Chesterville gets $145,860 grant

(Staff) - Chesterville Village received preliminary approval for grants from both the federal and provincial governments for expansion of the village lagoon. At last Tuesday's meeting council tentatively hired the firm of J.L. Richards and Associates to complete the engineering segment of the lagoon project.

Council was told that the federal government would grant $38,250 through the Community Service Contribution program, and the provincial government would grant $117,610 through the Ministry of Environment.

The remaining $63,640 of the $219,500 total cost would have to come from the village.

A study of the lagoon project was made by the engineering firm in 1978 and up-dated in July 1980. Cost of the study was $10,000 and it was paid for by the provincial government.

At the time of the up-dating report village Clerk-treasurer Gary Thompson made an application to the provincial government for the grant monies.

Development in the village stopped in 1977 when the ministry stated that the present lagoon was technically overloaded.

Built in 1969 the lagoon was supposed to handle a per capita daily flow of 107 gallons.

Although the lagoon can handle the demands now placed on it, the ministry had warned that if all building lots in the village, which have been approved were to be developed, the sewage treatment facility would be overtaxed.

The development halt has also hurt the village's ability to attract new commercial and industrial development, a fact which was made much of during the 1978 municipal election campaign.

Fraser Cross out of election

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - All but one of the members of Osnabruck Township council plan to seek re-election in the coming November 10 municipal election. Councillor Fraser Cross said he won't be running because he wants to spend more time with his family.

Mr. Cross noted that his job makes it difficult for him to attend all necessary township meetings held during the day. Attendance at those meetings is necessary to do the best job for the township he said.

Osnabruck reeve Stewart Hart plans to campaign for re-election, he said, earlier this week. He will be running on his record.

This year's election will be based on a continuation of ongoing projects and issues, he continued, the main one being the Ingleside sewer system.

All the ground work has been done at the township level and only the results of the OMB hearing are needed to proceed with the calling of tenders.

Next term, as well, said Mr. Hart, he hopes Newington will get sidewalks. This will come from the county level, he explained.

Mr. Hart is running for his second term as reeve. Previously he had four years as a councillor and two as deputy-reeve.

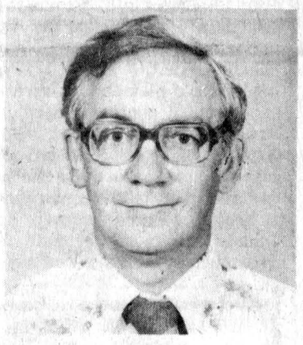
Deputy reeve, Garnet Ezard expects to run also. He too thinks next term will be a continuation of the last two years work. He said he would like to see this year's programs finished up rather than anticipating new projects.

George Hehir, running for a third term in office, sees water and sewage in Ingleside as an issue in the coming election. It will continue into the next council, he said. Mr. Hehir is a farmer at Newington.

Frances Bird, running for a second term, hopes "That I can represent the people in the township however they want". She said she is not running on a single platform as there are too many things to be done in the township.

Mrs. Bird has resided in Ingleside for nearly three years with her husband and two children.

Sarsfield O'Connor announces trustee candidacy



(Staff) - Chesterville resident, Sarsfield O'Connor announced last week he will be a candidate in the November 10 school elections. Mr. O'Connor will be contesting the new seat created for Separate School Supporters of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education. The new seat is on the secondary panel of the school baord.

The area to be represented consists of western Stormont and Dundas Counties.

Mr. O'Connor is no stranger to the position of school trustee. For a two year period in the mid-sixties he sat on the former North Dundas District High School Board, and for a four-year period in the more recent seventies he was a member of the Stormont. Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board.

Mr. O'Connor says he welcomes the opportunity provided to add new blood to the SD&G Board of Education. He claims the current total budget of $40.8 million is a hefty figure, and every effort should be made to keep parents and ratepayers better informed.

Mr. O'Connor also says he is dedicated to a good progressive and practical education at reasonable cost for our teenagers, the citizens of tomorrow - an education which respects the inheritance of our beliefs, with its moral code, and respect for Christian values.

After graduating from the National University of Ireland, Mr. O'Connor, came to Canada in 1956. He was employed for some years as Chief Chemist with Nestle's in Chesterville, and since 1967 has been Regional Marketing Officer in Eastern Ontario For the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

Conference awarded $12,000

OTTAWA (Staff) - With the announcement last Wednesday of the awarding of a $12,000 grant the First National Conference for Farm Women is on its way to becoming a reality.

The Hon. Ed Lumley, member of parliament for Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry and secretary of state for Trade made the announcement on behalf of the Hon. Francis Fox, Secretary of State.

The grant, which was applied through the Dundas County-based organization, Women For the Survival of Agriculture, is the major source of funding for the conference scheduled for early December.

Conference Chairperson, Dianne Harkin, told The Record from her Winchester home, that without the government funding the conference would have been cancelled.

Mrs. Harkin says, the $12,000 grant will be used for the travel and expenses for the first four conference delegates from each province. "Our goal is to have 10 delegates from each province."

The National Conference for Farm Women will serve as the first opportunity for farm women from across Canada to meet and air their concerns on their dual role as women and farmers.

