Al VanBridger Suffers Injuries In Auto Crash

Winchester Press employee Allen VanBridger narrowly escaped death when his 1973 Toyota was involved in a highway crash last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. VanBridger was returning to Winchester from Morrisburg when the accident occurred approximately two miles north of Williamsburg on Highway 31.

The other vehicle involved was being driven by Mrs. Sharon Vanderveen, also of Winchester who was proceeding south. Mr. VanBridger was alone in his car but Mrs. Vanderveen was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Ella Mae Bouck.

'Al', who is Winchester Hawks public relations director and an active promoter of all Winchester sports programs, was rushed to Winchester District Memorial Hospital where he was examined and then transferred to Ottawa Civic Hospital suffering severe fractures and lacerations. Hospital reports indicated he suffered a double fracture of the left leg, fractured ankle, broken arm and fractured jaw, as well as, severe lacerations and bruises.

Both Mrs. Vanderveen and Mrs. Bouck were treated at Winchester District Memorial Hospital for minor facial lacerations and bruises.

Constable Heidinga of Morrisburg detachment, O.P.P. is investigating.

Al's host of friends will be pleased to learn his condition was listed as satisfactory on Tuesday afternoon.

Another Winchester Election

Monday March 10th could be 'Election Day' at Winchester. Raymond Annable, Returning Officer for the Village has released a notice to electors that in the event more than one candidate qualifies following nominations for the Deputy-Reeve's post recently vacated by Keith Marquette, then voters will go to the polls on that date.

The seat was made vacant when Mr. Marquette, having accepted a promotion with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, feared there might be some conflict of interest and tendered his resignation. Mr. Marquette, a former Councillor, had been elected Deputy Reeve in December.

Mr. Annable, in his announcement, reported the period for nominations will be from Thursday February 20th until Monday February 24th at 5:00 p.m.

The Returning Officer also notes that should an election be necessary an Advance Poll will be open on Saturday March 1st in the Clerk's Office.

Mel Vice Will Contest Position

Mel Vice, owner-operator of Vice Furniture Ltd., Winchester, indicated to the Press on Tuesday afternoon that, in the event an election is called to fill the Deputy-Reeve's chair recently vacated by Keith Marquette, he will again be offering his services.

Mr. Vice indicated at that time he had no way of knowing exactly how council planned to fill the vacancy, but was of the opinion an election would be called.

Mr. Vice expressed some concern that ratepayers might not favour the expenditure made necessary by an election, and felt an acclamation at this time would save taxpayers many dollars.

Mr. Marquette's only opponent in the December election was Mr. Vice, who lost out by approximately 200 votes.

It's Carnival Time!

Morrisburg In Full Swing, Winchester And Metcalfe Next Week

Morrisburg Winter Carnival is in full swing this week; Metcalfe lifts the curtain on its annual presentation on Sunday and four days later the fun begins at Winchester.

Special features at Morrisburg this weekend include an exciting hockey game on Friday night when Morrisburg 'Old Timers' will challenge the R.C.M.P. stalwarts.

"The Mounties claim they always get their man", commented one old timer, "but on the ice they'll have to catch us first, and I doubt if they can."

Following the game the new Carnival Queen will be crowned and for those who favour less strenuous action the spotlight will be on the curling rink where a bonspiel will be in progress.

Minor hockey will be in the limelight throughout the day on Saturday and the 1975 carnival will end on a happy note with a Valentine Dance at the Civic Centre.

METCALFE ACTIVITIES BEGIN THIS SUNDAY

A giant parade will launch the annual winter event at Metcalfe next Sunday afternoon and the carnival spirit will prevail for eight solid days and nights.

Following the opening parade fun-lovers will be treated to an exciting hockey game when Metcalfe Jets play host to Alexandria Glens at 2:15.

The entire program appears elsewhere in this newspaper but some of the highlights of the week include the Monte Carlo Night at the Community Centre on Monday evening; a giant Bingo on Tuesday night; Senior Citizens' party Wednesday; costumes, racing, and crowning of the Carnival Queen on Thursday night and on Friday night another exciting hockey game with the league-leading Cornwall squad in town. The excitement continues to build through Saturday and ends late Sunday afternoon.

WINCHESTER KICK-OFF ONE WEEK AWAY

A full-page spread elsewhere in this edition tells the exciting story of Carnival '75 at Winchester. Although both Winchester and Metcalfe will be running at the same time it is not felt the overlapping will in any way affect interesting programs.

Winchester has planned elaborate breakfasts, dinners and suppers with daily programs geared to please all ages.

Some feature events include skating parties, hockey games, broomball games and dances.

Two very competitive hockey games are scheduled. One, on Friday night (Feb. 21) when Inkerman ROckets join Winchester "Old" Juniors to play Town League All-Stars.

Another real thriller should develop when Morrisburg Combines tangle with a town league team.

Crowning of the new Carnival Queen will of course highlight the entire event and organizers have something very special to offer in the way of dancing--a 'Nostalgia Dance'.

Sounds like a fun week wherever you are!

Winchester 100 Club Changes Meeting Date

Due to Carnival '75 events, Winchester 100 Club members are requested to make note of the change in date for their February Meeting, from Thursday, February 20th to Thursday, February 27th.

Centurians are also reminded that their club is co-sponsoring The Carnival Pancake Breakfast on Saturday, February 22. Those planning to help are urged to contact Al Scott.

Cindy Kerr Crowned Hallville Snow Queen

Osgoode Council Passes By-Law, Changes Tax System

Osgoode Township council at last Monday night's meeting passed a By-Law to levy and collect a portion of the realty taxes for the year 1975 before the adoption of estimates for the year 1975. Clerk-Treasurer Fred Wilson explains that Section 303 (1) of The Municipal Act authorizes a municipality, in any year, before the adoption of the estimates for that year, to levy on the whole of the assessment roll a sum not exceeding 50 per cent of that which would be produced by applying to such assessment the total rate for all purposes levied in the preceding hear on residential real property of public school supporters.

Mr. Wilson states further that Section 303 (2) authorizes council to make a similar levy on business assessment.

Council felt it necessary to take such steps noting that the 1974 rate on residential real property of public school supporters in the Township was 126.10 mills on the dollar and the whole of the assessment according to the last revised assessment roll is $7,632,935.00 (including business tax).

Dates for payment of taxes under this By-Law are as follows: 1. Due date of first instalment, March 27th, 1975; 2. Due date of second instalment, June 30th, 1975.

Such taxes, says Mr. Wilson, will be payable at the Township Office, Metcalfe, or any of the following banks: Bank of Nova Scotia, Kenmore; Royal Bank of Canada, Metcalfe; Bank of Nova Scotia, Russell; Bank of Nova Scotia, Osgoode; Royal Bank of Canada, Manotick.

John McArthur Stewart Dies

John McArthur Stewart a lifelong resident of this area passed away on February 4th in his eighty-ninth year. The late Mr. Stewart was born December 25, 1886 on the property east of Ormond where his grandfather had settled in the 1840's and which he, in his turn, farmed for many years. Moving to Winchester in 1944, he was associated with the late Hugh McMaster for a number of years prior to living a retired life.

In 1927 Mr. Stewart married Margaret McVey who predeceased him by eleven months. In failing health the last year or so, he recently had taken up residence at Maxville Manor. His survivors include one son Hugh of Pointe Claire, Quebec, four grandchildren John, Kathy, Andrew and Mary Ann and one sister Mrs. Spurgeon Boyd (Jean) of Toronto - formerly Vernon.

In his youth Mr. Stewart espoused the Baptist cause, an affiliation he maintained throughout his life.

Funeral service was conducted by Rev. J.L. Mair pastor of Winchester Baptist Church from Vice & Craig Chapel on Friday, February 7th. During the service Mr. Stewart's grandson John read the 90th Psalm. Pall bearers were Austin Carkner, Gary Armstrong, George Coons, Jack MacIntosh, Gerard Marion and Gerald Hill. Interment was at Ormond Cemetery. Following the graveside service, Piper William Stewart played a Scottish lament.

