RED CROSS DRIVE ON MARCH 17

S. Gordon Walroth, Manager of the local Bank of Montreal again shoulders the responsibility for the successful campaign for funds to be held in this Village and area on Tuesday, March 17th. Watch for the advertisement and articles which will reveal the work of the Red Cross in our community, in Ontario and in Canada.

Much too often, these days, we're apt to measure our successes and accomplishments in terms of direct cash, monetary value, or material benefit.

The structure of our modern society has caused us to evaluate our status and our worth in the community in this manner and we're apt to forget that we may have other assets which cannot even be measured by material standards, yet, assets that could give us a position of very great importance within the community.

To stand in a position of importanct in the community does not necessarily mean that one must be a leader of men, nor does it mean that one must occupy the house on the hill. A position of importance can be occupied by the person with such seemingly unglamorous personal assets as charity, human understanding, kindness and gentleness, courtesy, tolerance and consideration.

These personal assets have more value in the long run. What's more we ourselves control their destiny. A stock market crash does not decide whether they continue to exist or not. Whereas an economic depression does dictate our standard of living and the extend and value of our material possessions.

The peacetime purpose of the Canadian Red Cross Society is "to carry on and assist in the work for the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world", a purpose that is motivated by personal assets, a purpose which cannot continue to be carried out without the active use of these assets.

We are the Canadian Red Cross. We keep it going. Its success or failure is dependent upon how much use each one of us makes of such personal assets as charity, kindness and human understanding. The success or failure of the Red Cross is a direct reflection on the value we place on these assets, and in the end, a reflection on us and our community.

A strong Red Cross means a strong community of individuals who place a high value on these personal assets.

When you're asked to give to the Red Cross, think of the many ways your Red Cross helps to improve health and relieve suffering throughout the world — then give generously.

Jogging Around

By The Editor

Our old pal, Vern Bower, in his Rod and Gun column in the Ottawa Citizen, reports some good news for sportsmen. It seems that Ontario's Hunter Safety Course is bringing good results. Says Vern . .

"For the second year, hunting fatalities in the province have decreased. Accidents are also being reduced.

"Ultimate aim is to eliminate shooting accidents entirely though this is a difficult goal to reach. In 1963 there were 15 fatals out of 118 hunting accidents. In 1962, 17 died in 126 accidents. In 1961 there were 126 accidents with 22 fatalities. The course began in 1960 when 36 persons were killed in 154 accidents. It can readily be seen that the program is bringing improvement and eliminating at least some of the carelessness'f.

The Morrisburg Fish & Game Club sponsored several of these safety classes, and we have had no fatal accidents here. But a short time ago, a couple of young boys who had been walking in the bush, returned home with a booby trap that would scare any experienced hunter. Some brainless dolt had hung up a plastic bag containing about 25 long range 12 guage shotgun shells, and had actually been using it as a target. Some of the shells had been discharged, apparently by being struck on the "cap"; others had holes shot through the powder charge.

This is the kind of conduct that makes an experienced hunter like Vern Bower comment: "this is a difficult goal to reach".

COMBINES FACE PETROS HERE TONIGHT

Cornwall's scrappy Emard Petros will face the Morrisburg Combines tonight at the Community Centre, in what just might be their final appearance here this season.

As this is written (Thursday morning) the Combines hold a 2-1 advantage in games over the Petros in their best of seven quarter-final series, with a game Thursday night at Cornwall. If the Combines can take that one, and they are confident they can, they could then finish off the Petros on Friday at home.

Despite their lowly standing in the league schedule, the Petros seem to have taken on a new lease of life in the playoffs, and they might just upset the Combines' plan to finish the series quickly.

In the quarter-final series opener played here last Thursday, the play started more than an hour late. It seems that league officials, in their big worry about the Combines "inelligible" stars, had failed to appoint referees for the game. After spotting the first goal to the Petros, the locals came on to win the game 4-2, although they did not look as sharp as usual in doing it. Scoring for Morrisburg were Big Doug Casselman, Obie O'Brien, Ed St. Louis and Rowdie Gillard. The Cornwall goals went to Rick Rushford and Russ Harrington. Major penalties were given to Rowdie Gillard of Morrisburg and Shad St. Jeas of Cornwall for fighting.

☼

Second game of the series was played in Cornwall on Sunday afternoon and the Combines, playing without their stars, Mel Tomalty and Weiner Brown, dropped a 6-2 decision to the Petros. Counting for the home team were: Shad St. Jean with three; George Sinfield, Ron Branchaud and Rick Rushford one each. Ed St. Louis and Gord McMillan hit the twine for the Combines. Referee Al Leeder gave out a match misconduct to Petros' Russ Harrington, after the latter upended the official when he took offence at a minor penalty called for hooking.

Tuesday night the Combines took a 2-1 lead in games in this series, when they smothered the Petros 9-4 at the Morrisburg Community Centre. Leading the victorious Combines was Weiner Brown with three goals. Little Doug Casselman and Gord McMillan had two each, while singles went to Big Doug Casselman and Rowdie Gillard. Cornwall scorers were Shad St. Jean with a pair, and Tubby Legault and Bob Bingley with singletons.

Another big crowd is expected for tonight's game. Be there early if you want a good seat.

INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY—

Monday night saw two hard-fought games in the South Dundas Intermediate League. At Cardinal, Morrisburg defeated the homesters 5-4. In the 10 minute overtime period, Barry Milne completed an excellent evening's work by scoring his fourth goal and the deciding one for Morrisburg, with just seven seconds play remaining. Ted Smith counted Morrisburg's other goal. Jack Hoy was the big gun for Cardinal, racking up three goals while Bob McLaughlin got the fourth for his team.

Williamsburg defeated Iroquois 6-2 at Winchester in a good fast game. Neil Moore netted two goals and one assist for Williamsburg; Bill Casselman, Earl Brown, Don Smith and Lloyd Guy had one goal and an assist each, while Paul Beckstead and Gord Kerr had one assist each. Clarence Adams netted both of Iroquois' goals, the first unassisted and the second from Larry See and Bill Elliott.