Mrs. Harkin says the enthusiasm for the conference is building up and there is a very positive thrust about it.

The conference's agenda calls for the opening address to be delivered by the Hon. Eugene Whelan, Minister of Agriculture, which will be followed by various workshops and panel discussions dealing with such topics and as the role of women in farm organizations, salaries and benefits for farm women, and how to influence decision-making.

Preliminary work on the conference has been underway for the past year. During this past summer, 14 students were responsible for researching and preparing the necessary information for the conference participants. The results of their research into the status, media image, legal rights, financial rights, and role in government of farm women will also be discussed in the workshops. The summer program cost $35,844 and was made possible through the Summer Youth Employment Program and the Secretary of

The arcade, located on King Street in the former JanMart building, will be operated by Betty Thompson, wife of Chesterville electrician Erik Thompson, who recently withdrew plans to construct a go-kart track near the village.

The arcade will also feature a snack-bar, said Mrs. Thompson.

Although the hours of operation haven't been settled they are tentatively set at 2pm to 10pm, Monday to Friday, and 10am to 10pm on Saturday.

CORNWALL (Special) - The Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry school board reform team is pleased to endorse trustees Fraser Campbell and Lloyd Markell for re-election for the county board of education based on their past record. Mr. Markell lives in the Osnabruck-Finch riding.

The reform team is also pleased to endorse Maurice Lemieux and Art Buckland for election to the county board.

Mr. Lemieux has declared for the Alexandria-Kenyon-Maxville-Roxborough seat on the board's high school panel.

Mr. Buckland is contesting the Charlottenburg-Cornwall Township seat on the board's elementary panel.

The reform team emphasizes that all endorsed candidates remain independent and responsible to all of their electors.

Vows exchanged

The trees glory in their colourful bounty. Thanksgiving is past. We must accept that autumn is truly upon us. Wistfully, we pause in the bustle of the harvest to reflect upon the blinding brightness of the summer sun and the joyful warmth of a new spring day.

May 17, 1980 was such a day on which Karen Mackler and Roch Villeneuve were joined in marriage at the United Church in Chesterville.

Given away by her parents, the bride was attended by friends, Brenda Smith and Darlene Stoodley, and by her sister, Brenda.

The duties of best man were ably fulfilled by Stephen Lee. Friends and relatives were seated by Glen Mackler and Guy Villeneuve. It was a happy day of new beginnings for "yesterday's memories and tomorrow's dreams".

State department.

Mrs. Harkin says more funding is still necessary for the conference and the various groups and organizations which promised support are coming through with the money now.

In making the announcement, Mr. Lumley congratulated the conference organizers for their initiative. "The willingness of the federal government to support such an event illustrates its interest in the agricultural community as an important component of Canadian life."

"I would also like to express my heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Dianne Harkin of Winchester, Conference Chairperson, who had spearheaded the efforts required to make this conference a reality. Farm women in Canada are most fortunate to have such a devoted and concerned individual working on their behalf and in their best interests."

School Guidance Corner

Don Stephen, Head of Guidance
North Dundas District
High School

Last week I promised to write a few words on how parents can help and support their children in developing good study skills. In these days of attention to basis skills, perhaps the most fundamental skill of all for high school students is to be able to study effectively. If it appears that your child should be doing better, then his or her study habits certainly might be examined.

What can a parent do to help their child improve in this area?

Well, one of the first ways, is to realize that homework and study are the responsibility of your child, not yours. Too often, as parents, we get trapped into thinking that we are responsible for our child's homework and study.

If we take over this responsibility we deprive our son or daughter of developing a sense of responsibility and leave ourselves open to all types of conflicts. Study and homework can beome a strong weapon in a child's hands something he can use effectively to extort privileges and involve parents in constant warfare.

I don't mean to suggest that we wash our hands of our duties but I am suggesting that we must define our areas of responsibilities with our children. We must get involved with their problems, but from the position of an encourager and a communicator.

We should ask our children to sit down with us and make their plans that will help them in school. This includes where to study, when, how long and so on. When they make the plans, if you approve help them to keep them.

Encouragement is a continuous process aimed at giving your child a sense of self respect and accomplishment. It is the process whereby you focus on the assets and strengths of your child so that they come to believe in themselves and their abilities. Every child and adult for that matter needs encouragement like a plant needs sunshine and water.

Encouragement is given for effort or for improvement, however slight. It focuses on your child's assets and strengths as a means for him or her to contribute to the good of all. It is expressed by phrases that demonstrate acceptance or that recognize effort or improvement like: "I like the way you handled that", "It looks as if you really worked hard at that", "knowing you, I'm sure you'll be able to handle that".

Be positive and look for any improvements in your childs study habits that can be encouraged.

Of course it is also important to keep all the lines of communication open. Communicating with your child means talking with, not talking to. Nagging, reminding, criticizing, threatening, lecturing, advising, probing, ridiculing are all forms of "talking to" that however well meant, diminish rather than improve communication.

A good communicator is a good listener. Effective listening requires much more work than the "talking to" method but it provides much more in the way of benefits. Using it we can reflect and clarify our sons and daughter's feelings and help lay the foundation for our children to solve their porblem.

