Candidates crowd onto Mountain election ballot

Liz Edwards
Press Staff Reporter

MOUNTAIN — Political interest seems to be divided by a centreline.

On the Winchester Village side of Hwy. 31, official candidates for the local municipal seats are scarce as yet. But westward in Mountain Township, the list is growing like last summer's corn. The municipality already has 12 electees. Cutoff for registration is this Friday.

Three have signed up as candidates for reeve, council's top spot, including the current deputy reeve Estella Rose. Rose, serving her second term on council, announced a few weeks ago she was considering vying for the job. Township businessmen Dwaine Berry and Doug Durant are also running.

The municipality's current reeve Ewart Simms, who first took a council seat in 1960 and has served most years since then, has decided to step down.

Simms attributes his departure from politics partly to health problems. A bout of pneumonia this summer was the deciding factor, he says. Although he feels much better, he will now have time for other activities including his family.

It will be the second time Berry, owner of Berry's Chick Hatchery and Berry's Egg Farm in South Mountain, has tried for the reeve's chair. In 1991 during the last municipal election, he came second after serving one term as councillor.

Council needs to work on its image with the public, he says.

"There doesn't seem to be any faith in the council. We need to establish some sort of rapport with the ratepayer. Public life, really 50 per cent of it is public relations and good management" says Berry.

Updating the official plan and establishing a light industrial park for potential business were issues during the last election. Although council made some moves to look into the official plan, Berry states more needs to be done. The municipality needs an industrial park. Business people don't want to go through the hassles involved with rezoning property for their needs.

"Nobody's going to start right from the ground up with zoning change. It's getting too

Students head elsewhere for smokes

Liz Edwards
Press Staff Reporter

WINCHESTER — Denied a smoking section at their school, numerous North Dundas District High School students have decided to create one off-property.

The grassy verge between Hwy. 43, Maple Ridge Rd. and the cemetery has become the unofficial congregating place for students craving a puff. But the school put its foot down yesterday, they must be at least 18 if they're out there.

"Students who are under the age of 18 are legally obliged to stay on the property once they arrive unless they have written permission from a parent," says school principal Don Fairweather.

"Students who are 18 are their own legal guardians under the eyes of the law so if they choose to take themselves off the property legally they can do so and the school can't say much about it."

Teachers began monitoring the area yesterday, checking to see that students leaving the property are of age. On Oct. 1 North Dundas, in accordance with an impending provincial legislation, became smoke-free both inside the building and outside on its property, nixing the smoking area behind the school's cafeteria.

Student smokers like Jason Clark, 19, aren't pleased about the change. He says it doesn't make sense for him to walk out to the cemetery and beyond just to have a cigarette.

"It saves time to have the old smoking area," he says, adding chip cartons and other garbage mess up the grass. He admits even he tosses his cigarette butts on the ground.

Andrew Roach, 16, who was having a smoke break Friday commented it isn't fair when they're so many smokers at school. But the law is the law, according to Fairweather. North Dundas really had no choice. As well, the school is trying to set a good example.

"If we're an educational agency,we should also promote we're trying to promote knowledge and skills but also values and attitudes," he explains.

Crash kills Chesterville couple

EMBRUN — Police are investigating whether alcohol played a role in a tragic Russell Township accident that claimed the lives of a Chesterville couple Friday night.

Allan and Margot Johnson, of Albert Street in Chesterville, are both dead after their vehicle was struck at the intersection of St. Marie Road and Route 400 around 10:15 Friday night.

Casselman OPP Const. R. Matton said investigators are looking at the possibility that alcohol on the part of the other driver, Michael Van Breugel, 24, of Russell, was a factor in the accident.

Police said the Johnsons were southbound on St. Marie Road when Van Breugel's vehicle entered the intersection from Route 400.

Allan Johnson, 45, was pronounced dead at the scene and Margot Johnson, 42, died the next day in hospital.

Van Breugel and a passenger were admitted to Ottawa General Hospital with various but non life- threatening injuries.

The accident is being investigated by Casselman OPP Const. Guy Prevost.

The Johnsons are survived by daughter Laura and son Adam, both of Chesterville. Friends may call at the Westboro Chapel of the Tubman Funeral Homes, 403 Richmond Rd., Wed., Oct. 12.

Charity golfers donate $20,000

MORRISBURG — For an amateur tournament, the Upper Canada Open produced some results that were very professional.

Sponsored by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission in partnership with Winchester District Memorial Hospital, this year's invitational golf tournament, held last Sept. 10-11, attracted 113 golfers and put more than $20,060 in the hospital's coffers.

That's triple the money raised by any previous charity through the event, according to Barry Hughes, St. Lawrence Parks Commission manager of parks and recreation.

Each year, the St. Lawrence Parks Commission invites a local charity to co-sponsor the Upper Canada Open. Participating organizations must provide volunteers to fulfill a number of jobs connected with the tournament, from drumming up golfers to keeping score.

"We provide the venue, it's up to charities to take advantage of the situation we present," said Hughes.

Don Smith, WDMH president, speaking at an appreciation luncheon for Upper Canada Open corporate sponsors Thursday said he was very pleased with the results.

"All parties worked well with each other and that was the secret of our success," indicated Smith. "This golf course is such a class act, we had no trouble drawing sponsors to our event."

DALMENY— The beavers neighboring Alice Deschambault's Osgoode Township farm will have to go without their regular visits. The spry 74-year old is planning to stick closer to home in the future.

Deschambault was the object of a frantic search in dense bush Tues., Oct. 4 when she went missing during a walk in a wooded area adjacent to her home near Dalmeny.

Her three grown sons became worried when she failed to place a pre-arranged telephone call to them at 5pm Tuesday afternoon. Part of Deschambault's daily routine was a walk to the beaver dams down the road from her 150-acre family farm. She talked to a neighbor before her walk at 2pm that day.

"When she didn't call me and I couldn't get any answer at her home, I called her neighbors, the Bergerons, who went out to check the house. They said the lights were out and the doors locked," explained John Deschambault of Winchester.

Haste over zoning criticized by clubs

by Michelle Valiquet
Press News Editor

WINCHESTER — Members of 11 different service organizations met Monday night to voice their concerns over a proposed commercial bingo hall in Winchester Township.

The group, which included representatives from Winchester, Mountain Township, Iroquois and Matilda and Morrisburg Lions Clubs, South Mountain Oddfellows, Winchester Hospital Auxiliary, Morrisburg and Chesterville Legions and Winchester Township Fire Department, as well as a number of area residents, is worried any move to open a commercial bingo parlor will seriously hamper their own fundraising efforts.

A 10-acre Hwy. 43 site that formerly housed a farm equipment dealership has been the centre of controversy since owner, Edsel Byers applied for a zoning change on the property. Currently zoned for agriculture to light industry, Byers is applying to change zoning to commercial in order to renovate the building which sits on the land.

Plans for the site include a bingo hall, miniature storage and warehouse, two office buildings and a recreation facility.

Glen Droppo, a Winchester Lion who attended the meeting, said the service clubs contribute thousands of dollars yearly to local charities in addition to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, money which might disappear should a commercial establishment open its doors.

"There are only so many dollars in the bingo pie and if you slice it up too thin then everyone loses," stated Droppo. "A businessman who opens a commercial hall is out for profit, that's his main objective. We have no problem with that, but people have to realize what they're getting into with the zoning change."

Droppo said council hasn't explained whether the zoning change will affect traffic flow in the area or use of neighboring agricultural lands. He questioned, "Besides what's the use of having an official plan if you're always changing it?"

Winchester Lions president Bill Roffy said "the haste" with which Winchester Township Council is attempting to push through the rezoning concerns him.

Roffy said, "We should be sure we're not cutting off our nose to spite our face. Small bingos will definitely feel the effects of a commercial hall. We want to raise the public's awareness on the issue and insist council state clearly where it stands."

He added, "If the community wants the commercial hall fine, but everybody should realize what is at stake."

The group has addressed Winchester Township Council with a letter outlining its concerns, and a delegation from the service clubs planned to attend Tuesday night's council meeting where the matter was scheduled for discussion and decision.

Election

expensive," says Berry.

Durant is a lifelong township resident and the owner of Sandy Mountain Campsite — which includes a golf course, mobile homes and apartments. He has never served on council or had any experience in politics.

"I've got a lot of experience in dealing with people. I've been in business for myself for 36 years and I deal with a lot of different people at the campsite," he says, explaining his decision to run for reeve.

"I think somebody needs to get in there (council) and do a little leading and pushing...to get things done. I'm not going to be afraid to make a decision."

Dealing with garbage, creating an industrial park for businesses are on his list of concerns but rising taxes are a huge issue for Durant.

"We need more assessment, more housing in this township to get more tax dollars or our taxes in this township in another few years are going to go out of sight," he says.

"Somebody's got to pay the taxes and Sandy Mountain Campsite is the largest taxpayer in the township. In a few years I've seen our taxes go way up to cover things."

Candidates for deputy reeve may look familiar. Keith Fawcett of Inkerman will return to politics. Fawcett started as the area's school board trustee in the 1960s, moving into the local council in the early 1970s. He has served as councillor, deputy, reeve and warden of the counties. He was defeated in the last election when he sought re- election as reeve. Fawcett was not available for comment.

Councillor Don Johnston, the other current choice on the ballot, said he would officially announce his candidacy and platform next week. He has spent the last two terms as councillor.

The three available councillor seats have attracted seven residents. Incumbent first term Councillor Robert Guy is on the list. Others include teacher and past Federal Reform Party candidate Annette Turner, businessman Steve Caza, farmer Wray Holmes, farmer Allan Beckstead, businessman Paul Barkley, and South Mountain resident Frank Fata.

Keith Smith of the township registered but has decided to withdraw.

Smoking

"Healthy lifestyles are also part of the values and attitudes area that we're interested in. By saying to students we don't publicly condone this, we're sending them a message. But in the end, people make their own choices in life."

Students have also been warned about staying off the highway. Bus driver Art Knapp says he hasn't had any difficulty with the students so far. They have been careful about steering clear of the road.

"There's no problem if they stay where they are," he says.

Open

Nick Lee, chairperson of the hospital's volunteer committee agreed. His committee was made up of 20 people including medical personnel, hospital board members and auxiliary volunteers. They spotted balls, ran longest drive and putting contests, transported golfers back and forth between the driving range and the golf course and filled in where needed, said Lee.

He added, "You need a quality venue to hold a successful fundraising event and this course is certainly that. It's not hard to sell corporations that they should come out and support you when they get to play on Upper Canada Golf Course. They were blown away by the course and the excellent organization."