JUNIOR HOCKEY—

In the final scheduled game of the St. Lawrence Junior League, Morrisburg bested South Mountain 10-3 at Morrisburg Monday night. Five minor penalties were handed out for each team until 19.50 of the final peeriod when feelings erupted with Wayne Smith and Albert Hoeksema earning five minutes for fighting.

Steve Tymczuk shot home three goals and added an assist; John Ross two goals and 3 assists; Jim Notman, 2 goals and an assist and Jack Notman one goal and two assists. Terry McCurdy and Bab Barclay had single goals and single assists, while single assists came from Don Whitteker, Dean McCurdy, Wayne Smith and Steve Casselman

For South Mountain, Allan Waddell netted two goals and Larry Berry one, with assists from Albert Hoeksema and Murray Payne.

Junior playoffs begin on Monday with South Mountain the visitors at the local arena, and Winchester going to Cardinal.

It takes about 40 years for a new apple to grow from seedling stage to acceptance as a variety by the public.

REV. JOHN HIBBS IS GUEST SPEAKER TO KNOX Y. P. GROUP

Rev. John Hibbs of South Mountain was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church Young Peoples' Club held at the home of the President, Mrs. Ted Smith. Choosing as his topic "Sunday Sports", Rev. Hibbs said that "in principle he disapproved", but he felt that "fundamentally it resolved itself into a situation where each person must make his own decision".

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Everett Hawkes and thanked by Mrs. Thomas Fraser.

A brief business session preceded the address. The president opened the meeting with prayer, and closed with benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

DONALD DALEY DIES AT MONTREAL

Relatives at Morrisburg learned with regret of the sudden death of Donald Daley at Montreal. He was in his 50th year.

A high school professor at Montreal, Mr. Daley had spent vacations as a boy at Morrisburg. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Daley. He was prtdeceased by two brothers, Joe and Larry. He leaves his wife and one son, Peter in Montreal.

The body was at the Thomas Kane Funeral Home, with Requiem High Mass at St. Michael's Church Saturday, February 8. Burial was in Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

Morrisburg Court

Because Magistrate H. Bruce Hunter and counsel Carlton F. McInnis had no desire to sample the contents of a sealed partially filled whiskey bottle, charges against Ross Wm. Ferguson of Ingleside were dismissed. At Magistrate's Court here, Ferguson was charged with having liquor in a place other than his residence. Constable Roy Merkley, Morrisburg police force, testified that while on routine patrol near the CNR station, he observed a parked car. Upon investigation he found Ferguson in the car with the partially empty bottle on the floor. Mr. McInnis contended that the crown had failed to produce evidence that the content of the bottle was not cough medicine or cold tea. Magistrate Hunter suggested that the lawyer sample it and find out. When Mr. McInnis countered that it should "His Worship's prerogative", the case was dismissed.

For failing to remain at the scene of an accident, Graham Clayton Pemberton of Winchester was fined $10 and costs or five days in county jail. At seven p.m. on the evening of November 29, 1963, at Morrisburg Shopping Centre, Pemberton, it was alleged, backed into the car owned by Murray Ball of Morrisburg, forcing the vehicle back and causing an estimated $125 damage. Pemberton testified that following the impact he had examined the Ball car and thinking that no damage had occurred, had gone on his way. It was raining heavily at the time and visibility was poor. Hal Wagner, who had witnessed the accident, obtained Pemberton's license plate number. Constable G. E. MacGregor, Morrisburg Detachment, OPP, testified. The case was turned over to Morrisburg police.

For having liquor in a place other than thtir residence, Gordon Emmett Barkley and Lee Robert Barkley were each fined $25 and costs or five days. Cst. Rick Hodgson, OPP, testified that while the dance at Iroquois Town Hall was in progress at 10 p.m. January 4th, he had found Gordon Barkley with a part bottle of ale under a car seat. Lee Barklee had admitted to finding a part bottle of ale and drinking it.

Mrs. Roy Runyons and Glenn Harry Runyons of Brinston appeared charged with theft of articles from a local chain store valued at less than $50. Since they had no previous records, they were remanded for two weeks for pre-sentence reports.

Despite the fact that Lorne Wesley Dennison of Morrisburg testified that it was impossible for him to cross Fifth Street while coming from his home on High St., he was adjudged guilty of failing to stop at the sign at the intersection of St. Lawrence and Fifth Streets. He was fined $10 and costs or three days in jail. He was given three weeks to pay.

Charged by Cst. G. E. MacGregor with travelling on Highway 401 at speeds up to 80 miles an hour, Stanley Starkman of Toronto testified that he had been driving an old car incapable of that speed. He was convicted of driving at 70 in a 60-mile zone and fined $10 and costs. Joseph Landry of Rideau Terrace, paid $10 and costs for travelling at 70 miles per hour on the highway.

EXPLORERS ARE ENTERTAINED AT WILLIAMSBURG

The Explorers of Williamsburg United Church recently entertained the Explorers of Knox Presbyterian Church, Morrisburg. Twenty-five Explorers and Councillors joined hands in a friendship circle while Faye McIntosh, Janet Pitts, Elizabeth Locke and Wendy Locke conducted the worship service. A lively progrom of games and contests was conducted by Bonnie Casselman, Gloria Pinkus, Susan Garlough and Wendy Locke.

Marilyn McIntosh was named Chief Point Collector for the Golden Book for Charity project. The total points to date is 8,000.

Mrs. Robt. Hummel, Mrs. Doug. Barkley, and Mrs. Doug Hough provided and served a bountiful lunch

The Williamsburg group was thanked by Mrs. Keith Kirkwood, Chief Councillor of the guest group The meeting closed with the singing of "Taps".

