weeks and had spent most of his time digging ditches chopping trees, and filling depressions. Finally, he sought his immediate superior. "You see, sir," he complain, "when I joined the Navy they said I'd see the world, and for two weeks I've been doing nothing but rearrange it."

Gold Stocks Take the Lead

Production and Profits Unite to Give Lake Shore and Teck-Hughes Marked Stimulous

HUDSON BAY PROMISING

Interest shifted quite definitely to the gold stocks, toward the close of February, on the Canadian mining share markets. Such meritorious stocks as Lake Shore and Teck-Hughes came sharply to the forefront after a lengthy period of neglect. Production records, net profits and dividends should be materially increased before a great while. These Kirkland Lake leaders have sold at much higher prices than those now prevailing, even after the recent advance. It may be considered entirely likely that new high record prices will be established for both stocks, in due time. Lake Shore particularly has embarked upon a program of expanding production. Porcupine's records of gold production and dividends are likely to be far surpassed by the Kirkland Lake Camp, which is beginning to crowd its older rival, in spite of the fact that it has much further to go before reaching the same stage of development.

BY LLOYD J. MOORE,

The single dark cloud on the Kirkland Lake horizon is Wright Hargreaves, concerning which the facts were made known at the recent annual meeting. There seems reason for believing that the future is not as bad as the stock market has indicated. Major attention will now be placed on mine development. A selective milling program will probably be followed. This company's difficulties have not been entirely surmounted yet. It is encouraging to note, however, that February mill heads were approximately $8.00 a ton, which is considerably better than December and January. Students of the Wright Hargreaves situation estimate that dividends may be resumed after an intensive campaign of mine development has been completed. Twelve to eighteen months should be allowed to put both mine and market in first class shape.

As was expected the shares of Ventures Limited advanced to a premium over the issue price. There was feverish trading in this stock and much confusion, owing to the fact that persons who had applied for stock rushed in to sell before they were advised of their allotments. This company's assets appeared to be given an absurd valuation at the high prices reached, and are explainable only by the limited amount of shares available and the early insistent demand.

The issue of Central Patricia Mines Limited was also made, with applications far exceeding the amount available for distribution. Some 500,000 shares were allocated, at 40c a share, and total applications were about 3,000,000 shares. The stock found an early market at around 60 to 65 cents. The company has approximately $250,000 in the treasury. There will be an active season of prospecting effort in the Crow River field, this year, where the Central Patricia discovery has been outstanding thus far. The Central Patricia property probably looks as good or better than did Howey at the same stage of development.

The entire Patricia field should receive an impetus from the power development at Jar Falls, which is now practically assured will be undertaken by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario

The Base Meta lstocks have given place in market prominence to the golds, temporarily at least. It is nearly eighteen months since major interest was shown in the old favorites, such as Lake Shore, McIntyre, Dome and Teck-Hughes. Hollinger has not done much recently, but it will undoubtedly join the active gold group before long. A further advance in the price of copper to 18½ cents has drawn further attention to the producers of this metal. Some of the authorities are predicting 10 cent copper almost immediately. This situation is a bullish card for such enterprises as Noranda and International Nickel and to a smaller extent Sherritt-Gordon and Hudson Bay. The last named stock is very well regarded by prominent mining interests both in Canada and the United States. The annual meeting of Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. is being held at Woodstock, Ontario, on March 5th. If the directors care to take the shareholders fully into their confidence they would undoubtedly be able to create a buoyant market situation. The insiders have not rushed the stock up unduly, probably concluding that such a policy was not desireable until the development program was further advanced. Hudson Bay would show net earnings of at least $3.50 a ton. It will have an initial production of 3,000 tons daily. The company has an issued capital of 2,500,000 shares. Ore reserves are figures conservatively at 20,000,000 tons. It should be easy for anyone to figure the probable profits per share, on this basis. The ultimate production might easily be double the initial mill capacity. Development of the power site at Island Falls, Sask., is proceeding and power should be delivered at the mine about the end of this year.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES:

RIDGETOWN—Amity Copper is still in the prospect stage. The Boston Creek Copper Camp probably has a chance, but no important tonnage has been developed up to date. You might easily get out of your stock at around 55 cents if you care to wait long enough. The writer cannot get enthusiastic about it however.