When your son says, "That teacher is unfair! I'll never do well in that class", and you respond "Your're feeling angry and disappointed", you are showing that you are getting the real message and you allow room to explore alternatives.

So help your child plan his or her study efforts - then stand back, encourage and keep the communication open.

Battle for deputy-reeve in Finch

BERWICK (Staff) - Both Finch Township councillors Don Shane and Floyd Dingwall will be running for the position of deputy-reeve in the November 10 municipal elections.

Deputy-reeve Hank Zwirek will step down because of other demands councillor Dingwall said. Mr Zwirek could not be contacted for comment.

Although Mr. Shane's decision to run for the position is not final he told The Record it is "in all likelihood" that he will be running.

Incumbent deputy-reeve Hank Zwirek will be stepping down said Mr. Shane and as senior councillor with four years experience he said he felt qualified for the position.

Mr. Shane farms 300 acres in the township, is married, and has two children, both still living at home.

Floyd Dingwall, after one term as councillor, decided to run for deputy-reeve at the suggestion of the retiring deputy-reeve.

Mr. Dingwall is "sorry to see council break-up. We worked really good as a team." He sees planning and zoning as two important concerns to Finch in the coming years.

Mr. Dingwall is married with two children. He owns two farms in Berwick.

Charlie Johnstone, Finch township reeve, will run for another term, he said earlier this week. Mr. Johnstone's platform will be similiar to previous elections.

He noted over one million dollars worth of drainage had been done in the township over the past two years, two-thirds of which were financed by the federal and provincial governments.

Road construction is another large concern of the township, he said. The development road begun in 1980 should be completed in 1981. A new grader was purchased in 1979, to better serve Finch ratepayers.

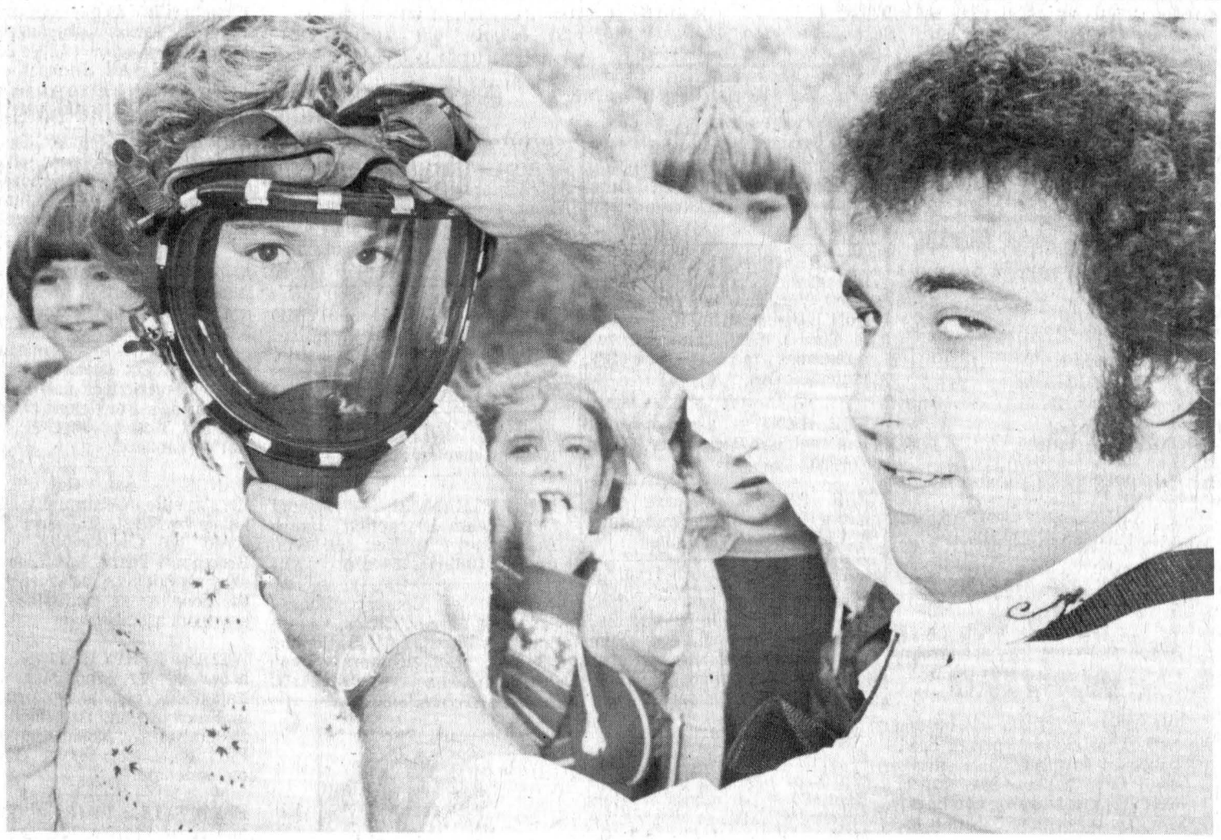
The zoning by-law, now complete, will probably be put into effect by the time this term of council expires, he continued. An agreement was reached in the Crysler subdivision without it ever having to go to court.