GEORGE E. BEAVERS IS GUEST SPEAKER FOR LIBERAL LADIES

George E. Beavers, President of Grenville-Dundas Liberal Association was guest speaker at the recent monthly meeting of Grenville-Dundas Liberal Women's organization, held in the kindergarten of Morrisburg Public School.

Mr. Beavers presented film and commentary on ten European countries which he had recently visited. Austria and Spain, countries not members of the Common Market, were of special interest to him. These countries have many tourist attractions and the people are very friendly. Switzerland and Germany were visited and found to be most interesting. "In Finland", the speaker said, "85 percent of the dentists are women".

At the business session, conducted by Mrs. Elsie Graham, president arrangements were discussed for the Liberal Women's Association annual banquet to be held at Morrisburg on March 19th.

AREA NATIVE MARKS 93RD BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Henry Millar, a former resident of Pittston, and now residing in Ottawa, was 93 years old Sunday February 16. Her niece, Mrs. Earl Whan, Ottawa, entertained at a birthday party for her on Sunday afternoon, when about twenty attended including the Whan family, who were nieces, nephews, great nieces and great, great nieces. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Merkley of Smiths Fall, were also present for the occasion.

Pictures were taken at the party. Mrs. Millar appreciated very much the gifts and cards she received from her relatives and friends, and to think that so many had remembered her.

Mrs. Millar is remarkably well physically and finds it hard to believe she is really 93 years old.

MATILDA FAMILY NARROW ESCAPE FROM INFERNO

A Matilda Township family of five owes their lives to the barking of their dog, whose warning gave them time to barely escape from their burning home last Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lewis and three children, of Hanesville, escaped in their night clothes, as their brick home was completely destroyed, leaving nothing but a hollow shell.

The fire started in a shed attached to the house and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, who were sleeping downstairs awoke to the fierce barking of their dog. At that time, the shed was a mass of flames, and minutes later the entire house was engulfed with flames and smoke.

The children were sleeping upstairs and Paulette was the only one able to make her way out by the stairs. The boys, Gary and Berry jumped from an upstairs window. Gary suffered a fractured arm and is still in Brockville General Hospital. So close were the flames, one of the boys was singed as he hung out the upstairs window.

Iroquois Fire Department answered the call. The family lost everything including a tractor in the shed. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

WILLIAMSBURG LCW MET AT ST. PETER'S

"Salvation Belongeth" was the topic for Women of the Church meeting Wednesday night, February 19th in St. Peter's Lutheran Church hall, combined with the weekly Lenten Service.

Mrs. Nina Woods, assisted by Mrs Norma Herriman and Mrs. Margaret Casselman, were in charge, with Mrs. Helen Weegar at the piano. After the Service, Invocation and Prayer, the Benediction was pronounced by Pastor Blackwell.

The business meeting was called to order by vice pres. Mrs. Conrad McIntosh taking charge. The roll call was answered by the word 'Salvation' in a Scripture verse. Many useful articles were donated for Lutheran World Relief layettes. It was announced that used warm clothing for all ages is also needed for the same project. The Parsonage Committee was given permission to remodel one bedroom at the Parsonage.

A letter was read by secretary Mrs. Walter Whitteker from Mrs. Holcomb, one of the Lutheran missionaries from the Leper Colony, Iambi Leprosarium.

A committee was appointed to try and shop for a suitable coat-bar to erect at the rear of the church auditorium.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Mrs. C. M. Crockett Dies at Rochester

There paassed away on February 16, 1964 at Highland Hospital, in Rochester, N.Y., Gladys Larmour Crockett of Pittsford, N.Y. Mrs. Crockett had been in a coma for three weeks.

Born at Cardinal on January 6th, 1920, she attended the Flagg school and Morrisburg High School. After graduating there she entered the School of Nursing at Montreal General Hospital. Upon her graduation as a Registered Nurse, she went to Rochester, N.Y. to follow her profession at Strong Memorial Hospital.

In 1943, she married Colin M. Crockett of Rochester, who survives with one son, Bruce, and a daughter, Barbara. Other survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Larmour and a brother, Wilfred Larmour of Morrisburg; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Illick of Drummondville, Que.

Friends from a distance attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Upper, Mentor, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. R. Schilling, Aurora, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. E. Crockett, Stratford Conn.; Dr. and Mrs. E. Baker, Manlius, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Baker and Mrs. Ewart Fletcher, Cardinal, Ont.; Mr. Charles Illick, Drummondville, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Larmour and Mrs. Grant Becksted of Morrisburg.

Report on Canada's Parliament . .

Canada's Parliament opened its 1964 session with Governor General Vanier reading the Speech from the Throne.

As expected, this Speech produced nothing new. Indeed it was planned to be as non-controversial as possible.

Canada's present Prime Minister was, is, and always will be a diplomat, probably the best known and best liked Canada has yet produced He was not, is not, and never will be a gauntlet down fighting politician. He has made efforts in this direction, but they were spasmodic, seem out of character and therefore not too effective. He has, however, tough, experienced politicions around him, most notably in Hon. Jack Pickersgill, Hon. Paul Martin, Hon. Guy Favreau and Hon. Allan MacEachern. The latter two are young in the political world, but are naturals to it and fall into the pattern of the older Liberal political leaders with ease. Both have obvious ability and the fact that they appeared on the first day of this new session looking somewhat weary, testifies to the fact that they had no time for skiing or Southern Beaches during the Christmas recess, and that they have been carrying their full share of work and responsibility in the Government and in the Liberal party.

—By Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P.—

The mood of the country generally seems to be against another election in the very near future. This suits the Government which naturally wishes to stay in power and get through legislation which will be helpful to the Liberal Party.

Proposed legislation likely to raise the most interest across the country is the Canada Pension Plan and the Interest Free Loans to Students. The latter is a step of which I personally approve most strongly and which I have always advocated. Most of our unemployment problems have been based on the fact that we were not farsighted enough in training and retraining Canadians of all ages in this scientific space age we find ourselves in.