Provincial Police Amend Snow Vehicle Regulations

A spokesman for Winchester detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police reports important changes in the snow vehicles regulations and urges all snowmobile operators to take note.

The amendments to the act make it a traffic violation to operate a snow machine on the shoulder of road and, in addition, new speed limitations are now in force.

Formerly it was permissible to operate a snowmobile on the shoulder, but not the travelled portion of the road. Under the new regulations this is no longer allowed and such vehicles must remain between the shoulder and the fence - in other words in the 'ditch' portion of the right-of-way.

Operators should also note the new speed regulations. The recent amendment to the traffic act makes in an offence to travel in excess of 15 miles per hour in an area marked as a 30 m.p.h. zone; and also an offence to exceed 30 m.p.h. in an area where speed limits are greater than 30 m.p.h.

The O.P.P. spokesman, who said he thought the move was Aerialist's Shoes?

Pedestrians on Main Street East, Winchester, continued to be perplexed each time they gaze skyward and see a pair of running shoes hanging neatly on a high tension wire far above the street.

No one seems to know exactly how the shoes reached such a lofty perch, but there has been much speculation. There are those who offer sinister explanations possibly because they've been watching too many weird films on television. Some suggest they may have fallen from a passing plane, and others wonder if a North Dundas District High School pole vaulter may have been practicing in the area.

One chap, emerging from the nearby Legion Hall, offered what he felt was a logical explanation.

"No doubt", he said, "a tight-wire performer out for a stroll, his feet got sore so he took off his shoes."

Maybe, but then again there may be another explanation.

St. Valentine's Day

With trembling hands she opened
Her first real Valentine;
The roses burst upon her cheeks,
Her eyes were all ashine.

Ah! that was many years ago....
Those once bright eyes are dim;
And since that distant Valentine,
She's spent her life with 'him'.

But now, in Nineteen-Seventy-Five,
Mom's eyes once more are glad;
This morn a smiling postman brought
A Valentine from Dad!

Quick action by experienced school bus operator Mrs. Don Cinnamon speedily evacuated the ten remaining passengers when her bus caught fire on Monday afternoon.

The fire, of unknown origin, was noticed by Mrs. Cinnamon as she was proceeding west on the concession road X in Mountain Township and Winchester Fire Department was summoned as soon as possible.

However, although firemen arrived on the scene within minutes of the alert the blaze had already gutted the vehicle.

N.D.H.S. News

Roll up your sleeve to save a life...

It has been a long time, but here we are, back in the spot light again reporting the news from North Dundas.

The grade 13 exams are over and we're all either crying, heaving sighs of relief or plotting to confiscate the teachers' mark books. The second semester has begun and everyone is trying hard to get a good fresh start with their new subjects. For some of us it's do or die so here's hoping.

On Feb. 5 our boys' basketball team fell to their knees as they were defeated by Glengarry but it won't take much for them to get back on their feet again.

The boys aren't the only people involved in sports. Both girl's junior and senior volleyball teams travelled to Seaway High for an all day tournament. The juniors lost only one match, while the seniors won one. They play in a return tournament here at North Dundas, and we wish them all good luck on the court.

Carnival time is coming up; the dates are Feb. 27 and 28, and all kinds of "goings on" are planned. The theme is 'Nostalgia', and everyone is going to dress in costumes of the thirties. Already there are displays around the school to get the students in the mood. If everyone participates, it should be great fun.

Hopefully everybody will be back into the swing of things soon so we will have more to report in the future.

Final Tribute Paid Neil McDougal

Neil McDougal, formerly of Marvelville, but for many years a resident of western Canada, died on December 24th in Edmonton.

The late Mr. McDougal is the last surviving member of his family and he was predeceased by his wife several years ago. He was buried at Cold Lake, Saskatchewan.

IN MEMORIAMS

SCOTT—In everlasting remembrance of a loved one gone first, Clarence I. Scott who passed away February 10, 1972.
There is a gift in life we cannot buy
That's very rare and true.
It's the gift of a loved one
Like the one we had in you.
The many things you did for us,
In your kind and loving way
You gave us years of happiness.
No one can take away.
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why some things have to be,
In wisdom God has planned,
Beyond our power to see,
Looking back with memories,
Upon the path you trod,
We bless the years we had with you,
And leave the rest with God.
—Remembered always, by his wife and family and sadly missed. Joyce, Larry and Shirley Scott. 42p

WALLACE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Wallace, who passed away February 17, 1973.
Gone but never to be forgotten.
—Mrs. Gertrude Wallace, Evelyn Mike and family. 42c

McCASLIN—In loving memory of Luella W. McCaslin, who died February 16th, 1973.
Gone but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger.
While here on earth we stay.
—Husband, brothers and sisters. 42p

WADDELL—In loving memory of a dear Mother and Grandmother, Elizabeth Waddell, who passed away February 10, 1974.
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Lorne, Joyce and grandchildren. 42c

McQUAIG—In loving memory of Percy H. who passed away February 14, 1973.
If I could have one lifetime wish
One wish that could come true,
I'd wish with all my heart,
For yesterday and you.

Metcalfe Jets Cinch Play-off Berth

Metcalfe Jets, with two weekend victories clinched a play-off berth in the St. Lawrence Division of Ottawa and District Hockey League.

Both were home games with Long Sault 'Pats' providing the opposition and Winchester Hawks on Sunday afternoon.

Only a handful of fans were on hand Friday night and those who stayed home missed one of the best games of the season. Most coaches agree refereeing makes the game and this was much in evidence Friday night when both teams commented following the game on the excellence of the officiating.

Unfortunately the same could not be said of Sunday's encounter when the largest crowd of the season was on hand to watch Winchester's Hawks fighting desperately to advance to play-off money.

Officiating in that one left much to be desired and because of the referee's inconsistency the game dragged on for over three hours.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Marty Kelly opened the scoring early in the first period on Friday night and his unassisted marker was the only goal of the first twenty minutes of play.

Steve Morris scored his first of two in the second period and the Jets skated out for the final period with a slim 2-goal margin. Long Sault's Jim Losey narrowed the margin when he scored on a pass from Neil Simpson and Brian Snider, but a minute later Morris bulged the twine again on a blistering shot from the point.

Brian Snider kept Long Sault's hopes alive when he combined with Simpson and John Sellers for the Pats' second goal, but again the Jets moved two up when Jeff Smith scored with an assist going to Morris. Brian Snider notched his second of the period but despite a series of power plays Brian Cochrane in the Metcalfe net refused to yield and Jets added three points to their total.

SUNDAY

Marty Kelly started the ball rolling again on Sunday afternoon when he circled the net early in the first period and slipped one past Leon. Five minutes later it was Kelly again, this time he had help from Larry Shields and Jeff Smith.

Hawks appeared a bit confused in the early stages of the game and Metcalfe took full advantage of the lapse adding two more goals before the period ended. Hugh Doyle combined with Shields for the first one and Mike Stanley finished a play engineered by Mike Rail and Mike Rochon.

The first eight minutes of the second period were scoreless but Jets added one more when Larry O'Brien fired one home. Assists were credited to Kelly and Shields.

At the half-way mark in the period two former Jets, Ron Gravelle and Gord Dowser teamed up with Larry Moore to beat Cochrane. Gravelle got the goal.

However Metcalfe appeared in complete control and added two more to make the score 7 to 1 after two complete periods. Shields and Harten were the marksmen with Kelly and Smith picking up assists.

The Hawks came on strong in the early stages of the final period scoring twice in less than five minutes. Lloyd Fawcett lit the light first and Jeff O'Neil picked up the second. Pete Brackenbury, John Kleinswormink and Glen Taylor each had assists.

Trailing by four goals with 13 minutes left to play the Hawks refused to give up and envisioned another come-back similar to their outstanding last-period surge against Prescott on Friday night.

However Shields netted his second of the game on a pass from Harten to increase the Jets lead and although Randy Drew added one more for Winchester time proved the greatest enemy and the gong sounded with Hawks trailing by four.

Following the game players from both teams, coaches, managers and fans assembled in the community centre hall to enjoy a delicious chinese smorgasbord.

