Truck Stuck!

Winchester Delegates Attend 43rd Annual Hospital Convention At Toronto

Winchester District Memorial Hospital has 2 Board members, 3 staff members and 2 auxilians attending the 43rd Annual Convention of the Ontario Hospital Association to be held at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto this week (October 23-25). Among those attending from the hospital are:

Howard E. Biccum, Chairman, Board of Directors, Walter C. MacDonald, Building and Property Committee, H. P. Stel, Administrator, Miss B. Legris, Director of Nursing, and Mrs. Mabel Ogden, Clinical Supervisor. Together with personnel from hospitals all across Ontario, they are attending the largest gathering of hospital people in Canada, and second only in size to the American Hospital Association Convention.

Nearly 6,000 registrants are expected this year. They represent almost every branch of hospital service, including administration, trusteeship, nursing and dietetics, pharmacy, housekeeping, accounting, engineering, social work, purchasing agents, physiotherapists and laundry operation. In all, 14 sections representing the various professions and paramedical skills will have integrated programs at the convention.

"Man and His Hospital" is the theme of the conference. It reflects the social, psychological and clinical relationships of Ontario's 7½ million people to their community hospitals. The recruitment, supply and education of future nurses, psychiatric care, drug costs, hospital conversion to metric system, disaster planning, fire safety, and a review of the work of two government bodies examining Ontario's health facilities, will be the major topics of discussion.

Concurrently as usual, the Hospital Auxiliaries of Ontario will be holding their 57th Annual Convention from October 23 to 26 at the Royal York. Miss Gladys Bayne and Mrs. Colin McGregor from Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary are attending the Auxiliary conference.

A Centennial Pageant commemorating the history of volunteer work in Ontario will highlight the HAA convention. The two main speakers are Senator Mary Kinnear who will talk on the "Changing Role of Women in the Community", and Mrs. Anne H. Jones, Controller for the City of Hamilton, whose topic is "Do Senior Citizens Need the Help of Volunteers?"

Winchester District Memorial Hospital is one of the 250 public general, Red Cross, Chronic and convalescent hospital and several other allied health institutions, which, as members of the Ontario Hospital Association are working together through their association to achieve the highest standards of patient care and treatment.

Time Change!

Be sure you set your clock back one hour before going to bed this Saturday night!

Should you forget, you'll almost certainly be the first one in church for the Sunday morning service.

Hearlding the end of the summer season, the clock ritual ushers in the coming of another Good Old Canadian Winter.

Don't forget! Back one hour!

Legion Poppy Sale Saturday

"In Flanders fields the poppies grow
Between the crosses row on row . . . "

It is good to remember those who fell in the battles for freedom, but it is also good to remember those who returned maimed for life, and their buddies, the Legionnaires, continue to strive daily to help their less fortunate brothers.

Again this year the Winchester Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion will supervise a small "army" of Cubs and Scouts as they go from door to door selling poppies, on Saturday morning, October 28th.

The Legion also hopes to see "Memorial Windows" at all business places in town.

The Centennial Memorial Service will be held this year, at the Cenotaph, on Sunday November 5th, at 12 noon, and all those wishing to lay a wreath at the Cenotaph should contact Archie Rice as soon as possible.

All veterans and Legion members will meet at the Legion Hall at 10.30 a.m., then proceed to the Public School Hall where Father G. T. Churchill of St. Matthias Anglican Church will conduct the church service. Everyone is welcome to this service. The group will then march to the Cenotaph.

When a little boy in uniform comes to your door on Saturday buy a Poppy. A veteran who gave "more than his life" will thank you.

Halloween Crack-down

Winchester Police Chief Les Whitteker has been given full authority to "crack down" on all persons who may decide to stretch the letter of the law next Tuesday night, October 31. The traditional night of "Trick or Treat" will not be to the liking of Halloween pranksters if they decide to carry the tricks too far, Chief Whitteker told The Press this week.

At the same time Police Chief Whitteker said that no one wants to spoil the fun of the youngsters on Halloween night. "It is an especially good night for the young fry to get out, visit homes in their costumes, and load up with goodies. We are really not concerned with this group of young persons. It is the older types who, at times, will cause trouble often as the result of one or two more daring leaders."

The Chief continued: "We expect a certain amount of minor troubles. As long as the fun is kept fairly clean, as long as there is no wilful damage of property or person, we will not interfere. When it goes beyond this point, when they start forming up in groups or gangs, we shall step in with full authority and charges will be laid immediately."

Chief Whitteker summed up by pointing out that Winchester young people generally repected the pleas of officials in previous years and that only a few incidents have occurred. He was hopeful that he and his extra staff of law officers would receive the same co-operation again this year.

The co-operation of all parents is also requested, Chief Whitteker said. "Generally," he said, "we hope the kids have fun, but keep it clean. Breeches of the law will not be tolerated in any way."

Believe Hunter Killed $600. Holstein Cow

Some irresponsible hunter made a kill in the district last Friday and his marksmanship cost a farmer a pure bred Holstein cow valued at over $600.

Elwin Hill, who farms 2 miles south of Kenmore, missed one of his cows on Friday night. Realizing she was due to freshen, he elected, due to darkness, to search for her in the morning.

On Saturday morning he found her — shot through the head by a high-powered rifle. Her new-born calf was by her side.

The Ontario Provincial Police were summoned and they recommended that Mr. Hill contact the Game Warden.

Poor Publicity!

October 18th, 1967.

The Editor, Winchester Press,
Winchester, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

I have always had a special feeling for the people of Winchester. They have always proved to be kind and generous, and it was a pleasure to make new acquaintances.

Unfortunately, something happened yesterday that left me wondering. While my automobile was parked at the Winchester Memorial Hospital, someone accidentally pushed in my left rear fender. When I came out, no one was in sight, and my employer will have to bear the cost of these repairs.

Under normal circumstances, one could accept this as part of the hazards of driving, however, the fifty dollars that will have to be spent to repair this damage will come out of our Society's budget and this money could have been used to help one of our patients. We are just in the middle of a campaign for funds in the Winchester area, and the volunteers are devoting many hours to collect the money so urgently needed for research and treatment in the Rheumatic diseases.

I'm sure that the person responsible for this accident was in a hurry and forgot to leave his or her name. This letter will provide an opportunity to rectify the situation.