Ajax Oil and Gas has been disappointing marketwise. The company's drilling efforts have met with some success, but this has not been substantial enough to warrant present hopes for big profits. There are other channels in which speculative funds might be better employed, in the writer's opinion.

MONO ROAD—Canadian Associated Gold Fields seems to be a forlorn hope. We think you would be well advised to leave it alone. Premier is the best stock in your list. This company is active in British Columbia. It will probably continue to pay dividends for some time to come. Lake Shore, Teck-Hughes and McIntyre are three dividend paying golds that should merit your attention. A small number of shares of a high priced stock may prove more profitable than a larger block of cheap shares that have little or no merit behind them.

Before this article appears in print the writer will have completed a visit to Kirkland Lake and Rouyn where operations of wide interest to the mining public will be studied and dealt with in succeeding articles.

Preserves Made By Canned Fruits

By this time of the year the jams and jellies put up last summer have about run out and the members of the family keep clamoring for more. The housewife can eke out sveral substitutes from canned fruits.

Canned Pineapple Jam.—Two level cupfuls pineapple, three and one-half level cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful pectin and juice of one lemon. Use No. 2 can of crushed pineapple. Measure two cupfuls of crushed pineapple and juice into saucepan, add sugar, mix and bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly, and boil hard for one-half minute. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Stir for three minutes to cool slightly, which prevents fruit floating. Skim, pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with paraffin. Many more can be made from the regular canned pears, peaches, cherries, etc.

Wife (discussing Christmas present for son): "I want to avoid anything in the way of tobacco, as I don't wish to encourage him to smoke too much." Husband (absently): "Get him some cigars like you gave me last year, and I shouldn't be surprised if he gave up smoking altogether!"

"I Have a Friend"

DOLLY SPUR

He had once been a fine proud cat who had "belonged." Then his old mistress died with whom he had lived all his life, and "Tom" became a stray. His gray coat which used to be glossy became filled with burrs, and vest and paws once snowy white were gray with dirt. He did not care. All his strength was used in hunting food, in digging holes to crawl into when it was rainy and cold, or running away from dogs and cats who chased him from their homes. Often, too, boys and girls or women in the homes would stone him away. They did not know, perhaps, that they should be kind to all helpless animals or that there were Bands of Mercy who made it a point to shelter and feed homeless cats.

But the God of Cats directed old Tom perhaps, for one day he came to the house of the Lady who Loves Animals. She first noticed him one rainy day, huddled beneath a protecting hedge shrub. And he was so wild that all efforts to approach him resulted in his flying down the street. But the Lady who Loved Animals was wise, so she began setting food out by the hedge, and then she put an old blanket i na box and placed the box between two thick shrubs. So, after several days, old Tom knew that he had food and home, and soon he did not run when the Lady approached him. Tom's heart grew warm and his body rounded again, so he sat in his little home and polished his vests and boots until they were white as snow, while his coat became free of burrs. The Lady who Loves Animals has such a wee home, and so little of this world's goods, and she has two cats and a dog in her house, so it was just impossible to bring Tom inside. But there is always enough so that Tom may have a bit of milk and a bone each day and he seems content. In bad weather there is a box in the woodshed where he keeps dry, and where often the Lady and her Dog that Loves Cats, come out to visit him, and he may also rub against the friendly dog. Then Tom thunderously purrs his thanks, and his challenge to the whole world, "I have a Friend!"