Education is expensive, has always been expensive. Many Canadions in the past have received their educations through dint of much scrimping, saving and sacrifice on the part of their families. The percentage willing to do this was always small and not likely to increase now as our standard of living rises with more entertainment, more transportation, more leisure.

Since education is no longer a luxury but a serious necessity, it follows then that it must be made automatic and that abilities mechanical, artistic, scholastic must be polished to their most productive. We do not of course yet know the wording of this Bill and there may be points of criticism or room for improvement, but on principle I like the idea of all young people being able to apply for educational financing. I like the idea that they should realize that it is a costly assistance they are receiving and therefore must pay back. That 'pay back' should be without interest seems a fair compromise with those who will put forth the not inconsiderable effort to improve themselves.

The other outstanding piece of legislation, the Canada Pnsion Plan is also timely but by no means perfected. We have seen in the last Provincial Election that people generally approved Ontario Premier Robarts' approach. This is too big and too costly to enter into until the mechanics and the results are clearer.

Hospital insurance, however desirable, has almost tripled the Federal Budget in the Department of Health and Welfare. This is a fact we know. It is only a sign of ordinary intelligence to learn from experience. This experience and results in other countries prove that unless careful safeguards are included any Government Pension or Assistance Plan will gather speed in financial demands. We are now taxed to the limit. It is no longer theoretical to say that increased taxes will cripple our economy, our productiveness, our expansion and ambition. The United States, the most successful nation in industrial development the world has ever seen, has recognized this fact to the extent of taking actual steps to cut back. Let us then individually as citizens approach Government expenditures in a common sense way. In the long term we can not enjoy Government pensions and subsidies and buildings unless there is money to pay for them, any more than we can enjoy a meal unless there is food on the table. This fact is coming to the fore in most thinking minds. There will be a different attitude displayed by politicians when this is realized because like it or not, rightly or wrongly, there are not too many politicians who will propound ideas that have not some hope of being popular. We have gone through a period of tending twards socialism which was easy to sell. Without looking too deeply into the mechanics of government it sounds most attractive for the Government to take the responsibility and pay the costs. A closer look reveals the unavoidable fact that the Government can only get its money to spend from individuals and since they are going to pay anyaw, it is much better for individuals Canadians, like you and me, to keep as much individual control as passible.

Curling Cues

By MATT BALDWIN

CUT A FEW CORNERS

A rookie in the ranks of skips soon finds out that his responsibilities are considerably more extensive than making the big shot he has to.

For instance ,this from the mailbag today:

"I am a novice skip, and I seem to have a great problem in reading ice. Could you give me a few pointers to help me?"

Experience, here as always, is a great teacher. The more you curl, the more capably you will read ice and interpret its reactions.

But you can cut a few corners, without waiting for all that experience.

In a previous article, I have stressed the advisability of believing what you see. By this I mean, when you actually see a rock behaving in a certain manner, you must bring yourself to believe that the stone will do the same thing again if thrown by the same person.

As a for-instance, some crooked sheets of ice are so bad that the stone will fall back against the turn, and many's the time I have seen a young skip consistently give ice for no other reason that he believed the rock would pull because it seemed the normal thing to do.

A lot of times it isn't the ice that needs reading; it is the way the curlers delivers the rock. This will make the ice seem to do crazy things sometimes. So be prepared to change ice for different players.

Often, it's a good idea to forget that there is any such thing as normal. If a stone falls back, curls excessively, or zig-zags . . . accept it.

Each sheet is an individual unto itself, and changes from day to day, and must be interpreted anew before each game. It represents a constant challenge.

Remember, too, that the faster a rock rotates, the less it will curl. A spinner will invariably run very straight. A slowly-turning stone will achieve the maximum curl under a general set of conditions.

So be quick to observe how much spin players of your team and also of your opposition put on their stones.

A good thing to bear in mind is that when an extreme occurs on one turn, the other turn will behave in the other extreme.

It's usually safe to assume that if the ice falls with the in-turn, your stone will curl considerably on the out. The quicker you can turn this to your advantage, the better your chances outmanoeuvring your opponent.

How many games have been won by shrewd skips placing rocks in strategic positions! Such as on a hill. Your opposition is apt to waste several stones wising up to the situation.

Most important, don't ever stop learning. Never take anything for granted.

And if your are drawn on a crooked sheet of ice, don't throw up your hands in despair, thinking it's no test for real curling. Instead, exploit every trick in the ice and you will find this kind of skipping can work wonders.

NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Queen Victoria's birthday has been celebrated as a Canadian holiday since 1845.

TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE

1. What do puffins, guillemots and auks have in common?
2. In which city would you find the Colosseum?
3. If you were given a balalaika, would you eat it, take for a walk, or play it?
4. For what was Charles Darwin (1809 — 1882) famous?
5. What is the name of the great island of the Republic of Indonesia separated from the Malay Peninsula by the Malacca Strait?

AND HERE ARE THE ANSWERS

1. They are all sea birds.
2. In Rome, Italy. The famous amphitheatre is one of the best-known monuments of ancient Rome, built about 1,900 years ago.
3. You would play it — a balalaika is a Russian musical instrument like a guitar, but triangular in shape.
4. He was an English natural scientist who believed that man is descended from the lower animals. His ideas were included in two famous books, "The Origin of Species" (1859) and "The Descent of Man" (1871).
5. Sumatra.

AREA COUPLE MARK DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Denver McGinn celebrated their Diamond Wedding Anniversary on Saturday, February 15th. They attended a Mass of Thanksgiving offered by Rev. T. F. Scanlan, parish priest of St. Anne's Church, Dixon's Corners. The couple's grandchildren, Danny and Michael McGinn served the Mass and Joan sang "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name", accompanied by Nancy at the organ.

An "Open House" was held during the afternoon, when about a hundred friends and neighbours called to wish the couple well. Tea was poured by Mrs. Lawrence McIvor of Cardinal, and Mrs. John Dixon, Iroquois.