The car I was driving at the time was a 1967, maroon, Chevrolet Impala.

Council Announces New Committee For Recreation

Meeting in special session Monday night, Winchester municipal council passed a necessary by-law to deal with recreation in the village. Under the new by-law, which has been forwarded to Toronto, and which is necessary in the collecting of grants and other finances, the following members were named: Sam Ault, Harold Lannin, W. C. MacDonald, Keith Carkner, Robert Porteous, George Elliott and Roy Fawcett. Councillor Fawcett will be chairman of the special committee and Robert Porteous has been appointed secretary.

The committee is appointed annually, Council said, with the present members in office until the end of the current year.

In other business Monday night Council said that a representation of the local body would attend a meeting in Chesterville on October 26 of the South Nation Conservation Authority. It was also announced that Bruce McNabb had been appointed a special planning officer by the department to serve Eastern Ontario needs.

Paper boys, delivering daily newspapers in Winchester, have been advised that they will no longer be permitted to have their papers dumped and loaded in front of the Presbyterian Church. Numerous complaints concerning the tidiness of the streets as a result of carelessness have been received and Council has acted on the matter. Letters to this effect have been sent to the circulation departments of the newspapers involved. Apparently the boys are abusing the privilege and Council said a continuance of the practice will not be tolerated.

Cleaning of Henderson Creek continues, but the installation of new culverts could create a problem, Council was told. Because of the deeper ditch and the larger culverts it may be necessary to lower existing water mains running beneath the several culverts which have been purchased. The water lines must run at least a foot below the culverts, it was pointed out.

Road Superintendent Reg Freeland has been authorized to attend a special course in Guelph next May, and Police Chief Les Whitteker said that efforts have been made to have an instructional film on the handling of bicycles made available at a later date in Winchester.

Because of increased costs in upkeep and maintenance, and because of the sad condition the hall is left in after certain meetings, the rental fee for the Town Hall has been upped to $15.00. Local organizations will continue to use the hall "rent free" Council said.

Clerk C. R. Robinson said that some improvement had been made in the "tax arrears" department and that the 1967 budget was running well, providing all revenues were received and providing unforeseen expenses did not run too high in the remaining two months of the year.

RICK BLACK

Right Club Wrong Town

It was a "black" night for Winchester 100 Club last Thursday when Black got his signals mixed. Rick, outstanding star with the Ottawa Rough Riders, had agreed to speak to the Centurians, and to say that the program committee of Centurians Hugh Eadie and Cecil Simpson were disappointed would be the understatement of the year.

All was not lost, however, and the big fullback did appear at a meeting of Centurians — in Carleton Place.

Valerie Adams, Dundas Dairy Princess, and her father, Delmar Adams, were special guests at the well-attended meeting, as was Orvil Guy, Vice Chairman of the Milk Marketing Board. Miss Adams addressed the club giving her title-winning speech.

The meeting opened with Grace by Leroy Boyd, followed by the Creed given by Charles Anderson. The Boost, which was donated by Basil Dawley, was won by Bert Stel. The donor was boosted by Fred M. Cass.

A report from the finance department indicated the fund-raising committees have not been active enough during the past year, and plans are now underway for a Welfare Christmas Draw. All members have tickets and are hoping for a

Canada's wildlife heritage, anniversaries of historic significance, the nation's involvement in international affairs, sport, Christmas, and a commemoration of the 1918 Armistice will be the theme for Canada Post Office stamps during 1968, Postmaster General Jean-Pierre Cote announced recently.

As in 1956, when the Canada Post Office prepared a hockey stamp, the Department will recognize Canadian sport by releasing a lacrosse issue. Known to have been played by Indian teams before white men arrived, Lacross is recognized as the oldest organized sport in North America. This stamp is planned as a forerunner of others to complete a sports series in a few years.

Another issue will emphasize the importance of the nation's meteorological service by commemorating the 200th Anniversary of Canada's first recorded observations of barometer and thermometer. Readings at Prince of Wales, Fort Churchill, Manitoba, commencing in 1768 are recorded by the Department of Transport as the first by established scientists continuing over the period of a year.

Consultations with Officers of the National Museum resulted in selection of the Narwhal, a comparatively little known mammal of the far-north as the first to be used in a resumption of the Canadian Wildlife series initiated at an earlier date. The Gray Jay as a design subject for a stamp will illustrate an example of bird life in Canada.

One of two prominent personages from the pages of Canada's history will also be honoured by stamp issues but at this time the Postmaster General said he could not enlarge on this item by mentioning the names or the dates of issue.

The need for optimum use and and conservation of water resources will be reflected in a stamp recognizing Canada's active participation in the International Hydrological Decade. The early opening of Canada's West through the fur trade will be marked by a stamp recognizing the 300th Anniversary of the Voyage of Nonsuch.

The final stamp in the planned programme is an issue to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the 1918 Armistice. In announcing this release, the Postmaster General referred to his Department's consistent policy of refraining from issuing stamps to honour battles, regiments or wars. The 'Armistice stamp emphasizes Canada's dedication to the cause of world peace.

All stamps of the 1968 commemorative programme are restricted to the one denomination except the Christmas issues when an additional value is produced.

Disaster Training Courses In Schools

As a result of a memorandum from the Ontario Department of Education to all school authorities, talks were instituted between the local Emergency Measures Organization and High School Principals with a view to instituting training of students of Grades 11, 12 and 13 in emergency measures matters.

As a result of these discussions and the fullest co-operation of all High School principals, arrangements have now been concluded for lectures to take place in all High Schools in the three United Counties and City of Cornwall.

The general theme of the lectures will be to tell students of the types of disasters which have taken place or could take place, to acquaint them with the facts of nuclear fallout from nuclear weapons and to tell them of the protective measures to be taken and what the Emergency Measures Organization's duties are in relation to disasters and the Organization's relationship to Government.

The complete course of training will take approximately three hours and will be divided into six one-half hour periods when films, slides and lectures will be given.

At the conclusion of the course students who have attended all six periods will be given certificates of attendance.

It is hoped that by these lectures, films, etc. that the students can be made more aware of the facts of disasters, the effects of disasters on community life, and the attitude they should cultivate towards giving assistance where emergencies demand such.