Rural Education

Ottawa Droit (Ind.): The Association of United Farmers of the West discussed at their annual meeting the rural education of children. One of the delegates, G. G. Coote, proposed that rural education should be in keeping with the future occupations of the children. Mr. Coote claims that the present course instead of concentrating, actually removes a child's interest from the farm. He suggested that those who were defined for the liberal professions should look for the necessary requirements in the town schools, while in the high schools training should more nearly approach the training in an agricultural school. For girls Mr. Coote wanted a little less higher mathematics, ancient history and languages and a little more domestic science, etc. Which all goes to show that the problem of training the farmer is not only a problem in the east.

"How terribly dishonest these native washerwomen are becoming," said a South African housewife to her husband the other day. "What's the matter now?" said he. "What is the last thing you have misesd?" "It's those two S. A. R. towels we brought back by mistake last holiday days."

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real anilines That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market! Cost more to make? Surely. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look; of streaking or spotting. See that they take none of the life out of the cloth. Observe how the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

IT'S BETTER BECAUSE IT'S CANADIAN

What is lovely never dies,
But passes into other loveliness.
—Aldrich

It is sometimes interesting to delve into the very distant past, through the many books available to us, to find out how our very ancient ancestors felt about beauty culture.

In my search I came across a story which amused as well as enlightened me. The tale was about a very elegant, artistic gentleman of the year 3300 B. C. who suddenly discovered that the feminine sex was losing interest in him. He attributed this lack to the fact that his hair was turning grey, and so he rushed to the learned gentleman of the village.

"Tell me, Oh learned one", he said, "what can I do to recover the color of my hair?" A modern beauty specialist might have hesitated, but the learned one immediately gave the formula of the treatment. "Get the blood of a black cow, rub it up in oil and boil, after which it is to be applied to the locks," answered the Learned One. Unfortunately, the book has no record of the success of this treatment, but there is no question in my mind that much time and money, whatever the currency of the day happened to be, was spent both by men and women in trying to prolong youth and enhance beauty.

Perfume was an essential to the life of the Egyptian. Religious rites could not be performed without incense. Perfume was used in embalming, and was also a vibrant part of the aesthetic side of living. Famous archaeologists who have in these modern times broken the silence of the old Egyptian tombs, unearthing mummies buried thousands of years ago, have brought forth evidence of the activities in the beauty field in ancient times. Some of these explorers discovered cream jars which had been buried with the mummies and which still gave forth a delicate haunting fragrance, which they could not analyze.

To critics who sometimes feel that too much time is devoted by the women of today for beauty culture, I should like to recommend these records which date back to the earliest times known to human knowledge. For they show conclusively that there has never been a time in the history of the world when men and women were not interested in prolonging youth—and enhancing their personal appearance.

USEFUL WORK A CHRISTIAN DUTY

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

When about to graduate from college the mother of a classmate asked the privilege of giving to the two young men three rules for happiness. With all solemnity she stated them as "Work, Work, Work!" Eight selected verses or portions of Scripture are given for intensive study and all are printed in full in the various helps. They are to be studied both singly and collectively and are Genesis 2:15; Exodus 20:9; Nehemiah 6:3; John 5:17; 9:4; Acts 20:33-35; 2 Thess. 3:6-12; Ephesians 4:28.

Work is far more than the means of obtaining a living in this world. It is man's friend and solace. In "Katrine," by Elinor Macartney Lane, the incident is told of two children who were punished. The girl cried the rest of the morning but the boy went out to make swings. Then Josef says of the hardest kind of work, "It's a great gospel—that! I wish I could teach it to every woman on earth. Don't cry! Make swings!" The day is past when anyone thinks that a man can be both pious and lazy. These eight Bible references are all to the contrary.

Adam was started right when Jehovah directed him to be a good tiller of the soil. The old saying has a modern application that "Satan finds some work for idle hands to do." It is an honor to clasp the hardened hand of a toiler and it is also good when the flabby handed get the idea that honest toil is honorable. The title insists that useful work is a Christian duty.

Emphasis is given to the necessity for six days of toil that preceded the Sabbath rest. The Hebrews were absolutely right in requiring that each son learn a trade and the daughters were taught to excel in their own spheres. Work is opposite from selfishness for therein a reasonable return in value is given for every dollar received. It is fine when one is so absorbed with the task in hand that they give a similar reply to that presented by Nehemiah: "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down."