A board carrying participating corporate sponsors names will hang in the lobby of the Winchester Hospital.

Money raised during the tournament is earmarked for capital equipment at the hospital including heart monitors, ventilators in the operating room and electronic thermometers. "The Ministry of Health does not fund capital equipment in the hospital's budget, so these proceeds will go to a badly needed area," said Smith.

He also hinted that the hospital might try another stab at co-sponsoring the Upper Canada Open.

"It would make sense to do it again, to build on what we learned the first time."

Rescue

"But she walked out under her own power."

Deschambault told searchers she was walking in a swampy area when she tripped and hit her head. She must have fallen unconscious because when she came to, darkness had fallen.

"She started walking but became confused and lost so she stopped until she heard people calling out her name," he added.

John said his mother recovered quickly, but is still "a bit nervous" after her mishap and plans to curtail her walks so they'll be closer to home.

"That's when I headed to her place," he continued. "My brother had already become worried and headed in from Navan with a friend and another brother who lived in Ottawa also arrived."

A search of the property and fields backing her house where she has lived for the past 53 years did not turn up any trace of Alice Deschambault.

By 8pm, when their efforts still proved fruitless, the searchers contacted the police. Members of the Ontario Provincial Police, Osgoode Township Fire Department and OPP search and rescue unit swelled their ranks and combed the area using a tracking dog.

A helicopter, specially equipped for search operations, was requested from Sudbury, however, Deschambault was found before it arrived on the scene.

At 3am Wednesday, after 14 hours in the bush, Deschambault was found less than two kilometers from her house.

"She was dehydrated from being in the bush with no water and she had a bruise on her head," described John.

Non-profit housing cuts ribbon in Greely

by Chris Bridgen

GREELY—Members of the Osgoode Township non-profit housing corporation must have wanted to make sure the tenants of its year-old housing unit in Greely were well in place before holding opening ceremonies.

Fri., Sept. 23, residents, local and national politicians and the builders attended a grand opening at the eight-unit Greely site on Meadow Drive, just off Hwy. 31.

The controversial housing project went through three years and two Ontario Municipal Board hearings before the go-ahead to build was given. Those on hand to unveil the two-bedroom units were happy it did.

"It shows the dedication of some of the people of this township and of the non-profit board that it could be done, and was done," said Osgoode Mayor Al Bouwers.

"The community living units in Osgoode are so much nicer than many others in other communities where I have been," said MP Eugene Bellemare, who along with Bouwers, non-profit housing chair and councillor Albert McKeown and provincial housing ministry official Steve Shapiro, cut the ribbon in the driveway between the two units.

EIGHT UNITS

The eight units bring the total built in the township to 108 since social housing construction began in the early 1980s. Controversy had dogged many of the projects, but Shapiro was always a supporter, he said.

"You hear an awful lot about NIMBY (not in my backyard). But this is my backyard and I am happy to have these units and these people here," said the nearby resident.

McKeown said the housing was financed with the assistance of the ministry of housing and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation at a cost under the maximum budget. Although $800,000 in funds were available, the units were built for $100,000 less.

"We were delighted that we could come in under budget," said McKeown.

Marilyn Kelly, an eight-year volunteer with the non-profit group and currently its vice-president, said she hopes that more joint projects can get started in Osgoode.

Studio tour gives artists' eyeview

Liz Edwards
Press Staff Reporter

MOREWOOD — Janet Whittam will have a chance to explain her behavior.

The hours spent combing the woods and swamp, dragging out armfuls of branches or long heaps of grapevines. Her neighbors, people in the community, and other interested visitors are welcome to find out Oct. 22 and 23.

Her home will be part of the area's studio tour for artists and craftspeople. Whittam is a weaver. With the materials from the woods she makes baskets. With yarns, she creates clothing and household lines.

Some people know what she does, but it's easier to explain it if she can actually show them. She and 15 other artists in the Russell-Embrun, Morewood and Finch area will allow voyeuristic curiosity that visitors may have about artists into their homes and workplaces to see them at their source.

In Whittam's case it's her white farmhouse east of Winchester with its upstairs studio, the looms, the yarn, where she turns her ideas into something artful if not practical as well.

"You know I meet people in the community, I see them over and over again. I know what they do but they don't really know what I do. I sell most of my work in Toronto," says Whittam.

"It's hard for me to explain. They know that I go to Toronto for a couple of weeks and go to these craft shows and things like that. It's not that I think I have this undue importance or anything like that. I just think people are curious, you know the country where people know each other more than they do in the city."

MAP

It's a casual tour, from 10am to 5pm both days. The group has drawn up a map with a brief description of each of the artists and their work. Visitors can pick and choose as they like but Whittam urges them to also look at an artform they know nothing about. They might like what they see. Or they could quite likely see them all.

"In this kind of community artists are scattered around the landscape. It's a little spread out but it's very possible to do it all in one day," she says.

Studio tour signs will help mark out the sites which will also be identified with purple and green balloons. It is the second studio tour this year. The first was held in spring and also incorporated local gardens.

Approximately 300 came to the first. Whittam says she would like a bigger turnout and would like to make the two tours yearly events — a tradition like Russell's Autumn in the Country art exhibit but more casual.

I feel like the two things compliment each other, you know, because Autumn in the Country is a really beautiful show. It has a very special atmosphere," explains Whittam.

"I think that people who participate in it really have created something very special. But it's a very polished, finished kind of art show. In this we will be displaying our work but it's more going behind the scenes."

Some of the feature artists will include Carolyn Dey of Morewood who is known in the area for her artistic jackets and vests and Janet Keefe of Williamstown who makes pottery in the Japanese Raku style. Simon Koo of Embrun, a former mechanical engineer, will display his unique style of oil painting which is neither abstract nor realistic but has a touch of his technical side.

In some cases, a few artists will combine their displays at one location for the ease of visitors. There is no fee for the tour but artwork and crafts will be for sale. However Whittam, whose main market for her crafts is in Toronto, says she started the tour as a way to promote the artists in their own hometowns.

Brochures, which include the map and a brief outline of each of the artists, is available at Clara's Dressmaking and Tailoring on Main St. in Winchester and Mike Dean's in Chesterville.

Police blotter

Theft at UCV

MORRISBURG — Money was stolen from a vehicle at Upper Canada Village during the past weekend.

The car, belonging to Hilda Roukema of Toronto, had a total of $385 in the glove box and the trunk. The car was locked but the culprit still managed to gain entry.

Car hits deer

MORRISBURG — An Ottawa woman was uninjured after she hit a deer while she was travelling north on Hwy. 31 near Cty. Rd. 7.

The car, driven by Ida Davis, was damaged in the front and on the driver's side.

Seatbelt avoids injury

MATILDA — A seatbelt saved a Matilda Township man from injuries when his truck rolled.

Rob Delegarde went into the south ditch while travelling west on Rowena Rd. when he swerved to avoid a dog.

Assault charge

MANOTICK — Manotick OPP charged a Williamsburg man with assault after a family dispute erupted into violence last week.

Charged for assaulting his sister-in-law is Mark Mason, 25, of 1327 Froats Rd. in Williamsburg. He appeared in Ottawa Court Mon., Oct. 10.

Accident

WINCHESTER — Winchester OPP charged a Russell man with failure to yield for traffic after an accident on Thurs., Oct. 6 around 6:30am.

Jamie Gregoire, 18, of Russell was westbound on the Morewood Rd. in a 1988 Ford Ranger pickup when he alledgely pulled out in front of a 1994 Dodge Caravan driven by Fred Pinkus, 69, of Ottawa.

Gregoire and a passenger in Pinkus's van were taken to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital to be treated for minor injuries.

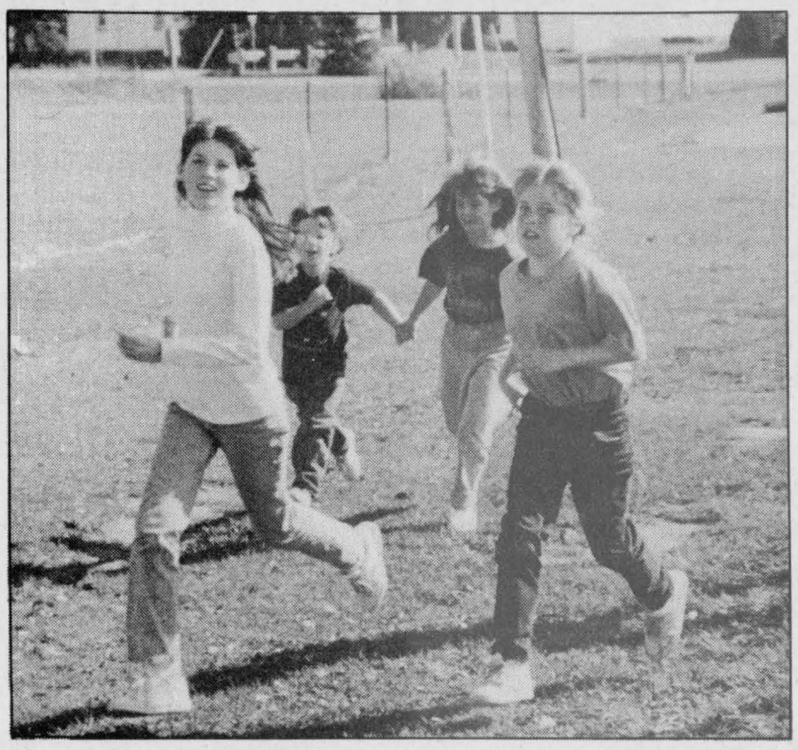
Break and entry

MOUNTAIN — Stolen equipment from a Mountain Township beauty salon was recovered after a break and entry Sat., Oct. 8 around 9:30pm.

A suspect wearing a balaclava was seen entrying the building. He is described as a male aged 25 to 35 years, approximately six feet tall with a heavy build. He was wearing a blue dress shirt, faded jeans and he was cleanly shaven.

A person wearing a balaclava, holding a weapon, was seen by owners of the salon. When they went to investigate, he turned and ran.

The OPP canine unit was called in and followed the suspect's trail 500 metres to Hwy. 43 where the suspect apparently entered a vehicle. The stolen items were found later.



Run for research

Students at Inkerman Public School staged their own version of the Terry Fox Run Friday raising money for cancer research. Children in all grades ran or walked for an hour around the school's two- acre lot. Money from the milk fund was donated to the research foundation.

Crime Stoppers alert

MATILDA — Crime Stoppers needs your help in solving a theft of tools out of a truck at a Stampville Road Matilda Township residence.