Opens Newspaper Plant

The Beaver, one of the largest weeklies in the province, with a circulation of over 5,000, is published by Earl Morrison The acquisition of this new modernly equipped building is typical of the strides being taken by weekly newspapers all across Canada.

At the "Open House" in conjunction with the opening, many dignitaries were in attendance including members of Parliament, the Mayor and the Warden, as well as all members of the directorship of the Association.

With big "Dailies" emphasizing the trend in international and world affairs, and leaving little space for local interest in the small communities, the weekly newspaper is steadily growing in stature. People more and more are beginning to realize the value of a news media geared to please the immediate community in which they live.

This is particularly true in this area where the circulation of The Winchester Press has risen rapidly and now is in excess of 3200.

The publishers and staff of this newspaper extend sincere congratulations to the Napanee Beaver and wish continued success to this fine weekly.

Halloween Back Then . . .

Your dad may remember this little fellow. Then possibly it is your dad!

A half century ago electricity had not reached many of the rural areas; radios had been heard of; television? Ridiculous!

A dark, cold night at the end of October could indeed be a mighty spooky time some 50 years ago, and most likely this is the reason why the little chap is celebrating before darkness falls.

'Waste Not — Want Not', was the theme of the day and so you see this pumpkin was not hallowed out, but simply carved and painted on the outside. When darkness falls those sharp little eyes will peek through the window, out over the corn stooks, bathed in the cold moonlight, and watch the same ghostly figures that still haunt us on Halloween Night.

MORRIS—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Kenneth Dempsey Morris, who passed away October 26, 1959.

Lloyd Guy has to be recognized as the bowler of the week. Lloyd led the Fireside League with a high cross of 770, made up of strings of 267, 259 and 244. High single for the Firesiders was scored by Wayne LaPorte who rolled 604-279. Following close behind were Howard Porteous with 673-245 and Bill Hogaboam with 585-270.

In the Community League it was Earle Gray out in front with a high cross of 654 and strings of 193, 240 and 221 Earle's single of 240 placed him in a tie with Don Holmes for the high single. Don rolled 575-240. Wes Clark and Irene Ouimet with 595-220 and 594-267 respectively were next best in this department.

Doris Kennedy was top bowler in the Happy Gang with a high cross of 634 and games of 250, 248 and 236. Doris' single of 250 proved the best in the league. Marg. Dalgleish rolled 613-240 and Daisy Robinson 538-197.

Competition was keen in the Glamour Girls League with Cathy Price scoring both the high single and high cross. Cathy's score looked like this: 631 — 277, 167, 187. The closest competition came from Joyce Levere with 553-191 and Helen Coons with 547-198.

Brock St. Denis led the Gay Twenties League with a high cross of 613, bowling strings of 201, 182 and 230. Larry Sayant, fighting gamely, had the high singe, a 238, and crossed 600. Other top bowlers in this league were Daisy Robinson with 548-199 and Doris Kennedy 534-219.

OPP Report

A fatal accident which occurred on Thursday, October 19, on Highway 31 two miles north of Morrisburg, took the life of a Berwick area resident. Killed was Ernest Alexander Montgomery, age 49, of R. R. 1, Berwick. Three other persons involved in this accident were taken to Winchester Hospital for treatment. Eight other accidents were investigated by Morrisburg Detachment. These were all of a minor nature with two persons suffering minor injuries. One charge of dangerous driving arose out of the investigation into one of these accidents.

Officers patrolled 7,000 miles of highway and secondary roads in 504 duty hours. Forty-one traffic charges were laid with 31 warnings issued. One person was arrested and charged with impaired driving. Two investigations into liquor infractions resulted in two charges being laid under the Liquor Licence Act. Officers also answered 23 other calls including three disturbances.

With the weather getting colder and winter fast approaching, the garages and service stations are busy with people having their cars made ready for winter. As well as protecting your car, why not protect yourself and the other fellow? While your car is in the garage, have the attendant check your tires, brakes, defrosters, etc. It may take only a few extra minutes to save someone's life.

Combines Will Play Games In Brockville

The Morrisburg Combines, O.D.H.A. Champions for the past three years, will be playing hockey again this year, according to a report in The Morrisburg Leader.

The Leader goes on to say that the Ottawa Valley Hockey League will consist of Shawville Pontiacs, Renfrew Royals, Petawawa Generals, Buckingham Aces and the Combines.

Unfortunately, says The Leader, the Morrisburg Community Centre Board would not allow the Combines to play their home games in the Morrisburg Arena and consequently all home games will be played at the Brockville Community Centre with the first home game scheduled for Sunday, November 19 against the Shawville Pontiacs.

Ready For Campout . . .

The Winchester Boys Scout Troop, some 30 strong, had their annual week-end campout recently at beautiful Lake Phillippe in the Gatineau region.

A week-end of this nature entails a great amount of planning and although the boys themselves do most of the actual work, the necessary supervision must be there.

Needless to say, the boys enjoyed every part of it, from the careful packing of two truckloads of equipment and last minute preparations to the happy homecoming.

A healthy, educational outing such as this is good for the boys and the men who gave up their own week-end pleasures to assist and accompany the boys deserve much credit. True, some had sons of their own on the expedition, but their presence at the camp assured the safety of all concerned.

Travelling with the boys were Dr. Larry Gray, Clare Chamberlain, Bill Crummy, George Hanes, Keith Carkner and Ron Workman. Many other parents assisted with the transportation and helped the boys "load up" for the return trip.

A glance into the interior of Ron Workman's "Press Van" just prior to leaving indicates the amount of equipment necessary for such an outing. This, however, was only half of the supplies as another truck was loaded with tents and housing equipment.

Scouts in picture are Allan Carkner and Bill Workman.

Mrs. Ivor Bath Vernon W.I. Convention Representative

Mrs. Ivor Bath will represent the Vernon Branch at the Ottawa Area Women's Institute Convention at the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa on October 31 and November 1st.

Also taking an active part in the Convention will be Mrs. J. D. Campbell, reporting for the Federation of Agriculture, and Mrs. Audrey Stewart who will be in charge of the singing.

The Vernon members held their October meeting at Club 31, with Mrs. Archie Sayant presiding in the absence of both the President and Vice President, and the main topic on the agenda was the coming convention.