Armand Gibeault will seek a second term as councillor. Mr. Gibeault noted orientation to the workings of council consumes a large part of the beginning of each term for new members. Incumbent candidates have the advantage of a head start in this direction.

He stated this council had been effective and he personally had the time to give.

Mr. Gibeault is married with four children, one of whom is still at home. He and his family live in the village of Crysler.

As well as his one term on township council, Mr. Gibeault pointed out he has been on the school board and resigned the position of president of the Crysler Community Center to take office as a councillor. He is well aware of drainage and road problems, having lived in the area all his life, he said.



Firefighters visit schools

Chesterville Fire Department visited area schools last week to give students information on fire prevention week. Wednesday morning they went to Chesterville Public School where firefighter Steve Merkley (left) demonstrated the Scott's Air Pack on Tuesday Thomas, a grade 4 pupil. Each school went through a practice fire drill and were timed by the fire department on their speed in leaving the building. The 203 students at Chesterville Public School were out in 1:05 minutes; St. Mary's Separate School students were out in about 50 seconds; the 905 students at North Dundas Secondary School were out in 3:30 minutes; and the 247 students at Maple Ridge Senior Elementary School were out in 1:10 minutes. -staff photo-

Council rejects land tender

(Staff) - Chesterville Village council rejected a tender offer for two parcels of village property located on Main St. north.

Dalton Docksteader, who owns land between the two village land parcels, bid $175 for one strip measuring 17 ft. by 185 ft. and $25 for the other strip measuring 6 ft. by 185 ft. Mr. Docksteader has asked that the lots be included in his deed.

Council rejected the offer because including the land in Mr. Docksteader's deed would cost the village more money.

The land has been valued by an appraiser at $100 for each parcel. Cost of hiring the appraiser was $50.

Clerk-treasurer Gary Thompson estimated the two pieces of land cost the village $200 in legal fees and an unestimated amount in advertising costs.

'Bill' Jennings of Mountain dies on Sunday

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Winchester, for the late Gerald Rundles (Bill) Jennings, of RR1, Mountain, who died Sunday, October 12, at the age of 71.

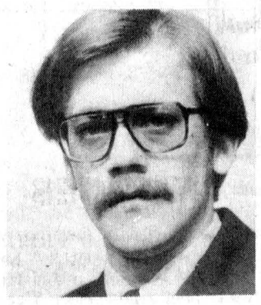
The service was conducted by Rev. M. Peters, with interment in Maple Ridge Cemetery. Active pallbearers were Sidney Armstrong, Chester Lang, Gordon Bartholomew, Dave Patterson, Harold Holmes and John Spruit. Honorary bearers were Don Burleigh, Cecil Johnston, Thomas Holmes, Hans Petersen, Harold Marriner and Arthur Folkard.

A native of Winchester Township, Mr. Jennings was the son of the late Robert Jennings and Jane Cassidy. He attended school in Winchester Township and was a member of the United Church. Prior to his retirement he had been an engineer with Ault Foods in Winchester for 37 years.

Besides his wife, the former Elsie Annie Thomas, he is survived by two sons, Melville, at home, and Glendon, of Inkerman; and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Van Beilen (Myrna) and Mrs. Allan Larmour (Joan), both of Iroquois. Left to mourn his death as well, are six grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers, Andrew, of Chesterville, and Derry, of Appleton, NY.

Osnabruck this week — Richard Waldroff



Halloween, the evening of Oct. 31, is a Christian observance which was established in the 7th Century A.D. With the development of the Roman Catholic Church, Christian Halloween customs were mingled with pagan traditions.

A number of Halloween superstitions about evil spirits, ghosts and whatnot developed from the ancient Druid festival of Samhoin "Summer's End", celebrated in the British Isles.

This festival was supposed to be the time the dead were expected to return home. Great fires were lighted to guide these spirits and to frighten off evil ones.

Also according to Irish tradition the term "Jack-o-Lantern" was derived from a man named Jack. This man Jack was supposed to have been condemned to walk the earth carrying a lantern until Judgement Day.

The trick or treat idea also came from Ireland, where back in the 17th century the poor begged for money to buy things for the feast.

Today Halloween is mostly celebrated with parties, games, and other entertainments. Children dress in fantastic costumes and masks. They travel from home to home collecting treats. Halloween has always been observed by the playing of mischievous pranks.

In the past number of years destructiveness of Halloween tricks have convinced many communities to hold various events. Parties, dances, school plays and special ceremonies. By doing so, much of the vandalism has been reduced.

Halloween 1980 is fast approaching, our children will once again hit the streets. The candy and other treats collected by these youngsters provides both happiness and a threat.

Some adults are in my mind sadist, only someone who is sick, could poison Halloween treats or harm young trick-or-treaters. People who add foreign objects to the treats they give children should receive the same in return.

So we must once again this year warn our children not to eat anything they collect until we have had a chance to examine it.

We must also advise them to watch for cars. Sometimes I wonder if maybe it wouldn't be easier just to buy treats and keep them safe at home.

Merchant proposes land for parking swap

(Staff) - Chesterville merchant Mike Dean approached village council with a proposal in which he would give the village part of his property on King St. in return for parking on both sides of Ralph St. and widening of the street.