Sometime on Sept 9 thieves entered the property and stole the following drywall tools:

a two-inch hand tool; a three-inch knife; a four-inch knife; four five-inch knives; four eight-inch knives; two 10-inch knives; three 12-inch knives; a corner roller serial number 018092; two-inch flushers serial number C77401; 10-inch box serial number 055619; 12-inch box serial number 0314133, angle box serial number 013453 and various other items. The total value of stolen property is $5,000.

If you have imformation on this or any other crime you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

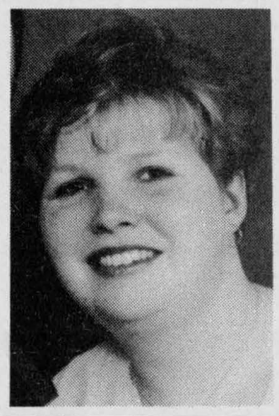
Here Are A Few Facts Regarding Pre-Arranged Funerals:



Victoria L. Byers, F.D.

1) "Although there are no requirements to prepay when you prearrange a funeral, you may wish to consider doing so. The Funeral Directors' and Establishments Act (1989) requires the funeral director to deposit the prepaid funds in a trust account with a bank, trust company, credit union or the Guaranteed Funeral Deposits of Ontario (Fraternal) until the services are required."

2) "A number of nursing homes now require that funeral arrangements be in place prior to a resident entering the home. Also, health care professionals may recommend that families caring for a terminally ill individual make funeral arrangements."

3) "At your request the prepaid funeral funds can be withdrawn and returned to you, together with all accrued interest, subject to payment of an administration fee prescribed by law."

(Information above an excerpt from O.F.S.A. Brochure "Time to Plan a Funeral".)

4) A written or typed statement must be signed canceling these arrangements and the administration fee may not exceed 10% of the total funeral costs plus interest, or to a maximum of $200.

Should you have any questions or concerns regarding pre-arrangement or funeral service in general, please contact Byers Funeral Home at 989-3836 or The Board of Funeral Services at 1-800-387-4458.

Editorial/Opinion

E D I T O R I A L

Bingo or bust?

Controversy continues to swirl around the proposed rezoning of a Winchester Township property which the owner states may house a commercial bingo parlor sometime in the future.

At first glace, the redevelopment package being assembled for the site is the stuff guaranteed to quench any municipality's economic drought. In addition to the bingo hall, plans include storage and warehouse facilities, two office buildings and recreation facility.

Not bad for a location that has sat deserted since the former farm equipment dealership closed its doors many months ago. The township benefits from new tax dollars while the surrounding community reaps the rewards of possible job creation from such a project.

But at least 11 service groups are arguing that the community is already reaping benefits from a number of small bingos being run in and around Winchester. And that those aforementioned benefits might not be as big or generous if a commercial parlor sees the light of day.

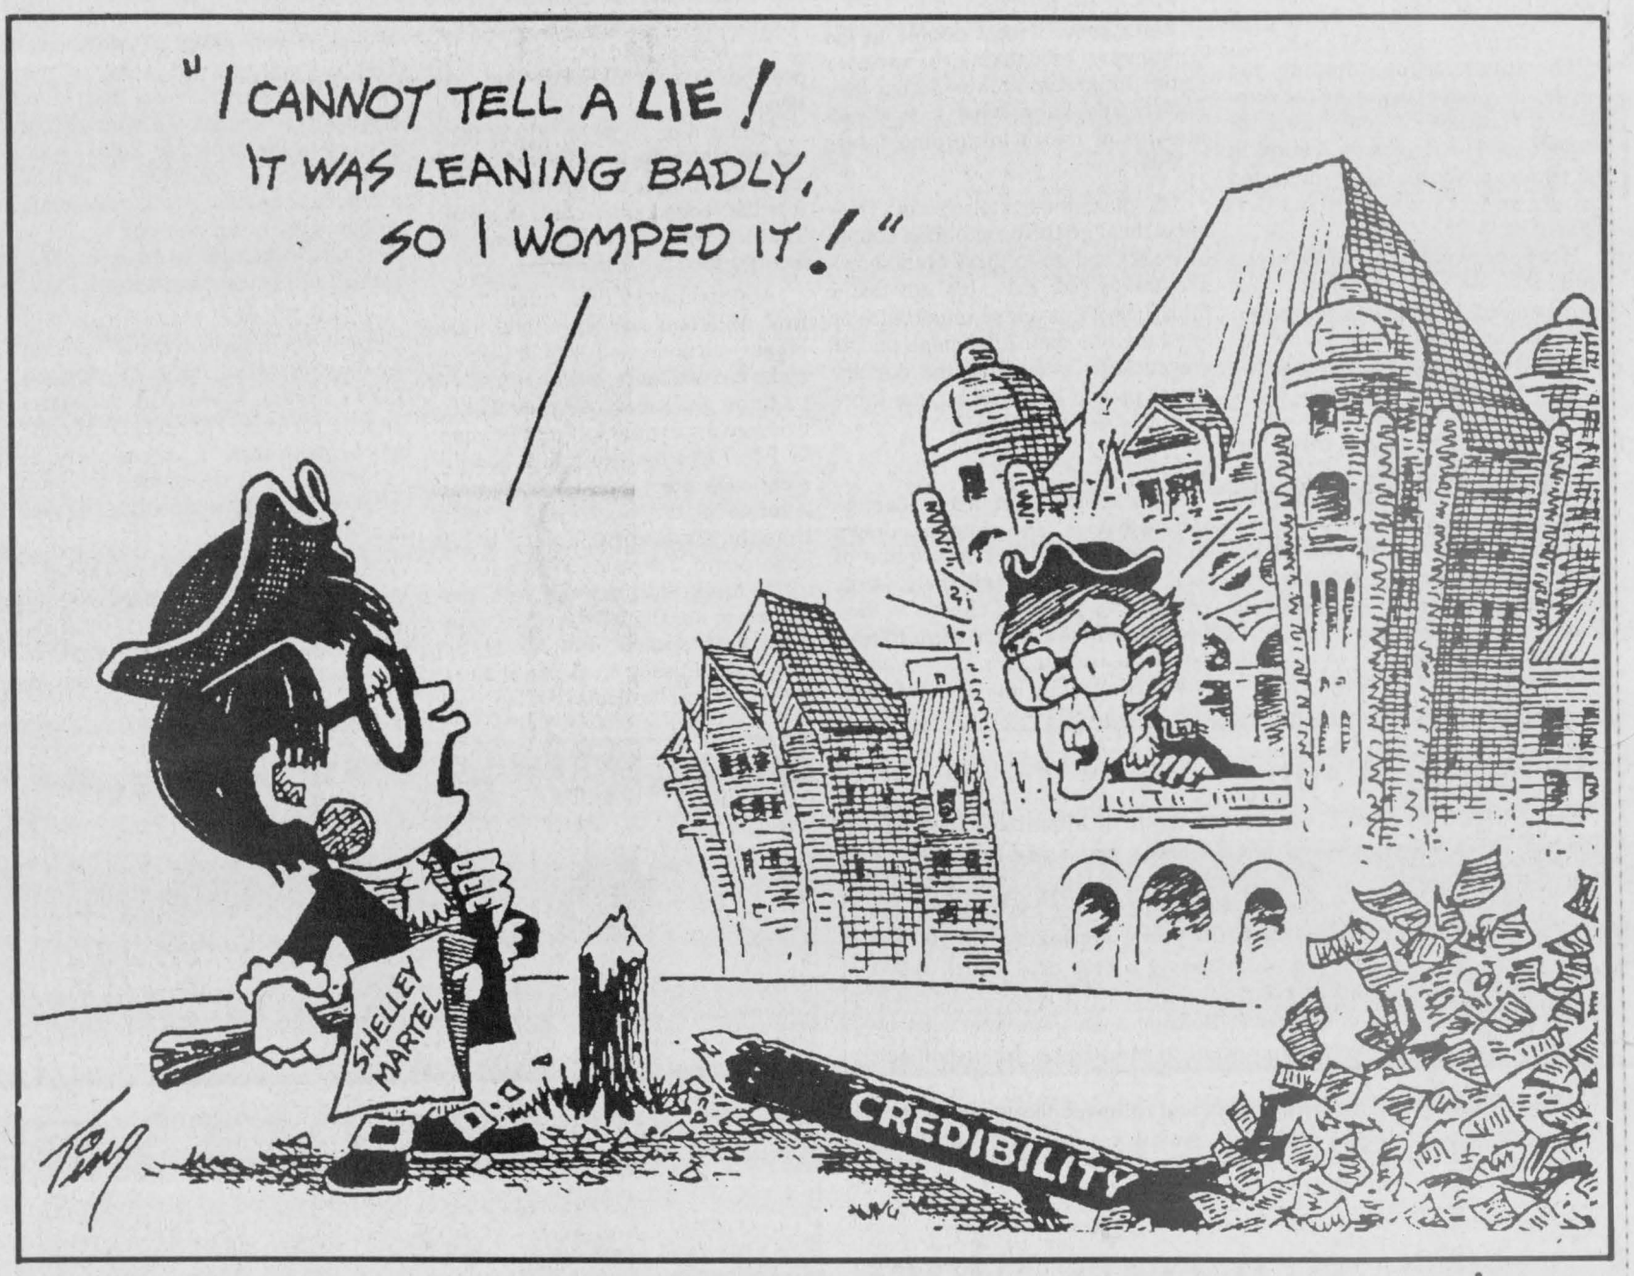
The Winchester Lions Club, one of the most vocal groups in the fray, points to the seemly endless list of beneficiaries of their weekly bingo games.

Over the years, those players who sat down at the Lions tables helped fund renovations to the arena, buying and reparing the Zamboni, building the baseball diamonds, student bursaries, 4-H trophies and cash awards, trophies for schools, cash donations for the Figure Skating Club, food bank, hospital, Christmas baskets, relief money for fire victims, special projects, Wheels for Stacey, disabled children projects, Sight First, charities, CHEO, CNIB, MD, Variety Club as well as providing a building to house the community library and operate a meeting place centre for seniors.

That's one service club. The Lions story can be repeated over and over again with other service organizations from Morrisburg to Chesterville to Mountain.

Edsel Byers has every right to pursue his development. And council has every right to award him a rezoning. But the public also has every right to discuss the matter fully and express its wishes on the proposal. The undue haste which has sped the application through council has not satisfied the service groups nor the community.

This being an election year, such a momentous decision should have been open to full debate at council with each councillor stating his opinion and backing it with good reasons. Anything less is a disservice to those organizations who have put so much back into this community.