It was agreed that several of the women would bake cookies and at least three would take them to the Winter Fair on "Institute Day" where they will be served to the public for a silver donation. Those who will serve at the fair will be Mrs. Ivor Bath, Mrs. Leonard Cameron and Mrs. Bruce Campbell.

Classes on "Baking with Yeast" will be conducted at Club 31 on the afternoons of November 8th and 9th, with instructions by Mrs. H. M. Lee and Mrs. Alex Campbell. The two instructors come well qualified as they have completed a short course sponsored by the Home Economics Division of the Department of Agriculture and Food. Any lady wishing to participate, whether a member of the W. I. or not, is welcome to attend.

Before the close of the meeting Mrs. J. D. Campbell auctioned fruits, vegetables, plants and baking.

Lunch was enjoyed. Those in charge were Mrs. D. L. McDonald, Mrs. Harold Kennedy, Mrs. Archie Sayant, Mrs. Bert Velthuis, Mrs. John Porteous and Mrs. Harold Cowan.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

"BE PREPARED"

Details of a bold new program for the Boy Scout Section of the Canadian Scout movement were released this week from National Headquarters in Ottawa. News of the new program — for the more than 70,000 boys aged 11 to 14 who make up the section — comes one year after the launching of Venturers, which gave youth aged 14 to 17 a distinctive program of their own.

The Boy Scout program is the oldest program of the Scouting movement which today provides for Wolf Cubs (aged 8 to 10); Boy Scouts (11-14); Venturers, (14-17), and Rover Scouts (16-20).

The new Scout program was approved by the National Executive Committee of the Boy Scouts of Canada, meeting in Winnipeg late last week. Its details resulted from three years of study by the Boy Scout Subcommittee, comprised of volunteer workers in the movement. The new program will go into effect nationally on September 1, 1968, completely replacing the existing program by December 1969.

The program represents a dramatic change in thinking within the movement which this year marks the 60th anniversary of its founding by the legendary Lord Baden-Powell of Giliwell.

Further information on the reasons for the new Boy Scout program will be published in later issues in this space.

LOCAL NEWS

Winchester Group Committee is pleased to report that the Scout Apple Day in Winchester was a successful one. After all expenses the treasurer reported that the sum of $115.00 clear was realized. The Group committee knows that it was not only the efforts of the boys involved, but the support also that was given by citizens of Winchester and District that made this event a success. They thank you!

A good turnout of District Troops attended the Drumhead Service at Prescott last Sunday afternoon.

The Scout Troop will again lend a hand to the Winchester Legion in the sale of Poppies this Saturday, October 28th. Welcome these boys, who are taking an important part in our local affairs, when they call.

Viewpoint After The Election

The majority of people living in Grenville-Dundas prefer the Progressive Conservative government of John P. Robarts, and they want Fred M. Cass a part of that government. This was again made quite clear in the Tuesday election of last week.

Mr. Cass won the election handily over his two opponents with 3,000 votes to spare. Even in a comparatively easy win, if there is such a political thing as an easy win, the Conservative majority was cut by 2,000 votes. And across the province this same situation was in evidence where closer races resulted in smaller majorities. There were the exceptions.

The Cass majority was down for several good reasons, not the least of them being Liberal candidate Walter C. MacDonald who conducted a short but sincere campaign. A likeable man with personality to burn, Walterd MacDonald came as close as anyone has in recent years to making a fight of it in hometown Winchester. The vote here was close. And it was expected to be close. A runaway result for either candidate would have been an insult to the other. As it turned out, both Mr. Cass, who won the town by 100 votes, and Mr. MacDonald, who polled more votes in Winchester than any of his predecessors, got a fair share in the eighty per cent. turnout of the electors.

There were other factors in the Grenville-Dundas vote. It was drastically down, and this hurt the Tories. It was down because of apathy. It was down because of the lukewarm feeling of many Conservatives towards the Tory government and Mr. Robarts who they say let Mr. Cass down three years ago. It was down because a lot of people said Fred Cass had become indifferent in the aftermath of his resignation from the cabinet.

This newspaper is not about to argue the facts of the past. Like the water, they are now downstream. We most certainly can assure "all" the people of Grenville-Dundas whom he represents that Mr. Cass is not indifferent. His election Tuesday night was an important moment in his political career, and there is every reason to believe that he will return to Toronto from a fresh mandate of the people armed with much enthusiasm, new ideas and a genuine desire not only to serve this great riding of Grenville-Dundas but the entire province.

Mr. MacDonald will again resume his active role as a community leader in Winchester. Whether or not he will continue to pursue any political aspirations will be his own choice. We doubt it. We think he has accomplished what he set out to do in the first place. And that was to set a spark alive in the flickering hopes of the Grenville-Dundas Liberal party. Indeed, he has done this to the point where the word is out that a good candidate (like Walter) and a good campaign could very well make the next election in Grenville-Dundas most interesting.

Men of the calibre of Mr. Cass and Mr. MacDonald warrant both our praise and our thanks.

Pollution !

The name of the game is pollution. The whole idea is to see how long we can go on polluting the air and waters without killing ourselves. At least, that is the way it has been for too many years. Now more than a few people including some government agencies are becoming alarmed.

Over the week-end we received a dose of pollution facts and figures from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Newspapers and magazines and radio are jumping on the bandwagon conscious of the necessity to do something about this dreadful problem now. The word is out that by the year 2.,000, just about 30 years from now, we will have used up the air sewer capacity which surrounds the earth for a limited twelve to fourteen miles. After that conditons, if we continue to do nothing to alleviate the situation, become unbearable. Lung conditions, cancer, heart disease and a dozen and one other maladies could spell doom.

Even today there are cities, like New York, Montreal, Toronto and Sarnia where the level of air pollution is dangerously high. In the town and rural district of Dunnville, Ontario, pollution is an acute problem. Millions of cars sending out unfiltered exhaust fumes, tall chimneys spewing out just about every kind of filth and unwanted chemicals, to mention only a few causes, are creating crucial pollution problems.