At six o'clock, dinner was served to the honoured couple, Father Scanlan and 30 relatives by four of their granddaughters, assisted by Misses Kay and Patsy McGinn. Seven of their nine children were present: Mrs. Sarah Sanaghan and Mrs. Leonore Sanaghan, Chicago, Illinois; Charles, Montreal; John, Toronto; Thomas, James and Catharine, Iroquois.

A telegram was received from Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II; a telegram and scroll from Premier John Robarts and the Ontario Government; letters from the Prime Minister, Hon. L. B. Pearson; Attorney General Fred Cass; Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P.; congratulations from Archbishop O'Sullivan, of Kingston, as well as a picture of Pope Paul VI. Telephone messages came from Mr. and Mrs. Dan McGinn of Beach Corner, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGinn, Vancouver, B.C.; and Mr. William Sanaghan, Chicago, Ill.

A crucifix was received from the Catholic Women's League, Dixon's Corners; a community gift and presents, flowers and cords from friends and neighbours.

Mr. and Mrs. McGinn were very pleased to be so kindly remembered

NEW DEAL FOR COMM. VEHICLE

A greater measure of convenience for operators of trailers and commercial vehicles was announced by Ontario Transport Minister Irwin Haskett. For owners whose needs are seasonal and who purchase quarterly licence plates, the changes in the regulations under the Highway Traffic Act now enable them to obtain plates valid for specific 3, 6 or 9 month periods at one time.

In the past, it was necessary to obtain permits and plates for each quarterly separately, as they went on sale.

The quarterly periods begin on the first of April, July, October and January. An operator applying at the commencement of any of these quarters may purchase plates valid for a 3, 6 or 9 month period as required and applicable.

Quarterly licencing has proved its value, Mr. Haskett said. There are nearly 500,000 commercial vehicles and trailers in the province and as many as 60,000 or more than 10 per cent have used the quarterly system in the past year.

Colours distinguish the several quarterly plates. Annual plates, as with passenger vehicles, are the now familiar black numbers on a white background. The first quarter plate has white numbers on a red background, the second quarter, white on a green background, and the third quarter, black on a yellow background.

Truck, bus and trailer plates for 1963 expire on March 31 and there will be no extension. New plates for commercial vehicles and trailers for the full year go on sale Mar. 2 and for the first quarter, first half year and first 9 months on March 25.

"Got the order, got a bank loan – we're all set"

When a businessman wins an order or contract, he knows he can turn to his local bank for financial assistance. A loan may be needed for one or more reasons—to lay in a supply of raw materials, to buy new equipment, to meet a payroll, or to cover other costs until the firm receives payment for its products or services.

With bank credit, companies large and small can take on projects they couldn't handle if they had to depend on their own financial resources. Moreover, the chartered banks have steadily widened the scope of their commercial lending to serve new or expanded short-term needs. Every day, local bank managers are lending to producers, manufacturers, farmers, retailers and others, to help them develop opportunities, meet competition, keep men and machines busy.

Commercial loans are one of many essential services your local bank provides, to the benefit of everyone in the community.

REPORT FROM THE ONT. LEGISLATURE

—By Hon F. M. Cass—

The undoubted highlight of the past week at Queen's Park was the return visit on Friday of Prime Minister and Madame Lesage of Quebec with several Cabinet colleagues and their ladies. Last summer a similar visit was made to Quebec City by Ontario's Prime Minister Robarts and some of his Cabinet colleagues. Prime Minister Lesage addressed the Ontario Legislature during its Friday sitting, which was extended in order that the distinguished visitors might be received. A reception by Lieutenant Governor Rowe and a dinner tendered by Mr. Speaker Morrow on Friday, with an Ontario Government dinner on Saturday provided hospitality on this occasion for fellow Canadians and legislators from our sister Province of Quebec. Your Member and Mrs. Cass had the pleasure of being hosts to Madame Claire Kirkland-Cosgrain, Quebec Minister of State and M. Philippe Casgrain.

The debate on the Throne Speech finally was concluded during the past week following a rousing and well balanced rebuttal by Prime Minister Robarts of Opposition points, and a strong statement of government policy. The Opposition financial critics started the week with their budget depate speeches and both Liberal and ND Party spokesmen were hard pressed to find any rational basis for criticism —the necessity of additional funds for government is universally recognized and Provincial Treasurer Allan's 1964 budget appeared to provide reasonable means of providing these necessary funds.

The estimates of the Department of Labour were completed and those of the Department of Health commenced. In between, your Mem ber as Minister of Insurance, had not too difficult a time piloting through the House the estimates of his other Department. As I have previously mentioned in these reports, the present Legislature has a very excellent group of new Mem bers and in all these departmental estimates debates they were heard from regularly with many new and sound observations and suggestions.

During the past week the new paper engendered debate on the Canada Pension Plan continued. Prime Minister Robarts again plain ly stated that he and the Ontario Government did not oppose the Federal Government's plan, but that as yet, it had neither been introduced into the House of Commons nor disclosed to the public or Provincial authorities. And further that he intended to ensure that the people of Ontario received the best possible benefits from the plan, both as contributors to, and recipients of the Fund and in development of the Province's economy through a fair and proper use of the Fund's capital.

This sixth week of the session brought with it the regular Tuesday and Thursday evening sessions of the House with the whole of Wednesday being left free for Com mittee work. It would seem that perhaps the Legislature will be able to finish its work this year by the Easter vacation.

BRINSTON

The World Day of Prayer Service was held in the Brinston United Church Friday afternoon at two o'clock. The service was in charge of the Hanesville group, Mrs. Robbie Hanes presiding. Assisting her were Mrs. Walter Johnston, Dixons Anglican; Mrs. Keith Flag, Hulbert; Mrs. Carl Bell, Brinston; Mrs. Wilbert Safford, Presbyterian. Mrs. Mae Strader rendered a solo. Offering was received by Mrs. Percy Gilmer and Mrs. John Bell.