Friday night's 50-50 draw winner was Ken Storie and he picked up $20.00. Sunday Don McDowell held the lucky ticket and was richer by $50.00.

Carnival Blast-Off One Week Away

One week from to-day (Thursday February 20th) Winchester's 4-day Winter Carnival extravaganza 'blasts-off' at 7:30 in the evening when delicious meals will be served at both United and Presbyterian Churches. Meals at the United Church will be prepared and served by ladies from both the United and Anglican groups, while Presbyterian and Baptist ladies will join forces at the Presbyterian Church.

Immediately following dinner the action shifts to the Community Centre where competent judges will have the pleasant task of selecting this year's 'Carnival Queen'.

A complete evening of fun is programmed and Wee Wee hockey players (and they're mighty small) will attempt to out-skate, out-shoot and out-score their mothers. It is understood no 'rough stuff' will be allowed. Winchester Figure Skating Club will present a colourful demonstration while judges are interviewing the lovely girls and immediately after the new Queen is crowned a novel broomball game will commence. This should be a genuine thriller with Joe Marquette's "TOWNSHIP CUTIES" opposing Lyall Simzer's "MOUNTAIN BELLES".

But that isn't all. Before the curtain falls on 'Day 1', Al Scott and Jack MacIntosh will be leading a torch-light parade and, at almost the same time, musicians will be tuning up for a teen dance.

DAY '2' (Friday)

Ladies of the town are requested not to prepare the evening meal on Friday. Instead encourage the old 'bread-winner' to drop in at the Legion Hall for a tasty ham and bean feed. Anytime between 5:00 and 7:00.

And that's only the beginning. Over at the rink action starts at 6:00 with atom hockey, ringette and 'Super Hockey' featuring those ageless Inkerman Rockets and the town league all-stars. Those in charge have arranged something very special in the entertainment field for later in the evening. Billed as a 'Nostalgia Dance' it will feature the music of 40's and 50's era when the young people were finding amusement at then-popular dance pavilions in Finch, Crysler, Metcalfe and Osgoode's picturesque light-house.

DAY '3' (Saturday)

You guessed it! You'll have to be up early that day but remember no need to prepare breakfast. Simply dash over to the Presbyterian Church and join friends at the pancake breakfast. Dress warm since most of Saturday's fun will be out-doors. The arena itself will be alive with minor hockey players throughout the day and the roar of snow machines will take over at the park by noon as powerful vehicles prepare for thrilling drag races. A 'Chuck Wagon Dinner' will be served at the Community Hall in the evening and another interesting hockey match is scheduled for the evening.

This time those 'infamous' Morrisburg Combines will tangle with another Winchester Town League team ---- this time the league's 'Super-Stars'.

A Carnival Dress Ball will wind up Saturday's activities and the committee in charge emphasized that by 'Dress' they don't mean formal. "What we mean", says one official, "is the type of dress one might expect to see at a carnival."

Now you take it from there!

DAY '4' (Sunday)

Sunday morning has been set aside as a time for family worship and it is understood all churches have prepared very unique services in keeping with the christian aspect of carnival time.

Throughout the afternoon emphasis will be on family fun with snowmobile rides, sleighrides, shows and a family lunch. Late in the afternoon some lucky ticket holder will win a trip to Montreal while snow-sculpturing and costume winners will be announced.

And as a fitting climax an ambitious project Winchester Hawks will play their last home game of the season against the highly-rated 'Alexandria 'Glens'.

Seaway Makes Provincials

The Seaway District High School rink skipped by Blair MacDonald of Morrisburg is in Orillia this week competing in the Ontario Schoolboy Championships.

The boys earned the play-down berth after emerging victorious in Division '1' and then eliminating the Division '2' champs at Renfrew a week ago.

Hawks Overpower Saints

Winchester Hawks, in a desperate late season drive for a play-off position in the St. Lawrence Division of Ottawa District Hockey League, literally 'pounced' on Prescott 'Saints' last Friday night. The huge crowd on hand had good reason to roar approval as their favourites out-shot and out-scored Prescott 8 to 3 in the last twenty minutes to take the victory 11 to 7.

The 'Saints' were enjoying a slim 1-goal lead going into the second period when the two fast-skating clubs matched goals and finished the second twenty minutes with Prescott still clinging desperately to a 1-goal margin. Each team scored three times in the period. The third period was a different story, however, and Winchester, apparently convinced it was 'now or never' put on a dazzling display to completely overpower the opposition notching eight goals. Jeff O'Neil led the scoring spree with three goals and four assists. Other marksmen were Randy Drew, Keith McRoberts and John Kleinswormink, with two each while Gord Dowser and Taylor each contributed singles.

In the assist departments many players added valuable points: Tom Kirkwood, 2; Ron Gravelle, 1; Larry Moore, 3; Peter Brackenbury, 4; Keith McRoberts, 1; John Kleinswormink, 2.

The 'Hawks' still have an outside chance of slipping into sixth and last play-spot, but have their work cut out for them. Luck of the draw (bad luck that is) makes it necessary to meet Cornwall twice; Alexandria twice and Cardinal once.

The players, inspired by their performance against Prescott, are confident they can do it.

Drive Defensively

Safety authorities are placing more and more emphasis on 'Defensive Driving' in an effort to cut down on the ever-increasing toll of traffic fatalities.

Defensive driving is basically good common sense. It doesn't pay to be right if it means being dead right.

Defensive driving techniques mean being able to prevent accidents even if they are not your "fault".

The Industrial Accident Prevention Association has listed some sample situations showing how a defensive driver reacts.

- A child is nearly hit because he darts out between parked cars into your path. A defensive driver would anticipate such actions by travelling slowly and being attentive, especially in a residential section or school area.
- In traffic, you make a sudden stop and you are hit by a following car. A defensive driver would avoid the necessity of a sudden stop by allowing a good distance between himself and the car in front of him.
- On an icy street, you are hit by a vehicle skidding through a stop sign. A defensive driver, especially under adverse weather conditions, should not enter an intersection unless he is sure all other vehicles were able to stop.
- Your light turns green, you enter an intersection, and you are hit by a vehicle running a red light. A defensive driver, even though he has the right of way, should make sure cross-traffic has stopped before proceeding.
- You are forced off of the road by a driver trying to pass your car because he did not allow himself enough passing room. A defensive driver would definitely have avoided this one. When being passed by a vehicle, if necessary, a defensive driver should slow down to compensate for a passing motorist's poor judgment.
- You are driving on a highway, and you are sideswiped by another car entering via an access road. While the other driver was wrong, a defensive driver could have spared himself the inconvenience, expense, and possible injury of an accident by either moving to the left lane or slowing down to allow the entering vehicle onto the thruway.

And it can never be said too often: "The life you save may be your own".

Progress - But With Caution

The whole world has become concerned with energy. Many basic amenities that people in the affluent lands took for granted just a year ago -- such as electric light and heat -- are no longer in abundant supply. In some countries, people are going without heat for days on end.

In Canada, heat and energy are vital to survival. And there has been considerable debate about the warning of Toronto lawyer Robert Macaulay that the energy policy Canadians select this year will determine our lifestyles, maybe our future and likely our existence."

Mr. Macaulay argues that Canadians face a serious energy situation -- or what he calls a life and death energy problem. He blames the federal government for failing to provide leadership during the past 10 to 20 years in the energy field. He accuses industry of dominating government policy amid public indifference.

If Mr. Macaulay paints what is perhaps too bleak and pessimistic a picture, it is mainly to alert the people of Canada to the dangers that lie ahead. Unlike people living in Indonesia, Australia and Egypt, in Africa and in Florida, Canadians must have ample energy during the long winters. It is more important to have heat than to keep the wheels of industry turning, for it means survival. Doubtless Canada, with its large areas and relatively small population, will not merely survive but will make great strides in the decades ahead. But today one must plan for progress with caution. The federal government would be wise to take an accurate inventory of the country's energy resources.

Liberation My Armpit!

by Bill Smiley

This, apparently, is Women's Liberation Year, or something of the sort. So be it.