Mr. Dean who owns and operates a grocery store on King St. offered the village approximately 10ft. of land off the south side of his property. The area is now being used as a parking lot for the grocery store.

He is negotiating to purchase the building on the other corner of Ralph and King Streets and is interested in Ralph St. The building now houses Bernie's Furniture and Eastern Breeder's.

The village is in the process of installing new sewer lines along Ralph St. However, the paving of the street is not scheduled until next year and Mr. Dean felt it was more timely to approach council with the idea now than after the paving is completed.

Council also recommend to Mr. Dean that, before the paving can be started, his parking lot be lowered. An old basement foundation is under the lot and when Mr. Dean converted it into a parking lot he filled in the hole raising the level of the lot approximately 1 ft. above the level of the street.

Council decided to get the advice of the village engineer on Mr. Dean's proposal.

Mr. Dean also spoke to council concerning a letter he received from the village about the garbage from the store. A councillor received a complaint from someone near Mr. Dean's store that the type of garbage was creating a problem.

Mr, Dean told council he planned to haul the garbage away to the dump himself. "It's extra work, but what the hell." He said the cost of constructing proper garbage bins was too high.

The firm which hauls the Village garbage gave Mr. Dean a price of $800 per year to haul the extra garbage away.

by
Allan McDonald

Another busy week at Tagwi has disappeared into the mist, and all the clubs, teams and activities are rolling along at a steady clip.

Both the senior and junior girls' basketball teams have had a busy week, playing two games.

The games were hardfought battles with the seniors emerging winners but the juniors losing. On Thursday the teams bounced their way into the gyms at North Dundas High School. This time however both teams lost. The seniors losing a heartbreaker, by only five points, 37-32.

On the soccer field, the boys' junior team ventured to Osnabruck last Tuesday. The team lost a tough game two to one.

The senior team had the week off and both teams are now gearing up for their final and most important game against the Glengarry District Gaels, on the 16th.

For the seniors, this game will decide first place as the Gaels are now one point ahead of the Warriors. The school's girls' soccer team took part in a tournament held at Glengarry on the 4th of October and are planning to enter two teams in the EOSSA tournament later this month.

The cross-country team has had two meets in the last ten days. On Saturday the fourth the Can-Am meet was held in Massena, and the team did very well.

On the following Wednesday a meet was held at Long Sault. In this meet Linda Vanderwielen finished fourth in junior girls. The junior boys team finished ninth out of 19 schools and the senior boys a very impressive third. Congratulations are extended to the members of the senior team; David Wheeler, Brent Robinson, Paul Hurtubise, Tom Santowski and Shane Philip.

The third of the month resulted in another loss for the Warrior football team. They lost forty-seven to nothing to the G.V. Vikings.

On the night of Friday 10th the school's cheerleaders participated in the CJSS Radio - Coca-Cola Cheerleading Contest held at the Cornwall Civic Complex. The girls spent alot of time working on a routine and deserve to be congratulated for their efforts.

There are many events coming up in the Warrior future.

On October 22 the Reach-for-the-Top team has a game at Osnabruck against the Osnabruck team. If the team is victorious in this first game they will return to Osnabruck the following day to play a game which will be taped for television.

On the twenty-third Tagwi's first dance will be held featuring the band "Sheriff".

As well, the senior band is in the midst of their annual sale of oranges and grapefruits. The boxes of fruit are sold now and are delivered in December. Money raised goes to the many band functions including travelling to various local schools.

...and the big "T" struggles on.

the farmer's wife — by wyn thompson

Nobody asked me but...I had occasion to drive through a little stretch of Eastern Ontario this past week. My jaunt took me from the town of Kemptville to the shield country surrounding the village of Westport. What a journey!

Autumn in Eastern Ontario has so many virutes I don't know where to begin. The October foliage, gloriously ablaze, defied description. It was a rainy day, but the whole world was luminous.

The backdrop of the artist's canvas was equally spectacular, heavy autumn cloud with promising patches of blue, wide horizons, balmy days, frost-tipped nights.

The backdrop of the artist's canvas was equally spectacular, heavy autumn cloud with promising patches of blue, wide horizons, balmy days, frost-tipped nights.

The colour comes quietly on little cat's paws. It continues, leaf to leaf, branch to branch, tree to tree. It begins in the swamp, continues to the valleylands, climbs the hills. Today, it possesses the countryside.

'Tis the time of the hunter's moon, the harvest moon, the full moon of October. Cornfields await their harvest, rabbits slip away, ducks and geese course the autumn sky, the owl prowls the meadows and upland pastures on silent wings. And the countryman and woman get the urge to get up and go. There's the balm of the day and the vigour of the night.

The duck or deer hunt is only an excuse for the Farmer and I to pack a lunch, shoulder a gun, desert the chores of life. There's the concession road aglow with autumn and its reward of wild grapes, late goldenrod and aster bloom.

There's the colour variance in the sumac stand, the dark whisper of the pine grove. And the sighting of a delicate doe and her two lively fawns nibbling from a neighbour's orchard.