A euchre party was held in the IOOF Hall on Wednesday evening with a good attendance. Winners were: Ladies' high, Miss Pat Henophy; Ladies' consolation, Mrs. Donald Wells; Gents' high, Mr. Harold Lews; gents' consolation, Mr. John Wells; Door prize, Mr. David Corker.

Mr. Ralph Brinston and daughter, Mrs. John Francis, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Brinston of Toronto.

Mrs. Chas. Coons is spending two weeks at Whitby with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coons while their parents are holidaying in Florida.

Mr. Robert Stephenson, Terry and Michael were Sunday supper guests of Mr. Fred Dafoe of Ingleside.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roberts and family who have taken up residence in Brinston.

Mr. James Gilmer has returned after three weeks spent in Florida with his son, Mr. Harry Gilmer and Mrs. Gilmer of Iroquois.

WILLIAMSBURG

Many friends and relatives will be sorry to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Weldon Barkley of Cornwall. Mr. Barkley was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Barkley of Oshawa, formerly of Williamsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Becker of Edmonton, Alta., returned home after visiting his sister, Mrs. Claude Casselman.

Mr. Grant M. Casselman is a patient in the Winchester Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Donald Strader spent a few days in Toronto, with Mr. and Mrs. Ward Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Becker of Edmonton, Alta., Mrs. Claude Casselman and Mr. Weldon Beckstead spent several days in Syracuse visiting relataives.

GLEN BECKER

Miss Carolyn Ball of Nation Valley spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Casselman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholson and Lois of Ottawa spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Berkley and Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy and family of Brockville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Saddlemire.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Saddlemire spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Casselman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare McHaffie and family of Prescott called at Lloyd McHaffie's on Sunday evening.

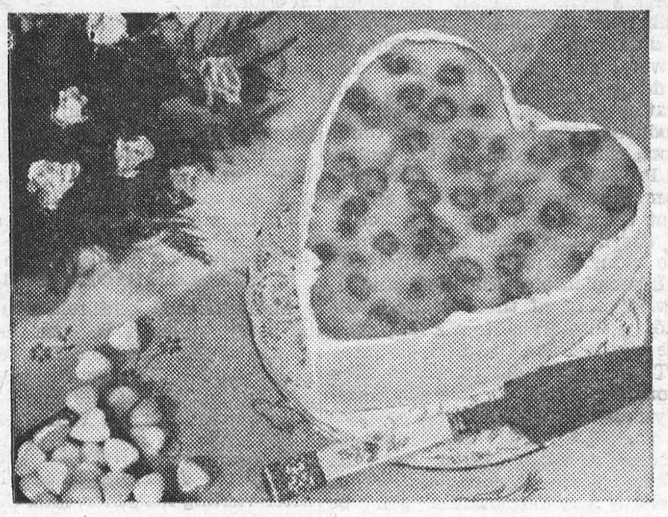
A SWEET HEART



Yield—One large dessert cake

½ cup drained maraschino cherries
2 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour
OR 2⅓ cups once-sifted pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup butter or margarine
1 cup fine granulated sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 tablespoon corn starch
¼ cup syrup drained from maraschino cherries
2 tablespoons water
Few drops red food coloring
½ pint (1¼ cups) whipping cream

Grease two 9-inch heart-shaped layer-cake pans (or two 8-inch round layer-cake pans), and line bottoms with greased waxed paper. Thinly slice the maraschino cherries and arrange them in the prepared pans. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. (moderately hot).

Sift together the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter or margarine; gradually blend in the one cup sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating in well after each addition. Combine milk and vanilla. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk, combining lightly after each addition. Carefully spoon batter over sliced cherries in prepared cake pans and spread evenly. Bake in preheated oven 25 to 30 minutes. Stand cakes in their pans on wire racks for 10 minutes, then turn out onto racks carefully peel off paper (replace any cherries which may have stuck to the paper). Allow cakes to cool completely, cherry side up.

Combine the two tablespoons sugar, corn starch, maraschino cherry syrup and water in a small saucepan. Stir over low heat until the mixture comes to the boil and is clear. Tint with a little red food coloring. Cool slightly. Spread the glaze over the cherries on one of the cakes. Close to serving time, whip the cream until stiff. Place unglazed cake on a serving plate and spread with about ⅓ of the whipped cream. Top with glazed cake, then frost sides with the remaining whipped cream.

APPLE PIES

There are many ways to make apple pie. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture have tested several recipes for different one-crust apple pies. Here are three of their favorites.

Dutch apple pie

Pastry for 9-inch pie shell

3 tablespoons melted butter
5 cups sliced apples and
¼ teaspoon cinnamon OR
1 can (28 ounce) solid pack apples and ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

TOPPING

½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup butter

Line pie plate with pastry. Pour melted butter over apples and stir to coat slices. Mix sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon. Sprinkle two tablespoons of this mixture over bottom of pie shell and stir remainder into apples. Turn into pie shell.

To make topping mix flour, brown sugar and cinnamon. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse bread crumbs and sprinkle over apples. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking until apples are tender, about 35 minutes. Makes six servings.

Spicy apple chiffon pie

Pastry for 9-inch pie shell, baked

1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg OR cloves
2 egg yolks
¾ cup milk
1½ cups sweetened apple sauce
Few drops red food coloring
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Mix the two tablespoons sugar, salt and spices in top of double-boiler. Stir in combined egg yolks and milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until custard coats a metal spoon. Add soaked gelatine and stir until disolved. Stir in apple sauce and a few drops of red food coloring. Chill until mixture is almost set. Make a meringue of egg whites and remaining sugar. Fold into apple mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Decorate with whipped cream, if desired. Makes six servings.

The cabinet of Jordan has banned the showing of the film, Lawrence of Arabia, in that country. The ban was recommended by the Amman regional office for the boycott of Israel. Some of the scenes of the film were shot in Jordan and Morocco and an Arab actor appeared in the film. The film was banned because Arabs were presented in a comic way and favorable Arab attitudes in modern Arab history were converted into ridiculous attitudes, a spokesman said.