Jesus declared that He must act in harmony with the Father Who was Architect as well as Builder. The Nazarene toiled as a carpenter and learned a practical sympathy for all others who wrought by their labor. He was also a Kingdom-builder during his entire public ministry. He had much to do in His 33 years on earth but at last he could say, "It is finished."

Paul was a good tentmaker as well as a heart-searching preacher. To the Thessalonians he said, in our Golden Text, "If any man will not work, neither let him eat."

RAILWAY QUEEN

British Workmen Chose Young Ena Best as Their Queen for 1929.

For the last three years the railway workers of Great Britain have chosen a young beauty-queen to unite themselves and their colleagues in other countries in a bond of international peace and good fellowship.

Chosen from among the daughters of the 650,000 railmen from Thurso to Penzance, and from draymen, shunters and porters to general managers, the railway queen is selected by artists, who act as judges.

Thousands of applications with photographs are received every summer, and eventually, after a thorough search, a schoolgirl with personality, good looks, and who can make a little speech if called upon, is selected. She is crowned at a carnival in Manchester, and the trade unions and the railway managements work together to make this "railwaymen's own" celebration a great success.

The first railway queen was Ella Wootton, the 17-year-old daughter of a G.W.R. carriage cleaner. During her queenhood this Devonshire lassie won all hearts and came to the House of Commons to meet Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. Ella, an expert swimmer, also took part in a thrilling film, in which a signalman gave a fine display of rescue from drowning.

The second queen, a Herefordshire girl, was Mabel Ruth Kitson, aged 15, whose father is a signalman at Colwall, Hereford, Mabel, an all-round athlete and an excellent pianist, was crowned by Sir Ralph Wedgwood, of the L.N.E.R.

Ena Best, the present queen, is also taking her duties very seriously. Here is a portion of one of her little speeches at a railway meeting at Darlington:

"I have been told that I am too young to understand the horrors of war, but I am old enough to understand what it means for sons and brothers to be taken away from their homes, perhaps never to return."

The railway queen's Dutch tour included several civic receptions and a visit to Haarlem, the centre for the bulb fields. The Dutch railwaymen selected for her some of the finest bulbs in Holland, which Ena brought back and planted in the gardens of the homes of retired railway workers on Tyneside.

LAND OF PETROL TINS.

Rhodesans Put Them to a Hundred Uses.

One of the most generally used articles in the rural homes of Rhodesia is the petrol tin. Petrol and coal oil are sold in most parts of Africa in tins containing four gallons apiece. These tins are the settler's best friends, for he puts them to a hundred uses. In Rhodesia, tins are sawn asunder with a can-opener, beaten flat and used as rain-proof roofs for small sheds and lean-tos. With a little manipulation a settler will make guttering and some spouting may be made from them to carry precious rain water from roof to water tank.

With holes punched in the sides and a few blazing logs within the tin, the settler has an excellent brazier by which he may smoke his pipe and read his month-old home news on bitter July nights. He fits a tin into a loose cage of mosquito wire netting and fills the space between with charcoal which he keeps wet. Behold his dairy safe where his butter will not turn to oil nor his jug of milk sour in the torrid November days. From a tin he makes a camp oven for the Sunday roast. In it his bread and cereals are stored from insect pests.

Hints for the Home
by Nancy Hart

Many of us have not been able to withstand the temptation of those sparkling new aluminum tripolators which have recently appeared at the stores. Naturally we have tried out the drip method of making coffee in them—and are converts. But do we all know just why the beverage tastes so much better and why it isbetter for us?

It is because no tannin or bitterness is extracted from the coffee by the drip process, as it is by boiling; only the full flavor and the good qualities of the bean are obtained. This alone is news enough to make us want to try this modern method which is approved—and practiced—by almost every famous chef and domestic science expert in the country.