A market gardener friend of mine, a graduate of the University of Toronto who, long ago (more years ago than she or I wish to recall), said she would never work a full day indoors, secretly wishes for a frost. Though she is expected to brag about what still lies ready for the harvesting, actually she has harvested enough for this year. She is willing to call it quits and await another spring.

"I need a season of rest, of dreaming, of reading, of getting rid of callouses," she laughs. "I could never accomodate myself to a land without four seasons."

I welcome the frost! The discoloured vines. The opportunity to hang up the hoe and rake, close the garden gate, touch a match to the kindling laid on the hearth, and let winter have her way.

October's handwriting is everywhere. There is the frost-whitened lawn at dawn. There is the morning mist. The late afternoon haze. Smoke chimneys from town and country chimneys. The etched flight patterns of departing geese.

On this journey, I saw them by quiet ponds, at the edge of lakes, coming in as a dark cloud over a hilltop. They are restless. It is time to move on. They discuss the move. They gossip. Thes plan. They leave us to our ways.

Soon the autumn winds will blow, the leaves will float earthward, the milkweed floss will ride every merry breeze. Now is the time that Nature does her seeding for another green season.

Autumn gives way to fall with her heavy rains. Soon the trees will stand naked against the clearing sky. Witches' brooms ready for All Hallows' Eve. Vistas open. We view the fall sky. The Big Dipper is readily discernible, close to the northern horizon in the early evening.

The stars are big and bright and reassuring. They have changed little from October to October since man appeared on the face of the earth. The earliest kings saw the same stars in the same appointed places as we see them. And they will still be there thousands of years from now. The certainty of eternity pleasures me.

My friend, the market gardener, is also a watcher of the weather-wise members of the animal kingdom. Right now, in autumn, she is watching the woolly bear. You know, there is the groundhog, in winter; in spring, the robin; in summer, the katydid; and in autumn, the woolly bear.

"What in heaven's name is the woolly bear?" I asked.

"It's the woolly caterpillar you see crossing your driveway or concession road during October," she calmly replied. "It's about an inch and half long with a reddish brown colour in a middle band, with solid black fore and aft. Through the winter it lives under a rubbish pile; in spring it feeds on plants; and in early summer it pupates. The earthbound creature metamorphoses into a beautiful moth."

It seems traditional sayings about the woolly bear's prophetic powers are enumerated thusly:

"If the woolly worm is mostly brown, the coming winter will be very cold."

"If the caterpillar is dark on both ends, it will be a mild winter."

"When the woolly bear is very light in colour, the winter will be mild and of short duration.

"The darker the colour of the woolly worm in the fall, the more severe the winter month will be."

If you do observe a woolly bear this October, be sure to write down a description of it. You can consult your memo next April, and perhaps settle the question of the woolly bear's prophetic powers.

And now a memo to all farm critics. In response to increased production costs, the federal government increased the price of industrial milk effective August 1, 1980. The support price of butter moved from $1.51 to $1.59 per pound, and of skim milk powder from 91.6 cents to 99.6 cents per pound. This advance represents a 3.9 percent increase to producers of industrial milk. Price increases of cheese milk and fluid milk, which took effect in mid-August, will be reflected in the September Food basket.

For the month of August the retail value of the OFA Food Basket was $37.57, up $1.34 from July and $4.80 from August 1979. The farm-gate price was $20.62, and increase of 75 percent from July and $1.34 from last August.

Always check on the farm-gate price before you criticize!

Even though weather turned very wet and cold, the Thanksgiving Day Tombola sponsored by the Rotary Club was a success, over $250 being realized from the games and drawings at the Community Hall. The funds will be used in the club's community service.

Bingo, Hit Hitler, ball games, paddle game for pails of groceries and other games, with a refreshment booth were patronized steadily afternoon and evening at the rink which was gaily decorated and well lighted. The largest crowd attended in the evening when a free entertainment was presented from the stage. The Citizens' Band gave a short concert and an Ottawa troupe headed by Bill Moran, drew big hands from the large crowd with their dancing and vocal numbers. Little six-year-old Isobel Darling of Smiths Falls won the heart of the crowd with her Scottish and acrobatic dance numbers. Accompaniement was played by Miss Harrigan of Smiths Falls.

Winners in the grand drawing were Bill Fulton, $5 War saving certificate; Thomas McCloskey, men's sports jacket; Miss Margaret McMillan, walnut coffee table; and Dr. W.H. Lloyd, motor rug.

Chesterville Community Theatre re-opens tonight for the third and probably last time. This will tell the tale and Alton Bolton of Morrisburg is willing to run the show at cost to keep the theatre operating.

The bill tonight will get off with a bang with the ever-funny Bob Hope in "Iron Petticoat". The shows will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee.

Activity is reaching a climax up at the fair grounds. They have been shipped into the semblance of a farmers' best cultivated and sown field what with wheat waving in the fall winds. The race track has never looked better to face a winter's snow.

On the infield the beavers have been at work. Big 60-ft. hydro poles lie in wait for machinery to place them in the proper holes and thanks to Emerson Johnson and his Roads Resurfacing crews the big timber will be raised into position soon.

The tall poles will carry the brand new lights for the race track and ball diamonds. Now is needed a lot of labour to set the poles solidly into the ground.