Aren't you getting a little sick of it all? I mean you, and I don't care whether you're a man or a woman or a hermaphrodite.

Don't worry chaps; I am not afraid. I have a northern hideout, an old atom bomb shelter, with three women laid on: one to bathe me, one to dress me, and one to cook for me. So I'm going to say exactly what I want to, and let the chippies fall where they may.

First, I take a look at my own family, to see which women need liberating. Answer? Zero.

My wife needs liberating like I need a kick in the groin. Ever since I met her, she has been, not removing her chains, but applying mine. I clank when I walk.

She doesn't need to be liberated. She needs to be tied up. She has made it quite clear that she is: smarter than I about everything from making out the income tax return to screwing in a light bulb; better looking than I (and all we have to do is look in a mirror); more artistic than I (she's always frigging with the color thing on the television while I bellow 'I don't care if it's all purple, shut up and watch the program'); and in better shape than I. I always concede the last-named without a fight. I invariably say, "Boy, I could never scrub the kitchen in half an hour, like you. Dear. It would probably take me half the afternoon." And I'm right. So there's no conflict of interest there.

She also has a joint account, the house is in her name, the car is in her name, and if I dropped dead tomorrow, she'd have so much insurance she could give Jackie Onassis a run for her money. Liberation my armpit!

My daughter is in the same boat, or category. She alternately bullies and wheedles her father and her husband. She takes nothin' offa nobody, especially male cops. She is in a career course, and she is using, or kicking out of the way, every male who stands in her path. With one exception. She is being used and pushed around by the only male who could do it, her year-old, walking son, Pokey. And there is the only hope I see for the future of the male.

Looking further afield, I remember two dames who were so liberated you wondered who was wearing the pants in the family, in both cases.

One was my mother. She called the shots in our family from the time she put on her wedding ring. She decided which of the kids would be licked, and she did the licking. She decided what speed my dad should drive at. She pulled us through the Depression. My dad was a sweet, gentle chap like myself and always sat in the rumble seat on each new family enterprise.

My mother-in-law was the same. With a combination of tempers, tirades and tears, she made my father-in-law walk on eggs until he didn't feel comfortable unless he had an egg underfoot.

Ditto with my sisters and sisters-in-law. They bully and needle and haggle their men unmercifully. They continually make them feel that they (the women) had poor luck in the draw, and make veiled and usually imaginery references to the great chances they had to marry someone worthwhile, who turned out to be somebody.

And this phenomenon is not something new, something of the 20th century. Queen Boadicea, if anyone remembers her, had a great time smashing up Roman legions until she died of an overdose of woad.

Lady Macbeth was no shrinking, unliberated violet. She was more of a shrieking, liberated violent.

Queen Elizabeth I diddled her would-be lovers for years and ran a growing empire with a velvet glove in an iron fist.

Madame de Pompadour literally ran the French empire in the days of the 15th Louis, and she wasn't even married.

Nobody is weeping over Jackie what-ever, who bounced from a U.S. president to a Greek billionaire. Nor are many tears shed over the way poor little, helpless Liz Taylor has been mistreated by five or six or seven husbands.

Of course, all these women had charm, and drive, or both, and weren't too much concerned about the cost of hamburg. That's what the Women's Lib is going to hit me with, among other things.

One last example. I know a lot of women teachers. You think they need liberation? Like hell. They smoke and drink and swear like sailors and swagger around in comfortable pant suits while men strangle in shirts and ties. And the real clincher is that they make as much money as men, and frequently more. Top administrative jobs are open to them. They don't want them.

Why? Not because they can't handle them. Most of them would do a better job than the dim-witted males who now inhabit these posts. No. It's because they don't want to give up their feminine perks: staying home for two days with a sniffle; shooting off to the hair-dresser once a week; breaking into tears when everything becomes Too Much For Me.

I have always treated a woman as a woman first and a person second. I have used the same treatment with old men and little kids.

If I have to start treating women as people first and women second, I know who is going to complain the loudest. The women. And the second loudest complaint will be from yours truly. It will destroy all the mystery and glamor and excitement which are the only things that make life worthwhile.

Men, rally around. For years, both sexes have been equal, but women have been more equal than men. Now, all they want to do is widen the gap.

Some of my best friends have been women, but how would you like your son to marry one?

I once started a national campaign for PORK (Parents of Rotten Kids.) It was fairly successful.

Once more I appeal. Last time most of the joiners were women. This time, I want the men of Canada to stand up and be counted as members of my new organization. Don't nobody be scared.

It will be called(Men! Attack Female Independence. Anonymously. In short, MAFIA!

Editor,
The Winchester Press

Just as a point of interest the Post Office has outdone itself again. I received the September 5 and October 3, 1974 issues of The Press the same day - the first week of December! I might add that it is a rare occasion when I receive the paper within two weeks of the publishing date.

Thanks again for a good paper (better late than never).

Sandra Larose.

Editor's Note:

Thanks for your comment regarding both the very poor mail service and your appreciation of our efforts. The service, we might add, is very little better from West to East. The Christmas issue of 'The Interior News', Smithers, B.C., reached us on February 5th.

The Seventh Column

An air of gloom replaces the usual happy atmosphere of the office this week. The young employee, whose sharp wit and sunny disposition made it a pleasure to report for work each day, was seriously injured in a highway mishap on Saturday. Al VanBridger is the type of versatile staff member every employer cherishes, and filling those 'big boots', although only temporarily, is proving a mammoth task. Hawks fans will miss his regular weekly reports in which he has always offered glowing words of praise, where merited, in a dedicated effort to spur his favourites on to greater things. Our sports department will attempt to fill in till Al returns -- but it just won't be the same. Hurry back Al ..... the Hawks need you ..... the entire community needs you ..... and above all - WE need you!

We're back in the 'dog house' again this week, and we still like to think we're not entirely to blame. Absolutely nothing would please us more than to have all parts of our reading area mentioned weekly in this column, but one old guy with tired legs can't begin to keep abreast of activities in an immediate reading area covering nearly 1,000 square miles. Please remember [and we've said this many times before], for only eight cents you can send along interesting incidents in your home town, and friends we'd really be smiling if we received stacks of mail weekly addressed to - The Winchester Press - attention 7th column. Are you listening?

It has been suggested Winchester figure skaters have been neglected - and we agree. Unfortunately we just haven't the time to watch this highly interesting training program, although we sincerely wish we could see the girls in action each week. Under the guidance of, the very talented Mrs. Bonnie Castle the skaters, we understand, are now prepared to present a skating performance rivalled only by such an advanced training school as The Minto. Mrs. Castle is grooming her classes for a 2-hour show which will be presented at Winchester arena on Saturday March 1st. It is being billed as "SKATE CAPADES '75" and we suggest you make plans now to keep that date open. Lisa Holmes, a 10-year old, very talented and very lovely girl, will be guest skater for the occasion. Hope you'll be there.

Sometimes fate plays a cruel game. Many, many years ago Neil McDougal and Maggie Dow, a Marvellville area boy and girl attended the little one-room school that so ably served the educational needs of the closely-knit community. Gerald Hill, who remembers both very well, recently spent a month visiting friends in Canada's western provinces and sought out both Mr. McDougal and Miss Dow [now Mrs. Herb Hill]. Having been advised both were in Edmonton he flew from Vancouver only to find he was a few days too late. Mr. McDougal had died a week before. Mr. McDougal, prior to his death, had been residing at a home for the aged, and although his childhood friend Maggie Dow was spending her declining years in a similar institution directly across the street, neither ever learned how fate had drawn them back together in a city so far away from home.

We did some mighty smart thinking 34 years ago this week. We decided to be married the day after Valentine's Day realizing that, in the years that were to follow, one card would serve a dual purpose. Now we've been doing some more serious thinking this week and maybe, by using a small space near the bottom of this column, we can eliminate even that one card this time around, and buy a cigar with the twenty cents. So:

'Old Girl', a valentine to say,
We love you in the same old way
Despite the years and touch of grey
You're still the 'girl' we wed that day.