HOW COFFEE SET THE WHOLE WORLD TALKING

By FRANCES TONER

Coffee-drinking is an ancient social custom in many countries today, but no-one seems to know the true origin of the habit. Much legend surrounds the first brewing of this pleasant beverage.

Although the coffee plant grows wild in Africa, it is said that coffee was first drank in Kaffa, in Ethiopia.

However, the earliest cultivation of the plant has been traced to Southern Arabia.

DISCOVERY

There, a charming story is told of an Arabian goat-herd called Kaldi who, while in the hills one day, noticed his animals behaving strangely. They seemed to him to be dancing.

In curiosity, he tasted some of the berries his goats had been nibbling.

Kaldi was so delighted that he ran to the town to proclaim his discovery. Soon, everyone was chewing the berries.

Whether this is true or not, it seems possible that the coffee plant was taken to Arabia from Ethiopia in the 14th century.

The word itself may be derived from the Arabic "quhwah", meaning "strength", since the Arabs found coffee a useful aid for keeping awake during the long Muslim religious devotions.

Devout Muslim dervishes spread the coffee habit throughout the Mohammedan world, and not long after it was firmly established in the whole area.

It seems probable, too, that coffee was not taken as a drink until about this time, the berries having previously been chewed.

Europeans did not take to coffee at all until the late 16th century, when the first coffee houses were opened in Constantinople (now Istanbul) and Venice, but from then on more and more people took a liking to the beverage.

MERCHANT

Coffee did not reach Britain until around 1650, when a merchant named Daniel Edwards brought some back with him from Turkey. The first coffee house in England was opened in Oxford the same year by a man called Jacobs.

In 1652 Edwards set up his Greek servant. Pasqua Rosee, as a coffee brewer in Cornhill, at the "Pasqua's Head", which became the first of the famous London coffee houses.

POPULARITY

Even before the "Pasqua's Head" opened the sipping of coffee at Mr. Edwards' house had become so fashionable that such an establishment could not fail. This and the later coffee houses, such as Garraway's, The Jamaica and Lloyd's, rapidly became cultural centres in London. Celebrated philosophers, writers and artists of the time met there to discuss the latest topics over their coffee cups.

This practice became so widespread that King Charles II began to fear that plots against the Crown were being hatched there.

He tried to close down the coffee houses, but as social institutions they were already too well-established and his attempt failed.

From England, the immense popularity of the coffee house was soon spreading all over Europe.

For a long time coffee came solely from the Yemen, but in the 17th and 18th centuries the Dutch, who were a great seafaring nation, introduced coffee-growing into South America, Ceylon and Java, and dominated the coffee-producing areas for many years.

Today Brazil produces more than half the world's coffee.

It is interesting to note that although the British were once big coffee drinkers, they eventually became a tea-drinking nation.

On the other hand, the Americans started as tea-drinkers and changed to their coffee habit after England had imposed on them the unpopular Tea Tax which was one of the immediate causes of the War of Independence.

OPEN QUOTA FOR FLAX

The Canadian wheat board has lifted delivery restrictions on flaxseed from farms to country elevators.

Farmers had been restricted to delivery of eight bushels for each acre seeded to flax since December 9.

Before that the quota was five bushels for each seeded acre under a policy imposed at the start of the crop year, Aug 1.

A board spokesman said an open quota for flax is not unusual. There were no delivery restrictions on the commodity for the whole of the last crop year.

The open quota means the farmer can deliver as much flaxseed as he wants to as long as the elevator space is available.

Brew legal in Yukon

DIG OUT THE OLD RECIPE

By JUNE FRANKLIN

Dig out that recipe for wild raspberry wine, the kind Grandma ued to make that made Grandpa keel over.

At long last, it's legal to produce it in the Yukon . . . officially.

And thereby hangs a tale.

Making wine, said Mr. Justice John Parker in magistrate's court recently, "is not a criminal offence, but a breach of a licensing ordinance.

He imposed a $10 fine on John Kovacs, who was making his second appearance on a charge of possessing liquor not purchased in a liquor store and suggested that Mr. Kovacs get in touch with Customs and Exise to obtain a permit for wine-making.

What followed out of court had an almost Gilbert and Sullivan flavor of confused officialdom.

A Customs and Excise spokesman said emphatically that it is illegal to make wine in the Yukon. There was no such thing as a permit to do so.

Clearly this was a critical situation.

Meetings with territorial and federal government officials were held later the same morning, in an effort to solve the problem.

The Department of Justice was consulted for the legal definition of "brew."

You could brew beer if you had a permit. You couldn't brew beer if you did not have a permit. You couldn't make wine, period.

Faces were grave as the crisis mounted.

Then Commissioner G. R. Cameron took the helm and put in a telephone call to Ottawa to the Chief of the Territorial Division for further clarification.

A further call to Al Vars, Superintendent of Liquor Control in the Yukon, resulted in the release before nightfall of a public notice. At last, the authorized word had come through.

You can obtain a "home brew" permit (for beer) and then go ahead and make potato champagne, as long as you don't sell it or take it out of your house. Applications for permits should be made to the Customs Office or to government liquor stores.

This is small consolation for Mr. Kovacs, whose 16 gallons of basement-made wine are now forfeit to the Crown. The police are bound by the existing law to keep it (it's in gallon jugs) for 30 days. By that time, it should have matured nicely.

And nobody will say what's going to happen to it.

Our father Image is being forgotten

The Glengarry News, Alexandria, Ont.

Saturday, January 11, will be the 149th birthday of Sir John A. MacDonald and we would not have been aware of the fact had not one Alexander Malcolmson, of Toronto, given us a reminder in the form of a brochure on "The Great Canadian", written by Gordon Sinclair. In an accompanying letter Mr. Malcolmson indicts the newspapers of Canada with some of the responsibility for the fact that to most of our young people today, Sir John A. Macdonald is almost the "Unknown Canadian".