A bee is being organized for Wednesday afternoon, November 2. At that time every able-bodied male able to lift one foot ahead of the other is asked to come to the fair grounds.

the editor's notebook

When Osnabruck District High School 1980 valedictorian Peter Fleming told fellow graduates, teachers, and parents at the commencement exercises last Friday that attending a small high school is not necessarily a bad thing the young man knew what he was talking about.

The high school, located in Ingleside, has a total of about 200 students. In comparison most secondary schools in Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry have at least 1,000 students.

While going to a large high school may seem better on the surface, a closer look reveals a different story. Large high schools have football teams, more gymnastic equipment, bigger libraries, in general they seem to get "more" and "bigger" of everything.

However, as Mr. Fleming noted, the close ties that are formed in a school the size of ODHS are more important than any extra gymnastic equipment or football team could be. Those close ties, if formed in a healthy atmosphere, can better equip any student to enter the world.

When the grade 13 class at ODHS finished their studies last June and each went their individual way they could be secure in the knowledge of having been a part of a close community. A class with such a small number of students (this year nine graduated) gives each a chance to become a fully participating member. In larger schools students who are shy, reluctant to become involved, nervous, or otherwise don't think they are worthy of becoming a part of the group can easily slip into a crowd and be forgotten.

With a class number of nine anyone in the grade 13 class must immediately become part of the group. Escape from involvement would be difficult.

Perhaps, the most important thing a small school can do for its students is give them a strong sense of self-esteem. While at ODHS their opinion was valued, their individuality was valued, their ideas were important, and their contribution to a better school community was valued.

Small schools are not possible everywhere, they are not always practical.

But when students of ODHS venture into the world outside the one they have known they can keep a small secret in their heart -- they were part of a school community that cared about them. What a luxury!

Hawks put on spirited show edge Spencerville Bruins 6-5

WINCHESTER (Staff) - It is often said that exhibition games are more exciting than those in the regular season because jobs are at stake.

This was certaihly the case at the Winchester and District Arena Friday night as local fans got their first look at the 1980 edition of the Winchester Hawks and came away satisfied as the Hawks edged the Spencerville Bruins 6-5.

The game was a spirited one, especially in the first period when both teams came out flying. As a result, six goals were scored in the opening frame and there were some bone crunching hits.

Winchester put constant pressure on the Bruins right from the start and their hard work paid off when Dan Lee poked the puck past Bruin netminder Paul Whitney at 4:46 giving Winchester a 1-0 lead.

Hawks went up by two a little more than a minute later as Cochrane's drive from the point found its way into the net through a maze of players.

Spencerville tied the game when Gary Moore and Ted MacMillan lit the red light but Grant Simpson sent the home team back on top at 13:14 when he zinged a low hard shot into the net.

Mark Beaupre made the score 4-2 near the end of the period after he swept around the Spencerville defence forcing Whitney to make a good pad save. However, Beaupre was there to slide the rebound under the vulnerable goalie.

Hawks coach Doug Casselman dressed three goalies, Todd Taylor, Dave Spence and Rob Carkner. Each played one period with Taylor working the first, Carkner, the second and Spence the third.

Carkner was a little shakey in the middle stanza particularly in the first few minutes when he appeared to be handcuffed on several Spencerville shots.

Consequently, the Bruins took advantage of the situation and hit for two quick goals to tie the game.

Garry Moore notched his second goal of the night at the 33 second mark when his blast flew right through Carkner's legs. While the fans and the Hawks were still recovering, Marc Pilon threaded the needle on a backhand less than a minute later.

But, as they did all night, the Hawks sprinted back on top a couple of minutes later when Beaupre pilfered the puck from a Bruin defenceman and beat Whitney with a shot along the ice. It was Beaupre's second marker of the night and a shorthanded effort as well.

Winchester gave themselves some breathing space on the strength of Dean McIntosh's tally with slightly more than five minutes left in the game. Rudy Grisel picked up an assist on the play.

Spencerville got back into the thick of things a mere six seconds after McIntosh's goal when the puck found it's way past Dave Spence.

The Bruins yanked their goaltender with 1:12 to go but Spence and the Winchester defence kept them from hitting paydirt.

After it was over Coach Casselman said that he was pleased with the way his team performed.

"There were a few missed passes and the defensive work and the forechecking need some work, but it's only the first game and I'm happy with the effort."

Ken Shay, Mark Beaupre, and Dennis Sullivan were the players which caught Casselman's eye. The Hawks converted Sullivan from a forward to a defenceman and the move has been a profitable one as he has been steady since day one.

Assistant coach Bernie Harper said the team would have to do some polishing on the rough edges but foresees few problems as the regular season gets underway on Friday.

Winchester made some player moves after the game sending netminders Todd Taylor and Rob Carkner plus defencemen Kevin Guy and Kenny Rose to the Juvenile program to get more experience. Fans can expect to see those four in a Hawks uniform in the future.

On Sunday afternoon, the Hawks outlasted the Morrisburg Intermediate Golden Knights 9-8 in a rough and tumble affair.