There may be some area curlers wondering why we didn't perform more brilliantly while participating in last week's 'Cash' bonspiel at Metcalfe. Actually there's a very valid explanation. One of the very first things we learned about the grand old game was that the fruits of victory must never be won at the expense of friendship -- and we just wanted to be real friendly with four youngsters visiting Metcalfe for the first time. And man alive were we friendly! Final score 11 to 2. Now some skips might blame such a dismal failure on ice conditions; others might bemoan the fact they got 'stuck' with a rotten rink; and still others might fault the 'fate of the draw'. Not this veteran, however -- the ice was excellent -- our rink played magnificently -- and the drawmaster did a tremendous job. Conclusion - the old skip was 'out for lunch'.

Prophetic Insight

by Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

A sense of the critical nature of things has often led some people to conclude that their age was the beginning of the End, the climax of history. There are those who hold this opinion nowadays.

The biblical passages on which predictions of the End have been based are found chiefly in Daniel and Revelation, together with a few texts from the Gospels and the Epistles.

Significantly, there is scarcely any reference to the collection of prophetic books that forms the second of the three divisions of the Hebrew Bible which is our Old Testament. Yet it is this division that contains the books of such prophets as Isaiah, Jeremiah, Amos and Hosea.

Moreover, the predictions have been made according to the theory of the mechanical inspiration of all Scripture. Literature of "Jehovah's Witnesses" is an illustration. Note this statement, "Just as an invisible radio beam can carry information to you, so God's invisible active force directed the writers of the Bible to put down what he wanted mankind to know." Such a view boggles the mind!

Consider the Book of Daniel. Antiochus Epiphanes decided to rule his Syrian empire with an iron hand. All parts were to adopt Greek culture for the sake of imperial control. The Jewish people tried to resist the despot.

In 168 B.C. Antiochus began to persecute them. Going as far as he could think of going, he desecrated the altar of the temple in Jerusalem by offering a pig there in honor of the Greek god Zeus. That was in the winter of 167 B.C. Further, his royal standard was carried from village to village and Jews were commanded to bow before it.

The Book of Daniel was neither known nor quoted before 160 B.C. But shortly thereafter it began to be circulated in a kind of grapevine or underground way. The book was a tract for troubled times. It was written under the guise of having been composed four hundred years before, when Jews were persecuted by Nebuchadnezzar. The stories of Daniel and his companions put heart into their descendants.

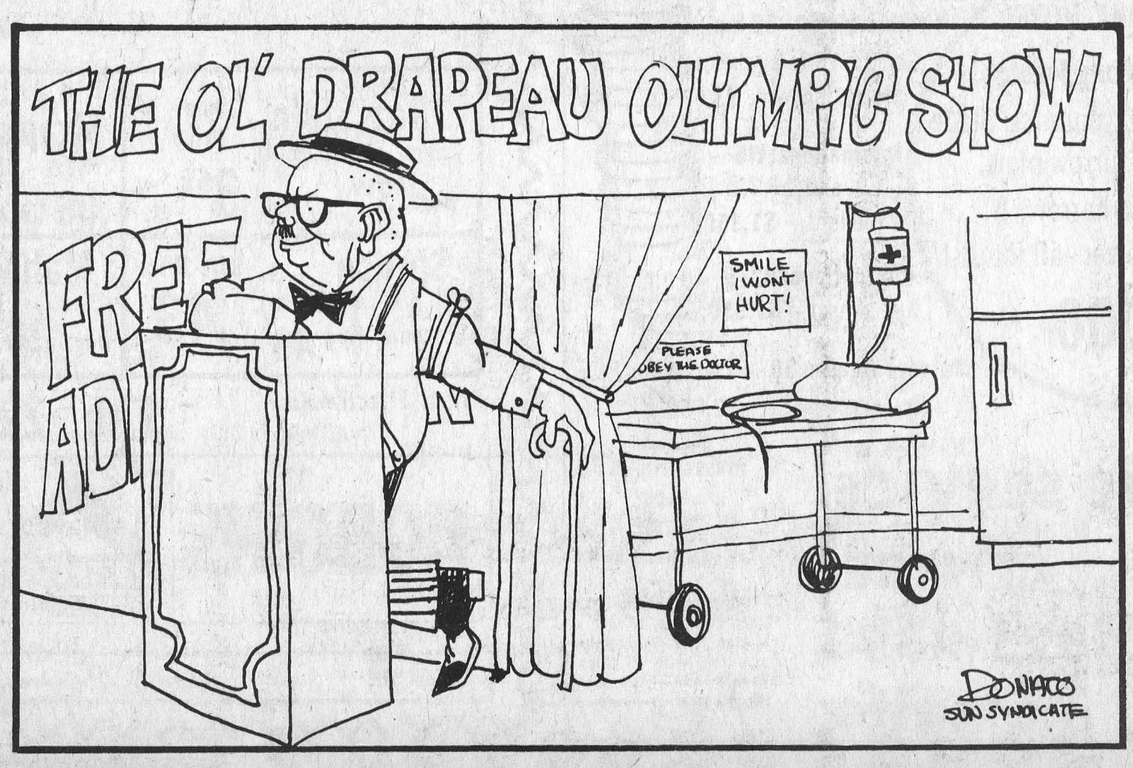
Could the unknown author of the book be accused of a pious fraud? Not at all. He was true to literary practices of those times. And what he was trying to say is the fundamental message of the Bible for every generation. We are to walk by faith, not by sight. God, the source of our faith, is always by our side.

What if people read Scripture for this food for the soul instead of viewing the Book of books as a kind of almanac?

What if they looked to the world of nature from which Jesus drew so many parables rather than to the interior world of speculation?

Would that world of God fail them? I think not. For life never fails. Neither do virtue, friendship nor the sort of love characterized as supreme in Ist Corinthians 13.

Thus the Gospel calls us to praise God and to work for the world that Jesus Christ came, not to condemn but to save (John 3:17). We have every reason for happiness and confidence. Let us embrace them. We have had more than enough of phony claims and threats of doom.



Subclinical Mastitis Causes Drop In Production, Cuts Revenue Balance Sheet

At any one time, nearly 50 per cent of Ontario's dairy cows have mastitis, or inflammation of the udder, in some form. However, although the clinical form of this disease occasionally causes death, subclinical or hidden mastitis is more of a threat to the dairyman, drastically reducing his herd's production and lowering his income by thousands of dollars each year.

"However, in the last few years, we've found post-milking teat dips and the establishment of dry treatment programs to be instrumental in mastitis control," says Dr. F.C. Nelson of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Guelph Veterinary Services Branch.

A recent three-year study at Cornell University in the U.S. established that the regular use of teat dip and dry treatment programs can increase a farmer's annual net income by about $80 a cow.

To determine the level of subclinical mastitis in your herd, a California Mastitis Test (CMT), should be made regularly by yourself or your veterinarian on each cow's milk to count the number of white blood cells (leukocytes). The more leukocytes there are, the greater the loss of production.

If a test indicates subclinical mastitis, dry cow treatment should begin immediately following milking, before the cow soils her teats. Repeat if the udder fills and the cow requires stripping. Follow package instructions or the advice of a veterinarian exactly when using the long-acting antibiotics designed for dry treatments.

Start to teat dip about two weeks before calving and continue until about a week after drying-off. Teat dips from farm supply stores and veterinarians include instructions which should be closely followed.

"Most failures to control mastitis occur when farmers do not stay with treatment programs," says Dr. Nelson. "Dry cow treatment and regular teat dips can reduce a herd's hidden mastitis by 50 percent a year. However, it takes a while for the positive results to become obvious. With perseverance, a farmer can reduce the level of mastitis in his herd to between five and ten percent — an excellent goal for any dairyman."