Construction is not for the fainthearted

There were suitable "ohhs" and "ahhs" that accompanied the completion of such engineering marvels as Egypt's Great Sphinx, Canada's Transcontinental Railroad and Toronto's Skydome.

Although it has had a few false starts, the Ottawa Paladium will probably take its place soon amongst those other stunning architectural phenomenons.

It is right and just.

Great feats of construction should not go unsung.

Which is why now I will recount to you, gentle readers, a wonderous construction project that lies a little closer to my heart.

Michelle Valiquet

Building the paladium is nothing compared to the trials and tribulations my family has encountered attempting to install a new septic tank at the cottage this summer.

For those uneducated in the ways of waste disposal, a septic tank is a sewage disposal tank in which solid waste material is decomposed by bacteria.

In years past, cottagers who needed a new septic system were not faced with the major hassles that confront them today.

One simply took a stout shovel and muscle power, walked 20 paces into the forest and dug deep.

The biggest decision-making process involved in that construction project concerned the choice between one or two seats or what scenic vista to point the doorway of said outhouse.

But with the coming of indoor plumbing and society's education in environmental matters, waste disposal has become a tricky business.

There are permits to obtain.

Measurements to take.

Ministry approval to be sought.

Which is why, I convinced dear Dad that the Valiquets should stay well out of the mess and not undertake the project personally.

Hired help was engaged. Owen Melon (the name has been changed to protect the innocent), a local contractor and all-round handyman of Danford Lake, a bustling community of 50, just down the road from Little Red Pine Lake where said septic system is to be installed.

Owen came highly recommended.

A year-round resident in the Pontiac Region, he proved invaluable clearing the snow off the cottage when record drifts threatened the roof two years ago.

Although my family, myself excluded, happens to be reasonably handy with hammers and saws, wrestling with government bureaucracy is beyond our ken.

In April of this year, Owen came out to the cottage, drank copious amounts of coffee and consulted with Dad about the details of price, location and time frame.

The price was reasonable, location was next to the cottage and the tank was to be installed in two weeks time.

Case closed.

Unfortunately all did not go as planned.

Owen's family had a bad run of luck that played a large role in the construction delays.

First his mother was sick.

Then his brother was in hospital.

His grandmother broke her leg.

The next month his mother was in hospital and his grandmother fell sick.

Suddenly his grandmother was in hospital, brother sick and mother broke her arm.

At one time or other he had half his family down with galloping pneumonia, half in hospital with unspecified diseases and the other half suffering from a range of broken bones and cracked vertibrae.

Then we began to get suspicious.

In July, inquiring phone calls discovered he was off fishing.

In August, he was off hunting.

In September, he was just off somewhere.

This Thanksgiving weekend, Owen made a surprise appearance at the cottage. We were up closing it down for the season.

He drank copious amounts of coffee, walked around the property and promised to return in two weeks to install the septic tank.

I'm not holding my breath.

Something tells me this great feat of construction may have a few more twists and turns before the final act unfolds.

PERSPECTIVES

Love of books leads Fawcett to promote literacy

by Michelle Valiquet
Press News Editor

WINCHESTER — Books have brought so much pleasure to Shirley Fawcett's life, she decided to share her passion with others who have yet to sample their delights.

Fawcett, a successful Winchester businesswoman, volunteers time each week tutoring students at the Dundas Community Learning Centre. The learning centre is a non-profit volunteer organization which provides tutors and instruction for adult students who wish to learn reading, writing and mathematics skills in Dundas County. It is a branch of the Tri-County Literacy Council.

"I like to read so much, it has brought me such happiness, I couldn't imagine someone not having that joy in their lives," smiles Fawcett. "So when I saw an ad in the newspaper asking for volunteers to teach people to read, it seemed a perfect way to give something back, for the pleasure books have given me."

After undergoing an initial 12-hour training session offered by the Leeds-Grenville School Board, Fawcett was then matched with a student with similar hobbies and interests. Students and instructors work on a one-to-one basis.

"People work at different speeds, have different problems with learning, different ways of learning, so the individualized method is most successful."

Like many literacy organizations around the world, the Dundas Community Learning Centre uses the Laubach method to teach students. The name is derived from its inventor Dr. Laubach, a missionary who worked in the Philippines teaching natives to read and write.

SAD FAREWELL

When his sponsoring agency ran out of funds during the Depression of the 1930s, Laubach was forced to leave the Philippines. But before he left, a chief of one of the villages in which Laubach had worked promised that each person who had learned to read would teach another villager who did not know, coining the motto of the Laubach teaching method — "Each one, teach one."

Fawcett notes, "Those of us who like to read get as much out of teaching someone else as the student receives in learning to read. To see their progress and the change learning to read brings to their lives is quite wonderful."

She describes the Laubach method as being "heavy on phonics" with instruction books ranging from the level of basic ABCs to high school difficulty.

"You start with a goal and work with students to whatever heights they want to achieve," she says. "One 64-year-old woman I tutored just wanted to be able to write her name, so we worked towards that goal. Another man has had 125 sessions spread over three years and has shown no sign he wants to stop."

Three years after starting her tutoring, a steering committee was formed in Winchester to organize a literacy centre in the village. Fawcett was invited to participate, lending her experience to the new project. In 1990, the Dundas Community Learning Centre opened its doors.

LOVE OF READING

Currently it services 17 students, with 23 or 24 volunteer instructors. The need for both new students and new volunteers is constant. The only requirement stipulated by the centre is that students not be in school. The only requirement for the volunteers is a love for reading.

"We want new students and we need new volunteers. We like to have a few more tutors than students so that when a new student says he or she wants to read, we can start them right away," says Fawcett. "You don't have to be a college or university graduate or a teacher, just a love of reading will do."

Not all volunteers with the centre tutor students. Some are needed to organize fundraising efforts and run the centre's regular Saturday book sale. The program is free to students, except for a nominal charge for the special texts. However, if students can't afford the cost of books, they are provided free of charge.

For more than five million functionally illiterate Canadians, the simple tasks of reading the newspaper, understanding the dosage on a medicine bottle or figuring out a bill at a restaurant is beyond their capabilities.

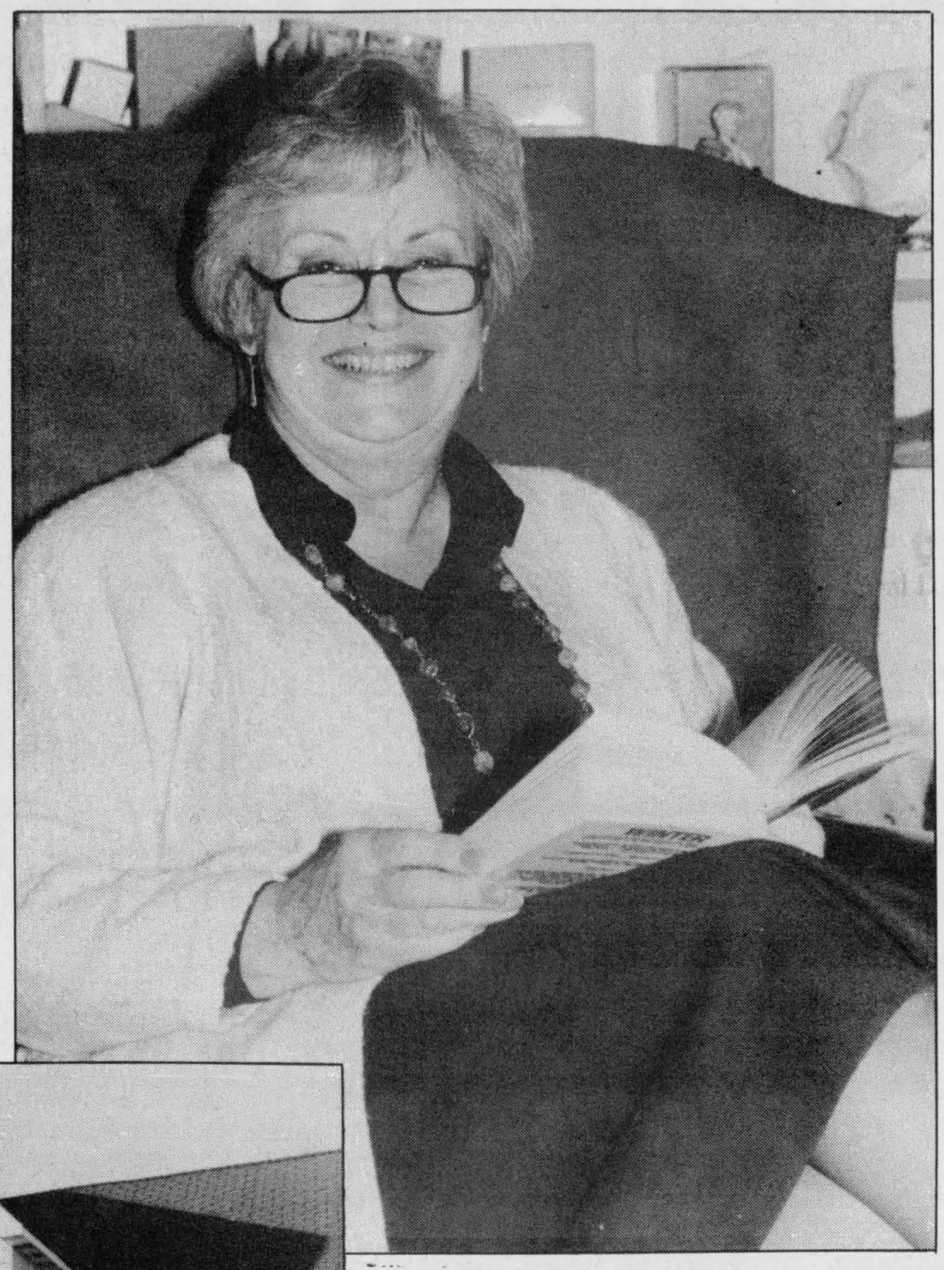
But through the work of dedicated volunteers, like Fawcett, in literacy organizations across the country, more people are attacking the problem few people readily admit to having.

"Our biggest problem is people are embarrassed if they can't read or write. To them, it's a great shame, something to be hidden," explains Fawcett. "But the more they learn, the less embarrassed they are."

Through word of mouth, media and referrals from other individuals and agencies, the centre does attract a steady number of students. Its doors are always open to more.

Dundas Community Learning Centre, a division of the Tri-County Literacy Council, has an office at 512 St. Lawrence Street in Winchester. For more information about its literacy programs or volunteer opportunities phone 774-4357.

The centre is holding its annual meeting in the village council chambers Tues., Oct. 25 at 7:30pm. Anyone interested in learning more about its literacy program is invited to attend.