But in case some are thinking of the old-time process which used a slow-dripping muslin bag—it should be remembered that this new method of making "drip" is almost instantaneous. One simply puts the coffee (a dessert spoonful for each cup) into its perforated compartment, pours boiling water into the top section of the pot—and presto, in a second or two the beverage is ready to serve.

Rabbit a la Mode

Joint young rabbit that has been skinned and cleaned; lay meat overnight in pickling liquid composed of ⅔ water, and ⅓ vinegar, salt and pepper to taste, cloves, allspice, celery seed and sliced onion. Next day remove meat from liquid, dry, dredge with flour and fry in butter as you would chicken. Thicken gravy with brown flour, (add a little pickling juice, if desired), strain, put meat back in gravy and simmer for half hour before serving.

Mixed Vegetable Salad

On a salad platter arrange crisp lettuce leaves, six sections of cooked cauliflower, 1 cup cooked spinach, 1 cup cooked string beans; quarters of hard-boiled egg. Dress with French dressing to which 1 tbls. chopped pimiento has been added.

Apricot Tarts

Drain a can of apricots and mash them. Sweeten to taste and add sufficient flour to thicken to proper consistency. Add a teaspoon of butter, line tart pans with puff paste, fill with the apricot filling, criss-cross with ribbons of pastry and bake until light brown. Dredge with confectioner's sugar and cinnamon just before serving.

Browns Flour Quickly

For thickening meat gravies, browned flour is usually best. To prepare a quantity which can be used from time to time, spread one cup flour on a pie tin and set in hot oven. Stir frequently to prevent burning.

Removes Color from Fabrics

You can bleach tinted fabrics that have become faded by washing them in boiling water to which cream of tartar has been added in the proportion of 1 teaspoon of powder to a quart of water.

Heart to Heart Talk
By Dr. John Joseph Daine

BARBED SHAFTS

"Hokey! You look tough, old man. Say—if you don't go somewhere and do somethin' for yourself, you're goin' to die!"

Another said it—and another. The victim of jaundice became convinced that his condition was grave; look at the testimony. Discriminating people could not all be wrong. The careless remarks, all meant for the best, caused hours of doubt and mental torture for the man who was sick temporarily.

"My! You're a sure enough cripple! You don't seem to get much better, do you?"

This to a poor girl rendered almost helpless below the waist by an accident years ago. Her spine had been "wrenched." Without those heavy iron braces, reaching from her waist to the feet, even standing erect was impossible; to see her walk, shambling, twisting, straining to get along, would arouse sympathy instantly. And the little girl went to and from her work at a desk, smiling, cheery, enthusiastic over what she could do! She was a doer of the almost impossible—sure that some day she would overcome her terrible disability.

The chance salutation made her wince; the discouraging comment bore its wicked fruit. The little martyr poised on her two crutches—touched her tiny handkerchief to her eyes, and hobbled on.

There are still a few people in this highly-civilized social throng, who are so densely stupid as to blurt out the worst possible stuff to the unfortunate ones—words that are truly barbed shafts. It is only the mental cripple who calls attention to defects in the maimed or helpless. I once heard an idiot say to a paralyzed man, "I wouldn't be in your fix for a cool million dollars."

I think most any sort of "fix" is preferable to being a mental clam, who hasn't sense enough to be gently kind and always encouraging to the permanently afflicted.

"GOVERNMENT CONTROL."

Its True Name Should Be "Government Sale."

What Is "Controlled" By Gov't Control?

1. Not Drinking!

In 1926 exaggerated estimates said we drank 25 million dollars worth of liquor. It was urged that Government Sale would reduce this to five million. In 1928 the sale was nearly 50 million dollars worth or nearly a million dollars a week. Prescott has a Government Store and a Brewery Warehouse. If these sell their average with other stores and warehouses, the sale in that town last year would reach the colossal sum of $437,000 Morrisburg has a Brewery Warehouse. Its figures, based on averages for such warehouses, would be for last year $143,000

2. Not the Number of Persons Drinking!

Ontario people bought 220,440 permits in 1927, and 400,000 permits in nine months of 1929, an increase of nearly 100% in two years.