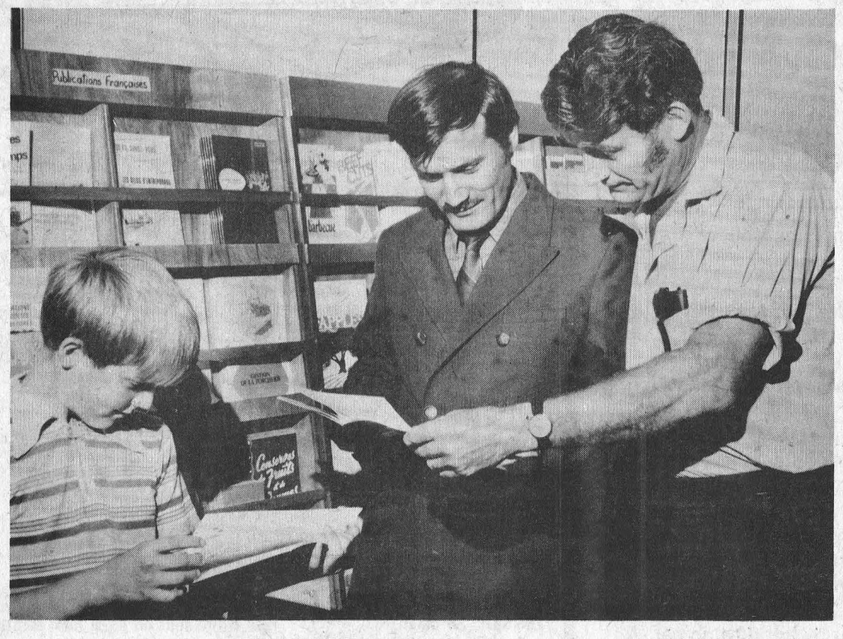
A Touch Of Stitchery Group Forms

The first meeting of Hallville-Mountain, 4-H Homemaking Club, was held on January 27, 1975 in the United Church basement.

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge followed by election of officers. President - Katie Milne; Vice President - Diane Ceelen; Press Reporter - Ellen Blaine.

Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Kerr discussed the different aspects of the club, "A Touch Of Stitchery".

The meeting was adjourned after deciding the next meeting would be held on February 10, 1975 in the basement.



A Winning Move

Crop production may seem like a gamble sometimes, but this farmer has an ace on his side — one of the annual publications of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

For up-to-date crop recommendations, results of variety trials, fertility programs, and pesticide recommendations, the publications and the agricultural representatives at the Ministry's county and district offices can be very helpful.

There is reliable information to be had on other crops, too, including tobacco, fruit and vegetables, greenhouse crops and horticulture. Use one of the Ministry's annual publications for all it's worth and hold a winning hand.

Market Seminar At Kemptville

A seminar to help livestock producers, farm leaders and feed dealers understand the grains futures market will be held in Kemptville, Ont., on February 18 and 19.

The two-day study session at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology is being sponsored by the Canadian Livestock Feed Board in cooperation with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Lectures and discussions will cover the national feed grains policy, the history of commodity marketing and the futures market, how the futures market works and the factors to watch for in the open grain market and futures market which affect prices.

Participants will include John Curtis, principal of the Kemptville College; Gus Sonneveld, vice-chairman of the Canadian Livestock Feed Board; Ron Ennis, president of the Winnipeg Commodity Exchange; Sean Usher, of the Ridgetown College of Agricultural Technology; and Peter Ryan, of Richardson Securities Ltd., Chatham, Ont.

All interested farmers and feed dealers are invited. The registration fee is $15. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Canadian Livestock Feed Board, 5250 Ferrier St., Montreal, Que., H4L 4Y7.

EIGHT PER CENT EXPECTED

Farm Income To Decline

The realized net income of Canadian farmers is expected to decline by almost eight per cent in 1975, W.L. Porteous, Director of Statistics Canada's Agriculture Division, recently told an agricultural outlook conference in Ottawa.

According to present indicators, realized net income will be slightly less than $3.2 billion compared to $3.47 billion in 1974, a decline which will affect all provinces except Saskatchewan. In percentage terms, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick are expected to record the most acute drop, falling to near the 1972 level, partly as a result of lower potato prices.

Mr. Porteous noted that farm cash receipts are forecast to increase but not nearly as rapidly as in the previous two years. Based on current expectations, cash receipts are expected to rise by 4.4 per cent to a level of $8.9 billion as a result of a moderate decline in crops receipts and an increase in receipts from livestock enterprises.

While 1975 projections of realized net income denote "a deterioration of the relative income position of the farming industry", particularly in Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, Mr. Porteous said income gained from off-farm sources must also be taken into consideration.

In 1972, farmers reported that more than double their income came from off-farm rather than farming activities. On a national level, 68.6 per cent or $5.3 million was earned in non-farm income. Saskatchewan was the only province where farming activity was the most important source of income; non-farm income accounted for only 44.2 per cent representing $5 million. On the other hand, British Columbia farmers earned 95.2 per cent or $7 million of their income off-farm.

Mr. Porteous said it is reasonable to assume "that the activity structure and sources of income for farm operators and farm families will continue to be composed of very significant amounts of income from non-farming sources".

In his review of last year's farm income situation, he said the net income of farmers from farming alone increased for the fourth consecutive year with preliminary estimates indicating that realized net income rose by 28.3 per cent to a record $3.47 billion.

The most substantial gains were in the three Prairie provinces, particularly Saskatchewan, where realized net income is estimated to have reached an all-time high of $1.16 billion.

There was continued expansion in British Columbia, Ontario and, to a lesser degree, in Prince Edward Island. In Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec, realized net incomes declined compared to 1973 levels, he said.

Farm cash receipts are estimated to have increased at the national level to $8.6 billion, representing a record and a 25.7 per cent increase over the 1973 level, Mr. Porteous added.

Most of this increase is accredited to continued expansion in cash receipts from the sale of crop products which rose by 45.8 per cent as compared to livestock receipts which advanced only 4 per cent over 1973 levels, he said.

Later Applications Of Lime Give Farmers Better Results

Farmers who wait to apply lime until just before the soil is tillable will reap highest benefits from lime application, acording to R.W. Johnston, soils and fertilizers specialist at the Ridgetown College of Agricultural Technology. "Most lime applied while the ground is frozen dries out at the soil surface and blows away, or washes away in the spring runoff," he explains.

Because lime neutralizes acid soils and promotes plant growth, it is usually applied to hills in sandly loam areas, clay soils developed from shale, and ground used continuously for corn production. "Parts of Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Elgin, Norfolk, Oxford, Brant, and Haldimand need liming," says Mr. Johnston.

Before the application of lime, a soil test should be conducted to determine if high acidity is the reason for poor crop growth. The pH reading included with test results indicates high soil acidity if it is six or lower and low soil acidity if it is seven or higher. While sandy soil is suitable for testing anytime, good samples of clay soil cannot be taken in the winter.

If a test indicates lime is needed, the kind and amount necessary must be determined. Calcitic lime is best on acid soil high in magnesium, but dolmitic lime should be used if the acid soil is low in magnesium.

"Before accepting delivery of lime, make sure it is powdery fine with few chunks," advises Mr. Johnston. "Remember, a chunk of lime may take years to break down. The progressive farmer wants fine lime that will start to neutralize his soil as soon as it is worked in."

For more information on soil testing, contact an Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food county or district office.

East Carleton Junior Farmers Elect Slate

The Carleton County Junior Farmers annual dinner dance was held in Richmond Community Centre on January 24th 1975.

The event was well attended by members and friends from all clubs in Carleton County.

A short business meeting after the banquet resulted in the following slate of officers for 1975:

Provincial Director - Richard Fraser; Alternate Director - Alan Hill; County Executive President - John Fraser; Vice President - Alan Hill; Secretary - Cathy Peaker; Treasurer - Terry Murdock.

Glen Cochrane and his band provided music for an evening of dancing.

Leader's sire is Lassie Leader, classified Very Good for type and rated a Class Extra sire. Her dam is Sunnylodge Nina Rockman, classified Very Good for type.

Metcalfe Sno Rovers Entertain Children

Metcalfe Sno Rovers Club held the "Best Ever" Kid's fun day and Treasure Hunt Rally at the club camp recently. Forty-two youngsters between the ages of 2 and 18 participated in the events.

Jimmy MacLaurin and Alan Sauve tied for first place in the slalom course; flipped a coin and Jimmy took the trophy home.