The same sad circumstances apply to our water supplies. Growing concern for polluted water is being shown in every quarter. In this area the Ottawa and Rideau rivers are prime examples of how pollution can contaminate a great waterway. Even the once mighty St. Lawrence with its fresh, clean waters is succumbing to the forces of contamination. It is a little hard to take but picture this: A swimmer in one of the favourite spots of a nearby river gets a mouthful of water, as most swimmers do from time to time. He gags and coughs and wheezes, spits out the unwanted water and continues to enjoy the facilities. Here is the point. In that mouthful a portion, small as it may have been, could have originally been flushed down the bowl in the bathroom of some home, or the lavatory of a business farther upstream. This is actually happening, along the St. Lawrence, along many waterways. And it all leads to contamination of waters. In the case of the air we breath, it is called pollution.

Although millions of dollars are being earmarked in the fight against pollution, and although our laws have been given more teeth in the last couple of years, we are still a long way from finding the real answers. Right now pollution is a bad word in too many circles, a political football which our politicians like to kick around. It could also be called a play on words as representatives of large manufacturing concerns and other officials from all levels of government continue to hedge, continue to evade the question with noncommittal phrases.

The sad fact of the matter is that pollution is most serious today. And if we are ever again to breath clean air and swim in clean water we must act now. The costs of clearing up the mess are not that high when one considers what the eventual outcome will be. The action taken, however, will depend on the individual showing concern. Only when there is an urgent demand by the people across the country will legislation be introduced to really do something to rectify this awful situation.

Times have changed

I wonder what a teacher of 50 years ago would think if he walked into a classroom today? Personally, I think he'd be toted off in a state of deep shock.

Some aspects of the atmosphere would be familiar: the box-like, claustrophobic construction; the smell of chalk-dust and bodies; the windows that stick and won't open; the scuffling and the snuffling.

And the place would be full of kids, of course. They'd probably be much the same, inside. Human beings don't change their basic emotions, their hates, fears, shyness and aggressiveness, in a generation or two if ever. But they certainly wouldn't look the same.

The appearance of the boys would rattle him a bit, with their cowboy boots, their polka-dot shirts, their carefully waved hair, and their world-weary expressions.

But the sight of the girls would rock him right back on his heels. Never mind the lipstick, eye-shadow and net stockings. He'd probably turn pure puce the first time he looked down those rows of miniskirts, with the odd garter belt, in all its feminine loveliness, showing here and there.

Those wouldn't be the only shocks he'd receive. Let's say he taught in a school with 300 students, half a century ago. Quiet, droning periods. Leisurely one and a half hour lunch period.

I'd like to see this chap step out into the hall of a school with 1500 inmates, during one of the lunch periods. Unaccustomed to using his shoulders, knees and elbows, he'd be a grease spot on the terrazo floor in two minutes.

If he did happen to make it, he'd gulp his lunch in the cafeteria, with the din of 500 students as sauce for his wieners and beans. Or he'd choke down a sandwich in the staff room, 'mid a litter of coffee cups, a pall of smoke, and a cacophony of fellow practitioners of the art.

Checking his mail-box after lunch, he'd find: two memos from the administration; a pamphlet from the Department of Education, very badly written; a note from the librarian telling him that Susie Doakes' book was overdue; a brochure from a publisher; a billet-doux from the vice-principal; a bill for his federation insurance; and three announcements of contests, all sponsored by commercial firms.

Being an old-fashioned, conscientious teacher, he would probably not file these in the waste-basket.

Back in his classroom, trying to teach with the raw materials, a book, a blackboard and some students, he would be interrupted by: the public-address system telling him to send Joe Smutz to the office: by Jack Diltz just arriving back from guidance counsellor; or by four stalwarts leaving for the junior football game.

During the day, he would discover that he was either a dodo bird, extinct, or a phoenix — that bird which reputedly arises from its own ashes and flies in ever-diminishing circles until there is only one place to go.

This would be occasioned by the maze of equipment which he would be forced to master. Record-players, tape-recorders, overhead projectors, underhand deflectors, and the like.

And he would have my utmost sympathy. I can drive a car. Used to be able to fly an airplane. Can run a washing machine in a pinch. But lead me toward a duplicating machine, or anything more complicated than a hand-cranked gramophone, and I pale with terror.

After school, our friend would find that he would have a committee meeting about gum-chewing, or a staff meeting about pupils acting like humans, or a thrilling hour with the three students interested in the stamp club.

I don't think he could hack it, poor devil.

Ottawa Report by Mrs. Jean Wadds

On Tuesday, October 17, Hon. John Turner moved the second reading of Bill C-161 to establish a department of corporate and consumer affairs.

Mr. Turner is often called the John F. Kennedy of Canadian politics and indeed he has many similarities, sometimes even to tone of voice. He led off his introduction of second reading with a very eloquent comment on our changing society. He is concise and articulate. He said: "The consequence of change is a constant reassessment of present practices, institutions and ideas. Each new morning brings some obsolescence to some aspect of our lives."

Later, most of the opposition speakers pointed out that Mr. Turner sounded good and he looked good, but did he really mean what he was saying. There was a heavy suggestion, even accusation, as had been made on the resolution stage of the bill, that this legislation was merely window dressing and would be meaningless.

Mr. Neilsen, Chief Opposition Spokesman, returned to his original question and insisted on clarification as to whether this is a bill simply to rename the Registrar General's Department or will the effect be to set up an additional separate department.

My own disallusionment, with the smoothly articulated presentation by the Minister, came in his answer to this. He said: "Mr. Speaker, I know that my answer to the hon. member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen) is going to disappoint him, because part of his argument is going to be based, as it was on the resolution stage, on his contention that this is an additional department of government and, in his mind, an addition to what he was prone to call the bureaucracy in the government service. He is partly right, partly wrong; half right and half wrong; wrong for the right reasons and right for the wrong reasons. In effect, it will be a new department, but it will assume the present responsibilities of the Department of the Registrar General, and the functions of the Registrar General are continued by the provisions of clause 8 of the bill. So that while it is a new department it does not add to the structure of government."

Friday morning, in an old time free swinging speech, Harold Winch of the NDP from Vancouver East, flailed the young minister for beautiful manners and oratory, but no sincerity. He ended by reminding the House of the adage, "Handsome is as handsome does."