Book lover

Literacy teacher Shirley Fawcett takes a moment to indulge in one of her favorite passions, reading. The Winchester businessperson has been involved with the Dundas Community Learning Centre, left, since its opening in 1990.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Disease explained

The Editor:
I agreed to be interviewed about Alzheimer disease so I could help to eliminate the stigma associated with the diesase. However, I feel that the article about the disease in the Oct. 5 Press will only contribute to more misunderstanding of Alzheimer, I would like to clarify some statements.

On page two, first sentence, Alzheimer is grouped with "other" mental illnesses of anxiety, depression and schizophrenia. Alzheimer disease is not a mental illness. Alzheimer disease is a progressive, degenerative brain disorder with biological changes in the brain. There is destruction of vital brain cells.

There are some common symptoms. Initially the individual exhibits only minor and almost imperceptible symptoms which are often attributed to depression and other illnesses. There may be changes in personality, mood and behavior before short-term memory loss is evident.

It is important for persons with the disease to be diagnosed by the family doctor and then a neurologist. Curable illnesses may be mistakenly neglected if the course of the symptoms aren't diagnosed.

Page two, second paragraph, first sentence; there is no known cure for Alzheimer disease because the cause has not been found yet. However, there are experimental drugs available through Memory Loss Clinics. Some of these drugs help to slow the progressive deterioration. My dad took two drugs which slowed the progression and stabilized him on a plateau for a while. Things can be done to improve life for both the affected individual and their family.

There are over 300,000 Canadians affected by this disease. That number is expected to grow to 700,000 by the year 2020.

Winchester has an Alzheimer support group which meets monthly at Dundas Manor in the Florida Room. The next meeting is Oct. 18 at 7pm.

For further information call the Alzheimer Society in Cornwall at 1-932-4914, Box 1852, 714 Pitt St., Cornwall.

Not so harmless

The Editor:
There is a serious issue at hand in the Winchester and surrounding area.

A new bingo hall, to be opened on Hwy. 43, is being proposed. On the surface it seems like a harmless idea, after all what harm can a bingo hall do to an area? Well, I'm writing to say plenty.

For as many years as most can remember, local service clubs, volunteer fire departments, sports clubs and hospitals, to name a few, have operated charity bingos as a means of fundraising for everything from charity to community projects.

In the case of my club, the Lions Club of Winchester, this is a major portion of our fundraising. Money raised by our bingos go directly back into the community. Whether it's for a new swing set for the public school, a cash donation to a family in crisis or support for local charity, the money we collect stays within the community and benefits the community as a whole. Without the funds derived from these bingos we, as a club would find it extremely difficult if not impossible to continue to contribute to the community.

Operators of the proposed new bingo would have you believe that it would be business as usual for charities and they would host our clubs in their new facility. There are at least 15 charity bingos in this area...in a seven-day period how could this be accommodated— some clubs will lose out.

Most area bingos use their own hall or have the use of one rent-free. Why would they want to share facilities? The operators of the new facility feel there is plenty of money to go around and no one would suffer with their opening. With an area of less than 15,000 people and only a small percentage of the population that actually plays bingo, where would "all that money" come from? There are only so many dollars in the community to be spread around. The Lions Club, like most other groups donate money to fire victims, community projects, recreation, etc. Would the operators of the new bingo be willing to do the same?

Again, while it seems like a harmless idea on the outside, you only have to stop and realize the impact this new facility would have on the area. I am writing this letter, not as the "competition" but as a citizen who is concerned about the well-being of his community. I implore you to contact your local politicians and voice your disapproval of this project, for the benefit of your community.

Doug Shirreffs

SCHOOL BUS DANGER ZONE

SCHOOL BUS DANGER ZONE

Recognize that a danger zone exists in the immediate vicinity of school buses. This area is generally defined as a three metre perimeter around the bus. In curriculum on school bus safety, strong emphasis is placed on the dangers around the school bus. At every opportunity, students must be reminded to stay clear of the danger zone. Your assistance in helping your child recognize and keep clear of this area at all times is paramount to a sound school bus safety program. Please remind your child to never linger or run behind or in front of the school bus to pick up something that was dropped.

RIDING THE SCHOOL BUS

Kindly review the following good school bus passenger rules with your child:

- Take your seat right away and stay seated until you leave the bus.
- Eating or drinking on the school bus is not permitted.
- Aisles are to be kept clear at all times. Please keep books and parcels on your lap.
- Avoid distracting or disturbing the driver.
- Never throw objects inside the school bus or out the windows.
- Windows should only be opened with the permission of the driver. Please keep your hands, feet, arms and head inside the school bus.
- Promptly obey the driver's directions (or in an emergency the direction of the school bus patrol, if present).

Things really got congested on this goalmouth scramble as the Hawks and Char-Lan Rebels did battle here in Winchester last Wednesday. Hawks' Pat Collins, left, and Craig Halpenny, right, each scored as their squad pulled out a 5-4 win. A third Winchester defenceman, Jim Darraugh netted the winner with 5:06 left on the clock. Darraugh goal gives Hawks 5-4 win

WINCHESTER—It was another 500 EOJBHL week for the St. Lawrence Division's Winchester Hawks.

Here last Wednesday defenceman Jim Darraugh scored with 5:06 left in the game and the Hawks held on for an entertaining 5-4 win over the Char-Lan Rebels.

Friday night in Alexandria missed opportunities cost Winchester a 5-2 decision to the home town Glens.

After four starts the Hawks sport a 500 record of two wins and as many losses.

This Friday night (Oct. 14) the Hawks are back home to face the Morrisburg Lions and next Sunday they are in Kemptville to take on the 73s.

Just as he had stated the week before Hawks' head coach Doug Lavallee's observations are right on target.

He felt the competition among the Rideau-St. Lawrence Division teams would be close noting that anyone can win on any given night.

He also felt his rookie forwards would have trouble scoring at times and that too is true.

Friday night in Alexandria the Hawks held 14 minutes in first-period power play advantage and just couldn't build up a lead.

"We had lots of chances in the first period. It should have been four or five nothing. But we couldn't score," stated Hawks' GM Bill Wammes.

He added that the game was close (one goal deficit until the third period), "but we couldn't hold on in the third and they (Glens) scored and put one into the empty net."

Winchester vets Dereck Holmes and Bruce Cameron agreed with the GM's assessment of the match.

"We were all over them (Glens) in the first and just couldn't score," explained a frustrated Holmes.

Cameron added, "We had a 14-minute power play. It should have been game over."

Second-year forward Mike McCabe netted both Winchester goals scoring from Rob Raistrick in the first and from Jason Fawcett in the third period. Rookie Derek Mahoney tended the Hawks' cage.

Hawks lost rookie forward Eric Gosgrove for up to six weeks with a separated shoulder.

HAWKS 5 - REBS 4

Defenceman Jim Darraugh scored the game-winning goal from Dereck Holmes and Chris Napier at 5:06 as the Hawks edged Char-Lan 5-4 here last Wednesday.

Pat Collins gave the Hawks their first goal scoring on a power play formed by Jim Darraugh and Jeff Scobie at 15:16 of period one.

Eric Gosgrove potted the second period goal finishing off another power play. Craig Halpenny and Eric Savard drew the assists.

Nicest goal of the game came when rookie defender Craig Halpenny went coast to coast and scored an unassisted shorthanded goal at the 14:15 mark of period three.

Dereck Holmes ripped in a feed from Andrew McVey and Chris Napier with 5:28 left. Jim Darraugh made it 5-3 (from Dereck Holmes and Napier at the 5:06 mark).

Hawks' Dale Wilson gave up goals to Rebels' Pierre Rozon in the first frame and to Tim Corput, Ken McDonell and Jamie Harrington in the final stanza.

Ben Flanagan, the final cut from the Winchester training camp, tended nets for Char-Lan. Flanagan played for the North Dundas Midget "A" Demons last year.

Fifth and final

WINCHESTER—As if the Winchester Lob Ball League season wasn't long enough.

It is going to take another game to decide the 1994 "A" Pool champion.

Tonight, Wed., Oct. 12, the Chesterville Selects and Hallville Trojans will square off in the fifth and final game of their championship series.

The showdown was needed after the teams split a doubleheader here Monday night to tie it up 2-2.

Chesterville, defending champions, opened the twin bill romping to a 9-0 win. That decision gave them a 2-1 lead in games and the chance to take their fifth consecutive championship in tail-end games.

But Hallville roared back with a 12-4 win and tied the series up 2-2, forcing game five tonight.

Game one Monday was scoreless until Mark Shay and Shawn Beckstead scored in the Chesterville fifth. The Selects iced the win adding seven more runs in the seventh. Greg Beckstead, Pat Imrie, Garry Beckstead, Mark Shay, Sean Boulerice, Shawn Beckstead and Shawn Chambers all made it home to boost the final total to 9-0.

Neil "Smiley" Beckstead pitched the shutout and allowed only Reg Wylie, Terry Richardson and Roger Patterson to advance as far as third base.

Hallville got revenge in game two posting a 12-4 win.

The Trojans led 3-1 after an inning and never looked back. Bill Hummell belted a three-run homer in the fifth and scored one other run. Reg Wylie pitched the win and also scored twice. Brian Buma was the other two-run man.

Bill Lillico, Terry Richardson, Roger Patterson, John Patterson, Brent Payne and Kyle Marriner supplied the other runs.

Garry Beckstead (2), Dale Beckstead and Neil Beckstead touched home for Chesterville.

Trent McBain leads WPS to Dundas championship

MORRISBURG—Led by Trent McBain's seven-goal effort the Winchester Public School junior boys' soccer team romped to the Dundas East Division Elementary School championship here last week.

Winchester will now represent the East Division in the county championship match today (Wed., Oct. 12) in a neutral site match at Nationview Public School. Winchester's opposition will be the West Division champions from Dixons Corners.

Dixons Corners earned 13 of a possible 14 points winning the West Division title at Nationview last Tuesday. Dixons had six wins and one tie. Iroquois finished second with a six win, one loss record. Nationview was third with 11 points.

Jack Barkley reported the Western Division competition attracted eight teams and 120 players to the round-robin event.

"Each team played seven one-half hour games. The coaches said they were really pleased with the format. They felt the schedule of one-half hour games with 10 minute breaks in between really kept the players involved."

Barkley also wanted to thank the Grade Eight house captains for doing a good job officiating all of the matches.

EAST CHAMPS

The same day in Morrisburg Gerry McBain's WPS Blues were working their way to the Eastern Division title.