The Angie Sauve — Donald Amyott team won first prize trophies in the Treasure Hunt — Rally course, with Barbara Craig drawing the second prize trophy. Mrs. Edgar Amyott donated five prizes which were drawn from the hat. Each child received 25 cent participation award plus a ribbon.

After the events, cocoa and hot dogs were dished up at the camp.

At least two more "Kid's Days" are planned, one of them to take the form of a safety program with the O.P.P. A "club members only" rally and supper has been planned for, hopefully, the beginning of March.

In conjunction with the Recreational Association and Carnival week, the Sno Rovers will stage a 40 mile rally on Saturday, February 22 beginning at 12:00 noon. Home cooked dinner served at the Community Center will follow the rally.

Don't Wait At Station

Those planning to travel by rail would be ill-advised to place luggage on the station door to await arrival of the first train.

Matter of fact those planning to travel by rail from Winchester --- can't, unless of course they prefer the method used during depression years --- empty box cars.

The top picture should bring a flood of memories, not only to residents of Winchester but the entire district. Memories of an era when passenger service in and out of town made the 'station' a bustling hive of activity from early morning till late at night.

But, in the name of progress, that has all changed. Trains still rumble through the village at regular intervals, but all are carrying freight and many only whistle for the crossing and thunder on. The station is no longer there, but as shown in bottom photo, it is destined to continue to be a part of Winchester, but in an entirely new role - - - a comfortable home at the western extremity of Church Street.

Appoint First Riding Secretary

As promised during the election campaign, Ed Lumley, M.P. has just announced the appointment of the first riding secretary in Stormont-Dundas ---- a well-known and respected community-minded citizen, Mrs. Madeleine Germain.

Mrs. Germain's 14 years of activity in broadcasting and journalism have given her a thorough understanding of the people and the problems of the riding.

She has been a full-time correspondent for the Ottawa Citizen and Le Droit, as well as director of the news room of radio station CFJL, Cornwall. She has broad experience as a free-lance reporter for other radio stations in Ontario and Quebec, and has most recently worked with television station Cable 11 in Cornwall.

Prior to her media career, Madeleine was a school teacher, and over the years has participated in many organizations covering the broad spectrum of community life.

Due to the substantial increase in constituency workload, Parliament passed legislation providing a riding secretary and office for every constituency in Canada in January 1974.

At present, Mr. Lumley is trying to locate the office in an area which is not only convenient to the needs of the people but also economical to operate. It is hoped that a final location will be chosen in the next few weeks. In the meantime Mrs. Germain may be contacted at her home at 1104 Second Street East, Cornwall (Tel: 932-2339).

The office is expected to meet two fundamental objectives: - to help communicate with the public more quickly through the secretary who is in daily contact with the Ottawa office; and as an information centre containing brochures and pamphlets on various government programs.

Mr. Lumley stressed the non-partisan aspect of this office. It is being set up to meet the needs of all people throughout the entire riding. He has stated that he is most open to any suggestion as to ways and means of improving communication with constituents.

Final Tribute Paid Memory Mrs. G. Parish

Mrs. George Clarence Parish, the former Mary Irene Carkner, died at Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Friday February 7th in her 75th year.

The late Mrs. Parish is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Colbourn Helmer (Margaret) and Mrs. Wm. E. Armstrong (June), both of Winchester. Also by 9 grandchildren, Erma, Viola, Richard, Permilla, David, Paul, Sherrie, Beverley, Debbie and seven great grandchildren. One brother, Ewart S. Carkner, Winchester, and one sister, Mrs. Bill Helmer (Myrtle Rose), of Whitby also survive.

A member of Winchester Baptist Church the funeral service at Vice and Craig Ltd. Funeral Home, Winchester, was conducted by Rev. J.L. Mair, assisted by James Booker.

Pall bearers were: Brian Helmer, Gordon Carkner, Charles Holmes, John Ferguson, John Fawcett and Richard Helmer.

Interment was at Maple Ridge cemetery.

There are basic common sense rules for buying and selling. Unfortunately, people don't always know these rules or follow them, and that allows unscrupulous sellers to take advantage of people.
Common sense is your best defence. But you have another defender, too. Two pieces of legislation have been passed by your Ontario Government in order to help you.
The Consumer Protection Act is designed to protect you from problems that may arise when you buy goods or services, or borrow money. It is administered by the Consumer Protection Bureau, which also handles complaints and inquiries about questionable business practices, and it controls:
- registration of itinerant sellers (i.e., door-to-door salesmen)
- contracts over $50 where delivery of goods, services or payment has not been completed
- full disclosure of credit terms
- special discounts for getting friends to buy (referral selling)
- unsolicited goods (including unsolicited credit cards)
- false or misleading advertising
- penalties for offences
The Consumer Reporting Act is another law designed to protect you. It gives you the right to know what credit and personal information about you is on file with companies, and an opportunity to have inaccuracies corrected, and prohibits consumer reporting agencies from using information unless it is stored in Canada. According to this Act, you are entitled to request in writing that the contents of your file and the sources of information be disclosed to you.
Your Ontario Government has also prepared two easy-to-understand booklets that describe the Consumer Protection Act and the Consumer Reporting Act. The booklets explain these two important Ontario laws more fully.

World's Longest Skating Rink

Skates are often an afterthought -- if they are thought of at all -- to the winter holiday maker.

They shouldn't be so to those heading to Canada's capital.

This year skating on the Rideau Canal which cuts through the centre of Ottawa runs for a full five miles.

A growing number of visitors, even businessmen in town for the day, now carry skates in their suitcases or brief cases.

Other visitors unaware that Ottawa offers the "longest skating rink in the world" (Guiness Book of World Records) are helping to give bumper business to the sport shops.

From downtown hotels skaters travel the whole five miles in rural-like quiet, scarcely even catching a glimpse of city traffic.

All the way, the canal is flanked on both sides by treed parkland.

One skates under old-fashioned arched bridges and through lovely old residential areas.

SKATING FROM 5 A.M.

The ice surface is kept clearer than the city streets. And it's always ready for skating as early as 5 a.m. and as late as 2 a.m.

The way is lit by 1,000 coloured lights. Street lights on the Driveways which parallel both sides of the canal afford some light even after the special skating lights are turned off,

During these off hours, novices such as diplomats from countries whose climates preclude skating often practise before joining the more experienced skaters during conventional hours.

The Commission provides six stopping places along the length of the canal. These centres offer such services as skate sharpening, first aid and canteens. There are also shelters for putting on and taking off skates. Music is supplied at three of these centres.

Food and skate-sharpening services are open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. These services are run by a charitable organization and by university students.

There are benches every four hundred feet along the canal for those for whom the full five miles cleared for skating pose too much challenge in one go.

know your heart

Ask any of your friends at what age heart and blood vessel disease strikes and the chances are excellent that most will choose middle or old age for an answer. Unfortunately they are wrong.

Canada's major health problem is no respecter of age. It is true that increasing age is one of the factors which increase one's chances of heart attack and stroke, but other forms of heart disease are primarily afflictions of the young - even the newborn.

About 7 of every 1,000 children born in Canada have some form of congenital heart defect, but advances in the surgical treatment of these defects offer a nearly normal life to the great majority of the children. Although some of the causes of congenital heart disease are unknown, we do know that the protection of pregnant women against German measles during the early months of pregnancy can prevent some heart defects at birth. It is believed that there are other factors which can damage a baby's heart while it is still developing in the mother's womb, but more research is required to be certain.

In schoolchildren, a common sore throat can trigger rheumatic fever, leading to rheumatic heart disease, which usually becomes apparent between the ages of 5 and 15. Happily, early diagnosis and proper medical treatment and supervision can keep rheumatic fever under control and prevent the recurrent attacks which lead to rheumatic heart disease and damage to the heart valve.

Teenagers have heart problems also - and these problems have nothing to do with the opposite sex. By assuming they are too young to worry about the things they eat, they may well be eating their way to heart disease in adulthood. They are often overweight and the prevelance of cigarette smoking is just as bad as it was before the world-wide campaign to eradicate smoking commenced. Tragically, smoking is on the increase in teen age girls - our next generation of mothers. Unfortunately, habits established early in life are hard to break and obesity and smoking can accelerate many cardiovascular diseases such as heart attack, high blood pressure, stroke and congestive heart failure.