3. Not Bootlegging!

Last year there were 24.176 convictions for violation of the Liquor Control Act. This was an increase last year of 22%. In Toronto these convictions increased from 1078 in 1927 to 1288 in 1928. The old bootleggers have not quit to any extent and many more new ones have gone into the business.

4. Not Lawlessness!

General Williams, head of the Provincial Police reports,—"Prosecutions under the Provincial Statutes for the year 1928 were 11,035, an increase over 1927 of 3,563."

5. Not Crime!

Crime of all classes is mounting apace. Offenses against the person have increased 14.65%, against property with violence 14.54%, Forgery, etc. 16.14%, and other offences 31.03%

Government Control is NOT control, it is sale—while the Brewers & Distillers grow rich at our expense.

Let us say on October 30th,—"Dundas is opposed to Government Sale." "Dundas always stands for Prohibition."

Our Candidate is MR. N. W. BEACH.

United Church W. M. S.

The October meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday School Rooms Oct 10th. The subject for study was "The Pioneers of our Dominibn." A leaflet entitled "He shall have dominion from sea to sea" was read and prayer offered for all leaders of our Dominion. Reports were given from Treasurer, Cor. Sec. and strangers sec. Mrs. Ault spoke a few words on behalf of the circle asking the W. M. S. to co-operate with them in their undertakings. A very interesting paper was given by Mrs. Wallace on Christian Stewardship, and Miss Annie Walker favoured us with a beautiful solo entitled "The Beautiful City." Miss Bell from one of our missions in the West gave an interesting talk on the Indian schools and the work the W. M. S. were doing in those schools.

Many Car Accidents

Many car accidents are reported over the week end. In Ot awa three deaths are reported as the result. At the Metcalfe corner of Highway 31, on Saturday evening, a beautiful new Buick Sedan turned turtle into the ditch, but fortunately none of its occupants were injured, and neither was the car badly injured for it returned to Ottawa on its own wheels. Near Gananoque three cars were piled into the ditch at one turn of the road, and one car was burned up, its driver being rescued only in the nick of time. That happened on Saturday afternoon. Down near Montreal a Sedan went into the canal and its two occupants were drowned. The number of car accidents are daily increasing, and while they are not all due to liquor, liquor has much to do with the greater number of them.

Obituary

On the 22nd of Sept. at 1.30 a. m. there passed to her home above, Jane T. Gilchrist, beloved wife of the Rev. J. T. Kirkwood, former pastor of Ormond Baptist Church. She was a faithful, earnest worker in all the departments of christian service. Before her marriage she held an important office with the Greenock Y. W. C. A. She also carried on a young people's class, numbering about forty. When coming to this country, she was a true helpmate to the pastor, especially was she an enthusiast in Home and Foreign Missions in connection with the Baptist churches. Weak in body but strong in faith till the last, she left an example to all she came in contact with.

After long suffering, she peacefully fell to sleep. Heaven is the richer by her going, her friends the poorer. She was laid to rest in the beautiful Greenock cemetery.

There are left to mourn Rev. J. T. Kirkwood, her son Gordon, and two brothers, John and Tom Gilchrist. Rev. D. Debber of George's Square Baptist Church, Greenock, Scotland, officiated.