Trent McBain keyed the offence all day and started the tournament with three goals in a 6-nil win over Chesterville. Bryce McBain, Nick Paas and Rory Clement booted in the other goals.

The McBain brothers each scored once as WPS blanked Elma 3-0 in game two. Jamie Wyatt knocked in the other goal.

Four different shooters found net in game three as Winchester blanked Morewood 4-0. Travis Rowe, Jamie Wyatt along with Trent and Bryce McBain potted goals.

Trent McBain booted in his sixth and seventh goals of the day as WPS locked up the championship with an exciting 3-2 decision over Morrisburg. Rory Clement recorded the other goal.

Winchester keeper Sean Lang worked the nets for all four wins.

"The team played very well. They passed the ball well. The fullbacks (Travis Leach, Jacob Wicks and Shawn Smail) got the ball up to the halfbacks who gave it to the forwards, who kept the pressure on the opposition all day," explained coach Gerry McBain.

The WPS mentor says Dixons Corners usually has strong soccer teams and expects a good match today in the final game at Nationview.

Senior Devils win two more in high school double header

MAPLE RIDGE—Senior coach Mike Moore was relieved his squad was able to emerge from their SD&G High School Volleyball League doubleheader with a pair of victories.

"There was sloppiness on everyone's part. We had some mental lapses, but were able to win," he said.

With 2-1 victories over both the St. Joe's Panthers and Tagwi Warriors, NDDHS's senior boys' record improved to 10-2.

The same afternoon the Junior Devils dropped a 1-2 decision to St. Joe's but bounced back with a 2-1 win over the Tagwi Warriors. With that result North Dundas's record levelled off at 6-6.

Coach Moore said his team didn't get out of the blocks very well, in either match.

"We started slow in the first games (lost 15-11 to the Panthers and 15-9 to Tagwi) but settled down."

St. Joe's opened the senior match with a 15-11 victory. Game two was deadlocked 7-7 at one point but the Panthers edged into an 11-10 lead before the Devils started showing signs of life. Chris Wilson served up two points as North Dundas moved into a 12-11 lead. Sean Hackey dished out points 13 and 14 and Barry Bell sent the winner (15-11) over the net.

In the third set the Devils went out to a 9-4 lead and were up 12-8 when St. Joe's closed it to 14- 12. Matt VanGilst finished it off with the 15th point as North Dundas held on for a 15-12 decision and 2-1 victory.

A similar start against the Warriors saw the Devils lose 15-9. They tied it up with a 15-12 win and won the match with a 15-7 decision in game three. The Devils led 8-3, 9-4 and 11-5 before Mahina Arnold, Matt VanGilst and Matt Robinson went to the line to finish it. A booming kill on Robinson's final serve by Sean Hachey ended proceedings.

JUNIOR DEVILS

Hugh Conlin felt the Junior Devils should have won the third and deciding game against St. Joe's. His charges were up by 8-3 and 10-4 margins but watched the lead slip away as the Panthers rallied for an exciting 16-14 win.

"We should have won that game, especially with a 10-4 lead. We still have to work on our power game, setting and spiking are a problem now."

North Dundas took the opener 15-9, lost game two 15-11 and game three 16-14.

Co-coach Francis Vanderburg agreed with Conlin's assessment.

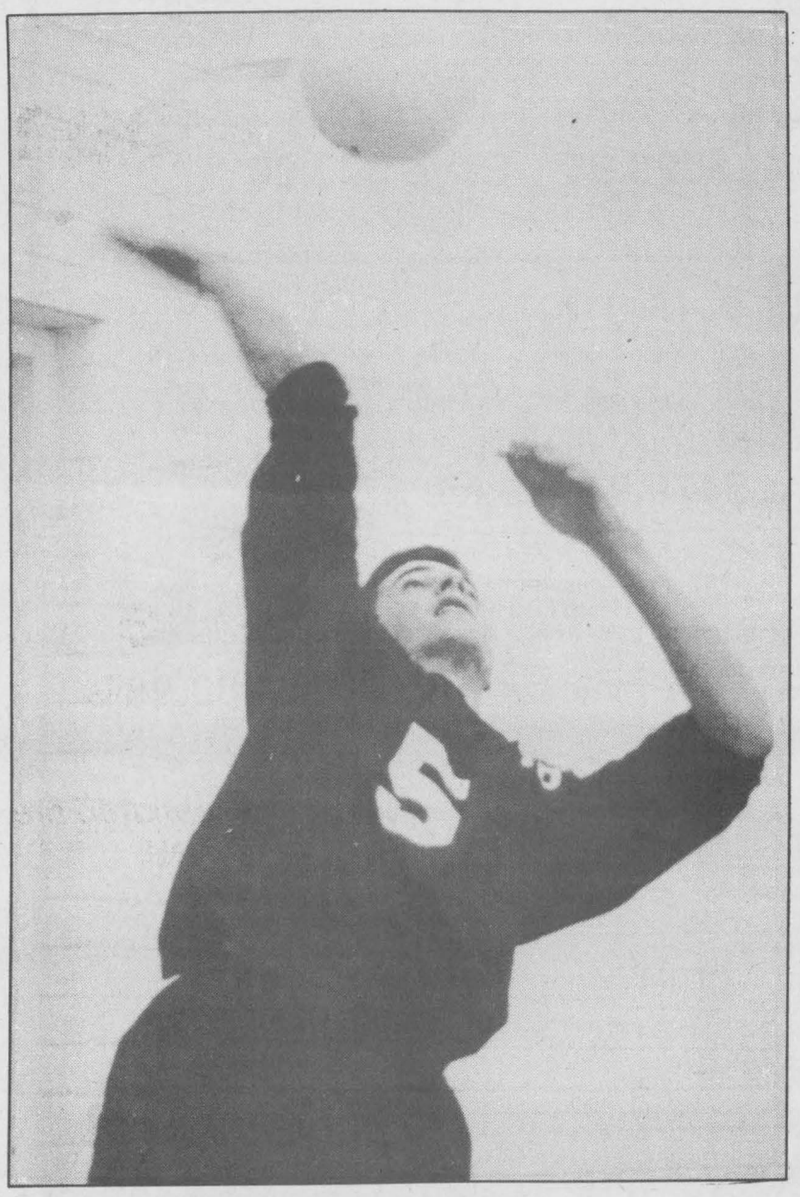
"We started out strong (vs St. Joe's) but blew the second game. We lost our focus. We need more communication."

The Devils gave their coaches some thrills as they opened against Tagwi with a 16-14 come-from- behind victory.

They were down 11-3 before Curt Porteous, Mike Hodge and Mike Ennis closed the gap to 13-8. Jason Sheldrick came on and served his team into a 13-13 tie. Porteous and Hodge (last two) got the final three points after the Warriors tied it up 14-14.

Their concentration was off in game two as North Dundas fell behind 6-0 and lost 15-8.

Things came together nicely in the final test as the navy and white squad held 2-0, 4-3, 11-3, 11-4 and 14-5 leads en route to a 15-6 win.



Fine form

Matt Robinson served up the winning point of the tournament as the North Dundas Senior Devils defeated the Tagwi Warriors 15-7 in the third game of their match.

Nationview wins Dundas soccer title

WINCHESTER—Heather Velthuis scored on a second-half penalty kick and her goal proved to be the winner as Nationview defeated Morewood Public School 2-1 in the championship match of the 1994 Dundas Junior Girls Elementary Soccer tournament here last Tuesday.

The Nationview Reds took a 1-nil lead on a marker by Leslie Montgomery and moved into a 2-nil advantage on the Velthuis tally. Morewood pulled out all of the stops and closed the gap to 2-1 on a late goal by Shelly Brown but couldn't make it any closer.

The Brown goal was the only one allowed by Reds' keeper Sarah Tucker during the tournament.

Nationview battled Iroquois to a scoreless draw and locked up a trip to the final blanking Dixons Corners 4-0 in the round-robin portion of the competition.

Morewood won their division and the right to play for the championship by nipping Morrisburg 1-0, Nationview No. One 3-0 and Inkerman 2-0.

The host WPS squad finished third in their division with an undefeated record. They earned three points posting three scoreless ties.

WPS coach Don Marcellus said he was proud of his team noting it's not often an undefeated team doesn't make the playoffs.

Intermediate soccer gets second chance

by Michele Sherren

KARS— Intermediate boys' school soccer will go on, despite a lack of funding from the Carleton Athletics Association, says Rideau Valley Middle School principal and soccer coach Stu Nicol.

"Each area has decided to do things on their own," said Nicol, after a meeting two weeks ago between coaches from all area intermediate schools to decide the fate of this year's soccer season.

Soccer, basketball and volleyball were threatened when budget shortfalls and accounting realignments made it clear that the Carleton Athletics Association could no longer fund these sports. This decision was made right at the beginning of the boys intermediate soccer season.

With the CAA's budget of $30,000, it was able to fund only cross-country running this fall and track and field next spring, the two sports that most students participate in, said CAA coordinator Sue Fleming.

The decision to fund these two sports was made at a meeting last month and was voted on by one representative from each of the affected schools.

What Nicol and other principals and coaches have tried to do since then is find a way to have some inter-scholastic competition without incurring high costs. Other options included encouraging house league sports at the school.

After discussion with other intermediate schools in the area, RVMS has entered a pool with Castor Valley, Cedarview, D. Aubrey Moodie and Greenbank Schools. These schools will run their own after-school soccer season, set to begin Oct. 13 and run to Nov. 2.

"There is no more board-wide final," said Nicol. Instead, schools will be playing each other once during the regular season, which makes for five games. Playoff games will follow to determine an area champion.

Because all games will be held after school, no release-time costs will be incurred. Release-time costs were the major factor in the shortfall of the CAA's funding.

As for transportation to and from the games, Nicol says he won't be breaking any banks to fund that.

"We'll try and arrange rides for the kids," he said. "This just means I have to bring my van. I can take half the team in it, and somebody else can take the other half."

Kings ousted

MAXVILLE—A repeat as Thanksgiving Day Tournament champions wasn't in the cards for the Rideau St. Lawrence "AA" Minor Bantam Kings.

After streaking through the opening rounds the Kings were eliminated 6-4 from this year's competition by the Nepean Raiders.

Ryan Poll led the Kings in tournament scoring with four goals and six assists. Josh Dixon was the number two shooter with six goals and three assists.

The Kings opened the event battling the host Seaway Valley Rapids to a 2-2 tie on Saturday. Down 2-0 the Kings got goals from Josh Dixon and Ryan Poll in the final 1:29 to tie it.

Sunday the Kings whipped the Toronto York Toros 8- 0 with Dixon (3), Poll (2), Dusty Kingston, Chris Barkley and Nathan Cassie doing the scoring.