Darrell Shelp led the way with three goals and three assists. Linemates Grant Simpson and Al McLean also enjoyed a good game with Simpson counting four points, including two goals, and McLean picking up a goal and four assists. Mark Beaupre, Pete Marriner and Dean McIntosh had the other Hawks goals.

Eddie Gove, Steve Casselman and Doug Byers each had two goals for Morrisburg.

Kevin DuVall and Kevin Wells added singles against Dave Spence, who went all the way in the Hawks net.

Winchester gets it's season rolling at home on Friday night against Cardinal. Game time at the Winchester and District Arena is 8:30.

Chesterville wins Junior A title at Iroquois soccer tournament

IROQUOIS (Staff) - "How sweet it is" is a catch phrase popularized by Jackie Gleason.

Chesterville Public School soccer coach Gerry McBain was happily saying the same thing, Friday afternoon, as his junior boys surprised everyone, including probably themselves, when they won the "A" title of the junior division in the Dundas Elementary Schools Soccer Tournament held at Iroquois P.S.

The boys won the title with a heart stopping 1-0 win over Winchester "A". Chesterville came out in the first half on fire putting intense pressure on Winchester. However, despite a few glittering chances couldn't put the ball into the net.

Winchester reversed the tide in the second half constantly keeping possession in Chesterville territory. However, Mikki Tessier guarded his goal area like a fortress and thus Winchester was unable to find the mark either.

With the spectre of overtime looming large Ronnie Robinson sent the Chesterville sideline into delerium when he faked out the Winchester defence and socked a high drive into the net with about three minutes left in the game.

For the local supporters, the three minutes seemed like 10, but the lads held on and there was a pretty happy crew at the end.

All-in-all the day was a great one for the Chesterville underdogs as Mikki Tessier won the junior best goalie award. Mikki was, in one word, brilliant. He did not allow a goal in the tournament.

Kevin Edgerton was awarded the best forward trophy. Kevin kicked in four goals during the tourney. Andy Van Bruinessen and Ronnie Robinson popped in one goal each during the day. David Geertsma picked up three assists, Ronnie Robinson had two helpers and Ross Giles set up a goal.

Along with Kevin and Mikki, Dean Armstrong of Winchester won recognition as the best halfback in the juniors.

In the Junior B final Morewood shutout Riverside Heights 2-0 to cap an outstanding tournament.

The Maple Ridge B's wound their way to the senior consolation final before bowing out to Riverside Heights 1-0. The tournament was not a completely disappointing one for the boys because their goalie Danny Gibson was selected as the senior divisions top goalie.

John Tzafaris and Danny Noakes of the "A" champion Iroquois were named best forward and halfback respectively.

Junior girls still undefeated NDDHS wins pair from Tagwi

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - So far so good for the NDDHS Girls' Junior basketball team.

The club finds themselves in first place SD&G Girls' Basketball Junior circuit with a perfect 4-0 record after they slammed Tagwi Warriors 57-22 at North Dundas on Thursday afternoon.

After leading by only 11 at the half, North Dundas turned on the burners in the third and fourth quarters outscoring the Warriors 33-9.

Deanne Saunders and Alice Koekoek were the big guns for the winners netting 12 points apiece. Jennifer Freda pitched in with 10. Carolyn Beckstead was a going concern for Dundas defenders as she hooped 16 of the Warriors 22 points.

The loss pummeled Tagwi's record to 0-4, but a win will pull them out of the cellar and into a tie with five other teams.

In senior action NDDHS made it a clean sweep over Tagwi as the girls squeaked out a 37-32 win. The victory was North Dundas' third in four games and lifts them into a first-place tie with General Vanier. Tagwi's record dropped to 1-3.

The first half was even with the home team holding a slim 16-14 lead at intermission.

Trish Henry was NDDHS's top scorer with eight points. Chipping in with six was Tessie Boretos. Tagwi's sniper was Diane Glaude who had eight points. Jennifer Freeland and Janet Freeland had six each.

The next games for the North Dundas junior and senior girls will be on Oct. 21 when they travel to Cornwall to meet General Vanier.

Chesterville village council donates $125 to Terry Fox benefit dance

(Staff) - Chesterville Village council got around one of their own resolutions last week when they donated $125 to a benefit dance to raise funds for Terry Fox's Marathon of Hope in aid of cancer research.

Council received a letter from Dr. Chuck Adamson requesting free use of the Community Hall for the dance. But council has a resolution on the books stating no organizations can have the hall for free.

Council got around the resolution by donating $125 to the organizers - the exact amount for rental of the hall.

Councillors agreed the donation would "forward the reputation of the village on a national basis."

Although the exact date for the dance has yet to be set Councillor Carl Ward said it was planned for sometime in November or December by the Rotary Club.

In other business council unanimously passed a motion that the village will not enter into any shared-cost agreements, even if they are beneficial to both parties, with any individual, organization or property owner unless there is a signed agreement.

Council also received a letter from Isabelle Smith, on behalf of the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce requesting a meeting with council concerning the installation of a street light in the parking lot behind Byer's Hardware store.

Council did not set a time for a meeting as the matter has been discussed at previous meetings and was rejected. The idea of a municipally owned and maintained light in the lot was dismissed by council because the land is privately owned and not a village responsibility.