For our part we must plead guilty and by way of making amends we endorse a suggestion of the writer that in 1965, the 150th anniversary of the chief architect of our Confederation should be given due recognition. He urges that "appropriate steps be taken now, at the three levels of government, to make it an event worthy of the Great Canadian and a fitting prelude to the centennial of our country".

At a time when our Confederation is being subjected to new strains and when the shrill voices of bigotry and prejudice are once again being heard in both English and French Canada, Mr. Malcolmson continues, Macdonald's words, spoken in 1861, have a striking relevance for Canadians in 1964:

"Preserve the Union and we become a great nation. If I had any influence over the minds of the people of Canada, any power over their intellect, I would leave them this legacy: Whatever you do, adhere to the Union; we are a great country and shall become one of the greatest if we preserve it; we shall sink into significance and adversity if we suffer it to be broken."

In the accompanying brochure, Gordon Sinclair reminds us that Macdonald not only became the first Prime Minister of Canada in 1876. Until his death in 1891 there were only five years when he was not Prime Minister. Sir John A. was not only the father of his country, writes Mr. Sinclair, "but without Macdonald — and those who stood with him — there would be no Canada stretching from coast to coast today. There would be no national economy."

As Mr. Sinclair reminds, Macdonald's government completed the CPR amid the greatest of hardships and thus helped to bind the nation-to-be into a coast to coast pattern. We quote from his brochure:

"Macdonald had to put down rebellion and meet the constant cry of secession from the Maritimes. He had to feel his way toward a national policy with no pattern to guide him and few friends to help him.

"No man in all Canadian political life ever stood up to such intense criticism as did Sir John.

"In fact there was a time in 1887 when every newspaper in Canada, except the Montreal Gazette, was denouncing Macdonald because of his national views and national vision of a national Canada.

"You can't separate the word Macdonald from the word national.

"He refused to compromise and refused to surrender his idea and his aim of a Canada that stretched from sea to sea. Such was his intensely determined Canadianism.

"Historians agree, as do those Canadians who think about it, that without Macdonald the vision of Confederation would have dissolved, we would have separated into geographical fragments, and much of what is now Canada would long ago have been taken over by the United States."

We agree with Mr. Malcolmson that Macdonald's massive achievements for the land he so dearly loved might be better known if more meaningful Canadian history was taught in our schools. There might be less of dissension, a warmer spirit of unity among the Canadian people, if the story of Confederation was given greater emphasis in school text books.

And what more acceptable Father Image could Canadians find than Sir John A. who consistently advocated the bonne entente, the building of a nation based on two languages, two cultures.

We are indebted to Mr. Malcolmson for this reminder that Canada's greatest statesman has been too long forgotten.

Call back yesterday

"Industry" magazine

The following editorial first appeared 10 years ago, in the February, 1954, issue of "Industry", under the title "One Condition":

Here's a story about an unusual old fellow. At middle age he was a taxi-driver. When he retired from work he was a millionaire several, if not many, times over. He didn't invent any better mousetrap — he hadn't that kind of mind. He didn't strike oil — he didn't live in that kind of country. He was just a tough nut who started a business and kept plugging at it and putting every penny he could lay his hands on back into its development.

When his firm became big enough, he started an apprenticeship scheme. In his trade at that time, apprentices attended evening classes on three nights a week and the apprenticeship lasted five years. Then came a time when a duplicate set of classes was started, matching the three evenings with one complete day. The alternative was at the discretion of the employers. This particular employer was quite ready to allow his apprentices the day each week from work. But he had one condition, namely, that every apprentice must still take an evening class and, if he didn't do so, permission for the day classes was refused.

For his evening class, the lad could take any subject he liked on the school cirriculum. But he had to take something. "I'm not going to do everything for them," the employer said, "they've got to show me they want to learn."

The first apprentices were bewildered. Their courses were covered by the day classes and anything more seemed a waste of time. The personnel manager, however, suggested they might take English, cost accountancy, industrial history or economics, and the apprentices caught on. They even seemed to prefer these classes — possibly because there was no examination at the end of them.

The effect was neither rapidly apparent nor world-shattering. But it did come and it it was beneficial. In five years the boys acquired quite a range of general knowledge.

They looked ahead. Realizing they would need a particular subject to warrant promotion to foreman, they would repeat if necessary a course they had previously taken, but this time more seriously and, by reason of experience, more intelligently. New apprentices sometimes found themselves sitting side by side with the craftsmen. Then, as promotion came, it was even possible to find foremen, craftsmen and apprentices all attending the same class. The effect of such example is easy to imagine.

How many industrial problems could such a state of affairs throughout a country relieve? It was certainly amazing what it produced in a company where the employer was a funny old codger with a "bee in his bonnet" about giving away free time.

Very worthy project

The Regina Leader-Post

The 10 rural municipal councils in the Regina area, which have each donated $100 to a fund to finance expanded operations by the province's 4-H clubs are to be commended.

These donations get off to a good start the second phase of a drive to raise $500,000 over a three-year period. Objective for 1964 is $150,000.

It is to be hoped that the other municipalities, groups, organizations and individuals will respond in the same manner, for the 4-H movement has proven worthy of support.

In the first phase of the drive club members themselves raised $30,000, through calf raffles, sign painting projects and dances.

The additional funds would provide more leadership training, an expanded youth exchange program, a scholarship plan for leaders and club members, and a 4-H summer camp on the banks of the South Saskatchewan reservoir.

Undoubtedly these objectives are warranted by the increased membership of the organization. It now stands at 11,085, up from 9,580 in 1962. The number of adult group leaders has increased 400 percent since 1948.

There is no doubt that thousands of boys and girls have become better citizens and better farmers as a result of the valuable instruction received, the working together, and the spirit of keen, but friendly competition engendered by club activities.

It is in the provincial interest that this program be maintained and expanded.