That evening the Kings posted another shutout when they stymied the Nepean Raiders 2-0. Avery Flanagan and Dixon scored the goals.

Monday Dallas Ashford, Kingston, Poll and Dixon all found the net but the Kings were eliminated 6- 4 by Nepean.

Food Town opens with 2-1 victory

WINCHESTER—Deanna Corbett-White snapped a 1-1 tie when she took a pass from Amy Fraser and Joanne Kennedy and scored at 11:37 of the second half of the opening game of the 1994-95 Winchester and District Women's Hockey League season.

Corbett-White's goals stood up as Andy's Food Town nipped the CountryGirls 2-1 in Sunday's opening contest.

Rhonda Winters had given Food Town a 1-0 edge on her goal (set up by Marilyn Collins) at 8:50 of the first half but the CountryGirls knotted the count at one 6:57 before the intermission when Tina Fawcett converted a feed from Alice Koekkoek and Rhonda Boulanger into her first goal of the campaign.

Corbett-White then broke the tie at 11:37 of the final half.

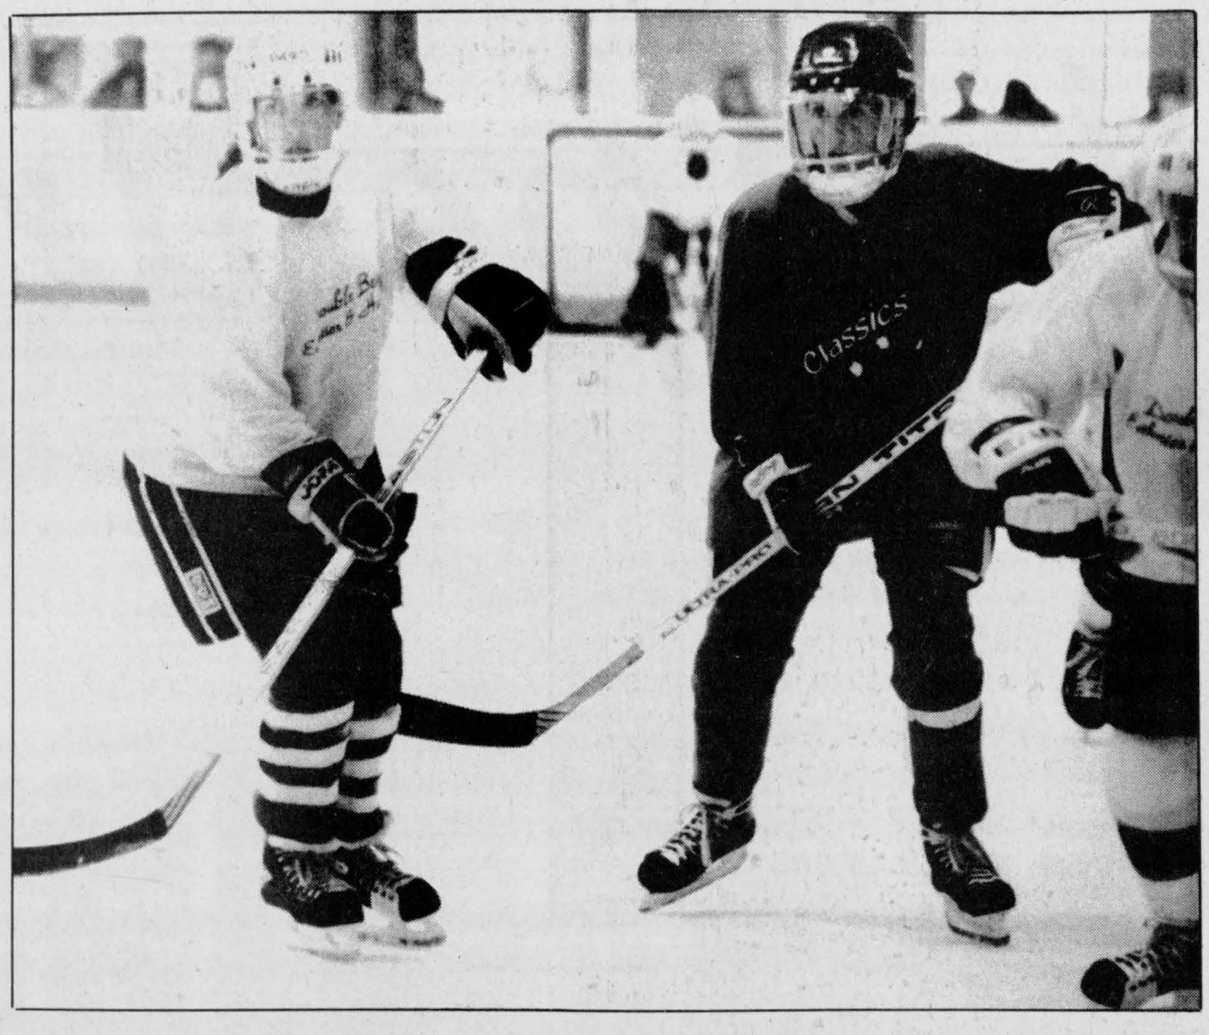
Carol Chesbro posted the win and Lori Garlough suffered the loss.

In the other two matches The Sports Unlimited Reds trimmed Annable's Jewellery 5-1 and Double Beauty battled the Stewart Trucking Classics to a 2-2 draw.

Tammy Sullivan scored an unassisted goal at 12:50 of the first half and the Annable's Blues were able to hold on to that 1-0 edge until Lee Anne Vandelst tied it up for the Reds 2:31 before the intermission. Nancy McDiarmid and Tammy Bartholomew engineered the tying goal.

Sharon McLeod netted the winning goal scoring on a pass from Kim Moran and Karen Koekkoek at 17:21 of the second half.

Nancy McDiarmid scored unassisted at 14:37 to make it 3-1. Kim Moran set up Debbie Saunders and she opened up a 4-1 lead at 6:29. Carolyn Weegar iced her team's win firing in a relay from winning goalie Jackie Boulanger 4:27 before the final buzzer.



Double Beauty and the Stewart Trucking Classics battled to a 2-2 tie here Sunday morning as the Winchester and District Women's Hockey League launched it's second season. Lori Marriner, left, and Janet Corrie were concentrating on the action. Press Photo—Van Bridger

TWO GOAL DRAW

Goalies Sherrie Stewart (Double Beauty) and Carrie Nolan (Classics) turned in stellar efforts between the pipes as their squads battled to a 2-2 draw in the 10am contest.

Lori Marriner notched an unassisted goal at 8:51 of the opening half and put Double Beauty up by one. Just 44 seconds later the Stewart Classics struck as Terri Hoy redirected a Tara Berry centring pass into Stewart's cage.

Double Beauty gained another one-goal cushion at 13:51 of the second half on Linda Hamelin's marker (set up by Donna Koekkoek) but once again the Classics were able to rally and tie the count. This time it was for good as Deanna VanLoon dented twine with a Terri Hoy relay to make it a 2-2 final. The goal came with 4:51 left on the clock.

Moore scores four

WINCHESTER—Sparked by Keith Moore's four-goal effort the CountryBoy Kings won their second straight Winchester Town Hockey League contest.

Moore scored twice in each half as the Kings crowned the winless Boyd Chrysler Rams 7-1 in last Tuesday's nightcapper.

In the opening match of the evening the Country Kitchen Stars earned their first point battling the Funtastic Pools Flyers to a 4-4 draw.

Defenceman Don "Bush" Crowder gave the Kings an early start scoring on a feed from Mike "Goose" Guy at 22:25 of the first half. Guy then engineered the first Keith Moore goal at 14:55. It went to 3-0, 5:37 before the intermission when Moore tucked a Mark Guy rebound into Steve Guy's net.

Rob Gourgon made it four - zip at 25:05 finishing off a play started by Dwayne Backes and Mark Guy.

Moore scored his third (from John Marquette) at 9:10 for a 5-0 lead. At 8:30 the Rams finally beat John Turney (subbing for Kenton Holmes) when Rudy Grisel connected from Vince Cousineau and Darrell Shelp.

Dwayne Backes scored from Mike Guy at 7:31 and Moore netted his fourth from Mark Guy and Rob Gourgon at 5:51 to drive the final count to 7-1.

FLYERS 4 - STARS 4

John McNaughton turned a play started by Dean McIntosh into the game tying goal at 24:57 of the second half as the Funtastic Pools Flyers tied the Country Kitchen Stars 4-4.

The Stars led 3-2 at the half. Jeff Johnston scored twice and Eric Winters once while Bobby Clark and Kevin Henry answered for the Flyers.

John McNaughton tied it up 3-3 on an unassisted play at 29:30 of the second half but the Stars pulled ahead right away (4-3) when Gary Beisheim took a relay from Brian Fawcett and Ken Quaile and made it 4-3 at 28:33.

McNaughton then tied it up at 24:57 and that is the way it finished.

Bruce Quaile tended the Country Kitchen nets and Jeff Johnston, Brian Fawcett (2) along with Ken Quaile set up the goals.

John Turney worked the Flyers' hangar while Dean McIntosh, Ken Iselmoe and Darrin Kelly drew assists.

North Stormont tames Russell Jr. "B" Lions

FINCH—Their 1994-95 EOJCHL home opener didn't go so well but the North Stormont Express did complete their first weekend of action with a 500 record.

Last Thursday the Embrun 72s ruined the Express home opener posting a 15-2 win. The following night in Russell the Express did the same for the Lions downing them 5-4 in overtime.

"I expected that, " coach Peter DeRooy said of his team's 15-2 loss.

"I would put my money on the line. Embrun would beat any Jr. "B" team."

Embrun led 7-0 after a period and 11-1 after two.

Nick LeBrun scored both Express goals. Andrew Barton and Chris Land shared the North Stormont net and the coach said he couldn't blame the loss on either goalie.

The following evening in Russell the Express pulled off an exciting 5-4 overtime win when James Cooper scored from Jason Roberts.

Russell sent the game to OT when former Winchester Hawks forward John Hamel scored in the final eight seconds of regulation time. The Lions led 3-1 going into the third but couldn't hold on to the lead.

"We didn't play near to our capabilities. But did a good job of killing penalties in the second period," DeRooy explained.

"It was a big game for us to win. It gave the boys confidence and got us back on track," he added.

Julian Beniot netted a pair for the winners while Chris Lefevbre, Mike Marleau and Cooper added the others.

John Hamel with two, Dan Desjardins and Derek Allen notched the Russell goals. Jeremy House had two and Desjardins one assist.