Following him for the Conservatives came Jed Baldwin Q.C., Peace River. Mr. Baldwin is probably least known of the really outstanding Members of Parliament. He gained considerable national attention when he moved the nomination of Robert Stanfield at the September National Conservative Convention in Toronto. The very fact that Jed Baldwin was chosen for this job attests to his high standing amongst the Conservative members supporting Bob Stanfield, many excellent experienced speakers, any one of who would have been pleased with the honour. Jed Baldwin is held in such high esteem that no one would think of questioning or opposing his being so honoured.

Following the accusations of insincerty thrown at young Mr. Turner, it was heavy going to have this chorus supported by a man of Jed Baldwin's character and intelligence. As usual, he went to the heart of the matter and asked what benefits would be secured by the passing of this legislation. It was Mr. Baldwin's contention that no one is very clear as to what is meant by consumer's affairs and there is nothing in this bill to guide us. He expressed the fear, which I believe will undoubtedly come about, that this legislation will be something less than the people of this country want. Although, at first blush, most people think think that any mention of consumers' affairs have to do with the prices people have to pay. it may become all too evident that the only basic purpose behind this legislation is to introduce this all encompassing glamour-tag "Consumer Affairs."

It would neither be right nor proper to set up control of prices which would eventually lead to control of production which the minister, Mr. Turner, knows all too well. Mr. Baldwin pointed out that the minister's legal and business training were struggling mightily with his instincts as a politician. In his usual pleasant way, he drew an amusing picture of Mr. Turner's intent — that Canadian housewives should feel themselves protected as they walked through rows and rows of merchandise, with the happy feeling that John Turner is looking after me.

In his usual constructive way Mr. Baldwin had helpful suggestions to offer. He thought some consideration should be given to a joint board set up by the federal and provincial governments where each would delegate adequate authority, not for the purpose of policing prices, but to pin-point glaring prices where interests of the consumer had been exploited. Mr. Baldwin strongly recommended that a bill of this importance House where further recommendations might be incorporated and a better bill could be prepared. It would be most beneficial to Canadian consumers if the minister took Mr. Baldwin's advice.

The Seventh Column

Of course officials in any contact sport are most vulnerable to criticism. Most of the time we try to take a long look at some of the more controversial calls and, if possible, defend the official because he was closer to the play and knows more about the rules of the game. But again on Sunday afternoon in Toronto officials of the Canadian Football League demonstrated that if any improvements are needed in the game they certainly must start with the men who blow the whistles, and, on occasion, who do not blow them. In addition to a couple of questionable calls which set up the tie for the Argonauts one blaring incident occurred when Margene Adkins fumbled the ball and made an attempt to recover it. How could he? He was being held pinned to the ground by an opposing Argo player while the referee was almost stumbling over them. No whistle and no call. And what about the final play of the game? Fans on the field and a whole lot of confusion. In our opinion Sunday's game was poorly officiated. And this is not taking anything away from either team. It was a dandy game to see. But the quicker the CFL takes some sort of action to improve officiating the better it will be for both the fans and the players. There are dozens of minor infractions which slip by in every game. It's a little hard to take, though, when the infraction is as evident as a couple on Sunday and the matter is completely ignored by the people who are paid to know. Someone said it before... a million dollar game with two bit officiating. A statement like that may be carrying the matter a little too far...until you come up with a spectacle like the Sunday affair in Toronto. Then you begin to wonder!

Did you know that in Canada the area most vulnerable to earthquakes is right here in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys. The area least susceptible is northern Ontario, northern Quebec and generally the north central and eastern sections of the country. Authorities point out that the only reason we do not have massive destruction of life and property from earthquakes in this country is because we are still sparsely populated. In a few years, these same authorities point out, the situation could worsen. Many of the shocks felt here are more severe than others felt in areas of the world where damage often runs into the millions and where lives are lost by the thousands. One of the biggest quakes happened right here in 1944 with a magnitude of 5.9, extremely high. Although we had more than two million dollars in damage, particularly in the Cornwall area, no one was killed. The Agadir, Morocco earthquake had a magnitude of 5.75 and reportedly killed 12,000 people in addition to total destruction of many buildings.

Here is an interesting little fact of life. Teenagers spend most of their money on entertainment. And close to 90 per cent of them own ball point pens.

Something for council and Chamber of Commerce to keep in mind. There are incentive payments of up to $500,000 for qualified companies locating in Eastern Ontario which are not designated for assistance by the federal government. The payments will be considered for secondary manufacturing companies establishing new facilities or making improvements and additions. For warehouses and other concerns which have a direct relationship with secondary manufacturing and which would contribute substantially to the local economy. For tourist developments which would effectively raise the occupancy levels in local tourist establishments. Payments will be made available in the form of interest free loans which will be forgiven after six years if the company has stayed in the area and performed satisfactorily. Other programs under the Ontario Development Corporation also guarantee bank loans and assist in the leasing of buildings and facilities for industry.

Finally this week did you hear about the judge who went to the dentist and said: Do you swear to pull the tooth, the whole tooth and nothing but the tooth?

Lions Governor Visits Metcalfe Club

Service Clubs are always pleased when their District Governor pays a visit, and the Metcalfe and District Lions Club members were on their best behaviour on the evening of October 11th when Governor L. T. Nolan made his annual Official Visit.

There was a difference, however, since Lion Governor Lee is also a member of the Metcalfe and District Club — a Charter member with perfect attendance—a Past President, a Past Zone Chairman and a Past Deputy Governor.

Introduced by Programme Director Lion Eric MacDonald, the Governor impressed on the members the value of Lions Clubs throughout the world. (Lions International is the largest Service Organization in the world).

"To be a good Lion, the first requisite is to be at all meetings," said Governor Lee, "and working with fellow members can be fun. Our service to those in need," he went on to say, "is the rent we must pay for our stay on earth."

Lion Bill Porteous thanked the Governor and presented him with a gift on behalf of all members.

Osgoode Township Citizens Mourn Operator's Death

The June 22nd edition of The Press this year carried a picture captioned "Operator" Gone, and showed Osgoode Reeve Dr. W. A. Taylor making the first call on the new dial system.

Dr. Taylor spoke in glowing terms of the girls who had so faithfully served the public as operators on the old system. Last week, at Winchester Memorial Hospital, one of those operators died. Telephone subscribers throughout the length and breadth of Osgoode Township, as well as a host of friends throughout the district will mourn the passing of Mrs. Donald Cameron.