Car Turned Over in Ditch

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Utman, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogoboam, started out on a trip to Montreal via Ottawa, intending to return home by the St. Lawrenc highway. They were well on their way to Montreal, and it was about 9 in the morning. A Ford truck was ahead, and hogging the road, but after reaching the top of the hill the truck got over on its right side and just as Mr. Utman was about to pass the truck driver suddenly swerved to the center and over, thus forcing Mr. Utman to either take the ditch or crash into the side of the truck. He hoped to save himself, but just as he had the car under control the hind wheel slipped over the end of a culvert and the car tumbled on its side in the ditch. Mrs. Utman was on the under side of the back seat, and the back window was smashed by the fall. A piece of glass cut an artery in her wrist and her hand. The flow of blood from the cut artery was alarming, and Mr. Hogaboam at once tied a handkerchief about the wrist, and pressed his thumb against the cut artery, thus stopping the flow of blood until a doctor was brought, and thus in all probability saving Mrs. Utman's life. Mrs. Utman was taken back to Ottawa and to an hospital where she remained until evening when the party returned home. None of the others were injured to any extent. The car had the side rear window broken, the mud gard bent a little and the running board broken, but was not otherwise injured, and the party was able to return home in the car in the evening. It was an experience none of them would care to go throngh again.

Women's Institute

There was a very good attendance on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Robert Suffell presiding. Many valued household appliances were named in answer to roll-call. Proceeds from money shower for the Band were $48.70. It was decided to make it $50. The names of members were divided into three lists for the purpose of having a contest on membership attendance and answers to roll-call.

The Eastern Ontario Convention is to be held at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, on Nov. 4th, 5th and 6th

Mr. Sweet gave an instructive talk on the best bulbs to plant for winter flowering. He mentioned paper white narcisuss, hyacinth, and crocus, telling how to plant them and keep in the dark for six weeks so as to develop good strong roots. He also spoke of putting them in water in a bowl placing small stones in the bottom of the bowl.

Mr. Sweet also made an appeal on behalf of the Cornwall General Hospital, and the Institute agreed to take out a membership of $100, payable $10 a year for ten years, the President to be a member of the Board of the Hospital.

An instrumental piano solo entitled "Autumn" by Miss Helen Smith was very much enjoyed. A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Smith and Mr. Sweet for their help in the afteruoon's program. God Save The King closed the meeting.

The United Church

Rev. J. A. Waddell gave a stirring missionary message on Sunday morning from the words of Jesus, "Freely he have received, freely give" also these words of Paul "The love of Christ constraineth us." The pastor in giving his reasons for believing in foreign missions said he did so because he ought to according to the first text, and because he must according to the second text. We have received a christian heritage, and the privilege of living in a christian land. Would we withhold such a message from others, which brings to our own hearts such peace and joy? We are in debt to the early missionaries who brought the gospel to our shores. Have we been measuring up to our missionary obligations.

The Church and Politics was the subject from which Rev. J. A. Waddell preached a forceful sermon at the evening service taking Matt. 22;21 for his text. This was a most important period in the life of our Lord. A few hours previous the people had tried to make him King, but this he had set aside. The religious leaders of that day did not care for his leadership and they tried to bring about his public ridicule. The rulers found fault with him doing certain things. Jesus made a reply exposing their insincerity, They planned to bring about his downfall. They tried to corner him by the question about the tribute but he replied clearly and definitely, setting forth their responsibility to God and to their country. Mr. Waddell said: "God must have the first place in our politics as well as in everything. It is the duty of the church to relate herself to the public life of the c untry. The church ought to be in the van of those fighting evil of all kinds. The gospel must grapple with the things that harm the youth of our country. In the text before us Jesus openly declared his opinion on the chief political question of that day There must be something wrong if politics has no place in the christian life. The church ought to throw its whole strength into this struggle before us. The church has a right to do so, and if she does not stand true in such an hour as this, God help her and God help the man in her pulpit. We must stand four square in the interests of those things that protect the youth, and measure up to our responsibility and do our duty irrespective of the price we have to pay. Miss Helen Smith kindly presided at the organ, owing to the absence of Mrs. Dennis. In the morning a solo "The man of Galilee" was beautifully sung by Miss Annie Walker, and the choir rendered a pleasing anthem at the evening service.

Ormond Baptist Church

The W. C. T. U. of Winchester conducted the service last Sunday morning and a large number attended. Mrs. McKendry sang a delightful solo, and a very inspiring address on Temperance, read by Mrs. Beach, was greatly enjoyed.