This week (Thurs., Oct. 13) the Express will host Rockland here at the Finch Arena at 8pm.

Friday night (Oct. 14) the Russell Lions will host the Casselman Stars in an 8:15pm contest.

Wings' star

Morrisburg native Mike Casselman (#9) scored twice and set up two goals as the Adirondack Red Wings defeated the Cornwall Aces 5-2 last Friday night. Sunday evening Aces' Reggie Savage (#19) potted two goals as the Aces won their first American Hockey League contest by beating the Rochester Americans 4-3.

Flyers soar to win

METCALFE—Rudy Grisel scored the natural hat trick here Sunday leading the 31 Esso Flyers to a 6-1 Metcalfe Town Hockey League victory over the Hicks Insurance Sharks.

The decision knocked the Sharks (3-2-0) out of sole possession of first place and improved the Flyers' record to 2-2-1.

In Sunday's other matches the Carleton Mushroom Leafs (3-2-0) defeated the Ross Realty North Stars (1-4-0) 4-1 and the Dewan Painting Red Wings (3-2- 0) doubled the BC Aluminum Kings (2-2-1) 4-2.

Bob Martin, Jeff Quinn and Jeff Stanley netted first-half goals for the Flyers while Grisel scored at 17:04, 11:08 and 3:12 to give the 31 Esso crew a 6-1 win.

Mike Preston lost his shutout when Sharks' Reg Fisher beat him on a feed from Ken Duncan at 15:40 of the second stanza.

Shane Patterson (3), Andy Donaldson, Brian Wynn, Martin, Marc Branchaud, Jude Cyr and Stanley all drew assists.

Barry Kerfoot fired in a pair of goals and drew an assist helping the Carleton Mushroom Leafs to their 4-1 win over the North Stars.

Mike Doyle added a goal and two helpers and Steve Wade connected for a single marker.

Jim Kerfoot ruined Brian Kerfoot's shutout bid when he scored from Bruce Kerfoot and Dave Vanderydt at 23:11 of the first half. It was 1-1 at the break and Barry Kerfoot's unassisted marker at 14:18 of the second half proved to be the winner.

In the other contest Mike Brousseau scored the winning goal 3:24 before the intermission as the Dewan Painting Red Wings doubled the BC Aluminum Kings 4-2.

The Wings led 3-2 at the half.

Bob Kemp, Richard Corlyon and Ray Vanbregt potted the other Wings' goals. Humberto Medieros (2), Scott Patterson, Jeff Raven and Kemp picked up assists. Bill Jamieson posted the win.

Jim Brown and Don Honey notched the Kings' goals with help from Tyrone Franey, Dale Carson, Ron Flanagan and Derek Burleigh.

Mountaineers blank Raiders

WINCHESTER—Goalie Dwight Lowe slammed the door on the Winchester Raiders here Sunday night as the Mountaineers won their first Winchester and District Broomball League game.

The 1-0 victory left the Mountaineers with a 1-2-0 mark and dropped Winchester into the league basement at 0-3-0.

Maurice Chartrand was the triggerman firing in a pass from Steve Whitteker to win the game at 12:14 of the second half. Chartrand's shot was the only one Winchester goalie Brad Pringle didn't stop.

In Sunday's other three matches the Morewood Vikings improved to 3-0-0 with an 8-0 win over the Newington Knights. Defending champion Prescott Road Knights also remained undefeated when they bought out the Manotick Merchants 4-1. In the other match the Toyes Hill Roadrunners moved into second spot with a 3-1 win over the Ormond Cloverdales.

HILL 3 - ORMOND 1

Paul Downey scored from Art Martin at 16:55 of the first half but that was the only time the Ormond Cloverdales led the game, thanks to solid goaltending by Roadrunner's Ted Hudson.

Toyes Hill tied it up at 21:07 of the second half when Sean Daly scored unassisted. Richard Suffel then came up with the winning goal with help from Paul Melenhorst and Ted Bongers. Felix VonGunten iced the win connecting on a feed from Ivan Petersen and Darren Nurse.

ROAD 4 - TICK 1

Bruce Morris surrendered just one goal, Darryl Payne's unassisted marker at 19:16 of the first half, as the Prescott Road Knights won for the third time in as many starts.

Dave Hudson tied it up scoring unassisted at 7:30. Chad Benoit then potted the winner with help from Hudson at 6:32. Benoit scored again (3-1) 1:20 before the break finishing off a play started by Rob Carkner and Dave Petersen.

Jim Fling made it a 4-1 final clicking on a pass from Benoit 0:58 before the end of the game.

VIKES 8 - TON 0

Chris Bilmer and Brian Como each potted a pair of goals as the Morewood Vikings made it three wins in a row with an 8-0 decision over the Newington Knights.

John Rystepanik posted the shutout.

Lucien Proulx scored a goal and set up three others. Chris Bilmer and Guy Marion each picked up three points. Lance Bowman and Gerald Eby each added a goal and one helper.

Kings lose two

SPENCERVILLE—Cory Gillespie scored twice leading the Ottawa Valley Titans to a 6-3 ODMHA "AA" Minor Atom victory over the Rideau St. Lawrence Kings last weekend.

Combined with a 6-2 loss to the Cumberland Barons on Sunday the Kings' record dropped to 1-4-0.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

REGULAR SCHEDULING STARTED FOR WINTER

Each year when the ice first goes in we allow some time for pre-season hockey camps and some pick-up hours are made available for teams to get in condition and align their teams for regular season play. For the first few weeks we were operating on a pre-season arrangement. All camps and practice times are now completed and starting this week, we are back to a regular schedule which will remain in place till the season ends on April 3, 1995. Starting this week public skating will be held every Wednesday from 7pm till 8:30pm and on Saturdays from 8pm till 9:30pm. Please note the times so the dozens of phone calls we get each week can be cut down. Moms and tots skate each Wednesday morning from 10am till 12 noon. All ice times are filled this year with two additional hours being used by North Dundas from 1pm till 3pm on Fridays. All but three Hawks games will be played on Friday nights with their practice time on Wednesday. As well as the weekly Monday and Wednesday karate classes we have added Tuesday night line dancing. We have most every Friday booked for dances throughout the winter. Ice times have already been booked for use during the Christmas and March break by the figure skating club and minor hockey. It sure appears that we are again using the facility to capacity. For those who wish to plan well ahead, carnival dates are Feb. 9 - 12.

MORRISBURG HERE THIS FRIDAY

A large crowd is anticipated this Friday night when the Morrisburg Lions roar in to meet the Winchester Hawks. With a dance planned for the upstairs hall, we could have a packed house. Morrisburg was victorious in the team's first meeting in Morrisburg when they netted a last minute goal to win 5 to 4, so the Hawks are out to even things up and will have added inspiration against their old-time rivals. The team is still batting 500 with a win over Char-Lan last Wednesday and then a loss to Alexandria on Friday night where penalties again played a big part in the final results. No doubt coach Doug will have some words on this subject at practice this Wednesday as he has already established his authority and takes little time in making moves to correct a problem. Following the Morrisburg game, the Hawks journey to Kemptville on Sunday to take on the 73s who pulled an upset over Morrisburg last week so this is another big weekend for the locals.

BASKETBALL FOR NINE TO 10 YEAR-OLDS

A six-week basketball camp will be offered to nine to 13 year-olds at the Winchester Public School gym for six consecutive weeks starting Mon., Oct. 24 and running through till Dec. 6, from 7:30-8:30pm. The camp will be sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Committee and Sean Hachey will be in charge of instruction. Registration fee will be $15 for the six weeks. Registrations will be held at 7pm, Oct. 24 prior to the first camp. Caroline Duncan is the organizer and will be pleased to answer any of your questions by calling her at 774-2007.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT SKATING STARTS THIS WEEK 7-8:30PM.

Midget Devils bring home win

CORNWALL—A low-scoring 11-7 victory by the Midget Devils produced the only points for NDDHS as they completed a road trip to General Vanier Secondary School last Tuesday.

"It sure was a close game," reported assistant coach Sean Hachey.

"They led early and we tied it up 7-7 in the third quarter. We finally broke it open in the fourth, if you can call two baskets breaking it open," he added.

The win improved North Dundas' SD&G Midget Girls High School Basketball League record to a perfect 3-0-0.

The other two thirds of the Devils' contingent weren't as successful, although both coaches, Gerry Jean (Senior) and Deanna Corbett-White (Junior) picked out encouraging signs, in spite of the results.

The Senior Devils had their record lowered to 0-3-0 with a 32-29 defeat and the Juniors were beaten for the first time in three outings, 38-33.

Gerry Jean's charges suffered their closest loss in three games.

"We held them to under 40 points. To hold any team to between 30 and 40 points is doing well. We worked hard against the zone. We had worked on playing the zone and the team responded well. It was a game we could have won."

Jean said after an injury-filled season last year Christine Harper is returning to top form, and that is a plus for the squad.

"She (Harper) can be one of the better players in this league. If she can avoid injuries."

The Devils out-scored General Vanier 17-15 in the second half, thanks to, the coach says, the rigorous shooting drills he has put his team through.

The Vikings led 17-10 at the half and 27-24 at three quarters. It was a defensive 5-5 draw in the final frame.

Eryan Blackadder led the Vikes with 13 points. GVSS was 10 for 21 from the line.

Christine Harper was top Devils' shooter nailing 14 points. Lauren Clobridge netted five, four in the second half. Megan Brookes (4), Maggie Graham (2), Lisa Prentiss (2) and Carrie Swerdfeger (2) all collected points.

JUNIORS BEATEN

Even though the General Vanier Junior Vikings are considered to be one of the SD&G powerhouses this fall North Dundas coach Deanna Corbett-White wasn't impressed.

"We shouldn't have lost. We put the press on early and realiy smoked them (Vikings). They didn't know how to handle it but we lost our intensity."

"It was a frustrating game for us. We played good 'D'. We stole the ball time and time again. But, gave it right back."

The coach said Julie Simpson played a great game coming off the bench.

"Julie came off the bench and was four for five (eight points) from the floor."

Dianne Charron was three for three (six points) in the 38-33 loss.

Players sought

WINCHESTER—If you are between the ages of 13 and 17 and would like to play some fun hockey you still have an opportunity to get involved.

Minor hockey-aged players in the North Dundas Association area not registered in any program are invited to play pick-up hockey each Sunday afternoon from 3 to 4pm here at the Winchester and District Arena.

Bill Dellaire reports there are some spots still open and play will begin on Sun., Oct. 16 at 3pm.

"Its fun hockey. Teams are different each week," he explained.

The cost is $160 for the entire season. For more information contact Bill Dellaire at 774-3395.