Mary, as she was best known by those who rang "operator" for information at all hours of the day or night, was the wife of Donald Cameron of Metcalfe.

Mrs. Cameron was the daughter of the late Hopper Ireland and his wife, Elizabeth Clarke. Surviving besides her husband are three sisters: Mrs. Maud Morris, Osgoode; Mrs. Muriel Hill, Quebec City, and Mrs. Eleanor Boyd of Ottawa. Also surviving are two brothers David Ireland of Metcalfe and John Ireland of Ottawa.

A very impressive funeral service was conducted at the Vice and Craig Funeral Home by Rev. C. Dawes of Metcalfe United Church, on Saturday afternoon.

Pall-bearers were Wellington Miller, Stirling Bishop, Andrew York, Milton Jeacle, Wilton Thompson and Joe Rowan. Interment was in Springhill Cemetery.

Congratulations!

Monday Oct. 23rd was a very special day for Mrs. Charles Graham of Edwards, who celebrated her eighty-second birthday on that date.

OMITTED

The Press apologizes for an error in last week's edition. In writing the obituary for the late William Marcellus of Morewood, no mention was made in the list of survivors of Russell Marcellus of Winchester who is the only son of the deceased.

Seaway High School Wins KAS Softball Tournament

The second annual K.A.S. Invitational High School Softball Tournament was held at Kemptville Agricultural School on October 14. Despite the threatening weather, the competitive spirit of thirteen teams from seven schools was not dampened. One of the highlights of the tournament was the game between South Carleton High School and K.A.S. in the opening round of the boys' section. After regulation time they were tied 5-5. It took five more innings of spectator pleasing ball before South Carleton won 7-6.

Seaway High School of Iroquois won the tournament for the second year by defeating North Dundas High School in the final game. The Most Valuable Player award (boys) was won by M. McGinn of the Seaway High School.

Seven of the teams in the tournament were in the girls' section. After six exciting games of softball Perth and District Collegiate met Seaway High School in the finals, which Perth won. Miss B. McIntyre of Perth was awarded the Most Valuable Player award (girls).

Schools represented in the tournament were Seaway High School, North Dundas District High School, Perth and District Collegiate Institute, North Stormont District, Osnabruck, and South Carleton High Schools, and the hosts, Kemptville Agricultural School.

"Successful poultrymen are a combination of financial wizard, poultry husbandryman and marketing expert. To be of real value to this man, the sales and serviceman must be better informed than the customer in all of these important areas." ## Twenty-Second Anniversary Of Canada Savings Bonds

This year marks the 22nd anniversary of Canada Savings Bonds, and during the next two months, hundreds of thousands of employees in factories, offices and other establishments in the country will be able to purchase the 1967 series through the payroll deduction plan.

In the 22-year period more than $4 billion worth of these bonds have been purchased on the payroll savings plan.

This plans is an easy and convenient way of buying Canada Savings Bonds. The employee simply places an order with his employer for the amount of bonds he wishes to purchase. Each month, a specific amount of money is deducted from his wages or salary to pay for the bonds. These payments can be extended over a 12-month period.

The 1967 series will be sold at par until November 15.

The new series will provide an average yield of 5.48% if held to maturity in 13 years. The annual rate of interest paid is 5¼% fo six years, 5½% for 3 years and 6% for the remaining four years. The compound interest feature in last year's Centennial series of bonds is being retained, giving purchasers the opportunity to double their investment if they refrain from cashing the bonds and the interest coupons until the maturity date in 1980.

Last year, 694,000 employees across Canada bought $269 million of Canada Savings Bonds through the payroll savings plan.

A new feature of this year's series is that purchasers may buy up to $50,000, five times the limit applied to last year's issue, and purchases are not confined to individuals, but may be groups, organizations, fraternal societies, etc.

In addition to being purchased through payroll savings, the new series will also be available for purchase from chartered banks ,investment dealers stockbrokers, and trust and loan companies.

R. D. SAWYER

"The Department of Geography endeavurs to show students the influences of nature upon man i.e., the student himself." This statement comes from Mr. R. D. Sawyer, B.A., Head of the Geography Department of North Dundas District High School. Assisting Mr. Sawyer in the department this year are Mr. John Kitchak, B.A., and Mr. Bruce Bowker, B.A .

Geography is taught to the Grade 9-13 classes in the Academic stream and to Grades IX and X in the Commercial and Technical groups. A total of approximately 500 students are studying Geography this year.

Modern maps, filmstrips, slides of other lands and peoples, geography and industries supplement the text books to make the subject more interesting. Field trips, both local and distant, are utilized so that students can form ideas regarding the life other people derive from their landscapes.

Through the above media, geography makes the students more aware of their local environment and also the surroundings of other countries and, hopefully, makes them better citizens.

Glengarry and Grenville-Dundas

Initial Meeting Seaway Valley Presbytery

Recently the newly-formed Seaway Valley Presbytery of the United Church held its initial meeting in Chesterville, host of Rev. L. M. Ferguson. The Seaway Valley presbytery came into being through the amalgamation of the former presbyteries, Glengarry and Grenville-Dundas.

The newly elected chairman, Rev. H. W. Giffin, of Ingleside, presided at the meeting with Rev. Leslie Dean of Iroquois as secretary and Rev. Clare Kellogg of Cornwall as treasurer.

Such a Presbytery includes some eighteen to twenty committees on the various areas of its interest and responsibility. At this special meeting, these committees came under three general commissions—a method adopted for the first time. Chairman of the Outreach Commission is the Rev. L. M. Ferguson. Chairman of the Congregational Life and Work Commission is Rev. Cecil Dawson of Long Sault. And chairman of Administration Commission is Rev. Douglas Carnegie of Prescott. The chairman of the United Church Women will be later named when a similar amalgamation of the U. C. W. will take place early in the new year.

In his opening remarks the chairman, Mr. Giffin, stated that "In our age of change such an amalgamation of these two presbyteries was a wise and sensible accomplishment whereby the Kingdom of God in our midst could be enhanced the better. Edcuation makes good men that they may act nobly because they are good But the responsibility of putting sound logic into the minds of those about us to foster human happiness and society's welfare is not of prime importance. Greater far, our main responsibility is that we create the rule and reign of righteousness far and wide; to trim the lamps of our various churches so that their light should shine brighter and farther. No amount of fine feelings may take the place of faithful doing."