Many of the popular teenage diet items are very effective in causing a steady build-up of fatty tissue which can lead to clogged arteries and life-threatening blockages in adulthood. The substitution of pleasant alternatives for foods which are high in saturated fats is one way of offsetting this danger, and the avoidance of high cholesterol foods is particularly desirable. Finally, a regular programme of enjoyable exercise, such as swimming, skiing, skating, dancing, bicycling and walking helps burn up fat and keeps bodies young.

When it comes to parents, fathers are the unfortunate members of the family. They lack the natural protection of the female sex, which afford women a considerable measure of protection from heart disease. Nor do fathers seem to cope as well when heart disease strikes. They tend to smoke more than women and suffer the added risks resulting from this habit. To add insult to injury, the results of several surveys suggest that the average housewife expends more physical energy in the course of her day than the average husband, no matter what his job, and this also decreases his protection.

While the various types of heart disease represent a threat to different members of a family, much can be done to reduce the risk for all of the family and the key to success in this area is mother.

In addition to protecting herself, she can make sure that her female children are exposed to German measles during childhood. A careful watch should be kept over school children for any symptoms of a "strep" throat. The family menus should be based upon sensible diets and a serene, stress-free home environment should be maintained. Encouraging regular and interesting exercise activities for the whole family is also important, and every effort should be made to wipe out smoking. Finally, mothers should know the family history and, if heart disease has played a prominent part, should be doubly careful to ensure a "risk reduction" programme for all members of the family. They should also be fully aware of the symptoms of heart attack and stroke and be prepared for immediate action should these symptoms appear in one of her family - particularly her husband.

Helpful information on all aspects of heart disease is available free of charge from your provincial Heart Foundation, and your family physician should be consulted on the extent of medical check-ups, diet and exercise programmes.

Heart disease is a problem for the whole family but sensible living habits, the advice of your family physician, and the research and education programmes of the Canadian Heart Foundations can combine to reduce the risk to a minimum.

Russell Curlers Dominate Metcalfe Fiftieth Anniversary Bonspiel

The Undefeated Rink

Russell curlers demonstrated, rather ably, last week exactly why no challenger has been able, in recent years, to 'lift' those Christie cups from the security of the Russell club-house shelf.

Metcalfe curlers are this year celebrating the 50th anniversary of the club's founding and, among other events, marked the occasion with a week-long 'cash' bonspiel - - - and Russell took home the cash.

Bill Gamble, former well-known schoolboy champion, skipped his rink to victory in the main competition, while veteran Jim Sullivan won the consolation event.

The bonspiel may have proved, among other things, that "the family that curls together - wins".

Skip Gamble had his mother throwing third stone and his aunt playing lead. Skip Sullivan received able support from wife Marilyn at third and son Brad in second spot.

Thirty-two rinks competed and 'plate-glass skips' milled around the spacious club-room throughout the entire event. Gamble remained unbeaten although Metcalfe's Bruce Patterson was hot on his heels in the final. Only two fantastic shots by the Russell skip saved the day.

In the consolation event Sullivan coasted to a convincing win in the final against Ottawa Hydro's Bob Cassidy.

WIND-UP PARTY

All competitors returned on Saturday night for a wind-up party at the Community Centre when club president Mike Shields expressed sincere thanks on behalf of all his members to those who had made the bonspiel one of the most successful ever.

Harold Gilbert paid tribute to the only three surviving Charter Members noting that all were present. Mr. Gilbert presented souvenir gifts to Carman Blair, Archie Waddell and Jack Rowan.

Winners and Runners-Up in both the main event and consolation event are shown in accompanying photos.

50TH ANNIVERSARY FLASHBACK

Metcalfe in the year 1975, is no longer a quiet little hamlet many miles from Canada's Capital, and inhabited by men and women long ago retired from the work force. This indeed was the picture fifty years ago when two clergymen and a doctor, possibly bored by the almost complete lack of outside interests, conceived the idea of forming a curling club.

Rev. Phil Harris, the country parish priest; Rev. R.C. Eakin, pastor of the United Church and Dr. J.C. Byers experienced some difficulty selling their plan to the community but persistence paid off and by the fall of 1924 a building was under construction, and shortly after the new year Coleman lights illuminated the long-barn-like structure and the 'roaring game' had arrived.

Chapters might be written concerning the trials and tribulations of those first curlers including the complete collapse of their new rink only a year after its construction.

But, as is often the case, the disaster proved a blessing in disguise and those first Charter Members faced a rebuilding chore with grim determination, and from such a united effort grew an even stronger bond of unity in the community.

'But that was many, many years ago and few who now enjoy the present ultra-modern sports complex remember the early days and the hardships endured by those who blazed the 'curling trail' that would eventually see curlers from Metcalfe and the surrounding community make their club the envy of rural, and often big city, clubs throughout the Ottawa valley.

Those Formative Years

It must be remembered that the club was just coming 'of age' in 1929 when a cloud of doom brought financial disaster to most of the world and it was in the years that followed when genuine love of the game was so gallantly exhibited. Nothing short of dedication could possibly have compelled so many men to sacrifice their own time and talent to keep the sport active.

Actually there were many times when disinterested citizens of the village smiled benignly at the sight of a doctor, a clergyman, a school teacher and a merchant loading cans of water from the 'town well' onto a sleigh while a 'curling farmer' held his lively team in tow. But the rink needed flooding - and there was no money in the treasury.

It was on such a foundation Metcalfe Curling Club was built in an era when new curlers were expected to pay a $2.00 annual fee, 'seasoned pros' the regular $3.00 fee, and an entire family enjoy the 'special' family rate - $5.00. But family should not be misinterpreted to mean mothers or daughters since it was several years later before the ladies were allowed into that almost sacred male bastion, except when a very special contest was in progress, and then only if they sat quietly and watched without comment.

The wall began to 'crumble', however, in the late '30's when, after long and heated deliberations, it was agreed to allow the ladies to try their skills at curling -- but only in the afternoon when the men were at work.

Needless to say there have been some changes since then!

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Billy is a happy three-year-old, lovable and easy to care for. He is used to much attention from his foster parents and several teenagers, but is not a demanding child. He is quite cheerful if left to entertain himself, as long as he can see people.

Billy has been slow in developing and is considerably behind the average for his age. He has only started to walk and, though he chatters a lot, only a few words are recognizable.

A healthy boy, Billy has blonde curly hair, fair skin and dark eyes. They did turn in but are improving after corrective surgery. He has a good appetite and sleeps well.

Billy needs a family who will appreciate his happy disposition and not worry over his slow development.

To inquiry about adopting Billy, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information consult your local Children's Aid Society.

The regular meeting of Williamsburg United Church Women was held in the Church Hall on Feb. 4th. Mrs. Linden Barkley was in the chair assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Elburn McIntosh.

The President read a short poem, Hymn No. 208 was followed by repeating of The Lord's Prayer in unison.

Roll call was answered by donating an article of fancy work for the bazaar. The new Foster Child that the group is sponsoring, is a four year old girl from Bolivia, her picture and a description of her and her family were shown to the group. It was decided to hold a Valentine party for members of the congregation and their families, on Feb. 13th in the church hall. The THANK-OFFERING will be presented in April. A report of activities undertaken by the U.C.W. organizations in the Seaway Presbytery, showed that everyone was busy.

The Theme of the Worship Service, "THE CHURCH AND THE WORLD". The program was planned by Mrs. John MacIntosh and Miss Catherine Wilson. Miss Wilson was in charge of the meeting, she read a short poem entitled "Be Still And Know", followed by Hymn No. 378, and several passages of Scripture, read in unison. Hymn No. 414 was sung, several verses from various Books of the Bible were read between stanzas of the hymn. Rev. C. Duquette conducted a short but very interesting Bible study period. He displayed and explained several different versions of the Bible from earliest translations to modern types.