The Seaway Valley presbytery now includes 35 pastoral charges, 28 ordained clergymen serving a charge with the same number of elected laymen, six student supply ministers, one deaconess along with several representative ladies who are corresponding members.

The bounds of this new presbytery run East as far as Hawkesbury, Lancaster and Alexandria, as far as Maitland and Merrickville to the West Kemptville, Easton's Corners and Jasper make the northern boundary, with the St. Lawrence River to the south. It also includes the two Youth Camps, Kagama and Rideau Hill.

How Much For A Cigarette ?

(By E. K. Pearson)

During the summer our radio frequently blasted out a tune called "Come On Mary Ann." While not in a position to collect any royalties, I have a strong suspicion that I provided the inspiration for this popular hit. The author must have stood behind me at a certain trotting track.

To begin at the beginning, we must go back more than five years to the first meeting with Mary Ann. She was a rather scraggly looking individual but she did have a flat bone and clean leg and there was something about her sharpness; something about the way she walked that was impressive. Perhaps with a few beauty treatments and some good care she might have the goods to be a winner.

In case we've confused you, Mary Ann C was a yearling Standardbred filly, sired by House of Lords, a royally bred son of Volomite and out of Marjorie Ann Brook by Miller Brook. The dam traced back to a famous racing family called Nervolo Bell.

Some place, somewhere, I had been stung with the "horse bug" and there came a compelling passion to own a race horse. It may have happened at the Fall fairs back home. It may have been the annual visit to the Orangeville Races on Dominion Day, where my father took me to see such pacing bear cats as Lastic Gratton, Peter Chilcoot and Bert Patch. A bear cat, incidentally, is horseman's terminology for a horse that has a great burst of speed and can pour it on for a long distance for race after race.

In any case, the price of this skinny little filly was $300.00 and this I could raise — but what about the considerable cost of upkeep?

Eureka! I exclaimed, as a new thought came. Since I had tried to quit smoking at least twenty times but was still smoking 30 or 40 cigarettes a day, I would quit smoking permanently! The money saved would pay most of the cost of feeding the horse. I knew where I could get a cheap and convenient stall. This self-made deal said, "Start smoking again and the horse must be sold."

There is nothing quite so objectionable as a reformed smoker but I have not smoked since the day the mare was purchased, June 1st, 1962 at 10.15 a.m. I still have the horse even though a cigarette still smells mighty good.

It didn't take long to discover that the cost of smoking was only a beginning in the cost of developing a race horse. There is harness at $150.00 a set, a second hand cart at $100.00. hopples at $85.00, shin boots knee boots, shoes at about $10 per month, worming and veterinary expenses, etc., etc. In spite of costs, the awful part of it is that of all the colts put into training, only about one in four make the grade to pay their expenses at the race track.

My previous experience with horses has been confined to work horses on the farm, but in any case, Mary Ann soon became quite placid and easily managed. Furthermore, with some good feed, careful grooming and many lumps of sugar, she got to be a good looking beast. But, this was only the beginning for now came the long, patient training required to develop speed and stamina and manners, all so necessary to a race horse.

My friend and advisor in all activities was one, Dr. Archie Shannette. A kindly, retired medical doctor, he was as interested as I in the progress of Mary Ann C. First came halter breaking, then the bit. Next came the back band and crupper, and this was followed by side reining to accustom the horse to the pull of the bit. Then came line driving on long lines and finally after months of preparation — the first careful hitching.

With all these preliminaries Mary Ann C drove off like an old horse and she's been doing it ever since. She may not have been the fastest horse in the world but she must have been the best mannered. The children could drive her and most of all they liked to hook a toboggan on behind the cart for a fast spin around the winter track.

The next two years had many ups and downs. At one point it looked as if she'd never make it to the track. It was a personal matter for, rightly or wrongly, it was said that yours truly in a rush to get to work one day had failed to cool his mare out properly. She had stiffened up in front and as a result would never race.

A race horse man must be something like a prairie wheat farmer and never give up. Day in, day out, in cold winter weather the horse must be jogged five or six miles a day. Then comes the working on fast miles of training which is done twice a week. Ever so gradually the horse must be trained faster and faster. Finally, if one is lucky, that desired racing speed is reached. We didn't give up on Mary Ann.

Mary Ann made it as a four year old. She was photoed out in her first start and then proceeded to win four of her next five starts. After that her career was up and down for she was bothered with her old ailment but in two years of racing had ten wins and paid her keep nicely. The pictures taken in the winners' circle are prized possessions, especially on the four or five occasions I was able to be present.

Perhaps the greatest thrill came in her first start at Richelieu Raceway in Montreal. The trainer hadn't much hope for a win but figured she'd be some place in the top five. It was the only time I expected to see her race that summer and so hoped for the best. You may have to get a horseman to translate some of the following but here is the race in "horsey" terms.

She drew the five hole and got off to a good start getting to the rail in fifth without trouble. The 3 horse was cutting out the quarter and got there in 30.2 — pretty fast, but Mary Ann C is hanging on nicely. At about the three-eighths pole my driver made a move to the outside, but as he did so a horse in front also pulled out. So, there she was on the rim but covered up for a half in 1:03 and a piece.

Then they all started to move and at the far turn they're all in a bunch, hitting the three-quarter pole in 1:35. Suddenly they are coming round the turn and down the stretch. "Come on Mary Ann! Come on Mary Ann! Come on Mary Ann!" Mary Ann C goes to the far outside and she's coming hard, neck and neck with the 1 horse. Here they come, horses all across the track and as they crossed the wire in 1:07.4 my heart sank for I feared that the 1 horse was a snout in front. It was a photo finish and what a photo finish! The judges must certainly have been looking at the picture with a magnifying glass for the time seemed endless. And then it happened. The lights on the tote board flicked and up went number 5. Mary Ann C. She won!

Grinning from ear to ear and with a cluster of friends we rushed out to the winners' circle for the customary photo.

Maybe, if you're a golfer, you've shot a hole-in-one.

Maybe you've scored a winning goal in a hockey play-off.

Each man to his own memories. Mine consist of a gentle bay mare giving everything she had to get to the winners' circle. Thank you, Mary Ann C.
